39 And I will giue them [t] one heart, and one way that they may feare me for euer for the wealth of them, and of their children after them.

40 And I will make an [u] euerlaſting couenant with them, that I will neuer turne away from them to doe them good, but I will put my feare in their hearts, that they ſhall not depart from me.

41 Yea, I will delight in them to doe them good, and I will plant them in this land aſſuredly, with my whole heart, and with all my ſoule.

42 For thus ſaith the Lorde, Like as I haue brought all this great plague vpon this people, ſo will I bring vpon them all the good that I haue promiſed them.

43 And the fields ſhall be poſſeſſed in this land, whereof ye ſay, It is deſolate without man or beaſt, and ſhall be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, 44 Men ſhall bie [x] fields for ſiluer, and make writings and ſeale them, and take witneſſes in the land of Beniamin, and round about Ieruſalem, and in the cities of Iudah, and in the cities of the mountaines, and in the cities of the plaine, and in the cities of the South: for I will cauſe their captiuitie to returne, ſaith the Lord.

1 The Prophet is moniſhed of the Lord to pray for the deliuerance of the people, which the Lord promiſed. 8 God forgiueth ſinnes, for his owne glory. 15 Of the birth of Chriſt. 20 The kingdome of Chriſt in the Church ſhall neuer be ended.

MOreouer, the worde of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah the ſecond time (while he was yet ſhut vp in the [a] court of the priſon) ſaying, 2 Thus ſaith the Lord, the maker [b] thereof, the Lord that formed it, and eſtabliſhed it, the Lord is his Name.

3 Call vnto me, and I will anſwere thee, and ſhew thee great and mighty things, which thou knoweſt not.

4 For thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, concerning the houſes of this citie, and concerning the houſes of the Kings of Iudah, which are deſtroyed by the [c] mounts, and by the ſword.

5 They come to [d] fight with the Caldeans, but it is to fill themſelues with the dead bodies of men, whom I haue ſlaine in mine anger and in my wrath: for I haue hid my [e] face from this citie, becauſe of all their wickedneſſe.

6 ¶ Beholde, [f] I wil giue it health and amendment: for I will cure them, and will reueile vnto them the abundance of peace, and trueth.

7 And I will cauſe the captiuitie of Iudah and the captiuitie of Iſrael to returne, and wil build them as at the firſt.

8 And I will [g] cleanſe them from all their iniquitie, whereby they haue ſinned againſt me: yea, I will pardon all their iniquities, whereby they haue ſinned againſt me, and whereby they haue rebelled againſt me.

9 And it ſhall be to me a name, a [h] ioy, a praiſe, and an honour before all the nations of the earth, which ſhall heare all the good that I doe vnto them: and they ſhall feare and tremble for all the goodneſſe, and for all the wealth, that I ſhewe vnto this citie.

10 Thus ſaith the Lorde, Againe there ſhall be heard in this place (which ye ſay ſhall be deſolate, without man, and without beaſt, euen in the cities of Iudah, and in the ſtreetes of Ieruſalem, that are deſolate without man, and without inhabitant, and without beaſt)

11 The voyce of ioy and the voice of gladnes, the voice of the bridegrome, and the voice of the bride, the voice of them that ſhall ſay, [i] Praiſe the Lord of hoſtes, becauſe the Lord is good: for his mercie endureth for euer, and of them that offer the ſacrifice of prayſe in the houſe of the Lord, for I will cauſe to returne the captiuitie of the land, as at the firſt, ſaith the Lord.

12 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, Againe in this place, which is deſolate, without man, and without beaſt, and in all the cities thereof there ſhall be dwelling for ſhepheards to reſt their flockes.

13 In the cities of the [k] mountaines, in the cities in the plaine, and in the cities of the South, and in the land of Beniamin, and about Ieruſalem, and in the cities of Iudah ſhal the sheepe paſſe againe, vnder the hand of him that telleth them ſaith the Lord.

14 Beholde, the dayes come, ſayeth the Lord, that I will performe that good thing, which I haue promiſed vnto the houſe of Iſrael, and to the houſe of Iudah.

15 In thoſe dayes and at that time, will I cauſe [l] the branch of righteouſnes to growe vp vnto Dauid, and he ſhall execute iudgement, and righteouſnes in the land.

16 In thoſe dayes ſhall Iudah be ſaued, and Ieruſalem ſhall dwell ſafely, and he that ſhall call [m] her, is the Lord our [n] righteouſnes.

17 For thus ſaith the Lord, Dauid ſhall neuer want a man to ſit vpon the throne of the houſe of Iſrael.

18 Neither ſhall the Prieſtes and Leuites want a man before me to offer [o] burnt offerings, and to offer meate offerings, and to doe ſacrifice continually.

19 And the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah, ſaying,

20 Thus ſaith the Lord, If you can breake my couenaunt of the [p] day, and my couenaunt of the night, that there ſhould not be day, and night in their ſeaſon, 21 Then may my couenant be broken with Dauid my ſeruant, that he ſhould not haue a ſonne to reigne vpon his throne, and with the Leuites, and Prieſtes my miniſters.

22 As the army of heauen cannot be numbred, neither the ſand of the ſea meaſured: ſo will I multiplie the ſeede of Dauid my ſeruant, and the Leuites, that miniſter vnto me.

23 Moreouer, the word of the Lord came to Ieremiah, ſaying, 24 Conſiderest thou not what [q] this people haue ſpoken, ſaying, The two families, which the Lord hath choſen, he hath euen caſt them off? thus they haue deſpiſed my people, that they ſhould be no more a nation before them.

25 Thus ſaith the Lord, If my couenant be not with day and night, and if I haue not appointed the order of heauen and earth, 26 Then wil I caſt away the ſeede of Iaakob and Dauid my ſeruant, and not take of his ſeede to be rulers ouer the ſeede of Abraham, Izhak, and Iaakob: for I will cauſe their captiuitie to returne, and haue compaſſion on them.

k Meaning, that all the countrey of Iudah ſhall be inhabited againe.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

2 He threatneth that the citie, and the King Zedekiah ſhall be giuen in the hands of the King of Babylon. 11 He rebuketh their crueltie toward their ſeruants.

THe word which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord (when [a] Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and all his hoſte, and all the kingdomes of the earth, that were vnder the power of his hand, and all the people fought againſt Ieruſalem, and againſt all the cities thereof) ſaying, a Who commonly of Ieremiah was called Nebuchad-rezzar, and of other Nebuchad-nezzar.

2 Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, Goe, and ſpeake to Zedekiah king of Iudah, and tell him, Thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, * I will giue this citie into the hand of the king of Babel, and he ſhall burne it with fire,

*2. Chro. 36.19. chap. 29.16, 17. and 32.3.

3 And thou ſhalt not eſcape out of his hand, but ſhalt ſurely be taken, and deliuered into his hand, and thine eyes ſhall beholde the face of the King of Babel, and he ſhall ſpeake with thee mouth to mouth, and thou ſhalt goe to Babel.

4 Yet heare the word of the Lord, O Zedekiah, King of Iudah: thus ſaith the Lord of thee, Thou ſhalt not die by the ſword, 5 But thou ſhalt die in [b] peace: and according to the burning for thy fathers the former Kings which were before thee, ſo ſhall they burne odours for thee, and they ſhall lament thee, ſaying, Oh [c] lord: for I haue pronounced the word, ſaith the Lord.

b Not of any violent death.

c The Iewes ſhall lament for thee their lord and King.

6 Then Ieremiah the Prophet ſpake all theſe wordes vnto Zedekiah King of Iudah in Ieruſalem,

7 (When the king of Babels hoſt fought againſt Ieruſalem, and againſt all the cities of Iudah, that were left, euen againſt Lachiſh, and againſt Azekah: for theſe ſtrong cities remained of the cities of Iudah)

8 This is the word that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, after that the King Zedekiah had made a couenant with all the people, which were at Ieruſalem, [d] to proclaime libertie vnto them.

d When the enemie was at hand, and they ſaw themſelues in danger, they would ſeeme holy, and ſo begant ſome kinde of reformation: but ſoone after they bettered their hypocriſie.

9 That euery man ſhould let his [e] ſeruant go free, & euery man his handmaid, whith was an Ebrue or an Ebruelle, and that none ſhould ſerue himſelfe of them, to wit, of a Iew his brother.

e According to the Law, Exod. 21.2. Deut. 15.12.

10 Now when all the princes, and all the people which had agreed to þ couenant, heard that euery one ſhould let his ſeruant goe free, and euery one his handmaide, and that none ſhould ſerue themſelues of them any more, they obeyed and let them goe.

11 But afterward they [f] repented and cauſed the ſeruants and the handmaides, whom they had let goe free, to returne, and held them in ſubiection as ſeruants and handmaides.

f Ebr. returned.

12 Therefore the word of the Lorde came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

13 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I made a couenant with your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of ‖ seruants, saying,

‖ Or, bondage.

14 *At the terme of seuen yeeres let ye go, euery man his brother an Hebrew which hath bene solde vnto thee: and when he hath serued thee sixe yeeres, thou shalt let him go free from thee: but your fathers obeyed me not, neither inclined their eares.

*Deut. 15.1,12.

15 And ye were now turned, and had done right in my sight in proclaiming libertie, euery man to his neighbour, and ye had made a couenant before me in [f] the house, whereupon my Name is called.

f Meaning, in the Temple, to declare that it was a solemne and strait couenant, made in the Name of the Lord.

16 But ye repented, & polluted my Name: for ye haue caused euery man his seruant, and euery man his handmaide, whom ye had set at libertie at their pleasure, to returne, and holde them in subiection to be vnto you as seruants and as handmaides.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Ye haue not obeyed me, in proclayming freedome euery man to his brother, and euery man to his neighbour: beholde, I proclaime a libertie for you, saith the Lord, to [g] the sword, to the pestilence, and to the famine, and I will make you a terrour to all the kingdomes of the earth.

g That is, I giue the sword libertie to destroy you.

18 And I will giue those men that haue broken my couenant, and haue not kept the wordes of the couenant, which they had made before me, when they [h] cut the calfe in twaine, and passed betweene the partes thereof:

h As touching this maner of solemne couenant which the ancient vsed by passing betweene the two parts of a beast, to signifie that ye transgressours of the same couenant should be so diuided in pieces, reade Gene. 15.10.

19 The princes of Iudah, and the princes of Ierusalem, the Eunuchs, and the Priestes, and all the people of the lande, which passed betweene the partes of the calfe, 20 I will euen giue them into the hand of their enemies, and into the hands of them that seeke their life: and their dead bodies shall be for meate vnto the foules of the heauen, and to the beastes of the earth.

21 And Zedekiah king of Iudah, and his princes will I giue into the hand of their enemies, and into the hande of them that seeke their life, and into the hand of the king of Babels hoste, which [i] are gone vp from you.

i To fight against the Egyptians, as Chap. 37.11.

22 Beholde, I will commaund, saith the Lord, and cause them to returne to this citie, and they shall fight against it, and take it, and burne it with fire: and I will make the cities of Iudah desolate without an inhabitant.

CHAP. XXXV.

He proposeth the obedience of the Rechabites, and thereby confoundeth the pride of the Iewes.

a For the disposition and order of these prophecies, reade Chap. 37.1

THe worde which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, in the dayes [a] of Iehoiakim, the sonne of Iosiah, king of Iudah, saying,

2 Goe vnto the house of the [b] Rechabites, and speake vnto them, and bring them into the house of the Lorde into one of the chambers, and giue them wine to drinke.

b They came of Hobab Moses father in lawe, who was no Israelite, but after ioyned with them in the seruice of God.

3 Then tooke I Iaazaniah, the sonne of Ieremiah the sonne of Habazziniah, and his brethren, and all his sonnes, and the whole house of the Rechabites,

4 And I brought them into the House of the Lorde, into the chamber of the sonnes of Hanan the sonne of Igdaliah a man [c] of God, which was by the chamber of the princes, which was aboue the chamber of Maaseiah the sonne of Shallum, the keeper of the ‖ treasure.

c That is, a Prophet.

‖ Or, door.

5 And I set before the sonnes of the house of the Rechabites pots full of wine, and cups, and [d] said vnto them, Drinke wine.

d The Prophet saieth not, The Lord saith thus: for then they ought to haue obeyed: but he tendeth to another end, that is, to declare their obedience to man, seeing the Iewes would not obey God himselfe.

6 But they said, We will drinke no wine: for [e] Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father commaunded vs, saying, [f] Ye shall drinke no wine, neither you nor your sonnes for euer.

e Whom Iehu the king of Israel fauoured for his zeale, 2. Kin. 10.15.

f Teaching thē hereby to flee all occasion of intemperancie, ambition, and auarice, and that they might know that they were strangers in the earth, and be ready to depart at all occasions.

7 Neither shall ye builde house, nor sowe seede, nor plant vineyard, nor haue any, but all your dayes ye shall dwell in tents, that ye may liue a long time in the land where ye be strangers.

8 Thus haue we obeyed the voyce of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father, in al that he hath charged vs, and we drinke no wine all our dayes, neither we, our wiues, our sonnes, nor our daughters.

9 Neither build we houses for vs to dwel in, neither haue we vineyarde, nor fielde, nor seede, 10 But we haue remained in tentes, and haue obeyed, and done according to [g] all that Ionadab our father commaunded vs.

g Which was now for the space of three hundreth yeeres from Iehu to Iehoiakim.

11 But when Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel came vp into the land, we saide, Come, and let vs goe to Ierusalem, from the hoste of the Caldeans, and from the hoste of Aram: so we [h] dwell at Ierusalem.

h Which declareth that they were not so bound to their vowe, that it could not be broken for any necessitie, by where they were commaunded to dwell in tentes, they dwelt alwaie at Ierusalem for feare of the wars.

12 Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying,

13 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Goe, and tell the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, Will ye not receiue doctrine to obey my words, saith the Lord?

14 The commaundement of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab that he cōmanded his sonnes, that they should drinke no wine, is surely kept: for vnto this day they drinke none, but obey their fathers commaundement: notwithstanding I haue spoken vnto you, [k] rising earely, and speaking, but ye would not obey me, i Whom I haue chosen to be my children, seeing these which were the children of an heathen man, obeyed the commandement of their father.

k I haue most diligently exhorted and warned you both by my selfe and my prophets.

15 I haue sent also vnto you of my seruāts the prophets, rising vp early, & sending them, saying, *Returne nowe euery man from his euill way, and amend your workes, and goe not after other gods to serue them, and ye shall dwell in the land which I haue giuen vnto you, and to your fathers, but ye would not encline your eare, nor obey me.

16 Surely the sonnes of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab, haue kept the commaundement of their father, which he gaue them, but this people hath not obeyed me.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, al the euil that I haue pronounced against them, because I haue [l] spoken vnto them, but they would not heare, and I haue called vnto them, but they would not answere.

18 And Ieremiah saide to the house of the Rechabites, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Because ye haue obeyed the commandement of Ionadab your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according vnto all that he hath commanded you.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Ionadab the sonne of Rechab shall [m] not want a man, to stand before me for euer.

l That is, by his Prophets and ministers: which sheweth that it is as much as though he should speake to vs himselfe, when he sendeth his ministers to speake in his Name.

m His posteritie shall continue and be in my fauour for euer.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Baruch writeth, as Ieremiah inditeth, the booke of the curses against Iudah and Israel. 9 He is sens with the booke vnto the people and readeth it before them all. 14 He is called before the rulers and readeth it before them also. 23 The King casteth it in the fire. 28 There is another written at the commaundement of the Lord.

AND in the fourth [a] yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, came this worde vnto Ieremiah from the Lorde, saying, a Reade Chap. 25.1.

2 Take thee a roule or booke, and write therein all the wordes that I haue spoken to thee against Israel, and against Iudah, and against all the nations, from the day that I spake vnto thee, euen [b] from the dayes of Iosiah vnto this day.

b Which were twentie & three yere, as Cha. 25. 3. counting from the thirteenth yeere of Iosiahs reigne.

3 It may be that the House of Iudah wil heare of all the euill, which I determined to doe vnto them, that they may returne euery man from his euill way, that I may forgiue their iniquitie and their sinnes.

4 Then Ieremiah called Baruch the sonne of Neriah, and Baruch wrote [c] at the mouth of Ieremiah all the wordes of the Lord, which he had spoken vnto him, vpon a roule or booke.

c As he did indite.

5 And Ieremiah commaunded Baruch, saying, I am [d] shut vp, and cannot goe into the House of the Lord.

d Meaning, in prison, through the malice of the Priestes.

6 Therefore goe thou, & reade the roule, wherein thou hast written at my mouth the wordes of the Lord, in the audience of the people in the Lords House vpon the [e] fasting day: also thou shalt reade them in the hearing of all Iudah, that come out of their cities.

e Which was proclaimed for feare of the Babylonians, as their custome was when they feared warre, or any great plague of God.

7 It may be that they will [f] pray before the Lorde, and euery one returne from his euill way, for great is the anger and the wrath, that the Lorde hath declared against this people.

f He sheweth that fasting without prayer and repentance auaileth nothing, but is meere hypocrisie.

8 So Baruch the sonne of Neriah did according vnto all, that Ieremiah the Prophet commaunded him, reading in the booke the wordes of the Lord in the Lords House.

9 ¶ And in the fift [g] yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, in the ninth moneth, they proclaimed a fast before the Lord to all the people in Ierusalem, and to all the people that came from the cities of Iudah vnto Ierusalem.

g The fast was then proclaimed, & Baruch read this roule, which was a litle before that Ierusalem was first taken, and then Iehoiakim and Daniel, and his companions were led away captiues.

10 Then read Baruch in the booke the wordes of Ieremiah in the house of the Lord, in the chamber of Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan the secretarie, in the hier court at the entrie of the [h] new gate of the Lords house, in the hearing of all the people.

h Which is the East gate of the Temple.

11 When Michaiah the sonne of Gemariah, the sonne of Shaphan had heard out of the booke all the wordes of the Lord, 12 Then hee went downe to the Kings house into the Chancellours chamber, and loe, all the princes sate there, euen Elishama the Chancellour, and Delaiah the sonne of Shemaiah, and Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the sonne of Hananiah, and all the princes.

13 Then Michaiah declared vnto them all the wordes that he had heard when Baruch read in the booke in the audience of the people.

14 Therefore all the princes sent Iehudi sonne of Nethaniah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Chushi, vnto Baruch, saying, Take in thine hand the roule, wherein thou hast read in the audience of the people, & come. So Baruch the sonne of Neriah, tooke the roule in his hand, and came vnto them.

15 And they saide vnto him, Sitte downe nowe, and reade it, that we may heare. So Baruch read it in their audience.

16 Nowe when they had heard all the wordes, they were [i] afraide both one and other, and saide vnto Baruch, We will certifie the King of all these wordes.

i The godly were afraid, fearing God so offended, and the wicked were astonied for the horror of the punishment.

17 And they examined Baruch, saying, Tell vs now, howe diddest thou write all these wordes at his mouth?

18 Then Baruch answered them, He pronounced all these wordes vnto me with his mouth, and I wrote them with ynke in the booke.

19 Then saide the princes vnto Baruch, Goe, [k] hide thee, thou and Ieremiah, and let no man knowe where ye be.

k They were godly among the princes, gaue this counsell by whose meanes it is like that Ieremiah was deliuered: for they knew the rage of the King and of the wicked to be such, that they could not escape without danger of their liues.

20 ¶ And they went in to the King to the court, but they laide vp the roule in the chamber of Elishama the Chancellour, and told the King all the wordes, that he might heare.

21 So the King sent Jehudi to fet the roule, & he tooke it out of Elishama the Chancellours chamber, and Jehudi read it in the audience of the King, and in the audience of all the princes, which stood beside the King.

22 Now the King sate in the winter house, in the [l] ninth moneth, and there was a fire burning before him.

l Which conteined part of November and part of December.

23 And when Jehudi had read three, or foure sides, he cut it with the penknife and cast it into the fire, that was on the hearth, vntill all the roule was consumed in the fire, that was on the hearth.

24 Yet they were not afraide, nor rent [m] their garments, neither the King, nor any of his seruants, that heard all these wordes.

m Shewing, that the wicked in stead of repenting when they heare Gods iudgements, grow vnto further malice against him and his word.

25 Neuertheless, Elnathan, and Delaiah, and Gemariah had besought the King, that he would not burne the roule: but he would not heare them.

26 But the king commaunded Jerahmeel the sonne of Hammelech, and Saraiah the sonne of Azriel and Shelemiah the sonne of Abdiel, to take Baruch the Scribe, and Jeremiah the Prophet, but the Lord [n] hid them.

n Thus we see the continuall care, that God hath euer ouer his to preserue them from the rage of the wicked. o Though the wicked thinke to haue abolished the word of God, when they haue burnt the booke thereof: yet this declareth that God will not only raise it vp againe, but also increase it in greater abundance to their condemnation as verse 32.

27 ¶ Then the word of the Lord came to Jeremiah (after that the king had burnt the roule and the wordes which Baruch wrote at the mouth of Jeremiah) saying,

28 Take thee againe [o] another roule and write in it all the former wordes that were in the first roule which Jehoiakim the king of Judah hath burnt, 29 And thou shalt say to Jehoiakim king of Judah, Thus saith the Lord, Thou hast burnt this roule, saying, [p] Why hast thou written therein, saying, That the king of Babel shal certainely come and destroy this land, and shall take thence both man and beast?

p These are Jehoiakims words. q Though Jehoiakin his sonne succeeded him, yet because he reigned but three moneths, it was esteemed as no reigne. r Reade Chap. 22.19.

30 Therefore thus saith the Lord of Jehoiakim king of Judah, He shall haue [q] none to sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and his [r] dead body shall be cast out in the day to the heate, and in the night to the frost.

31 And I will visite him and his seede, and his seruants for their iniquitie, & I will bring vpon them, and vpon the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and vpon the men of Judah all the euill that I haue pronounced against them: but they would not heare.

32 Then tooke Jeremiah another roule, and gaue it Baruch the Scribe the sonne of Neriah, which wrote therein at the mouth of Jeremiah all the wordes of the booke which Jehoiakim king of Judah had burnt in the fire, and there were added besides them many like wordes.

3 And Zedekiah the king [c] sent Jehucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest to the Prophet Jeremiah, saying, Pray nowe vnto the Lorde our God for vs.

c Because he was afraid of the Caldeans that came against him.

4 (Now Jeremiah [d] went in & out among ỳ people: for they had not put him into ỳ prisõ.

d That is, was out of prison and at liberte.

5 Then Pharaohs hoste was [e] come out of Egypt: and when the Caldeans that besieged Jerusalem, heard tidings of them, they † departed from Jerusalem)

e To helpe the Iewes. † Ebr. went vp.

6 Then came the word of the Lorde vnto the Prophet Jeremiah, saying,

7 Thus saieth the Lorde God of Israel, Thus shall ye say to the king of Judah, that sent you vnto me to enquire of me, Beholde, Pharaohs hoste, which is come foorth to helpe you, shal return to Egypt into their own land.

8 And the Caldeãs shal come againe, & fight against this citie, and take it & burnt it wt fire.

9 Thus saith the Lord, ‖Deceiue not your selues, saying, The Caldeans shall surely depart from vs: for they shall not depart.

‖ Or, lift not vp your minds.

10 For though ye had smitten the whole hoste of the Caldeans that fight against you, and there remained but wounded men among them, yet should euery man rise vp in his tent, and burne this citie with fire.

11 ¶ When the hoste of the Caldeans was broken vp from Jerusalem, because of Pharaohs armie, 12 Then Jeremiah went out of Jerusalem to goe into the [f] land of Beniamin, separating himselfe thence from among the people.

f As some thinke to goto Anathoth his owne towne. g By the which men went into the countrey of Beniamin.

13 And when he was in the [g] gate of Beniamin, there was a chiefe officer whose name was Iriiah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Hananiah, and he tooke Jeremiah the Prophet, saying, Thou † fleest to the Caldeans.

14 Then said Jeremiah, That is false, I flee not to the Caldeans: but he would not heare him: so Iriiah tooke Jeremiah, and brought him to the princes.

15 Wherefore, the princes were angrie with Jeremiah, and smote him, and laide him in prison in the house of Jehonathan the Scribe: for they had made that the [h] prison.

h Because it was a vile and straite prison.

16 When Jeremiah was entred into the dungeon dungeon, and into the prisons, and had remained there a long time, 17 Then Zedekiah the King sent, & tooke him out, and the King asked him secretly in his house, and saide, Is there any word from the Lord? And Jeremiah saide, Yea: for, saide he, thou shalt be deliuered into the hand of the King of Babel.

18 Moreouer, Jeremiah saide vnto King Zedekiah, What haue I offended against thee, or against thy seruants, or against this people, that ye haue put me in prison?

*Chap. 28. 4.

19 * Where are nowe your prophets, which prophecied vnto you, saying, The King of Babel shal not come against you, nor against this land?

20 Therefore heare nowe, I pray thee, O my lord the King: let my prayer be † accepted before thee, that thou cause me not to returne to the house of Jehonathan the Scribe, least I die there.

21 Then Zedekiah the King commanded, that they should put Jeremiah in the court of the prison, and that they should giue him dayly a piece of bread out of the bakers streete, vntill all the [i] bread in the citie were eaten vp. Thus Jeremiah remained in the court of the prison.

i That is, so long as there was any bread in the citie: thus God prouideth for his that he will cause their enemies to preserue them to that ende whereunto he hath appointed them.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 By the motion of the rulers Ieremiah is put into a dungeon. 10 At the request of Ebed-melech the King commaundeth Ieremiah to be brought foorth of the dungeon. 17 Ieremiah sheweth the King howe he might escape death.

THen Shephatiah the sonne of Mattan, and Gedaliah the sonne of Pashhur, and Jucal the sonne of Shelemiah, & Pashhur the sonne of [a] Malchiah, heard the words that Jeremiah had spoken vnto all the people, saying, a For Zedekiah had sent these to Jeremiah to inquire at the Lorde for the state of the countrey nowe when Nebuchadnezzar came, as Chap. 21. 1.

2 Thus saith the Lord, He that remaineth in this citie, shall die by the sword, by the famine and by the pestilence: but he that goeth foorth to the Caldeans, shall liue: for he shall haue his life for [b] a pray, and shall liue.

b Reade Chap. 21. 9. and 45. 5.

3 Thus saith the Lord, This citie shall surely be giuen into the hand of the King of Babels armie, which shall take it.

4 Therefore the Princes saide vnto the King, We beseech you, let this man be put to death: for thus he ‖ weakeneth the hands of the men of warre [c] that remaine in this citie, and the hands of all the people, in speaking such wordes vnto them: for this man seeketh not the wealth of this people, but the hurt.

c Thus we see how the wicked when they can not abide to heare the truth of Gods word, seeke to put the ministers to death as transgressours of policies.

5 Then Zedekiah the King saide, Beholde, he is in your hands, for the King can denie [d] you nothing.

d Wherein he grieuously offended in that, that not onely he would not heare the truth spoken by the Prophet, but also gaue him to the lustes of the wicked to be cruelly intreated.

6 Then tooke they Jeremiah, and cast him into the dungeon of Malchiah the sonne of Hammelech, that was in the court of the prison: and they let downe Jeremiah with cords: and in the dungeon there was no water but myre: so Jeremiah stucke fast in the myre.

7 Now when Ebed-melech the † blacke More one of the Eunuches, which was in the kings house, heard that they had put Jeremiah in the dungeon, (then the King sate in the [e] gate of Beniamin) †Ebr. Cushite, or Ethiopian.

e To heare matters and giue sentence.

8 And Ebed-melech went out of ỹ kings house, and spake to the King, saying,

9 My lord ỹ King, [f] these men haue done euill in all that they haue done to Jeremiah the Prophet, whom they haue cast into the dungeon, and he dieth for hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the citie.

f Hereby is declared that the Prophet found more fauour at this strangers hands, then he did by all them of his country, which was to their great condemnation.

10 Then the king commanded Ebed-melech the blacke more, saying, Take from hence thirtie men † with thee, and take Jeremiah the Prophet out of the dungeon before he die.

11 So Ebed-melech tooke the men with him and went to the house of the king vnder the treasurie, & tooke there old rotten ragges, and old worne cloutes, and let them downe by coards into the dungeon to Jeremiah.

12 And Ebed-melech ỹ blacke More said vnto Jeremiah, Put nowe these olde rotten ragges and worne, vnder thine arme holes, betweene the coards. And Jeremiah did so.

13 So they drewe vp Jeremiah wt coards and tooke him vp out of the dungeon, and Jeremiah remained in the [g] court of the prison.

g Where the King had set him before to be at more libertie, as Chap. 37. 21.

14 ¶ Then Zedekiah the king sent and tooke Jeremiah the Prophet vnto him, into the third entrie that is in the House of the Lorde, and the king said vnto Jeremiah, I will aske thee a thing: hide nothing from me.

15 Then Jeremiah saide to Zedekiah, If I declare it vnto thee, wilt not thou slay me? and if I giue thee counsell, thou wilt not heare me.

16 So the king sware secretly vnto Jeremiah, saying, As the Lord liueth, that made vs these soules, I will not slay thee, nor giue thee into the hands of those men that seeke thy life.

17 Then saide Jeremiah vnto Zedekiah, Thus saith the Lord God of hostes, the God of Israel, If thou wilt goe foorth vnto the king of Babels [h] princes, then thy soule shall liue, and this citie shall not be burnt vp with fire, and thou shalt liue, and thine house.

h And yeeld thy selfe vnto them.

18 But if thou wilt not goe foorth to the king of Babels princes, then shall this citie be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, and they shal burne it with fire, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands.

19 And Zedekiah the king said vnto Jeremiah, I am careful for the Jewes that are fled vnto the Caldeans, least they deliuer me into their hands, and they [i] mocke me.

i Which declareth that he more feared the reproch of men then the threatnings of God.

20 But Ieremiah ſaide, They ſhall not deliuer thee: hearken vnto the voyce of the Lorde, I beſeech thee, which I ſpeake vnto thee: ſo ſhall it be well vnto thee, and thy ſoule ſhall liue.

21 But if thou wilt refuſe to go forth, this is the word that the Lord hath ſhewed me.

22 And beholde, all the women that are [k] left in the King of Iudahs houſe, ſhall be brought forth to the King of Babels princes: and thoſe women ſhall ſay, Thy friends haue perſwaded thee, and haue preuailed againſt thee: thy feete are ſtaſned in the myre, and they are turned backe.

23 So they ſhall bring out all thy wiues, and thy children to the Caldeans, and thou ſhalt not eſcape out of their hands, but ſhalt be taken by the hand of the King of Babel: and this citie ſhalt thou cauſe to be burnt with fire.

24 Then ſaide Zedekiah vnto Ieremiah, Let no man knowe of theſe words, and thou ſhalt not die.

25 But if the princes vnderſtand that I haue talked with thee, and they come vnto thee, and ſay vnto thee, Declare vnto vs now, what thou haſt ſaide vnto the King, hide it not from vs, and we will not ſlay thee: alſo what the King ſaid vnto thee.

26 Then ſhalt thou ſay vnto them, I humbly [l] beſought the King that hee woulde not cauſe me to returne to Ionathans houſe, to die there.

27 Then came all the princes vnto Ieremiah and aſked him. And he tolde them according to all theſe words that the king had commaunded: ſo they left off ſpeaking with him, for the matter was not perceiued.

28 So Ieremiah abode ſtill in the court of the priſon, vntill the day that Ieruſalem was taken: and he was there, when Ieruſalem was taken.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Nebuchad-nezzar beſieged Ieruſalem. 4 Zedekiah fleeing is taken of the Caldeans. 6 His ſonnes are ſlaine. 7 His eyes are thruſt out. 11 Ieremiah is prouided for. 15 Ebedmelech is deliuered from captiuitie.

IN * the ninth yeere of Zedekiah king of Iudah in the tenth moneth, came Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel and all his hoſte againſt Ieruſalem, and they beſieged it.

2 And in the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the citie was broken [a] vp.

3 And all the princes of the king of Babel came in, and ſate in the middle gate, euen Neregal, Sharezer, Samgar-nebo, Sarſechim, Rab-ſaris, Neregal, Sharezer, Rabmag with all the reſidue of the princes of the king of Babel.

4 And when Zedekiah the king of Iudah ſaw them, and all the men of warre, then they fled, and went out of the citie by night, through the kings garden, and by the [b] gate betweene the two walles, and he went toward the wilderneſſe.

5 But the Caldeans hoſte purſued after them, and ouertooke Zedekiah in the deſert of Iericho: and when they had taken him, they brought him to Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel vnto [c] Riblah in the land of Hamath, where he gaue iudgement vpon him.

6 Then the king of Babel ſlewe the ſonnes of Zedekiah in Riblah before his eyes: alſo the king of Babel ſlewe all the nobles of Iudah.

7 Moreouer he put out Zedekiahs eyes, & bound him in chaines, to cary him to Babel.

8 And the Caldeans burnt [y] kings houſe, and the houſes of the people with fire, & brake downe the walles of Ieruſalem.

9 Then Nebuzar-adan the ‖chiefe ſteward caried away captiue into Babel the remnant of the people that remained in the citie, and thoſe that were fled and fallen vnto him, with the reſt of the people that remained.

10 But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe ſteward left the [d] poore that had nothing in the land of Iudah, and gaue them vineyards and fieldes at the ſame time.

11 Now Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel gaue charge concerning Ieremiah † vnto Nebuzar-adan the chiefe ſteward, ſaying, 12 Take him, and † looke well to him, and doe him no harme, but doe vnto him [e] euen as he ſhall ſay vnto thee.

13 So Nebuzar-adan the chiefe ſteward ſent, and Nebushazban, Rabſaris, and Neregal, Sharezar, Rab-mag, and all the king of Babels princes:

14 Euen they ſent, and tooke Ieremiah out of the court of the priſon, and committed him vnto [f] Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam the ſonne of Shaphan, that he ſhould carie him home: ſo he dwelt among the people.

15 Now the word of the Lorde came vnto Ieremiah, while he was ſhut vp in the court of the priſon, ſaying, 16 Goe and ſpeake to Ebed-melech the blacke Moore, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will bring my words vpon this citie for euill, and not for good, and they ſhall be accompliſhed in that day before thee.

17 But I wil deliuer thee in that day, ſaith the Lord, and thou ſhalt not be giuen into the hand of the men whom thou feareſt.

18 For I will ſurely deliuer thee, and thou ſhalt not fall by the ſword, but thy life ſhall be for a pray vnto thee, becauſe thou haſt put thy truſt in me, ſaith the Lord.

4 Ieremiah hath licence to goe whither he wil. 6 He dwelleth with the people that remaine with Gedaliah.

THe worde which came to Ieremiah from the Lorde after that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had let him goe from Ramath, whē he had taken him being bound in chaines among all that were caried away captiue of Ierusalem and Iudah, which were caried away captiue vnto Babel.

2 [a] And the chiefe steward tooke Ieremiah, and said vnto him, The Lord thy God hath pronounced this plague vpon this place.

3 Now the Lord hath brought it, and done according as he hath said: because ye haue [b] sinned against the Lord, and haue not obeied his voyce, therefore this thing is come vpon you.

4 And now behold, I loose thee this day from the chaines which were on thine hands, if it please thee to come with mee into Babel, come, and I will looke wel vnto thee: but if it please thee not to come with mee into Babel, † tary still: behold, all the land is ‖ before thee: whither it seemeth good, & conuenient for thee to goe, thither goe.

5 For yet he was not returned: therefore he said, Returne to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, whom the king of Babel hath made gouernour ouer all the cities of Iudah, and dwell with him among the people, or goe wheresoeuer it pleaseth thee to goe. So the chiefe steward gaue him vitailes and a reward, and let him goe.

6 Then went Ieremiah vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, to [c] Mizpah, and dwelt there with him among the people that were left in the land.

7 Now when all the captains of the host, [d] which were in the fields, euen they and their men heard, that the king of Babel had made Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam gouernour in the land, and that he had committed vnto him, men and women, and children, & of the poore of the land, that were not caried away captiue to Babel,

8 Then they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, euen [e] Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and Iohanan, and Ionathan the sonnes of Kareah, and Seraiah the sonne of Tanehumeth, and ỹ sonnes of Ephai, the Netophathite, and Iezaniah the sonne of Maachathi, they and their men.

9 And Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan * sware vnto them, and to their men, saying, Feare not to serue the Caldeans: dwell in the land, and serue the king of Babel, and it shalbe wel with you.

10 As for me, Behold, I wil dwel at Mizpah to ‖ serue the Caldeans, which will come vnto vs: but you, gather you wine, and sommer fruits, and oile, & put them in your vessels, and dwel in your cities, that ye haue ‖ taken.

11 Likewise whē all the Iewes that were in [f] Moab, and among the Ammonites, and in Edom, and that were in all the countries, heard that the king of Babel had left a remnant of Iudah, and that he had set ouer them Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, 12 Euen all the Iewes returned out of all places where they were driuē, and came to the land of Iudah to Gedaliah vnto Mizpah, & gathered wine and sommer fruits, very much.

13 Moreouer Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captains of the hoste that were in the fields, came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, 14 And said vnto him, Knowest thou not that [g] Baalis the king of the Ammonites hath sent Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah to slay thee? But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam beleeued them not.

15 Then Iohanan ỹ sonne of Kareah spake to Gedaliah in Mizpah secretly, saying, Let me go I pray thee, & I will slay Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, & no man shal know it. Wherefore should he kill thee, that all ỹ Iewes which are gathered vnto thee, should be scattered, and the remnant in Iudah perish?

16 But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam said vnto Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, Thou shalt [h] not doe this thing: for thou speakest falsly of Ishmael.

CHAP. XLI.

2 Ishmael killeth Gedaliah guilefully, & many other with him. 11 Iohanan followeth after Ishmael.

BUt in the [a] seuenth moneth came Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, the sonne of Elishama of the seede royall, and the princes of the [b] king, and ten men with him, vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam to Mizpah, and there they did [c] eate bread together in Mizpah.

2 Then arose Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah with these tenne men that were with him, and smote Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan with the sword, and slue him, whom the king of Babel had made gouernour ouer the land.

3 Ishmael also slue al the Iewes that were with Gedaliah at Mizpah, & all the Caldeans that were found there, & the men of warre.

4 Now the second day that hee had slaine Gedaliah, and no man knew it,

5 There came men from Shechem, from Shiloh, and from Samaria, euen fourescore men, hauing their beardes shauen, and their clothes rent and cut, with [d] offerings, and incense in their hands to offer in the house of the Lord.

6 And Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah went forth frō Mizpah to meet them, weeping as hee went: and when hee met them, he said vnto

7 And when they came into the mids of the citie, Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah slew thē, and cast them into the mids of the pit, he and the men that were with him.

8 But ten men were found among them, that saide vnto Ishmael, Slay vs not: for we haue treasures in the fielde, of wheate, and of barley, and of oyle, and of honie: so hee staied, and slew them not among their brethren.

9 Nowe the pit wherein Ishmael had cast the dead bodies of the men (whom he had slain because of Gedaliah) is it, which Asa the king had [f] made because of Basha king of Israel, and Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah filled it with them that were slaine.

10 Then Ishmael caried away captiue all the residue of the people that were in Mizpah, euen the kings daughters, and all the people that remained in Mizpah, whom Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had committed to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, [g] Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah caried them away captiue, and departed to go ouer to the Ammonites.

11 But when Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the [g] captains of the hoste that were with him, hearde of all the euill that Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had done, 12 Then they all tooke their men and went to fight with Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and found him by the great waters that are in Gibeon.

13 Now when all the people whome Ishmael caried away captiue, sawe Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, that were with him, they were glad.

14 So all the people that Ishmael had caried away captiue from Mizpah, returned and came again, and went vnto Johanan the sonne of Kareah.

15 But Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah escaped from Johanan with eight men, and went to the [h] Ammonites.

16 Then tooke Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the host that were with him, all the remnant of the people, whom Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had carried away captiue from Mizpah (after that hee had slaine Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam) euen the strong men of warre, and the women, and the children, & the eunuches, whom he had brought againe from Gibeon:

17 And they departed and dwelt in Geruth [i] Chimham, which is by Beth-lehem, to goe and to enter into Egypt.

THen all the captaines of the hoste, and Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and Iezaniah the sonne of Hoshaaiah, and all the people from the least vnto the most came,

2 And sayd vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, † Heare our prayer, we beseech thee, and pray for vs vnto the Lord thy God, euen for all this remnant (for we are left, but a few of many, as thine eies doe behold)

19 O yee remnant of Iudah, the Loꝛd hath ſayd concerning you, Goe not into Egypt: know certainly that I haue admoniſhed you this day.

20 Surely yee [h] diſſembled in your hearts when ye ſent me vnto the Loꝛd your God, ſaying, Pꝛay foꝛ vs vnto the Loꝛde our God, and declare vnto vs euen accoꝛding vnto all that the Loꝛd our God ſhal ſay, and we wil do it.

21 Theꝛefoꝛe I haue this day declared it you, but you haue not obeyed the voyce of the Loꝛd your God, noꝛ any thing foꝛ the which he hath ſent me vnto you.

22 Now theꝛefoꝛe, know certainly that ye ſhal die by the ſwoꝛd, by the famine, and by the peſtilence, [i] in the place whither ye deſire to go and dwel.

f Thus God turneth the policie of the wicked to their owne deſtruction: foꝛ they thought themſelues ſure in Egypt, and there Nebuchad-nezzar deſtroyed them, and the Egyptians, Chap. 46.25.

CHAP. XLIII.

Iohanan carieth the remnant of the people into Egypt, contrary to the mind of Ieremiah. 8 Ieremiah propheſieth the deſtruction of Egypt.

NOwe when Ieremiah had made an ende of ſpeaking vnto the whole people all the woꝛdes of the Loꝛd their God, foꝛ the which the Loꝛd their God had ſent him to them, euen all theſe woꝛds,

2 Then ſpake [a] Azariah the ſonne of Hoſhaiah, and Iohanan the ſonne of Kareah, and all the [b] pꝛoude men, ſaying vnto Ieremiah, [c] Thou ſpeakeſt falſly: the Loꝛd our God hath [d] not ſent thee to ſay, Goe not into Egypt to dwel there,

3 But Baruch the ſonne of Neriah [e] pꝛoꝛoketh thee againſt vs, foꝛ to deliuer vs into the hand of the Caldeans, that they might ſlay vs, and carie vs away captiues into Babel.

4 So Iohanan the ſonne of Kareah, [f] all the captaines of the hoſte, and all the people obeyed not the voyce of the Loꝛd, to dwel in the land of Iudah.

5 But Iohanan the ſonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoſte tooke all the remnant of Iudah, that were returned from all [f] nations, whither they had beene dꝛiuen, to dwell in the land of Iudah:

6 Euen men and women, and childꝛen, and the Kings daughteꝛs, and euery perſon, that Nebuzar-adan the chief ſteward had left with Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam, the ſonne of Shaphan, and Ieremiah the Pꝛophet, and Baruch the ſonne of Neriah.

7 So they came into the lande of Egypt: foꝛ they obeyed not the voyce of the Loꝛd: thus came they to [h] Tahpanhes.

8 ¶ Then came the woꝛde of the Loꝛd vnto Ieremiah in Tahpanhes, ſaying, 9 Take great ſtones in thine hand, and [i] hide them in the clay in the bꝛicke kill, which is at the entrie of Pharaohs houſe in Tahpanhes in the ſight of the men of Iudah.

10 And ſay vnto them, Thus ſaith the Loꝛd of hoſts the God of Iſrael, Behold, I wil ſend and bꝛing Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel [k] my ſeruant, and will ſet his thꝛone vpon theſe ſtones that I haue hid, and he ſhall ſpꝛead his pauilion ouer them.

11 And when he ſhall come, hee ſhall ſmite the land of Egypt: [l] ſuch as are appointed foꝛ death, to death, and ſuch as are foꝛ captiuitie, to captiuitie, and ſuch as are foꝛ the ſwoꝛde, to the ſwoꝛd.

12 And I will kindle a fire in the houſes of the gods of Egypt, and he ſhal burne them and cary them away captiues, and he ſhal aray himſelfe with the land of Egypt, as a [m] ſhepheard putteth on his garment, and ſhall depart from thence in peace.

CHAP. XLIIII.

He reproueth the people for their idolatrie. 15 They that ſet light by the threatening of the Lord, are chaſtened. 26 The deſtruction of Egypt and of the Iewes therin, is propheſied.

THe woꝛde that came to Ieremiah concerning all the Iewes which dwell in the land of Egypt, and remained at Migdol and at [a] Tahpanhes, [a] at Noph, and in the country of Pathꝛos, ſaying,

2 Thus ſaieth the Loꝛd of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, Ye haue ſeen all the euil that I haue bꝛought vpon Ieruſalem, and vpon all the cities of Iudah: and beholde, this day they are deſolate, and no man dwelleth therein,

3 Becauſe of their wickednes which they haue committed, to pꝛouoke mee to anger in that a These were all famous and ſtrong cities in Egypt, where the Iewes that were fled, dwelt foꝛ their ſafetie: but the Pꝛophet declareth that there is no hold ſo ſtrong that can pꝛeſerue them from Gods vengeance.

that they went to burne incense, and to serue other gods, whom they knew not, neither they nor you nor your fathers.

4 Howbeit I sent vnto you all my seruants the Prophets [b] rising early, and sending them, saying, Oh doe not this abominable thing that I hate.

5 But they would not heare nor incline their eare to turne from their wickednesse, and to burne no more incense vnto other gods.

6 Wherefore [c] my wrath, and mine anger was powred foorth and was kindled in the cities of Iudah, & in the streetes of Ierusalem, and they are desolate, & waste, as appeareth this day.

7 Therefore now thus saieth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Wherefore commit ye this great euil against your soules, to cut off from you man and woman, child and suckling out of Iudah, and leaue you none to remaine?

8 In that ye prouoke me vnto wrath with the workes of your handes, burning incense vnto other gods in the land of Egypt whither ye be gone to dwell: that yee might bring destruction vnto your selues, and that yee might bee a curse and a reproch among all nations of the earth.

9 Haue ye forgotten the wickednesse of your fathers, and the wickednesse of the [d] Kings of Iudah and the wickednesse of their wiues and your owne wickednes and the wickednesse of your wiues, which they haue committed in the land of Iudah and in the streetes of Ierusalem?

10 They are not ‖ humbled vnto this day, neither haue they feared nor walked in my lawe nor in my statutes, that I set before you and before your fathers.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Behold, I will set my face against you *to euil and to destroy all Iudah, 12 And I will take the remnant of Iudah, that [e] haue set their faces to goe into the land of Egypt there to dwel, and they shall all be consumed and fall in the land of Egypt: they shall euen be consumed by the sword and by the famine: they shal die from the least vnto the most, by the sword, and by the famine, and they shall be a detestation & an astonishment and a [f] curse and a reproch.

13 For I will visite them that dwel in the land of Egypt, as I haue visited Ierusalem by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, 14 So that none of the remnant of Iudah, which are gone into the lande of Egypt to dwell there, shall escape or remaine, that they should returne into the lande of Iudah to the which they † haue a desire to returne to dwell there: for none shall returne, but ‖ such as shal escape.

15 Then all the men which knew that their wiues had burnt incense vnto other gods, and al the women that stood by, a great multitude, euen al the people that dwelt in the land of Egypt in Pathros, answered Ieremiah, saying,

16 The worde that thou hast spoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lord, we wil [h] not heare it of thee,

17 But we will doe whatsoeuer thing goeth out of our own mouth, as to burne incense vnto [i] the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offrings vnto her as we haue done, both we and our fathers, our kings and our princes in the cities of Iudah, & in the streets of Ierusalem: for then † had wee [k] plentie of vitailes and were well and ‖ felt none euil.

18 But since we left off to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offrings vnto her, we haue had ‖ scarcenesse of all things, and haue bene consumed by the sword and by the famine.

19 And when wee burnt incense vnto the Queene of heauen, and powred out drinke offerings vnto her, did wee make her cakes ‖ to make her glad, and powre out drinke offerings vnto her without [l] our husbands?

20 Then sayde Ieremiah vnto all the people, to the men, and to the women, and to all the people which had giuen him that answere, saying,

21 Did not the Lorde remember the incense, that ye burnt in the cities of Iudah, and in the streets of Ierusalem, both you, and your fathers, your kings and your princes, and the people of the land, and † hath he not considered it?

22 So that the Lord could no longer forbeare, because of the wickednes of your inuentions, & because of the abominations which ye haue committed: therefore is your land desolate and an astonishment, and a curse & without inhabitant, as appeareth this day.

23 Because ye haue burnt incense and because ye haue sinned against the Lord, and haue not obeied the voyce of the Lord, nor walked in his Law, nor in his statutes, nor in his testimonies, therfore this plague is come vpon you, as appeareth this day.

24 Moreouer Ieremiah said vnto all the people and to all the women, Heare the worde of the Lorde, all Iudah that are in the land of Egypt.

25 Thus speaketh the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, Ye and your wiues haue both spoken with your mouthes, and fulfilled with your [m] hand, saying, We wil perform our vowes that we haue vowed to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, & to powre out drinke offerings to her: ye wil performe your vowes, and doe the things that ye haue vowed.

c He setteth before their eyes Gods iudgements against Iudah and Ierusalem for their idolatrie, that they might beware by their example, and not with the like wickednes prouoke the Lord: for then they should be double punished.

d He sheweth that we ought to keep in memory Gods plagues from the beginning, that considering them, we might liue in his feare, and know, if he haue not spared our fathers, yea, kings princes and rulers, and also whole countreys and nations for their sinnes, that we vile wormes cannot looke to escape punishment for ours.

i Read Chap 7. 18. It seemeth that the Papists gathered of this place Salue Regina and Regina celi letare, calling the virgin Marie Queene of heauen, and so of the blessed virgin, and mother of our Sauiour Christ made an idole: for here the Prophet condemneth their idolatrie.

26 Therefore heare the word of the Lord, all Iudah that dwell in the land of Egypt. Behold, I haue sworne by my great Name, saieth the Lord, that my Name [n] shall no more be called vpon by the mouth of any man of Iudah, in all the land of Egypt, saying, The Lord God liueth.

27 Behold, I wil watch ouer them for euil and not for good, and all men of Iudah that are in the land of Egypt, shall be consumed by the sword, and by the famine, vntil they be vtterly destroyed.

28 Yet a small number that escape the sword, [o] shal returne out of the land of Egypt into the land of Iudah: and all the remnant of Iudah that are gone into the land of Egypt to dwel there, shal know whose words shal stand, mine or theirs.

29 And this shalbe a signe vnto you, saieth the Lord, when I visite you in this place, that ye may know that my words shall surely stand against you for euil.

30 Thus saieth the Lord, Behold, I will [p] giue Pharaoh Hophra king of Egypt into the hand of his enemies, and into the hand of them that seeke his life: as I gaue Zedekiah king of Iudah into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel his enemie, who also sought his life.

n This declareth an horrible plague toward idolaters, seeing that God wil not vouchsafe to haue his Name mentioned by such as haue polluted it.
o We see therefore, that God hath a perpetual care ouer his, wheresoeuer they are scattred: for though they be but two or three, yet he will deliuer them when he destroieth his enemies.
p He sheweth the means whereby they should be destroyed, to assure them of the certaintie of the plague, and yet they remaine stil in their obstinacie till they perish: for Ioseph. lib. 10. de Antiq. cap. 11. writeth, that fiue yeere after the taking of Ierusalem, Nebuchad-nezzar the yonger, hauing ouercome the Moabites and the Ammonites, went against Egypt, and slew the King, and so brought these Iewes and other into Babylon.

2 Thus saieth the Lorde God of Israel vnto thee, O Baruch.

3 Thou diddest say, Woe is me now: for the Lord hath laied sorow vnto my sorow: I [c] fainted in my mourning, and I can finde no rest.

4 Thus shalt thou say vnto him, The Lord saieth thus, Behold, that which I haue built, wil I [d] destroy, and that which I haue planted, wil I plucke vp, euen this whole land.

5 And seekest [e] thou great things for thy selfe? seeke them not: for behold, I wil bring a plague vpon all flesh, saieth the Lord: but thy life will I giue thee for [f] a praie in all places, whither thou goest.

1 He propheseth the destruction of Egypt. 27 Deliuerance is promised to Israel.

THe words of the Lord, which came to Ieremiah the Prophet against the [a] Gentiles,

2 As against Egypt, against the armie of [b] Pharaoh Necho king of Egypt, which was by the riuer Perath in Carchemish, which Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel smote in the fourth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah.

3 [c] Make ready buckler and shield, and goe forth to battel.

4 Make ready the horses, and let the horsemen get vp, and stand vp with your sallets, fourbish the speares, and put on the brigandines.

5 [d] Wherefore haue I seene them afraid, and driuen backe? for their mightie men are smitten, and are fled away, [e] looke not backe: for feare was round about, saieth the Lord.

6 The swift shall not flee away, nor the strong man escape: they shall stumble, and fall toward the [e] North by the riuer Perath.

7 Who is this that commeth vp, as [f] a flood, whose waters are moued like the riuers?

8 Egypt riseth vp like the flood, [g] his waters are moued like the riuers, and he saieth, I wil go vp, & wil couer the earth: I wil destroy the citie with them that dwel therein.

9 Come vp, ye horses, and rage ye charets, and let the valiaunt men come forth, [g] the blacke Mores, and the Lybians that beare the shield, and the Lydians that handle & bend the bowe.

10 For this is the day of the Lorde God of hostes, and a day of vengeance, that he may auenge him of his enemies: for the sword shall deuoure, and it shall be satiate, & made drunke with their blood: for the Lorde God of hostes hath [h] a sacrifice in the North countrey [i] by the riuer Perath.

11 Goe vp vnto Gilead, [k] and take balme, O [l] virgine, the daughter of Egypt: in vaine shalt thou vse many [m] medicines: for thou shalt haue no health.

12 The nations haue heard of thy shame, and thy crie hath filled the land: for the strong hath stumbled against the strong and they are fallen both together.

14 Publish in Egypt, and declare in Migdol, and proclaime in Noph, and in Tahpanhes, and say, Stand still, and prepare thee: for the sword shall deuoure round about thee.

15 Why are thy valiant men put backe? they coulde not stande, because the Lorde did driue them.

19 O thou daughter dwelling in Egypt, make thee geare to goe into captiuitie: for Noph shalbe waste and desolate, without an inhabitant.

20 Egypt is like a [q] faire calfe, but destruction commeth: out of the North it commeth.

21 Also her hired men [r] are in the mids of her like fat calues: they are also turned backe and fled away together: they could not stand, because the day of their destruction was come vpon them, & the time of their visitation.

22 The voyce thereof shall goe forth like a [s] serpent: for they shall march with an army, and come against [t] her with axes, as hewers of wood.

23 They shall cut downe [u] her forest, saith the Lord: for they cannot be counted, because they are moe then the [x] grashoppers, and are innumerable.

24 The daughter of Egypt shall bee confounded: she shall be deliuered into the handes of the people of the North.

25 ¶ Thus saieth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will visite the [y] common people of No & Pharaoh, and Egypt, with their gods and their kings, euen Pharaoh, and all them that trust in him, 26 And I will deliuer them into the hands of those, that seeke their liues, and into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and into the hands of his seruants, and afterward shee shall dwell as [z] in the olde time, saieth the Lord.

27 ¶ [a] But feare not thou, O my seruant Iaakob, and be not thou afraid, O Israel: for behold, I wil deliuer thee from a far countrey, and thy seed from the land of their captiuitie, and Iaakob shal returne and be in rest, and prosperitie, and none shal make him afraid.

28 Feare thou not, O Iaakob my seruant, saieth the Lord: for I am with thee, and I wil vtterly destroy all the nations, whither I haue driuen thee: but I wil not vtterly destroy thee, but correct [b] thee by iudgement, and not vtterly cut thee off.

3 At the noise and stamping of the hooues of his strong horses, at the noise of his charets, and at the rumbling of his wheeles: the fathers shall not [c] looke backe to their children, for feebleneſſe of [d] hands,

4 Because of the day that commeth to destroy all the Philistims, and to destroy Tyrus, and Zidon, and all the rest that take their part: for the Lord will destroy the Philistims, the remnant of the ile of [e] Caphtor.

5 [f] Baldnes is come vpon Azzah: Ashkelon is cut vp with the rest of their valleis. How long wilt [g] thou cut thy selfe?

6 O thou sword of the Lord, how long wil it be or thou cease! turne againe into thy scabberd, rest and be still.

†Or, gone vp, or destroyed.

16 The destruction of Moab is readie to come, and his plague hasteth fast.

17 All yee that are about him, mourne for him, and all ye that know his name, say, l How is the strong staffe broken, and the beautifull rod!

l How are they destroied that put their trust in their strength and riches?

18 Thou daughter that doest inhabite Dibon, come downe from thy glory, & sit in thirst: for the destroier of Moab is all come vpon thee, and he shal destroy thy strong holds.

19 Thou that dwellest in Aroer, stand by the way, and beholde: aske him that fleeth and that escapeth, & say, What is done?

20 m Moab is confounded: for it is destroied: howle, and cry, tel ye it in Arnon, that Moab is made waste, m Thus they that flee, shall answere.

21 And iudgement is come vpon the plaine countrey, vpon Holon and vpon Iahazah, and vpon Mephaath, 22 And vpon Dibon, and vpon Nebo, and vpon the house of Diblathaim, 23 And vpon Kiriathaim, and vpon Beth-gamul, and vpon Beth-meon, 24 And vpon Kirioth, and vpon Bozrah, and vpon al the cities of the land of Moab farre or neere.

25 The n horne of Moab is cut off, and his arme is broken, saieth the Lord.

n That is, his power and strength.

26 Make ye him o drunken: for he magnified himselfe against the Lorde: Moab shall ‖ wallow in his vomite, and he also shall bee in derision.

o He willeth the Caldeans to lay afflictiõs enough vpon thẽ, til they be like drunken men that fall downe to their shame, and are derided of all.

‖Or, shalbe ful, or clap his hands.

27 For diddest not thou deride Israel, as though he had bene found among theeues? for when thou speakest of him, thou art p mooued.

p Thou reioycest to heare of his miserie.

28 O ye that dwell in Moab, leaue the cities, and dwell in the rockes, and bee like the doue, that maketh her nest in the sides of the holes mouth.

29 *Wee haue heard the pryde of Moab (he is exceeding proud) his stoutnesse, and his arrogancie, and his pryde, and the hautinesse of his heart.

30 I know his wrath, saith the Lord, q but it shall not be so: and his dissimulations, for they doe not right.

q He shal not execute his malice against his neighbours.

31 r Therefore wil I howle for Moab, and I will cry out for all Moab: mine heart shall mourne for the men of Kir-heres.

r Read Isa. 16.7.

32 O Vine of Sibmah, I will weepe for thee, as I wept for Jazer: thy plants are gone ouer the sea, they are come to the sea s of Jazer: the destroier is fallen vpon thy summer fruits, and vpon thy vintage.

s Which citie was in the vtmost border of Moab: & hereby he signifieth that the whole land should be destroied & the people caried away.

33 And ioy, and gladnes is taken from the plentiful field, and from the land of Moab: and I haue caused wine to faile frõ the winepresse: none shall tread with shouting: their shouting shall be no shouting.

t Read Isa. 15.5.

35 Moreouer, I wil cause to cease in Moab, saieth the Lord, him that offered in the high places, and him that burneth incense to his gods.

36 Therefore mine heart shall sound for Moab like a u chaume, and mine heart shall sound like a chaume for the men of Ker-heres, because the riches that hee hath gotten, is perished.

u Their custome was to play on flutes or instruments, beause and grane times at burials and in the time of mourning, as Matth. 9.23. *Ie. 15.2,3. Ezek. 7.18.

37 *For euery head shall be ‖ bald, and euery beard plucked: vpon all the hands shall be cuttings, and vpon the loines sackcloth.

38 And mourning shall bee vpon all the house tops of Moab, & in all the streetes thereof: for I haue broken Moab like a vessel wherin is no pleasure, saieth the Lord.

39 They shall howle, saying, How is hee destroyed? how hath Moab turned the backe with shame? so shall Moab be a derision, and a feare to all them about him.

40 For thus saieth the Lord, Behold, x he shall flee as an egle, and shall spread his wings ouer Moab.

x That is, Nebuchad nezzar as Chap. 49.22.

41 The cities are taken, and the strong holds are woon, & the mightie mens hearts in Moab at that day shall be as the heart of a woman in trauell.

42 And Moab shalbe destroied from being a people, because he hath set vp himselfe against the Lord.

43 y Feare, and pit and snare shall be vpon thee, O inhabitant of Moab, saieth the Lord.

y He that escapeth one danger, shalbe taken of another, Isa. 24.17.

44 Hee that escapeth from the feare, shall fall in the pit, and hee that getteth vp out of the pit, shall bee taken in the snare: for I will bring vpon it, euen vpon Moab, the yeere of 45 They that fled, stood vnder the shadow z of Heshbon, because of the force: for a the fire came out of Heshbon, and a flame from Sihon, and deuoured the corner of Moab, and the top of the seditious children.

46 Woe be vnto thee, O Moab: the people of b Chemosh perisheth: for thy sonnes are taken captiues, & thy daughters led into captiuitie.

47 Yet will I bring againe the captiuitie of Moab in the c latter dayes, saieth the Lord. Thus farre of the iudgement of Moab.

CHAP. XLIX.

1 The worde of the Lord against the Ammonites, 7 Idumea, 23 Damascus, 28 Kedar, 34 and Elam.

a They were separated from the Moabites by the riuer Arnon, and after that the ten tribes were caried away into captiuitie they inuaded the country of Gad.
b To wit, of the Ammonites.
c Meaning of the Israelites.
d Which was one of the chiefe cities of the Ammonites, as were Heshbon & Ai: there was also a city called Heshbon among the Moabites.
e In thy plentifull countrey.
f Signifying that power and riches cannot preuaile when as God wil execute his iudgements.
g That is, without looking back and as euery one can find a way to escape.
h In the time of Christ when the Gentiles shal be called.
i Which was a city of Edom called by the name of Teman Eliphaz sonne who came of Esau.
k The enemies that shal dissemble as though they fled away, shal turne backe and inuade your land & possesse it.
l Meaning, that God would vtterly destroy the and not spare one, though the grape gatherers leaue some grapes, and theeues seeke but til they haue inough. Obad. 1.5.

VNto the children of a Ammon thus saieth the Lord, Hath Israel no sonnes? or hath hee none heire? Why then hath their b king possessed Gad? and his people dwelt in c his cities?

2 Therfore behold, the dayes come, saieth the Lord, that I will cause a noyse of warre to be heard in d Rabbah of the Ammonites, and it shall bee a desolate heape, and her daughters shall be burnt with fire: then shall Israel possesse those that possessed him, saieth the Lord.

3 Howle, O Heshbon, for Ai is wasted: crye daughters of Rabbah: girde you with sackcloth: mourne and runne to and fro by the hedges: for their king shall goe into captiuitie, & his priests, and his princes likewise.

4 Wherefore gloriest thou in the e valleis? thy valley floweth away, O rebellious daughter: she trusted in her treasures, saying, Who shall come vnto me?

5 Behold, I wil bring f a feare vpon thee, saieth the Lord God of hostes, of all those that be about thee, and ye shall bee scattered euery man g right foorth, and none shall gather him that fleeth.

6 And h afterward I wil bring againe the captiuitie of the children of Ammon.

7 ¶ To Edom thus saieth the Lorde of hostes, Is wisedome no more in i Teman? is counsell perished from their children? is their wisedom vanished?

8 Flee, yee inhabitants of Dedan (k they are turned backe, and haue consulted to dwell) for I haue brought the destruction of Esau vpon him, & the time of his visitation.

9 If the l grape gatherers come to thee, would they not leaue some grapes? if theeues come by night, they will destroy till they haue inough.

10 For I haue discouered Esau: I haue vncouered his secrets, and he shall not be able to hide himselfe: his seed is wasted, and his brethren & his neighbours, and there shall be none to say, 11 Leaue thy m fatherlesse children, and I wil preserue them aliue, and let thy widowes trust in me.

12 For thus saith the Lord, n Behold, they whose iudgement was not to drink of the cup, haue assuredly drunken, and art thou hee that shall escape free? thou shalt not goe free, but thou shalt surely drinke of it.

13 For I haue sworne by my selfe, saieth the Lord, that o Bozrah shall be waste, and for a reproche, and a desolation, and a curse, and all the cities thereof shall be perpetuall desolations.

14 I haue heard a rumour from the Lorde, and an ambassadour is sent vnto the heathen, saying, Gather you together, and come against p her, and rise vp to the battell.

15 For loe, I will make thee but small among the heathen, and despised among men.

16 Thy ‖ feare, & the pride of thine heart hath deceiued thee, thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rock, and keepest the height of the hill: though thou shouldest make thy nest as hie as the eagle, I will bring thee downe from thence, saieth the Lord.

17 ¶ Also Edom shall be desolate: euery one that goeth by it, shalbe astonished, and shall hisse at all the plagues thereof.

18 As in the ouerthrowe of Sodome, and of Gomorrah, and the places thereof neere about, saieth the Lorde: no man shall dwell there, neither shall the sonnes of men remaine in it.

19 Behold, q hee shall come vp like a lion from the swelling of Jorden vnto the strong dwelling place: for I will make Israel to rest, euen I wil make r him to haste away from her, and who is a chosen man that I may appoint against her? for who is like me? and who will appoint me the time? and who is the s shepheard that will stand before me?

20 Therefore heare the counsell of the Lord that he hath deuised against Edom, and his purpose that hee hath conceiued against the inhabitants of Teman: surely the least t of the flocke shall drawe them out: surely u he shall make their habitations desolate with them.

21 The earth is moued at the noise of their fall: the cry of their voyce is heard in the red Sea.

22 Beholde, hee shall come vp, and flee as the Eagle, x and spread his wings ouer Bozrah, and at that day shall the heart of the strong men of Edom bee as the heart of a woman in trauaile.

23 ¶ Unto y Damascus he saieth, Hamath is confounded and Arpad, for they haue heard 24 Damascus is discouraged, and turneth her selfe to flight: z feare hath seased her: anguish and sorowes haue taken her as a woman in trauaile.

25 Howe is the glorious a citie not reserued, the citie of my ioy?

26 Therefore her yong men shal fall in her streetes, and all her men of warre shalbe cut off in that day, saieth the Lord of hostes.

27 And I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus, which shall consume the palaces of b Benhadad.

28 ¶ Unto c Kedar, & to the kingdoms of Hazor, which Nebuchad-nezzar, king of Babel shal smite, thus saith y Lord, Arise, & go vp vnto Kedar, and destroy the men of the East.

29 Their tents and their flocks shall they take away: yea, they shall take to themselues their d curtaines and all their vessels, and their camels, and they shall cry vnto them, Feare is on euery side.

30 Flee, get you farre off (e they haue consulted to dwell) O yee inhabitants of Hazor, saieth the Lord: for Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel hath taken counsell agaynst you, & hath deuised a purpose against you.

31 f Arise, & get you vp vnto the wealthie nation that dwelleth without care, saieth the Lord, which haue neither gates nor barres, but dwel alone.

32 And their camels shall be a bootie, & the multitude of their cattel a spoile, & I will scatter them into all winds, and to the vtmost corners, and I wil bring their destruction from al the sides thereof, saieth the Lord.

33 And Hazor shall be a dwelling for dragons, and desolation for euer: there shall no man dwel there, nor the sonnes of men remaine in it.

34 ¶ The words of the Lord that came to Jeremiah the Prophet, concerning g Elam, in the beginning of the reigne of Zedekiah king of Judah, saying, 35 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, I wil breake the h bowe of Elam, euē the chief of their strength.

36 And vpon Elam I wil bring the foure windes from the foure quarters of heauen, and will scatter them towards all these winds, and there shal be no nation whither the fugitiues of Elam shal not come.

37 For I will cause Elam to be afraid before their enemies, and before them that seeke their liues, and will bring vpon them a plague, euen the indignation of my wrath, saieth the Lord, and I will send the sword after them till I haue consumed them.

38 And I wil set my i throne in Elam, and I wil destroy both the king and the princes frō thence, saith the Lord: but k in the latter daies I will bring againe the captiuitie of Elam, saieth the Lord.

CHAP. L.

He prophesieth the destruction of Babylon, & the deliuerance of Israel, which was in captiuitie.

THe word that the Lord spake, concerning Babel, and concerning the lande of the Caldeans, by the † ministerie of Jeremiah the Prophet.

† Ebr. hand.

2 Declare among the nations, and publish it, and set vp a standart, proclaime it and conceale it not: say, a Babel is taken, Bel is confounded, b Merodach is broken down: her idols are confounded, and their images are burst in pieces.

3 For out of the North there c commeth vp a nation against her, which shall make her land waste, and none shall dwell therein: they shall flee & depart, both man and beast.

4 In those dayes, and at that time, saieth the Lord, the childrē of Israel shal d come, they, and the children of Judah together, going e and weeping shall they go, and seeke the Lord their God.

5 They shall aske the way to Zion, with their faces thitherward, saying, Come, and let vs cleaue to the Lord in a perpetuall couenant that shal not be forgotten.

6 ¶ My people hath bene as lost sheepe: their f shepeheards haue caused them to goe astray, and haue turned them away to the mountains: they haue gone from s mountain to hil, & forgotten their resting place.

7 All that found them haue deuoured thē, and their enemies said, We offend not, because they haue sinned against the Lord, h the habitation of iustice, euen the Lorde the hope of their fathers.

8 i Flee from the mids of Babel, and depart out of the land of the Caldeans, and be ye as the hee goates k before the flocke.

9 For loe, I will raise, and cause to come vp against Babel a multitude of mightie nations from the North countrey, and they shall set themselues in arap against her, whereby she shall be taken: their arrowes shall be as of a strong man which is expert, for none shall returne in vaine.

10 And Caldea shall bee a spoile: all that spoile her, l shalbe satisfied, saieth the Lord.

11 Because yee were glad and reioyced in destroying mine heritage, and because yee are growen fat, as the calues in the grasse, m & neied like strong horses, 12 Therefore your mother shalbe sore confounded, and she that bare you, shalbe ashamed: behold, the vttermost of the nations shall bee a desert, a dry land, and a wildernes.

a After that God hath vsed the Babylonians seruice to punish other nations, he sheweth that their turne shall come to be punished.

b These were two of their chiefe idoles.

c To wit, the Medes, and the Persians.

e Read Chap. 31. 9.

f Their gouernors and ministers by their examples haue prouoked them to idolatrie.

g They haue cōmitted idolatrie in euery place.

h For the Lord dwelt among them in his Temple, and would haue maintained the by his iustice against their enemies.

i When God shal deliuer you by Cyrus.

k That is, most forward & without feare.

l Shalbe made rich thereby.

m For ioy of the victory, that ye had against my people.

13 Becauſe of the wrath of the Lord it ſhal not be inhabited, but ſhalbe wholy deſolate: euery one that goeth by Babel, ſhall bee aſtoniſhed, [n] and hiſſe at all her plagues.

14 [o] Put your ſelues in aray againſt Babel round about: all ye that bend the bowe, ſhoote at her, ſpare no arrowes: for ſhee hath [p] ſinned againſt the Lord.

15 Cry againſt her round about: ſhee hath ‖ giuen her hand: her foundations are fallen, & her wals are deſtroied: for it is the vengeance of the Lord: take vengeance vpon her: as ſhe hath done, do vnto her.

16 Deſtroy the [q] ſower from Babel, and him that handleth the ſithe in the time of harueſt: becauſe of the ſword of the oppreſſour they ſhal turne euery one to his people, and they ſhal flee euery one to his owne land.

17 Iſrael is like ſcattered ſheep: the lions haue diſperſed them: firſt the king [r] of Aſſhur hath deuoured him, and laſt this Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel hath broken [t] his bones.

18 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will viſit the king of Babel, and his land, as I haue viſited the king of Aſſhur.

19 And I will bring Iſrael againe to his habitation: he ſhall feede on Carmel and Baſhan, and his ſoule ſhall bee ſatisfied vpon the mount Ephraim and Gilead.

20 In thoſe dayes, and at that time, ſaieth the Lorde, the iniquitie of Iſrael ſhall bee ſought for, and there ſhall bee none: and the ſinnes of Iudah, and they ſhall not bee found: for I will bee mercifull vnto them, whom I reſerue.

21 Goe vp againſt the land of the [s] rebels, euen againſt it, and againſt the inhabitants *of ‖ Pekod: deſtroy, & lay it waſte after them, ſaieth the Lord, and doe according to all that I haue commanded thee.

22 A crie of battell is in the land, & of great deſtruction.

23 How is the [u] hammer of [ỹ] whole world deſtroyed, and broken! howe is Babel become deſolate among the nations!

24 I haue ſnared thee, and thou art taken, O Babel, and thou waſt not aware: thou art found, and alſo caught, becauſe thou haſt ſtriuen againſt the Lord.

25 The Lord hath opened his treaſure, and hath brought foorth the weapons of his wrath: for this is the worke of the Lord God of hoſts in the land of the Caldeans.

26 Come againſt her † from the vtmoſt border: open her ſtore houſes: tread on her as on ſheaues, and deſtroy her vtterly: let nothing of her be left.

27 Deſtroy all her [x] bullockes: let them goe downe to the ſlaughter. Woe vnto them, for their day is come, and the time of their viſitation.

28 The voyce of them that [y] flee, & eſcape out of the land of Babel to declare in Zion the vengeance of the Lord our God, and the vengeance of his temple.

29 Call vp the archers againſt Babel: all ye that bend the bowe, beſiege it rounde about: let none thereof eſcape: *recompence her according to her worke, and according to all that ſhee hath done, doe vnto her: for ſhe hath beene proud againſt the Lorde, euen againſt the holy one of Iſrael.

30 Therefore ſhall her young men fall in the ſtreets, and all her men of warre ſhalbe deſtroyed in that day, ſaith the Lord.

31 Beholde, I come vnto thee, O proude man, ſaith the Lord God of hoſts: for thy day is come, euen the time that I will viſite.

32 And the proude ſhall ſtumble and fall, and none ſhall raiſe him vp: and I will kindle a fire in his cities: and it ſhall deuoure al round about him.

33 Thus ſaieth the Lorde of hoſtes, The children of Iſrael, and the children of Iudah were oppreſſed together: and all that tooke them captiues, helde them, and would not let them goe.

34 But their ſtrong redeemer, whoſe name is the Lorde of hoſtes, hee ſhall maintaine their cauſe, that he may giue reſt to the land, & [z] diſquiet the inhabitants of Babel.

35 A ſworde is vpon the Chaldeans, ſaieth the Lorde, and vpon the inhabitants of Babel, and vpon her princes, and vpon her wiſe men.

36 A ſworde is vpon the †Soothſayers, and they ſhal dote: a ſworde is vpon her ſtrong men, and they ſhalbe afraide.

37 A ſworde is vpon their horſes, and vpon their charets, and vpon all the multitude that are in the middes of her, and they ſhall bee like women: a ſworde is vpon her treaſures, and they ſhalbe ſpoyled.

38 [a] A drought is vpon her waters, & they ſhalbe dried vp: for it is the land of grauen images, and they dote vpon their idoles.

39 Therefore the [b] Iims with the Iims ſhall dwel there, and † the Oſtriches ſhal dwel therein: for it ſhall be no more inhabited, neither ſhall it be inhabited from generation vnto generation.

40 As God deſtroied *Sodome and Gomorah with the places thereof neere about, ſaieth the Lord: ſo ſhall no man dwell there, neither ſhal the ſonne of man remaine therein.

41 ¶ Beholde, a people ſhall come from the North, and a great nation, and many kings ſhall bee rayſed vp from [c] the coaſtes of the earth.

6 Why Babylon is deſtroied. 41 The vaine confidence of the Babylonians. 43 The vanitie of idolaters. 59 Ieremiah giueth his booke to Sheraiah.

THus ſaieth the Lord, Behold, I will raiſe vp againſt Babel, and againſt the inhabitants ‖ that lift vp their heart againſt me, a deſtroying [a] wind,

2 And wil ſend vnto Babel fanners that ſhal fanne her, and ſhall emptie her land: for in the day of trouble they ſhall bee againſt her on euery ſide.

3 Alſo to the bender that bendeth his bow, and to him that lifteth himſelfe vp in his brigandine, will I ſay, Spare not her yong men, but deſtroy all her hoſte.

4 Thus the ſlaine ſhal fal in the land of the Caldeans, and they that are thruſt through in her ſtreetes.

5 For Iſrael hath bene no [b] widowe, nor Iudah from his God, from the Lord of hoſtes, though their land was filled with ſinne againſt the holy one of Iſrael.

6 ¶ [c] Flee out of the middes of Babel, and deliuer euery man his ſoule: be not deſtroyed in her iniquitie: for this is the time of the Lords vengeance: he wil render vnto her a recompence.

7 Babel hath bene as a golden cup in the [d] Lords hand, that made all the earth drunken: the nations haue drunken of her wine, therefore doe the nations [e] rage.

f Thus the people of God exhorte one another to goe to Zion and praiſe God.

10 The Lorde hath brought foorth our [g] righteouſnes: come and let vs declare in Zion the worke of the Lord our God.

g In approuing our cauſe, and puniſhing our enemies.

11 Make bright the arrowes: ‖ gather the ſhieldes: the Lord hath raiſed vp the ſpirit of the king of the Medes: for his purpoſe is againſt Babel to deſtroy it, becauſe it is the [h] vengeance of the Lord, and the vengeance of his temple.

h For the wrong done to his people and to his Temple, Chap. 50. 28.

12 Set vp the ſtandart vpon the walles of Babel, make the watch ſtrong: ſet vp the watchmen: prepare the ſcouts: for the Lorde hath both deuiſed, & done that which he ſpake againſt the inhabitants of Babel.

13 O thou that dwelleſt vpon many [i] waters, abundant in treaſures, thine end is come, euen the ‖ end of thy couetouſneſſe.

i For the land of Caldea was full of riuers which ran into Euphrates.

14 The Lorde of hoſtes hath ſworne by † him * ſelfe, ſaying, Surely I will fill thee with men, as with caterpillers, and they ſhall crie and ſhout againſt thee.

* Amos 6. 8.

15 * He hath made the earth by his power, and eſtabliſhed the world by his wiſedome, and hath ſtretched out the heauen by his diſcretion.

* Chap. 10. 12.

16 He giueth by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heauen, and he cauſeth the cloudes to aſcend from the endes of the earth: he turneth lightenings to raine, and bringeth forth the winde out of his treaſures.

17 Euery man is a beaſt by his owne [k] knowledge: euery founder is confounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but falſehood, and there is no breath therein.

k Read Chap. 10. 14.

18 They are vanitie, and the worke of errours: in the time of their [l] viſitation they ſhall periſh.

l When God ſhal execute his vengeance.

19 The [m] portion of Iaakob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Iſrael is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hoſtes is his Name.

m That is, the true God of Iſrael is not like to theſe idoles: for he can helpe when all things are deſperate.

20 Thou art mine [n] hammer and weapons of warre: for with thee will I breake the nations, and with thee will I deſtroy kingdomes, n He meaneth the Medes and Perſians, as he did before call the Babylonians his hamer, Chap. 50. 23.

21 And by thee will I breake horſe and horſeman, and by thee will I breake the charet and him that riſeth therein.

22 By thee alſo will I breake man and woman, and by thee will I breake olde and yong, and by thee will I breake the yong man and the maide.

23 I will alſo breake by thee the ſhepheard and his flock, and by thee wil I breake the husbandman and his yoke of oxen, and by thee wil I breake the dukes and princes.

24 And I will render vnto Babel, and to all the inhabitants of the Caldeans, all their euill that they haue done in Zion, euen in your ſight, ſaieth the Lord.

25 Behold, I come vnto thee, O deſtroying [o] mountaine, ſaieth the Lorde which deſtroyeſt all the earth: and I will ſtretch out mine hand vpon thee, and rolle thee downe from the [p] rockes, and will make thee a burnt mountaine.

26 They ſhal not take of thee a ſtone for a corner, nor a ſtone for foundations, but thou ſhalt be deſtroied for euer, ſaieth the Lord.

27 Set vp a ſtandard in the lande: blowe the trumpets among the nations: prepare the nations againſt her: call vp the kingdomes of [q] Ararat, Minni, and Aſchchenaz againſt her: appoint the prince againſt her: cauſe horſes to come vp as the rough caterpillers.

28 Prepare againſt her the nations with the kings of the Medes, the dukes thereof, and the princes thereof, and all the land of his dominion.

29 And the land ſhall tremble and ſorow: for the deuiſe of the Lord ſhall be performed againſt Babel, to make the land of Babel waſte without an inhabitant.

30 The ſtrong men of Babel haue ceaſed to fight: they haue remained in their holdes: their ſtrength hath failed, and they were like women: they haue burnt their dwelling places, & her barres are broken.

31 A poſte ſhall run to meete the poſte, and a meſſenger to meete the meſſenger, to ſhewe the King of Babel, that his citie is taken on a [r] ſide thereof, 32 And that the paſſages are ſtopped, and the reeds burnt with fire, and the men of warre troubled.

33 For thus ſaieth the Lord of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, the daughter of Babel is like a threſhing floore: the time of her threſhing is come: yet a litle while, and the time of her harueſt [ſ] ſhall come.

34 Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel hath [ſ] deuoured me, and deſtroyed mee: he hath made me an emptie veſſell: he ſwalowed mee vp like a dragon, and filled his belly with my delicates, and hath caſt me out.

35 The ſpoyle of me, and that which was left of mee, is brought vnto Babel, ſhall the inhabitant of Zion ſay: and my blood vnto the inhabitants of Caldea, ſhall Ieruſalem ſay.

36 Therefore thus ſaieth the Lorde, Behold, I will maintaine thy [u] cauſe, and take vengeance for thee, and I will drie vp the ſea, and drie vp her ſpringe.

37 And Babel ſhall bee as heapes, a dwelling place for dragons, an aſtoniſhment, and an hiſſing without an inhabitant, 38 They ſhal roare together like lions, and yell as the lions whelpes.

39 In their [x] heate I wil make them feaſts, and I will make them drunken, that they may reioyce, and ſleepe a perpetuall ſleepe, and not wake, ſaieth the Lord.

40 I will bring them downe like lambes to the ſlaughter, & like rammes and goates.

41 How is [y] Shelhach taken! and how is the glory of the whole earth taken! how is Babel become an aſtoniſhment among the nations!

42 The [z] ſea is come vp vpon Babel: ſhee is couered with the multitude of the waues thereof.

43 Her cities are deſolate: the land is dry and a wilderneſſe, a lande wherein no man dwelleth, neither doeth the ſonne of man paſſe thereby.

44 I will alſo viſite Bel in Babel, and I will bring out of his mouth, that which [a] hee hath ſwalowed vp, and the nations ſhall runne no more vnto him, and the wall of Babel ſhall fall.

45 My people, goe out of the mids of her, and deliuer yee euery man his ſoule from the fierce wrath of the Lord.

46 Leſt your heart faint, and ye feare the rumour that ſhall be heard in the land: the rumour ſhall come this yeere, and after that in the other [b] yeere ſhall come a rumour, & crueltie in the land, and ruler againſt ruler.

47 Therefore behold, the dayes come, that I will viſite the images of Babel, & the whole land ſhall be confounded, and all her ſlaine ſhall fall in the mids of her.

48 Then the heauen and [c] the earth, and all that is therein, ſhal reioyce for Babel: for the deſtroyers ſhal come vnto her from the North, ſaieth the Lord.

49 As Babel cauſed the [d] ſlaine of Iſrael to fal, ſo by Babel the ſlaine of all the earth did fall.

50 Yee that [e] haue eſcaped the ſwoorde, goe away, ſtande not ſtill: remember the Lorde a farre off, and let Ieruſalem come into your mind.

51 We are [f] confounded becauſe we haue heard reproch: ſhame hath couered our faces, for ſtrangers are come into the Sanctuaries of the Lordes houſe.

52 Wherefore behold, the daies come, ſaith the Lord, that I wil viſite her grauen images, and throwe all her lande the wounded ſhall grone.

o Not that Babylon ſtood on a mountaine, but becauſe it was ſtrong and ſeemed inuincible.

p From thy ſtrong holds and fortreſſes.

q By theſe three nations he meaneth Armenia the higher, and Armenia the lower, and Scythia: for Cyrus had gathered an armie of diuers nations.

r By turning the courſe of the riuer one ſide was made open, and the reedes that did grow in the water, were deſtroied, which Cyrus did by the counſell of Gobria and Gabaras Belſhazzars captains.

ſ When ſhe ſhall be cut vp and threſhed.

t This is ſpoken in the perſon of the Iewes, bewailing their ſtate and the crueltie of the Babylonians.

u Thus the Lord eſteemeth the iniurie done to his Church, as done to himſelfe, becauſe their cauſe is his.

x When they are inflamed with ſurfeting and drinking. I will feaſt with them, alluding to Belſhazzars banket, Dan. 5. 2.

y Meaning Babel, as Chap. 25. 26.

z The great armie of the Medes and Perſians.

a That is, his gifts and preſents which he had received as part of the ſpoile of other nations, and which the idolaters brought vnto him from all countries.

b Meaning, that Babylon ſhould not be deſtroied all at once but by litle and litle ſhould be brought to nothing: for the firſt yeere came the ewings, the next yeere the ſiege, and in the third yeere it was taken: yet this is not that horrible deſtruction which the prophets threatned in many places: for that was after this when they rebelled, & Darius ouercame them by the policie of Zopyrus, and hanged three thouſand gentlemen, beſides the common people.

c All creatures in heauen and earth ſhal reioice and praiſe God for the deſtruction of Babylon the great enemie of his Church.

d Babylon did not onely deſtroy Iſrael, but many other nations.

e Be they are note captiues in Babylon.

f Or ſhe weth how they ſhould remember Ieruſalem by lamenting the miſerable affliction thereof.

g For the walls were two hundred foote hie.

53 Though Babel should mount vp to heauen, and though she should defend her strength on hie, yet from me shall her destroyers come, saith the Lord.

54 A sound of a crie commeth from Babel, and great destruction from the land of the Caldeans, 55 Because the Lorde hath laide Babel waste and destroyed from her the great voyce, and her waues shall roare like great waters, and a sound was made by their noise:

56 Because the destroyer is come vpon her, euen vpon Babel, and her strong men are taken, their bowes are broken: for the Lord God that recompenceth, shall surely recompence.

h I will so astonish them by afflictions that they shall not knowe which way to turne them.

57 And I will h make drunke her princes, and her wise men, her dukes, and her nobles, and her strong men: and they shall sleepe a perpetuall sleepe, and not wake, saith the King, whose Name is the Lord of hostes.

i The thicknesse of the wall was fiftie foote thicke.

58 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, The i thicke wall of Babel shall be broken, and her hie gates shall be burnt with fire, and the people shall labour in vaine, and the folke in the fire, for they shalbe weary.

59 The word which Ieremiah the Prophet commaunded Sheraiah the sonne of Neriiah, the sonne of Maaseiah, when he went with Zedekiah the King of Iudah into Babel, in the k fourth yeere of his reigne: and this Sheraiah was a peaceable prince.

k This was not in the time of his captiuitie, but seuen yeeres before, when he went either to gratulate Nebuchad-nezzar, or to intreate of some matters.

60 So Ieremiah wrote in a booke all the euill that should come vpon Babel, euen all these things, that are written against Babel.

61 And Ieremiah saide to Sheraiah, When thou comest vnto Babel, and shalt see, and shalt reade all these words, 62 Then shalt thou say, O Lord, thou hast spoken against this place, to destroy it, that none should remaine in it, neither man nor beast, but that it should be desolate for euer.

l S. Iohn in his Reuelation alludeth to this place, when he saith that the Angell tooke a millstone and cast it into the sea: signifying thereby the destruction of Babylon, Reuel. 18. 21.

63 And when thou hast made an ende of reading this booke, thou shalt binde a l stone to it, and cast it in the mids of Euphrates, m They shall not be able to resist, but shall labour in vaine.

64 And shalt say, Thus shall Babel be drowned, and shall not rise from the euill, that I will bring vpon her: and they shall m be wearie. Thus far are the wordes of Ieremiah.

CHAP. LII.

4 Ierusalem is taken. 10 Zedekiahs sonnes are killed before his face, and his eyes put out. 13 The citie is burned. 31 Iehoiachin is brought foorth of prison, & fed like a king.

*2. King. 24. 18. 2. chro. 36. 11.

ZEdekiah * was one and twentie yere olde when he began to reigne, and he reigned eleuen yeeres in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Hamutal, the daughter of Ieremiah of Libnah.

2 And he did euill in the eyes of the Lord, according to all that Iehoiakim had done.

3 [a] Doubtlesse because the wrath of the Lord was against Ierusalem & Iudah, till he had cast them out from his presence, therefore Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babel.

a So the Lord punished sinne by sinne, & gaue him vp to his rebellious heart, til hee had brought the enemie vpon him to leade him away and his people.

4 * But in the ninth yeere of his reigne, in the tenth moneth the tenth day of the moneth came Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, he and all his host against Ierusalem, and pitched against it, and built fortes against it round about.

5 So the citie was besieged vnto the eleuenth yeere of the king Zedekiah.

6 Nowe in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the famine was sore in the citie, so that there was no more bread for the people of the land.

7 Then the citie was broken vp and all the men of warre fled, and went out of the citie by night, by the [b] way of the gate betweene the two walles, which was by the kings garden: (nowe the Caldeans were by the citie rounde about) and they went by the way of the wildernesse.

b Reade Chap. 39. 4.

8 But the army of the Caldeans pursued after the king, and tooke Zedekiah in the desert of Iericho, and all his host was scattered from him.

9 Then they tooke the king and caried him vp vnto the king of Babel to Riblah in the land of Hamath, [c] where he gaue iudgement vpon him.

c Reade 2. Kin. 25. 6. and Chap. 39. 5.

10 And the king of Babel slew the sonnes of Zedekiah before his eyes: he slewe also all the Princes of Iudah in Riblah.

11 Then he put out the eyes of Zedekiah, and the king of Babel bound him in chaines, and caried him to Babel, and put him in prison till the day of his death.

12 Now in the fift moneth in the [d] tenth day of the moneth (which was the nineteenth yeere of king Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel) came Nebuzar-adan chiefe steward, which [e] stoode before the king of Babel in Ierusalem, d In the 2. King. 25. 8. it is called the seuenth day, because the fire began then, and so continued to the tenth.

e That is, which was his seruant, as 2. King. 25. 8.

13 And burnt the house of the Lorde, and the kings house, and all the houses of Ierusalem, and al the great houses burnt he with fire.

14 And all the armie of the Caldeans that were with the chiefe steward, brake downe all the walles of Ierusalem round about.

15 Then Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward caried away captiue certaine of the poore of the people, and the residue of the people that remained in the citie, and those that were fled, and fallen to the king of Babel, with the rest of the multitude.

16 But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward left certaine of the poore of the land, to dresse the vines, and to till the land.

f Of these pillars, read 1. kin. 7. 15.

17 Also the [f] pillars of brasse that were in the the Houſe of the Lorde, and the baſes, and the braſen Sea, that was in the houſe of the Lord, the Caldeans brake, and caried all the braſſe of them to Babel.

g Which were alſo made of braſſe, as 1. Kin. 7.45.

18 The pots alſo and the g beſoms, and the inſtruments of muſike, and the baſins, and the incenſe diſhes, & all the veſſels of braſſe wherewith they miniſtred, tooke they away.

19 And the bowles, and the aſhpans, and the baſins, and the pots, and the candleſtickes, and the incenſe diſhes, and the cups, & all that was of golde, and that was of ſiluer, tooke the chiefe ſteward away, 20 With the two pillars, one Sea, and twelue braſen buls, that were vnder the baſes, which King Salomon had made in the houſe of the Lord: the braſſe of all theſe veſſels was without h weight.

h It was ſo much in quantitie.

21 And concerning the pillars, the height of one pillar was eighteene cubites, and a threed of twelue cubites did compaſſe it, and the thickneſſe thereof was foure fingers: it was holow.

22 And a chapiter of braſſe was vpon it, and the height of one chapiter was fiue cubites with networke, and pomegranates vpon the chapiters round about, all of braſſe: the ſecond pillar alſo, and the pomegranates were like vnto theſe.

i But becauſe of the roundneſſe no more could be ſeene but nineti and ſixe.

23 And there were ninetie and ſixe pomegranates on a ſide: and all the pomegranates vpon the net worke were an i hundreth round about.

k Which ſerued in ſtede Prieſts head, if he had any neceſſarie impediment.

24 And the chiefe ſteward tooke Sheraiah the chiefe Prieſt, and Zephaniah k the ſecond Prieſt, and the three keepers of the doore.

l In the 2. King. 25.19. is read but of fiue: thoſe were the moſt excellent, and the other two, which were not ſo noble, are not there mentioned with them.

25 He tooke alſo out of the citie an Eunuch, which had the ouerſight of the men of warre, and l ſeuen men that were in the Kings preſence, which were found in the citie, & Sopher captaine of the hoſte who muſtered the people of the lande, and threeſcore men of the people of the land, that were found in the mids of the citie.

26 Nebuzar-adan the chiefe ſteward tooke them, and brought them to the King of Babel to Riblah.

27 And the King of Babel ſmote them, and ſlewe them in Riblah, in the land of Hamath: thus Iudah was caried away captiue out of his owne land.

28 ¶ This is the people whom Nebuchad-nezzar caried away captiue, in the m ſeuenth yeere, euen three thouſand Iewes, and three and twentie.

m Which was the latter end of the ſeuenth yere of his reigne and the beginning of the eight.

29 In the n eighteenth yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar he caried away captiue from Ieruſalem eight hundreth thirtie and two † perſons.

n In the latter end alſo of that yeere, and the beginning of the nineteenth.

30 In the three and twentieth yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuzar-adan the chiefe ſteward caried away captiue of the Iewes ſeuen hundreth fourtie and fiue perſons: all the perſons were foure thouſand and ſixe hundreth.

31 And in the ſeuen and thirtieth yeere of the captiuitie of Iehoiachin King of Iudah, in the twelfth moneth, in the fiue and twentieth day of the moneth Euil-merodach king of Babel, in the firſt yeere of his reigne, o lifted vp the head of Iehoiachin king of Iudah, and brought him out of priſon, o That is, reſtored him to libertie and honour.

32 And ſpake kindly vnto him, and ſet his throne aboue the throne of the Kings, that were with him in Babel, p And gaue him princely apparell.

33 And changed his priſon p garments, and he did continually eate bread before him all the dayes of his life.

q That is, he had allowance in the court, and thus at length he had reſt and quietneſſe, becauſe he obeyed Ieremiah the Prophet, where as the other were cruelly vexed, that would not obey him.

34 His portion was a q continuall portion giuen him of the king of Babel, euery day a certeine, all the dayes of his life vntill he died.

Lamentations.

CHAP. I.

1 The Prophet bewaileth the miſerable eſtate of Ieruſalem, 5 and ſheweth that they are plagued becauſe of their ſinnes. The firſt and ſecond chapter beginne euery verſe according to the letters of the Ebrewe Alphabet. The third hath three verſes for euery letter, and the fourth is as the firſt.

a The Prophet wondereth at the great iudgement of God, ſeeing Ieruſalem, which was ſo ſtrong and ſo full of people, to be nowe deſolate.

HOwe doeth a the citie remaine ſolitarie that was full of people? ſhe is as a widowe: ſhe that was great among the nations, & b princes among the prouinces, is made tributarie.

b Which had chiefe rule ouer many prouinces and countries.

2 She weepeth continually in the c night, and her teares runne downe by her cheekes: among all her d louers, ſhe hath none to comfort her: all her friends haue delt vnfaithfully with her, and are her enemies.

c So that ſhe taketh no reſt.

d Meaning, the Egyptians and Aſſyrians, which promiſed helpe.

3 Iudah is caried away captiue, becauſe e of affliction, and becauſe of great ſeruitude: ſhe dwelleth among the heathen, and findeth no reſt: all her perſecuters tooke her in the ſtraits.

e For her cruelties toward the poore and oppreſſion of ſeruants, Ier. 34.11.

4 The wayes of Zion lament, becauſe no man commeth f to the ſolemne feaſtes: all her gates are deſolate: her Prieſts ſigh: her virgins are diſcomfited, and ſhe is in † heauineſſe.

f As they vſed to come vp with mirth and ioy, Pſal. 42.4.

5 Her aduerſaries g are the chiefe, & her enemies proſper: for the Lord hath afflicted her, g That is, haue rule ouer her, Deut. 28.44.

her, for the multitude of her transgressions, and her children are gone into captiuitie before the enemie.

6 And from the daughter of Zion all her beautie is departed: her princes are become h like harts that finde no pasture, and they are gone without strength before the pursuer.

h As men pined away with sorow and that haue no courage.

7 Ierusalem remembred the dayes of her affliction, and of her rebellion, and all her pleasant things, that she had in times past, when her people i fell into the hand of the enemie, and none did helpe her: the aduersarie sawe her, and did mocke at her k Sabbaths.

i In her miserie she considered the great benefites and commodities that she had lost.

k At her religion and seruing of God, which was the greatest griefe to the godly.

8 Ierusalem hath grieuously sinned, therefore she is ‖ in derision: all that honoured her, despised her, because they haue seene her filthinesse: yea, she sigheth and turneth backward.

9 l Her filthinesse is in her skirtes: she remembred not her last ende, therefore she came downe wonderfully: she had no comforter: O Lord, beholde mine affliction: for the enemie † is proud.

l She is not ashamed of her sinne, although it be manifest.

10 The enemie hath stretched out his hand vpon all her pleasant things: for she hath seene the heathen enter into her Sanctuarie, whom m thou didst commaund, that they should not enter into thy Church.

m God forbiddeth that the Ammonites and Moabites should enter into the Congregation of the Lord, and vnder them he comprehendeth all enemies, Deut. 23. 3.

11 All her people sigh and seeke their bread: they haue giuen their pleasant things for meate to refresh the soule: see, O Lord, and consider: for I am become vile.

12 Haue ye no regard, all ye that passe by this way? beholde, and see, if there be any n sorowe like vnto my sorowe, which is done vnto me, wherewith the Lord hath afflicted me in the day of his fierce wrath.

n Thus Ierusalem lamenteth, mouing others to pitie her, and to learne by her example.

13 From aboue hath o he sent fire into my bones, which preuaileth against them: he hath spread a net for my feete, and turned me back: he hath made me desolate, and dayly in heauinesse.

o This declareth that we should acknowledge God to be the author of all our afflictions, to the intent that we might seeke vnto him for remedie.

14 The p yoke of my transgressions is bound vpon his hand: they are wrapped, and come vp vpon my necke: he hath made my strength to fall: the Lord hath deliuered me into their hands, neither am I able to rise vp.

p Mine heauie sinnes are continually before his eies, as he that tieth a thing to his hand for a remembrance.

15 The Lord hath troden vnder foote all my valiant men in the middes of me: he hath called an assemblie against me to destroy my yong men: the Lord hath troden q the winepresse vpon the virgin the daughter of Iudah.

q He hath troden them vnder foote as they y treade grapes in the wine presse.

16 * For these things I weepe: mine eye, euen mine eye casteth out water, because the comforter that should refresh my soule is farre from me: my children are desolate, because the enemie preuailed.

* Iere. 14. 17. chap. 2. 18.

17 Zion stretcheth out her hands, and there is none to comfort her: the Lord hath appointed the enemies of Iaakob round about him: Ierusalem is r as a menstruous woman in the middes of them.

r Which because of her pollution was separate from her husband, Leuit. 15. 19. and was abhorred for the time.

18 The Lord is righteous: for I haue rebelled against his † commandement: heare, I pray you, all people, and beholde my sorowe: my virgines and my yong men are gone into captiuitie.

† Ebr. mouth.

19 I called for my louers, but they deceiued me: my Priestes and mine Elders perished in the citie while they s sought their meate to refresh their soules.

s That is, they died for hunger.

20 Beholde, O Lord, how I am troubled: my bowels swell: mine heart is turned within me, for I am full of heauinesse: the sword spoileth abroad, as death doeth at home.

21 They haue heard that I mourne, but there is none to comfort me: all mine enemies haue heard of my trouble, and are glad, that thou hast done it: thou wilt bring the day, that thou hast pronounced, and they shall be like vnto me.

22 t Let all their wickednesse come before thee: ‖ doe vnto them, as thou hast done vnto me, for all my transgressions: for my sighes are many, and mine heart is heauie.

t Of desiring vengeance against the enemie, reade Iere. 11. 20. and 18. 21.

‖ Or, gather them like grapes.

CHAP. II.

HOw hath the Lord a darkened the daughter of Zion in his wrath! and hath cast downe from b heauen vnto the earth the beautie of Israel, and remembred not his c foote-stoole in the day of his wrath!

a That is, brought her from prosperitie to aduersitie.

b Hath giuen her a most sore fall.

c Alluding to the Temple or to the Arke of the couenant, which was called his foote-stoole of the Lord, because they should not set their mindes to loue, but lift vp their hearts toward the heauens.

2 The Lord hath destroyed all the habitations of Iaakob, and not spared: he hath throwen downe in his wrath the strong holdes of the daughter of Iudah: he hath cast them downe to the ground: he hath polluted the kingdome and the Princes thereof.

3 He hath cut off in his fierce wrath all the d horne of Israel: hee hath drawen backe his e right hand from before the enemie, and there was kindled in Iaakob like a flame of fire, which deuoured round about.

d Meaning, the glorye strength, as 1. Sam. 2. 1.

e That is, his succour which he was wont to send vs, when our enemies oppressed vs.

4 He hath bent his bowe like an enemie: his right hand was stretched vp as an aduersarie, and slewe all that was pleasant to the eie in the Tabernacle of the daughter of Zion: he powred out his wrath like fire.

f Shewing that there is no remedie but destruction, where God is the enemie.

5 The Lord was as an enemie: he hath deuoured Israel, and consumed all his palaces: he hath destroyed his strong holdes, and hath increased in the daughter of Iudah lamentation and mourning.

6 g For he hath destroyed his Tabernacle, as a garden, he hath destroyed his Congregation: the Lord hath caused the feastes and Sabbaths to be forgotten in Zion, and hath despised in the indignation of his wrath the King and the Priest.

7 The Lord hath forsaken his altar: hee hath abhorred his Sanctuarie: he hath giuen into the hand of the enemie the wals of her palaces:

laces: they haue made a g noise in the house of the Lord, as in the day of solemnitie.

8 The Lord hath determined to destroy the wall of the daughter of Zion: he stretched out a line: he hath not withdrawen his hand from destroying: therefore he made the rampart h and the wall to lament: they were destroyed together.

9 Her gates are sunke to the ground: he hath destroyed and broken her barres: her king and her princes are among the Gentiles: the Lawe is no more, neither can her Prophets ‖ receiue any vision from the Lord.

10 The Elders of the daughter of Zion sit vpon the ground, and keepe silence: they haue cast vp dust vpon their heads: they haue girded themselues with sackecloth: the virgines of Ierusalem hang downe their heads to the ground.

11 Mine eyes doe faile with teares: my bowels swell: my liuer is powred vpon the earth, for the destruction of the daughter of my people, because the children and sucklings ‖ swoone in the streetes of the citie.

12 They haue saide to their mothers, Where is † bread and drinke? when they swooned as the wounded in the streetes of the citie, and when they † gaue vp the ghost in their mothers bosome.

13 i What thing shall I take to witnesse for thee? what thing shall I compare to thee, O daughter Ierusalem? what shall I liken to thee that I may comfort thee, O virgine daughter Zion? for thy breach is great like the Sea: who can heale thee?

14 Thy prophets haue k looked out vaine, and foolish things for thee, and they haue not discouered thine iniquitie, to turne away thy captiuitie, but haue looked out for thee false ‖ prophecies, and causes of banishment.

15 All that passe by the way, clap their hands at thee: they hisse and wagge their head vpon the daughter Ierusalem, saying, Is this the citie that men call, The perfection of beautie, and the ioy of the whole earth?

16 All thine enemies haue opened their mouth against thee: they hisse and gnash the teeth, saying, Let vs deuoure it: certainely this is the day that wee looked for: wee haue found and seene it.

17 *The Lord hath done that which he had purposed: he hath fulfilled his worde that he had determined of old time: he hath throwen downe, and not spared: he hath caused thine enemie to reioyce ouer thee, and set vp the horne of thine aduersaries.

18 Their heart * cried vnto the Lorde, O wall of the daughter Zion, let teares runne downe like a riuer, day and night: take thee no rest, neither let the apple of thine eie cease.

19 Arise, crie in the night: in the beginning of the watches powre out thine heart like water before the face of the Lord: lift vp thine hands toward him for the life of thy yong children, that faint for hunger in the corners of all the streetes.

20 Behold, O Lord, and consider to whom thou hast done thus: shall the women eate their fruite, and children of a ‖ spanne long? shall the Priest and the Prophet be slaine in the Sanctuarie of the Lord?

21 The yong and the old lie on the ground in the streetes: my virgins and my yong men are fallen by the sword: thou hast slaine them in the day of thy wrath: thou hast killed and not spared.

22 Thou hast called as in a solemne day my ‖ terrours round about, so that in the day of the Lords wrath none escaped nor remained: those that I haue nourished and brought vp, hath mine enemie consumed.

CHAP. III.

I Am the man, that hath seene a affliction in the rod of his indignation.

2 He hath led me, and brought me into darkenesse, but not to light.

3 Surely hee is turned against me: hee turneth his hand against me all the day.

4 My flesh and my skin hath he caused to waxe olde, and he hath broken my bones.

5 He hath b builded against me, and compassed me with gall, and labour.

6 He hath set me in darke places, as they that be dead for euer.

7 He hath hedged about me, that I can not get out: he hath made my chaines heauie.

8 Also when I crie and shout, he shutteth out my c prayer.

9 He hath d stopped vp my wayes with hewen stone, and turned away my paths.

10 e He was vnto me as a beare lying in wait, and as a Lion in secret places.

11 He hath stopped my wayes, and pulled me in pieces: he hath made me desolate.

12 He hath bent his bowe and made me a marke for the arrowe.

13 He caused † the arrowes of his quiuer to enter into my reines.

14 I was a derision to all my people, and their song all the day.

15 He hath filled me with bitternesse, and made me drunken with f wormewood.

16 He hath also broken my teeth with stones, and hath couered me with ashes.

17 Thus my soule was far off from peace: I forgate prosperitie, 18 And I saide, My strength & mine hope g is perished from the Lord.

a The Prophet complaineth of the punishments & afflictions that he endured by the false prophets and hypocrites, when he declared the destruction of Ierusalem, as Ierem. 20.2.

b He speaketh this as one that felt Gods heauie iudgements, which he greatly feared, & therefore setteth them out with this diuersity of words.

c This is a great temptation to the godly, when they see not the fruite of their prayers, and causeth them to thinke that they are not heard, which thing God doth, to the end that they might pray more earnestly and the oftener.

d And keepeth me in holde as a prisoner.

e He hath no pitie on me.

21 I conſider this in mine heart: therefore haue I hope.

22 It is the Lords [i] mercies that we are not conſumed, becauſe his compaſſions faile not.

23 They are renued [k] euery morning: great is thy faithfulneſſe.

24 The Lord is my [l] portion, ſaith my ſoule: therefore will I hope in him, 25 The Lord is good vnto them, that truſt in him, and to the ſoule that ſeeketh him.

26 It is good both to truſt, and to waite for the ſaluation of the Lord.

27 It is good for a man that he beare the yoke in his [m] youth.

28 He ſitteth alone, [n] and keepeth ſilence, becauſe he hath borne it vpon him.

29 He putteth his [o] mouth in the duſt, if there may be hope.

30 He giueth his cheeke to him that ſmiteth him: he is filled full with reproches.

31 For the Lord will not forſake for euer.

32 But though he ſend affliction, yet will he haue compaſſion according to the multitude of his mercies.

33 For he doeth not [p] punish † willingly, nor afflict the children of men.

34 In ſtamping vnder his feete all the priſoners of the earth,

35 In ouerthrowing the right of a man before the face of the moſt High, 36 In ſubuerting a man in his cauſe: the Lord [q] ſeeth it not.

37 Who is he then that ſaieth, and it commeth to paſſe, and the Lord [r] commaundeth it not?

38 Out of the mouth of the moſt High proceedeth not [ſ] euill and good?

39 Wherefore then is the liuing [t] man ſorowfull? man ſuffereth for his ſinne.

40 Let vs ſearch and try our wayes, and turne againe to the Lord.

53 They haue ſhut vp my life [y] in the dungeon, and caſt a ſtone vpon me.

54 Waters flowed ouer mine head, then thought I, I am deſtroyed.

55 I called vpon thy Name, O Lord, out of the lowe dungeon, 56 Thou haſt heard my voyce: ſtoppe not thine eare from my ſigh and from my crie.

57 Thou drewest neere in the day that I called vpon thee: thou ſaideſt, Feare not.

58 O Lord, thou haſt maintained the cauſe of my [z] ſoule, and haſt redeemed my life.

59 O Lorde thou haſt ſeene my wrong, iudge thou my cauſe.

60 Thou haſt ſeene all their vengeance, and all their deuiſes againſt me.

61 Thou haſt heard their reproch, O Lord, and all their imaginations againſt me:

The prayer of Ieremiah.

REmember, O Lord, what is come vpon vs: [a] conſider, and behold our reproch.

a This prayer as is thought, was made when ſome of the people were caried away captiue, others, as the pooreſt remained, and ſome went into Egypt and other places for ſuccour: albeit it ſeemeth that the Prophet ſupplieth their miſeries to come, thus prayed.

2 Our inheritance is turned to the ſtrangers, our houſes to the aliants.

3 We are fatherleſſe, euen without father, and our mothers are as widowes.

4 We haue drunken our [b] water for money, and our wood is ſolde vnto vs.

b Meaning, their extreme ſeruitude and bondage.

Ezekiel.

THE ARGVMENT.

After that Iehoiachin by the counsell of Ieremiah and Ezekiel had yeelded himselfe to Nebuchadnezzar, and so went into captiuitie with his mother and diuers of his princes and of the people, certaine began to repent and murmure that they had obeyed the Prophets counsell, as though the thing which they had prophecied should not come to passe, and therefore their estate should be still miserable vnder the Caldeans. By reason whereof he confirmeth his former prophecies, declaring by newe visions and reuelations shewed vnto him, that the citie should most certainely be destroyed, and the people grieuously tormented by Gods plagues, insomuch that they that remained, should be brought into cruell bondage. And lest the godly should despaire in these great troubles, he assureth them that God will deliuer his Church at his time appointed, and also destroy their enemies which either afflicted them, or reioyced in their miseries. The effect of the one and the other should chiefely be performed vnder Christ, of whom in this booke are many notable promises, and in whom the glory of the newe Temple should perfectly be restored. Hee prophecied these things in Caldea at the same time that Ieremiah prophecied in Iudah, and there beganne in the fifth yeere of Iehoiachins captiuitie.

CHAP. I.

1 The time wherein Ezekiel prophecied and in what place. 3 His kinred. 5 The vision of the foure beastes. 26 The vision of the throne.

a After that the booke of ỹ Law was found, which was the eighteenth yere of the reigne of Iosiah, so that fiue and twentie yeeres after this booke was found, Ieconiah was led away captiue with Ezekiel (and manie of the people) who the first yere after sawe these visions.

IT came to passe in the [a] thirtieth yeere in the fourth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth (as I was among the captiues by the riuer [b] Chebar) that the heauens were opened and I sawe visions of [c] GOD.

b Which was a part of Euphrates, so called.

2 In the fift day of the moneth (which was the fift yeere of King Ioiachins captiuitie)

c That is, notable, and excellent visions, so that it might be knowne, it was no naturall dreame, but came of God.

3 The word of the LORD came vnto Ezekiel the Priest, the sonne of Buzi, in the lande of the Caldeans, by the riuer Chebar, where the [d] hand of the LORD was vpon him.

d That is, the Spirit of prophecie, as Chap. 3.22. and 37.1.

4 And I looked, and beholde, [e] a whirlewinde came out of the North, a great cloude and a fire wrapped about it, and a brightnesse was about it, and in the middes thereof, to wit, in the middes of the fire came out as the likenesse of ‖ amber.

e By this diuersitie of wordes he signifieth the fearefull iudgement of God, and the great afflictions, that should come vpon Ierusalem.

5 Also out of the middes thereof came the likenesse of foure beasts, [f] and this was their forme: they had the appearance of a man.

f Which were the foure Cherubims that represented the glory of God, as Chap. 3.28.

6 And euery one had foure faces, and euery one had foure wings.

7 And their feete were streight feete, and the sole of their feete was like the sole of a calues foote, and they sparkled like the appearance of bright brasse.

8 And the hands of a man came out from vnder their wings in the foure parts of them, and they foure had their faces, and their wings.

g The wing of the one touched the wing of the other.

9 They were ioyned by their wings one to another, and when they went foorth, they returned not, but euery one went streight forward.

h Euery Cherubim had foure faces, the face of a man, and of a lyon on the right side, and the face of a bullocke, and of an eagle on the left side.

10 And the similitude of their faces was as [h] the face of man: and they foure had the face of a lyon on the right side, and they foure had the face of a bullocke on the left side: they foure also had the face of an egle.

11 Thus were their faces: but their wings were spread out aboue: two wings of euery one were ioyned one to another, and two couered their bodies.

12 And euery one went streight forward: they went whither their † spirit led them, and they returned not when they went forth.

13 The similitude also of the beastes, and their appearance was like burning coales of fire, and like the appearance of lampes: for the fire ranne among the beastes, and the fire gaue a glister, and out of the fire there went lightning.

14 And the beasts ran, and [i] returned like vnto lightning.

i That is, when they had executed Gods will: & aboue they returned not, till God had changed the state of things.

15 ¶ Now as I beheld the beasts, behold, a wheele appeared vpon the earth by the beastes, hauing foure faces.

16 The facion of the wheeles and their worke was like vnto a [k] chrysolite: and they foure had one forme, and their facion, and their worke was as one wheele in another wheele.

k The Ebrewe word is Tarshish: meaning, that the colour was like the Chrisolite stone, or a precious stone so called.

17 When they went, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not when they went.

18 They had also ‖ rings, and height, and were fearefull to beholde, and their rings were full of eyes, round about them foure.

19 And when the beasts went, the wheeles went with them: and when the beasts were lift vp from the earth, the wheeles were lift vp.

20 Whither their spirit led thē, they went, and thither did the spirite of the wheeles leade them, and the wheeles were lifted vp beside them: for the spirite of the beastes was in the wheeles.

21 When the beasts went, they went, and when they stood, they stood, & when they were lifted vp from the earth, the wheeles were lifted vp beside them: for the spirit of the beasts was in the wheeles.

22 And the similitude of the firmament vpon the heads of the beastes was wonderfull, 24 And when they went forth, I heard the noise of their [l] wings, like the noise of great waters, and as the voyce of the Almightie, euen the voyce of speech, as the noise of an hoste: and when they stoode, they [m] let downe their wings.

l Which declared the swiftnes, and the fearefulnesse of Gods iudgements.
m Which is signified, that they had no power of themselues, but onely wayted to execute Gods commandement.

25 And there was a voyce from the firmament, that was ouer their heads, when they stoode, and had let downe their wings.

26 And aboue the firmament that was ouer their heads, was the facion of a throne like vnto a saphir stone, and vpon the similitude of the throne was by appearance, as the similitude of a man aboue vpon it.

27 And I sawe as the appearance of amber, and as the similitude of fire [n] round about within it to looke to, euen from his loynes vpward: and to looke to, euen from his loynes downeward, I sawe as a likenesse of fire, and brightnes round about it.

n Whereby was signified a terrible iudgement toward the earth.

28 As the likenesse of the bowe that is in the cloude in the day of raine, so was the appearance of the light round about.

29 This was the appearance of the similitude of the glory of the Lord: and when I saw it, I fell [o] vpon my face, and I heard a voyce of one that spake.

o Considering the maiestie of God, and the weakenes of flesh.

2 [c] And the Spirit entred into me, when he had spoken vnto me, and set me vpon my feete, so that I heard him that spake vnto me.

c So that he could not abide Gods presence, till Gods spirit did enter into him.

3 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, I send thee to the children of Israel, to a rebellious nation that hath rebelled against me: for they and their fathers haue rebelled against me, euen vnto this very day.

4 For they are † impudent children, and stiffe hearted: I doe send thee vnto them, and thou shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God.

† Ebr. hard of face.

5 But surely they will not heare, neither in deede wil they cease, for they are a rebellious house:

house: yet shall they knowe that [d] there hath beene a Prophet among them.

6 And thou sonne of man, [e] feare them not, neither be afraide of their wordes, although rebels, and thornes be with thee, and thou remainest with scorpions: feare not their wordes, nor be afraide at their lookes, for they are a rebellious house.

7 Therefore thou shalt speake my words vnto them: but surely they will not heare, neither will they in deede cease: for they are rebellious.

8 But thou sonne of man, heare what I say vnto thee: be not thou rebellious, like this rebellious house: open thy mouth, and [f] eate that I giue thee.

9 And when I looked vp, behold, an hand was sent vnto me, and lo, a roule of a booke was therein.

10 And he spred it before me, and it was written within and without, and there was written therein, [g] Lamentations, and mourning, and woe.

d This declareth on the one part Gods great affection toward his people, that notwithstanding their rebellion, yet he will send his Prophets among them, and ad[h]onisheth his ministers on the other part that they cease not to doe their duetie, though the people be neuer so obstinate: for the word of God shalbe either to their saluation or greater condemnation.

e Reade Ierem. 1. 17: he sheweth that for none afflictions they should cease to doe their dueties.

CHAP. III.

1 The Prophet being fed with the word of God, and with the constant boldnesse of the spirit, is sent vnto the people that were in captiuitie. 17 The office of true ministers.

MOreouer he saide vnto me, Sonne of man, eate ỳ thou findest: eate this roule, and goe, and speake vnto the house of Israel.

2 So I opened my mouth, and he gaue me this roule to eate.

3 And he saide vnto me, Sonne of man, cause thy belly to eate, and fill thy bowels with this roule that I giue thee. Then did I eate it, and it was in my mouth as sweete as honie.

4 And he saide vnto me, Sonne of man, goe, and enter into the house of Israel, and declare them my wordes.

5 For thou art not sent to a people of an vnknowen †tongue, or of an hard language, but to the house of Israel,

6 Not to many people of an vnknowne tongue, or of an hard language, whose wordes thou canst not vnderstand: yet if I should send thee to them, they would obey thee.

7 But the house of Israel will not obey thee: for they will not obey me: yea, al the house of Israel are impudent and stiffe hearted.

8 Beholde, I haue made thy face [b] strong against their faces, and thy forehead hard against their foreheads.

9 I haue made thy forehead as the adamant, and harder then the flint: feare them not therefore, neither be afraide at their lookes: for they are a rebellious house.

10 He said moreouer vnto me, Sonne of man, [c] receiue in thine heart all my words that I speake vnto thee, and heare them with thine eares, 11 And goe and enter to them that are led away captiues vnto the children of thy people, and speake vnto them, & tell them, Thus saith the Lord God: but surely they will not heare, neither will they in deed cease.

12 Then the spirit tooke me vp, & I heard behind mee a noise of a great rushing, saying, [d] Blessed bee the glory of the Lorde out of his place.

13 I heard also the noyse of the wings of the beastes, that touched one another, and the rattling of the wheeles that were by them, euen a noise of a great rushing.

14 So the spirit lift me vp, and tooke mee away, and I [e] went in bitternes, and indignation of my spirit, but the hand of the Lord was strong vpon me.

15 Then I came to them that were led away captiues to [f] Tel-abib, that dwelt by the riuer Chebar, and I sate where they sate, and remained there astonished among them [g] seuen dayes.

16 And at the end of seuen dayes, the word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying, 17 Sonne of man, I haue made thee a [h] watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore heare the word at my mouth, & giue them warning from me.

18 When I shall say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die, and thou giuest not him warning, nor speakest to admonish the wicked of his wicked way, that he may liue, the same wicked man shall die in his iniquitie: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

19 Yea, if thou warne the wicked, and hee turne not from his wickednesse, nor from his wicked way, hee shall die in his iniquitie, but thou hast deliuered thy soule.

20 Likewise if a [i] righteous man turne from his righteousnes, and commit iniquitie, I wil lay a [k] stumbling blocke before him, and hee shall die, because thou hast not giuen him warning: he shall die in his sinne, and his [l] righteous deedes which hee hath done, shall not bee remembred: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

21 Neuertheless, if thou admonish that righteous man, that the righteous sinne not, and that he doeth not sinne, he shall liue because he is admonished: also thou hast deliuered thy soule.

22 And the [m] hand of the Lorde was there vpon me, and he said vnto me, Arise, & go into the ‖ field, and I will there talke with thee.

23 So when I had risen vp, and gone foorth into the field, behold, the [n] glory of the Lord stood there, as the glory which I sawe by

1 The besieging of the citie of Ierusalem is signified. 9 The long continuance of the captiuitie of Israel. 16 An hunger is prophecied to come.

THou also sonne of man, take thee a bricke, and lay it before thee, and pourtray vpon it the citie, euen Ierusalem,

2 And lay siege against it, and build a fort against it, and cast a mount against it: set the campe also against it, and lay engins of warre against it round about.

3 Moreouer, take an [a] yron pan, and set it for a wall of yron betweene thee & the citie, and direct thy face toward it, and it shall be besieged, and thou shalt lay siege against it: this shall be a signe vnto the house of Israel.

4 Sleepe thou also vpon thy left side, and lay the iniquitie of the [b] house of Israel vpon it: according to the number of the dayes, that thou shalt sleepe vpon it, thou shalt beare their iniquitie,

5 For I haue laide vpon thee the yeeres of their iniquitie, according to the number of the dayes, euen three hundreth and ninetie dayes: so shalt thou beare the iniquitie of the house of Israel.

6 And when thou hast accōplished them, sleepe againe vpon thy [c] right side, and thou shalt beare the iniquitie of the house of Iudah fourtie dayes: I haue appointed thee a day for a yeere, euen a day for a yeere.

7 Therfore thou shalt direct thy face toward the siege of Ierusalem, & thine [d] arme shalbe vncouered, and thou shalt prophesie against it.

8 And beholde, I will lay [e] bandes vpon thee, & thou shalt not turne thee from one side to another, till thou hast ended the dayes of thy siege.

9 Thou shalt take also vnto thee wheate, and barley, & beanes, and lentiles, and millet, [f] and fitches, and put them in one vessell, and make thee bread therof according to the number of the dayes, that thou shalt sleepe vpon thy side: euen [g] three hundreth and ninetie dayes shalt thou eate thereof.

13 And the Lord said, So shal the children of Israel eate their defiled bread among the Gentiles, whither I wil cast them.

14 Then said I, Ah, Lord God, beholde, my soule hath not beene polluted: for from my youth vp, euen vnto this houre, I haue not eaten of a thing dead, or torne in pieces, neither came there any [l] vncleane flesh in my mouth.

15 Then he saide vnto me, Loe, I haue giuen thee bullockes [m] doung for mans doung, and thou shalt prepare thy bread therewith.

16 Moreouer, he saide vnto me, Sonne of man, behold, I will breake [n] the staffe of bread in Ierusalem, and they shall eate bread by weight, and with care, and they shal drinke water by measure, and with astonishment.

17 Because that bread and water shal faile, they shalbe astonied one with another, and shall consume away for their iniquitie.

d He sheweth that in all dangers God will preserue a seme, which shall be as the seede of his Church and call vpon his Name.

9 And they that escape of you, shal remember me among the nations, where they shall be in captiuitie, because I am grieued for their whorish heartes, which haue departed from me, and for their eyes, which haue gone a whoring after their idoles, and they [e] shall be displeased in themselues for the euils, which they haue committed in al their abominations.

e They shall be ashamed to see that their hope in idoles was but vaine, and so shall repent.

10 And they shall knowe that I am the Lord, and that I haue not said in vaine that I would doe this euill vnto them.

11 Thus saith the Lord God, [f] Smite with thine hand, and stretch foorth with thy foote, and say, Alas, for all the wicked abominations of the house of Israel: for they shall fall by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence.

f By these signes he would that the Prophet should signifie the great destruction to come.

12 He that is farre off, shall die of the pestilence, and he that is neere, shall fall by ỹ sword, and he that remaineth and is besieged, shall die by the famine: thus will I accomplish my wrath vpon them.

g That is, al nations when you shall see my iudgements.

4 Neither shall mine eye spare thee neither will I haue pitie: but I will lay thy wayes vpon thee: and thine abomination shall be in the middes of thee, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord.

20 He had also set the beautie of his [p] ornament in maiestie: but they made images of their abominations, and of their idoles therein: therefore haue I set it farre from them.

21 And I will giue it into the handes of the [q] strangers to be spoiled, and to the wicked of the earth to be robbed, and they shal pollute it.

6 He ſaid furthermore vnto me, Sonne of man, ſeeſt thou not what they doe? euen the great abominations that the houſe of Iſrael committeth here to cauſe me to depart from [i] my Sanctuarie? but yet turne thee and thou ſhalt ſee greater abominations.

i For God will not be where idols are.

7 And he cauſed me to enter at the gate of the court: and when I looked, behold, an hole was in the wall.

8 Then ſaid he vnto me, Sonne of man, dig now in the wall. And when I had digged in the wall, behold, there was a dooze.

9 And hee ſayd vnto me, Goe in, and beholde the wicked abominations that they doe here.

k Which were forbidden in the Law, Leui. 11.4.
l Thus they that ſhould haue kept all the reſt in the feare and true ſeruice of God, were the ring-leaders to all abomination, and by their example pulled others from God.
m It was in ſuch abundance.
n For beſides their common idolatrie, they had particular ſeruice, which they had in ſecret chambers.

10 So I went in, and ſawe, and beholde, there was euery ſimilitude of creeping things and [k] abominable beaſts and all the idols of the houſe of Iſrael painted vpon the wall round about.

11 And there ſtoode before them ſeuentie [l] men of the Ancients of the houſe of Iſrael, & in the mids of them ſtood Iaazaniah, the ſonne of Shaphan, with euery man his cenſor in his hand, and the vapor of the incenſe went vp like [m] a cloud.

12 Then ſaid he vnto me, Sonne of man, haſt thou ſeene what the Ancients of the houſe of Iſrael [n] doe in the darke, euery one in the chamber of his imagerie? for they ſay, The Lorde ſeeth vs not, the Lord hath forſaken the earth.

13 Againe he ſaide alſo vnto me, Turne thee againe, and thou ſhalt ſee greater abominations that they doe.

14 And he cauſed me to enter into the entrie of the gate of the Lords houſe, which was toward the North: and beholde there ſate women mourning for [o] Tammuz.

o The Iewes write that this was a Prophet of the idoles, who after his death was once a yeere mourned for in the night.

15 Then ſaid he vnto me, Haſt thou ſeene this O ſonne of man? Turne thee againe, and thou ſhalt ſee greater abominations then theſe.

16 And he cauſed me to enter into the inner court of the Lordes houſe, and beholde, at the dooze of the Temple of the Lord betweene the porch and the altar were about fiue and twentie men with their backes toward the Temple of the Lorde, and their faces toward the Eaſt, and they woorſhipped the ſunne towarde the Eaſt.

17 Then he ſaid vnto me, Haſt thou ſeene this, O ſonne of man? Is it a ſmall thing to the houſe of Iudah to commit theſe abominations which they doe here? for they haue filled the land with crueltie, and haue returned to prouoke me: and loe, they haue caſt out [p] ſtinke before their noſes.

p Declaring that the ſeruings and ſeruice of the idolaters, are but infection and villanie before God.

18 Therefore wil I alſo execute my wrath: mine eye ſhall not ſpare them, neither will I haue pitie, and * though they crye in mine eares with a loude voyce, yet will I not heare them.

CHAP. IX.

1 The deſtruction of the citie. 4 They that ſhall be ſaued, are marked. 8 A complaint of the Prophet for the deſtruction of the people.

HE cryed alſo with a loude voyce in mine eares, ſaying, The viſitations of [a] the citie draw neere, and euery man hath a weapon in his hand to deſtroy it.

a The time to take vengeance.

2 And beholde, ſixe [b] men came by the way of the hie gate, which lieth toward the [c] North, and euery man a weapon in his hand to deſtroy it: and one man among them was clothed with linnen, with a writers [d] inkehorne by his ſide, and they went in and ſtoode beſide the braſen altar.

b Which were Angels in the ſimilitude of men.
c Signifying, that the Babylonians ſhould come from the North to deſtroy the citie and the Temple.
d To marke the that ſhould be ſaued.

3 And the glory of the God of Iſrael was [e] gone vp from the Cherub, whereupon he was and ſtood on the ‖ dooze of the houſe, & hee called to the man clothed with linnẽ, which had the writers inkehorne by his ſide.

e Which declared, that he was not bound there vnto, neither would remaine any longer, then there was hope that they would returne from their wickednes, and woorſhip him aright.
‖ Or, threſhold.

4 And the Lord ſaid vnto him, Go through the mids of the citie, euen through the mids of Ieruſalem, and ‖ ſet a marke vpon the foreheads of them that [f] mourne, and cry for all

f He ſheweth what is the maner of Gods children, whom he marketh to ſaluation: to wit, to mourne and cry out againſt the wickednes, which they ſee committed againſt Gods glory.

the abominations that bee done in the middes thereof.

5 And to the other hee sayd, that I might heare, Goe yee after him through the citie, and smite: let your eye spare none, neither haue pitie.

6 Destroy vtterly the olde, and the yong, and the maides, & the children, and the women, but touch no man, vpon whom is the [g] marke, and begin at my Sanctuarie. Then they began at the [h] ancient men, which were before the house.

7 And he said vnto them, Defile the house, and fill the courtes with the slaine, then goe forth: and they went out, and slewe them in the citie.

8 Now when they had slaine them, and I had escaped, I fell downe vpon my face, and cryed, saying, [i] Ah Lord God, wilt thou destroy all the residue of Israel, in powring out thy wrath vpon Ierusalem?

9 Then sayde he vnto mee, The iniquitie of the house of Israel, and Iudah is exceeding great, so that the land is full [k] of blood, and the citie full of corrupt iudgement: for they say, The Lorde hath forsaken the earth, and the Lord seeth vs not.

10 As touching me also, mine eye shall not spare them, neither wil I haue pitie, but will recompence their wayes vpon their heads.

11 And behold, the man clothed with linen which hath the ynkehorne by his side, made report, and saide, Lord, I haue done as thou hast commanded me.

g Thus in all his plagues the Lord preserueth his small number, which he marketh, as Exod. 12.22. Ezek. 7.3. but the chiefe marke is the Spirit of adoption, whereby the heart is sealed vp to life euerlasting.

h Which were the chiefe occasion of all these euils, as Chap. 8.11.

i This declareth, that the seruants of God haue a compassion, when they see his iudgements executed.

k That is, with all kind of wickednesse, read Isa. 1.15.

CHAP. X.

1 Of the man that tooke hote burning coles out of the middle of the wheeles of the Chrubims. 8 A rehearsall of the vision of the wheeles, of the beasts, and of the Cherubims.

*Chap. 1.22.

a Which in the first Chap. ver. 5. he called the foure beasts.

b This signified, that the citie should be burnt.

c Meaning, that the glory of God should depart from the Temple.

d Read Chap. 1.24.

AND as I looked, beholde, in the * firmament that was aboue ỹ head of the [a] Cherubims there appeared vpon thē like vnto the similitude of a throne, as it were a saphir stone.

2 And hee spake vnto the man clothed with linnen, and sayde, Goe in betweene the wheeles, euen vnder the Cherub, & fill thine handes with coales of fire from betweene the Cherubims, and scatter them ouer [b] the citie. And he went in in my sight.

3 Now the Cherubims stoode vpon the right side of the house, when the man went in, and the cloude filled the inner court.

4 Then the glorie of the Lord [c] went vp from the Cherub, and stoode ouer the doore of the house, and the house was filled with the cloud, and the court was filled with the brightnes of the Lords glory.

5 And the [d] sounde of the Cherubims wings was heard into the vtter court, as the voice of the Almighty God, when he speaketh.

6 And when hee had commaunded the man clothed with linen, saying, Take fire from betweene the wheeles, and from betweene the Cherubims, then he went in and stoode beside the wheele.

7 And one Cherub stretched foorth his hand from betweene the Cherubims vnto the fire, that was betweene the Cherubims, and tooke thereof, and put it into the hands of him that was clothed with linen: who tooke it, and went out.

8 And there appeared in the Cherubims, the likenes of a mans hand vnder their wings, 9 And when I looked vp, beholde, foure wheeles were beside the Cherubims, one wheele by one Cherub, and another wheele by another Cherub, and the appearance of the wheeles was as the colour of a [e] Chrysolite stone.

e Read Chap. 1.16.

10 And their appearance (for they were all foure of one facion) was as if one wheele had beene in another wheele.

11 When they went foorth, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not as they went: but to the place whither the first went, they went after it, and they [f] turned not as they went.

f Vntil they had executed Gods iudgements.

12 And their whole body, and their ‖ rings, and their handes, and their wings, and the wheeles were full of eyes round about, euen in the same foure wheeles.

13 And the Cherub cried to these wheeles in mine hearing, saying, O wheele.

14 And euery beast had foure faces: the first face was the face of a Cherub, and the second face was the face of a man, and the third the face of a lyon, and the fourth the face of an Eagle.

15 And the Cherubims were lifted vp: *this is the beast that I saw at ỹ riuer Chebar.

*Chap. 1.5.

16 And when the Cherubims went, the wheeles went by them: and when the Cherubims lift vp their wings to mount vp from the earth, the same wheeles also turned not from beside them.

17 When ỹ Cherubims stood, they stood: and when they were lifted vp, they lifted themselues vp also: for the [g] spirit of the beast was in them.

g There was one consent betweene the Cherubims and the wheeles.

18 [h] Then the glory of the Lord departed from aboue the doore of the house, and stoode vpon the Cherubims.

h Read Chap. 9.3.

19 And the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and mounted vp from the earth in my sight: when they went out, the wheeles also were besides them: and euery one stood at the entrie of the gate of the Lords House at the East side, and the glory of the God of Israel was vpon them on hie.

*Chap. 1.15.

20 * This is the [i] beast that I sawe vnder the God of Israel by the riuer Chebar, and I knew i That is, the whole body of the foure beasts or Cherubims.

knew that they were the Cherubims.

21 Euery one had foure faces, and euery one foure wings, and the likenesse of mans hands was vnder their wings.

22 And the likenesse of their faces was the selfe same faces, which I sawe by the riuer Chebar, and the appearance of ỹ Cherubims was the selfe same, and they went euery one straight forward.

CHAP. XI.

1 Who they were that seduced the people of Israel. 5 Against these he prophecieth, shewing them how they shall be dispersed abroade. 19 The renewing of the heart commeth of God. 21 He threatneth them that leane vnto their owne counsels.

MOreouer, the Spirite lift me vp, and brought mee vnto the East gate of the Lordes house, which lyeth Eastward, and beholde, at the entrie of the gate were fiue and twentie men: among whom I saw Iaazaniah the sonne of Azur, and Pelatiah the sonne of Benaiah, the princes of the people.

2 Then sayd he vnto me, Sonne of man, these are the men that imagine mischiefe, and deuise wicked counsell in this citie.

3 For They say, [a] It is not neere, let vs builde houses: this citie is the [b] caldron, and we be the flesh.

4 Therefore prophecie against them, sonne of man, prophecie.

5 And the Spirite of the Lorde fell vpon me, and sayde vnto mee, Speake, Thus sayth the Lord, O ye house of Israel, this haue ye saide, and I know the that which riseth vp of your mindes.

6 Many haue ye murthered in this citie, and ye haue filled the streetes thereof with the slaine.

7 Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde God, They that ye haue slaine, and haue laide in the middes of it, they are [c] the flesh, and this citie is the caldron, but I will bring you forth of the mids of it.

8 Yee haue feared the swoorde, and I will bring a swoorde vpon you, saith the Lord God.

9 And I will bring you out of the mids thereof, and deliuer you into the [d] handes of strangers, and wil execute iudgements among you.

10 Ye shall fall by the swoorde, and I will iudge you in the border of [e] Israel, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

11 This citie shal not be your caldron, neither shall ye be the flesh in the middest thereof, but I will iudge you in the border of Israel.

12 And ye shall know that I am the Lorde: for ye haue not walked in my statutes, neither executed my iudgements, but haue done after the maners of the heathen, that are rounde about you.

13 ¶ And when I prophecied, Pelatiah the sonne of [f] Benaiah died: then fell I downe vpon my face, and cryed with a loude voyce, and said, Ah Lord God, wilt thou then vtterly destroy all the remnant of Israel?

14 Againe the woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

14 Sonne of man, thy brethren, euen thy brethren, the men of thy kinred, & all thy house of Israel, wholy are they vnto whome the inhabitants of Ierusalem haue sayde, Depart yee farre from the Lorde: for the land is giuen vs in possession.

16 Therefore say, Thus sayeth the Lorde God, Although I haue cast them farre off among the heathen, and although I haue scattered them among the countries, yet will I be to them as a litle [h] Sanctuarie in ỹ countries where they shall come.

17 Therefore say, Thus sayeth the Lorde God I will gather you againe from the people, and assemble you out of the countries where ye haue beene scattered, and I will giue you the land of Israel.

18 And they shall come thither, and they shall take away all the idoles thereof, and all the abominations thereof from thence.

19 *And I will giue them one heart and I will put a newe spirit within their bowels: and I will take the [i] stonie heart out of their bodies, and I will giue them an heart of flesh, 20 That they may walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements, and execute them: and they shall be my people, and I will be their God.

21 But vpon them, whose heart is toward their idoles, and whose affection goeth after their abominations, I will lay their way vpon their owne heads, saith the Lord God.

22 ¶ Then did the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and the wheeles besides them, and the glory of the God of Israel was vpon them on high.

23 And the glory of the Lorde went vp from the mids of the citie, and stoode vpon the mountaine which is towarde the East side of the citie.

24 Afterwarde the Spirite tooke mee vp, and brought mee in a vision by the Spirite of God into Caldea to them that were ledde away captiues: so the vision that I had seene, went vp from me.

25 Then I declared vnto them that were [k] led away captiues, all ỹ things that the Lorde had shewed me.

CHAP. XII.

1 The parable of the captiuitie. 18 Another parable whereby the distresse of hunger and thirst is signified.

THe woord of the Lord also came vnto mee, saying, a Thus the wicked derided the Prophets, as though they preached but errors, and therefore gaue themselues still to their pleasures.

b We will not be pulled out of Ierusalem, till the houre of our death come as the flesh is not taken out of the caldron till it be sod.

c Contrary to their vaine confidence he sheweth in what sence this citie is the caldron: that is, because of the dead bodies that haue beene murthered therein, and so lie as flesh in the caldron.

d That is, of the Caldeans.

e That is, in Riblah, read 2. King 25.6.

f It seemeth that this noble man died of some terrible death, and therefore the Prophet feared some strange iudgement of God toward the rest of the people.

g They that remained still at Ierusalem thus reproched them that were gone into captiuitie, as though they were cast off and forsaken of God.

h They shall be yet a litle Church: shewing that the Lord will euer haue some to call vpon his Name, whome he will preserue and restore, though they be for a time afflicted.

*Iere. 32.39. chap. 36.26.

i Meaning, the heart wherevnto nothing can enter, and regenerate them anew, so that their heart may bee soft and ready to receiue my graces.

k When Iecaniah was led away captiue.

2 Sonne of man, thou dwellest in the mids of a rebellious house, which haue eies to see, and see [a] not: they haue eares to heare, & heare not: for they are a rebellious house.

a That is, they receiue not the fruite of that which they see and heare.

3 Therefore thou sonne of man, †prepare thy stuffe to goe into captiuitie, and go forth by day in their sight: and thou shalt passe from thy place to another place in their sight, if it be possible that they may consider it: for they are a rebellious house.

† Ebr. make thee vessels to goe into captiuitie.

4 Then shalt thou bring forth thy stuffe by day in their sight as the stuffe of him that goeth into captiuitie: and thou shalt goe forth at euen in their sight, as they that go forth into captiuitie.

5 Digge thou through the wall in their sight, and cary out thereby.

6 In their sight shalt thou beare it vpon thy shoulders, and carie it forth in the darke: thou shalt couer thy face that thou see not the earth: for I haue set thee as a [b] signe vnto the house of Israel.

b That as thou doest, so shal they doe, and therefore in thee they shall see their owne plague and punishment.

7 And as I was commanded, so I brought forth my stuffe by day, as the stuffe of one that goeth into captiuitie: and by night I digged through the wall with mine hand, and brought it forth in the darke, and I bare it vpon my shoulder in their sight.

8 And in the morning came the worde of the Lord vnto me, saying,

9 Sonne of man, hath not the house of Israel, the rebellious house, said vnto thee, What [c] doest thou?

c Doe not they deride thy doings?

10 But say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, This ‖burden concerneth the chief in Ierusalem, and all the house of Israel that are among them.

11 Say, I am your signe: like as I haue done, so shall it be done vnto them: they shal go into bondage and captiuitie.

12 And the chiefest that is among them, shall beare vpon his shoulder in the darke, and shall go forth: they shal dig through the wall, to carie out thereby: he shal couer his face, that he see not the ground with his eyes.

13 My net also will I spread vpon [d] him, and he shalbe taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel to the land of the Caldeans, yet shal he not see it, though he shal die there.

d Whē the king shal thinke to escape by fleeing, I wil take him in my net, as Chap. 17.20. and 32.3.

14 And I will scatter toward euery wind all that are about him to helpe him, and all his garrisons, and I will draw out the sword after them.

15 And they shal know that I am the Lord when I shall scatter them among the nations, and disperse them in the countries.

16 But I wil leaue a [e] litle nũber of them from the sword, from the famine, and from the pestilence, that they may declare all these abominations among the heathen, where they come, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

e Which should beare his Name & should be his Church, read Chap. 11.16.

17 ¶ Moreouer, the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, eate thy bread with trembling, and drinke thy water with trouble, and with carefulnesse, 19 And say vnto the people of the lande, Thus saith the Lorde God of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and of the land of Israel, They shal eate their bread with carefulnes, and drink their water with desolation: for the land shalbe desolat from her abundance because of the crueltie of them that dwel therein.

20 And the cities that are inhabited, shalbe left voyde, and the land shalbe desolate, and ye shal know that I am the Lord.

21 ¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

22 Sonne of man, what is that Prouerbe that you haue in the land of Israel, saying, The dayes [f] are prolonged and all visions ‖ faile?

f Because they did not immediately see the propheſies accompliſhed, they condemned them as though they should neuer be fulfilled.

‖ Or, take none effect.

23 Tell them therefore, Thus sayeth the Lord God, I wil make this prouerbe to cease, and they shall no more vse it as a Prouerbe in Israel: but say vnto them, The dayes are at hand and the effect of euery vision.

24 For no vision shalbe any more in vaine, neither shal there be any flattering diuination within the house of Israel.

25 For I am the Lord: I wil speake, and that thing that I shal speake, shal come to passe: it shalbe no more prolonged: for in your dayes, O rebellious house, wil I say the thing, & will performe it, saith the Lord God.

26 Againe the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

27 Sonne of man, behold, they of the house of Israel say, The vision that hee seeth, is for [g] many dayes to come, and hee propheſieth of the times that are farre off.

g That is, it shal not come to passe in our dayes, and therefore we care not for it: thus the wicked euer abuse Gods patience and benignitie.

28 Therefore say vnto them, Thus saieth the Lord God, All my words shall no longer be delayed, but that thing which I haue spoken, shalbe done, saieth the Lord God.

CHAP. XIII.

2 The word of the Lord against false prophets, which teach the people the counsels of their owne hearts.

AND the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, to ſtand in the battell in the day of the Lord.

6 They haue ſeene vanitie, and lying diuination, ſaying, The Lord ſaith it, and the Lord hath not ſent them: and they haue made others to hope that they would confirme the worde of their propheſie.

7 Haue ye not ſeene a vaine viſion? and haue ye not ſpoken a lying diuination? [d] ye ſay, The Lord ſaieth it, albeit I haue not ſpoken.

8 Therfore thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe yee haue ſpoken vanitie and haue ſeene lies, therefore behold, I am againſt you, ſaieth the Lord God, 9 And mine hand ſhall bee vpon the Prophets that ſee vanitie, and diuine lies: they ſhall not be in the aſſemblie of my people, neither ſhall they be written in the [e] writing of the houſe of Iſrael, neither ſhal they enter into the land of Iſrael: and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord God.

10 And therefore, becauſe they haue deceiued my people, ſaying, [f] Peace, and there was no peace: and one built vp a wall, & beholde, the others daubed it with vntempered morter, 11 Say vnto them which daube it with vntempered morter, that it ſhall fall: for there ſhal come a great ſhowre, and I will ſend haileſtones, which ſhall cauſe it to fall, and a ſtormy wind ſhall breake it.

12 Loe, when the wall is fallen, ſhall it not be ſaid vnto you, Where is the daubing wherwith ye haue daubed it?

13 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, I will cauſe a ſtormie winde to breake foorth in my wrath, and a great ſhower ſhall be in mine anger, and haileſtones in mine indignation to conſume it.

14 So I wil deſtroy the wall that ye haue daubed with vntempered morter, and bring it downe to the ground, ſo that the foundation thereof ſhall be diſcouered, and it ſhall fall, and ye ſhalbe conſumed in the mids thereof, and ye ſhall know, that I am the Lord.

15 Thus will I accompliſh my wrath vpon the wall, and vpon them that haue daubed it with [h] vntempered morter, and wil ſay vnto you, The wall is no more, neither the daubers thereof, 16 To wit, the Prophets of Iſrael, which propheſie vpon Ieruſalem, and ſee viſions of peace for it, & there is no peace, ſaieth the Lord God.

17 Likewiſe thou ſonne of man, ſet thy face againſt the daughters of thy people, which propheſie out of their owne heart: and propheſie thou againſt them, and ſay,

18 Thus ſaieth the Lord God, Woe vnto the women that ſowe [i] pillowes vnder al arme holes, and make bailes vpon the head of euery one that ſtandeth vp, to hunt ſoules: wil ye hunt the ſoules of my people, and will ye giue life to the ſoules that come vnto you?

19 And will ye pollute me among my people for handfuls of [k] barly, & for pieces of bread to ſlay the ſoules of them that ſhould not die, & [l] to giue life to the ſoules that ſhould not liue in lying to my people, that heare your lies?

20 Wherefore thus ſaieth the Lorde God, Beholde, I will haue to doe with your pillowes, wherewith ye hunt the [m] ſoules to make them to flee, and I will teare them from your armes, and will let the ſoules goe, euen the ſoules, that ye hunt to make them to flee.

21 Your bailes alſo will I teare, and deliuer my people out of your hand, and they ſhall be no more in your hands to be hunted, and yee ſhall know that I am the Lord.

22 Becauſe with your lies yee haue made the heart of the [n] righteous ſad, whom I haue not made ſad, and ſtrengthened the hands of the wicked, that he ſhould not return from his wicked way, by promiſing him life, 23 Therefore ye ſhall ſee no more vanitie, nor diuine diuinations: for I will deliuer my people out of your hand, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord.

d Ye promiſed peace to this people, & now ye ſee their deſtruction, ſo that it is manifeſt, that ye are falſe prophets.

e That is, in the booke of life, wherein the true Iſraelites are written.

f Read Iere. 6.14.

g Whereas the true Prophets propheſied the deſtruction of the citie to bring the people to repentance, the falſe prophets ſpake the contrary and flattered them in their vanities, ſo that what one falſe prophet ſaid, (which is here called the building of the wall) an other falſe prophet would affirme, though he had neither occaſion nor good ground to beare him.

h Whereby is meant whatſoeuer man of himſelfe ſetteth forth vnder the authoritie of Gods worde.

i Theſe ſuperſtitious women for lucre woulde propheſie and tell euery man his fortune, giuing them pillowes to leane vpon, and kercheifs to couer their heads, to the intent they might the more allure them & bewitch them.

k Will ye make my word to ſerue your bellies?

l Theſe ſorcerers made the people beleeue that they could preſerue life or deſtroy it, & that it ſhould come to euery one accoꝛding as they propheſied.

m That is, to cauſe them to periſh, and that they ſhould depart from the body.

n By threatning them that were godly, and vpholding the wicked.

4 The Lord ſendeth falſe prophets for the ingratitude of the people. 22 Hee reſerueth a ſmall portion for his Church.

THen came certaine of the Elders of Iſrael vnto me, and [a] ſate before me.

4 Therefore ſpeake vnto them, and ſay vnto them, Thus ſaieth the Lord God, Euery man of the houſe of Iſrael that ſetteth vp his idoles in his heart, and putteth the ſtumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his face, and commeth to the [c] Prophet, I the Lord wil anſwere him that commeth, according to the multitude [d] of his idoles:

5 That [e] I may take the houſe of Iſrael in their owne heart, becauſe they are all departed from me through their idoles.

6 Therefore ſay vnto the houſe of Iſrael, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Returne, and withdrawe your ſelues, and turne your faces from your idoles, and turne your faces from al your abominations.

a He ſheweth the hypocriſie of the idolaters, who will diſſemble to heare the Prophets of God, though in their heart they follow nothing leſſe then their admonitions, & alſo how by one means or other, God doeth diſcouer them.

b They are not onely idolaters in heart, but alſo worſhip their filthy idols openly, which lead them in blindnes, and cauſe them to ſtumble, & caſt them out of Gods fauour, ſo that he will not heare them when they call vnto him, read Iere. 10. 15.

c To inquire of things which the Lord hath appointed to come to paſſe.

of his iniquitie before his face, and commeth to a Prophet, for to inquire of him for mee, I the Lord will answere him ‖ for my selfe,

‖Or, by my selfe.

8 And I will set my face against that man, and wil make him an example & prouerbe, and I wil cut him off from the mids of my people, and ye shal know that I am the Lord.

& The Prophet declareth that God for mans ingratitude raiseth vp false prophets to seduce them that delite in lies rather then in the trueth of God, and thus he punisheth sinne by sinne, 1. King. 22. 20, 22. and destroieth as well thole Prophets as that people.

9 And if the Prophet bee [f] deceiued, when he hath spoken a thing, I the Lord haue deceiued that Prophet, and I will stretch out mine hand vpon him, and will destroy him from the mids of my people of Israel.

f Thus Gods iudgements against the wicked, are admonitions to the godly, to cleaue vnto the Lord, and not to defile themselues with like abominations.

10 And they shall beare their punishment: the punishment of the Prophet shal be euen as the punishment of him that asketh, 11 That the house of [g] Israel may goe no more astray from me, neither be polluted any more with al their transgressions, but that they may bee my people, and I may bee their God, saith the Lord God.

g Read Chap. 4. 16. and 5. 17. Isa. 3. 1.

12 The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

13 Sonne of man, when the land sinneth against me by committing a trespasse, then wil I stretch out mine hand vpon it, [h] & will breake the staffe of the bread thereof, and will send famine vpon it, and I will destroy man and beast fourth of it.

h Read Chap. 4. 16. and 5. 17. Isa. 3. 1.

14 Though these three men, [i] Noah, Daniel, and Iob were among them, they should deliuer but their owne soules by their [k] righteousnesse, saith the Lord God.

i Though Noah and Iob were now aliue, which in their time were most godly men (for at this time Daniel was in captiuity with Ezekiel) and so these three together should pray for this wicked people, yet would I not heare them, read Iere. 15. 1.

k Meaning, that a very few (which he calleth the remnant, verse 22.) should escape these plagues, whom God hath sanctified and made righteous, so that this righteousnesse is a signe that they are the Church of God, whom he would preserue for his owne sake.

15 If I bring noisome beastes into the lande, and they spoyle it, so that it bee desolate, that no man may passe through, because of beastes, 16 Though these three men were in the mids thereof, As I liue, saith the Lord God, they shall saue neither sonnes nor daughters: they onely shall be deliuered, but the land shall be waste.

17 Or if I bring a sworde vpon this land, and say, Sworde, goe through the land, so that I destroy man and beast out of it, 18 Though these three men were in the middes thereof, As I liue, saith the Lord God, they shal deliuer neither sonnes nor daughters, but they onely shalbe deliuered themselues.

19 Or if I send a pestilence into this land, and powre out my wrath vpon it in blood, to destroy out of it man and beast, 20 And though Noah, Daniel and Iob were in the mids of it, As I liue, saith the Lord God, they shal deliuer neither sonne nor daughter: they shal but deliuer their owne soules by their righteousnes.

21 For thus saith the Lorde God, Howe much more when I send my *foure sore iudgements vpon Ierusalem, euen the sworde, and famine, and the noisome beast and pestilence, to destroy man and beast out of it?

*Chap 5. 17.

22 Yet behold, therein shall be left a [l] remnant of them that shall bee caried away both sonnes and daughters: behold, they shall come fourth vnto you, and ye shall see their way, and their enterprises: and yee shall be comforted, concerning the euill that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, euen concerning all that I haue brought vpon it.

l Read Chap. 3.

23 And they shall comfort you, when ye see their way & their enterprises: and ye shal know, that I haue not done without cause all that I haue done in it, saieth the Lord God.

CHAP. XV.

As the vnprofitable wood of the vine tree is cast into the fire, so Ierusalem shalbe burnt.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, what commeth of the vine tree aboue all other trees? and of the vine branch, which is among the [a] trees of the forrest?

a Which bringeth fourth no fruite, no more then the other trees of the forrest doe: meaning, that if Ierusalem, which bare the name of his Church, did not bring fourth fruite, it should be surely destroyed.

3 Shal wood be taken thereof to doe any worke? or wil men take a pin of it to hang any vessel thereon?

4 Behold, it is cast in the fire to be consumed: the fire consumeth both the endes of it, and the mids of it is burnt. Is it meete for any worke?

5 Behold, when it was whole, it was meet for no worke: how much lesse shall it be meete for any worke, when the fire hath consumed it, and it is burnt?

6 Therefore thus saieth the Lord God, As the vine tree, that is among the trees of the forrest, which I haue giuen to the fire to bee consumed, so wil I giue the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

7 And I will set my face against them: they shall goe out from one [b] fire, and another fire shall consume them: and yee shall know, that I am the Lord, when I set my face against them, b Though they escape one danger, yet another shal take them.

8 And when I make the land waste, because they haue greatly offended, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XVI.

The Prophet declareth the benefites of God toward Ierusalem. 15 Their vnkindnesse. 46 He iustifieth the wickednes of other people in comparison of the sinnes of Ierusalem. 49 The cause of the abominations into which the Sodomites fel. 60 Mercy is promised to the repentant.

AGaine, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, a Thus doeth he to the seede of Abraham, but thou art degenerate and soldest all the abominations of the wicked Canaanites as children do the maners of their fathers, Isa. 1. 4. & 57. 3.

2 Sonne of man, cause Ierusalem to know her abominations,

3 And say, Thus saieth the Lord God vnto Ierusalem, Thine habitation and thy kinred is of the land [a] of Canaan: thy father was an Amorite, and thy mother an Hittite.

4 And

4 And in thy nativitie when thou waſt b borne, thy nauill was not cut: thou waſt not waſhed in water to ſoften thee: thou waſt not ſalted with ſalt, nor ſwadled in cloutes.

5 None eye pitied thee to doe any of theſe vnto thee, for to haue compaſſion vpon thee, but thou waſt caſt out in the open field to the contempt of thy perſon in the day that thou waſt borne.

6 And when I paſſed by thee, I ſaw thee polluted in thine c owne blood, and I ſaid vnto thee, when thou waſt in thy blood, Thou ſhalt liue: euen when thou waſt in thy blood, I ſaid vnto thee, Thou ſhalt liue.

7 I haue cauſed thee to multiply as the bud of the field, and thou haſt encreaſed and waxen great, and thou haſt gotten excellent ornaments: thy breaſtes are faſhioned, thine haire is growen, whereas thou waſt naked and bare.

8 Now when I paſſed by thee, and looked vpon thee, behold, thy time was as the time of loue, and I ſpred my ſkirts ouer thee, and co-uered d thy filthineſſe: yea, I ſware vnto thee, and entred into a couenant with e thee, ſaith the Lord God, and thou becameſt mine.

9 Then waſhed I thee with f water: yea,
I waſhed away thy blood from thee, & I anointed thee with oile.

10 I clothed thee alſo with broidred worke, and ſhod thee with badgers ſkin: and I girded thee about with fine linen, and I couered thee with ſilke.

11 I decked thee alſo with ornaments, and I put bracelets vpon thine hands, and a chaine on thy necke.

12 And I put a frontlet vpon thy face, and eare rings in thine eares, & a beautiful b crowne vpon thine head.

13 Thus waſt thou deckt with golde and ſiluer, and thy raiment was of fine linen, and ſilke, and broidred worke: thou didſt eate fine flowre, and honie and oyle, and thou waſt very beautifull, and thou didſt grow vp into a kingdome.

14 And thy name was ſpred among the heathen for thy beautie: for it was perfite through my i beautie which I had ſet vpon thee, ſaith the Lord God:

15 Nowe thou didſt k truſt in thine owne beautie, and plaiedſt the harlot, becauſe of thy renowne, and haſt powred out l thy fornicati-ons on euery one that paſſed by, thy deſire was to him.

16 And thou didſt take thy garments, and deckedſt thine hie places with diuers colours, m and playedſt the harlot thereupon: the like things ſhall not come, neither hath any done ſo.

17 Thou haſt alſo taken thy faire iewels made of my golde and of my ſiluer, which I had giuen thee, and n madeſt to thy ſelfe images of men, and diddeſt commit whoredome with them,

18 And tookeſt thy broidred garments, and couereddſt them: and thou haſt ſet mine oile and my perfume before them.

19 My meate alſo, which I gaue thee, as fine flowre, oyle, and honie, wherewith I fed thee, thou haſt euen ſet it before them for a ſweete ſauour: thus it was, ſaieth the Lord God.

20 Moreouer thou haſt taken thy ſonnes and thy daughters, whom thou haſt borne vnto me, and theſe haſt thou ſacrificed vnto them, to o be deuoured: is this thy whoredome a ſmall matter?

21 That thou haſt ſlaine my children, and deliuered them to cauſe them to paſſe thorow fire for them?

22 And in all thine abominations & whoredoms thou haſt not remembred the daies of thy youth, when thou waſt naked and bare, & waſt polluted in thy blood.

23 And beſide all thy wickednes (wo, wo vnto thee, ſaieth the Lord God)

24 Thou haſt alſo built vnto thee an high place, and haſt made thee an high place in euery ſtreete.

25 Thou haſt built thine high place at eue-ry ‖ corner of the way, and haſt made thy beau-tie to be abhorred: thou haſt opened thy feet to euery one that paſſed by, and multiplied thy whoredome.

26 Thou haſt alſo committed fornication with the p Egyptians thy neighbours, which haue great members, and haſt encreaſed thy whoredom to prouoke me.

27 Beholde, therefore I did ſtretch out mine hand ouer thee, and will diminiſh thine ordinarie, and deliuer thee vnto the wil of them that hate thee, euen to the ‖ daughters of the Philiſtims, which are aſhamed of thy wicked way.

28 Thou haſt played the whore alſo with the Aſſyrians, becauſe thou waſt inſatiable:
yea, thou haſt played the harlot with them, and yet couldeſt not be ſatisfied.

29 Thou haſt moreouer multiplied thy fornication from the land of Canaan vnto Caldea, and yet thou waſt not ſatisfied herewith.

30 Howe weake is thine heart, ſaieth the Lord God, ſeeing thou doeſt all theſe things, euen the worke of a ‖ preſumptuous whorish woman?

31 In that thou buildeſt thine high place in the corner of euery way, & makeſt thine high place in euery ſtreete, and haſt not bene as an harlot q that deſpiſeth a reward,

32 But as a wife that playeth the harlot, b When I firſt brought thee out of Egypt, and planted thee in this land to be my Church.

c Being thus in thy filthines and forſaken of all men, I tooke thee, & gaue thee life: whereby is meant that before God waſh his Church, and giue life, there is nothing but filthineſſe & death. These words, as blood, pollution, nakednes, & filthineſſe are oftimes repeated, to beate downe their pride, and to cauſe them to conſider what they were before God receiued them to mercy, fauoured them and couered their ſhame.
e That thou ſhouldeſt be a chaſte wife vnto me, and that I ſhould maintaine thee: and endue thee with al graces.
f I waſhed away thy ſinnes.
g I ſanctified thee with mine holy Spirit.

h Hereby he ſheweth how he ſaued his church enriched it, and gaue it power and dominion to reigne.
i He declareth wherein the dignitie of Ieruſalem ſtood: to wit, in that that the Lord gaue them of his beautie and excellencie.
k In abuſing my gifts, and in putting thy confidence in thine owne wiſdom and dignitie, which were the occaſions of thine idolatrie.
l There was none idolatry ſo vile wherewith thou diddſt not pollute thy ſelfe.
m This declareth how the idolaters put their chiefe delight in thoſe things, which pleaſe the eyes and outward ſenſes.

n Thou haſt conuerted my beſeis and inſtruments, which I gaue thee to ſerue me with, to the vſe of thine idoles.

o Meaning, by fire, read Leuit. 18.21.2. King. 23.10.

p He noteth the great impietie of this people, who firſt falling from God to ſeeke helpe at ſtrange nations, did alſo at length embrace their idolatrie, thinking thereby to make their amitie more ſtrong.
‖ Or, cities.

q Meaning, that ſome harlots contemn ſmal rewards, but do louers gaine & reward to Iſrael, but they gaue to all others: ſignifying, that all the idolaters deſpiſed all their ſubſtance, which they receiued of God for his glory, to ſerue their vile abominations.

‖ Or, that will beare rule.

and taketh others for her husband:

33 They giue giftes to all other whores, but thou giuest giftes vnto all thy louers, and rewardest them that they may come vnto thee on euery side for thy fornication.

34 And the contrary is in thee from other women in thy fornications, neither the like fornication shall be after thee: for in that thou giuest a reward, and no reward is giuen vnto thee, therefore thou art contrary.

35 Wherefore, O harlot, heare the worde of the Lord.

36 Thus saieth the Lorde God, Because thy ‖shame was powred out, and thy filthinesse discouered through thy fornications with thy louers, and with all the idoles of thine abominations, and by the blood of thy children, which thou diddest offer vnto them,

37 Behold, therefore I wil gather all [r] thy louers, with whom thou hast taken pleasure, and all them that thou hast loued, with all them that thou hast hated: I will euen gather them round about against thee, and will discouer thy filthinesse vnto them, that they may see all thy filthinesse.

r Egyptians, Assyrians and Caldeans whom thou tookest to be thy louers, shal come and destroy thee, Chap. 23.9.

38 And I will iudge thee after the maner of them that are [s] harlots, and of them that shed blood, and I will giue thee the blood of wrath and iealousie.

s I will iudge thee to death, as the aduulterers & murtherers.

39 I will also giue thee into their handes, and they shall destroy thine high place, and shall breake downe thine high places: they shall strip thee also out of thy clothes, and shall take thy faire iewels, and leaue thee naked and bare.

40 They shall also bring vp a companie against thee, and they shall stone thee with stones, and thrust thee through with their swordes.

41 And they * shall burne vp thine houses with fire, and execute iudgements vpon thee in the sight of many women: and I will cause thee to cease from playing the harlot, and thou shalt giue no reward any more.

* 2. King. 25.9.

42 So will I make my wrath toward thee to rest, and my [t] iealousie shall depart from thee, and I will cease and be no more angry.

t I will vtterly destroy thee, and so my iealousie shal cease.

43 Because thou hast not remembred the dayes of thy youth, but hast prouoked me with all these things, behold, therefore I also haue [u] brought thy way vpon thine head, saieth the Lord God: yet hast not thou had consideration of all thine abominations.

u I haue punished thy faults, but thou wouldest not repent.

44 Behold, all that vse prouerbes, shall vse this prouerbe against thee, saying, As is the mother, [x] so is her daughter.

x Likewise the Canaanites, & the Hittites, and others pour preuaricators, so are pou their successors.

y That is, of Samaria and Sodome.

46 And thine elder sister is Samaria, and her [z] daughters, that dwel at thy left hand, and †thy yong sister, that dwelleth at thy right hand is Sodome, and her daughters.

z That is, her cities.
†Ebr. thy sister yonger then thou.

47 Yet hast thou [a] not walked after their waies, nor done after their abominations: but as it had bene a very litle thing, thou wast corrupted more then they in all thy wayes.

a But done far worse.

48 As I liue, saieth the Lorde God, Sodome thy sister hath not done, neither she nor her daughters, as thou hast done & thy daughters.

49 Behold, this was the iniquitie of thy sister Sodome, [b] ‖pride, fulnesse of bread, and abundance of idlenesse was in her, and in her daughters: neither did she strengthen the hand of the poore and needie.

b He alleageth these foure vices, pride, excesse, idlenes and contempt of the poore, as foure principall causes of such abomination, wherefore they were so horribly punished, Gen. 19.24.

50 But they were hautie, and committed abomination before mee: therefore I tooke them away, as pleased me.

51 Neither [c] hath Samaria committed halfe of thy sinnes, but thou hast exceeded them in thine abominations, and hast [d] iustified thy sisters in all thine abominations, which thou hast done.

c Which worshipped the calues in Bethel and Dan.
d Thou art so wicked, that in respect of her Sodome and Samaria were iust.

52 Therefore thou which hast iustified thy sisters, beare thine owne shame for thy sinnes, that thou hast committed more abominable then they which are more righteous then thou art: bee thou therefore confounded also, and beare thy shame, seeing that thou hast iustified thy sisters.

e This he speaketh in comparison, saying that he would restore Ierusalem when Sodom should be restored, that is, neuer: and this is ment of the greatest part of the Iewes.

53 Therefore I will bring againe [e] their captiuitie with the captiuitie of Sodome, and her daughters, and with the captiuitie of Samaria, and her daughters: euen the captiuitie of thy captiues in the mids of them, 54 That thou mayest beare thine owne shame, and mayest bee confounded in all that thou hast done, in that thou hast [f] comforted them.

f In that thou hast shewen thy selfe worse then they, and yet thought best to escape punishment.

55 And thy sister Sodome and her daughters shall returne to their former state, Samaria also and her daughters shal returne to their former state, [g] when thou and thy daughters shall returne to your former state.

g Meaning, that it should neuer come to passe.

56 For thy sister Sodome † was not heard of [h] by thy report in the day of thy pride,

h Thou wouldest not call her punishment to mind when thou wast aloft, to learne by her example to feare my iudgements.

57 Before thy wickednesse was [i] discouered, as in that same time of the reproch of the daughters of Aram, and of all the daughters of the Philistims round about [k] her which despise thee on all sides.

i That is, til thou wast throwen to lower by the Syrians and Philistims, 2. Chron. 28.16.
k Which ioyned with the Syrians, & compassed about Ierusalem.

58 Thou hast borne therefore thy wickednesse and thine abomination, saieth the Lord.

59 For thus saieth the Lord God, I might euen deale with thee, as thou hast done: when when thou didst despise the [l] othe, in breaking the couenant.

60 Neuertheless, I will [m] remember my couenant made with thee in the dayes of thy youth, and I will confirme vnto thee an euerlasting couenant.

61 Then thou shalt remember thy wayes, and bee ashamed, when thou shalt receiue [n] thy sisters, both thy elder and thy yonger, and I will giue them vnto thee for daughters, but not [o] by thy couenant.

62 And I will establish my couenant with thee, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

63 That thou maiest remember, and be [p] ashamed, and neuer open thy mouth any more: because of thy shame when I am pacified toward thee, for all that thou hast done, saith the Lord God.

l When thou brakest the couenant, which was made betweene thee and me, as verse 8.

m That is, of mercie and loue I wil pitie thee, and so stand to my couenant, though thou hast deserued the contrary.

n Where by he sheweth that among the most wicked he hath euer some seede of his Church which he would cause to fructifie in due time: and here he declareth how he will call the Gentiles.

o But of my free mercy.

p This declareth what fruites Gods mercies worke in his, to wit, sorow, and repentance for his former life.

CHAP. XVII.

The parable of the two Egles,

AND the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, put foorth a parable and speake a prouerbe vnto the house of Israel,

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, The great [a] egle with great wings, and long wings, and full of fethers, which had diuers colours, came vnto Lebanon, and tooke the highest branch of the cedar,

4 And brake off the top of his twig, and caried it into the land [b] of Marchants, and set it in a citie of marchants.

5 Hee tooke also of the [c] seede of the land, and planted it in a fruitfull ground: hee placed it by great waters, and set it as a willow tree.

6 And it budded vp, & was [d] like a spreading vine of [e] low stature, whose branches turned toward it, and the rootes thereof were vnder it: so it became a vine, and it brought foorth branches, and shot foorth buds.

7 There was also [f] another great egle with great wings and many fethers, and behold this vine did turne her rootes towarde it, and spred foorth her branches towarde it, that shee might water it by the trenches of her plantation.

8 It was planted in a good soile by great [g] waters, that it should bring foorth branches, and beare fruit, and be an excellent vine.

9 Say thou, Thus saith the Lorde God, Shall it prosper? shall [h] hee not pull vp the roots thereof, and destroy the fruit thereof, and cause them to drie? all the leaues of her bud shal wither without great power, or many people, to plucke it vp by the rootes thereof.

10 Beholde, it was planted: but shall it prosper? shall it not bee dried vp, and wither? [i] when the East winde shall touch it, it shal wither in the trenches, where it grew.

a That is, Nebuchad-nezzar, who hath great power, riches, and many countries vnder him, shall come to Ierusalem & take away Ieconiah the king, as verse 12.

b Meaning, to Babylon.

c This is, Zedekiah, who was of the Kings blood, and was left at Ierusalem, and made King in sted of Ieconiah, 2. King. 24. 17. ere. 37. 1.

d This was Zedekiahs kingdome.

e That it might not haue power to rebel against Babylon, as verse 14.

f Meaning, the King of Egypt, of whom Zedekiah sought succor against Nebuchad-nezzar.

g They thought to be mainteined by the waters of Nilus.

h Shal not Nebuchad-nezzar destroy it?

i By this drie winde, he meaneth the Babylonians.

11 Moreouer, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

12 Say nowe to this rebellious house, Knowe yee not, what these things meane? tell them, Beholde, the king of Babel is come to Ierusalem, and hath taken [k] the king thereof, and the princes thereof, and led them with him to Babel, 13 And hath taken one of the Kings seede, and made a couenant with him, and hath taken [l] an othe of him: he hath also taken the princes of the land.

14 That the kingdome might bee in subiection, and not lift it selfe vp, but keepe their couenant, and stand to it.

15 But hee rebelled against him, and sent his ambassadours into Egypt, that they might giue him horses, and much people: shall hee prosper? shall he escape, that doth such things? or shall hee breake the couenant, and bee deliuered?

16 As I liue, saith the Lorde God, he shall die in the middes of Babel, in the place of the king, that had made him King, whose oath hee despised, and whose couenant made with him, he brake.

17 Neither shall Pharaoh with his mightie hoste, and great multitude of people, mainteine him in the warre, when they haue cast vp mounts, and builded ramparts to destroy many persons.

18 For hee hath despised the oath, and broken the couenant (yet loe, hee had giuen [m] his hand) because he hath done all these things, hee shall not escape.

19 Therefore, thus saith the Lord God, As I liue, I will surely bring mine oath that hee hath despised, and my couenant that he hath broken, vpon his owne head.

20 *And I will spread my net vpon him, and he shal be taken in my net, and I wil bring him to Babel, and will enter into iudgement with him there, for his trespasse that hee hath committed against me.

21 And all that flee from him with all his hoste, shall fall by the sworde, and they that remaine, shall be scattered toward all the winds: and yee shall knowe that I the Lord haue spoken it.

22 Thus saith the Lorde God, I will also take off the top [n] of this hie cedar, and will set it, and cut off the [o] top of the tender plant thereof, and I will plant it vpon an hie mountaine and great.

23 Euen in the hie mountaine of Israel wil I plant it: and it shall bring foorth boughs and beare fruite, and be an excellent cedar, and vnder it shall remaine all birdes, and euery [p] foule shall dwell in the shadowe of the branches thereof.

k That is, Ieconiah, 2. King. 24. 15.

l For his subiection and obedience.

m Because he tooke the Name of God in vaine, and brake his oath which he had confirmed by giuing his hand, therefore the Prophet declareth that God would not suffer such periurie and infidelitie to escape punishment.

*Chap. 12. 13. and 32. 3.

n This promise is made to the Church which shall be as a small remnant, and as the top of a tree.

o I will keepe it and defende it.

p Both Iewes and Gentiles shall be gathered into it.

q All the world shall know that I haue pluckt downe the proud enemies, and set vp my Church which was lowe and contemned.

24 And all the qtrees of the field shal know that I the Lorde haue brought downe the high tree, and exalted the lowe tree: that I haue dried vp the greene tree, and made the drie tree to flourish: I the Lorde haue spoken it, and haue done it.

CHAP. XVIII.

2 Hee sheweth that euery man shall beare his owne sinne. 21 To him that amendeth, is saluation promised. 24 Death is propheciedto the righteous, which turneth backe from the right way.

THe worde of the Lorde came vnto mee againe, saying, a The people murmured at the chastisings of the Lord, and therefore vsed this prouerbe, meaning that their fathers had sinned, and their children were punished for their transgressions, reade Ierem. 31. 29.

2 What meane ye that ye speake this prouerbe, concerning the lande of Israel, saying, a The fathers haue eaten sowre grapes, and the childrens teeth are set on edge?

3 As I liue, saith the Lord God, ye shall vse this prouerbe no more in Israel.

4 Behold, al soules are mine, both the soule of the father, and also the soule of the sonne are mine: the soule that sinneth, it shall die.

5 But if a man be iust, and doe that which is lawful, and right,

6 And hath not eaten b vpon the mountaines, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idoles of the house of Israel, neither hath * defiled his neighbours wife, neither hath † lien with a *menstruous woman, b If he hath not eaten of the flesh that hath bene offered vp to idoles, to honour them thereby.

7 Neither hath oppressed any, but hath restored the pledge to his dettour: hee that hath spoiled none by violence, * but hath giuen his bread to the hungrie, and hath couered the naked with a garment,

8 And hath not giuen foorth vpon * vsurie, neither hath taken any increase, but hath withdrawen his hand from iniquitie, and hath executed true iudgement betweene man and man,

*Exod. 22. 25. leuit. 25. 37. deut. 23. 19. psal. 15. 5.

9 And hath walked in my statutes, and hath kept my iudgements to deale truely, he is iust, he shall surely liue, saith the Lord God.

10 ¶ If he beget a sonne, that is ‖ a thiefe, or a sheader of blood, if hee doe any one of these things,

11 Though he doe not all these things, but either hath eaten vpon the mountaines, or defiled his neighbours wife,

12 Or hath oppressed the poore and needie, or hath spoiled by violence, or hath not restored the pledge, or hath lift vp his eyes vnto the idoles, or hath committed abomination, c He sheweth how the sonne is punished for his fathers fault: that is, If he be wicked as his father was, and doeth not repent, he shall be punished as his father was, or elle not.

13 Or hath giuen foorth vpon vsurie, or hath taken increase, shall hee liue? he shall not liue: seeing hee hath done all these abominations, c hee shal die the death, and his blood shall be vpon him.

14 ¶ But if he beget a sonne, that seeth all his fathers sinnes, which he hath done, and feareth, neither doeth such like,

15 That hath not eaten vpon the mountaines, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idoles of the house of Israel, nor hath defiled his neighbours wife,

16 Neither hath oppressed any, nor hath withholden the pledge, neither hath spoiled by violence, but hath giuen his bread to the hungrie, and hath couered the naked with a garment,

17 Neither hath withdrawen his hande from the afflicted, nor receiued vsurie nor increase, but hath executed my iudgements, and hath walked in my statutes, he shall not die in the iniquitie of his father, but hee shall surely liue.

18 His father, because hee cruelly oppressed and spoyled his brother by violence, and hath not done good among his people, loe, euen he dieth in his iniquitie.

19 Yet say yee, Wherefore shall not the sonne beare the iniquitie of the father? because the sonne hath executed iudgement and iustice, and hath kept all my statutes, and done them, he shall surely liue.

*Deut. 24. 16. 2. king. 14. 6. 2. chron. 25. 4.

20 *The same soule that sinneth, shall die: the sonne shall not beare the iniquitie of the father, neither shall the father beare the iniquitie of the sonne, but the righteousnes of the righteous shall bee vpon him, and the wickednes of the wicked shall be vpon himselfe.

21 But if the wicked will returne from all his sinnes that hee hath committed, and keepe all my d statutes, and doe that which is lawfull and right, he shal surely liue, and shall not die.

d He speaketh not of the obseruation of the commandements with repentance: for none can repent in deed except he labour to keepe the Lawe.
‖Or, not laid to his charge.

22 All his transgressions that he hath committed, they shall not be ‖ mentioned vnto him, but in his e righteousnes that he hath done, hee shall liue.

e That is, in the fruites of his faith which declare that God doth accept him.

23 f Haue I any delite that the wicked should die, saith the Lord God? ‖ or shall he not liue, if he returne from his wayes?

f He speaketh this to commend Gods mercie to poore sinners, who rather is ready to pardon, then to punish, as his long suffring declareth, Chap. 33. 11. Albeit God in his eternal counsell appointed the death and damnation of the reprobate, yet the ende of his counsell was not their destruction, but chiefly his owne glory. And also because he doth not approue sinne, therefore it is here sayd, that he would haue them to turne away from it that they might liue.
‖Or, rather that he may remoue from his wayes and liue.

24 But if the righteous turne away from his righteousnes, and commit iniquitie, and do according to al the abominations, that the wicked man doeth, shall he liue? all his g righteousnes that he hath done, shall not bee mentioned: but in his transgression that hee hath committed, and in his sinne that he hath sinned, in them shall he die.

g That is, the false opinion that the hypocrites haue of their righteousnes.

25 Yet ye say, The way of the Lorde is not h equall: heare nowe, O house of Israel. Is not my way equall? or are not your wayes vnequall?

h In punishing the father with the children.

26 For when a righteous man turneth away from his righteousnesse, and committeth iniquitie, he shall euen die for the same, he shall euen die for his iniquitie, that he hath done.

27 Againe when the wicked turneth away from his wickednes that hee hath committed, and doeth that which is lawfull and right, he he shal saue his soule aliue.

28 Because he considereth, and turneth away from all his transgressions that hee hath committed, he shal surely liue & shall not die.

29 Yet saith the house of Israel, The way of the Lorde is not equall. O house of Israel, are not my waies equal? or are not your waies unequall?

30 Therefore I will iudge you, O house of Israel, every one according to his wayes, saieth the Lorde God: returne therefore and cause others to turne away from all your transgressions: so iniquitie shall not bee your destruction.

31 Cast away from you all your transgressions, wherebye ye haue transgressed, and make i you a new heart and a new spirit: for why will ye die, O house of Israel?

i He sheweth that man cannot forsake his wickednes till his heart be changed which is only the worke of God.

32 For I desire not the death of him that dieth, saith the Lord God: cause therefore one another to returne, and liue ye.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The captiuitie of the kings of Iudah signified by the Lions whelpes, and by the Lion. 10 The prosperitie of the citie of Ierusalem that is past, & the miserie thereof that is present.

THou also, take vp a lamentation for the a Princes of Israel, a That is, Iehoahaz and Iehoiakim, Iosiahs sonnes, who for their pride and crueltie are compared vnto Lions.

2 And say, Wherefore lay thy b mother as a Lioneſſe among the Lions? she nourished her yong ones among the Lions whelpes, b To wit, Iehoahaz mother, of Ierusalem.

3 And she brought vp one of her whelpes, & it became a Lion, and it learned to catch the praie, & it deuoured men.

4 The c nations also heard of him, and he was taken in their nets, and they brought him in chaines vnto the land of Egypt.

c By Pharaoh Necho king of Egypt, 2. King. 23. 33.

5 Now when she sawe, that she had waited, and her hope was lost, she tooke another of her d whelpes, and made him a Lion.

d Which was Iehoiakim.

6 Which went among the Lions, and became a Lion, and learned to catch the praie, & he deuoured e men.

e He slew of the Prophets, and them that feared God, & ranished their wiues.

7 And he knew their widowes, and he destroyed their cities, and the lande was wasted, and all that was therein by the noise of his roaring.

8 Then the f nations set against him on euery side of the countries, & laied their nets for him: so he was taken in their pit.

f Nebuchadnezzar with his great armie which was gathered of diuers nations. g He speaketh this in the reproch of this wicked king, in whose blood, that is, in the race of his predecessors, Ierusalem should haue bene blessed, according to Gods promise, and flourished as a fruitful vine.

9 And they put him in prison & in chaines, and brought him to the King of Babel, and they put him in holdes, that his voyce should no more be heard vpon the mountaines of Israel.

10 Thy g mother is like a vine in thy blood, planted by the waters: shee brought foorth fruit and branches by the abundant waters, 11 And shee had strong rods for the scepters of them that beare rule, and her stature was exalted among the branches, and shee appeared in her height with the multitude of her branches.

12 But she was plucked vp in wrath: she was cast downe to the ground, and the h East winde dried vp her fruite: her branches were broken, and withered: as for the rodde of her strength, the fire consumed it.

h Meaning, that the Caldeans should destroy them as the East wind doeth the fruit of the vine.

13 And now shee is planted in the wildernesse in a dry and thirstie ground.

14 And fire is gone out i of a rodde of her branches, which hath deuoured her fruite, so that she hath no strong rod to bee a scepter to rule: this is a lamentation, and shall bee for a lamentation.

i Destruction is come by Zedekiah who was the occasion of this rebellion.

CHAP. XX.

3 The Lorde denieth that he will answere them when they pray, because of their vnkindnes. 33 He promiseth that his people shall returne from captiuitie. 46 By the forest that should be burnt, is signified the burning of Ierusalem.

AND in the a seuenth yeere, in the fift moneth, the tenth day of the moneth, came certaine of the elders of Israel to enquire of the Lord, and sate before me.

a Of the captiuitie of Ieconiah.

2 Then came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

3 Sonne of man, speake vnto the Elders of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus saieth the Lord God, Are ye come to enquire of me: as I liue, saieth the Lord God, when I am asked, I will not answer you.

b This declareth the great loue & patience of God which calleth sinners to repentance before he condemne them. c I sware that I would be their God, which maner of othe was obserued from al antiquitie, where they vsed to lift vp their hands toward the heauen, acknowledging God to be the author of trueth, & the defender thereof, & also the iudge of the heart, wishing y he should take vengeance, if they concealed any thing which they knew to be trueth.

4 Wilt thou iudge them, sonne of man? wilt thou iudge them? cause b them to vnderstand the abominations of their fathers,

5 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when I chose Israel, and c lift vp mine hand vnto the seede of the house of Iaakob, and made my selfe knowen vnto them in the land of Egypt, when I lift vp mine hand vnto them, and said, I am the Lord your God,

6 In the day that I lift vp mine hand vnto them to bring them forth of the land of Egypt, into a land that I had prouided for them, flowing with milke and hony, which is pleasant among all lands.

7 Then said I vnto them, Let euery man cast away the abominations of his eyes, d & defile not your selues with the idoles of Egypt: for I am the Lord your God.

d God had euer this respect to his glory, that he would not haue his Name euil spoken of among the Gentiles for the punishment that his people deserued, in confidence whereof y godly euer prayed, as Exo. 32. 12 Num. 14. 13.

8 But they rebelled against me, and would not heare me: for none cast away the abominations of e their eies, neither did they forsake the idoles of Egypt: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, & to accomplish my wrath against them in the midst of the land of Egypt.

e Which thing declareth the wickednesse of mans heart, which iudge Gods seruice by their eies & outward senses.

9 But I had respect to my f Name, that f God for his glorie sake.

it should not be polluted before the heathen, among whom they were, and in whose sight I made my selfe knowen vnto them in bringing them foorth of the land of Egypt.

10 Wherefore I caried them out of the land of Egypt, and brought them into the wildernesse.

11 And I gaue them my statutes, and declared my iudgements vnto them, * which if a man doe, he shal liue in them.

12 Moreouer I gaue them also my * Sabbaths to be a signe betweene me and them, that they might know that I am the Lorde, that sanctifie them.

13 But the house of Israel rebelled against me in the wildernesse: they walked not in my statutes, and they cast away my iudgements, which if a man doe, he shal liue in them, and my Sabbaths haue they greatly polluted: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them * in the wildernes to consume them,

14 But I had respect to my Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them out.

15 Yet neuertheless, I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wildernesse that I would not bring them into the land, which I had giuen them, flowing with milk and honie, which was pleasant aboue all lands, 16 Because they cast away my iudgemēts, and walked not in my statutes, but haue polluted my [h] Sabbaths: for their heart went after their idols.

17 Neuertheles, mine eie spared them, that that I would not destroy them, neither would I consume them in the wildernesse.

18 But I sayde vnto their children in the wildernes, Walke ye not in the ordinances of your [i] fathers, neither obserue their maners, nor defile your selues with their idoles.

19 I am the Lord your God: walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements and doe them, 20 And sanctifie my Sabbaths, and they shall be a signe betweene me and you, that yee may know that I am the Lord your God.

21 Notwithstanding the children rebelled against mee: they walked not in my statutes, nor kept my iudgements to do them, which if a man do, he shal liue in them, but they polluted my Sabbaths: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, & to accomplish my wrath against them in the wildernesse.

22 Neuertheless I withdrew mine hand and had respect to my Name that it should not be polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them foorth.

23 Yet I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wildernesse, that I would scatter them among the heathen, and disperse them through the countries, 24 Because they had not executed my iudgements, but had cast away my statutes, and had polluted my Sabbaths, and their eies were after [k] their fathers idols.

25 Wherefore I [l] gaue them also statutes that were not good, and iudgements wherein they should not liue.

26 And I polluted thē in their own [m] gifts, in that they caused to passe by the fire all that first openeth the wombe, that I might destroy them, to the end, that they might know that I am the Lord.

27 Therefore, Sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus saieth the Lord God, Yet in this your fathers haue blasphemed me, though they had before grieuously transgressed against me.

28 [n] For when I had brought them into the lande, for the which I lifted vp mine hand to giue it to them, then they sawe euery high hill, and all the thicke trees, and they offered there their sacrifices, and there they presented their offering of prouocation: there also they made their sweet sauour, and powred out there their drinke offrings.

29 Then I said vnto them, What is the hie place whereunto yee goe? And the name thereof was called [o] Bamah vnto this day.

30 Wherefore, say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saieth the Lord God, Are yee not polluted † after the maner of your fathers? and commit yee not whoredome after their abominations?

31 For when you offer your gifts, & make your sonnes to passe thorow the fire, you pollute your selues with all your idoles vnto this day: shall I answere you when I am asked, O house of Israel? As I liue, saith the Lord God, [p] I will not answer you when I am asked.

32 Neither shal that be done that commeth into your mind: for ye say, We will bee as the heathen, and as the families of the countries, and serue wood, and [q] stone.

33 As I liue, saieth the Lord God, I will surely rule you with a mighty hand, and with a stretched out arme, & in my wrath powred out.

34 And wil bring you from the people, and will gather you out of the countries wherein ye are scattred, with a mighty hand, and with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out, 35 And I will bring you into the [r] wildernes of the people, and there will I plead with you face to face.

36 Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wildernesse of the land of Egypt, so will I plead with you, saieth the Lord God.

37 And I will cause you to passe vnder the rod, and wil bring you into the bond of the couenant.

38 And

g Who might thereby take an occasion to blaspheme my name, and to accuse me of lacke of ability, or else that I had sought meanes to destroy them more commodiously.
h That is, my true religion which I had commanded them, and gaue themselues to serue me according to their owne fantasies.
i Whereby the holy Ghost confuteth them that say that they will folow the religion and example of their fathers, and not measure their doings by Gods word, whether they be approoueable thereby or no.
k Meaning, that they set their delight vpon them.
l Because they would not obey my lawes, I gaue them vp to themselues, that they should obey their owne fantasies, as verl. 39 Rom.1.21,24.
m I condemne those things, and counted them as abominable which they thought had his excellent, and to haue declared moll zeale, Luke 16.15. for that which God required as moll excellent, that gaue they to their idols.
n Not onely in the wilderners, when I brought them out of Egypt, but euer I placed them in this land: which declareth how prompt mans heart is to idolatry, seeing that by no admonitions he can be wonnen backe.
o Which signifieth an hie place, declaring that they haued thē selues of their idolatry, & were not ashamed thereof, though God had commanded them expressly, they should haue no altar lifted vp on hie by staires, Exo. 20.26.
† Ebr. in the way.
p He sheweth, that the ingratitude of the people deserueth, that God should cut them off, and that they should not haue y comfort of his worde.
q He declareth that man of nature is wholy enemy vnto God and to his owne saluation, and therefore God calleth him to the right way, partly by chastising, but chiefly by his mercy in forgiuing his rebellion and wickednesse.
r I wil bring you amongst strange nations, as into a wildernesse, and there wil visit you, & call you to repentance, and then bring the godly home againe, Isa.65.9.

38 And I will [f] chuſe out from among you the rebels, and them that tranſgreſſe against me: I will bring them out of the land where they dwell, and they ſhall not enter into the land of Iſrael, and you ſhall knowe that I am the Lord.

39 As for you, O houſe of Iſrael, thus ſaith the Lord God, [t] Goe you, and ſerue euery one his idole, ſeeing that ye will not obey me, and pollute mine holy Name no more with your gifts and with your idoles.

40 For in mine holy mountaine, euen in the hie mountaine of Iſrael, ſaith ỹ Lord God, there ſhall all the houſe of Iſrael, and all in the land, ſerue me: there will I accept thē, & there wil I require your offrings, & the firſt fruits of your oblations, with all your holy things.

41 I wil accept your ſweete ſauour, when I bring you from the people, and gather you out of the countreis, wherein ye haue bin ſcattered, that I may be ſanctified in you before the heathen.

42 And ye ſhall know, that I am the Lord, when I ſhall bring you into the land of Iſrael, into the land, for the which I lifted vp mine hand to giue it to your fathers.

43 And there ſhall yee remember your wayes, and all your workes, wherein ye haue beene defiled, and ye [u] ſhall iudge your ſelues worthy to be cut off, for all your euils, that ye haue committed.

44 And ye ſhal know, that I am the Lord, when I haue reſpect vnto you for my Names ſake, and not after your wicked wayes, nor according to your corrupt workes, O ye houſe of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord God.

45 ¶ Moreouer, the word of the Lorde came vnto me, ſaying,

46 Sonne of man, ſet thy face toward the way of Teman, and drop thy word toward [x] the South, and prophecie toward the forreſt of the field of the South,

47 And ſay to the forreſt of the South, Heare the word of the Lord: thus ſaith ỹ Lord God, Behold, I will kindle a fire in thee, and it ſhall deuoure all the [y] greene wood in thee, and all the drie wood: the continuall flame ſhall not be quenched: and euery face from the South to the North ſhall be burnt therein.

48 And all fleſh ſhall ſee, that I the Lord haue kindled it, and it ſhall not be quenched. Then ſaide I, Ah Lord God, they ſay of me, Doeth not he ſpeake [z] parables.

CHAP. XXI.

3 He threatneth the ſword, and deſtruction to Ieruſalem. 25 He ſheweth the fall of king Zedekiah. 28 He is commanded to prophecie the deſtruction of the childrē of Ammon. 30 The Lord threatneth to deſtroy Nebuchad. nezzar.

THe word of the Lord came to me againe, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, ſet thy face toward Ieruſalem, [a] and drop thy word toward the holy places, and prophecie againſt the land of Iſrael,

3 And ſay to ỹ land of Iſrael, Thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I come againſt thee, & will draw my ſword out of his sheath, & cut off from thee both the [b] righteous and the wicked.

4 Seeing then that I will cut off from thee both the righteous and wicked, therefore ſhall my ſworde goe out of his sheath, againſt all fleſh from the South to the [c] North,

5 That all fleſh may know that I ỹ Lord haue drawen my ſword out of his sheath, and it ſhall not returne any more.

6 Mourne therefore, thou ſonne of man, as in the paine of thy [d] reines, and mourne bitterly before them.

7 And if they ſay vnto thee, Wherefore mourneſt thou? then anſwere, Becauſe [e] of the bruit: for it commeth, and euery heart ſhall melt, and all handes ſhall be weake, and all mindes ſhall faint, and all knees ſhall fall away as water: beholde, it commeth, and ſhall be done, ſaith the Lord God.

8 ¶ Againe, the word of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying, 9 Sonne of man, prophecie, & ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God, ſay, A ſword, a ſword both ſharpe and fourbiſhed.

10 It is ſharpened to make a ſore ſlaughter, and it is fourbiſhed that it may [f] glitter: howe ſhall we reioyce? for it contemneth the [g] rod of my ſonne, as [h] all other trees.

11 And he hath giuen it to be fourbiſhed, that he may handle it: this ſword is ſharpe, and is fourbiſhed, that he may giue it into the hand of the [i] ſlayer.

12 Crie, and houle, ſonne of man: for this ſhall come to my people, and it ſhall come vnto all the princes of Iſrael: the terrors of the ſword ſhall be vpon my people: [k] ſmite therefore vpon thy thigh.

13 For it is a triall, [l] and what ſhall this be, if the ſword contemne euen the rodde? It ſhalbe no more, ſaith the Lord God.

14 Thou therefore, ſonne of man, prophecie, and ſmite [m] hand to hand, and let the ſword be doubled: let the ſword that hath killed, returne the third time: it is the ſword of the great ſlaughter entring into their priuie chambers.

15 I haue brought the feare of the ſworde into al their gates to make their heart to faint, and to multiplie their ruines. Ah it is made bright, and it is drieſſed for the ſlaughter.

16 Get thee [n] alone: goe to the right hand, or get thy ſelfe to the left hand, whitherſoeuer thy face turneth.

17 I will alſo ſmite mine hands together, and [f] Signifying that he will not burne the corne with the chaffe, but chuſe out the wicked to punish them when he will ſpare his.

[t] This is ſpoken to the hypocrites.

[u] Your owne conſciences ſhall conuict you after that you haue felt my mercies.

[x] For Iudah ſtoode South from Babylon.

[y] Both ſtrong and weake in Ieruſalem.

[z] The people ſaid that the Prophet ſpake darkely: therefore he deſireth the Lord to giue them a plaine declaration hereof.

[a] Speake ſenſibly, that all may vnderſtand.

[b] That is, ſuch which ſeeme to haue an outward ſhewe of righteouſneſſe, by obſeruation of the ceremonies of the Lawe.

[c] Meaning, throughout all the land.

[d] As though thou were in extreme anguiſh.

[f] And to cauſe a feare.

[g] Meaning, the ſceptre: ſhewing, that he will not ſpare the king who ſhould be as the ſonne of God, and in his place.

[h] That is, the reſt of the people.

[i] To wit, into the armie of the Caldeans.

[k] Reade Ier. 31.19.

[l] Ezekiel moued with compaſſion, thus complaineth, fearing the deſtruction of the kingdome which God had confirmed to Dauid, and his poſteritie by promiſe: which promiſe God performed, although here it ſeemed to mans eye that it ſhould vtterly perish.

[m] That is, encourage the ſworn.

[n] Prouide ſay thy ſelfe: for thou ſhalt ſee Gods plague of all parts on this countrey.

and

and will cause my wrath to cease. I the Lord haue said it.

18 ¶ The word of the Lorde came vnto me againe, saying,

19 Also thou sonne of man, appoint thee o two wayes, that the swoorde of the King of Babel may come: both twaine shall come out of one land, and chuse a place, and chuse it in the corner of the way of the citie.

20 Appoint a way, that the swoorde may come to Rabbath of the Ammonites, and p to Iudah in Ierusalem the strong citie.

21 And the King of Babel stoode at the q parting of the way, at the head of the two wayes, consulting by diuination, and made his arrowes bright: he consulted with idoles, and looked in r the liuer.

22 At his right hand was the diuination for Ierusalem to appoint captaines, to open their mouth in the slaughter, and to lift vp their voyce with shouting, to lay engins of warre against the gates, to cast a mount, and to build a fortresse.

23 And it shall be vnto them s as a false diuination in their sight for the othes made vnto them: t but he will call to remembrance their iniquitie, to the intent they shoulde be taken.

24 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because ye haue made your iniquitie to be remembred, in discouering your rebellion, that in all your workes your sinnes might appeare: because, I say, that ye are come to remembrance, ye shalbe taken with the hand.

25 And thou u prince of Israel polluted, and wicked, whose day is come, when iniquity shall haue an end, 26 Thus saith the Lord God, I will take away the x diademe, and take off the crowne: this shalbe no more the same: I will exalt the humble, and will abase him that is hie.

27 I will ouerturne, ouerturne, ouerturne it, and it shalbe no more vntill he y come, whose right it is, and I will giue it him.

28 ¶ And thou, sonne of man, prophesie, and say, Thus saith the Lord God to the children of Ammon, and to their blasphemie: say thou, I say, The swoord, the swoord is drawen forth, and fourbished to the slaughter, to consume, because of the glittering:

29 Whiles they see z vanitie vnto thee, and prophesied a lie vnto thee to bring thee vpon the neckes of the wicked that are slaine, whose day is come when their iniquitie shall haue an end.

30 Shall I cause it to returne into his sheath? I will iudge thee in the place where thou wast created, euen in the land of thine habitation.

31 And I will powre out mine indignation vpon thee, and will blowe against thee in the fire of my wrath, and deliuer thee into the hand of beastly men, and skilfull to destroy.

32 Thou shalt be in the fire to be deuoured: thy blood shall be in the mids of the land, and thou shalt be no more remembred: for I the Lord haue spoken it.

o This was spoken, because that whē Nebuchadnezzar came against Iudah, his purpose was also to go against the Ammonites: but doubting in the way, which enterpryse to vndertake first, he consulted with his southsayers, and so went against Iudah.

p That is, to the tribe of Iudah that kept themselues in Ierusalem.

q To knowe whether he should goe against the Ammonites, or them of Ierusalem.

r He vseth coniuring & sorcerie.

s Because there was a league betweene the Iewes & the Babylonians, they of Ierusalem shall thinke nothing lesse then that this thing should come to passe.

t That is, Nebuchad-nezzar will remember the rebellion of Zedekiah and so come vpon them.

u Meaning, Zedekiah, who practised with the Egyptiās to make himselfe hie, and able to resist the Babylonians.

x Some referre this to the Priests attire: for Iehozadek the Priest went into captiuitie with the King.

y That is, vnto the comming of Messiah: for though the Iewes had some signe of gouernement afterward vnder the Persians, Grekes & Romanes, yet this restitution was not till Christes comming, and at length should be accomplished, as was promised, Gen. 49. 10.

z Though the Iewes & Ammonites would not beleue that thou, to wit, the swoord, shouldest come vpon them, and said that the prophets, which threatned, spake lies, yet thou shalt as surely come, as though thou werest already vpon their neckes.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Ierusalem is reproued for cruelnie. 25 Of the wicked doctrine of the false prophets and priestes, and of their insatiable couetousnesse. 27 The tyrannie of rulers. 29 The wickednesse of the people.

MOreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Nowe thou sonne of man, wilt thou a iudge, wilt thou iudge this bloudie citie? wilt thou shew her all her abominations?

3 Then say, Thus saith the Lord God, The citie sheddeth blood in the middes of it, that her b time may come, and maketh idoles c against her selfe to pollute her selfe.

4 Thou hast offended in thy blood, that thou hast shed, & hast polluted thy selfe in thine idoles, which thou hast made, and thou hast caused thy dayes to drawe neere, and art come vnto thy terme: therefore haue I made thee a reproch to the heathen, and a mocking to all countreis.

5 Those that be neere, and those that be farre from thee, shall mocke thee, which art vile in d name and sore in affliction.

6 Behold, the princes of Israel euery one in thee was readie to his power, to shed blood.

7 In thee haue they despised father and mother in the middes of thee e haue they oppressed the stranger: in thee haue they vexed the fatherlesse and the widowe.

8 Thou hast despised mine holy things, and hast polluted my Sabbaths.

9 In thee are men that carry tales to shed blood: in thee are they that eate vpon the mountaines: in the mids of thee they commit abomination.

10 * In thee haue they discouered their fathers shame: in thee haue they vexed her that was polluted in her floures.

11 And euery one * hath committed abomination with his neighbours wife, and euery one hath wickedly defiled his daughter in law, and in thee hath euery man forced his owne sister, euen his fathers daughter.

12 In thee haue they taken giftes to shed blood: thou hast taken vsurie and the increase, and thou hast defrauded thy neighbours by extortion, and hast forgotten me, saith the Lord God.

13 Behold, therefore I haue f smitten mine hands vpon thy couetousnesse, that thou hast vsed, and vpon the blood, which hath beene in the mids of thee.

a Art thou ready to execute thy charge, which I commit vnto thee against Ierusalem, that murdereth the Prophets, and them that are godly?

b That is, the time of her destruction.

c To her owne vndoing.

d Whose very name all men hate.

e He meaneth here by that there was no kind of wickednesse which was not committed in Ierusalem, and therefore the plagues of God should speedily come vpon her.

*Leuit. 20, 11, 18.

*Iere. 5. 8.

f In token of my wrath and vengeance.

14 Can

14 Can thine heart endure, or can thine handes bee strong, in the dayes that I shall haue to do with thee? I the Lord haue spoken it, and will doe it.

g That is, able to defend thy selfe.

15 And I will scatter thee among the heathen, and disperse thee in the countries, & will cause thy [h] filthinesse to cease from thee.

h I will thus take away the occasion of thy wickednes.

16 And thou shalt take thine [i] inheritance in thy selfe in the sight of the heathen, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

i Thou shalt be no more the inheritance of the Lord, but forsaken.

17 ¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, the house of Israel is vnto me as [k] drosse: all they are braſſe, and tin, and yron, and leade in the mids of the furnace: they are euen the drosse of siluer.

k Which before was moſt precious.

19 Therefore, thus saith the Lorde God, Because ye are all as drosse, beholde, therefore I will gather you in the mids of Ieruſalem.

20 As they gather siluer and braſſe, and yron, and leade, and tinne into the middes of the furnace, to blowe the fire vpon it to melt it, so will I gather you in mine anger and in my wrath, and will put you there [l] and melt you.

l Meaning, thereby, that the godly should be tried & the wicked deſtroyed.

21 I will gather you, I say, and blowe the fire of my wrath vpon you, and you shalbe melted in the mids thereof.

22 As siluer is melted in the middest of the furnace, so shall ye be melted in the mids thereof, and yee shall knowe, that I the Lord haue powred out my wrath vpon you.

23 And the word of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

24 Sonne of man, say vnto her, Thou art the land, that is vncleane, [m] and not rained vpon in the day of wrath.

m Thou art like a barren lande which the Lord plagueth with drought.

25 There is a conſpiracie [n] of her prophets in the mids thereof like a roaring lion, rauening the pray: they haue deuoured soules: they haue taken the riches and precious things: they haue made her many widows in the mids thereof.

n The falſe prophets haue conſpired together to make their doctrine more probable.

26 Her Priests haue broken my Lawe, and haue defiled mine holy things: they haue put no difference betweene the holy and prophane, neither diſcerned betweene the vncleane and the cleane, and haue hid their [o] eyes from my Sabbaths, and I am prophaned among them.

o They haue neglected my ſeruice.

27 Her princes in the * mids thereof are like wolues, rauening the pray to shed blood, and to deſtroy soules for their owne couetous lucre.

* Mich. 3. 11. Zeph. 3. 3.

28 And her [p] prophets haue dawbed them with vntempered morter, seeing vanities, and diuining lies vnto thē, saying, Thus saieth the Lord God, when the Lord had not spoken.

p They which should haue reproued them, flattered them in their vices & couered their doings with lies, Chap. 13. 10.

29 The people of the lande haue violently oppreſſed by spoyling and robbing, and haue vexed the poore and the needie: yea, they haue oppreſſed the ſtranger against right.

30 And I sought for a man among them, that should [q] make vp the hedge, and ſtand in the gappe before me for the land, that I should not deſtroy it, but I found none.

q Which would shew himselfe zealous in my cause by reſiſting vice. Iſa. 59. 16. and 63. 5. and also pray vnto me to withhold my plagues, Pſal. 106. 23.

31 Therefore haue I powred out mine indignation vpon them, and conſumed them with the fire of my wrath: their owne wayes haue I rendred vpon their heads, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXIII.

Of the idolatrie of Samaria and Ieruſalem, vnder the names of Aholah and Aholibah.

THe word of the Lorde came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, there were two women, the daughters of one [a] mother.

a Meaning, Israel and Iudah, which came both out of one family.

3 And they committed fornication [b] in Egypt, they cōmitted fornication in their youth: there were their breasts preſſed, and there they bruiſed the teates of their virginitie.

b They became idolaters after the maner of the Egyptians.

4 And the names of [c] them were Aholah the elder, & Aholibah her ſister: and they were mine, and they bare sonnes and daughters: thus were their names. Samaria is Aholah, and Ieruſalem Aholibah, c Aholah ſignifieth a mantion or dwelling in her ſelfe, meaning Samaria which was the royall cittie of Israel: and Aholibah ſignifieth my mantion in her, whereby is ment Ieruſalem where Gods Temple was.

5 And Aholah plaied the harlot † when [d] she was mine, & she was set on fire with her louers, to wit, with the Aſſyrians her neighbours,

d When the Iſraelites were named the people of God, they became idolaters, and forſooke God, and put their truſt in the Aſſyrians.

6 Which were clothed with blewe silke, both captaines and princes: they were all pleasant yong men, and horsemen riding vpon horses.

7 Thus thee committed her whoredome with them, euen with all them that were the chosen men of Asshur, and with all on whom shee doted, and defiled her selfe with all their idoles.

8 Neither left shee her fornications learned of the Egyptians: for in her youth they [e] lay with her, and they bruiſed the breasts of her virginitie, and powred their whoredome vpon her.

e The holy Ghost vſeth these termes which seeme ſtrange to chaſte eares, to cauſe this wicked vice of idolatrie ſo to be abhorred that vnneth any should abide to heare the name thereof mentioned.

9 Wherefore I deliuered her into the hands of her louers, euen into the hands of the Aſſyrians, vpon whom she doted.

10 These diſcouered her shame: they tooke away her sonnes and her daughters, and slewe her with the ſworde, and shee had an euill name among women: for [f] they had executed iudgement vpon her.

f Meaning, the Aſſyrians.

11 And when her ſiſter Aholibah saw this, she marred her selfe with inordinate loue, more then she, and with her fornications more then her ſiſter with her fornications.

12 Shee doted vpon the Aſſyrians her neighbours, both captains and princes clothed with diuers ſutes, horsemen riding vpon horſes: they were all pleasant yong men.

13 Then

13 Then I saw that she was defiled, and that they were both after one sort.

14 And that thee increased her fornications: for when she saw men spainted vpon the wall, the images of the Caldeans paintedwith vermillion,

15 And girded with girdles vpon their loynes, and with died attire vpon their heads (looking all like princes after the maner of the Babylonians in Caldea, the land of their nativitie)

16 Assoone, I say, as she saw them, she doted vpon them, and sent messengers vnto them into Caldea.

17 Nowe when the Babylonians came to her into the bedde of loue, they defiled her with their fornication, and shee was polluted with them, and her lust departed from them.

18 So she discouered her fornication, and disclosed her shame: then mine heart forsooke her, like as mine heart had forsaken her sister.

19 Yet she increased her whoredom more, and called to remembraunce the dayes of her youth, wherein she had plaied the harlot in the land of Egypt.

20 For shee doted vpon their seruaunts whose members are as the members of asses, and whose issue is like the issue of horses.

21 Thou calledst to remembraunce the wickednesse of thy youth, when thy teats were hurted by the Egyptians: therefore the paps of thy youth are thus.

† 22 Therefore, O Aholibah, thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will raise vp thy louers against thee, from whom thine heart is departed, and I will bring them against thee on euery side, 23 To wit, the Babylonians, and all the Caldeans, [h] Peked, and Shoah, and Koa, and all the Assyrians with them: they were all pleasant yong men, captaines and princes: all they were valiant and renoumed, riding vpon horses.

24 Euen these shal come against thee with charets, wagons, and wheeles, and with a multitude of people, which shall set against thee, buckler and shield, and helmet rounde about: and † I will leaue the punishment vnto them, and they shall iudge thee according to their ‖ iudgements.

25 And I will lay mine indignation vpon thee, and they shall deale cruelly with thee: they shall cut off thy [i] nose and thine eares, and thy remnant shall fall by the swoorde: they shall carie away thy sonnes and thy daughters, and thy residue shalbe deuoured by the fire.

26 They shall also strippe thee out of thy clothes, and take away thy faire iewels.

27 Thus will I make thy wickednesse to cease from thee and thy fornication out of the land of Egypt: so that thou shalt not lift vp thine eyes vnto them, nor remember Egypt any more.

28 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will deliuer thee into the hand of thē, whom thou hatest: euen into the hands of them from whom thine heart is departed.

29 And they shall handle thee despitefully, and shall take away all thy [k] labour, and shall leaue thee naked and bare, and the shame of thy fornications [l] shall be discouered, both thy wickednesse, and thy whoredome.

30 I will doe these things vnto thee, because thou hast gone a whoring after the heathen, and because thou art polluted with their idoles.

31 Thou hast walked in the way of thy sister: therefore will I giue her [m] cuppe into thine hand.

22 Thus saith the Lorde God, Thou shalt drinke of thy sisters cup, deepe and large: thou shalt be laughed to scorne and had in derision, because it containeth much.

33 Thou shalt bee filled with [n] drunkennesse and sorowe, euen with the cup of destruction, and desolation, with the cup of thy sister Samaria.

34 Thou shalt euen drinke it, and wring it out to the dregges, and thou shalt breake the sheards thereof, and teare thine owne breasts: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God:

35 Therefore thus saieth the Lorde God, Because thou hast forgotten mee, and cast mee behind thy backe: therfore thou shalt also beare thy wickednes and thy whoredome.

36 ¶ The Lord saide moreouer vnto me, Sonne of man, wilt thou iudge Aholah and Aholibah? and wilt thou declare to them their abominations?

37 For they haue plaied the whores, and blood is in their hands, and with their idoles haue they committed adulterie, and haue also caused their sonnes, whom they bare vnto me, to passe by the fire to be their [o] meate.

38 Moreouer, thus haue they done vnto me: they haue defiled my Sanctuarie in the same day, and haue prophaned my Sabbaths.

39 For when they had slaine their children to their idoles, they came the same day into my Sanctuary to defile it: and loe, thus haue they done in the mids of mine house.

40 And how much more is it that they sent for men to come from [p] farre vnto whome a messenger was sent, and loe, they came? for whome thou diddest wash thy selfe, and painedst thine eyes, and deckedst thee with ornaments,

41 And satest [q] vpon a costly bed, and a table

g This declareth þ no words are able sufficiently to expresse the rage of idolaters, and therefore the holy Ghost here compareth them to those which in their raging loue and filthie lusts dote vpon the images and paintings of them after whom they lust.

h These were the names of certaine princes and captaines vnder Nebuchad-nezzar.

† Ebr. I will giue iudgement before them.
‖ Or, lawes.

i They shall destroy thy princes and Priests with the rest of thy people.

k All the treasures and riches which thou hast gotten by labour.

l All the world shall see thy shamefull forsaking of God to serue idoles.

m I will execute the same iudgements and vengeance against thee, and that with greater seuerite.

n Meaning, that the afflictions should be so great that they should cause the to lose their senses, and reason.

o That is, to be sacrifices to their idoles, reade Chap. 16. 20.

p They sent into other countries to haue such as should teach the seruice of their idoles.

q He meaneth the altar, that was prepared for the idoles.

ble prepared before it, whereupon thou haſt ſet mine incenſe and mine oile.

42 And a voyce of a multitude being at eaſe, was with her: and with the men to make the company great were brought men of [r] Saba from the wilderneſſe, which put bracelets vpon their hands, and beautifull crownes vpon their heads.

43 Then I ſaid vnto her, that was olde in adulteries, Now ſhall ſhe and her fornications come to an end.

44 And they went in vnto her as they goe to a common harlot: ſo went they to Aholah and Aholibah the wicked women.

45 And the righteous men they ſhall iudge them, after the maner of [ſ] harlots, and after the maner of murtherers: for they are harlots, and blood is in their hands.

46 Wherefore thus ſaith the Lord God, I will bring a multitude vpon them, & will giue them vnto the tumult, and to the ſpoile, 47 And the multitude ſhall ſtone them with ſtones, and cut them with their ſwordes: they ſhall ſlay their ſonnes, & their daughters, and burne vp their houſes with fire.

48 Thus will I cauſe wickednes to ceaſe out of the land, that all [t] women may be taught not to doe after your wickedneſſe.

49 And they ſhall lay your wickedneſſe vpon you, and ye ſhall beare the ſinnes of your idoles, and ye ſhall knowe that I am the Lord God.

CHAP. XXIIII.

He ſheweth the deſtruction of Ieruſalem by a parable of a ſeething pot. 16 The parable of Ezekiels wife being dead.

AGaine in the [a] ninth yere, in the tenth moneth, in the tenth day of the [b] moneth, came the word of the Lord vnto me, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, write thee the name of the day, euen of this ſame day: for the King of Babel ſet himſelfe againſt Ieruſalem this ſame day.

3 Therefore ſpeake a parable vnto the rebellious houſe, and ſay vnto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Prepare a [c] pot, prepare it, and alſo powre water into it.

4 Gather the [d] peeces thereof into it, euen euery good piece, as the thigh and the ſhoulder, and fill it with the chiefe bones.

5 Take one of the beſt ſheepe, and ‖ burne alſo the [e] bones vnder it, and make it boile well, and ſeeth the bones of it therein.

6 Becauſe the Lord God ſaith thus, Woe to the bloody citie, euen to the pot, [f] whoſe ſkumme is therein, and whoſe ſkumme is not gone out of it: bring it out [g] piece by piece: let no [h] lot fall vpon it.

7 For her blood is in the middes of her: ſhe ſet it vpon an high [i] rocke, and powred it not vpon the ground to couer it with duſt,

8 That it might cauſe wrath to ariſe and take vengeance: euen I haue ſet her blood vpon an hie rocke that it ſhould not be couered.

9 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, *Woe to the bloody citie, for I will make ‖ the burning great.

10 Heape on much wood: [k] kindle the fire, conſume the fleſh, and caſt in ſpice, and let the bones be burnt.

11 Then ſet it emptie vpon the coales thereof, that ‖ the braſſe of it may be hot, and may burne, and that the filthineſſe of it may be molten in it, and that the [ſ] kumme of it may be conſumed.

12 [l] She hath wearied her ſelfe with lies, and her great [ſ] kum went not out of her: therefore her [ſ] kum ſhall be conſumed with fire.

13 Thou remaineſt in thy filthineſſe and wickedneſſe: becauſe I would [m] haue purged thee, and thou waſt not purged, thou ſhalt not be purged from thy filthineſſe, till I haue cauſed my wrath to light vpon thee.

14 I the Lord haue ſpoken it: it ſhal come to paſſe, and I will doe it: I wil not goe backe, neither will I ſpare, neither will I repent: according to thy wayes, and according to thy workes ſhall [n] they iudge thee, ſaith the Lord God.

15 ¶ Alſo the word of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying, 16 Sonne of man, beholde, I take away from thee the [o] pleaſure of thine eyes with a plague: yet ſhalt thou neither mourne nor weepe, neither ſhall thy teares runne downe.

17 Ceaſe from ſighing: make no mourning for the dead, and binde the tire of thine head vpon thee, [p] and put on thy ſhooes vpon thy feete, and couer not thy lips, and eate [q] not the bread of men.

18 So I ſpake vnto the people in the morning, and at euen my wife died: and I did in [r] the morning, as I was commanded.

19 And the people ſaid vnto me, Wilt thou not tell vs what theſe things meane toward vs that thou doeſt ſo?

20 Then I anſwered them, The word of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying, 21 Speake vnto the houſe of Iſrael, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Beholde, I will [ſ] pollute my Sanctuarie, euen the [t] pride of your power, the pleaſure of your eyes, and your hearts deſire and your ſonnes, and your daughters whom ye haue left, ſhall fall by the ſword.

22 And ye ſhall doe as I haue done: ye ſhal not couer your lippes, neither ſhall ye eate the bread of men.

23 And your tire ſhalbe vpon your heads, and your ſhooes vpon your feete: ye ſhall not mourne

CHAP. XXV.

1 The word of the Lord against Ammon, which reioyced at the fall of Ierusalem. 8 Against Moab and Seir, Idumea, and the Philistims.

THe worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against the Ammonites, and prophecie against them,

3 And say vnto the Ammonites, Heare the worde of the Lord God, Thus saieth the Lord God, Because thou saydst, [a] Ha, ha, against my Sanctuarie, when it was polluted, and against the land of Israel, when it was desolate, and against the house of Iudah, when they went into captiuitie, a Because ye reioyced when the enemie destroyed my citie and Temple.

4 Behold, therefore I wil deliuer thee to the [b] men of the East for a possession, and they shall set their [c] palaces in thee, and make their dwellings in thee: they shall eate thy fruite, and they shall drinke thy milke.

b That is, to the Babylonians.
c They shall chase thee away, and take thy goodly houses to dwell in.

5 And I will make [d] Rabbah a dwelling place for camels, & the Ammonites a sheepecote, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

d Called also Philadelphia, which was the chiefe citie of the Ammonites, and full of conduits, 2. Sam. 12, 27.

6 For thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast clapped the hands, and stamped with the feete, and reioyced in heart with all thy despite against the land of Israel,

7 Behold, therefore I will stretch out mine hand vpon thee, and will deliuer thee to be spoyled of the heathen, and I will roote thee out from the people, and I wil cause thee to be destroyed out of the countreys, and I will destroy thee, and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord.

8 Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Moab and Seir doe say, Beholde, the house of Iudah is like vnto all the heathen, 9 Therefore, beholde, I wil open the side of Moab, euen of the cities [e] of his cities, I say, in his frontiers with the pleasant countrey, Bethiesimoth, Baal-meon, and Kariathaim.

e So that no power or strength should be able to resist the Babylonians.

10 I will call the men of the East against the Ammonites, and will giue them in possession, so that the Ammonites shal no more be remembred among the nations, 11 And I will execute iudgements vpon Moab, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

12 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Edom hath done euill by taking vengeance vpon the house of Iudah, and hath committed great offence, and reuenged himselfe vpon them, 13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Edom, and destroy man and beast out of it, and I will make it desolate from Teman, and they of Dedan shall fall by the sword.

14 And I will execute my vengeance vpon Edom by the hand of my people Israel, and they shall doe in Edom according to mine anger, and according to mine indignation, and they shall knowe my vengeance, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, Because the Philistims haue executed vengeance, and reuenged themselues with a despitefull heart, to destroy it for the old hatred, 16 Therefore thus saieth the Lord God, Behold, I will stretch out mine hand vpon the Philistims, and I wil cut off the [f] Cherethims, and destroy the remnant of the Sea coast.

f Which were certaine garisons of Philistims, whereby they oft times molested the Iewes, of the Cherethims Dauid also had a garde, 2. Sam. 8. 18.

17 And I will execute great vengeance vpon them with rebukes of mine indignation, and they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall lay my vengeance vpon them.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 He Prophecieth that Tyrus shall be ouerthrowen because it reioyced at the destruction of Ierusalem. 15 The wondring and astonishment of the merchants for the destruction of Tyrus.

AND in the [a] eleuenth yeere, in the first day of the moneth, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, a Either of the captiuitie of Ieconiah, or of the reigne of Zedekiah.

2 Sonne of man, because that Tyrus hath said against Ierusalem, Aha, the [b] gate of the people is broken: it is turned vnto me: for seeing she is desolate, I shall be [c] replenished, b That is, the famous citie Ierusalem, wherevnto all people resorted.

c My riches and fame shall increase: thus the wicked reioyce at their fall by whom they may haue any profite or aduantage.

3 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I come against thee, O Tyrus, and I will bring vp many nations against thee, as the Sea mounteth vp with his waues.

4 And they shal destroy the walles of Tyrus, and breake downe her towres: I will also scrape her dust from her, and make her like the top of a rocke.

5 Thou shalt be for the spreading of nets in the middes of the Sea: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God, and it shall be a spoile to the nations.

6 And

6 And her [d] daughters which are in the field, shall be slaine by the sword, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

d The townes that belonged vnto her.

7 For thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I wil bring vpon Tyrus Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, a King of Kings from the North, with horses and with charets, and with horsemen, with a multitude and much people.

8 Hee shall slay with the sword thy daughters in the fielde, & hee shall make a fort against thee, and cast a mount against thee, and lift vp the buckler against thee.

9 He shall set engins of warre before him against thy walles, & with his weapons breake downe thy towres.

10 The dust of his horses shall couer thee, for their multitude: thy walles shal shake at the noise of the horsemen, and of the wheeles, and of the charets, when hee shall enter into thy gates as into the entrie of a citie that is broken downe.

11 With the hooues of his horses shall hee tread downe all thy streetes: hee shall slay thy people by the sworde, and the [e] pillars of thy strength shall fall downe to the ground.

e For Tyrus was much built by art, and by labour of men was wonne out of the sea. Some referre this vnto the images of the noble men which they had erected vp for their glory and renowme. *Iere.7.34.

12 And they shall robbe thy riches, and spoyle thy marchandise, and they shall breake downe thy walles, and destroy thy pleasant houses, and they shall cast thy stones and thy timber, and thy dust into the mids of the water.

13 * Thus will I cause the sounde of thy songs to cease, and the sound of thine harpes shall be no more heard.

14 I wil lay thee like the toppe of a rocke: [f] thou shalt be for a spreading of nets: thou shalt be built no more: for I the Lord haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

f I will make thee so bare that thou shalt haue nothing to couer thee.

15 Thus saith the Lorde God to Tyrus, Shal not the yles tremble at the sound of thy fal: and at the cry of the wounded, when they shall be slaine and murthered in the mids of thee?

16 Then all the princes of the [g] sea shall come downe from their thrones: they shall lay away their robes, & put off their broydered garments, and shall clothe themselues with astonishment: they shal sit vpon the ground, and be astonied at euery moment, and bee amased at thee.

g The gouernours and rulers of other countreys that dwel by the sea: whereby he signifieth that her destruction should be so horrible, that al the world should heare thereof and be afraid.

17 And they shal take vp a lamentation for thee, and say to thee, How art thou destroyed, that wast inhabited [h] of the sea men, the renowmed citie which was strong in the sea both she and her inhabitants, which cause their feare to be on all that haunt therein!

h Meaning, marchants which by their trafficque did enrich her wonderfully and increase her power.

18 Now shall the yles be astonished in the day of thy fall: yea, the yles that are in the sea, shall be troubled at thy departure.

19 For thus saith the Lord God, When I shal make thee a desolate citie, like the cities that are not inhabited, and when I shall bring the deepe vpon thee, & great waters shal couer thee,

20 When I shall cast thee downe with them that descend into the pit, with the people [i] of olde time, and shall set thee in the low parts of the earth, like the olde ruines, with them, I say, which goe downe to the pit, so that thou shalt not be inhabited, and I shall shew my glorie in the land of the [k] liuing,

The prophet bewaileth the desolatiō of Tyrus, shewing what were the riches, power, and authoritie thereof in time past.

THe worde of the Lorde came againe vnto me, saying,

10 They of Persia, and of Lud and of Phut were in thine armie: thy men of warre they hanged the shielde and helmet in thee: they set forth thy beautie.

18 They of Damascus were thy marchants in the multitude of thy wares, for the multitude of all riches, as in the wine of Helbon and white wooll.

19 They of Dan also and of Iauan, going to and fro, occupied in thy faires: yron worke, cassia and calamus were among thy marchandise.

20 They of Dedan were thy marchants in precious clothes for the charets.

21 They of Arabia, and all the princes of Kedar ‖ occupied with thee, in lambes, and rammes and goates: in these were they thy marchants.

22 The marchants of Sheba, and Raamah were thy marchants: they occupied in thy faires with the chiefe of all spices, and with all precious stones and golde.

23 They of Haran and Canneh and Eden, the marchants of Sheba, Asshur and Chilmad were thy marchants.

24 These were thy marchants in all sorts of things, in raiment of blewe silke, and broyded worke, and in coffers for the rich apparell, which were bounde with cordes, chaines also were among thy marchandise.

25 The Shippes of Tarshish ‖ were thy chiefe in thy marchandise, and thou wast replenished and made very glorious in the mids of the sea.

28 The [m] suburbes shall shake at the sound of the cry of thy pilotes.

29 And all that handle the oare, the mariners and all the pilotes of the sea shall come downe from their ships, and shall stande vpon the land,

30 And shall cause their voice to bee heard against thee, and shall cry bitterly, and shall cast dust vpon their heads, and wallow themselues in the ashes.

31 They shall plucke off their haire for thee and girde them with a sackcloth, and they shall weepe for thee with sorowe of heart and bitter mourning.

32 And in their mourning, they shall take vp a lamentation for thee, saying, What citie is like Tyrus, so destroyed in the mids of the sea!

33 When thy wares went foorth of the seas, thou filledst many people, and thou didst enrich the Kings of the earth with the multitude of thy riches and of thy marchandise.

34 When thou shalt be broken by the seas in the depths of the waters, thy marchandise and all thy multitude, which was in the mids of thee, shall fall.

35 All the inhabitants of the Iles shall be astonished at thee, and all their Kings shall bee sore afraid and troubled in their countenance.

36 The marchants among the people shall hisse at thee: thou shalt be a terror, and neuer shalt be [n] any more.

He prophecieth againſt Pharaoh and Egypt. 13 The Lord promiſeth that he will reſtore Egypt after fourtie yeres. 18 Egypt is the reward of King Nebuchad-nezzar for the labour, which he tooke againſt Tyrus.

IN the [a] tenth yeere, and in the tenth moneth in the twelfth day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying, 2 Sonne of man, ſet thy face againſt Pharaoh the king of Egypt, and prophecie againſt him, and againſt all Egypt.

3 Speake, and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Beholde, I come againſt thee, Pharaoh king of Egypt, the great [b] Dragon, that lieth in the middes of his riuers, which hath ſaide, The riuer is mine, and I haue made it for my ſelfe.

4 But I wil put [c] hookes in thy chawes, and I will cauſe the fiſh of thy riuers to sticke vnto thy ſcales, and I will draw thee out of the middes of thy riuers, and all the fiſh of thy riuers ſhall sticke vnto thy ſcales.

5 And I wil leaue thee in the wildernes, both thee and all the fiſh of thy riuers: thou ſhalt fall vpon the open fielde: thou ſhalt not be brought together, nor gathered: for I haue giuen thee for meate to the beaſtes of the field, and to the foules of the heauen.

6 And all the inhabitants of Egypt ſhall knowe that I am the Lord, becauſe they haue bene a ſtaffe of [d] reede to the houſe of Iſrael.

10 Beholde, therefore I come vpon thee, and vpon thy riuers, and I will make the land of Egypt vtterly waste and desolate from the towre of Seueneh, euen vnto the borders of the †blacke Moores.

11 No foote of man shall passe by it, nor foote of beast shall passe by it, neither shall it be inhabited fourtie yeeres.

12 And I will make the land of Egypt desolate in the middes of the countreys, that are desolate, and her cities shall be desolate among the cities that are desolate, for fourtie yeeres: and I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countreis.

*Iere.46.26.

13 Yet thus saith the Lord God, *At the end of fourtie yeeres wil I gather the Egyptians from ỹ people, where they were scattered.

14 And I will bring againe the captiuitie of Egypt, and will cause them to returne into the land of Pathros, into the land of their habitation, and they shall be there a [g] small kingdome.

15 It shalbe the smallest of the kingdomes, neither shall it exalt it selfe any more aboue the nations: for I will diminish them, that they shall no more rule the nations.

16 And it shall be no more the confidence of the house of Israel, to bring their [h] iniquitie to remembrance by looking after them, so shall they knowe, that I am the Lord God.

17 ¶ In the [i] seuen and twentieth yeere also in the first moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel caused his armie to serue a great [k] seruice against Tyrus: euery head was made balde, and euery shoulder was made bare: yet had he no wages, [l] nor his armie for Tyrus, for the seruice that he serued against it.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, Beholde, I will giue the land of Egypt vnto Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel, and he shall take her multitude, and spoile her spoile, and take her pray, and it shall be the wages for his armie.

20 I haue giuen him the land of Egypt for his labour, that he serued ‖ against it, because they wrought ‖ for me, saith the Lord God.

21 In that day wil I cause the horne of the house of Israel to growe, and I will giue thee an open mouth in the middes of them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

[c] When they felt their hurt, they would stay no more vpon thee, but stood vpon their feete and put their trust in others.

CHAP. XXX.

The destruction of Egypt and the cities thereof.

THe word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man prophecie, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Howle and crie, Woe be vnto this day.

3 For the day is neere, and the day of the Lord is at hand, a cloudie day, and it shall be the time of the heathen.

4 And the sword shal come vpon Egypt, and feare shall be in Ethiopia, when the slaine shall fall in Egypt, when they shall take away her multitude, and when her foundations shall be broken downe.

5 [a] Ethiopia and Phut, and Lud, and all the common people, and Cub, and the men of the land, that is in league, shall fall with them by the sword.

[a] By Phut and Lud are meant Aphrica and Libya.

6 Thus saith the Lord, They also that maintaine Egypt, shall fall, and the pride of her power shall come downe: from the tower of [b] Seueneh shall they fall by the sword, saith the Lord God.

[b] Which was a strong citie of Egypt, Chap. 29.10.

7 And they shalbe desolate in the mids of the countreys that are desolate, and her cities shalbe in the mids of the cities that are wasted.

8 And they shal know that I am ỹ Lord, when I haue set a fire in Egypt, and when all her helpers shall be destroyed.

9 In that day shall there messengers goe forth fromme in shippes, to make the careless Moores afraid, and feare shall come vpon them, as in the day of Egypt: for loe, it commeth.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also make the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel.

11 For he and his people with him, euen the terrible nations shall be brought to destroy the land: and they shall drawe their swords against Egypt, and fill the land with the slaine.

12 And I wil make the riuers dry, and sell the land into the handes of the wicked, and I will make the land waste, and all that therein is by the hands of strangers: I the Lord haue spoken it.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also destroy the idoles, and I will cause their idoles to cease out of ‖Noph, and there shalbe no more a prince of the land of Egypt, and I will send a feare in the land of Egypt.

‖Or, Memphis, or Alkaira.

14 And I wil make Pathros desolate, and will set fire in ‖Zoan, and I wil execute iudgement in No.

c Meaning, that there shall be great sorow and affliction. d That is, the strength & force.

18 At Tehaphnehes the day c shal restraine his light, when I shal breake there the d barres of Egypt: and when the pompe of her power shal cease in her, a cloude shall couer her, and her daughters shal goe into captiuitie.

19 Thus wil I execute iudgements in Egypt, and they shal know that I am the Lord.

20 ¶ And in the e eleuenth yeere, in the first moneth, and in the seuenth day of the moneth, the worde of the Lorde came vnto mee, saying, 21 Sonne of man, f I haue broken the arme of Pharaoh King of Egypt: and loe, it shall not be bound vp to be healed, neither shall they put a roule to binde it, & so make it strong, to holde the sworde.

g His force, and power.

22 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against Pharaoh King of Egypt, and wil breake g his arme, that was strong, but is broken, and I will cause the sworde to fall out of his hand.

23 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countries.

24 And I will strengthen the arme of the King of Babel, and put my sworde in his hand, but I wil breake Pharaohs armes, and he shal cast out sighings, as the sighings of him, that is wounded before him.

h Whereby we see that tyrants haue no power of themselues, neither can doe any more harme then God appointeth, and when he wil they must cease.

25 But I will strengthen the armes of the king of Babel, and the armes of Pharaoh shall fall downe, and they shal knowe that I am the Lorde h when I shall put my sworde into the hand of the King of Babel, and he shal stretch it out vpon the land of Egypt.

26 And I wil scatter the Egyptians among the nations, & disperse them among the countryes, and they shal know, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXI.

2 A comparison of the prosperitie of Pharaoh with the prosperitie of the Assyrians. 10 He propheseth alike destruction to them both.

a Of Zedekiahs reigne or of Ieconiahs captiuitie.

AND in the a eleuenth yeere, in the thirde moneth, and in the first day of the moneth the word of ỹ Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, speake vnto Pharaoh King of Egypt, and to his multitude, Whom art thou b like in thy greatnesse?

b Meaning, that he was not like in strength to the king of the Assyrians, whom the Babylonians ouercame.

3 Beholde, Ashur was like a cedar in Lebanon with faire branches, and with thicke shadowing boughes, and shot vp very hie, and his toppe was among the thicke boughes.

4 The waters nourished him, & the deepe exalted him on hie with her riuers running round about his plants, and sent out her c little riuers vnto all the trees of the ‖ fielde.

c Many other nations were vnder their dominion. ‖Or, countrey.

5 Therefore his height was exalted aboue all the trees of the fielde, and his boughes were multiplied, and his branches were long, because of the multitude of the waters, which the deepe sent out.

6 All the foules of the heauen made their nests in his boughes, and vnder his branches did all the beasts of the fielde bring foorth their young, and vnder his shadow dwelt all mightie nations.

7 Thus was hee faire in his greatnes, and in the length of his branches: for his roote was neere great waters.

d Signifying, that there was no greater power in the world then his was.

8 The cedars in the garden d of God could not hide him: no firre tree was like his branches, and the chessenut trees were not like his boughes: all the trees in the garden of God were not like vnto him in his beautie.

9 I made him faire by the multitude of his branches: so that all the trees of Eden, that were in the garden of God, enuied him.

‖Or, thou wast lift vp.

10 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, Because ‖ he is lift vp on high, and hath shot vp his toppe among the thicke boughes, and his heart is lift vp in his height.

e That is of Nebuchad-nezzar, who afterward was the Monarche and onely ruler of world.

11 I haue therefore deliuered him into the hands of the e mightiest among the heathen: he shall handle him, for I haue cast him away for his wickednes.

12 And the strangers haue destroyed him, euen the terrible nations, and they haue left him vpon the mountaines, and in all the valleis his branches are fallen, and his boughes are f broken by all the riuers of the land: and all the people of the earth are departed from his shadow, and haue forsaken him.

f Hereby is signified the destruction of the power of the Assyrians by the Babylonians.

13 Upon his ruine shal all the foules of the heauen remaine, and all the beastes of the fielde shalbe vpon his branches.

14 So that none of all the trees by the waters shalbe exalted by their height, neither shall shoote vp their top among the thicke boughes neither shal their leaues stand vp in their height which drinke so much water: for they are al deliuered vnto death in the nether partes of the earth in the mids of the children of men among them that go downe to the pit.

g The deepe waters that caused him to mourne (meaning, his great abundance & pompe) shall now lament as though they were couered with sackcloth.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when he went downe to hell, I caused them to mourne, and I s couered the deepe for him, and I did restraine the floods thereof, and the great waters were stayed: I caused Lebanon to mourne for him, and all the trees of the fielde fainted.

16 I made the nations to shake at the sound of his fall, when I cast him downe to hell, with them that descend into the pit, and all the excellent trees of Eden, and the best of Lebanon:

euen all that are nouriſhed with waters, ſhall [h] be comforted in the nether parts of the earth.

17 They alſo went downe to hel with him vnto them that bee ſlaine with the ſworde, and his arme, and they that dwelt vnder his ſhadow in the mids of the heathen.

18 To whom [i] art thou thus like in glory and in greatneſſe among the trees of Eden? yet thou ſhalt be caſt down with the trees of Eden vnto the nether partes of the earth: thou ſhalt ſleepe in the mids of the [k] vncircumciſed, with them that be ſlaine by the ſworde: this is Pharaoh and all his multitude, ſaith the Lord God.

2 The Prophet is commaunded to bewaile Pharaoh King of Egypt. 12 He propheſieth that deſtruction ſhall come vnto Egypt through the King of Babylon.

AND in the [a] twelfth yeere in the twelfth moneth, and in the firſt day of the moneth the worde of the Lorde came vnto mee, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation for Pharaoh king of Egypt, and ſay vnto him, Thou art like a [b] lyon of the nations and art as a ‖dragon in the ſea: thou caſteſt out thy riuers [c] and troubleſt the waters with thy feete, and ſtampeſt in their riuers.

3 Thus ſaith the Lord God, * I will therefore ſpread my net ouer thee with a great multitude of people, and they ſhall make thee come vp into my net.

4 Then will I leaue thee vpon the land, and I will caſt thee vpon the open fielde, and I will cauſe all the foules of the heauen to remaine vpon thee, and I will fill all the beaſtes of the field with thee.

5 And I will lay thy fleſh vpon the mountaines, and fill the valleys [d] with thine height.

6 I wil alſo water with thy blood the land wherein thou [e] ſwimmeſt, euen to the mountaines, and the riuers ſhalbe full of thee.

7 And when I ſhal [f] put thee out, I wil couer the heauen, and make the ſtarres thereof darke: * I will couer the ſunne with a cloude, and the moone ſhall not giue her light.

8 All the lightes of heauen will I make darke for thee, and bring [g] darkeneſſe vpon thy land, ſaith the Lord God.

9 I will alſo trouble the heartes of many people, when I ſhall bring thy deſtruction among the nations, and vpon the countreyes which thou haſt not knowen.

10 Yea, I will make many people amaſed at thee, and their Kings ſhalbe aſtoniſhed with feare for thee, when I ſhall make my ſworde to glitter againſt their faces, and they ſhall bee afraide at euery moment: euery man for his owne life in the day of thy fall.

11 For thus ſaith the Lord God, The ſworde of the King of Babel ſhall come vpon thee.

12 By the ſwordes of the mightie will I cauſe thy multitude to fall: they all ſhall bee terrible nations, and they ſhall deſtroy the [h] pompe of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof ſhalbe conſumed.

13 I wil deſtroy alſo all the beaſtes thereof from the great water ſides, neither ſhall the foote of man trouble them any more, nor the hooffes of beaſt trouble them.

14 Then wil I make [i] their waters deepe, and cauſe their riuers to runne like oyle, ſaith the Lord God.

15 When I ſhall make the land of Egypt deſolate, and the countrey with all that is therein, ſhall be layd waſte: when I ſhall ſmite all them which dwel therein, then ſhall they know that I am the Lord.

16 This is the mourning wherewith they ſhall lament her: the daughters of the nations ſhall lament her: they ſhall lament for Egypt, and for all her multitude, ſayeth the Lord God.

17 ¶ In the twelft yeere alſo in the fifteenth day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord vnto me, ſaying, 18 Sonne of man, lament for the multitude of Egypt, and [k] caſt them downe, euen them and the daughters of the mighty nations vnto the nether parts of the earth, with them that goe downe into the pit.

19 Whom doeſt thou paſſe [l] in beautie? go downe and ſleepe with the vncircumciſed.

20 They ſhall fall in the middes of them that are ſlaine by the ſworde: [m] ſhe is deliuered to the ſworde: draw her downe, and all her multitude.

21 The moſt mighty and ſtrong ſhall ſpeake to [n] him out of the middes of hell with them that helpe her: they are gone downe and ſleepe with the vncircumciſed that be ſlaine by the ſworde.

22 Aſſhur is there and all his companie: their graues are about him: all they are ſlaine and fallen by the ſworde.

23 Whoſe graues are made in the ſide of the pit, and his multitude are round about his graue: all they are ſlaine and fallen by the ſworde, which cauſed feare to be in the land of the liuing.

24 There is [o] Elam and all his multitude round about his graue: all they are ſlaine and fallen by the ſworde which are gone downe with the vncircumciſed into the nether partes of the earth, which cauſed themſelues to be feared in the lande of the [p] liuing, yet haue they borne their ſhame with them that are gone downe to the pit.

25 They haue made his bed in the mids of the ſlaine with all his multitude: their graues are round about him: all theſe vncircumciſed are ſlaine

CHAP. XXXIII.

2 The office of the gouernours & ministers. 14 He strengtheneth them that despaire, and boldeneth them with the promise of mercie. 30 The words of the Lord against the mockers of the Prophet.

AGaine the woꝛde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, speake to the children of my people, and say vnto them, When I bring the swoꝛd vpon a land, if the people of the lande take a man ‖ from among them, and make him their [a] watchman,

3 If when he seeth the swoꝛd come vpon the lande, he blow the trumpet, and warne the people,

4 Then hee that heareth the sound of the trumpet, and will not be warned, if the swoꝛde come, and take him away, his blood shall be vpon his owne head.

a He sheweth that the people ought to haue continually gouernours and teachers which may haue a care ouer them, and to warne them euer of the dangers which are at hand.

5 Foꝛ hee heard the sound of the trumpet, and would not bee admonished: therefoꝛe his blood shall be vpon him: but hee that receiueth warning, shall saue his life.

6 But if the watchman see the swoꝛde come, and blow not the trumpet, and the people be not warned: if the swoꝛd come, and take any person from among them, hee is taken away foꝛ his [b] iniquitie, but his blood will I require at the watchmans hand.

7 *So thou, O sonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefoꝛe thou shalt heare the woꝛde at my [c] mouth, and admonish them from me.

8 When I shall say vnto the wicked, O wicked man, thou shalt die the death, if thou doest not speake, and admonish the wicked of his way, that wicked man shall die foꝛ his iniquitie, but his blood will I [d] require at thine hand.

9 Neuertheleſſe, if thou warne the wicked of his way, to turne from it, if he doe not turne from his way, he shall die foꝛ his iniquitie, but thou hast deliuered thy soule.

10 Therefoꝛe, O thou sonne of man, speak vnto the house of Israel, Thus ye speake and say, If our transgressions and our sinnes bee vpon vs, & wee are consumed because of them, [e] how should we then liue?

11 Say vnto them, As I liue, saieth the Lord God, [f] I desire not the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turne from his way and liue: turne you, turne you from your euill waies, foꝛ why will ye die, O ye house of Israel?

12 Therefoꝛe thou sonne of man, say vnto the children of thy people, The [g] righteousnesse of the righteous shall not deliuer him in the day of his transgression, noꝛ the wickednes of the wicked shall cause him to fall therein, in the day that he returneth from his wickednes, neither shall the righteous liue foꝛ his righteousnesse in the day that he sinneth.

13 When I shall say vnto the righteous, that he shall surely liue, if he trust to his owne righteousnesse, and commit iniquitie, all his righteousnesse shall bee no moꝛe remembred, but foꝛ his iniquitie that hee hath committed, he shall die foꝛ the same,

14 Againe when I shall say vnto the wicked, thou shalt die the death, if hee turne from his sinne, and doe that which is lawfull and [h] right,

15 To wit, if the wicked reſtoꝛe the pledge, and giue againe that he had robbed, and walk in the statutes of life, without committing iniquitie, he shal surely liue, and not die.

16 None of his sinnes that hee hath committed, shall be mentioned vnto him: because he hath done that, which is lawfull, and right, he shall surely liue.

b Signifying that the wicked shal not escape punishment though the watchman be negligent, but if the watchman blowe the trumpet, and then he will not obey, he shal deserue double punishment.

* Chap. 3. 17.

c Which teacheth that he that receiueth not his charge at the Lords mouth, is a spie and not a true watchman.

d The watchman must answere for the blood of all that perish through his negligence.

e Thus the wicked when they beare Gods iudgements for their sinnes, despaire of his mercies and murmure.

f Reade Chap. 18. 23.

g Reade of this righteousnesse, Chap. 18. 22, 24.

h Hereby he condemneth al them of hypocrisie, which pretend to forsake wickednesse, and yet declare not themselues such by their fruits, that is, in obeying Gods commandements and by godly life.

17 Yet the children of thy people ſay, *The way of the Lord is not equall: but their owne way is vnequall.

18 When the righteous turneth from his righteouſneſſe, and committeth iniquitie, hee ſhal euen die thereby.

19 But if the wicked returne from his wickednes, and do that which is lawfull and right, he ſhal liue thereby.

20 Yet ye ſay, The way of the Lord is not equall. O ye houſe of Iſrael, I will iudge you euery one after his wayes.

21 Alſo in the twelfth yeere of [i] our captiuitie, in the tenth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth, one that had eſcaped out of Ieruſalem, came vnto me, and ſaide, The citie is ſmitten.

22 Now the [k] hand of the Lord had bin vpon me in the euening afore he that had eſcaped, came, and had opened my mouth vntil he came to me in the morning: and when he had opened my [l] mouth, I was no more dumme.

23 Againe the word of the Lorde came vnto me, and ſaid,

24 Sonne of man, theſe that dwell in the deſolate places of the land of Iſrael, talke and ſay, [m] Abraham was but one, and hee poſſeſſed the land: but we are many, therefore the land ſhalbe giuen vs in poſſeſſion.

25 Wherefore ſay vnto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Ye eate with the [n] blood, and lift vp your eyes toward your idoles, and ſhead blood: ſhould ye then poſſeſſe the land?

27 Ye leane vpon your [o] ſwords: ye worke abomination, and yee defile euery one his neighbours wife: ſhould yee then poſſeſſe the lande?

27 Say thus vnto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, As I liue, ſo ſurely they that are in the deſolate places, ſhall fall by the ſworde: and him that is in the open fielde, will I giue vnto the beaſte to be deuoured: & they that be in the forts and in the caues, ſhal die of the peſtilence.

28 For I will lay the lande deſolate and waſte, and the * pompe of her ſtrength ſhall ceaſe: and the mountaines of Iſrael ſhalbe deſolate, and none ſhall paſſe through.

29 Then ſhall they knowe that I am the Lord, when I haue laide the land deſolate and waſte, becauſe of all their abominations, they haue committed.

30 Alſo thou ſonne of man, the children of thy people that [p] talke of thee by the walles and in the doores of houſes, and ſpeake one to another, euery one to his brother, ſaying, Come, I pray you, and heare what is the word that commeth from the Lord.

31 For they come vnto thee, as the people vſeth to come: and my people ſit before thee, and heare thy wordes, but they will not doe them: for with their mouthes they make [q] ieſts, and their heart goeth after their couetouſneſſe.

32 And loe, thou art vnto them, as a ‖ ieſting ſong of one that hath a pleaſaunt voyce, and can ſing wel: for they heare thy words, but they doe them not.

33 And when this commeth to paſſe (for loe, it will come) then ſhall they knowe, that a Prophet hath bene among them.

2 Againſt the ſhepheards that deſpiſe the flocke of Chriſt, and ſeeke their owne gaine. 7 The Lord ſaith that hee will viſite his diſperſed flocke, and gather them together. 23 He promiſeth the true ſhepheard Chriſt, and with him peace.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, prophecie againſt the ſhepheards of Iſrael, prophecie and ſay vnto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God vnto the ſhepheards, * Wo be vnto the [a] ſhepheards of Iſrael, that feed themſelues: ſhould not the ſhepheards feede the flockes?

3 Ye eate the [b] fat, and ye clothe you with the wooll: yee kill them that are fedde: but ye feede not the sheepe.

4 The [c] weake haue yee not ſtrengthened: the ſicke haue yee not healed, neither haue ye bound vp the broken, nor brought againe that which was driuen away, neither haue yee ſought that which was loſt, but with crueltie, and with rigour haue ye ruled them.

5 And they were ſcattered without a ſhepheard: & when they were diſperſed, they were [d] deuoured of all the beaſts of the field.

6 My sheepe wandered through all the mountaines, and vpon euery hie hill: yea, my flocke was ſcattered through all the earth, and none did ſeeke or ſearch after them.

7 Therefore yee ſhepheards, heare the worde of the Lord.

8 As I liue, ſaith the Lorde God, ſurely becauſe my flocke was ſpoyled, and my sheepe were deuoured of all the beaſts of the field, hauing no ſhepheard, neither did my ſhepheards ſeeke my ſheepe, but the ſhepheards fed themſelues, and fed not my ſheepe, 9 Therfore, heare ye the word of the Lord, O ye ſhepheards.

10 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Beholde, I come againſt the ſhepheards, and will require my ſheepe at their hands, and cauſe them to ceaſe from feeding the ſheepe: neither ſhall the ſhepheards feede themſelues any more: for I will deliuer my ſheepe from [e] their mouthes, and they ſhall no more deuoure them.

11 For thus ſaith the Lord God, Beholde, I will ſearch my ſheepe, and ſeeke them out.

12 As a ſhepheard ſearcheth out his flocke, when he hath bene among his ſheepe that are ſcattered, scattred, so wil I seeke out my sheepe and will deliuer them out of all places, where they haue bene scattred in f the cloudie and darke day, f In the day of their affliction and miserie: and this promes is to comfort the Church in all dangers.

13 And I will bring them out from the people, and gather them from the countries, and will bring them to their owne lande, and feede them vpon the mountaines of Israel, by the riuers, and in all the inhabited places of the countrey.

14 I will feede them in a good pasture, and vpon the hie mountaines of Israel shall their fold be: there shal they lie in a good fold, and in fat pasture shal they feed vpon the mountaines of Israel.

15 I will feede my sheepe, and bring them to their rest, saieth the Lord God.

16 I will seeke that which was lost, and bring againe that which was driuen away, and will binde vp that which was broken, and will strengthen the weake: but I will destroy the fat and the g strong, and I will feed them with h iudgement.

g Meaning, such as lift vp themselues aboue their brethren, and thinke they haue no need to be gouerned by me.

h That is, by putting difference betweene the good and the bad, and so giue to either, as they deserue.

17 Also you my sheepe, Thus saieth the Lord God, beholde, I iudge betweene sheepe, and sheepe, betweene the rammes and the goates.

18 Seemeth it a small thing vnto you to haue eaten vp the i good pasture, but yee must treade downe with your feete the residue of your pasture: and to haue drunke of the deepe waters, but yee must trouble the residue with your feete:

i By good pasture and deepe waters is meant the pure word of God, and the administration of iustice, which they did not distribute to the poore, til they had corrupted it.

19 And my sheepe eate that which ye haue troden with your feete, and drinke that which ye haue troubled with your feete.

20 Therefore thus saith the Lord God vnto them, Behold, I, euen I wil iudge betweene the fat sheepe and the leane sheepe.

21 Because yee haue thrust with side and with shoulder, & pusht all the weake with your hornes, till ye haue scattred them abroad, 22 Therefore will I helpe my sheepe, and they shal no more bee spoyled, and I wil iudge betweene sheepe and sheepe.

23 And I will set vp a shepheard ouer them, and he shal feed them, euen my seruant k Dauid, he shal feed them, and he shal be their shepheard.

k Meaning, Christ, of whom Dauid was a figure. Iere. 30.9. Hose. 3.5.

24 And I the Lord will be their God, and my seruant Dauid shall be the prince among them, I the Lord haue spoken it.

l This declareth, that vnder Christ the flocke should be truely deliuered from sinne, and hell, and so be safely preserued in the Church where they should neuer perish.

25 And I wil make with them a couenant of peace, and wil cause the euil beasts to cease out of the land: and they shal l dwel safely in the wildernes, and sleepe in the woods.

26 And I wil set them as a blessing, euen round about my mountaine: and I will cause raine to come in due season, and there shall bee raine of blessing.

m The fruites of Gods grace shall appeare in great abundāce in his Church.

27 And the m tree of the field shall yeeld her fruite, and the earth shall giue her fruite, and they shall be safe in their land, and shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue broken the cordes of their yoke, and deliuered them out of the handes of those that serued themselues of them.

28 And they shal no more be spoiled of the heathen, neither shal the beastes of the land deuour them, but they shal dwel safely and none shal make them afraid.

29 And I wil raise vp for them a n plant of renoume, and they shall bee no more consumed with hunger in the land, neither beare the reproch of the heathen any more.

n That is, the rod that shall come out of the roote of Ishai, Isa. 11.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 The destruction that shall come on mount Seir, because they troubled the people of the Lord.

MOreouer the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, Set thy face against mount a Seir, and prophesie against it, a Where the Idumeans dwelt.

3 And say vnto it, Thus saieth the Lorde God, Behold, O mount Seir, I come against thee, and I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I wil make thee desolate and waste.

4 I will lay the cities wast, and thou shalt bee desolate, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

5 Because thou hast had a perpetuall hatred and hast put the children of Israel to flighe by the force of the sword in the time of their calamitie, when their b iniquitie had an end:

b When by their punishment I called them from their iniquitie.

6 Therefore as I liue, saith the Lord God, I will prepare thee vnto blood, and blood shall pursue thee: except thou c hate blood, euen blood shal pursue thee.

c Except thou repent thy former cruelitie.

7 Thus wil I make mount Seir desolate and waste, and cut off from it him that passeth out and him that returneth,

8 And I wil fill his mountaines with his slaine men: in thine hils, and in thy valleis and in all thy riuers shall they fall, that are slaine with the sword.

9 I wil make thee perpetual desolations, and thy cities shal not d returne, & ye shal know that I am the Lord.

d To wit, to their former estate.

10 Because thou hast said, e These two nations, and these two countreis shall bee mine, and we wil possesse them (seeing the Lord was f there)

f And so by fighting against Gods people, they should goe about to put him out of his owne possession.

11 Therefore as I liue, saieth the Lorde God, I will euen do according to thy g wrath, and according to thine indignation which thou g As thou hast done cruelly, so shalt thou be cruelly handled.

thou haſt vſed in thine hatred againſt them: and I will make my ſelfe knowen among [h] them when I haue iudged thee.

12 And thou ſhalt know, that I the Lorde haue heard all thy blaſphemies which thou haſt ſpoken againſt the mountaines of Iſrael, ſaying, They lie waſte, they are giuen vs to bee deuoured.

13 Thus with your mouthes ye haue boaſted againſt mee, and haue multiplied your wordes againſt me: I haue heard them.

14 Thus ſaith the Lord God, So ſhall all the world reioyce when I ſhall make thee deſolate.

15 As thou didſt reioyce at the inheritance of the houſe of Iſrael, becauſe it was deſolate, ſo will I doe vnto thee: thou ſhalt be deſolate, O mount Seir, and all Idumea wholy, & they ſhall know, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXVI.

8 He promiſeth to deliuer Iſrael from the Gentiles. 22 The benefits done vnto the Iewes, are to be aſcribed to the mercy of God, & not vnto their deſernings. 26 God renueth our hearts, that we may walke in his commandements.

ALſo thou ſonne of man, prophecie vnto the * mountaines of Iſrael, and ſay, Yee mountaines of Iſrael, heare the worde of the Lord.

2 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe the [a] enemie hath ſayd againſt you, Aha, euen the [b] hie places of the world are ours in poſſeſſion.

3 Therefore prophecie, and ſay, Thus ſaieth the Lorde God, Becauſe that they haue made you deſolate, and ſwalowed you vp on euery ſide, that ye might bee a poſſeſſion vnto the reſidue of the heathen, and ye are come vnto the lips and [c] tongues of men, and vnto the reproch of the people,

4 Therefore yee mountaines of Iſrael, heare the worde of the Lord God, Thus ſaieth the Lorde God to the mountaines and to the hils, to the riuers, and to the valleis, and to the waſte, & deſolate places, and to the cities that are forſaken: which are ſpoyled and had in deriſion of the reſidue of the heathen that are round about.

5 Therefore thus ſaieth the Lord God, Surely in the fire of mine indignation haue I ſpoken againſt the reſidue of the heathen, and againſt all Idumea, which [d] haue taken my land for their poſſeſſion, with the ioy of al their heart, and with deſpiteful mindes to caſt it out for a praie.

6 Prophecie therefore vpon the land of Iſrael, and ſay vnto the mountains, and to the hils, to the riuers, & to the valleys, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I haue ſpoken in mine indignation, and in my wrath, becauſe ye haue ſuffred the [e] ſhame of the heathen.

7 Therefore thus ſaieth the Lord God, I haue [f] lifted vp mine hand, ſurely the heathen that are about you ſhal beare their ſhame.

8 But you, O mountaines of Iſrael, yee ſhall [g] ſhoote forth your branches, and bring forth your fruite to my people of Iſrael: for they are ready to come.

9 For behold, I come vnto you, & I will turne vnto you, and ye ſhalbe tilled & ſowen.

10 And I will multiply the men vpon you, euen all the houſe of Iſrael wholy, and the cities ſhall bee inhabited, and the deſolate places ſhalbe builded.

11 And I will multiplie vpon you man and beaſt, and they ſhall encreaſe, and bring fruite, and I will cauſe you to dwell after your olde eſtate, and I will beſtowe beneſites vpon you more then [h] at the firſt, and yee ſhall know that I am the Lord.

12 Yea, I will cauſe men to walke vpon [i] you, euen my people Iſrael, and they ſhall poſſeſſe ‖ you, and ye ſhall be their inheritance, and ye ſhall no more henceforth depriue them of men.

13 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe they ſay vnto you, Thou [k] land deuoureſt vp men, and haſt bene a waſter of thy people,

14 Therefore thou ſhalt deuoure men no more, neither waſte thy people henceforth, ſaith the Lord God, 15 Neither will I cauſe men to heare in thee the ſhame of the heathen any more, neither ſhalt thou beare the reproch of the people any more, neither ſhalt cauſe thy folke to fall any more, ſaieth the Lord God.

16 ¶ Moreouer the word of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying, 17 Sonne of man, when the houſe of Iſrael dwelt in their owne land, they defiled it by their own waies, and by their deeds: their way was before mee as the filthineſſe of the menſtruous.

18 Wherefore I powred my wrath vpon them, for the blood that they had ſhed in the land, and for their idoles, wherewith they had polluted it.

19 And I ſcattered them among the heathen, & they were diſperſed through the countries: for according to their wayes, and according to their deeds, I iudged them.

20 * And when they entred vnto the heathen, whither they went, they polluted mine holy Name, when they ſayd of them, Theſe are the people of the Lord, and are gone out of his land.

21 But I fauoured mine holy [l] Name which the houſe of Iſrael had polluted among the heathen, whither they went.

27 And I will put my ſpirite within you, and cauſe you to walke in my ſtatutes, and yee ſhall keepe my iudgements and doe them.

33 Thus ſaith the Lord God, What time as I ſhall haue cleanſed you from all your iniquities, I wil cauſe you to dwell in the cities, and the deſolate places ſhalbe builded.

34 And the deſolate lande ſhall bee tilled, whereas it lay waſte in the ſight of all that paſſed by.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 He prophecieth the bringing againe of the people, being in captiuitie. 16 He ſhewith the vnion of the tenne tribes with the two.

THe hand of the Lorde was vpon me, and caried me out in the ſpirit of the Lord, and ſet me downe in the mids of the ‖ fielde, which was full of [a] bones.

2 And he led me round about by them, and behold, there were very many in the open field, and loe, they were very drie.

3 And he ſaid vnto me, Sonne of man, can theſe bones liue? And I anſwered, O Lorde God thou knoweſt.

4 Againe he ſaid vnto me, Prophecie vpon theſe bones and ſay vnto them, O ye dry bones, heare the word of the Lord.

5 Thus ſaieth the Lorde God vnto theſe bones, Behold, I wil cauſe breath to enter into you, and ye ſhal liue.

6 And I will lay ſinewes vpon you, & make fleſh grow vpon you, and couer you with ſkin, and put breath in you, that ye may liue, and ye ſhal know that I am the Lord.

7 So I prophecied, as I was commanded: and as I prophecied, there was a noiſe, and behold, there was a ſhaking, and the bones came together, bone to his bone.

8 And when I beheld, loe, the ſinewes, and the fleſh grewe vpon them, and aboue, the ſkinne couered them, but there was no breath in them.

9 Then ſaid he vnto me, Prophecie vnto the winde: prophecie, ſonne of man, and ſay to the winde, Thus ſaith the Lorde God, Come from the foure [b] winds, O breath, and breathe vpon theſe ſlaine, that they may liue.

10 So I prophecied as he had commaunded me: and the breath came into them, and they liued, and ſtood vp vpon their feet, an exceeding great armie.

11 Then he ſaid vnto me, Sonne of man, theſe bones are the whole houſe of Iſrael. Behold, they ſay, Our bones are dried, and our hope is gone, and we are cleane cut off.

12 Therfore prophecie, and ſay vnto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, my people, I wil open your graues, and cauſe you to come vp out of your ſepulchres, and bring you into the land of Iſrael, f Meaning, that the elect by Chriſt ſhal dwell in the heauenly Ieruſalē which is meant by the land of Canaan.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

2 He propheſieth that Gog & Magog ſhall fight with great power againſt the people of God. 21 Their deſtruction.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, ſet thy face againſt [a] Gog, and againſt the lande of Magog, the chiefe prince of Meſhech and Tubal, and propheſie againſt him, c The Perſians, Ethiopians, and men of Africa.

d Gomer was Japhets ſonne and Togarmah the ſonne of Gomer, and are thought to be they that inhabite Alla minor.

7 Prepare thy ſelfe, and [e] make thee ready, both thou, and all thy multitude, that are aſſembled vnto thee, and be thou their ſafegard.

e Signifying, that all the people of the world ſhould aſſemble themſelues againſt the Church & Chriſt their head.

8 After manie dayes thou ſhalt bee viſited: for in the latter yeeres thou ſhalt come into the land, that hath bene deſtroyed with the ſword, and is gathered out of many people vpon the mountaines of Iſrael, which haue long lien waſte: yet ‖ they haue bene brought out of the people, and they ſhall dwell all ſafe.

‖ Or, in meaning, the land of Iſrael.

9 Thou ſhalt aſcend and come vp like a tempeſt, and ſhalt be like a cloude to couer the land, both thou, and all thy bands, and many people with thee.

10 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Euen at the ſame time ſhall many things come into thy minde, and thou ſhalt thinke [f] euill thoughts.

f That is, to moleſt and deſtroy the Church.

11 And thou ſhalt ſay, I will go vp to the land that hath no walled towres: [g] I will goe to them that are at reſt, and dwell in ſafetie, which dwell all without walles, and haue neither barres nor gates.

g Meaning, Iſrael which had now bene deſtroyed, and was not yet built againe: declaring here by the ſimplicitie of the godly, who ſeeke not ſo much to fortifie themſelues by outward force, as to depend on the prouidence and goodnes of God.

take a bootie? to carie away siluer and golde, to take away cattell and goods, and to spoile a great pray?

14 Therefore, Sonne of man, prophecie, and say vnto Gog, Thus saith the Lord God, In that day, when my people of Israel [i] dwelleth safe, shalt thou not knowe it?

15 And come from thy place out of the North partes, thou & much people with thee? all shall ride vpon horses, euen a great multitude and a mightie armie.

16 And thou shalt come vp against my people of Israel, as a cloude to couer the land: thou shalt be in the [k] latter dayes, and I will bring thee vpon my land, that the heathen may knowe me, when I [l] shall be sanctified in thee, O Gog, before their eyes.

17 Thus saith the Lord God, Art not thou he, of whom I haue spoken in olde time, [m] by the hand of my seruants the Prophets of Israel which prophecied in those dayes and yeeres, that I would bring thee vpon them?

18 At the same time also when Gog shall come against the land of Israel, saith the Lord God, my wrath shall arise in mine anger.

19 For in mine indignation and in the fire of my wrath haue I spoken it: surely at that time there shall be a great shaking in the land of Israel, 20 So that the fishes of the Sea, and the foules of the heauen, and the beastes of the fielde, and all that moue and creepe vpon the earth, and all the men that are vpon the earth, shall tremble at my presence, and the mountaines shall be ouerthrowen, & the [n] staires shal fall, and euery wall shall fall to the ground.

21 For I wil call for a sword against him [o] throughout al my mountaines, saith the Lord God: euery mans sword shall be against his brother.

22 And I will pleade against him with pestilence, and with blood, and I will cause to raine vpon him and vpon his bands, and vpon the great people, that are with him, a sore raine and haile stones, fire, and brimstone.

23 Thus will I be * magnified, and sanctified, and knowen in the eyes of many nations, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

THerefore, thou sonne of man, prophecie against Gog, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I come against thee, O Gog, the chiefe Prince of Meiech and Tubal.

2 And I wil destroy thee, [a] and leaue but the sixt part of thee, and wil cause thee to come vp from the North partes, and will bring thee vpon the mountaines of Israel:

3 And I will smite thy bowe out of thy left hand, and I wil cause thine arrowes to fall out of thy right hand.

4 Thou [b] shalt fall vpon the mountaines of Israel, and all thy bandes and the people, that is with thee: for I will giue thee vnto the birdes, and to euery feathered foule and beast of the fielde to be deuoured.

5 Thou shalt fall vpon the open fielde: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

6 And I will send a fire on Magog, and among them that dwell safely in the [c] yles, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 So wil I make mine holy name knowen in the middes of my people Israel, and I will not suffer them to pollute mine holy name any more, and the heathen shall knowe that I am the Lord, the holy one of Israel.

8 Behold, [d] it is come, and it is done, saith the Lord God: this is the day wherein I haue spoken.

9 And they that dwell in the cities of Israel, shall [e] goe forth, and shall burne and set fire vpon the weapons, and on the shields, and bucklers, vpon the bowes, and vpon the arrowes, and vpon the staues in their hands, and vpon the speares, and they shall burne them with fire seuen yeeres.

10 So that they shall bring no wood out of the fielde, neither cut downe any out of the forrests: for they shall burne the weapons with fire, and they shall rob those that robbed them, and spoyle those that spoyled them, saith the Lord God.

11 And at the same time will I giue vnto Gog [f] a place there for buriall in Israel, euen the valley whereby men goe toward the East part of the sea: and it shall cause them that passe by, to stop their [g] noses, and there shall they burie Gog with all his multitude: and they shall call it the valley of ‖Hamon-Gog.

12 [h] And seuen moneths long shall the house of Israel be burying of them, that they may cleanse the land.

13 Yea, all the people of the land shal bury them, and they shall haue a name when I shall be glorified, saith the Lord God,

14 And they shall chuse out men to goe continually through the [i] land with them that trauaile, to burye those that remaine vpon the ground, and cleanse it: they shall search to the end of seuen moneths.

15 And the trauailers that passe through the land, if any see a mans bone, then shall he set vp a signe by it, till the buriers haue buried it, in the valley of Hamon-Gog.

16 And also the name of the citie shall be ‖Hamonah: thus shall they cleanse the land.

17 And thou sonne of man, thus saith the ? Shalt not thou spie thine occasions to come against my church when they suspect nothing?

k Meaning, in the last age, and from the comming of Christ vnto the ende of the world.

l Signifying, that God will be sanctified by maintaining his Church, and destroying his enemies, as Chap. 36.23. and 37. 28.

m Hereby he declareth that none affliction can come to the Church, wherof they haue not bene aduertised aforetime, to teach them to indure all things with more patience when they knowe that God hath so ordeined.

n All meanes whereby man should thinke to saue himselfe shall faile, the affliction in those dayes shall be so great, and the enemies destruction shalbe so terrible.

o Against the people of Gog and Magog.

* Chap. 36.23. and 37.28.

a Or, destroy thee with fiue plagues as Chap. 38.22.

b Meaning, that by the vertue of Gods word ỹ enemies shalbe destroyed wheresoeuer he assaileth his Church.

c That is, among al nations where the enemies of my people dwell, seeme they neuer so farre separate.

d That is, this plague is fully determined in my counsell and cannot be changed.

e After this destrucion the church shall haue great peace and tranquillitie, and burne all their weapons, because they shall no more feare the enemie: and this is chiefly meant of the accomplishment of Christes kingdome, when by their head Christ all enemies shall be ouercome.

f Which declareth that the enemies shall haue an horrible fall.

g For the stinke of the carkeises.

‖ Or, of the multitude of Gog.

h Meaning, a long time.

i Partly that the holy land should not be polluted, and partly for the compassion that the children of God haue, euen on their enemies.

Lord God, Speake vnto euery feathered foule, and to all the beastes of the fielde, Assemble your selues, and come: [k] gather your selues on euery side to my sacrifice: for I doe sacrifice a great sacrifice for you vpon the mountaines of Israel, that ye may eate fleth, and drinke blood.

18 Ye shall eate the flesh of the valiant, and drinke the blood of the princes of the earth, of the weathers, of the lambes, and of the goates, and of bullockes, euen of all fat beastes of Bashan.

19 And ye shall eate fat till you be full, and drinke blood, till ye be drunken of my sacrifice, which I haue sacrificed for you.

20 Thus you shall be filled at my table with horses and chariots, with valiant men, and with all men of warre, sayeth the Lord God.

21 And I will set my glory among the heathen, and all the heathen shall see my iudgement, that I haue executed, and mine hand, which I haue laied vpon them.

22 So the house of Israel shall know, that I am the Lord their God from that day and so forth.

23 And the heathen shall knowe, that the house of Israel went into captiuitie for [l] their iniquitie, because they trespassed against me: therefore hid I my face from them, and gaue them into the hand of their enemies: so fell they all by the sword.

24 According to their vncleannes, and according to their transgressions haue I done vnto them, and hid my face from them.

25 Therefore thus saieth the Lord God, Now wil I bring againe the captiuitie of Iaakob, & haue compassion vpon the whole house of Israel, and will be ielous for mine holy Name, 26 After that they haue borne their shame, and all their transgression, whereby they haue transgressed against me, when they dwelt safely in their land, and without feare of any.

27 When I haue brought them againe from the people, and gathered them out of their enemies lands, and am * sanctified in them in the sight of many nations,

28 Then shall they know, that I am the Lord their God, which caused them to be led into captiuitie among the heathen: but I haue gathered them vnto their owne land, and haue left none of them any more there, 29 Neither will I hide my face any more from them: for I haue powred out my Spirit vpon the house of Israel, saith the Lord God.

k Whereby he signifieth the horrible destruction that should come vpon the enemies of his Church.

l The heathen shall know that they ouercome not my people by their strength, neither yet by the weakenesse of mine arme, but that this was for my peoples sinnes.

The restoring of the citie and the Temple.

IN the fiue and twentieth yeere of our being in captiuitie, in the [a] beginning of the yeere, in the tenth day of the moneth, in the fourteenth yeere after that the citie was smitten, in the selfe same day, the hand of the Lord was vpon me, and brought me thither.

2 Into the land of Israel brought he me by ‖ a diuine vision, and set me vpon a very hie mountaine, whereupon was as the building of a citie, toward the South.

3 And he brought me thither, and behold, there was a [b] man, whose similitude was to looke to, like brasse, with a linnen threed in his hand, and a reede to measure with: and he stood at the gate.

4 And the man saide vnto me, Sonne of man, beholde with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, and set thine heart vpon all that I shall shewe thee: for to the intent, that they might be shewed thee, art thou brought hither: declare all that thou seest, vnto the house of Israel.

5 And beholde, I sawe a wall on the outside of the house rounde about: and in the mans hand was a reede to measure with, of sixe cubites long, by the cubite, & an hand breadth: so he measured the breadth of the building with one reede, and the height with one reede.

6 Then came he vnto the gate, which looketh toward the East, and went vp the staires thereof, and measured the ‖ poste of the gate, which was one reed broade, and ‖ the other poste of the gate, which was one reede broade.

7 And euery chamber was one reede long, and one reede broade, and betweene the chambers were fiue cubites: and the poste of the gate by the porch of the gate within was one reede.

8 He measured also the porch of the gate within with one reede.

9 Then measured hee the porche of the gate of eight cubites, and the ‖ postes thereof, of two cubites, and the porch of the gate was inward.

10 And the chambers of the gate Eastward, were three on this side, and three on that side: they three were of one measure, and the postes had one measure on this side, and one on that side.

11 And he measured the breadth of the entrie of the gate tenne cubites, and the height of the gate thirteene cubites.

12 The space also before the chambers was one cubite on this side, and the space was Verse 32. The inner court on the East side N. And so in all he maketh fiue courts, two on the East side, two on the North, and two on the South side. Looke in the great figure.

32 ¶ Againe he brought me into the inner court toward the East, & he measured the gate according to these measures.

33 And the chambers therof, and the posts thereof, and the arches thereof were according to these measures, and there were windowes therein, and in the arches thereof round about, it was fiftie cubites long, and fiue and twentie cubites broad.

34 And the arches thereof were toward the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes therof, on this side and on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

35 ¶ After hee brought mee to the North gate, and measured it, according to these measures, 39 And in the porch of the gate stood two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, vpon the which they slew the burnt offring, and the sinne offering, and the trespasse offering.

40 And at the side beyond the steps, at the entrie of the North gate stood two tables, and on the other side, which was at the porch of the gate were two tables.

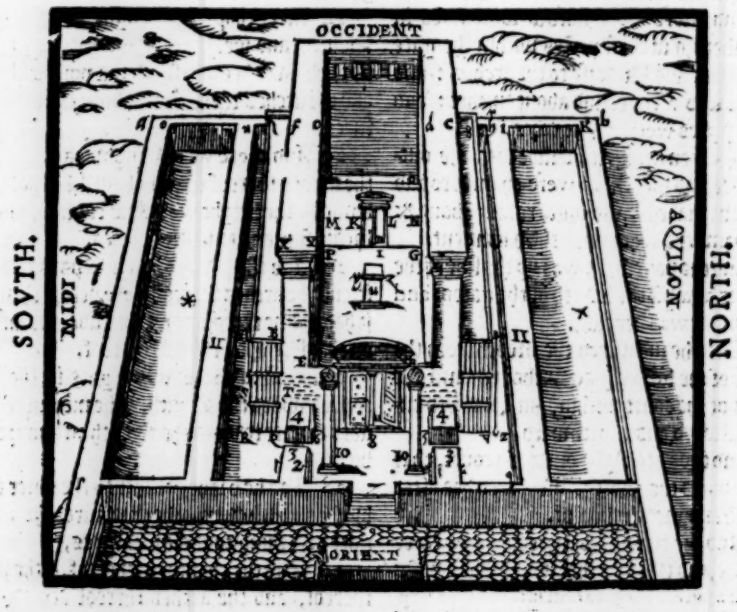
41 Foure tables were on this side, and foure tables on that side by the side of the gate, euen eight tables whereupon they slew their sacrifice.

42 And the foure tables were of hewen stone for the burnt offering, of a cubite and an halfe long, and a cubite and an halfe broad, and one cubite high: whereupon also they laid the instruments wherewith they slew the burnt offering and the sacrifice.

43 And within were borders an hand broad, fastened round about, and vpon the tables laie the flesh of the offering.

44 And without the inner gate were the chambers of the singers in the inner Court, which was at the side of the North gate: and their prospect was toward the South, and one was at the side of the East gate, hauing the prospect toward the North.

THE FIGVRE OF THE TEMPLE.



45 And

45 And he saide vnto mee, This chamber whose prospect is toward the South, is for the Priestes that haue charge to keepe the house.

46 And the chamber whose prospect is toward the North, is for the Priestes that haue the charge to keepe the altar: these are the sonnes of Zadok among the sonnes of Leui, which may come neere to the Lord to minister vnto him.

47 So he measured the court, an hundreth cubites long, and an hundreth cubites broad, euen foure square: likewise the altar that was before the house.

48 And hee brought mee to the porch of the house, and measured the postes of the porch, fiue cubites on this side, and fiue cubites on that side: and the breadth of the gate was three cubites on this side, and three cubites on that side.

49 The length of the porch was twentie cubites, and the breadth eleuen cubites, and he brought me by the steps whereby they went vp to it, and there were pillars by the postes, one on this side, and another on that side.

CHAP. XLI.

1 The disposition and order of the building of the Temple, and the other things thereto belonging.

AFterward, he brought mee to the Temple, and measured the postes, fiue cubites broad on the one side, and fiue cubites broad on the other side, which was the breadth of the Tabernacle.

2 And the breadth of the entrie was tenne cubites, and the sides of the entrie were fiue cubites on the one side, and fiue cubites on the other side, and hee measured the length thereof fourtie cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites.

3 Then went hee in, & measured the postes of the entrie two cubites, and the entrie fiue cubites, and the breadth of the entrie seuen cubites.

4 So he measured the length thereof twentie cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites before the Temple. And he said vnto me, This is the most Holy place.

5 After, he measured the wall of the house, fiue cubites, and the breadth of euery chamber foure cubites round about the house, on euery side.

6 And the chambers were chamber vpon chamber, three and thirtie foote high, and they entered into the wall made for the chambers which was rounde about the house, that the postes might bee fastened therein, and not bee fastened in the wall of the house.

7 And it was large, and went rounde mounting vpwarde to the chambers: for the staire of the house was mounting vpwarde, rounde about the house: therefore the house was larger vpwarde: so they went vp from the lowest chamber to the highest by the middes.

8 I sawe also the house high round about: the foundations of the chambers were a full reede of fiue great cubites.

9 The thicknesse of the wall which was for the chamber without, was fiue cubits, and that which remained, was the place of the chambers that were within.

10 And betweene the chambers was the widenesse of twentie cubites round about the House on euery side.

11 And the doores of the chambers were towarde the place that remained, one doore toward the North, and another doore toward the South, and the breadth of the place that remained, was fiue cubites round about.

12 Now the building that was before the separate place towarde the West corner, was seuentie cubites broad, and the wall of the building was fiue cubites thicke, round about, and the length ninetie cubites.

13 So hee measured the house an hundred cubites long, and the separate place & the building with the walles thereof were an hundred cubites long.

14 Also the breadth of the forefront of the house and of the separate place towarde the East, was an hundred cubites.

15 And he measured the length of the building, ouer against the separate place, which was behinde it, and the chambers on the one side and on the other side an hundred cubites with the Temple within, and the arches of the court.

16 The posts and the narrow windowes, and the chambers rounde about, on three sides ouer against the postes, sieled with cedar wood round about, and from the ground vp to the windowes, and the windowes were sieled.

17 And from aboue the doore vnto the inner house and without, and by al the wal round about within and without it was sieled according to the measure.

24 And the doores had two wickets, euen two turning wickets, two wickets for one doore, and two wickets for another doore.

25 And vpon the doores of the Temple there were made Cherubims & palme trees, like as was made vpon the walles, and there were thicke plankes vpon the forefront of the porch without.

26 And there were narow windowes and palme trees on the one side, and on the other side, by the sides of the porch, and vpon the sides of the house, and thicke plankes.

CHAP. XLII.

Of the chambers of the Temple for the Priestes, and the holy things.

Verse 1. Having described the length & breadth of the Temple, he commeth to the outward court on the Northside T. This appeareth in the great figure. He brought mee into the chamber: that is, the rowe of chambers, which were toward the separate place Westward 1. Verse 2. He measureth that the North was an hundreth cubites long X Y. and in breadth fiftie B X. Verse 4. This gallerie appeareth in the great figure by this number 12. Verse 5. These chambers were contrary facioned to them of the Temple.

THen brought he mee into the vtter court by the way towarde the North, and hee brought me into the chamber that was ouer against the separate place, and which was before the building toward the North.

2 Before the length of an hundreth cubits, was the North doore, and it was fiftie cubites broad.

3 Ouer against the twentie cubites which were for the inner court, and ouer against the pauement, which was for the vtter court, was chamber against chamber in three rowes.

4 And before the chambers was a gallerie of ten cubites wide, and within was a way of one cubite and their doores towarde the North.

5 Now the chambers aboue were narower: for those chambers seemed to eate vp these, to wit, the lower, and those that were in the mids of the building.

6 For they were in three rowes, but had not pillars as the pillars of the court: therefore there was a difference from them beneath and from the middlemost, euen from the ground.

7 And the wall that was without ouer against the chambers, toward the vtter court on the forefront of the chambers, was fiftie cubits long.

8 For the length of the chambers that were in the vtter court, was fiftie cubites: and loe, before the Temple were an hundreth cubites.

Verse 8. So that the wal for the chambers of the outward court and the wall of the inner, was either fiftie cubites, and the whole court an hundreth.

9 And vnder these chambers was the entrie, on the East side, as one goeth into them from the outward court.

Verse 9. Under these chambers were entries, or doores to passe from one place to another, which are noted euer by Z. in the great figure.

10 The chambers were in the thickenesse of the wall of the court towarde the East, ouer against the separate place, and ouer against the building.

11 And the way before them was after the maner of the chambers, which were toward the North, as long as they, and as broade as they: and all their entries were like, both according to their fashions, and according to their doores.

Verse 10. 11. The chambers P. of the East court M. were like to the chambers of the North court.

12 And according to the doores of the chambers that were toward the South, was a doore in the corner of the way, euen the way directly before the wall toward the East, as one entreth.

13 Then saide he vnto mee, The North chambers and the South chambers which are before the separate place, they be holy chambers, wherein the Priestes that approch vnto the Lord, shall eate the most holy things: there shall they lay the most holy things, & the meate offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespasse offering: for the place is holy.

Verse 13. Which chambers were in the East gate toward the North and South 3. and toward the separate place or backe building 4. which chambers are called holy, because they were by the Temple.

14 When the Priestes enter therein, they shall not goe out of the holy place into the vtter court, but there they shall lay their garments wherein they minister: for they are holy, and shall put on other garments, and so shall approch to those things, which are for the people.

15 Now when hee had made an ende of measuring the inner house, he brought me forth toward the gate whose prospect is toward the East, and measured it round about.

16 Hee measured the East side with the measuring rodde, fiue hundreth reedes, euen with the measuring reede round about.

17 Hee measured also the North side, fiue hundreth reedes, euen with the measuring reede round about.

18 And he measured the South ‖ side fiue hundreth reedes with the measuring reede.

‖ Or, winde.

19 He turned about also to the West side, and measured fiue hundreth reedes with the measuring reede.

20 Hee measured it by the foure sides: it had a wall rounde about, fiue hundreth reedes long, and fiue hundreth broade to make a separation paration betweene the Sanctuarie, and the prophane place.

CHAP. XLIII.

1 Hee seeth the glory of God going into the Temple from whence it had before departed. 7 He mentioneth the idolatrie of the children of Israel, for the which they were consumed and brought to nought. 9 He is commaunded to call them againe to repentance.

AFterward he brought me to the gate, euen the gate that turneth toward ỹ East.

2 And beholde, the glory of the God of Israel came from out of the East, whose voyce was like a noyse of great waters, and the earth was made light with his glory.

3 And the vision which I saw was * like the vision, euen as the vision that I saw [a] when I came to destroy the citie: and the visions were like the vision that I sawe by the riuer Chebar: and I fell vpon my face,

4 And the [b] glorie of the Lorde came into the house by the way of the gate, whose prospect is toward the East.

5 So the Spirit tooke me vp and brought me into the inner court, and beholde, the glorie of the Lord filled the house.

6 And I heard one speaking vnto me out of the house: and there stood a man by me,

7 Which said vnto mee, Sonne of man, this place is my throne, and the place of the soles of my feet, whereas I will dwell among the children of Israel for euer, and the house of Israel shall no more [c] defile mine holie Name, neither they, nor their Kings by their fornication, nor by the carkeises of [d] their Kings in their high places.

8 Albeeit they set their threshold by my thresholds, and their postes by my postes (for there was but a wall betweene me and them) yet haue they defiled mine holy Name with their abominations, that they haue committed: wherefore I haue consumed them in my wrath.

9 Now therefore let them put away their fornication, and the carkeises of their Kings farre from me, and I will dwell among them for euer.

10 ¶ Thou sonne of man, shew this House to the house of Israel, that they may bee ashamed of their wickednes, and let them measure the paterne.

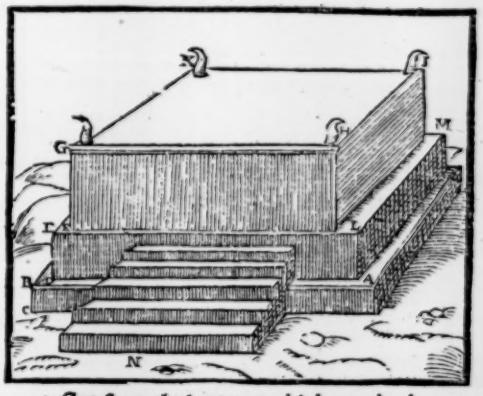
11 And if they be ashamed of all that they haue done, shew them the forme of the House, and the paterne thereof, & the going out thereof, and the comming in thereof, and the whole fashion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and all the figures thereof, and all the lawes thereof: and write it in their sight, that they may keepe the whole fashion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and doe them.

12 This is the † description of the house, It shalbe vpon the top of the mount: all the limits thereof round about shall bee most holy. Beholde, this is the description of the house.

13 And these are the measures of the Altar, after the cubits, the cubit is a cubit, and an hand bredth, euen the bottome shalbe a cubit, and the bredth a cubit, and the border therof by the edge thereof round about shalbe a spanne: and this shalbe the height of the altar.

Verse 13. The mids or bottome A. which was a cubite lie B C. and a cubite broade B D.

THE FIGVRE OF THE ALTAR.



14 And from the bottome which toucheth the ground to the lower piece shall be two cubites: and the breadth one cubite, and from the litle piece to the great piece shall be foure cubites, and the breadth one cubite.

15 So the altar shall be foure cubites, and from the altar vpward shall be foure hornes.

16 And the altar shall be twelue cubites long, and twelue broad, and foure square in the foure corners thereof, 17 And the frame shall be foureteene cubites long, and foureteene broade in the foure square corners thereof, and the border about it shall be halfe a cubite, and the bottome thereof shall be a cubite about, and the steps thereof shall be turned toward the East.

18 ¶ And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, thus saith the Lorde God, These are the ordinances of the altar in the day when they shall make it to offer the burnt offering thereon, and to sprinkle blood thereon.

19 And thou shalt giue to the Priests, and to the Leuites, that be of the seede of Zadok, which approch vnto me, to minister vnto me, saith the Lord God, a yong bullock for a sinne offering.

20 And thou shalt take of the blood thereof, and put it on the foure hornes of it, and on the foure corners of the frame, and vpon the border round about: thus shalt thou cleuse it, and reconcile it.

21 Thou shalt take the bullock also of the sinne offring, and burn it in the appointed place of the house without the Sanctuarie.

THen he brought me toward the gate of the outward Sanctuarie, which turneth toward the Eaſt, and it was ſhut.

a Meaning, from the common people, but not from the Prieſts, nor the prince, read Chap. 46. 1, 9.

2 Then ſaid the Lord vnto mee, This gate ſhalbe [a] ſhut, and ſhal not be opened, and no mã ſhal enter by it, becauſe the Lord God of Iſrael hath entred by it, and it ſhalbe ſhut.

3 It appertaineth to the prince: the prince himſelfe ſhall ſitte in it to eate bread before the Lord: he ſhall enter by the way of the porch of that gate, and ſhall goe out by the way of the ſame.

6 And thou ſhalt ſay to the rebellious, euen to the houſe of Iſrael, Thus ſaieth the Lorde God, O houſe of Iſrael, ye haue ynough of all your abominations,

8 For yee haue not kept the [c] ordinances of mine holy things: but you your ſelues haue ſet other to take the charge of my Sanctuarie.

9 Thus ſaith the Lorde God, No ſtranger vncircumciſed in heart, nor vncircumciſed in fleſh, ſhal enter into my ſanctuary, of any ſtranger that is among the children of Iſrael, d The Leuites which had committed idolatrie, were put from their dignitie and could not be receiued into the Prieſts office, although they had bene of the houſe of Aaron, but muſt ſerue in the inferior offices, as to watch and to keep the doores, read 2. Kin. 23. 9

10 Neither yet the [d] Leuites that are gone back from me, when Iſrael went aſtray, which went aſtray from me after their idols, but they ſhall beare their iniquitie.

11 And they ſhal ſerue in my Sanctuarie, and keepe the gates of the Houſe, and miniſter in the Houſe: they ſhal ſlay the burnt offering and the ſacrifice for the people: and they ſhall ſtand before them to ſerue them.

12 Becauſe they ſerued before their idoles and cauſed the houſe of Iſrael to fall into iniquitie, therefore haue I lift vp mine hand againſt them, ſaith the Lord God, and they ſhall beare their iniquitie, 13 And they ſhall not come neere vnto me to doe the office of the Prieſt vnto me, neither ſhall they come neere vnto any of mine holy things in the moſt holy place, but they ſhall beare their ſhame and their abominations, which they haue committed.

14 And I will make them keepers of the watch of the Houſe, for all the ſeruice thereof, and for all that ſhalbe done therein.

e Which obſerued the Law of God, and fell not to idolatrie.

15 But the Prieſtes of the Leuites, the ſonnes of Zadok, that [e] kept the charge of my Sanctuarie, when the children of Iſrael went aſtray from me, they ſhall come neere to mee to ſerue mee, and they ſhall ſtand before me to offer me the fat and the blood, ſaith the Lord God.

16 They ſhall enter into my Sanctuarie, and ſhall come neere to my table, to ſerue me, and they ſhall keepe my charge.

17 And when they ſhal enter in at the gates of the inner court, they ſhalbe clothed with linnen garments, and no wooll ſhall come vpon them while they ſerue in the gates of the inner court, and within.

18 They ſhal haue linen bonets vpon their heads, and ſhal haue linnen breeches vpon their loynes: they ſhall not girde themſelues in the ſweating places.

19 But when they goe forth into the vtter court, euen to the vtter court to the people, they ſhall put off their garments, wherein they miniſtred, and lay them in the holy chambers, and they ſhall put on other garments: for they ſhal not ſanctifie the people with their garments.

23 And they ſhall teach my people the difference betweene the holy and prophane, and cauſe them to diſcerne betweene the vncleane and the cleane.

24 And in controuerſie they ſhall ſtand to iudge, and they ſhall iudge it according to my iudgements: and they ſhall keepe my lawes and my ſtatutes in all mine aſſemblies, & they ſhall ſanctifie my Sabbaths.

CHAP. XLV.

1 Out of the land of promiſe are there ſeparate foure portions, of which the firſt is giuen to the Prieſts and to the Temple, the ſecond to the Leuites, the third to the citie, the fourth to the prince. 9 An exhortation vnto the heads of Iſrael. 10 Of iuſt weights and meaſures. 13 Of the firſt fruites, &c.

MOreouer when ye ſhall diuide the land for inheritance, ye ſhall offer an oblation vnto the Lord an *holy portion of the land, 1 Of all the land of Iſrael the Lord onely requireth this portion for the Temple and for the Prieſts, for the citie and for the Prince. five and twentie thouſand reeds long, and ten thouſand broade: this ſhall be holy in all the borders thereof round about.

2 Of this there ſhalbe for the Sanctuary five hundreth in length, with five hundreth in breadth, all ſquare round about, and fiftie cubites round about for the ſuburbes thereof.

3 And of this meaſure ſhalt thou meaſure the length of five and twentie thouſand, and the breadth of ten thouſand: and in it ſhall be the Sanctuarie, and the moſt holy place.

4 The holy portion of the land ſhall be the Prieſts, which miniſter in the Sanctuary, which came neere to ſerue the Lorde: and it ſhall be a place for their houſes, and an holy place for the Sanctuarie.

5 And in the five and twentie thouſand of length, and the ten thouſand of breadth ſhall the Leuites, that miniſter in the houſe, haue their poſſeſſion for twentie chambers.

6 Alſo ye ſhall appoint the poſſeſſion of the citie, five thouſand broade, and five & twentie thouſand long ouer againſt the oblation of the holy portion: it ſhall be for the whole houſe of Iſrael.

7 And a portion ſhalbe for the prince on the one ſide, and on that ſide of the oblation of the holy portion, and of the poſſeſſion of the citie, euen before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the poſſeſſion of the citie from the Weſt corner Weſtward, & from the Eaſt corner Eaſtward, and the length ſhall be by one of the portions from the Weſt border vnto the Eaſt border.

8 In this land ſhalbe his poſſeſſion in Iſrael: and my Princes ſhall no more oppreſſe my people, & the reſt of the land ſhall they giue to the houſe of Iſrael, according to their tribes.

b The Prophet ſheweth that the heads muſt be firſt reformed before any good order can be eſtabliſhed among the people.

9 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Let it b ſuffice you, O Princes of Iſrael: leaue off crueltie and oppreſſion, and execute iudgement and iuſtice: take away your exactions from my people, ſaith the Lord God.

c Ephah and Bath were both of one quantitie, ſaue that Ephah conteined in dry things, that which Bath did in licour, Leuit. 5.11. 2.king. 5.11.

10 Ye ſhall haue iuſt balances, and a true c Ephah, and a true Bath.

11 The Ephah and the Bath ſhall be equall: a Bath ſhall conteine the tenth part of an Homer, and an Ephath the tenth part of an Homer: the equalitie thereof ſhall be after the Homer.

*Exod.30.13. leuit.27.25. num.3.47. d That is, three ſcore ſhekels make a weighe called Mina: for he ſo much three ſhekels more or leſſe make a Mina.

12 *And the ſhekell ſhall be twentie Gerahs, and twentie ſhekels, and d five & twentie ſhekels, & fifteene ſhekels ſhalbe your Maneh.

13 ¶ This is the oblation that ye ſhall offer, the firſt part of an Ephah of an Homer of wheate, and ye ſhall giue the firſt part of an Ephah of an Homer of barley.

14 Concerning the ordinance of the oile, euen of the Bath of oile, ye ſhall offer the tenth part of a Bath out of the Cor (ten Baths are an Homer: for ten Baths fill an Homer)

15 And one lambe of two hundreth sheepe out of the fat paſtures of Iſrael for a meate offering, and for a burnt offering, and for peace offerings, to make reconciliation for them, ſaith the Lord God.

16 All the people of the land ſhall giue this oblation for the Prince in Iſrael.

17 And

17 And it shall be the Princes part to giue burnt offrings, and meate offrings, and drinke offrings in the solemne feastes and in the newe Moones, and in the Sabbaths, and in all the high feastes of the house of Israel: he shall prepare the sinne offring, & the meate offering, and the burnt offering, and the peace offerings to make reconciliation for the house of Israel.

18 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, In the first moneth, in the first day of e the moneth, thou shalt take a yong bullocke without blemish, and clense the Sanctuarie.

e Which was Nisan, conteining part of March and part of April.

19 And the Priest shall take of the blood of the sinne offering, and put it vpon the postes of the house, and vpon the foure ‖ corners of the frame of the altar, and vpon the postes of the gate of the inner court.

‖ Or, court.

20 And so shalt thou doe the seuenth day of the moneth, for euery one that hath erred, and for him that is deceiued: so shall you reconcile the house.

21 * In the first moneth in the fourteenth day of the moneth, ye shall haue the Passeouer, a feast of seuen dayes, and ye shall eate vnleauened bread.

* Exod. 12. 18. Leuit. 23. 5.

22 And vpon that day, shall the prince prepare for himselfe, and for all the people of the land, a bullocke for a sinne offering.

24 And he shall prepare a meate offering of an Ephah for a bullocke, an Ephah for a ram, and an f Hin of oile for an Ephah.

f Reade Exod. 29. 40.

25 In the seuenth moneth, in the fifteenth day of the moneth, shall he doe the like in the feast for seuen dayes, according to the sinne offering, according to the burnt offering, and according to the meate offering, and according to the oile.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The sacrifice of the Sabbath, and of the newe Moones. 8 Thorow which doores they must goe in, or come out of the Temple, &c.

Verse 1. The inner court gate Q. wherevnto they went by by eight steps, as appeareth in the great figure.

THus saith the Lord God, The gate of the inner court, that turneth toward the East, shalbe shut the sixe working dayes: but on the Sabbath it shall be opened, and in the day of the newe Moone it shall be opened.

2 And the Prince shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate without, and shal stand by the post of the gate, and the Priestes shall make his burnt offring, and his peace offrings, and he shal worship at the threshold of the gate: after, he shall goe foorth, but the gate shall not be shut till the euening.

3 Likewise the people of the lande shall worship at the entrie of this gate before the Lord on the Sabbathes, and in the newe Moones.

4 And the burnt offering that the Prince shall offer vnto the Lord on the Sabbath day, shall be sixe lambes without blemish, and a ramme without blemish.

5 And the meate offering shall be an Ephah for a ramme: and the meate offering for the lambes a gift of his hand, and an Hin of oile to an Ephah.

a That is, as much as he will.

6 And in the day of the newe Moone it shall be a yong bullocke without blemish, and sixe lambes and a ramme: they shall be without blemish.

7 And he shall prepare a meate offering, euen an Ephah for a bullocke, and an Ephah for a ramme, and for the lambes b according as his hand shall bring, and an Hin of oile to an Ephah.

b Meaning, as he shall thinke good.

8 And when the Prince shall enter, he shall go in by the way of the porch of that gate, and he shall goe foorth by the way thereof.

9 But when the people of the land shall come before the Lord in the solemne feasts, he that entreth in by the way of the North gate to worship, shall go out by the way of ỹ South gate: and hee that entreth by the way of the South gate, shall goe foorth by the way of the North gate: he shall not returne by the way of the gate whereby he came in, but they shal goe foorth ouer against it.

Verse 9. He that entreth in by the North gate R. shall goe out by the South gate D. and contrary and in going forward they worshipped in the middes M.

10 And the Prince shall be in the mids of them: he shall go in when they go in, and when they go foorth, they shall go foorth together.

11 And in the feasts, and in the solemnities the meate offering shall be an Ephah to a bullocke, and an Ephah to a ramme, and to the lambes, the gift of his hand, and an Hin of oile to an Ephah.

12 Now when the prince shall make a free burnt offering or peace offerings freely vnto the Lord, one shall then open him the gate, that turneth toward the East, and he shall make his burnt offering and his peace offerings, as he did on the Sabbath day: after, he shall goe foorth, and when he is gone foorth, one shall shut the gate.

13 Thou shalt daily make a burnt offering vnto the Lord of a lambe of one yeere without blemish thou shalt doe it euery morning.

14 And thou shalt prepare a meate offring for it euery morning, the sixt part of an Ephah, and the third part of an Hin of oile, to mingle with the fine flowre: this meate offring shalbe continually by a perpetuall ordinance vnto the Lord.

15 Thus shall they prepare the lambe, and the meate offering and the oile euery morning, for a continuall burnt offering.

16 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, If the prince

Prince giue a gift of his inheritance vnto any of his sonnes, it shall be his sonnes, and it shall be their possession by inheritance, 17 But if hee giue a gift of his inheritance to one of his seruants, then it shall be his to the [c] peere of libertie: after, it shall returne to the Prince, but his inheritance shal remaine to his sonnes for them.

18 Moreouer, the Prince shall not [d] take of the peoples inheritance, nor thrust them out of their possession: but he shal cause his sonnes to inherite of his owne possession, that my people bee not scattered euery man from his possession.

19 ¶ After, he brought me through the entrie, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers of the Priests, which stood toward the North: and behold, there was a place at the West side of them.

20 Then said he vnto me, This is the place where the Priests shall seeth the trespasse offering and the sinne offering, where they shall bake the meate offering, that they should not beare them into the vtter Court, [e] to sanctifie the people.

21 Then he brought me forth into the vtter court, and caused me to go by the foure corners of the court: and behold, in euery corner of the court, there was a court.

22 In the foure corners of the Court there were courtes ioyned of fortie cubites long, and thirtie broad: these foure corners were of one measure.

23 And there went a wal about them, euen about those foure, and kitchins were made vnder the wals round about.

24 Then said he vnto mee, This is the kitchin where the ministers of the house shal seeth the sacrifice of the people.

CHAP. XLVII.

1 The vision of the waters that came out of the Temple. 13 The coastes of the land of promise, and the diuision thereof by tribes.

AFterward he brought me vnto the doore of the house: and behold, [a] waters issued out from vnder the threshold of the house Eastward: for the forefront of the house stood toward the East, and the waters ran down from vnder the right side of the house, at the South side of the altar.

2 Then brought he mee out toward the North gate, and led me about by the way without vnto the vpper gate, by the way that turneth Eastward: and behold, there came forth waters on the right side.

3 And when the man that had the line in his hand, went forth Eastward, he measured a thousand cubites, and he brought me through the waters: the waters were to the ankles.

4 Againe hee measured a thousand, and brought mee through the waters: the waters were to the knees: againe he measured a thousand, & brought me through: the waters were to the loines.

5 Afterward he measured a thousand, & it was a [b] riuer, that I could not passe ouer: for the waters were risen, & the waters did flowe, as a riuer that could not be passed ouer.

6 And he said vnto me, Sonne of mã, hast thou seene this? Then he brought me, and caused me to returne to the brinke of the riuer.

7 Now when I returned, beholde, at the brinke of the riuer were very many [c] trees on the one side, and on the other.

8 Then said he vnto mee, These waters issue out toward the East countrey, and runne downe into the plaine, and shall goe into one [d] Sea: they shall run into another Sea, and the [e] waters shall be wholesome.

9 And euery thing that liueth, which moueth, whereſoeuer the riuers shall come, shall liue, and there shall bee a very great multitude of fish, because these waters shal come thither: for they shalbe wholesome, and euery thing shal liue whither the riuer commeth.

10 And then the [f] fishers shal stand vpon it, & from En-gedi euen vnto [g] En-eglaim, they shal spread out their nets: for their fish shall be according to their kindes, as the fish of [h] the maine sea, exceeding many.

11 But [i] the myrie places thereof, and the marrises thereof shall not be wholesome: they shalbe made salt pits.

12 And by this riuer vpon the brinke thereof on this side, and on that side shall growe all ‖ fruitfull trees, whose leafe shall not fade, neither shall the fruite thereof faile: it shall bring forth new fruit according to his moneths, because their waters run out of the Sanctuarie: and the fruit thereof shall be meat, and the leafe thereof shalbe for ‖ medicine.

13 ¶ Thus saieth the Lord God, This shalbe the border, whereby ye shall inherite the land according to the twelue tribes *of Israel: Ioseph shall haue two portions.

14 And ye shall inherite it, one as well as another: *concerning the which I lift vp mine hand to giue it vnto your fathers, and this land shall fall vnto you for your inheritance.

15 And this shalbe the border [k] of the land toward the Northside, from the maine sea toward Hethlon as men go to Zedadah:

16 Hamath, Berothah, Sibraim, which is betweene the border of Damascus, & the border of Hamath, & Hazar, Hatticon, which is by the coast of Hauran.

17 And the border from the sea shal be Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus, & the residue of the North, Northward, and the border of Hamath: so shalbe the Northpart.

18 But

e That the people should not haue to doe with those things which appertaine to the Lord and thinke it lawful for them to eate them.

Verse 22. The litle court in euery corner, was fortie cubites long 7.8. & thirtie broad 8, 9. and 7, 9.

Verse 23. About the wals of these litle courtes, which were as kitchins, were litle chambers for the Cookes 10.

19 And the South side shalbe toward Teman from Tamar to the waters of ‖ Meriboth in Kadesh, and the riuer to the maine sea: so shalbe the South part toward Teman.

‖ Or, strife.

20 The West part also shall be the great sea from the border, till a man come ouer against Hamath: this shalbe the West part.

21 So shall yee diuide this land vnto you, according to the tribes of Israel.

22 And you shall diuide it by lot for an inheritance vnto you, and to the strangers that dwel among you, which shall beget children among you, and they shalbe vnto you, as borne in the countrey among the children of Israel, ‖ they shall part inheritance with you in the mids of the tribes of Israel.

‖ Meaning, that in this spiritual kingdom there should be no difference between Iew nor Gentile, but that all should be partakers of this inheritance in their head Christ.

23 And in what tribe the stranger dwelleth, there shal ye giue him his inheritance, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The lots of the tribes. 9 The partes of the possession of the Priests, of the Temple, of the Leuites, of the citie and of the Prince are rehearsed.

NOwe these are the names of the [a] tribes. From the Northside, to the coast toward Hethlon, as one goeth to Hamath, Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus Northward the coast of Hamath, euen from the East side to the West shalbe a portion for Dan.

a The tribes after that they entered into the land vnder Iosua, diuided the land somewhat otherwise then is here set forth by this vision.

2 And by the border of Dan from the East side vnto the West side, a portion for Asher.

3 And by the border of Asher from the East part euen vnto the West part a portion for Naphtali.

4 And by the border of Naphtali from the East quarter vnto the West side a portion for Manalleh.

5 And by the border of Manalleh from the East side vnto the West side a portion for Ephraim.

6 And by the border of Ephraim, from the East part euen vnto the West part, a portion for Reuben.

7 And by the border of Reuben, from the East quarter vnto the West quarter, a portion for Iudah.

8 And by the border of Iudah from the East part vnto the West part [b] shal be the offering which they shal offer of fiue and twentie thousand reedes broad, and of length as one of the other partes, from the East side vnto the West side, and the Sanctuarie shall bee in the mids of it.

b That is, the portion of the ground, which they shal separate & appoint to the Lord, which shall be diuided into three parts: for the Priestes, for the Prince, and for the citie.

9 The oblation that yee shall offer vnto the Lord, shalbe of fiue and twentie thousand long, and of ten thousand the breadth.

10 And for them, euen for the Priests shal be this holy oblation, toward the North fiue & twentie thousand long, and toward the West, ten thousand broad, and toward the East ten thousand broad, & toward the South fiue and twentie thousand long, and the Sanctuarie of the Lord shalbe in the mids thereof.

11 It shalbe for the Priests that are sanctified of the sonnes of * Zadok, which haue kept my charge, which went not astray when the children of Israel went astray as the Leuites went astray. * Chap. 44. 15.

12 Therefore this oblation of the land that is offered, shalbe theirs, as a thing most holy by the border of the Leuites.

13 And ouer against y border of the Priests the Leuites shall haue fiue and twentie thousand long, and ten thousand broad: al the length shalbe fiue & twentie thousand, and the breadth ten thousand.

14 And they shal not sel of it, neither change it, nor abalienate the first fruits of the land: for it is holy vnto the Lord.

15 And the fiue thousand that are left in the breadth ouer against the fiue and twentie thousand, shalbe a prophane place for the citie, for housing, and for suburbes, and the citie shal be in the mids thereof.

16 And these shalbe the measures thereof, the North part fiue hundreth & foure thousand, and the South part [c] fiue hundreth and foure thousand, and the East part fiue hundreth and foure thousand, & the West part fiue hundreth and foure thousand.

c Meaning, that it should be square.

17 And the suburbes of the citie shall be toward the North two hundreth and fiftie, & toward the South two hundreth and fiftie, & toward the East two hundreth and fiftie, and toward the West two hundreth and fiftie.

18 And the residue in length ouer against the oblation of the holy portiō shalbe ten thousand Eastward, and ten thousand Westward: and it shall bee ouer against the oblation of the holy portion, and the increase thereof shalbe for food vnto them that serue in the citie.

19 And they that serue in the citie, shall be of all the tribes of Israel that shall serue therein.

20 All the oblation shall bee fiue and twentie thousand with [d] fiue and twentie thousand: you shall offer this oblation foure square for the Sanctuarie, and for the possession of the citie.

d Euery way it shall be fiue and twe ntie thousand.

21 And the residue shall bee for the prince on the one side and on the other of the oblation of the Sanctuarie, and of the possession of the citie, ouer against the fiue & twentie thousand of the oblation toward the East border, and

West-

Westward ouer against the fiue and twentie thousand toward the West border, ouer against shalbe for the portion of the prince: this shalbe the holy oblation, and the house of the Sanctuarie shalbe in the mids thereof.

22 Moreouer, from the possession of the Leuites, and from the possession of the citie, that which is in the mids shall bee the princes: betweene the border [c] of Judah, and between the border of Beniamin shall be the princes.

23 And the rest of the tribes shall be thus: from the East part vnto the West part of Beniamin shalbe a portion.

24 And by the border of Beniamin from the East side vnto the West side Simeon a portion.

25 And by the border of Simeon from the East part vnto the West part, Isshachar a portion.

26 And by the border of Isshachar, from the East side vnto the West, Zebulun a portion.

27 And by the border of Zebulun from the East part vnto the West part, Gad a portion.

28 And by the border of Gad at the South side, toward [f] Temath, the border shall be euen from [g] Tamar, vnto the waters of Meribath in Kadesh, and to the [h] riuer that runneth into the maine sea.

29 This is the land which yee shall distribute vnto the tribes of Israel for inheritance, and these are their portions, saieth the Lorde God.

30 And these are the boundes of the citie, on the North side fiue hundreth, & foure thousand measures.

31 And the gates of the citie shall be after the names of the tribes of Israel, the gates Northward, one gate of Reuben, one gate of Judah, & one gate of Leui.

32 And at the East side fiue hundreth and foure thousand, & three gates, and one gate of Joseph, one gate of Beniamin, and one gate of Dan.

33 And at the South side, fiue hundreth and foure thousand measures, and three ports, one gate of Simeon, one gate of Isshachar, & one gate of Zebulun.

34 At the West side, fiue hundreth and foure thousand, with their three gates, one gate of Gad, one gate of Asher, and one gate of Naphtali.

35 It was round about eighteene thousand measures, and the name of the citie from that day shalbe, † The Lord is there.

DANIEL.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe great prouidence of God, and his singular mercy toward his Church are most liuely here set foorth, who neuer leaueth his destitute, but nowe in their greatest miseries and afflictions giueth them Prophets, as Ezekiel and Daniel, whom he adorned with such graces of his holy spirite, that Daniel aboue all other had most speciall reuelations of such things as should come to the Church, euen from the time that they were in captiuitie, to the last end of the world, and to the generall resurrection, as of the foure Monarchies and Empires of all the world, to wit, of the Babylonians, Persians, Grecians and Romanes. Also of the certaine number of the times euen vnto Christ, when all ceremonies and sacrifices should cease, because he should bee the accomplishment thereof: moreouer he sheweth Christes office and the cause of his death, which was by his sacrifice to take away sinnes, and to bring euerlasting life. And as from the beginning God euer exercised his people vnder the crosse, so he teacheth here, that after that Christ is offered, he wil still leaue this exercise to his Church vntill the dead rise againe, and Christ gather his into his kingdom in the heauens.

CHAP. I.

1 The captiuitie of Iehoiakim king of Iudah. 4 The king chuseth certaine yong men of the Iewes to learne his law. 5 They haue the Kings ordinarie appointed, 8 They abstaine from it.

a Read 2. King. 24. 1. and iere. 25. 1.

IN the [a] third yeere of the reigne of Iehoiakim king of Judah, came Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel vnto Jerusalem and besieged it.

b Which was a plaine by Babylon, where was the Temple of their great god, as is here taken for Babylon.

2 And the Lord gaue Iehoiakim king of Judah, into his hand, with part of the vessels of the house of God, which hee caried into the land [b] of Shinar, to the house of his God, and he brought his vessels into his gods treasurie.

3 And the King spake vnto [c] Ashpenaz the master of his [d] Eunuches, that he should bring certaine of the children of Israel, of the [e] kings seed, and of the princes:

4 Children in whom was no blemish, but wel [f] fauoured, and instruct in all wisedome, and well seene in knowledge, and able to vtter knowledge, and such as were able to stand in the kings palace, and whom they might teach c Who was ouer master of the wardes.

d He calleth them Eunuches whom the king nourished and brought vp to be rulers of other countries afterward.

e His purpose was to keepe the as hostages, and that he might shew himselfe victorious, and also by their good intreatie and learning of his religion, they might fauour rather him then the Iewes, and so to be able to serue him as gouernours in their land: moreouer by this means the Iewes might be better kept in subiection, fearing otherwise to procure hurt to these noble men.

f The king required three things, that they should be of noble birth, that they should be wonte ouer learned, and that they should be of a strong and comely nature, that they might do him better seruice: this hee did for his owne commoditie, therefore it is not to praise his liberalitie: yet in this he is worthie praise, that he esteemed learning, and knew that it was a necessary meane to gouerne by.

the s learning, and the tongue of the Chaldeans.

5 And the King appoynted them prouision euery day of a h portion of the kings meate, and of the wine which hee dranke, so nourishing them i three yeere, that at the ende thereof, they might stand k before the king.

6 Now among these were certaine of the children of Iudah, Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah, 7 Unto whome the chiefe of the Eunuches l gaue other names: for hee called Daniel, Belteshazzar, and Hananiah, Shadrach, and Mishael, Meshach, and Azariah, Abednego.

8 ¶ But Daniel had determined in his heart, that he would not m defile himselfe with the portion of the kings meate, nor with the wine which hee dranke: therefore he required the chiefe of the Eunuches that hee might not defile himselfe.

9 (Now God had brought Daniel into fauour, and tender loue with the chief of the Eunuches)

10 And the chiefe of the Eunuches sayde vnto Daniel, n I feare my lord the king, who hath appointed your meate and your drinke: therefore if he see your faces worse liking then the other children, which are of your sort, then shall yee make me lose mine head vnto the king.

11 Then saide Daniel to Melzar, whome the chiefe of the Eunuches had set ouer Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, 12 Proue thy seruants, I beseech thee, o ten dayes, and let them giue vs p pulse to eate, and water to drinke.

13 Then let our countenances bee looked vpon before thee, and the countenances of the children that eate of the portion of the kings meat: q as thou seest, deale with thy seruants.

14 So hee consented to them in this matter, and proued them ten dayes.

15 And at the ende of tenne dayes, their q countenances appeared fairer and in † better liking then all the children, which did eate the portion of the kings meate.

16 Then Melzar tooke away the portion of their meate, and the wine that they should drinke, and gaue them pulse.

17 As for these foure children, God gaue them knowledge, and vnderstanding in al learning r and wisedome: also hee gaue Daniel vnderstanding of all s visions and dreames.

18 Now when the time was t expired, that the king had appoynted to bring them in, the chiefe of the Eunuches brought them before Nebuchad-nezzar.

19 And the king communed with them: and among them all was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, therefore stood they before the king.

20 And in all matters of wisdome, and vnderstanding that the king enquired of them, hee found them tenne times better then all the inchanters and Astrologians, that were in all his realme.

21 And Daniel was vnto u the first yeere of king Cyrus.

CHAP. II.

1 The dreame of Nebuchad-nezzar. 13 The king commandeth all the wise men of Babylon to be slaine because they could not interprete his dreame. 16 Daniel requireth time to solute the question. 24 Daniel is brought vnto the king and sheweth him his dreame and the interpretation thereof. 44 Of the euerlasting kingdom of Christ.

AND in the a seconde yeere of the reigne of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuchad-nezzar dreamed b dreames wherewith his spirite was c troubled, and his d sleepe was vpon him.

2 Then the king commaunded to call the inchanters, and the astrologians and the sorcerers, and the c Caldeans for to shewe the king his dreames: so they came and stood before the king.

3 And the king saide vnto them, I haue dreamed a dreame, and my spirit was troubled to know the dreame.

4 Then spake the Caldeans to the king in the f Aramites language, O king, liue for euer: shewe thy seruants thy dreame, and wee shall shew the interpretation.

5 And the king answered and saide to the Caldeans, The thing is gone from me. If yee will not make me vnderstand the dreame with the interpretation thereof, ye g shall be drawen in pieces, and your houses shall bee made a iakes.

6 But if yee declare the dreame and the interpretation thereof, yee shall receiue of mee giftes and rewards, and great honour: therefore shew mee the dreame and the interpretation thereof.

a The father and the sonne were both called by this name: so that this is meant of the sonne, when he reigned alone: for he reigned also after a sort with his father.

b Not y he had many dreames, but because many matters were contained in this dreame.

c Because it was so rare and strãge a dreame, that he had not had the like.

d He was so brused with sleepe, that he began to sleepe againe. Some read, and his sleepe was broken frõ him.

e For all these Astrologers and sorcerers called themselues by this name of honour as though all the wisdome and knowledge of the country depended vpon them, and that al other countries were boyd of the same.

f That is, in the Syrian tongue which differed not much from the Caldean, saue it seemed to bee more eloquent, and therfore the learned vsed to speake it: as the Iewish writers doe to this day.

g This is a iust reward of their arrogancie (which daunted of themselues that they had the knowledge of all things) that they should be preuented fooles, and that to their perpetual shame and confusion.

r Meaning, in the liberall sciences, and naturall knowledge, and not in the magicall artes which are forbidden, Deut. 18. 11.

s So that he only was a prophet and name of the other: for by dreames & visions God appeared to his Prophets, Num. 12. 6.

t Of the three yeres aboue mentioned, verse 5.

u That is, he was esteemed in Babylon as a Prophet so long as that common wealth stood.

g That they might forget their owne religion and countrey facions, to serue him the better to his purpose: yet it is not to be thought that Daniel did learne any knowledge that was not godly: in all points he refused the abuse of things and superstition, insomuch that he would not eate the meate which the king appointed him, but was content to learne the knowledge of naturall things.

h That by their good entertainment they might learne to forget the mediocritie of their owne people.

i To the intent that in this time they might both learne the maners of the Caldeans, and also their tongue.

k As well to serue at the table, as in other offices.

l That they might altogether forget their religion: for the Iewes gaue their children names, which might euer put them in remembrance of some point of religion: therfore this was a great tentation, and a signe of seruitude which they were not able to resist.

m Not that he thought any religion to be in the meate or drinke (for afterward he did eat) but because the king should not enuie him by this sweete poison to forget his religion and accustomed holinesse, and that in his meate and drinke he might daily remember of what people he was: o Daniel bringeth this in to shew how God from the beginning assisted him with his Spirit, & at length called him to be a Prophet. n He supposed they did this for their religion, which was contrary to the Babylonians & therefore herein he representeth them, which are of no religion: for neither hee would condemne theirs nor maintaine his owne.

o Meaning, that within this space hee might haue the tryall, and that no man should bee able to discerne it: and thus hee spake, being mooued by the Spirit of God. p Not that it was a thing abominable to eate deintie meates, and to drinke wine, as both before and after they did, but if they should haue hereby bene wonne to the King and haue refused their owne religion, that meate and drinke had bene accursed. q This bare feeding and that also of Moses when he fledde from the court of Egypt, declareth that we must liue in such sobrietie as God doeth call vs vnto, seeing hee will make it more profitable vnto vs, then all deinties: for his blessing onely sufficeth. †Ebr. facter in flesh.

7 They answered againe, and said, Let the King shewe [h] his seruants the dreame, and we will declare the interpretation thereof.

8 Then the King answered, & said, I know certainely that ye † would gaine the time, because ye see the thing is gone from me.

9 But if yee will not declare mee the dreame, there is but one iudgement for you: for ye haue prepared lying and corrupt words, to speake before mee till the time be changed: therefore tell me the dreame, that I may know if yee can declare mee the interpretation thereof.

10 Then the Caldeans answered before the King, and saide, There is no man vpon earth that can declare the Kings matter: yea, there is neither King nor prince nor lord that asked such things at an inchanter or astrologian or Caldean.

11 For it is a rare thing that the King requireth, and there is none other that can declare it before the King, except the gods whose dwelling is not with flesh.

12 For this cause the King was angrie and in great furie, and commaunded to destroy all the wise men of Babel.

13 ¶ And when sentence was giuen, the wise men were slaine: and they [i] sought Daniel and his fellowes to be put to death.

14 Then Daniel answered with counsell and wisedome to Arioch the Kings ‖ chiefe steward, which was gone forth to put to death the wise men of Babel.

15 Yea, hee answered and sayde vnto Arioch the Kings captaine, Why is the sentence so hastie from the King? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel.

16 So Daniel went and desired the king that hee would giue him leasure, and that hee would shewe the King the interpretation thereof.

17 ¶ Then Daniel went to his house and shewed the matter to Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah his companions, 18 That they should beseech the God of heauen for grace in this secrete, that Daniel and his fellowes should not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babel.

19 Then was the secret reuealed vnto Daniel in a vision by night: therefore Daniel praised the God of heauen.

20 And Daniel answered and said, * The Name of God be praised for euer and euer: for wisedome and strength are his,

21 And he changeth the times and seasons: he taketh away kings: he setteth vp Kings: he giueth wisedome vnto the wise, and vnderstanding to those that vnderstand.

22 Hee discouereth the deepe and secrete things: he knoweth what is in the darkenesse, and the [k] light dwelleth with him.

23 I thanke thee and praise thee, O thou God of my [l] fathers, that thou hast giuen mee wisedome and [m] strength, and hast shewed mee nowe the thing that wee desired of thee: for thou hast declared vnto vs the Kings matter.

24 ¶ Therefore Daniel went vnto Arioch, whom the King had ordeined to destroy the wise men of Babel: he went and saide thus vnto him, Destroy not [n] the wise men of Babel, but bring mee before the King, and I will declare vnto the King the interpretation.

25 Then Arioch brought Daniel before the King in all haste, and saide thus vnto him, I haue found a man of the children of Iudah that were brought captiues, that will declare vnto the King the interpretation.

26 Then answered the King, and sayde vnto Daniel, whose name was Beltesshazzar, Art thou able to shewe me the dreame, which I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof?

27 Daniel answered in the presence of the king, and said, The secret which the king hath demaunded, can neither the wise, the Astrologians, the Inchanters, nor the Soothsayers declare vnto the king.

28 But there is a God in [o] heauen that reuealeth secrets, and sheweth the king Nebuchad-nezzar what shall bee in the latter dayes. Thy dreame, and the things which thou hast seene in thine head vpon thy bed, is this.

29 O king, when thou wast in thy bed, thoughts came into thy minde, what should come to passe hereafter, and he that reuealeth secrets, telleth thee, what shall come.

30 As for me, this secret is not shewed me for any wisedome that I haue, more then any other liuing, but onely to shewe the king the interpretation, and that thou mightest know the thoughts of thine heart.

31 O king, thou sawest, and beholde, there was a great image: this great image whose glorie was so excellent, stoode before thee, and the forme thereof was terrible.

32 This images head was of fine [q] gold, his breast and his armes of siluer, his bellie and his thighs of brasse, 33 His legges of yron, and his feete were part of yron, and part of clay.

34 Thou beheldest it till a stone was cut without handes, which smote the image vpon his feete, that were of yron and clay, and brake them to pieces.

35 Then was the yron, the clay, the brasse, the siluer, and the golde broken all together, h Herein appeared their ignorance, that notwithstanding their braggs, yet were they not able to tell the dreame, except he entred them into the matter, and therefore they would pretend knowledge where was but mere ignorance, and so as deluders of the people, they were worthy to die.

† Ebr. redeeme the time.

i Which declareth, that God would not haue his seruants ioyned in the companie of these sorcerers, and Astrologers, whose arts were wicked, and therefore iustly ought to die, though the king did it vpon a rage, and no zeale.

‖ Or, the captaine of the garde.

* Psal. 113. 2. and 115. 18.

k He sheweth that man hath neither wisdome nor knowledge, but very darke blindenesse, and ignorance of himselfe: for it commeth onely of God, that we vnderstandeth any thing.

l To whom the maiesti thy promises, and who liued in thy feare wherebyhe excluderh all other gods.

m Meaning, power to interpret it.

n Whereby appeareth that many were slaine, as verse 13. and the rest at Daniels offer were preserued on condition: not that Daniel fauoured their wicked profession, but that he had respect to equitie because the King proceeded according to his wicked affection, and not considering if their Science were lawful or no.

o He affirmeth that man by reason and arte is not able to attaine to the cause of Gods secrets: but the vnderstanding onely thereof must come of God: wherefore he smiteth the king with a certaine feare and reuerence of God, that he might bee the more apt to receiue the high mysteries, that should be reuealed.

p Because he had saide that God onely must reuelle the signification of this dreame, the king might haue asked, why Daniel did enterprise to interprete it, and therefore he sheweth, that he was but Gods minister, and had no gifts, but such as God had giuen him to set forth his glory.

q By golde, siluer, brasse, and yron, are meant the Caldean, Persian, Grecian, and Romane kingdome, which should successiuely rule all the worlde till Christ (which is here called the stone) come himselfe, and destroy the last: and this was to assure the Iewes, that their afflictions should not endure with the empire of the Caldeans, but that they should patiently abide the comming of Messiah, which should be at the ende of the fourth Monarchie.

and became like the chaffe of the Sommer floures, and the winde caried them away, that no place was found for them: and the stone that smote the image, became a great mountaine, and filled the whole earth.

36 This is the dreame, and wee will declare before the King the interpretation thereof.

37 ¶ O King, thou art a king of kings: for the God of heauen hath giuen thee a kingdome, power, and strength, and glory.

38 And in all places where the children of men dwell, the beastes of the field, and the foules of the heauen hath hee giuen into thine hande, and hath made thee ruler ouer them all: thou art [r] this head of golde.

39 And after thee shall rise another kingdome, [s] inferiour to thee, of siluer, and another [t] thirde kingdome shalbe of brasse, which shall beare rule ouer all the earth.

40 And the fourth kingdome shalbe strong as yron: for as yron breaketh in pieces, and subdueth all things, and as yron bruiseth all these things, so shall it breake in [u] pieces, and bruise all.

41 Where as thou sawest the feete and toes, part of potters clay, and part of yron: the kingdome shalbe [x] deuided, but there shall be in it of the strength of the yron, as thou sawest the yron mixt with the clay, and earth.

42 And as the toes of the feete were part of yron, and part of clay, so shall the kingdome be partly strong, and partly broken.

43 And where as thou sawest yron mixt with clay and earth, they shall mingle themselues with [y] the seede of men: but they shall not ioyne one with another, as yron cannot be mixed with clay,

44 And in the dayes of these kings, shal the God of heauen set vp a kingdome, which [z] shall neuer be destroyed: and this kingdome shal not bee giuen to another people, but it shall breake and destroy all these kingdomes, and it shall stand for euer.

45 Where as thou sawest, that the [a] stone was cut off the mountaine without hands, and that it brake in pieces the yron, the brasse, the clay, the siluer, and the golde: so the great God hath shewed the king, what shall come to passe hereafter, and the dreame is true, and the interpretation thereof is sure.

46 ¶ Then the king Nebuchad-nezzar fel vpon his face, [b] bowed himselfe vnto Daniel, and commaunded that they shoulde offer meate offerings, and sweete odours vnto him.

47 Also the king answered vnto Daniel, and said, I know of a trueth that your [c] God is a God of gods, and the Lord of kings, and the reueiler of secrets, seeing thou couldest open this secret.

48 So the king made Daniel a great man, and gaue him many and great [d] gifts. He made him gouernour ouer the whole prouince of Babel, and chiefe of the rulers, and aboue all the wise men of Babel.

49 Then Daniel [e] made request to the king, and he set Shadrach, Meſach, and Abednego ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel: but Daniel sate in the [f] gate of the king.

r Daniel leaueth out the kingdome of the Assyrians, which was before the Babylonian, both because it was not a monarchie and generall empire, and also because he would declare the things, that were to come, to the comming of Christ, for the comfort of the elect among these wonderfull alterations: and he calleth the Babylonians kingdome the golden head, because in respect of the other three, it was the best, and yet was of it selfe wicked and cruel.

s Meaning, the Persians which were not inferiour in dignitie, power, and riches, but were worse touching ambition, cruelty, and all kinde of vices then the Babylonians, that the world should grow worse and worse, till it was restored by Christ.

t That is, of the Macedonians shalbe of brasse, not alluding to the hardnesse thereof, but to the vilenesse in respect of siluer.

u That is, the Romane empire shall subdue all these other aforenamed, which after Alexander were deuided into the Macedonians, Grecians, Syrians and Egyptians.

x They shall haue ciuill warres and continuall discordes among themselues.

y They shall by mariages and affinities thinke to make themselues strong: yet shal they neuer be ioyned in hearts.

z His purpose is to shewe, that all the kingdomes of the world are transitorie, and that the kingdome of Christ shal onely remaine for euer.

a Meaning Christ, who was sent of God, and not set vp by man, whose kingdome at the beginning should bee small and without beautie to mans iudgement, but should at length growe and fil the whole earth, which he calleth a great mountaine as verse 35. And this kingdome, which is not only referred to the person of Christ, but also to the whole body of his Church, and to euery member thereof, shall bee eternall: for the spirit that is in them, is life eternall, Rom. 8, 10.

b Though this humbling of the King seemed to deserue commendation, yet because he ioyned Gods honour with the Prophets, it is to be reproued, and Daniel herein erred, if he suffered it: but it is credible that Daniel admonished him of his fault, and did not suffer it.

c This confession was but a sudden motion, as it was also in Pharaoh, Exod. 9.28. but his heart was not touched, as appeared soone afterward.

d Not that the Prophet was destrous of gifts or honour, but because by this meanes he might relieue his poore brethren which were grieuously oppressed in this their captiuitie, and also bee receiued them, lest hee should offend this cruel king, which willingly gaue them.

e He did not this for their priuate profit, but that the whole Church which was then there in affliction, might haue some release and ease by this benefite.

f Meaning, that either hee was a Iudge, or that he had the whole authoritie, so that none could be admitted to the Kings presence, but by him.

CHAP. III.

1 The King setteth vp a golden image. 8 Certaine are accused because they despised the Kings commaundement, and are put into a burning ouen. 25 By beliefe in God they are deliuered from the fire. 26 Nebuchad-nezzar confesseth the power of God after the sight of the miracle.

NEbuchad-nezzar the king made [a] an Image of golde, whose height was three score cubites, and the breadth thereof sixe cubites: hee set it vp in the plaine of Dura, in the prouince of Babel.

a Vnder pretence of religion, and holinesse in making an Image to his idole Bel, he sought his owne ambition and vaine glory: and this declareth, that he was not touched with the true feare of God before, but that he confessed him on a sudden motion, as the wicked when they are ouercome with the greatnesse of his workes. The Greeke interpreters write, that this was done eighteene yeeres after the dreame, and as may appeare, the King feared least the Iewes by their religion should haue altered the state of his common

2 Then Nebuchad-nezzar the king sent forth to gather together the nobles, the princes and the dukes, the iudges, the receiuers, the counsellers, the officers, and all the gouernors of the prouinces, for that they shoulde come to the [b] dedication of the Image, which Nebuchad-nezzar the [c] king had set vp.

3 So the nobles, princes and dukes, the iudges, the receiuers, the counsellers, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces were assembled vnto the dedicating of the Image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set vp: and they stoode before the Image, which Nebuchad-nezzar had set vp.

4 Then an herald cried aloude, Vnto it knowen to you, O people, [d] nations, and languages, wealth, and therefore he meant to bring all to one kinde of religion, and so rather sought his owne quietnesse, then Gods glory.

b Shewing, that the idole is not knowen for an idole so long as he is with the workemen: but when the ceremonies and customes are recited and vsed, and the consent of the people is there, then of a blocke they thinke they haue made a god.

c This was sufficient with the wicked at all times to approue their religion, if the Kings authoritie were aleaged for the establishing thereof, not considering in the meane season what Gods word did permit.

d These are the two naughtie and dangerous weapons wherewith Satan vseth to fight against the children of God, the consent of the multitude and the cruelty of the punishment: for though some feared God, yet the multitude and consented to the wickednesse, abhorred them: and here the King required not an inward consent, but an outward gesture, that the Iewes might by little and little learne to forget their true Religion.

5 That when yee heare the ſound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, ſackebut, pſalterie, dulcimer, and all inſtruments of muſike, yee fall down and worſhip the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king hath ſet vp.

6 And whoſoeuer falleth not downe and worſhippeth, ſhall the ſame houre bee caſt into the mids of an hote firie fornace.

7 Therefore as ſoone as all the people heard the ſound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, ſackebut, pſalterie, and all inſtruments of muſike, all the people, nations and languages, fell downe, and worſhipped the golden image that Nebuchad-nezzar the king had ſet vp.

8 ¶ By reaſon whereof at that ſame time came men of the Caldeans, and gricuouſly accuſed the Iewes.

9 For they ſpake and ſaid to the king Nebuchad-nezzar, O king, liue for euer.

10 Thou, O King, haſt made a decree, that euery man that ſhall heare the ſound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, ſackebut, pſalterie, and dulcimer, and all inſtruments of muſike, ſhall fall downe and worſhip the golden image, 11 And whoſoeuer falleth not downe, and worſhippeth, that hee ſhould bee caſt into the mids of an hote fierie fornace.

12 There are certaine Iewes whom thou haſt ſet ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel, [e] Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abednego: theſe men, O king, haue not regarded thy commandement, neither will they ſerue thy gods, nor worſhip the golden image, that thou haſt ſet vp.

13 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar in his anger and wrath commaunded that they ſhould bring Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abednego: ſo theſe men were brought before the king.

14 And Nebuchad-nezzar ſpake, and ſayd vnto them, What diſorder [f] will not you, Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abednego ſerue my god, nor worſhip the golden image that I haue ſet vp?

15 [f] Nowe therefore are ye readie when ye heare the ſound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe ſackebut, pſalterie and dulcimer, and all inſtruments of muſike, to fall downe, and worſhip the image which I haue made? for if yee worſhip it not, ye ſhall be caſt immediately into the middes of an hote fierie fornace: for who is that God, that can deliuer you out of mine hands?

16 Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abednego anſwered and ſayd to the King, O Nebuchadnezzar, we [g] are not careful to anſwere thee in this matter.

17 Beholde, our God whom wee ſerue, is [h] able to deliuer vs from the hote fierie fornace, and he will deliuer vs out of thine hand, O king.

18 But if not, be it knowen to thee, O king, that we will not ſerue thy gods, nor worſhip the golden image, which thou haſt ſet vp.

19 ¶ Then was Nebuchad-nezzar full of rage, and the forme of his viſage was changed againſt Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abednego: therfore he charged and commanded that they ſhould heate the fornace at once ſeuen [i] times more then it was wont to be heate.

20 So theſe men were bound in their coates, their hoſen, and their clokes, with their other garments, and caſt into the mids of the hote fierie fornace.

21 So theſe men were bounde in their coates, their hoſen, and their clokes, with their other garments, and caſt into the mids of the hote fierie fornace.

22 Therefore, becauſe the kings commandement was ſtraite, that the fornace ſhould bee exceeding hote, the flame of the fire ſlew thoſe men that brought forth Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abednego.

23 And theſe three men Shadrach, Meſhach and Abednego fel downe bound into the mids of the hote fierie fornace.

24 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar the King was aſtonied and roſe vp in haſte, and ſpake, and ſaid vnto his counſellers, Did not we caſt three men bound into the middes of the fire? Who anſwered and ſayd vnto the king, It is true, O king.

25 And hee anſwered, and ſayd, Loe, I ſee foure men looſe, walking in the middes of the fire, and they haue no hurt, and the forme of the fourth is like the [k] ſonne of God.

26 Then the king Nebuchad-nezzar came neere to the mouth of the hote fierie fornace, and ſpake and ſayd, Shadrach, Meſhach and Abednego, the ſeruants of the high God, goe forth and come hither: ſo Shadrach, Meſhach and Abednego [l] came forth of the mids of the fire.

27 Then the nobles, princes and Dukes, and the kings counſellers came together to ſee theſe men, becauſe the fire had no power ouer their bodies: for not an haire of their head was burnt, neither were their coates changed, nor any ſmell of fire came vpon them.

28 Wherefore Nebuchad-nezzar ſpake and ſayd, [m] Bleſſed be the God of Shadrach, Meſhach and Abednego, who hath ſent his Angel, and deliuered his ſeruaunts, that put their truſt in him, and haue changed the kings commaundement, and yeelded their bodies rather then they would ſerue or worſhip any god, ſaue their owne God.

29 Therefore I make a decree, that euery people, nation and language, which ſpeake any [n] blaſ-

[e] It ſeemeth, that they named not Daniel becauſe he was greatly in the kings fauour, thinking if theſe three had bin deſtroyed, they might haue had better occaſion to accuſe Daniel: and this declareth that this policie of erecting this image, was inuented by the malicious flatterers, which ſought nothing but the deſtruction of the Iewes, whom they accuſed of rebellion and ingratitude.

[f] Signifying, that he would receiue them to grace, if they would now at the length obey his decree.

[g] For they ſhould haue done iniurie to God, if they ſhould haue doubted in this holy cauſe, and therefore they ſay, that they are reſolued to die for Gods cauſe.

[h] They ground on two points, firſt on the power and prouidence of God ouer them, and ſecondly on their cauſe, which was Gods glory, & the teſtifying of his true religion with their blood, and to make open confeſſion, that they will not ſo much as outwardly conſent to idolatrie.

[i] This declareth that the more that tyrants rage, and the more wittie they ſhew themſelues in inuenting ſtrange and cruel punishments, the more is God glorified by his ſeruants, to whom he giueth patience and conſtancie to abide the cruelties of their puniſhment: for either he deliuereth them from death, or els for this life giueth them a better.

[k] For the Angels were called the ſonnes of God, becauſe of their excellencies: therfore the king called this Angel, whom God ſent to comfort his in theſe great tormentes, the ſonne of God.

[l] This commendeth their obedience vnto God, that they would not for any feare depart out of this fornace, till the time was appointed, as Noah remained in the Arke till the Lord called him forth.

[m] He was moued by the greatnes of the miracle to praiſe God, but his heart was not touched. And here we ſee that miracles are not ſufficient to conuert men to God, but that doctrine muſt chiefly be adioyned, without the which there can be no faith.

If this heathen king moued by Gods Spirit would not see blaſphemie puniſhed, but made a law and ſet a puniſhment to ſuch tranſgreſſors, much more ought all they that profeſſe religion, take order that ſuch impietie reigne not, leſt according as their knowledge and charge is greater, ſo they ſuffer double puniſhment.

o Meaning ſo farre as his dominiõ extended.

p Read Chap. 2.44.

n blaſphemie againſt the God of Shadrach, Meſhach & Abednego, ſhalbe drawen in pieces, and their houſes ſhall be made a iakes, becauſe there is no God that can deliuer after this ſort.

30 Then the king promoted Shadrach, Meſhach & Abednego in the prouince of Babel.

31 Nebuchad-nezzar king, vnto all people nations and languages, that dwel in all the o world, Peace be multiplied vnto you:

32 I thought it good to declare the ſignes and wonders, that the hie God hath wrought toward me.

33 How great are his ſignes, & how mightie are his wonders! p his kingdom is an euerlaſting kingdom, and his dominion is from generation to generation.

CHAP. IIII.

2 Another dreame of Nebuchad-nezzar, which Daniel declareth. 29 The Prophet declareth how of a proud king he ſhould become as a beaſt. 31 After, he confeſſeth the power of God, and is reſtored to his former dignitie.

a There was no trouble that might cauſe me to dreame, and therefore it came onely of God.

b This was another dreame beſides that which he ſaw of the foure empires: for Daniel both declared what that dreame was and what it ment: and here he only expounderh the dreame.

c In that that he ſent abroad to others whole ignorance in times paſt he had experimented, and left Daniel which was euer ready at hand, it declareth the nature of the vngodly, which neuer ſeeke to the ſeruants of God, but for very neceſſity, and then they ſpare no flatterings.

d This no doubt was a great griefe to Daniel not only to haue his name changed, but to be called by the name of a vile idole, which thing Nebuchad-nezzar did to make him forget the true religion of God.

e Which alſo was a great griefe to the Prophet to be numbred among the ſorcerers and men whole practiſes were wicked and contrary to Gods word.

f By the tree is ſignified the dignitie of a king whom God ordeineth to be a defence for all kind of men, and whole ſtate is profitable for mankind.

I Nebuchad-nezzar being at a reſt in mine houſe, and flouriſhing in my palace,

2 Saw a b dreame, which made me afraid, and the thoughts vpon my bed, and the viſions of mine head troubled me.

3 Therefore made I a decree, that they ſhould bring all the wiſe men of Babel before me, that they might declare vnto me the interpretation of the dreame.

4 So came the inchanters, the aſtrologians, the Caldeans & the ſoothſayers, to whom I told the dreame, but c they could not ſhew me the interpretation thereof,

5 Til at the laſt Daniel came before me, (whoſe name was d Belteſhazzar, according to the name of my god, which hath the ſpirit of the holy gods in him) and before him I tolde the dreame, ſaying,

6 O Belteſhazzar, e chiefe of the inchanters, becauſe I know, that the ſpirit of the holy gods is in thee, and no ſecret troubleth thee, tel me the viſions of my dreame that I haue ſeene, and the interpretation thereof.

7 Thus were the viſions of mine head in my bed. And beholde, I ſawe a f tree in the middes of the earth, and the height thereof was great:

8 A great tree and ſtrong, and the height thereof reached vnto heauen, & the ſight thereof to the ends of all the earth.

9 The boughes thereof were faire, & the fruit thereof much, and it was meate for all: it made a ſhadowe vnder it for the beaſts of the field, and the foules of the heauen dwelt in the boughes thereof, and all fleſh fed of it.

10 I ſaw in the viſions of mine head vpon my bed, and beholde, a watchman and an holy one came downe from heauen, g Meaning, the Angel of God, which neither eateth nor ſleepeth, but is euer ready to do Gods will, and is not infect with mans corruption, but is euer holy: and in that that he commandeth to cut downe this tree, he knowe that it ſhould not be cut downe by man, but by God.

11 And cried aloud, & ſaid thus, Hew down the tree, and breake off his branches: ſhake off his leaues, and ſcatter his fruit, that the beaſts may flee from vnder it, and the foules from his branches.

12 Neuertheleſſe, leaue the ſtumpe of his rootes in the earth, and with a band of iron and braſſe bind it among the graſſe of the field, and let it be wet with the deaw of heauen, and let his portion be with the beaſts among the graſſe of the field.

h Hereby he meaneth that Nebuchadnezzar ſhould not onely for a time loſe his kingdom, but be like a beaſt.

13 h Let his heart be changed from mans nature, and let a beaſts heart bee giuen vnto him, and let ſeuen times be paſſed ouer him.

i God hath decreed this iudgement and the whole armie of heauen haue as it were ſubſcribed vnto it, like as alſo they deſire the execution of his decree againſt all them that ſtir vp themſelues againſt God.

14 i The ſentence is according to the decree of the watchmen, and according to the word of the holy ones: the demaund was anſwered, to the intent that liuing men may know, that the moſt High hath power ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whom ſoeuer he will, and appointeth ouer it the moſt abiect among men.

15 This is the dreame, that I king Nebuchad-nezzar haue ſeene: therefore thou, O Belteſhazzar, declare the interpretation thereof: for all the wiſe men of my kingdome are not able to ſhewe mee the interpretation: but thou art able, for the ſpirite of the holy gods is in thee.

k He was troubled for the great iudgement of God which he ſaw ordeined againſt the king: and ſo the Prophets died on the one part to pronounce Gods iudgements for the zeale they bare to his glory, and on the other part to haue compaſſion vpon man and alſo to conſider that they ſhould be ſubiect to Gods iudgements, if he did not regard them with pitie.

16 ¶ Then Daniel (whoſe name was Belteſhazzar) held his k peace by the ſpace of one houre, and his thoughts troubled him, and the king ſpake and ſayd, Belteſhazzar, let neither the dreame, nor the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Belteſhazzar anſwered and ſayd, My lord, the dreame be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies.

17 The tree that thou ſaweſt, which was great and mightie, whoſe height reached vnto the heauen, and the ſight thereof through all the world,

18 Whoſe leaues were faire and the fruit thereof much, and it was meate for all, vnder the which the beaſts of the field dwelt, and vpon whoſe branches the foules of the heauen did ſit,

19 It is thou, O king, that art great and mightie: for thy greatneſſe is growen, and reacheth vnto heauen, & thy dominion to the endes of the earth.

20 Where as the king ſawe a watchman and an holy one that came down from heauen, and ſayd, Hewe downe the tree and deſtroy it, yet leaue the ſtumpe of the rootes thereof in the earth, and with a band of iron and braſſe, binde it among the graſſe of the fielde, and let

let it be wette with the dew of heauen, and let his portion be with the beastes of the field, l till seuen times passe ouer him.

21 This is the interpretation, O King, and it is the decree of the most High, which is come vpon my lord the King.

22 That they shall driue thee from men, and thy dwelling shalbe with the beastes of the fielde: they shall make thee to eate grasse as the m oxen, and they shall wet thee with the dewe of heauen: and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, till thou knowe, that n the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whomsoeuer he will.

23 Whereas they saide, that one should leaue the stumpe of the tree rootes, thy kingdome shall remaine vnto thee: after that, thou shalt knowe, that the heauens haue the rule.

24 Wherefore, O King, let my counsel be acceptable vnto thee: and o breake off thy sinnes by righteousnesse, and thine iniquities by mercie toward the poore: loe, let there be a p healing of thine errour.

25 All these things shal come vpon the king Nebuchad-nezzar.

26 ¶ At the ende of twelue q moneths, he walked in the royall palace of Babel.

27 And the king spake and saide, Is not this great Babel, that I haue built for the house of the kingdome by the might of my power, and for the honour of my maiestie?

28 While the worde was in the Kings mouth, a voyce came downe from heauen, saying, O king Nebuchad-nezzar, to thee be it spoken, Thy kingdome is departed from thee, 29 And they shal driue thee from men, and thy dwelling shall be with the beastes of the fielde: they shall make thee to eate grasse, as the oxen, and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, vntill thou knowest, that the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it vnto whomsoeuer he will.

30 The very same houre was this thing fulfilled vpon Nebuchad-nezzar, and he was driuen from men, and did eate grasse as the oxen, and his body was wet with the dewe of heauen, till his haires were growen as egles feathers, and his nailes like birdes clawes.

31 And at the ende of these r dayes I Nebuchad-nezzar lift vp mine eyes vnto heauen, and mine vnderstanding was restored vnto me, and I gaue thankes vnto the most High, and I praysed and honoured him, that liueth for euer, *whose power is an euerlasting power, and his kingdome is from generation to generation.

32 And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: and according to his s will he worketh in the armie of heauen, and in the inhabitants of the earth: and none can stay his hand, nor say vnto him, What doest thou?

33 At the same time was mine vnderstanding restored vnto me, and I returned to the honour of my kingdome: my glory and my beautie was restored vnto me, and my counsellours t and my princes sought vnto me, and I was established in my kingdome, and my glory was augmented toward me.

34 Nowe therefore I Nebuchad-nezzar u prayse, and extoll and magnifie the king of heauen, whose workes are all trueth, and his wayes iudgement, and those that walke in pride, he is able to abase.

l Whereby he meaneth a long space, as seuen yeeres. Some interpret seuen moneths, and others seuen weekes: but it seemeth he ment of yeeres.

m Not that his shape or forme was changed into a beast, but that he was either striken mad, and so auoided mans company, or was cast out for his tyrannie, and so wandred among the beastes and ate herbes and grasse.

n Daniel sheweth the cause, why God thus punished him.

o Cease from prouoking God to anger any longer by thy sins, that he may mitigate his punishment, if thou shewe by thine vpright life that thou hast true faith and repentance.

p Suffer the errors of thy former life to be repelled.

q After that Daniel had declared this dissent: and this his pride declareth that it is not in man to conuert vs to God, except his Spirite moue him. Seeing that these terrible threatnings could not moue him to repent.

r When the terme of these seuen yeeres was accomplished.

*Chap. 7.14. mich. 4.7. luke 1.33.

s He confesseth God's will to be the rule of all iustice and a most perfite lawe wherby he gouerneth both man, and Angels, and deuils, so that none ought to murmure, or aske a reason of his doings, but onely to stand content therewith & giue him the glory.

t By whom it seemeth that he had beene put from his kingdome before.

u He doth not onely prayse God for his deliuerance, but also confesseth his fault, that God may onely haue the glory and man the shame, and that he may be exalted, and man cast downe.

CHAP. V.

5 Belshazzar King of Babylon seeth an hand writing on the wall. 8 The southsayers called of the King cannot expound the writing. 25 Daniel readeth it, and interpreteth it also. 30 The King is slaine. 31 Darius enioyeth the kingdome.

KIng a Belshazzar made a great feast to a thousand of his princes, and dranke wine b before the thousand.

a Daniel reciteth this historie of king Belshazzar Euilmerodachs sonne, to shewe Gods iudgements against † wicked for the deliuerance of his Church, and howe the prophecie of Jeremiah was true, that they should be deliuered after seuentie yeeres.

b The kings of the East parts then vsed to sit alone commonly and disdained that any should sit in their company: and nowe to shew his power, and how litle he set by his enemie, which then besieged Babylon he made a solemne banket, and vsed excesse in their company which is meant here by drinking wine: thus the wicked are most dissolute, and negligent, when their destruction is at hand.

2 And Belshazzar ‖ Whiles he tasted the wine, commaunded to bring him the golden and siluer vessels, which his c father Nebuchad-nezzar had brought from the Temple in Jerusalem, that the king and his princes, his wiues, and his concubines might drinke therein.

c Meaning, his grandfather.

3 Then were brought the golden vessels, that were taken out of the Temple of † Lords house at Jerusalem, and the king and his princes, his wiues and his concubines dranke in them.

4 They dranke wine and praysed the d gods of golde, and of siluer, of brasse, of yron, of wood and of stone.

d In contempt of the true God they praysed their idoles, not that they thought, that the gold or siluer were gods, but that there was a certaine vertue, and power in them to doe them good, which is also the opinion of all Idolaters.

5 At the same houre appeared fingers of a mans hand, which wrote ouer e against the candlesticke vpon the plaister of the wall of the kings palace, and the king sawe the palme of the hand that wrote.

e That it might the better be seene.

6 Then the kings countenance was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the ioints of his loines were loosed, and his f knees smote one against the other.

f So he that before contemned God, was mooued by this sight to tremble for feare of Gods iudgements.

7 Wherefore the king cried loude, that they should bring g the Astrologians, the Caldeans and the Soothsayers. And the King spake, and saide to the wise men of Babel, g Thus the wicked in their troubles seeke many meanes, who draw them from God, because they seeke not him who is the onely comfort in all afflictions.

Whosoeuer

Whosoeuer can reade this writing, and declare me the interpretation thereof, shalbe clothed with purple, and shall haue a chaine of gold about his necke, and shall be the third ruler in the kingdome.

8 Then came all the Kings wise men, but they could neither reade the writing, nor shew the King the interpretation.

9 Then was King Belshazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his princes were astonied.

h To wit, his grandmother Nebuchad-nezzars wife, which for her age was not before at the feast, but came thither when she heard of these strange newes.

10 Nowe the h Queene by reason of the talke of the King, and his princes came into the banket house, and the Queene spake, and said, O king, liue for euer: let not thy thoughts trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be chãged.

i Reade Chap. 4. 6. and this declareth that both this name was odious vnto him, and also that he did not vse these vile practises, because he was not among them when all were called.

11 There is a man in thy kingdome, in whom is the spirit of the holy gods, and in the dayes of thy father, light and vnderstanding and wisedome like the wisedome of the gods, was found in him: whom the King Nebuchadnezzar thy father, the King, I say, thy father, made chiefe of the i enchanters, astrologians, Caldeans, and soothsayers,

12 Because a more excellent spirit, and knowledge, and vnderstanding (for he did expound dreames, and declare hard sentences, and dissolued doubtes) were founde in him, euen in Daniel, whom the King named Beltesshazzar: nowe let Daniel be called, and hee will declare the interpretation.

13 ¶ Then was Daniel brought before the King, and the King spake and saide vnto Daniel, Art thou that Daniel, which art of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, whom my father the King brought out of Iewrie?

k For the idolaters thought that the Angels had power as God, and therefore had them in like estimation, as they had God, thinking that the spirite of prophecie, and vnderstanding came of them.

14 Nowe I haue heard of thee, that k the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and that light and vnderstanding and excellent wisedome is found in thee.

15 Now therefore, wise men and astrologians haue beene brought before me, that they should reade this writing, and shew me the interpretation thereof: but they could not declare the interpretation of the thing.

16 Then heard I of thee, that thou couldest shew interpretations, and dissolue doubts: now if thou canst reade the writing, and shewe me the interpretation thereof, thou shalt be clothed with purple, and shalt haue a chaine of golde about thy necke, and shalt be the third ruler in the kingdome.

l Before he read the writing, he declareth to the King his great ingratitude toward God, who could not be moued to giue him the glory, considering his wonderfull worke toward his grandfather, and so sheweth, that he doeth not sinne of ignorance, but of malice.

17 Then Daniel answered, and saide before the King, Keepe thy rewards to thy selfe, and giue thy gifts to another: yet I wil reade the writing vnto the King, and shewe him the interpretation.

18 O king, heare thou, The most high God gaue vnto l Nebuchad-nezzar thy father a kingdome, and maiestie, and honour, and glory, 19 And for the maiestie that he gaue him, all people, nations, and languages trembled, and feared before him: he put to death whom he would: he smote whom he would: whom he would he set vp, and whom he would he put downe.

20 But when his heart was puft vp, and his minde hardened in pride, he was deposed from his kingly throne, and they tooke his honour from him.

21 And he was driuen from the sonnes of men, and his heart was made like the beastes, and his dwelling was with the wilde asses: they fedde him with grasse like oxen, and his body was wet with the dewe of the heauen, till he knewe, that the most high God bare rule ouer the kingdome of men, and that he appointeth ouer it, whomsoeuer he pleaseth.

22 And thou his sonne, O Belshazzar, hast not humbled thine heart, though thou knewest all these things.

23 But hast lift thy selfe vp against the Lord of heauen, and they haue brought the vessels of his House before thee, and thou and thy princes, thy wiues and thy concubines haue drunke wine in them, and thou hast prayed the gods of siluer and golde, of brasse, yron, wood and stone, which neither see, neither heare, nor vnderstand: and the God in whose hand thy breath is and all thy wayes, him hast thou not glorified.

m After that God had so long time deferred his anger, and patiently waited for thine amendement.

24 m Then was the palme of the hand sent from him, and hath written this writing.

25 And this is the writing that hee hath written, n MENE, MENE, TEKEL VPHARSIN.

n This word is twise written for the certaintie of the thing: shewing that God had most surely counted, signifying also that God hath appointed a terme for all kingdomes, and that a miserable end shall come on all that raise themselues against him.

26 This is the interpretation of the thing, MENE, God hath numbred thy kingdome, and hath finished it.

27 TEKEL, thou art weyed in the balance, and art found ‖ too light.

‖ Or, wanting.

28 PERES, thy kingdome is deuided, and giuen to the Medes and Persians.

29 Then at the commaundement of Belshazzar they clothed Daniel with purple, and put a chaine of golde about his necke, and made a proclamation concerning him that hee should be the third ruler in the kingdome.

30 The same night was Belshazzar the king of the Caldeans slaine.

o Cyrus his sonne in law gaue him this title of honour, although Cyrus in effect had the dominion.

31 And Darius o of the Medes tooke the kingdome, being threescore and two yeere olde.

CHAP. VI.

1 Daniel is made ruler ouer the gouernours. 5 An acte against Daniel. 16 He is put into a denne of Lyons by the commandement of the king. 23 He is deliuered by faith in God. 24 Daniels accusers are put vnto the Lyons. 25 Darius by a decree magnifieth the God of Daniel.

It

IT pleased Darius to set ouer the kingdome an hundreth and twentie gouernors, which should be ouer the whole kingdome.

a Reade Ester. Chap.1.1.

2 And ouer these, three rulers (of whome Daniel was one) that the gouernours might giue accompts vnto them, and the king should ‖ haue no domage.

‖ Or, not be troubled.

3 Nowe this Daniel b was preferred aboue the rulers and gouernours, because the spirit was excellent in him, & the King thought to set him ouer the whole realme.

b This heathen King preferred Daniel a stranger to all his nobles and familiars, because the graces of God were more excellent in him then in others.

4 ¶ Wherefore the rulers and the gouernours c sought an occasion against Daniel concerning the kingdome: but they could finde none occasion nor fault: for hee was so faithfull that there was no blame nor fault founde in him.

c Thus the wicked cannot abide the graces of God in others, but seeke by all occasions to deface them: therefore against such assaults there is no better remedy then to walke vprightly in the feare of God, and to haue a good conscience.

5 Then saide these men, Wee shall not finde an occasion against this Daniel, except we finde it against him concerning the Law of his God, 6 Therefore the rulers and these gouernours went together to the King, and saide thus vnto him, King Darius, liue for euer.

7 All the rulers of thy kingdome, the officers and gouernours, the counsellers, & dukes haue consulted together to make a decree for the King and to establish a statute, that whosoeuer shall aske a petition of any god or man for thirtie dayes saue of thee, O king, hee shalbe cast into the denne of lyons.

8 Now, O King, confirme the decree, and seale the writing, that it be not changed according to the lawe of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

d Herein is condemned the wickednesse of the king, who would be let vp as a god, and passed not what wicked lawes he approued for the maintenance of the same.

9 Wherefore King Darius d sealed the writing and the decree.

10 ¶ Now when Daniel vnderstood that hee had sealed the writing, hee went into his house, and his e windowe being open in his chamber toward Jerusalem, he kneeled vpon his knees three times a day, and prayed and praised his God, as he did afore time.

e Because hee would not by his silence shew that he consented to this wicked decree, he set open his windowes toward Jerusalem, when he prayed: both to shewe vp himselfe vnto the remembrance of Gods promises to his people, when they should pray toward that Temple, and also that others might see, that he would neither consent in heart to this decree for these three dayes to any thing that was contrary to Gods glory.

11 Then these men assembled, and found Daniel praying, and making supplication vnto his God.

12 So they came, and spake to the King concerning the kings decree; Hast thou not sealed the decree that euery man that shal make a request to any god or man within thirty daies saue to thee, O king, shalbe cast into the den of lyons? The king answered, & said, The thing is true, according to the Lawe of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

13 Then answered they, and said vnto the king, This Daniel which is of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, regardeth not thee, O king, nor the decree, that thou hast sealed, but maketh his petition three times a day.

14 When the king hearde these wordes, he was sore displeased with himself, and set his heart on Daniel, to deliuer him: and hee laboured till the sunne went downe, to deliuer him.

15 Then these men assembled vnto the King, and said vnto the King, Understand, O King, that the law of the Medes and Persians is that no decree nor Statute which the king confirmeth, may be f altered.

f Thus the wicked maintein euill lawes by constancie, and authority, which is oft times either lightnes, or stubbernesse, when as the innocents thereby perish: and therefore gouernours neither ought to feare nor bee ashamed to breake such.

16 ¶ Then the king commanded, and they brought Daniel, and cast him into the denne of lyons: now the King spake, and said vnto Daniel, Thy God, whom thou alway seruest, euen he will deliuer thee, 17 And a stone was brought, and laid vpon the mouth of the denne, and the King sealed it with his owne signet, and with the signet of his princes, that the purpose might not bee changed, concerning Daniel.

g This declareth that Darius was not touched with the true knowledge of God because he doubted of his power.

18 Then the king went vnto his palace, and remained fasting, neither were the instruments of musicke brought before him, and his sleepe went from him.

19 ¶ Then the King arose earely in the morning, and went in all haste vnto the denne of lyons.

20 And when he came to the denne, he cryed with a lamentable voyce vnto Daniel: and the king spake, and said to Daniel: O Daniel, the seruant of the liuing God, is not thy God (whome thou alway seruest) s able to deliuer thee from the lions?

h By iust cause and vprightnes in this thing wherein I was charged, is approued of God.

i For he did disobey the Kings wicked commandement to obey God, and so did no iniurie to the King, who ought to command nothing whereby God should be dishonoured.

21 Then saide Daniel vnto the King, O King, liue for euer.

22 My God hath sent his Angel and hath shut the lions mouthes, that they haue not hurt mee: for h my iustice was founde out before him: and vnto thee O king, I haue done i no hurt.

k Because he committed himselfe wholy vnto God whole cause he did defend, he was assured.

23 Then was the king exceeding gladde for him, and commanded that they should take Daniel out of the denne: so Daniel was brought out of the denne, and no maner of hurt was found vpon him, because he k beleeued in his God.

l This is a terrible example against all the wicked, which doe against their conscience make cruell lawes to destroy the children of God. and also admonisheth Princes how to punish such, whē their wickednes is come to light: though not in euery point of like circumstances, yet to execute true iustice vpon them.

24 And by the commandement of the king these men which had accused Daniel, were brought, and were l cast into the den of lions, euen they, their children, and their wiues: and the lions had the maistry of them, and brake all their bones apieces, or euer they came at the ground of the denne.

m This proueth not that Darius did worship God aright, or else was conuerted: for thē he would haue destroyed all superstition and idolatrie, & not onely giuen God the chiefe place, but also waste: but this was a certaine confession of Gods power, wherevnto hee was compelled by this wonderfull miracle. n Which hath not onely life in himselfe, but is the onely fountaine of life, and quickeneth all things, so that without him there is no life.

25 ¶ Afterward king Darius wrote, Vnto all people, nations & languages, that dwell in al the world: Peace be multiplied vnto you.

26 I make a decree that in all the dominiō of my kingdome, men tremble and feare m before the God of Daniel: for he is the n liuing

God,

God, and remaineth for euer: and his kingdom shall not perish, and his dominion shall be euerlasting.

27 He rescueth and deliuereth, and he worketh signes & wonders in heauen and in earth: who hath deliuered Daniel from the power of the lyons.

28 So this Daniel prospered in the reigne of Darius & in the reigne of Cyrus of Persia.

CHAP. VII.

3 A vision of foure beastes is shewed vnto Daniel. 8 The tenne hornes of the fourth beast. 27 Of the euerlasting kingdome of Christ.

IN the first yeere of Belshazzar King of Babel, Daniel sawe a dreame, and there were visions in his head, vpon his bedde: [a] then hee wrote the dreame, and declared the summe of the matter.

2 Daniel spake and said, I saw in my vision by night, and beholde, the foure windes of the heauen stroue vpon [b] the great sea:

3 And foure great beasts came vp from the sea one diuers from another.

4 The first was as a [c] lion, and had eagles wings: I beheld, till the wings thereof were pluckt off, and it was lifted vp from the earth, and set vpon his feete as a man, and a mans heart was giuen him.

5 And beholde, another beast which was the second, was like a [d] beare & stood vpon the [e] one side: and he had three ribs in his [f] mouth betweene his teeth, and they saide thus vnto him, Arise and deuoure much flesh.

6 After this I beheld, and loe, there was an other like a [h] leopard, which had vpon his backe [i] foure wings like a fowle: the beast had also foure heads, and [k] dominion was giuen him.

7 After this I saw in the visions by night, and beholde, the [l] fourth beast was fearefull and terrible and very strong. It had great [m] yron teeth: it deuoured & brake in pieces and stamped [n] the residue vnder his feete: and it was vnlike to the beastes that were before it: for it had [o] ten hornes.

8 As I considered the hornes, beholde, there came vp among them another little [p] horne, before whom there were [q] three of the first horns pluckt away: & behold, in this horne were [r] eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth speaking presumptuous things.

9 I beheld, till the [s] thrones were set vp, and the [t] Ancient of dayes did sit, whose garment was white as snowe, and the haire of his head like the pure wooll: his throne was like the fierie flame, and his wheeles as burning fire.

10 A firie streame issued, and came foorth from before him: thousand thousands ministred vnto him: and ten thousand [u] thousands stoode before him: the iudgement was set, and the [x] bookes opened.

11 Then I beheld, [y] because of the voyce of the presumptuous wordes, which the horne spake: I beheld, euen till the beast was slaine, and his body destroyed, and giuen to the burning fire.

12 As [z] concerning the other beasts, they had taken away their dominion: yet their liues were prolonged for a certaine time and season.

13 ¶ As I behelde in visions by night, beholde, [a] one like the sonne of man came in the cloudes of heauen, and [b] approched vnto the Ancient of dayes, and they brought him before him.

14 And hee gaue him [c] dominion, and honour, and a kingdome, that all people, nations and languages should serue him: his dominion is an euerlasting dominion, which shall neuer be taken away: and his kingdome shall neuer be destroyed.

15 ¶ I Daniel was [d] troubled in my spirit, in the middes of my body, and the visions of mine head made me afraid.

16 Therefore I came vnto [e] one of them a Whereas the people of Israel looked for a continual quietnes after these seuentie yeeres, as Jeremiah had declared, hee theweth that this rest shall not be a deliuerance from all troubles, but a beginning, and therefore incouraged them to looke for a continuall affliction till the Messiah be reuealed & reuealed, by whom they should haue a spiritual deliuerance, and all the promises fulfilled: whereof they should haue a certaine token in the destruction of the Babylonicall kingdome.

b Which signified that there should be horrible troubles and afflictions in the world in all corners of the world & at sundry times

c Meaning, the Assyrian & Caldean empire, which was most strong and fierce in power, and most soone come to their authoritie as though they had had wings to flie: yet their wings were pulled by the Persians and they went on their feete, and were made like other men, which is here meant by mans heart.

d Meaning, the Persians, which were barbarous and cruell.

e They were small in the beginning and were shutte vp in their mountaines and had no bruite.

f That is, destroyed many kingdomes, and was insatiable.

g To wit, the Angels by Gods commaundement, who by this meanes punished the ingratitude of the worlde.

h Meaning, Alexander the King of Macedonie.

i That is, his foure chiefe captaines, which had the empire among them after his death. Seleucus had Asia the great, Antigonus the lesse, Cassander, and after him Antipater was king of Macedonie, and Ptolemeus had Egypt.

k It was not of himselfe nor of his owne power that hee gate all these countreis: for his armie conteined but thirtie thousand men, and he ouercame in one battell Darius, which had ten hundreth thousand, when he was so beastie with sleepe that his eyes were scarle open, as the storyes report: therefore this power was giuen him of God.

l That is, the Romane empire, which was as a monster and could not be compared to any beast, because the nature of none was able to expresse it.

m Signifying the crueltie and greedinesse of the Romanes.

n That which the Romanes could not quietly enioy in other countreis, they would giue it to other Kings and rulers, that at all times when they would, they might take it againe: which liberalitie is here called the stamping of the rest vnder the feete.

o That is, sundrie and diuers prouinces which were gouerned by the deputies and proconsuls, whereof euerie one might be compared to a King.

p Which is meant of Iulius Cesar Augustus, Tiberius, Caligula, Claudius, & Nero, &c. who were as Kings in effect, but because they could not rule, but by the consent of the Senate, their power is compared to a litle horne. For Mahomet came not of the Romane empire, and the Pope hath no vocation of gouernment: therefore this cannot be applied vnto them, and also in this prophesie the Prophets purpose is chiefly to comfort the Iewes vnto the reuelation of Christ. Some take it for the whole body of Antichrist.

q Meaning, a certaine portion of the tenne hornes: that is, a part from the whole estate was pluckt away. For Augustus tooke from the Senate the liberalitie of chosing the deputies to sende into the Prouinces, and tooke the gouernment of certaine countreis to himselfe.

r These Romane Emperours at the first vsed a certaine humanitie and gentlenesse, and were content that others, as the Consuls and Senate, should beare the name of dignitie, so that they might haue the power, and therefore in elections and Councils would behaue themselues according as did other Senatours: yet against their enemies and those that would resist them, they were fierce and cruell, which is heere meant by the proude mouth.

s Meaning, the places where God and his Angels should come to iudge these Monarchies, which iudgement should beginne at the first comming of Christ.

t That is God, which was before all times, and is here described as mans nature is able to comprehend some portion of his glorie.

u That is, an infinite number of Angels, which were readie to execute his commaundement.

x This is meant of the first comming of Christ, by reason the will of God was plainely reuealed by his Gospel.

y Meaning, that he was astonied, when he sawe these Emperours in such dignitie and power, and so sodainly destroyed at the comming of Christ, when this fourth Monarchie was subiect to men of other nations.

z As the three former Monarchies had an ende at the time that God appointed, although they flourished for a time, so shall this fourth haue, and they that patiently abide Gods appointments, shall enioy the promises.

a Which is meant of Christ, who had not yet taken vpon him mans nature, neither was the sonne of Dauid according to the flesh, as he was afterward: but appeared then in a figure, and that in the cloudes: that is, being separate from the common sort of men by manifest signes of his diuinitie.

b To wit, when he ascended into the heauens, and his diuine maiestie appeared, and all power was giuen vnto him in respect of that that he was our Mediatour.

c This is meant of the beginning of Christes kingdome, when God the Father gaue vnto him all dominions, as to the Mediatour, to the ende that he should gouerne here his Church in earth continually till the time that he brought them to eternall life.

d Through the strangenesse of the sight.

e Meaning, of the Angels, as verse 10.

that

that stoode by, and asked him the trueth of all this: so he tolde me, and shewed me the interpretation of these things.

17 These great beasts which are foure, are foure Kings, which shall arise out of the earth, 18 And they shal take the [f] kingdome of the Saints of the [g] most High, which shall possesse the kingdome for euer, euen for euer and euer.

19 ¶ After this, I would know the trueth of the fourth beast, which was so [h] vnlike to all the others, very fearefull, whose teeth were of yron, and his nailes of brasse: which deuoured, brake in pieces, and stamped the [i] residue vnder his feete.

20 Also to know of the tenne hornes that were in his head, and of the other which came vp, before whom three fell, and of the horne that had eyes, and of the mouth that spake presumptuous things, whose [k] looke was more stoute then his fellowes.

21 I beheld, and the same [l] horne made battell against the Saintes, yea, and preuailed against them, 22 Until [m] the Ancient of dayes came, and iudgement was giuen to the Saintes of the most High: and the time approched, that the Saintes possessed the kingdome.

23 Then he said, The fourth beast shall be the fourth kingdome in the earth, which shall be vnlike to all the kingdomes, and shall deuoure the whole earth, and shall treade it downe and breake it in pieces.

24 And [p] ten hornes out of this kingdome are ten kings that shall rise: and an other shall rise after them, and he shalbe vnlike to the first, and he shall subdue [n] three Kings.

25 And shall speake wordes against [o] the most High, and shall consume the Saintes of the most High, and thinke that he may [p] change times and lawes, and they shall be giuen into his hand, vntill a [q] time, and times and the diuiding of time.

26 But the [r] iudgement shall sit, and they shall take away his dominion, to consume and destroy it vnto the end.

27 And the [s] kingdome, and dominion, and the greatnesse of the kingdome vnder the whole heauen shall be giuen to the holy people of the most High, whose kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome, and all [t] powers shall serue and obey him.

28 Euen this is the ende of the matter, I Daniel had many [u] cogitations which troubled me, and my countenance changed in me: but I kept the matter in mine heart.

curiously: yet he was content with that which God reuealed, and kept it in memorie, and wrote it for the vse of the Church.

CHAP. VIII.

A vision of a battell betweene a ramme and a goate. 20 The vnderstanding of the vision.

IN the third yeere of the reigne of king Belshazzar, a vision appeared vnto me, euen vnto mee Daniel, [a] after that which appeared vnto me at the first.

2 And I saw in a vision, and when I saw it, I was in the palace of Shushan, which is in the prouince [b] of Elam, and in a vision me thought I was by the riuer of Ulai.

3 Then I looked vp and sawe, and beholde, there stoode before the riuer a [c] ramme, which had two hornes: and these two hornes were hie: but one was [d] hier then another, and the highest came vp last.

4 And I saw the ramme pushing against the West, and against the North, and against the South: so that no [e] beastes might stand before him, nor could deliuer out of his hand, but he did what he listed, and became great.

5 And as I considered, beholde, [f] a goate came from the West ouer the whole earth, and touched not the ground: and this goate had an [g] horne that appeared betweene his eyes.

6 And he came vnto the ramme that had the two hornes, whom I had seene standing by the riuer, and ranne vnto him in his fierce rage.

7 And I saw him come vnto the ramme, and being mooued against him, he [h] smote the ramme, and brake his two hornes: and there was no power in the ramme to stand against him, but he cast him downe to the ground, and stamped vpon him, and there was none that could deliuer the ramme out of his power.

8 Therefore the goate waxed exceeding great, and when he was at the strongest, his great [i] horne was broken: and for it came vp foure that appeared toward the foure windes of the heauen.

9 And out of one of them came forth [l] a little horne, which waxed very great toward the [m] South, and towarde the [n] East, and

[a] After the generall vision, he commeth to certaine particular visions: as touching the destruction of the Monarchie of the Persians, and Macedonians: for the ruine of the Babylonians was at hand, and also he had sufficiently spoken thereof.
[b] That is, of Persia.
[c] Which represented the kingdome of the Persians & Medes, which were ioyned together.
[d] Meaning Cyrus, which after grew greater in power then Darius his vncle and father in lawe.
[e] That is, no Kings or nations.
[f] Meaning Alexander that came from Grecia with great speede and expedition.
[g] Though he came in the name of all Grecia, yet he bare the title and dignitie of the generall captaine, so that the strength was attributed to him, which is meant by this horne.
[h] Alexander ouercame Darius in two sundry battels, and so had the two kingdomes of the Medes and Persians.
[i] Alexanders great power was broken: for when he had ouercome all the East, he thought to returne toward Grecia to subdue them that there had rebelled, and so died by the way.
[k] That is, which were famous: for almost in the space of fifteene yere there were fifteene diuers successors before this monarchy was diuided to these foure, whereof Cassander had Macedonia, Seleucus Syria, Antigonus Asia the lesse, & Ptolomeus Egypt.
[l] Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who was of a seruile & flattering nature, & also there were other betweene him & the kingdome, & therefore is here called a litle horne, because neither princely conditions, nor any other thing was in him, why he should obteine this kingdome.
[m] That is, toward Egypt.
[n] Whereby he meaneth Ptolemais,

[f] Because Abraham was appointed heire of all the world, Rom. 4. 13. and in him all the faithfull, therefore the kingdome thereof is theirs by right, which these foure beastes of tyrants should inuade, and vsurpe vntill the world were restored by Christ: and this was to confirme them that were in troubles, that their afflictions should haue an ende at length.
[g] That is, of the most high things, because God hath chosen them out of this world, that they should looke vp to the heauens, whereon all their hope dependeth.
[h] For the other three Monarchies were gouerned by a King, and the Romane empire by Consuls: the Romanes changed their gouernours yeerely, and the other Monarchies retained them for terme of life: also the Romanes were the strongest of all the other, and were neuer quiet among themselues.
[i] Reade verse 7.
[k] This is meant of the fourth beast, which was more terrible then the other.
[l] Meaning the Romane Emperours, who were most cruell against the Church of God both of the Iewes and of the Gentiles.
[m] Till God shewed his power in the person of Christ, and by the preaching of the Gospel gaue vnto his some rest, and so obteined a famous name in the worlde, and were called the Church of God, or the kingdome of God.
[n] Reade the exposition hereof verse 8.
[o] That is, shall make wicked decrees & proclamations against Gods worde, and send throughout al their dominion, to destroy al that did professe it.
[p] These Emperours shall not consider that they haue their power of God, but thinke it is in their owne power to change Gods lawes and mans, and as it were the order of nature, as appeareth by Dereius, Cyberius, Caligula, Nero, Domitianus, &c.
[q] God shall suffer them thus to rage against his Saints for a long time, which is meant by the time and times, but at length he will asswage these troubles and shorten the times for his elects sake, Matt. 24. 22. which is here meant by diuiding of time.
[r] God by his power shall restore things that were out of order, and so destroy this litle horne, that it shall neuer rise vp againe.
[s] He sheweth wherefore the beast should be destroyed, to wit, that his Church might haue rest and quietnesse, which though they doe not fully enioy here, yet they haue it in hope and by the preaching of the Gospel enioy the beginning thereof, which is meant by these wordes. Vnder the heauen: and therefore he heere speaketh of the beginning of Christes kingdome in this world, which kingdome the faithfull haue by the participation that they haue with Christ their head.

11 And exalted himselfe against ỳ ᵍ prince of the hoste from whom the ʳ daply sacrifice was taken away, and the place of his Sanctuarie was cast downe.

12 And ˢ a time shall be giuen him ouer the daply sacrifice for the iniquitie: and it shal ᵗ cast downe the trueth to the ground, and thus shall it doe, and prosper.

13 Then I heard one of the ᵘ Saints speaking, and one of the Saints spake vnto a certaine one, saying, Howe long shall endure the vision of the daply sacrifice, and the iniquitie of the ˣ desolation to treade both the Sanctuarie and the ʸ armie vnder foote?

14 And ᶻ he answered me, Vnto the ᵃ euening and the morning, two thousand and three hundreth: then shal the Sanctuarie be cleansed.

15 ¶ Now when I Daniel had seene the vision, and sought for the meaning, beholde, there stoode before me ᵇ like the similitude of a man.

16 And I heard a mans voyce betweene the bankes of Ulai, which called, and saide, Gabriel, ᶜ make this man to vnderstand the vision.

17 So he came where I stood: and when he came, I was afraide, and fell vpon my face: but he saide vnto me, Vnderstand, O sonne of man: for ᵈ in the last time shall be the vision.

18 Nowe as he was speaking vnto me, I being asleepe fell on my face to the ground: but he touched me, and set me vp in my place.

19 And he said, Behold, I will shewe thee what shall be in the last ᵉ wrath: for in the ende of the time appointed it shall come.

20 The ramme which thou sawest hauing two hornes, are the Kings of the Medes and Persians.

21 And the goate is the King of Grecia, and the great horne that is betweene his eyes, is the first King.

22 And that that is broken, and foure stoode vp for it, are foure kingdomes, which shall stand vp ᶠ of that nation, but not ᵍ in his strength.

23 And in the ende of their kingdome, when the rebellious shalbe consumed, a King of ʰ fierce countenance, and vnderstanding darke sentences, shall stand vp,

24 And his power shalbe mightie, but not ⁱ in his strength: and he shall destroy wonderfully, and shall prosper, and practise, and shall destroy the ᵏ mightie, and the holy people.

25 And through his ˡ policie also, he shall cause craft to prosper in his hand, and he shall exalt himselfe in his heart, and by ᵐ peace shall destroy many: he shall also stand vp against the ⁿ prince of princes, but he shalbe broken downe ° without hand.

26 And the vision of the ᵖ euening and the morning, which is declared, is true: therefore seale thou vp the vision, for it shalbe after many dayes.

27 And I Daniel was stricken and sicke ᵠ certaine dayes: but when I rose vp, I did the kings businesse, and I was astonied at the vision, but none vnderstood it.

CHAP. IX.

3 Daniel desireth to haue that performed of God, which he had promised concerning the returne of the people from their banishment in Babylon. 5 A true confession. 20 Daniels prayer is heard. 21 Gabriel the Angel expounded vnto him the vision of the seuentie weekes. 24 The anointing of Christ. 25 The building againe of Ierusalem. 26 The death of Christ.

IN the first yere of Darius the sonne of ᵃ Ahashuerosh, of the seede of the Medes, which was made King ouer the ᵇ Realme of the Caldeans, 2 Euen in the first yeere of his reigne, I Daniel vnderstoode by ᶜ bookes the number of the yeeres, whereof the Lord had spoken vnto Jeremiah the Prophet, that he would accomplish seuentie yeeres in the desolation of Jerusalem.

3 And I turned my face vnto the Lorde God, and ᵈ sought by prayer and supplications with fasting and sackecloth and ashes.

4 And I prayed vnto the Lord my God, and made my confession, saying, Oh Lorde God, which art ᵉ great and fearefull, and keepest couenant and mercie toward them which loue † thee, and toward them that keepe thy commandements,

5 We haue sinned, and haue committed iniquitie, and haue done wickedly, yea, we haue rebelled, and haue departed from thy precepts, and from thy iudgements.

o Thus he could not content himſelfe with any vehemencie of wordes: for he was ſo led with a feruent zeale conſidering Gods promiſe made to the citie in reſpect of his Church, and for the aduancement of Gods glory.

*Chap. 8. 16.
p He alludeth to Jeremiahs prophecie, who prophecied that their captiuitie ſhould be ſeuenty yeres but now Gods mercie ſhould ſeuen fold exceede his iudgement, which ſhould be foure hundred and ninetie yeres, euen to the comming of Chriſt, & to them it ſhould continue for euer.
q Meaning, Daniels nation ouer whom he was carefull.
r To ſhew mercie and to put ſinne out of remembrance.
ſ That is, from the time that Cyrus gaue them leaue to depart.
t Theſe weekes make forty nine yeere, whereof 46. are referred to the time of the building of the Temple, and three to the laying of the foundation.
u Counting from the firſt yere of Darius, who gaue the ſecond commandement for the building of the Temple, are 62. weekes, which make 434. yeeres, which compriſe the time from the building of the Temple vnto the Baptiſme of Chriſt.
† Ebr. in ſtreight of time.
x In this laſt weeke of the ſeuentie ſhall Chriſt come and preach, and ſuffer death.
y Hee ſhall ſeeme to haue no beautie, nor to bee of any eſtimation, as Iſa. 53.
z Meaning, Titus Veſpaſianus ſonne, who ſhould come and deſtroy both the Temple and the people, without all hope of recouerie.
a By the preaching of the Goſpel he confirmed his promiſe, firſt, to the Iewes, and after to the Gentiles.
b Chriſt accompliſhed this by his death and reſurrection.
c Meaning, that Ieruſalem & the Sanctuarie ſhould bee vtterly deſtroyed for their rebellion againſt God and their idolatrie: or, as ſome read, that the plagues ſhall be ſo great, that they ſhall all be aſtonied at them.

CHAP. X.

There appeareth vnto Daniel a man clothed in linen, 11
Which ſheweth him wherefore he is ſent.

IN the a thirde yere of Cyrus king of Perſia, a thing was reueiled vnto Daniel (whoſe name was called Beltehazzar) and the word was true, but the time appointed was b long, a He writeth the third yeere, becauſe at that time the building of the Temple began to be hindred by Cambyſes Cyrus ſonne, when the father made warre in Aſia minor againſt the Scythians, which was a diſcouraging to the godly, and a great feare to Daniel.

b Which is to declare that the godly ſhould not haſten too much, but patiently abide the iſſue of Gods promiſe.

and hee vnderstoode the thing, and had vnderstanding of the vision.

2 At the same time I Daniel was in heauinesse for three weekes of dayes.

3 I ate no pleasant bread, neither came flesh, nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoint my selfe at all, till three weekes of dayes were fulfilled.

4 And in the foure and twentieth day of the [c] first moneth, as I [d] was by the side of that great riuer, euen Hiddekel.

5 And I lift vp mine eyes, and looked, and beholde, there was a man [e] clothed in linnen, whose loynes were girded with fine golde of [*] Uphaz.

6 His body also was like the Chrysolite, and his face (to looke vpon) like the lightning, and his eyes as lampes of fire, and his armes and his feete were like in colour to polished brasse, and the voyce of his wordes was like the voyce of a multitude.

7 And I Daniel alone sawe the vision: for the men that were with me, saw not the vision: but a great feare fell vpon them, so that they fled away and hid themselues.

8 Therefore I was left alone, and saw this great vision, and there remained no strength in mee: for [f] my strength was turned in mee into corruption, and I reteined no power.

9 Yet heard I the voice of his wordes: and when I heard the voyce of his wordes I slept on my face: and my face was towarde the ground.

10 And behold, an hand [g] touched me, which set me vp vpon my knees and vpon the palmes of mine handes.

11 And hee said vnto me, O Daniel, a man greatly beloued, vnderstand the wordes that I speake vnto thee, and stand in thy place: for vnto thee am I now sent. And when he had said this word vnto me, I stood trembling.

12 Then said he vnto me, Feare not Daniel: for frō the first day that thou didst set thine heart to vnderstand, and to humble thy selfe before thy God, thy wordes were heard, and I am come for thy wordes.

13 But the [h] prince of the kingdome of Persia withstood mee one and twentie dayes: but loe, [i] Michael one of the chiefe princes, came to helpe me, and I remained there, by the Kings of Persia.

14 Nowe I am come to shewe thee what shall come to the people in thy latter dayes: for yet the [k] vision is for many dayes.

15 And when hee spake these wordes vnto me, I set my face toward the ground, and held my tongue.

16 And beholde, [l] one like the similitude of the sonnes of man touched my lippes: then I opened my mouth, and spake, and saide vnto him that stood before me, O my Lord, [m] by the vision my sorowes are returned vpon mee, and I haue reteined no strength.

17 For howe can the seruant of this my Lorde talke with my Lord being such one? for as for mee, straight way there remained no strength in mee, neither is there breath left in mee.

18 Then there came againe, and touched mee one like the appearance of a man, and hee strengthened me, 19 And said, O man, greatly beloued, feare not: [n] peace be vnto thee: bee strong & of good courage. And when he had spoken vnto mee, I [o] was strengthened, and saide, Let my Lorde speake: for thou hast strengthened mee.

20 Then said he, Knowest thou wherefore I am come vnto thee? but now will I returne to fight with the prince of Persia: and when I am gone foorth, loe, the [p] prince of Grecia shall come.

21 But I will shew thee that which is decreed in the Scripture of trueth: [q] and there is none that holdeth with me in these things, but Michael your prince.

CHAP. XI.

A prophecie of the kingdomes, which should be enemies to the Church of God, as of Persia. 3 Of Greece, 5 Of Egypt, 28 Of Syria, 36 And of the Romanes.

[a] Also I, in the first yeere of Darius of the Medes, euen I [a] stoode to incourage and to strengthen him.

2 And nowe will I shewe thee the trueth. Beholde, there shall stand vp yet [b] three Kings in Persia, and the fourth shall bee farre richer then they all: and by his strength, and by his riches he shall stirre vp [c] all against the Realme of Grecia.

3 But a [d] mightie King shall stand vp, that shall rule with great dominion, and doe according to his pleasure.

4 And when hee shall stande vp, [e] his kingdome shall be broken, [f] and shall bee deuided toward the [g] foure windes of heauen: and not to his [h] posteritie, nor according to [i] his dominion, which hee ruled: for his kingdome shall bee pluckt vp, euen to be for others besides [k] those.

5 And the [l] King of the South shalbe mightie, and one of [m] his princes, and shall preuaile against him, and beare rule: his dominion shall be a great dominion.

c Called Abib, which conteineth part of March & part of April.
d Being caried by the Spirit of prophesie to haue the sight of this riuer Tygris.
e This was the Angel of God, which was sent to assure Daniel in this prophesie that followeth. *Iere.10.9.
f The word also signifieth comelinesse, or beautie, so that for feare he was like a dead man for deformitie.
g Which declareth that when we are stricken downe with the maiestie of God, we cannot rise except he also lift vs vp with his hand, which is his power.
h Meaning, Cambyses who reigned in his fathers absence, and did not only for this space hinder the building of the Temple, but would haue further raged, if God had not sent me to resist him, & therefore haue I staid for the profit of the Church.
i Though God could by one Angel destroy al the world, yet to assure his children of his loue, he seuereth forth double power, euen Michael, that is Christ Jesus the head of Angels.
k For though the prophet Daniel should end & cease, yet his doctrine should continue til the comming of Christ, for the comfort of his Church.
l This was the same Angel that spake with him before in the similitude of a man.

m I was ouercome with feare and sorow, when I saw the vision.
n He declareth hereby that God would be merciful vnto the people of Israel.
o Which declareth that when God smiteth downe his children, he doeth not immediatly lift them vp at once (for now the Angel had touched him twise) but by little and little.
p Meaning that he would not only himselfe bridle the rage of Cambyses, but also the other Kings of Persia by Alexander ♄ king of Macedonia.
q For this Angel was appointed for the defence of the Church vnder Christ, who is the head thereof.

a The Angel assureth Daniel that God hath giuen him power to persuade these things, seeing he appointed him to assist Darius, when he ouercame the Caldeans.
b Whereof Cambyses that now reigned, was the first, the second Smerdes, the third Darius the sonne of Hystaspis, & the fourth Xerxes, which al were enemies to the people of God and stood against them.
c For he raised vp al the East countreys to fight against the Grecians: and albeit he had in his army nine hundred thousand men, yet in foure battels he was discomfited and fled away with shame.
d That is, Alexander the great.
e For when his estate was most flourishing, hee ouercame himselfe with drinke, and so fell into a disease: or as some write, was poysoned by Cassander.
f For his twelue chiefe princes first deuided his kingdome among themselues.
g After this his Monarchy was deuided into foure: for Seleucus had Syria, Antigonus Asia minor, Cassander the kingdome of Macedonia, and Ptolemeus Egypt.
h Thus God reuenged Alexanders ambition and crueltie in causing his posteritie to be murthered, partly of the fathers chiefe friends, and partly one of another.
i Some of these foure shalbe able to be compared to the power of Alexander.
k That is, his posteritie hauing no part thereof.
m That is, Antiochus the sonne of Seleucus, and one of Alexanders princes that be more mightie: for he should haue both Asia and Syria.

6 And in the ende of yeeres, they shall bee ioyned together: for the Kings [n] daughter of the South shall come to the king of the North to make an agreement, but she shall not reteine the power of the [o] arme, neither shall [p] he continue, nor his [q] arme: but she shall be deliuered to death, and they that brought her, and he [r] that begate her, and he that comforted her in these times.

7 But out of the bud of her [s] rootes shall one stand vp in his stead, [t] which shal come with an armie, and shall enter into the fortresse of the king of the North, and doe with them as he lust, and shall preuaile,

8 And shall also carie captiues into Egypt their gods with their molten images, and with their precious vessels of siluer & of golde, and he shall continue [u] moe yeres then the king of the North.

9 So the king of the South shall come into his kingdome, and shall returne into his owne land.

10 Wherefore his [x] sonnes shall be stirred vp, and shall assemble a mightie great armie: and one [y] shall come, and ouerflow: and passe thorow, they shall he [z] returne, and be stirred vp at his fortresse.

11 And the king of the South shall be angrie, and shall come foorth, and fight with him, euen with the king of the North: for he shall set forth a great [a] multitude, and the multitude shalbe giuen into his hand.

12 Then the multitude shall be proude, and their heart shall be lifted vp: for he shall cast downe thousands: but he shall not still preuaile.

13 For the king of the North [b] shall returne, and shall set foorth a greater multitude then afore, and shall come foorth (after certeine yeeres) with a mightie armie, and great riches.

14 And at the same time there shall [c] many stand vp against the king of the South: also the rebellious children of thy [d] people shall exalt themselues to establish the vision, but they shall fall.

15 So the king of the North shall come, and cast vp a mount, and take the strong citie: and the armes of the South shall [e] not resist, neither his chosen people, neither shall there be any strength to withstand.

16 But he that shall come, shall doe vnto him as hee lust, and none shall stand against him: and he shall stand in the [f] pleasant land, which by his hand shall be consumed.

17 Againe he shall [g] set his face to enter with the power of his whole kingdome, and his confederates with him: thus shall he doe, and he shall giue him the [h] daughter of women, to destroy [i] her: but [k] she shall not stand on his side, neither be for him.

18 After this shall he turne his face vnto the [l] Iles, and shall take many, but a prince [m] shall cause his shame to light vpon him, beside that he shal cause his owne shame to turne vpon [n] himselfe.

19 For he shall turne his face toward the forts of [o] his owne land: but he shall be ouerthrowen and fall, and be no more [p] found.

20 [q] Then shall stand vp in his place in the glory of the kingdom, one that shal raise taxes: but after fewe dayes he shall be destroyed, neither in [r] wrath, nor in battell.

21 And in his place shall stand vp a [s] vile person, to whom they shall not giue the honour of the kingdome: but he shall come in peaceably, & obteine [t] kingdome by flatteries.

22 And the [t] armes shall be ouerthrowen with a flood before him, and shall be broken: and also the Prince of the [n] couenant.

23 And after [x] the league made with him, he shall worke deceitfully: for he shal come vp, and ouercome with a [y] small people.

24 He shall enter into the quiet and plentifull prouince, and he shall doe that which his fathers [z] haue not done, nor his fathers fathers: he shall diuide among them the praye and the spoile, and the substance, yea, and he shall forecast his deuises against the strong holdes, euen for a [a] time.

25 Also he shall stirre vp his power and his courage against the king of the South with a great armie, and the king of the South shall be stirred vp to battell with a very great and mightie armie: but he shal not [b] stand: for they shall forecast and practise against him.

26 Yea, they that feede of the portion of [c] his meat, shall destroy him: and his armie [d] shall ouerflowe: and many shall fall, and be slaine.

n That is, Berenice the daughter of Ptolomeus Philadelphus, shall be giuen in marriage to Antiochus Theos, thinking by this affinitie that Syria and Egypt should haue a continual peace together.

o That force & strength shall not continue: for some after Berenice and her yong sonne after her husbands death was slaine of her stepsonne Seleucus Calinicus the sonne of Laodice, the lawfull wife of Antiochus, but put away for this womans sake.

p Neither Ptolomeus nor Antiochus.

q Some reade, seede, meaning the childe begotten of Berenice.

r Some reade, he that begate her, and thereby vnderstand her nurse, which brought her vp: so that all they that were occasion of this marriage were destroyed.

s Meaning, that Ptolomeus Euergetes after the death of his father Philadelphus should succeede in the kingdome being of the same stock that Berenice was.

t To reuenge his sisters death against Antiochus Calinicus king of Syria.

u For this Ptolemeus reigned fiue and fourtie yeeres.

x Meaning, Seleucus and Antiochus the Great, the sonnes of Calinicus, shal make warre against Ptolomeus Philopater the sonne of Philadelphus.

y For his elder brother Seleucus died, or was slaine while the warres were preparing.

z That is, Philopater when he shall see Antiochus to take great dominions from him in Syria, and also ready to inuade Egypt.

a For Antiochus had fiue thousand horsemen, and threescore thousand footemen.

b After the death of Ptolomeus Philopater, who left Ptolomeus Epiphanes his heire.

c For not onely Antiochus came against him, but also Philip King of Macedonia, & these two brought great power with them.

d For vnder Onias which falsely alleged that place of Isaiah 19.19. certaine of the Iewes retired with him into Egypt to fulfill this prophesie: also the Angel sheweth that all these troubles which are in the Church, are by the prouidence and counsell of God.

e The Egyptians were not able to resist Stopas Antiochus captaine.

f He sheweth that he shall not onely afflict the Egyptians, but also the Iewes, and shall enter into their countrey, whereof he admoniseth the before, that they may know that all these things come by Gods prouidence.

g This was the second battell that Antiochus fought against Ptolomeus Epiphanes.

h To wit, a beautifull woman, which was Cleopatra Antiochus daughter.

i For he regarded not the life of his daughter in respect of the kingdome of Egypt.

k She shall not agree to his wicked counsell, but shal loue her husband as her duetie requireth, and not seeke his destruction.

l That is, toward Asia, Grecia, and those yles which are in the Sea, called Mediterranea: for the Iewes called all countreis yles, which were diuided from them by Sea.

m For whereas Antiochus was woont to contemne the Romanes, and put their ambassadors to shame in all places, Attilius the Consul, or Lucius Scipio put him to flight, and caused his shame to turne on his owne head.

n By this wicked life, and obeying of foolish counsell.

o For feare of the Romanes he shall flee to his holdes.

p For when as vnder the pretence of pouertie he would haue robbed the Temple of Iupiter Dodoneus, the countreymen slew him.

q That is, Seleucus shall succeede his father Antiochus.

r Not by forreine enemies, or battel, but by treason.

s Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who as is thought, was the occasion of Seleucus his brothers death, & was of a vile, cruell, and flattering nature, and defrauded his brothers sonne of the kingdome, and vsurped the kingdome without the consent of the people.

t He sheweth that great forreine powers shall come to helpe the yong sonne of Seleucus against his vncle Antiochus, and yet shall be ouerthrowen.

u Meaning Ptolemeus Philometor Philopaters sonne, who was this childes cousin germaine, & is here called the Prince of the couenant, because he was the chiefe, & all other followed his conduct.

x For after the battell Philometor and his vncle Antiochus made a league.

y For he came vpon him at vnwares, and when hee suspected his vncle Antiochus nothing.

z Meaning, in Egypt.

a Hee will content himselfe with the small holdes for a time, but euer labour by craft to attaine to the chiefest.

b He shall be ouercome with treason.

c Signifying his Princes, and the chiefe about him.

d Declaring that his souldiers shall brast out and venture their life to slay and to be slaine for the safegard of their Prince.

27 And both these kings heartes shall be to doe [e] mischiefe, and they shall talke of deceit at one table: but it shall not auaile: for [f] yet the end shall be at the time appointed.

28 Then shall hee returne into his land with great substance: for his heart shall be against the holy couenant: so shall hee doe and returne to his owne land.

29 At the time appointed he shall returne, and come toward the South: but the last shall not be as the first.

30 For the ships [h] of Chittim shall come against him: therefore he shall be sorie and returne, and freat against the holy couenant: so shall he doe, he shall euen returne [i] and haue intelligence with them that forsake the holy couenant.

31 And armes [k] shall stand on his part, and they shall pollute the Sanctuarie [l] of strength, and shall take away the dayly sacrifice, and they shall set vp the abominable desolation.

32 And such as wickedly [m] breake the couenant, shall he cause to sinne by flatterie: but the people that doe knowe their God, shall preuaile and prosper.

33 And they that vnderstand among [n] the people, shall instruct many: [o] yet they shall fall by sword, and by flame, by captiuitie and by spoile many dayes.

34 Now when they shall fall, they shall be holpen with a [p] little helpe: but many shall cleaue vnto them [q] fainedly.

35 And some of them [r] of vnderstanding shal fall to trie them, and to purge, and to make them white, till the time be out: for there is a time appointed.

36 And the [s] king shall doe what him lust: he shall exalt himselfe, and magnifie himselfe against all, that is God, and shall speake marueilous things against the God of gods, and shall prosper, till the wrath [t] be accomplished: for the determination is made.

37 Neither shall hee regarde the [u] God of his fathers, nor the desires [x] of women, nor care for any God: for he shall magnifie himselfe aboue all.

38 But in his place shall hee honour the [y] god Mauzzim, and the god whom his fathers knewe not, shall he honour with [z] golde and with siluer, and with precious stones, and pleasant things.

39 Thus shall hee doe in [a] the holdes of Mauzzim with a strange god whom hee shall acknowledge: he shall increase his glory, and shall cause them to rule ouer many, and shall diuide the land for gaine.

40 And at the ende of the time shall the king of the [b] South push at him, and the king of the North shall come against him like a whirlewind with charets, and with horsemen, and with many ships, and he shal enter into the countries, and shal ouerflow and passe thorow.

41 He shall enter also into the [c] pleasant land, [d] many countreis shall be ouerthrowen: but these shall escape out of his hand, euen Edom and Moab, and the chiefe of the children of Ammon.

42 He shall stretch forth his handes also vpon the countreis, and the land of Egypt shall not escape.

43 But he shall haue power ouer the treasures of gold and of siluer, and ouer all the precious things of Egypt, and of the Lybians, and of the blacke Mores where he shall passe.

44 But the tidings out of the East and the North shal [d] trouble him: therefore he shal goe forth [e] with great wrath to destroy and roote out many.

45 And he shall plant the tabernacles [f] of his palace betweene the seas in the glorious and holy mountaine, yet he shall come to his end, and none shall helpe him.

e The vncle and the nephue shall take truce, and banket together, yet in their hearts they shall imagine mischiefe one against another.

f Signifying, that it standeth not in the counsell of men to bring things to passe, but in the prouidence of God, who ruleth the Kings by a secret bridle, that they cannot doe what they lust themselues.

g Which he shall take of the Iewes in spoyling Ierusalem and the Temple, and this is told them before to mooue them to patience, knowing y all things are done by Gods prouidence.

h That is, the Romane power shall come against him: for P. Popilius the Ambassadour appointed him to depart in the Romanes name, to which thing he obeyed, although with griefe, and to reuenge his rage he came against the people of God the second time.

i With y Iewes which shall forsake the couenant of y Lord: for first he was called against the Iewes by Iason the high priest, and this second time by Menelaus.

k A great faction of the wicked Iewes shall hold with Antiochus.

l So called, because the power of God was nothing diminished, although this tyrant set vp in the Temple the image of Iupiter Olympius, and so began to corrupt the pure seruice of God.

m Meaning such as bare the name of Iewes: but in deede were nothing lesse: for they solde their soules, and betrayed their brethren for gaine.

n They that remaine constant among the people shall teach others by their example, and edifie many in the true Religion.

o Whereby he exhorteth the godly to constancie, although they should perish a thousand times, and though their miseries endure neuer so long.

p As God will not leaue his Church destitute, yet will he not deliuer it all at once, but so helpe, as they may still seeme to fight vnder the crosse, as hee did in the time of the Maccabees whereof he here prophesieth.

q That is, there shall be euen of this small number many hypocrites.

r To wit, of them that feare God and will lose their life for the defence of true Religion, signifying also that the Church must continually be tried and purged, and ought to looke for one persecution after another: for God hath appointed the time: therefore we must obey.

s Because the Angels purpose is to shew the whole course of the persecutions of the Iewes vnto the comming of Christ, he nowe speaketh of the Monarchie of the Romanes which he noteth by the name of a King, who were without all religion and contemned the true God.

t So long the tyrants shall preuaile as God hath appointed to punish his people: but hee sheweth that it is but for a time.

u The Romanes shall obserue no certaine forme of Religion as other nations, but shall change their gods at their pleasures, yea, contemne them and preferre themselues to their gods.

x Signifying, that they should be without all humanitie: for the loue of women is taken for singular or great loue, as 2. Sam. 1.26.

y That is, the God of power and riches: they shall esteeme their owne power aboue all their gods and worship it.

z Vnder pretence of worshipping the gods, they shall enrich their citie with the most precious iewels of all the world, because that here by al men should haue them in admiration for their power and riches.

a Although in their hearts they had no religion, yet they did acknowledge the gods, and worshipped them in their temples, least they should haue bene despised as Atheists: but this was to increase their fame and riches: and when they gate any countrey, they so made others the rulers thereof, that the profite euer came to the Romanes.

b That is, both the Egyptians and the Syrians shall at length fight against the Romanes, but they shall be ouercome.

c The Angel forewarneth the Iewes, that when they should see the Romanes inuade them, and that the wicked shoulde escape their hands, that then they should not thinke but that all this was done by Gods prouidence, forasmuch as he warned them of it so long afore, and therefore he would still preserue them.

d Hearing that Crassus was slaine, and Antonius discomfited.

e For Augustus ouercame the Parthians, and recouered that which Antonius had lost.

f The Romanes after this reigned quietly through all countreys, and from sea to sea, and in Iudea: but at length for their cruelitie God shall destroy them.

CHAP. XII.

1 Of the deliuerance of the Church by Christ.

AND at that [a] time shall Michael stand vp, the great prince, which standeth for the children of thy people, and there shall be a time of trouble, such as neuer was since there began to be a nation vnto that same time: and at that time thy people shall be deliuered, euery one that shall be found written in the booke.

2 And many [b] of them that sleepe in the dust of the earth, shall awake, some to euerlasting life, and some to shame and perpetuall contempt.

a The Angel here noteth two things: first that the Church shall be in great affliction and trouble at Christes comming, and next that God will send his Angel to deliuer it, whom here he calleth Michael, meaning Christ, which is published by the preaching of the Gospel.

b Meaning, all shall rise at the generall resurrection, which thing he here nameth, because the faithfull should haue euer their respect to that: for in the earth there shall be no sure comfort.

3 And they that be [c] wise, shall shine, as the brightnesse of the firmament: and they that [d] turne many to righteousnesse, shall shine as the starres, for euer and euer.

4 But thou, O Daniel, [e] shut vp thy words, and seale the booke [f] till the ende of the time: many shall runne to and fro, and knowledge shalbe increased.

5 ¶ Then I Daniel looked, and beholde, there stood other two, the one on this side of the brinke of the [g] riuer, and the other on that side of the brinke of the riuer.

6 And one saide vnto the man clothed in linen, which was vpon the waters of the riuer, When shall be the ende of these wonders?

7 And I heard the man clothed in linen which was vpon the waters of the riuer, when he helde vp his [h] right hand, and his left hand vnto heauen, and sware by him that liueth for euer, that it shall tary for a [i] time, two times and an halfe: and when hee shall haue accomplished [k] to scatter the power of the holy people, all these things shall be finished.

8 Then I heard it, but I vnderstood it not: then saide I, O my Lord, what shalbe the ende of these things?

9 And he saide, Goe thy way, Daniel: for the words are closed vp, and sealed, til the ende of the time.

10 Many shalbe purified, made white, and tried: but the wicked shall doe wickedly, and none of the wicked shall haue vnderstanding: but the wise shall vnderstand.

11 And from the time that the [l] dayly sacrifice shalbe taken away and the abominable desolation set vp, there [m] shalbe a thousand, two hundred and ninetie dayes.

12 Blessed is he that waiteth & commeth to the thousand, three hundred and [n] fiue and thirtie dayes.

13 But goe [o] thou thy way till the end be: for thou shalt rest and stand vp in thy lot, at the ende of the dayes.

c Who haue kept the true feare of God and his Religion.
d He chiefly meaneth the ministers of Gods word, and next, all the faithful which instruct the ignorant, & bring them to the true knowledge of God.
e Though the most part despise this prophesie, yet keepe thou it sure and esteeme it as a treasure.
f Till the time that God hath appointed for the full reuelation of these things: and then many shall run to and fro to search the knowledge of these mysteries, which things they obtaine now by the light of the Gospel.
g Which was Tygris.
h Which was as it were a double oath, and did the more confirme the thing.
i Meaning, a long time, a longer time, and at length a short time: signifying that their troubles should haue an ende.
k When the Church shall be scattered and diminished in such sort as it shall seeme to haue no power.
l From the time that Christ by his sacrifice shal take away the sacrifices and ceremonies of the Lawe.
m Signifying that the time shall bee long of Christes second cõming, & yet the children of God ought not to be discouraged, though it be deferred.
n In this number he addeth a mouth & an halfe to the former number, signifying that it is not in man to appoint the time of Christs cõming, but that they are bidden that patiently abide his appearing.
o The Angel warneth the Prophet patiently to abide, til the time appointed come, signifying that he should depart this life, & rise againe with the elect, when God had sufficiently humbled and purged his Church.

HOSEA.

THE ARGVMENT.

After that the ten tribes had fallen away from God by the wicked and subtile counsell of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, and in stead of his true seruice commanded by his word, worshipped him according to their owne fantasies and traditions of men, giuing themselues to most vile idolatry and superstition, the Lord from time to time sent them Prophets to cal them to repentance: but they grew euer worse and worse, and stil abused Gods benefits. Therfore now when their prosperitie was at the highest vnder Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash, God sent Hosea and Amos to the Israelites (as he had at the same time Isaiah and Micah to them of Iudah) to condemne them of their ingratitude: and whereas they thought themselues to be greatly in the fauour of God, and to be his people, the Prophet calleth them bastards, and children borne in adulterie: and therefore sheweth them that God would take away their kingdome, and giue them to the Assyrians to be led away captiues. Thus Hosea faithfully executed his office for the space of seuentie yeeres, though they remained stil in their vices and wickednesse, and derided the Prophets, and contemned Gods iudgements. And because they should neither be discouraged with threatnings onely, nor yet flatter themselues by the sweetnes of Gods promises, he setteth before them the two principal parts of the Law, which are the promise of saluation, and the doctrine of life: for the first part he directeth the faithfull to Messiah, by whom only they should haue true deliuerance: and for the second, he vseth threatnings & menaces to bring them from their wicked maners and vices, & this is the chiefe scope of all the Prophets, either by Gods promises to allure them to be godly, or els by threatnings of his iudgements to feare them from vice: and albeit that the whole Lawe conteine these two points, yet the Prophets moreouer note peculiarly both the time of Gods iudgements and the maner.

CHAP. I.

1 The time wherein Hosea propheſied. 2 The idolatrie of the people. 10 The calling of the Gentiles. 11 Christ is the head of all people.

THe worde of the Lorde that came vnto Hosea the sonne of Beeri, in the dayes [a] of Vzziah, Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah [b] Kings of Iudah, and in the dayes of Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash King of Israel.

2 At the beginning the Lorde spake by Hosea, and the Lorde saide vnto Hosea, Goe, take vnto thee a wife [c] of fornications, and childzen of fornications: for the land hath committed great whoredome, departing from the Lord.

3 So hee went, and tooke [d] Gomer, the daughter of Diblaim, which conceiued and bare him a sonne.

4 And the Lorde saide vnto him, Call his name [e] Izreel: for yet a litle, and I will visite the blood of Izreel vpon the house [f] of Iehu, and will cause to cease the kingdome of the house of Israel.

a Called also Azariah, who being a leper was deposed from his kingdome.
b So that it may be gathered by the reigne of these foure kings that he preached aboue threescore yeere.
c That is, one that of long time hath accustomed to play the harlot: not that the Prophet did this thing in effect, but he saw this in a vision, or els was commaunded by God to set forth vnder this parable or figure the idolatrie of the Synagogue, and of the people her children.
d Gomer signifieth a consumption or corruption, and Diblaim clusters of figs, declaring that they were all corrupt like rotten figs.
e Meaning that they should be no more called Israelites of the Israelites of the true Israel, which were as bastards, and therefore should be called Izreelites, that is, scattered people, alluding to Izreel, which was the chiefe citie of the ten tribes vnder Ahab where Iehu shed so much blood, 2. King. 10. 8.
f I will be reuenged vpon Iehu for the blood that he shed in Izreel: for albeit God stirred him vp to execute his iudgements, yet he did them for his owne ambition, and not for the glory of God, as the ende declared: for he built vp that idolatrie, which he had destroyed.

5 And at that s day will I also breake the bowe of Israel in the valley of Izreel.

6 Shee conceiued yet againe, and bare a daughter, and God saide vnto him, Call her name h Lo-ruhamah: for I will no more haue pitie vpon the house of Israel: but I will vterly i take them away.

7 Yet I will haue mercy vpon the house of Iudah, and will k saue them by the Lorde their God, and will not saue them by bowe, nor by sword nor by battell, by horses, nor by horsemen.

8 Now when she had wained Lo-ruhamah, she conceiued, and bare a sonne.

9 Then said God, Call his name l Lo-ammi: for ye are not my people: therefore will I not be yours.

10 Yet the number of the m children of Israel shall bee as the sand of the sea, which cannot bee measured nor tolde: and in the place where it was saide vnto them, Ye are not my people, it shall be saide vnto them, Ye are the sonnes of the liuing God.

11 Then shall the children of Iudah, and the children of Israel bee n gathered together, and appoint themselues one head, and they shal come vp out of the lande: for great is the o day of Izreel.

s When the measure of their iniquitie is ful, and I shal take vengeance and destroy al their policie and force.

h That is, not obteyning mercy: whereby he signifieth, that Gods fauour was departed from them.

i For the Israelites neuer returned, after that they were taken captiues by the Assyrians.

k For after their captiuitie he restored them miraculously by the meanes of Cyrus, Ezra 1.1.

l That is, not my people.

m Because they thought that God could not haue bene true in his promise except he had preserued them, he declareth that though they were destroyed, yet the true Israelites, which are the sonnes of the promise, should be without number, which stand both of the Iewes, and the Gentiles, Rom. 9.26.

n To wit, after the captiuitie of Babylon when the Iewes were restored: but chiefly this is referred to the time of Christ, who should bee the head both of the Iewes and Gentiles.

o The calamitie and destruction of Izreel shall be so great, that to restore them shalbe as a miracle.

CHAP. II.

1 The people is called to repentance. 5 Hee sheweth their idolatrie and threatneth them except they repent.

SAy vnto your a brethren, Ammi, and to your sisters, Ruhamah,

2 Plead with your b mother: pleade with her: for shee is not my wife, neither am I her husband: but let her take away her fornications out of her sight, and her adulteries c from betweene her breasts,

3 d Least I strip her naked, and set her as in the day that she was c borne, and make her as a wildernesse, and leaue her like a dry land, and slay her for thirst,

4 And I will haue no pitie vpon her children: for they be the e children of fornications.

5 For their mother hath plaied the harlot: she that conceiued them, hath done shamefully: for she said, I wil go after my g louers that giue me my bread and my water, my wooll and my flaxe, mine oyle and my drinke.

6 Therefore beholde, I wil stop h thy way with thornes, and make an hedge, that she shall not finde her paths:

a Seeing that I haue promised you deliuerance, it remaineth that you incourage one another to embrace the same, considering that ye are my people on whom I will haue mercy.

b God sheweth that the fault was not in him but in their Synagogue, and their idolatries, that he forsooke them, Isa. 50.1.

c Meaning, that their idolatry was so great, that they were not ashamed, but boasted of it, Ezek. 16.15.

d For though this people were as an harlot for their idolatries, yet he had left them with their apparell and bountie and certaine signes of his fauour, but if they continued, hee would vtterly destroy them.

e When I brought her out of Egypt, Ezek. 16.4.

f That is, bastardes and begotten in adulterie.

g Meaning, the idoles which they serued and by whome they thought they had wealth and abundance.

h I wil punish thee that thou mayest try whether thine idoles can helpe thee, and bring thee into such straitnesse, that thou shalt haue no lust to play the wanton.

7 Though she follow after her louers, yet shall shee not come at them: though shee seeke them, yet shall shee not finde them: then shall shee say, i I will goe and returne to my first husband: for at that time was I better then nowe.

8 Nowe shee did not knowe that I k gaue her corne, and wine, and oyle, and multiplied her siluer and golde, which they bestowed vpon Baal.

9 Therefore wil I returne, and take away l my corne in the time thereof, and my wine in the season thereof, and will recouer my wooll and my flaxe lent, to couer her shame.

10 And nowe will I discouer her m lewdnesse in the sight of her louers, and no man shal deliuer her out of mine hand.

11 I will also cause all her mirth to cease, her feast dayes, her new moones, and her Sabbaths, and all her solemne feastes.

12 And I wil destroy her vines and her figtrees, whereof she hath said, These are my rewards that my louers haue giuen mee: and I wil make them as a forest, and the wilde beasts shal eate them.

13 And I will visite vpon her the dayes of n Baalim, wherein shee burnt incense to them: and shee decked her selfe with her o earerings and her iewels, and shee followed her louers, and forgat me, saith the Lord.

14 Therefore beholde, I will p allure her, and bring her into the wildernesse, and speake friendly vnto her.

15 And I wil giue her her vineyards from thence, and the valley q of Achor for the doore of hope, and she shall r sing there as in the dayes of her youth, and as in the day when shee came vp out of the land of Egypt.

16 And at that day, saith the Lorde, thou shalt call mee s Ishi, and shalt call mee no more t Baali.

17 For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they shall bee no more remembred by their u names.

18 And in that day wil I make a couenant for them, with the x wilde beastes, and with the fowles of the heauen, and with that that creepeth vpon the earth: and I wil breake the bow, and the sworde and the battell out of the earth, and will make them to sleepe safely.

19 And I will marry thee vnto mee for euer: yea, I wil marry thee vnto mee in righteousnesse, and in iudgement, and in mercy, and in compassion.

20 I wil euen marry thee vnto me in y faithfulnesse, and thou shalt know the Lord.

21 And in that day I will heare, saith the Lorde, I will euen heare z the heauens, and i This he speaketh of the faithfull, which are truely conuerted, and also sheweth the vse and profit of Gods rods.

k This declareth that idolaters vse not God of his bountie when they attribute his benefits to their idols.

l Signifying that God wil take away his benefits when man by his ingratitude doth abuse them.

m That is, all her seruice, ceremonies and inuentions where by she worshipped her idoles.

n I will punish her for her idolatrie.

o By shewing how harlots trim themselues to please others, he declareth how the superstitious idolaters set a great part of their religion in decking themselues on their holy dayes.

p By my benefits in offering her grace & mercie, euen in that place where he shal thinke her selfe destitute of all helpe and comfort.

q Which was a plentiful valley, & wherein they had great comfort when they came out of the wildernesse, as Ioth. 7.26. and is called the doore of hope, because it was a departing from death, and an entry into life.

r She shal then prayse God as shee did when she was deliuered out of Egypt.

s That is, mine husband, knowing that I am ioyned to thee by an inuiolable conenant.

t That is, my master: which name was applied to their idoles.

u No idolatry shal once come into their mouth, but they shall serue me purely according to my word.

x Meaning, that hee will so bleese them, that all creatures shall fauour them.

y With a couenant that neuer shall be broken.

z Then shall the heauen deffe raine for the earth which shall bring foorth for the vse of man.

they

they ſhall heare the earth,

22 And the earth ſhall heare the corne, and the wine, and the oyle, and they ſhall heare Iezreel.

23 And I will ſowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will ſay to them which were not my people, * Thou art my people. And they ſhall ſay, Thou art my God.

* Rom.9.25. 2.pet.2.10.

CHAP. III.

1 The Iewes ſhall be caſt off for their idolatrie. 5 Afterward they ſhall returne to the Lord.

THen ſaid the Lord to me, [a]Goe yet, and loue a woman (beloued of her huſband, and was an harlot) according to the loue of the Lord toward the children of Iſrael: yet they looked to other gods, and [b]loued the wine bottels.

a Herein the Prophet repreſenteth the perſon of God, which loued his Church before he be called her, and did not withdraw the ſame when ſhe gaue her ſelfe to idoles.

b That is, gaue themſelues wholy to pleaſures, and could not take vp, as they that are giuen to drunkennes.

2 So [c]I bought her to me for fifteen pieces of ſiluer, and for an Homer of barley and an halfe Homer of barley.

c Yet I loued her, and paied a ſmall portion for her, leaſt ſhe perteining to greatnes of my loue, ſhould haue abuſed me, and not done vnder duetie: for fifteene pieces of ſiluer were but halfe the price of a ſlaue, Exod. 21. 32.

3 And I ſaide vnto her, Thou ſhalt abide with [d]me many dayes: thou ſhalt not play the harlot, and thou ſhalt be to none other man, and I will be ſo vnto thee.

d I wil trie thee a long time as in thy widowhood, whether thou wilt be mine or no. e Meaning, not onely all the time of their captiuitie, but alſo vnto Chriſt. f That is, they ſhould neither haue policie nor religion, and their idoles alſo wherein they put their confidence, ſhould be deſtroyed. g This is meant of Chriſtes kingdome, which was promiſed vnto Dauid to be eternall, Pſal. 72.17.

4 For the children of Iſrael ſhal [e]remaine many dayes without a King, and without a [f]Prince, and without an offering, and without an image, and without an Ephod, and without Teraphim.

5 Afterward ſhall the children of Iſrael conuert, and ſeeke the Lorde their God, and [g]Dauid their king, and ſhall feare the Lorde, and his goodnes in the latter dayes.

CHAP. IIII.

A complaint againſt the people, and the Prieſts of Iſrael.

1 Becauſe the people would not obey the admonitions of the Prophet, he citeth them before the iudgement ſeate of God, againſt whome they chiefly offended, Iſa.7.13. Zecha.12,10. mich.6.1,2.

HEare the word of the Lord, ye children of Iſrael: for the Lorde [a]hath a controuerſie with the inhabitants of the lande, becauſe there is no truethe nor mercie, nor knowledge of God in the land.

2 By ſwearing, and lying, and killing, and ſtealing, and whoring, they breake out, and [b]blood toucheth blood.

b In euery place appeareth a libertie to moſt hainous vices, ſo that one followeth in the neeke of another.

3 Therefore ſhall the land mourne, and euery one that dwelleth therein, ſhall be cut off, with the beaſts of the field, and with the foules of the heauen, and alſo the fiſhes of the ſea ſhall be taken away.

4 Yet [c]let none rebuke, nor reproue another: for thy people are as they that rebuke the Prieſt.

c As though he would ſay that it were in vaine to rebuke them: for no man can abide it: yea, they will ſpeake againſt the Prophets and Prieſts, whoſe office it is chiefly to rebuke them.

5 Therefore ſhalt thou fall in the [d]day, and the Prophet ſhal fal with thee in the night, and I will deſtroy thy [e]mother.

d Be ſhall perish altogether: the one, becauſe he would not obey, and the other becauſe he would not admonish.

e That is, the Synagogue wherein thou boaſteſt.

6 My people are deſtroyed for lacke of knowledge: becauſe [f]thou haſt refuſed knowledge, I wil alſo refuſe thee, that thou ſhalt be no Prieſt to me: and ſeeing [g]thou haſt forgotten the Law of thy God, I will alſo forget thy children.

f That is, the Prieſts ſhalbe caſt off, becauſe that for lacke of knowledge, they are not able to execute their charge, and inſtruct others, Deut.33.3. mal.2.7.

g Meaning, the whole body of the people, which were ouerrie with hearing the word of God.

7 As they were [h]increaſed, ſo they ſinned againſt me: therefore will I change their glorie into ſhame.

h The more I gaue beneficiall promiſes.

8 [i]They eate vp the ſinnes of my people, and lift vp their mindes in their iniquitie.

i Be wil, the Prieſts ſeeke to eate the peoples offerings, and flatter them in their ſinnes.

9 And there ſhall bee like people, like [k]Prieſt: for I will viſite their wayes vpon them, and reward them their deedes.

k Signifying, that as they haue ſinned together, ſo ſhall they be puniſhed together.

10 For they ſhall eate, and not haue ynough: they ſhall [l]commit adulterie: and ſhall not increaſe, becauſe they haue left off to take heede to the Lord.

l Shewing, that their wickednes ſhalbe puniſhed on all ſides: for though they thinke by the multitude of wiues to haue many children, yet they ſhall be deceiued of their hope.

11 [m]Whoredome, and wine, and newe wine take away their heart.

m In giuing themſelues to pleaſures, they become like bruite beaſts.

12 My [n]people aſke counſell at their ſtockes, and their ſtaffe teacheth them: for the [o]ſpirite of fornications hath cauſed them to erre, and they haue gone a whoring from vnder their God.

n Thus he ſpeaketh by deriſion in calling them his people, which name for their ſinnes they were not: for they ſought helpe of ſtocks & ſtickes.

o They are caried away with a rage.

13 They ſacrifice vpon the toppes of the mountaines, and burne incenſe vpon the hilles vnder the okes, and the poplar tree, and elme, becauſe the ſhadow thereof is good: therefore your daughters ſhall bee [p]harlots, and your ſpouſes ſhalbe whores.

p Becauſe they take away Gods honour, and giue it to idoles, therefore he will giue them vp to their luſts, that they ſhal diſhonour their owne bodies, Rom. 1.28.

14 I will not [q]viſit your daughters when they are harlots, nor your ſpouſes, when they are whores: for they themſelues are ſeparated with harlots, and ſacrifice with whores: therefore the people that doeth not vnderſtand, ſhall fall.

q I will not correct your ſhame to bring you to amendment, but let you run headlong to your owne damnation.

15 Though thou, Iſrael play the harlot, yet [r]let not Iudah ſinne: come not yee vnto [s]Gilgal, neither goe ye vp to [t]Beth-auen, nor ſweare, The Lord liueth.

r God complaineth that Iudah is infected, & willeth them to learne by their example to returne in time. s For albeit the Lord had honored this place in time paſt with his preſence, yet becauſe it was abuſed by their idolatry, he would not that his people ſhould reſort thither. t He calleth Beth-el, that is, the houſe of God, Beth-auen, that is, the houſe of iniquity, becauſe of their abomination ſet vp there, ſignifying, that no place is holy where God is not purely worſhipped.

16 For Iſrael is rebellious as an vnruly heifer. Nowe the Lorde will feede them as a [u]lambe in a large place.

u God will ſo diſperſe them that they ſhal not remaine in any certaine place.

17 Ephraim is ioyned to idoles: let him alone.

18 Their drunkennes ſtinketh: they haue committed whoredome: their rulers loue to ſay with ſhame, [x]Bring ye.

x They are ſo impudent in receiuing bribes, y they will command men to bring the vnto them.

19 The winde hath [y]bounde them vp in her wings, and they ſhall be aſhamed of their ſacrifices.

y To carry the ſodainly away.

CHAP. V.

1 Against the Priests and rulers of Israel. 13 The helpe of man is in vaine.

OYe Priests, heare this, and hearken yee, O house of Israel, and giue yee eare, O house of the king: for iudgement is toward you, because ye haue bene a [a] snare on Mizpah, and a net spread vpon Tabor.

2 Yet they were profound, to decline to [b] slaughter, though I haue bene a [c] rebuker of them all.

3 I know [d] Ephraim, and Israel is not hid from me: for nowe, O Ephraim thou art become an harlot, & Israel is defiled.

4 They will not giue their mindes to turne vnto their God: for the spirit of fornication is in the mids of them, and they haue not knowen the Lord.

5 And the [e] pride of Israel doeth testifie to his face: therefore shall Israel and Ephraim fall in their iniquitie: Iudah also shal fall with them.

6 They shall goe with their sheepe, and with their bullocks to seeke the Lord: but they shal not find him: for he hath withdrawen himselfe from them.

7 They haue transgressed against the Lord: for they haue begotten [f] strange children: nowe shall a moneth deuour them with their portions.

8 Blowe ye the trumpet in Gibeah, and the shaume in Rama: cry out at Beth-auen, after thee, O [h] Beniamin.

9 Ephraim shalbe desolate in the day of rebuke: among the tribes of Israel haue I caused to [i] know the trueth.

10 The Princes of Iudah were like them that [k] remoue the bound: therfore wil I powre out my wrath vpon them like water.

11 Ephraim is oppressed, and broken in iudgement, because he willingly walked after the [l] commandement.

12 Therefore will I be vnto Ephraim as a moth, and to the house of Iudah as a rottennesse.

13 When Ephraim sawe his sickenesse and Iudah his wounde, then went Ephraim vnto [m] Ashur, and sent vnto king [n] Iareb: yet could he not heale you, nor cure you of your wound.

14 For I will be vnto Ephraim as a Lyon, and as a Lyons whelpe to the house of Iudah: I, euen I will spoile, and goe away: I will take away, and none shall rescue it.

15 I will goe, and returne to my place till they acknowledge their fault, and seeke me: in their affliction they will seeke me diligently.

a The Priests and Princes catched the poore people in their snares as the rulers did the birds, in the tree tops of high mountaines.

b Notwithstanding they seemed to be giuen altogether to holines and to sacrifices, which here he calleth slaughter in contempt.

c Though I haue admonished them continually by my prophets.

d They boasted themselues not onely to be Israelites, but also Ephraimites, because their king Ieroboam came of that tribe.

e Meaning, their contemning of all admonition.

f That is, their children are degenerate: so that there is no hope in them.

g Their destruction is not farre off.

h That is, all Israel comprehended vnder this part, signifying that the Lords plagues should pursue them from place to place, til they were destroyed.

i By the successe they shal knowe that I haue surely determined this.

k They haue turned vpside downe all politicall order, and all maner of religion.

l To wit, after king Ieroboams commandement, and did not rather follow God.

m In stede of seeking for remedie at Gods hand.

n Who was king of the Assyrians.

CHAP. VI.

1 Affliction causeth a man to turne to God. 9 The wickednes of the Priests.

COme, and let vs [a] returne to the Lord: for he hath spoyled, and hee will heale vs: he hath wounded vs, and he will binde vs vp.

2 After two dayes will [b] he reuiue vs, and in the third day he wil raise vs vp, and we shall liue in his sight.

3 Then shall we haue knowledge, and indeuour our selues to know the Lord: his going forth is prepared as the morning, and hee shall come vnto vs as the raine, and as the latter raine vnto the earth.

4 O Ephraim, what shal I doe vnto thee? O Iudah, how shal I intreate thee? for [c] your goodnes is as a morning cloud, and as the morning dewe it goeth away.

5 Therefore haue I [d] cut downe by the Prophets: I haue slaine them by the wordes of my mouth, and thy [e] iudgements were as the light that goeth forth.

6 For I desired [f] mercie, & not sacrifice, & [g] knowledge of God more then burnt offerings.

7 But they [s] like men haue transgressed the couenant: there haue they trespassed against me.

8 [h] Gilead is a citie of them that work iniquitie, and is polluted with blood.

9 And as theeues waite for a man, so the companie of Priestes murther in the way by consent: for they worke mischiefe.

10 I haue seene villanie in the house of Israel: there is the whoredome of Ephraim: Israel is defiled.

11 Yea, Iudah hath set a [i] plant for thee, whiles I woulde returne the captiuitie of my people.

a He sheweth the people how they ought to turne to the Lord, that he might call backe his plagues.

b Though hee correct vs from time to time, yet his helpe wil not be farre off, if we returne to him.

c You seeme to haue a certaine holines and repentance, but it is vpon the sudden, and as a morning cloude.

d I haue still laboured by my Prophets, and as it were framed you to bring you to amendement, but all was in vaine: for my word was not meante to feede them, but a sword to slay them.

e My doctrine which I taught there, was well euident.

f He sheweth to what scope his doctrine tendes, that they should loyne the obedience of God, and the loue of their neighbor in mercyward sacrifice.

g That is, like light and weake persons.

h Which was the place where the Priests dwelt, & which should haue byn best instructed in my word.

i That is, doeth imitate thine idolatrie, and hath taken graffes of thy trees.

CHAP. VII.

1 Of the vices and wantonnesse of the people. 12 Of their punishment.

WHen I woulde haue healed Israel, then the iniquitie of Ephraim was discouered, and the wickednesse of Samaria: for they haue dealt falsly: and [a] the theefe commeth in, and the robber spoyleth without.

2 And they consider not in their hearts, that I remember all their wickednesse: now their owne inuentions haue beset them about: they are in my sight.

3 They make the [b] King glad with their wickednesse, and the princes with their lies.

4 They are all aduulterers, and as a very [c] ouen heated by the baker, which ceaseth from raising vp, and from kneading the dough vntil it be leauened.

5 This is the [d] day of our King: the princes haue made him sicke with flagons of wine: he stretcheth out his hand to scorners.

a Meaning, that there was no one kinde of vice among them, but that they were subiect to all wickednesse, both secret and open.

b They esteeme their wicked king Ieroboam aboue God, and seeke but how to flatter and please him.

c He compareth the rage of the people to a burning ouen which the baker heateth still till his dough be leauened and tasted.

d They vsed all riot and excesse in their feasts and solemnities, whereby their king was ouercome with surfet, and brought into diseases, and delited in flatteries.

6 For they haue made ready their heart like an ouen whiles they lie in waite: their baker sleepeth all the night: in the morning it burneth as a flame of fire.

a By their occasion God hath deprined them of all good rulers.

7 They are all hote as an ouen, and haue [e] deuoured their Iudges: all their Kings are fallen: there is none among them that calleth vnto me.

f That is, he counterfaiteth the religiō of the Gentiles, yet is but as a cake baked on the one side, and rawe on the other, that is, neither throughe hote nor throughe cold, but partly a Iew, & partly a Gentile.

8 Ephraim hath [f] mixt himselfe among the people. Ephraim is as a cake on the hearth not turned.

g Which are a token of his manifold afflictions.

9 Strangers haue deuoured his strength, and he knoweth it not: yea, [g] gray haires are here and there vpon him, yet he knoweth not.

10 And the pride of Israel testifieth to his face, and they doe not returne to the Lord their God, nor seeke him for all this.

h That is, without all iudgement, as they y cannot tel whether it is better to cleaue onely to God, or to seeke the helpe of men.

11 Ephraim also is like a Doue deceiued, without [h] heart: they call to Egypt: they goe to Assur.

i According to my curses made to the whole congregation of Israel.

12 But when they shal go, I wil spread my net vpon them, and drawe them downe as the foules of the heauen: I will chastise them as their [i] Congregation hath heard.

k That is, diuers times redeemed them, and deliuered them from death.

13 Woe vnto them: for they haue fled away from me: destruction shall be vnto them, because they haue transgressed against mee: though I haue [k] redeemed them, yet they haue spoken lies against me.

l When they were in affliction and cried out for pain, they sought not vnto me for helpe.

14 And they haue not cried vnto mee with their hearts, [l] when they howled vpon their beds: [m] they assemble themselues for corne, and wine, and they rebell against me.

m They onely seeke their owne commoditie and wealth, and passe not for me their God.

15 Though I haue bound and strengthened their arme, yet doe they imagine mischiefe against me.

16 They returne, but not to the most high: they are like a deceitfull bowe: their Princes shall fall by the sworde, for the rage [n] of their tongues: this shal be their derision in the land of Egypt.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The destruction of Iudah and Israel, because of their idolatrie.

a God encourageth the prophet to signifie the speedy comming of the enemie against Israel, which was once the people of God.

SEt the trumpet to thy [a] mouth: hee shall come as an Eagle against the house of the Lord, because they haue transgressed my couenant, and trespassed against my Lawe.

b They that cry like hypocrites, but not from the heart, as their deeds declare.

2 Israel shal [b] cry vnto me, My God, we know thee.

3 Israel hath cast off y thing that is good: the enemie shal pursue him.

c That is, Ieroboam, by whom they sought their owne libertie, and not to obey my will.

4 They haue set vp a [c] King, but not by me: they haue made Princes, and I knew it not: of their siluer and their gold haue they made them idoles: therefore shall they be destroyed.

d That is, vpright iudgement and godly life.

5 Thy calfe, O Samaria, hath cast thee off: mine anger is kindled against them: how long will they be without [d] innocencie!

e Meaning, the calfe was inuented by themselues, and of their fathers in the wilderness.

6 [e] For it came euē from Israel: the workman made it, therefore it is not God: but the calfe of Samaria shall be broken in pieces.

f Shewing that their religion hath but a shew, and in it selfe is but banitie.

7 For they haue [f] sowen the winde, and they shall reape the whirlewind: it hath no stalke: the bud shall bring foorth no meale: if so be it bring foorth, the strangers shal deuoure it.

8 Israel is deuoured, now shal they be among the Gentiles as a vessell, wherein is no pleasure.

g They neuer cease, but run to and fro to seeke helpe.

9 For they are gone vp to Assur: they are as a [g] wilde asse alone by himselfe: Ephraim hath hired louers.

10 Yet though they haue hired among the nations, now wil I gather them, and they shall sorow a litle, for the [h] burden of the king & the Princes.

h That is, for the tribute which the king and the princes shal lay vpon them: which meanes the Lord vseth to bring them to repentance.

11 Because Ephraim hath made many altars to sinne, his altars shalbe to sinne.

i Thus the idolaters count the word of God as strange in respect of their owne inuentions.

12 I haue written to them the great things of my Law: but they were counted as a [i] strange thing.

k Saying that they offer it to the Lord, but he accepteth no seruice, which he himselfe hath not appointed.

13 They sacrifice fleth for the sacrifices of mine offerings, and eate it: but the [k] Lord accepteth them not: now wil he remember their iniquitie, & visite their sinnes: they shal returne to Egypt.

14 For Israel hath forgotten his maker, and buildeth Temples, and Iudah hath increased strong cities: but I wil send a fire vpon his cities, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

CHAP. IX.

Of the hunger and captiuitie of Israel.

a For though all other people should escape, yet thou shalt be punished.

REioyce not, O Israel for ioy [a] as other people: for thou hast gone a whoring from thy God: thou hast loued [b] a reward vpon euery corne flooze.

b Thou hast committed idolatrie in hope of reward, and to haue thy barnes filled, Ier. 44. 17. as an harlot that had rather line by playing the whore then to be intertained of her owne husband.

2 [c] The flooze, and the winepresse shal not feed them, and the new wine shal faile in her,

c These outward things that thou seekest, shalbe taken from thee.

3 They will not dwel in the Lords land, but Ephraim wil returne to Egypt, and they wil eate vncleane things in Assur.

d All their doings both touching policie and religion shalbe reiected as things polluted.

4 They shal not offer [d] wine to the Lord, neither shall their sacrifices bee pleasant vnto him: but they shall be vnto them as the bread of mourners: all that eate thereof shalbe polluted: for their bread [e] for their soules shall not come into the house of the Lord.

e The meat offring which they offred for themselues.

5 What will ye doe [f] then in the solemne day, and in the day of the feast of the Lord?

f When the Lord shal take away all the occasions of seruing him.

6 For loe, they are gone from [g] destruction: but Egypt shall gather them vp, & Memphis shal bury them: the nettle shal possesse the pleasant places of their siluer, and the thorne shalbe in their tabernacles.

which shalbe p most grieuous point of your captiuitie, wherē ye shal see your selues cut off from God. g Though they thinke to escape by fleeing the destruction that is at hand, yet shal they be destroied in the place whether they flee for succour.

7 The 7 The dayes of viſitation are come: the dayes of recompence are come: Iſrael ſhall know it: [h] the Prophet is a foole: the ſpiritual man is mad, for the multitude of thine iniquities: therefore the hatred is great.

8 The watchman of Ephraim [i] ſhould be with my God: but the Prophet is the ſnare of a fouler in all his wayes, and hatred in the Houſe of his God.

9 They [k] are deeply ſet: they are corrupt as in the dayes of Gibeah: therefore hee will remember their iniquitie, hee will viſite their ſinnes.

10 I found Iſrael like [l] grapes in the wilderneſſe: I ſaw your fathers as the firſt ripe in the fig tree at her firſt time: but they went to Baal-Peor, and ſeparated themſelues vnto that ſhame, & their abominations were according to [m] their louers.

11 Ephraim their glory ſhal flee away like a bird: from the birth [n] and from the wombe, and from the conception.

12 Though they bring vp their children, yet I will deprive them from being men: yea, woe to them, when I depart from them.

13 Ephraim, as I ſaw, is as a tree [o] in Tyrus planted in a cottage: but Ephraim ſhall bring forth his children to the murtherer.

14 O Lorde, giue them: what wilt thou giue them? giue them a [p] barren wombe and dry breſts.

15 All their wickedneſſe is in [q] Gilgal: for there doe I hate them: for the wickedneſſe of their inuentions, I will caſt them out of mine Houſe: I will loue them no more: all their princes are rebels.

16 Ephraim is ſmitten, their roote is dried vp: they can bring no fruit: yea, though they bring forth, yet wil I ſlay euen the dearelt of their body.

17 My God will caſt them away, becauſe they did not obey him: and they ſhall wander among the nations.

h Then they ſhal know that they were deluded by them who challenged to themſelues to be their Prophets and ſpiritual men.
i The Prophets dutie is to bring men to God, and not to be a ſnare to pul them from God.
k This people is ſo rooted in their wickednes, that Gibeah which was like to Sodome, was neuer more corrupt, Iud. 19. 22.
l Meaning, that he ſo eſteemed them and delited in them.
m They were as abominable vnto me, as their louers the idols.
n Signifying, that God would deſtroy their children by theſe ſundry means, & ſo conſume them by litle and litle.
o As they kept tender plants in their houſes in Tyrus to preſerue them from the cold aire of the Sea, ſo was Ephraim at the firſt vnto me, but now wil I giue him to the ſlaughter.
p The Prophet ſeeing the great plagues of God toward Ephraim, prayeth to God to make them barren, rather then y this great ſlaughter ſhould come vpon their children.
q The chiefe cauſe of their deſtruction is that they commit idolatry, & corrupt my religion in Gilgal.

CHAP. X.

1 Againſt Iſrael and his idols. 14 His deſtruction for the ſame.

a Whereof though y grapes were gathered, yet euer as it gathered new ſtrength, it increaſed new wickednelſe, ſo that the correction which ſhould haue brought them to obedience, did but vtter their ſtubbernelſe.
b As they were rich and had abundance. c To wit, from God. d The day ſhall come that God ſhall take away their king, and then they ſhal feele the fruit of their ſinnes, and how they truſted in him in vaine, 2. King. 17. 6, 7.

ISrael is an [a] emptie vine, yet hath it brought forth fruit vnto it ſelfe, and according to the multitude of the fruite thereof hee hath increaſed the altars: according to the [b] goodneſſe of their land they haue made faire images.

2 Their heart is [c] diuided: now ſhal they be found faultie: hee ſhall breake downe their altars: he ſhall deſtroy their images.

3 For now they ſhall ſay, Wee haue no [d] King becauſe wee feared not the Lorde: and what ſhould a king doe to vs?

4 They haue ſpoken words, ſwearing falſly in making a couenant: thus [f] iudgement groweth as wormwood in the furrowes of the field.

5 The inhabitants of Samaria ſhal feare becauſe of the calfe of Beth-auen: for the people thereof ſhall mourne ouer it, and the [h] Chemarims thereof, that reioyced on it for the glory thereof, becauſe it is departed from it.

6 It ſhall be alſo brought to Aſſhur, for a preſent vnto king Iareb: Ephraim ſhal receiue ſhame, and Iſrael ſhal be aſhamed of his owne counſel.

7 Of Samaria, the king thereof is deſtroied, as the ſome vpon the water.

8 The high places alſo of [i] Auen ſhall bee deſtroied, euen the ſinne of Iſrael: the thorne and the thiſtle ſhall growe vpon their altars, and they ſhall ſay to the mountaines, *Couer vs, and to the hils, Fall vpon vs.

9 O Iſrael, thou haſt [k] ſinned from the dayes of Gibeah: there they [l] ſtood: the battel in Gibeah againſt the children of iniquitie did not [m] touch them.

10 It is my deſire [n] that I ſhould chaſtiſe them, and the people ſhall bee gathered againſt them, when they ſhall gather themſelues in their two [o] furrowes.

11 And Ephraim is as an heifer vſed to delight [p] in threſhing: but I wil paſſe by her [q] faire necke: I will make Ephraim to ride: Iudah ſhal plow, & Iaakob ſhal breake his clods.

12 Sowe to your ſelues in righteouſneſſe: reape after the meaſure of mercy: [r] breake vp your fallow ground: for it is time to ſeeke the Lord, till he come and raine righteouſneſſe vpon you.

13 But you haue plowed wickedneſſe: ye haue reaped iniquitie: you haue eaten the fruit of lies: becauſe thou diddeſt truſt in thine owne wayes, & in the multitude of thy ſtrong men,

14 Therefore ſhall a tumult ariſe among thy people, & all thy munitions ſhall be deſtroyed, as [s] Shalman deſtroyed Beth-arbel in the day of battell: the mother with the children was daſhed in pieces.

15 So ſhal Beth-el doe vnto you, becauſe of your malicious wickedneſſe: in a morning ſhall the king of Iſrael be deſtroyed.

e In promiſing to be faithful toward God.
f Thus their integritie and fayrlie which they pretended, was nothing but bitternes & griefe.
g When the calfe ſhalbe caried away.
h Chemarims were certaine idolatrous prieſts, which did weare blacke apparel in their ſacrifices and cried with a loud voyce: which ſuperſtition Eliah berieued, 1. King. 18. 27. read 2. king. 23. 5.
i This he ſpeaketh in contempt of Bethel, read Chap. 4. 15.
* Iſa. 2. 19. luke 23. 30. reuel. 6. 16 & 9. 6.
k In thoſe daies waſt thou as wicked as the Gibeonites, as God there partly declared: for thy zeale could not be good in executing gods iudgements, ſeeing thine own deeds were as wicked as theirs.
l To wit, to fight or the Iſraelites, remaines in that ſtubbernes from that time.
m The Iſraelites were not moued by their example to ceaſe frō their ſinnes.
n Becauſe they are ſo deſperate, I wil delight to deſtroy them.
o That is, when they haue gathered all their ſtrength together.
p Wherein is pleaſure, as in plowing is labour and paine.
q I wil lay my yoke vpon her faire necke.
r Read Ier. 4. 4.
s That is, Shalmanazzar in the deſtruction of that citie, ſpared neither kind nor age.

CHAP. XI.

1 The benefits of the Lord toward Iſrael. 5 Their ingratitude againſt him.

WHen Iſrael [a] was a childe, then I loued him, and called my ſonne out of Egypt.

a Whiles the Iſraelites were in Egypt, they did not prouoke my wrath by their malice and ingratitude.

2 They

2 They called them, but they [b] went thus from them: they ſacrificed vnto Baalim, and burnt incenſe to images.

3 I led Ephraim alſo, as one ſhould beare them in his armes: but they knewe not that I healed them.

4 I led them with cordes [c] of a man, euen with bands of loue, and I was to them, as he that taketh off the yoke from their iawes, and I laide the meate vnto them.

5 He ſhall no more returne into the land of Egypt: but Aſſhur ſhalbe his [d] king, becauſe they refuſed to conuert.

6 And the ſword ſhall fall on his cities, and ſhal conſume his barres, and deuoure them, becauſe of their owne counſels.

7 And my people are bent to rebellion againſt me: though [e] they called them to the moſt High: yet none at all would exalt him.

8 [f] Howe ſhall I giue thee vp, Ephraim? howe ſhall I deliuer thee Iſrael? how ſhal I make thee, as [g] Admah? howe ſhal I ſet thee, as Zeboim? mine heart is turned within mee: [h] my repentings are rowled together.

9 I will not execute the fiercenesſe of my wrath: I will not returne to deſtroy Ephraim: for I am God, and not man, the holy one in the mids of thee, and I will not [i] enter into the citie.

10 They ſhal walke after the Lord: he ſhal roare like a Lion: when he ſhall roare, then the children of the Weſt ſhall feare.

11 [k] They ſhall feare as a Sparowe out of Egypt, and as a Doue out of the land of Aſſhur, and I will place them in their houſes, ſaith the Lord.

12 Ephraim compaſſeth mee about with lies, and the houſe of Iſrael with deceite: but Iudah yet ruleth with [l] God, and is faithfull with the Saints.

b They rebelled and went a contrary way when the Prophets called them to repentance.

c That is, friendly: and not as beaſts of cattel.

d Seeing they contemne all this kindnes, they ſhall be led captiue into Aſſyria.

e To wit, the Prophets.

f God conſulteth with himſelfe, and that with a certaine griefe howe to punish them.

g Which were two of the cities that were deſtroyed with Sodom. deu. 29.23.

h Meaning, that his loue toward ſwerued them, made him beſweene doubt and aſſurance what to doe and herein appeareth his fatherly affection that his mercy toward his ſhall ouercome his iudgement, as he declareth in the next verſe.

i To conſume thee, but will cauſe thee to perſhe, and ſo receiue thee to mercie: and this is meant of the ſmall number who ſhal walke after the Lord.

k The Egyptians and Aſſyrians ſhall be afraide when the Lord maintaineth his people.

l Gouerneth their ſtate according to Gods word, and doeth not degenerate.

CHAP. XII.

He admoniſheth by Iaakobs example to truſt in God, and not in man.

1 Ephraim is feddᵃ with the winde, and followeth after the Eaſt winde: hee increaſeth daily lies and deſtruction, and they do make a couenant with Aſſhur, and ᵇoyle is caried into Egypt.

2 The Lord hath alſo a controuerſie with [c] Iudah, and will viſite Iaakob, according to his wayes: according to his workes, will he recompence him.

3 Hee tooke his brother by the heele in the wombe, and by his ſtrength hee had [d] power with God,

4 And had [e] power ouer the Angell, and preuailed: hee wept and prayed vnto him: [f] hee found him in Beth-el, and there he ſpake with vs.

5 Yea, the Lord God of hoſtes, the Lord is himſelfe his memoriall.

6 Therefore turne thou to thy God: keepe mercie and iudgement, and hope ſtill in thy God:

7 He is [g] Canaan: the balances of deceite are in his hand: he loueth to oppreſſe.

8 And Ephraim ſaid, Notwithſtanding I am rich, I haue found me out riches in all my labours: they ſhall finde none iniquitie in mee, [h] that were wickednes.

9 Though I am the Lord thy God, from the lande of Egypt, yet will I make thee to dwell in the Tabernacles, as in [i] the dayes of the ſolemne feaſt.

10 I haue alſo ſpoken by the Prophets, and I haue multiplied viſions, and vſed ſimilitudes by the miniſterie of the Prophets.

11 Is there [k] iniquitie in Gilead? ſurely they are vanitie: they ſacrifice bullocks in Gilgal, and their altars are as heapes in the furrowes of the field.

12 [l] And Iaakob fled into the countrey of Aram, and Iſrael ſerued for a wife, and for a wife he kept ſheepe.

13 And by a [m] Prophet the Lord brought Iſrael out of Egypt, and by a Prophet was he reſerued.

14 But Ephraim prouoked him with lie places: therefore ſhall his blood be powred vpon him, and his reproch ſhall his Lord reward him.

a That is, ſtatereth himſelfe with daine confidence.

b Meaning, preſents to get friendſhip.

c Which in theſe points was like to Ephraim, but not in idolatries.

d Seeing that God did thus preferre Iaakob their father, Iudahs ingratitude was the more to be abhorred.

e Read Gen. 32.28.

f God found Iaakob as he lay ſleeping in Bethel, Gen. 28. 12. and ſo ſpake with him there, that the fruite of that preach appertained to the whole bodie of the people, whereof we are.

g As for Ephraim he is more like the wicked Canaanites then godly Abraham or Iaakob.

h Thus the wicked meaſure Gods fauour by outward proſperitie, and the hypocrites cannot abide that any ſhould reproue their doings.

i Seeing thou wilt not acknowledge my benefites, I will bring thee againe to dwel in tents as in the feaſt of the Tabernacles, which thou doeſt now contemne.

k The people thought that no man durſt haue ſpoken againſt Gilead, that holy place, and yet the Prophet ſaith, that all their religion was but vanitie.

l If you boaſt of your riches & nobilitie ye ſeeme to reproch your father who was a poore fugitiue and ſeruant.

m Meaning, Moſes, whereby appeareth, that whatſoeuer they haue, it commeth of Gods free goodneſſe.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The abomination of Iſrael. 9 And the cauſe of their deſtruction.

1 When Ephraim ſpake, there was [a] trembling: he [b] exalted himſelf in Iſrael, but he hath ſinned in Baal, [c] and is dead.

2 And now they ſinne more and more, and haue made them molten images of their ſilver, and idoles according to their owne vnderſtanding: they were all the worke of the craftſmen: they ſay one to another whiles they ſacrifice a [d] man, Let them kiſſe the calues.

3 Therefore they ſhall bee as the morning cloud, and as the morning dew that paſſeth away, as the chaffe that is driuen with a whirlewinde out of the floore, and as the ſmoke that goeth out of the chimney.

4 Yet I am the Lord thy God [e] from the land of Egypt, and thou ſhalt knowe no God but me: for there is no Sauiour beſide me.

5 I did know thee in the wildernes, in the land of drought.

6 As in their paſtures, ſo were they filled: they were filled, and their heart was exalted:

a He ſheweth the excellencie, and authoritie that this tribe had aboue all the reſt.

b He made a king of his tribe.

c The Ephraimites are not farre from deſtruction, and haue loſt their authoritie.

d The falſe prophets perſwaded the idolaters to offer their children after the example of Abraham, and he ſheweth how they would exhort one another to the ſame, and to kiſſe and worſhip theſe calues which were their idoles.

e He calleth them to repentance and reproueth their ingratitude.

there-

therefore haue they forgotten me.

7 And I will be vnto them as a bery lion, & as a leopard in the way of Asshur.

8 I will meete them as a beare that is robbed of her whelpes, and I will breake the kall of their heart, & there will I deuour them like a lion: the wild beast shal teare them.

9 O Israel, one [f] hath destroyed thee, but in me is thine helpe.

10 [g] I am: where is thy king, that should helpe thee in all thy cities: and thy iudges, of whom thou saidest, Giue mee a king, and princes?

11 I gaue thee a king in mine anger, and I tooke him away in my wrath.

12 The iniquitie of Ephraim is [h] bound vp: his sinne is hid.

13 The sorrowes of a trauelling woman shall come vpon him: he is an vnwise sonne, els would he not stand still at the time, euen at the [i] breaking foorth of the children.

14 I will redeeme them from the power of the graue: I will deliuer them from death: O [k] death I will be thy death: O graue, I wil bee thy destruction: [l] repentance is hid from mine eies.

15 Though he grew vp among his brethē, an East winde shall come, euen the winde of the Lord shall come vp from the wildernesse, and drie vp his veine, and his fountaine shall be dried vp: he shal spoile the treasure of all pleasant vessels.

f Thy destruction is certaine, and my benefites toward thee declare that it commeth not of me: therefore thine owne malice, idolatry & vaine confidence in men must needs be the cause thereof.
g I am all one, James 1.17.
h It is surely laid vp to be punished, as Iere. 17.1.
i But would come out of the wombe, that is, out of this danger wherin he is, and not tary to be stifeled.
k Meaning, that no power shall resist God when he will deliuer his, but euen in death will be giue them life.
l Because they will not turne to me, I will not change my purpose.

CHAP. XIIII.

3 The destruction of Samaria. 2 He exhorteth Israel to turne to God, who requireth praise and thanks.

SAmaria shall be desolate: for shee hath rebelled against her God: they shall fall by the sworde: their infants shall bee dashed in pieces, and their women with childe shall bee ript.

2 O Israel, [a] returne vnto the Lord thy God: for thou hast fallen by thine iniquitie.

3 Take vnto you words, and turne to the Lord, and say vnto him, [b] Take away all iniquitie, and receiue vs graciously: so wil we render the calues of our [c] lips.

4 Asshur shall [d] not saue vs, neither will wee ride vpon horses, neither will wee say any more to the worke of our handes, Ye are our gods: for in thee the fatherlesse findeth mercie.

5 [e] I wil heale their rebellion: I will loue them freely: for mine anger is turned away from him.

6 I will be as the dewe vnto Israel: he shall grow as the lillie and fasten his rootes, as the trees of Lebanon.

7 His branches shal spread, and his beautie shall bee as the oliue tree, and his smell as Lebanon.

8 They that dwel vnder his [f] shadow, shal returne: they shal reuiue as the corne, and flourish as the vine: the sent thereof shalbe as the wine of Lebanon.

9 Ephraim shal say, What haue I to doe any more with idoles? I shaue heard him, and looked vpon him: I am like a greene fig tree: vpon me is thy fruit found.

10 Who is [h] wise, and he shall vnderstand these things? and prudent, and he shall know them? for the wayes of the Lorde are righteous, and the iust shall walke in them: but the wicked shall fall therein.

a Be exhorteth them to repentance to enioy all these plagues willing them to declare by words their obedience and repentance.
b He sheweth them how they ought to confesse their sinnes.
c Declaring that this is the true sacrifice, that the faithful can offer, euen thanks & praise, Heb. 13.15.
d We will leaue all vaine confidence and pride.
e He declareth how ready God is to receiue them that doe repent.
f Whosoeuer ioyne themselues to this people, shalbe blessed.
g God sheweth how prompt he is to heare his, when they repent, and to offer himselfe as a protection, and safegard vnto them as a most sufficient fruit and profite.
h Signifying, that the true wisedome and knowledge consisteth in this, euen to rest vpon God.

IOEL.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Prophet Ioel first rebuketh them of Iudah, that being nowe punished with a great plague of famine, remaine still obstinate. Secondly, hee threatneth greater plagues, because they grewe daily to a more hardnes of heart, & rebellion against God, notwithstanding his punishments. Thirdly, he exhorteth them to repentance, shewing that it must be earnest, and proceede from the heart, because they had grieuously offended God. And so doing, he promiseth that God will be mercifull, and not forget his couenant that he made with their fathers: but will send his Christ who shall gather the scattered sheepe, and restore them to life and libertie, though they seemed to be dead.

CHAP. I.

1 A prophecie against the Iewes. 2 He exhorteth the people to prayer, and fasting, for the misery that was at hand.

THe worde of the Lorde that came to Ioel the sonne of Pethuel.

2 Heare ye this, O [a] elders, and hearken ye, all inhabitants of the lande, whether [b] such a thing hath bene in your dayes, or yet in the dayes of your fathers.

3 Tell you your children of it, and let your children shew to their children, and their children to another generation.

4 That which is left of the Palmer worm, hath the Grashopper eaten, and the residue of the grashopper hath the canker worme eaten, and the residue of the canker worme hath the Caterpiller eaten.

5 Awake ye [c] drunkards, and weepe, and howle all yee drinkers of wine, because of the newe wine: for it shall be pulled from your mouth.

a Signifying the princes, the Priests, and the Gouernours.
b He calleth the Iewes to the consideration of Gods iudgements who had nowe plagued the fruits of the ground for the space of foure yeere, which was for their sinnes, and to call them to repentance.
c Meaning, that the occasion of their excesse and drunkennes was taken away.

6 Yea, [d] a nation commeth vpon my lande, mightie, and without number, whose teeth are like the teeth of a lion, and he hath the tawes of a great lion.

7 He maketh my vine waste, and pilleth off the barke of my figge tree hee maketh it bare, and casteth it downe: the branches thereof are made white.

8 Mourne like a virgine girded with sackcloth for the [e] husband of her youth.

9 The meate offering, and the drinke offering is [f] cut off from the House of the Lord: the Priests the Lords ministers mourne.

10 The fielde is wasted: the lande mourneth: for the corne is destroyed [g] the new wine is dried vp, and the oyle is decayed.

11 Be ye ashamed, O husband men: howle, O ye vinedressers for the wheate, & for the barley, because the haruest of the field is perished.

12 The vine is dried vp, and the figge tree is decayed: the pomegranate tree & the palme tree, and the apple tree, euen all the trees of the fielde are withered: surely the ioy is withered away from the sonnes of men.

13 [h] Girde your selues and lament, yee Priestes: howle ye ministers of the altar: come and lie all night in sackcloth, ye ministers of my God: for the meate offering, and the drinke offering is taken away from the house of your God.

14 Sanctifie you a fast: call a solemne assemblie: gather the Elders, and all the inhabitants of the land into the House of the Lord your God, and crie vnto the Lord.

15 Alas: for the day, for the [i] day of ỹ Lord is at hand, & it commeth as a destruction from the Almightie.

16 Is not the meate cut off before our eyes: and ioy, and gladnesse from the house of our God?

17 The seede is rotten vnder their clods: the garners are destroyed: the barnes are broken downe, for the corne is withered.

18 How did the beasts mourne! the herdes of cattell pine away, because they haue no pasture, and the flockes of sheepe are destroyed.

19 O Lord, to thee will I crie: for the fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wildernesse, and the flame hath burnt vp all the trees of the fielde.

20 The beastes of the fielde crie also vnto thee, for the riuers of waters are dried vp, and the [k] fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wildernesse.

CHAP. II.

He prophecieth of the comming and crueltie of their enemies. 13 An exhortation to moue them to conuert. 18 The loue of God toward his people.

BLowe [a] the trumpet in Zion, and shoute in mine holy mountaine: let all the inhabitants of the land tremble: for the day of the Lord is come: for it is at hand.

2 A [b] day of darkenesse, and of blackenesse, a day of clouds, and obscuritie, as the morning spread vpon ỹ mountaines, so is there a [c] great people, and a mightie: there was none like it from the beginning, neither shall be any more after it, vnto the yeeres of many generations.

3 A fire deuoureth before him, and behind him a flame burneth vp: the land is as the garden of [d] Eden before him, and behinde him a desolate wildernesse, so that nothing shall escape him.

4 The beholding of him is like the sight of horses, and like the horsemen, so shall they runne.

5 Like the noyse of charrets in the tops of the mountaines shall they leape, like the noise of a flame of fire that deuoureth the stubble, and as a mightie people prepared to the battell.

6 Before his face shall the people tremble: all faces [e] shall gather blackenesse.

7 They shall runne like strong men, and goe vp to the wall like men of warre, and euery man shall goe forward in his wayes, and they shall not stay in their paths.

8 Neither shall one [f] thrust another, but euery man shall walke in his path: and when they fall vpon the swoorde, they shall not be wounded.

CHAP. III.

Of the iudgement of God against the enemies of his people.

FOr beholde, in [a] those dayes & in that time, when I shall bring againe the captiuitie of Iudah and Ierusalem, a When I shall deliuer my Church which standeth of the Iewes, & of the Gentiles,

2 I will also gather all nations, and will bring them downe into [b] the valley of Iehoshaphat, and will pleade with them there for my people, and for mine heritage Israel, who they haue scattered among the nations, and parted my land.

b It appeareth that he alludeth to that great victorie of Iehoshaphat, when as God without mans helpe destroyed the enemies, 2. Chro. 20. 26. also he hath respect to this word Iehoshaphat, which signifieth pleading, or iudgement, because God would iudge the enemies of his Church as he did there.

3 And they haue cast lots for my people, and haue giuen the childe [c] for the harlot, and sold the girle for wine, that they might drinke.

c That which the enemie gate for the sale of my people, he bestowed vpon harlots and drinke.

4 Yea, and [d] what haue you to doe with me, O Tyrus and Zidon, and all the coastes of Palestina: will ye render me [e] a recompence: and if ye recompence me, swiftly and speedily will I render your recompence vpon your head:

d He taketh the cause of his Church in hand against the enemie, as though the iniurie were done to himselfe.

5 For ye haue taken my siluer & my gold, and haue caried into your temples my goodly and pleasant things.

e Haue I done you wrong, that ye will render me the like?

6 The children also of Iudah and the children of Ierusalem haue you solde vnto the Grecians, that ye might send them farre from their border.

f For afterward God solde them by Nebuchadnezzar, and Alexander the great, for the loue he bare to his people, and thereby they were comforted as though the price had beene theirs.

7 Beholde, I will raise them out of the place where ye haue solde them, and will render your reward vpon your owne head.

8 And I will sell your sonnes and your daughters into the hand of the children of Iudah, and they [f] shall sell them to the Sabeans, to a people farre off: for the Lorde hath spoken it.

g When I shal execute my iudgements against mine enemies, I will cause euery one to be ready, and to prepare their weapons to destroy one another for my Churches sake.

9 Publish this among the Gentiles: prepare warre, wake vp the mightie men: let all the men of warre draw neere and come vp.

10 [g] Breake your plowshares into swords, and your sithes into speares: let the weake say, I am strong.

h Thus he shall incourage y enemies when their wickednes is full ripe to destroy one another, which he called the valley of Gods iudgement.

11 Assemble your selues, and come all ye heathen, & gather your selues together round about: there shal the Lord cast downe the mightie men.

12 Let the heathen be wakened & come vp to the valley of Iehoshaphat: for there will I sit to iudge all the heathen round about.

13 Put in your [h] sithes, for the haruest is ripe:

ripe: come, get you downe, for the winepresse is full: yea, the winepresses runne ouer, for their wickednesse is great.

14 O multitude, O multitude, come into the valley of threshing: for the day of the Lord is neere in the valley of threshing.

15 The sunne and moone shall be darkened, and the starres shall withdraw their light.

16 The Lorde also shall roare out of Zion, and vtter his voyce from Ierusalem, and the heauens and the earth shall shake, but the Lord will be the hope [i] of his people, and the strength of the children of Israel.

17 So shall ye knowe that I am the Lord your God dwelling in Zion, mine holy Mountaine: then shall Ierusalem be holy, and there shall no strangers goe [k] thorowe her any more.

18 And in that day shall the mountaines [l] drop downe newe wine, and the hilles shall flowe with milke, and all the riuers of Iudah shall runne with waters, and a fountaine shall come foorth of the House of the Lord, and shall water the valley of Shittim.

19 [m] Egypt shall be waste, and Edom shall be a desolate wildernes, for the iniuries of the children of Iudah, because they haue shed innocent blood in their land.

20 But Iudah shall dwell for euer, and Ierusalem from generation to generation.

21 For I wil [n] clense their blood, ẏ I haue not clensed, and the Lord will dwell in Zion.

i God affirmeth his against all troubles, that when he destroyeth his enemies, his children shalbe deliuered.

k The strangers shall no more destroy his Church: which if they doe, it is the people which by their sinnes make the breach for the enemie.

l He promiseth to his Church abundance of graces, reade Ezek. 47.1. which should water and comfort the most barrey places, Amos 9.13.

m The malicious enemies shal haue no part of this grace.

n He had suffered his Church hitherto to lie in their filthinesse, but now he promiseth to clense them and to make them pure vnto him.

AMOS.

THE ARGVMENT.

AMong many other Prophets that God raised vp to admonish the Israelites of his plagues for their wickednesse and idolatrie, he stirred vp Amos, who was an heardman or shepheard of a poore towne, and gaue him both knowledge and constancie to reproue all estates and degrees, and to denounce Gods horrible iudgements against them, except they did in time repent: shewing them, that if God spare not the other nations about them, who had liued as it were in ignorance of God in respect of them, but for their sinnes will punish them, that they coulde looke for nothing, but an horrible destruction, except they turned to the Lord by vnfained repentance. And finally, he comforteth the godly with hope of the comming of the Messiah, by whom they should haue perfite deliuerance and saluation.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the prophecie of Amos. 3 The wordes of the Lord against Damascus, 6 The Philistims, Tyrus, Idumea and Ammon.

THE wordes of Amos, who was among the heardmen at [a] Tecoa, which he sawe vpon Israel, in the dayes of Vzziah king of Iudah, and in the dayes of [b] Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash king of Israel, two yeere before the [c] earthquake.

2 And he saide, The Lorde shall roare from Zion, and vtter his voyce from Ierusalem, and the dwelling places of the shepheards shall perish, and the toppe of [d] Carmel shall wither.

3 ¶ Thus saith ẏ Lord, For [e] three transgressions of Damascus, and for foure, I will not turne it to it, because they haue [f] threshed Gilead with threshing instruments of yron.

4 Therefore will I send a fire into the house of Hazael, and it shall deuoure the [g] palaces of Ben-hadad.

5 I will breake also ẏ barres of Damascus, & cut off the inhabitant of Bikeath-auen: and him that holdeth the scepter out of Bethedeu, and the people of Aram shal goe into captiuitie vnto [h] Kir, saith the Lord.

6 Thus saith ẏ Lord, For three transgressions of Azzah, and for foure, I will not turne it to it, because they [i] caried away prisoners the whole captiuitie to shut them vp in Edom.

7 Therefore will I send a fire vpon the walles of Azzah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

8 And I will cut off the inhabitant from Ashdod, and him that holdeth the scepter from Ashkelon, and turne mine hand to Ekron, and the remnant of the Philistims shall perish, saith the Lord God.

9 ¶ Thus saith ẏ Lord, For three transgressions of Tyrus, and for foure, I will not turne it, because they shut the whole captiuitie in Edom, and haue not remembred the [k] brotherly couenant.

10 Therefore will I send a fire vpon the walles of Tyrus, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

11 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Edom, and for foure, I will not turne it to it, because hee did pursue his brother with the sword, and did † cast off all pitie, and his anger spoiled him euermore, and his wrath watched him [l] alway.

12 Therfore wil I send a fire vpō Teman, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Bozrah.

13 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of the children of Ammon, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they c Which as Iosephus writeth, was when Vzziah would haue disarped ẏ priests office, and therefore was smitten with the leprosie.

d Whatsoeuer is fruitfull and pleasant in Israel shall shortly perish.

e He sheweth first that all the people round about should be destroyed for their manifolde sinnes: which are meant by three and foure which make seuen, because the Israelites should ẏ more deepely consider Gods iudgements toward them. f It shall not be spared for committing this cruelties against one citie, it is not possible that Israel should escape punishment which hath committed so many and grieuous sinnes against God and man. g The antiquitie of their buildings shall not auoide my iudgements, reade Iere. 49.27.

h Tiglah Pileser led the Syrians captiue, and brought them to Cyrene: which he calleth here Kir.

i They ioyned themselues with the Edomites their enemies, which caried them away captiues.

k For Esau (of whom came the Edomites) and Iaakob were brethren: therefore they ought to haue admonished them of their brotherly friendship, and not to haue prouoked them to harme.

† Ebr. corrupt his compassions.

14 Therefore will I kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof, with shouting in the day of battell, and with a tempest in the day of the whirlewinde.

15 And their King shall goe into captiuitie, he and his princes together, saith the Lord.

CHAP. II.

Against Moab, Iudah, and Israel.

THus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Moab, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because it burnt the a bones of the king of Edom into lime.

a For the Moabites were so cruel against the king of Edom, that they burnt his bones after that hee was dead: which declared their barbarous rage, seeing they would reuenge themselues of the dead.

2 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Moab, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Kerioth, and Moab shall die with tumult, with shouting, and with the sound of a trumpet.

3 And I will cut off the iudge out of the mids thereof, and will slay all the princes thereof with him, saith the Lord.

b Seeing the Gentiles that had not so farre knowledge were thus punished, Iudah which was so fully instructed of the Lords will, might not thinke to escape.

4 ¶ Thus sayeth the Lord, For three transgressions of Iudah, and for foure, b I will not turne to it, because they haue cast away the Lawe of the Lord, and haue not kept his commaundements, and their lies caused them to erre after the which their fathers haue walked.

c If hee spare not Iudah vnto whom his promises were made, much more he will not spare this degenerate kingdom.

5 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Iudah, & it shall deuoure ỹ palaces of Ierusalem.

d They esteemed most vile bribes more then mens liues.

6 ¶ Thus saith the Lorde, For three transgressions of Israel: and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they sold the righteous for siluer, and the poore for d shooes.

e When they haue spoyled him and throwen him to ỹ ground, they gape for his life.

7 They gape ouer the head of the poore, in the e dust of the earth, and peruert the wayes of the meeke: and a man and his father will goe in to a maide to dishonour mine holy Name.

f Thinking by these ceremonies, that is by sacrificing, and being neere mine altar, they may excuse all their other wickednesse.

8 And they lye downe vpon clothes laide to pledge f by euery altar: and they g drinke the wine of the condemned in the house of their God.

g They spoyle others and offer thereof vnto God, thinking that he will dispense with them, when he is made partaker of their iniquitie.

9 Yet destroyed I the h Amorite before them, whose height was like the height of the cedars, & he was strong as the okes: notwithstanding I destroyed his fruit from aboue, and his roote from beneath.

h The destruction of their enemies and his mercie toward them should haue caused their hearts to melt for loue toward him.

10 Also I brought you vp from the lande of Egypt, and led you fourtie yeeres thorowe the wildernesse, to possesse the lande of the Amorite.

i Be commeth my benefits, and abused my graces, and craftily went about to stop the mouthes of my Prophets.

11 And I rayled vp of your sonnes for Prophets, and i of your young men for Nazarites. Is it not euen thus, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord?

12 But yee gaue the Nazarites wine to drinke, and commanded the Prophets, saying, Prophecie not.

13 Beholde, I am k pressed vnder you as a cart is pressed that is full of sheaues, k You haue wearied me with your sinnes, Isa. 1.14.

14 Therefore the flight shall perish from the l swift, and the strong shall not strengthen his force, neither shall the mightie saue his life.

l None shall be deliuered by any meanes.

15 Nor he that handleth the bowe, shall stand, and he that is swift of foote, shall not escape, neither shall he that rideth the horse saue his life.

16 And hee that is of mightie courage among the strong men, shall flee away naked in that day, saith the Lord.

CHAP. III.

Hee reproueth the house of Israel of ingratitude. 11 For the which God will punish them.

HEare this word that the Lord pronounceth against you, O children of Israel euen against ỹ whole familie which I brought vp from the land of Egypt, saying, a I haue onely chosen you to be mine among all other people: and yet you haue forsaken me.

2 You a onely haue I knowen of all the families of the earth: therefore I will visite you for all your iniquities.

b Hereby the Prophet signifieth that he shrinketh not of himselfe from God guideth and moueth him, which is called the agreement betweene God and his Prophets.

3 Can two walke together except they be b agreed?

c Will God threaten by his Prophets, except there be some great occasion?

4 Will a c lion roare in the forest, when he hath no pray? or will a lions whelpe crie out of his den, if he haue taken nothing?

d Can any thing come without Gods prouidence?

5 d Can a birde fall in a snare vpon the earth, where no fowler is? or will he take vp the e snare from the earth, and haue taken nothing at all?

e Shall his threatnings be in vaine?

6 Or f shall a trumpet be blowen in the citie, and the people be not afraide? or shal there be euill in a citie, and the Lord hath not done it?

f Shal the Prophets threaten Gods iudgements, and the people not be afraide?

7 Surely the Lord God will do nothing, but he h reuealeth his secret vnto his seruants the Prophets.

g Doeth any vnrighteousnesse come without Gods appointment? Isa.45.7.

8 The lyon hath roared: who will not be afraid? the Lord God hath spoken: who can but i prophecie?

h God dealeth not with the Israelites as he doeth with other people: for he euer warneth them before of his plagues by his Prophets.

9 Proclaime in the palaces at k Ashdod, and in the palaces in the land of Egypt, and say, Assemble your selues vpō the mountaines of Samaria: so beholde the great tumultes in the middes thereof, and the oppressed in the middes thereof.

i Because the people euer murmured against the Prophets, hee sheweth that Gods Spirite moued them so to speake as they did.

10 For they knowe not to doe right, saith the Lord: they store vp violence, and robberie l in their palaces.

k Strangers as the Philistims and Egyptians to bee witnesses of Gods iudgements against the Israelites for their crueltie and oppression.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, An aduersarie shall come euen rounde about the countrey, and shall bring downe thy strength from thee, and thy palaces shall be spoyled.

l The fruits of their crueltie and theft appeareth by their great richesse which they haue in their houses.

12 Thus saieth the Lorde, As the shep-

13 Heare, and testifie in the house of Iaakob, saith the Lord God, the God of hostes.

14 Surely in the day that I shall visite the transgressions of Israel vpon him, I will also visite the altars of Beth-el, and the hornes of the altar shall be broken off, and fall to the ground.

15 And I will smite the winter house with the sommer house, and the houses of yuorie shal perish, and the great houses shall be consumed, saith the Lord.

CHAP. IIII.

Against the gouernours of Samaria.

HEare this word, ye [a] kine of Bashan that are in the mountaine of Samaria, which oppresse the poore, and destroy the needie, and they say to their masters, [b] Bring, and let vs drinke.

2 The Lord God hath sworne by his holines, that loe, the dayes shall come vpon you, that he will take you away with [c] thornes, and and your posteritie with fish hookes.

3 And ye shal goe out at the breaches euery kowe forward: and ye shall cast your selues out of the palace, saith the Lord.

4 Come to [d] Beth-el, and transgresse: to Gilgal, and multiplie transgression, and bring your sacrifices in the morning, and your tithes after three [e] yeeres.

5 And offer a thankesgiuing [f] of leauen, publish and proclaime the free offrings: for this [g] liketh you, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord God.

6 And therefore haue I giuen you [h] cleannes of teeth in all your cities, and scarcenesse of bread in all your places, yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

7 And also I haue withholden the raine from you, when there were yet three [i] moneths to the haruest, & I caused it to raine vpon one citie, and haue not caused it to raine vpon another citie: one piece was rained vpon, and the piece whereupon it rained not, withered.

8 So two or three cities wandred vnto one citie to drinke water, but they were [k] not satisfied: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

9 I haue smitten you with blasting, and mildewe: your great gardens and your vineyards, and your figtrees, and your oliue trees did the palmer worme deuoure: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

10 Pestilence haue I sent among you, after the maner of [l] Egypt: your yong men haue I slaine with the sword, and haue taken away your horses: & I haue made the stinke of your tentes to come vp euen into your nostrels: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

11 I haue ouerthrowen you, as God ouerthrew Sodom and Gomorah: and ye were as a [m] firebrand pluckt out of the burning: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

12 Therefore, thus will I doe vnto thee, O Israel: and because I will doe this vnto thee, prepare to [n] meete thy God, O Israel.

13 For lo, he that formeth the mountaines, and createth the winde, and declareth vnto man what is his thought: which maketh the morning darknesse, and walketh vpon the hie places of the earth, the Lord God of hostes is his Name.

a Thus he calleth the princes and gouernours which being ouerwhelmed with the great abundance of Gods benefites, forgate God, and therefore he calleth them by the name of beastes and not of men.
b They incourage such as haue authoritie ouer the people, to poule them, so that they may haue profit by it.
c He alludeth to fishers which catch fish by hookes & thorns.
d He speaketh this in contempt of them which resorted to these places, thinking that their great deuotion and good intention had bene sufficient to haue holy God vnto them.

CHAP. V.

A lamentation for the captiuitie of Israel.

HEare ye this word, which I lift vp vpon you, euen a lamentation of the house of Israel.

2 The [a] virgine Israel is fallen, and shal no more rise: she is left vpon her land, and there is none to raise her vp.

3 For thus saith the Lord God, The citie which went out by a thousand, shall leaue an [b] hundreth: and that which went forth by an hundreth, shall leaue ten to the house of Israel.

4 For thus saith the Lord vnto the house of Israel, Seeke ye me, and ye shall liue.

5 But seeke not Beth-el, nor enter into [c] Gilgal, and go not to Beer-sheba: for Gilgal shal go into captiuitie, and Beth-el shall come to nought.

6 Seeke the Lord, and ye shall liue, least he breake out like fire in the house of Ioseph and deuoure it, and there be none to quench it in Beth-el.

7 They turne [d] iudgement to wormewood, and leaue off righteousnesse in the earth.

8 He [e] maketh Pleiades, and Orion, and he turneth the shadowe of death into the morning, and he maketh the day darke as night: he calleth the waters of the Sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name.

9 He strengtheneth the destroyer against the mightie: and the destroyer shall come against the fortresse.

10 They haue hated him, [f] that rebuked in the gate: and they abhorred him that speaketh vprightly.

11 Forasmuch then as your treading is vpon the poore, and ye take from him burdens of wheate, ye haue built houses of hewen stone, but ye shall not dwell in them: ye haue planted pleasant vineyards, but ye shall not drinke wine of them.

12 For I know your manifold transgressions, & your mighty sins, they afflict the iust, a He so calleth them because they so boasted of themselues, or because they were giuen to wantonnes and delitines.

b Meaning, that the tenth part should scarcely be sauen.
c In these places they worshipped newe idoles, which ceremonies serued for the true honour of God: therefore he saith that these shall not saue them.
d In steade of iudgements and equitie they execute cruelty and oppression.
e He describeth the power of God, Iob. 9.9.
f They hate the Prophets which reproue them in the open assemblies.
g He take both his money and also his foode wherewith he should liue.

they take rewards, and they oppresse the poore in the gate.

13 Therefore [h] the prudent shall keepe silence in that time, for it is an euill time.

14 Seeke good and not euill, that ye may liue: and the Lord God of hostes shall be with you, as you haue spoken.

15 Hate the euill, and loue the good, and establish iudgement in the gate: it may be that the Lord God of hostes will be mercifull vnto the remnant of Ioseph.

16 Therefore the Lord God of hostes, the Lorde saith thus, Mourning shall be in all streetes: and they shall say in all the hie wayes, Alas, alas: and they shall call the [i] husbandman to lamentation, and such as can mourne, to mourning.

17 And in all ỹ vines shalbe lamentation: for I will passe through thee, saith the Lord.

18 Woe vnto you, that [k] desire the day of the Lord: what haue you to doe with it? the day of the Lord is darkenesse and not light.

19 As if a man did flee from a lyon, and a beare met him: or went into the house, and leaned his hand on the wall, and a serpent bit him.

20 Shall not the day of the Lord be darkenes, and not light? euen darkenes and no light in it?

21 I hate & abhorre your feast dayes, and I will not smell in your solemne assemblies.

22 Though ye offer me burnt offerings and meate offerings, [l] I will not accept them: neither will I regard the peace offerings of your fat beastes.

23 Take thou away from me the multitude of thy songs (for I will not heare the melodie of thy violes)

24 And let iudgement runne downe as [m] waters, & righteousnesse as a mightie riuer.

25 Haue ye offered vnto me sacrifices and offerings in the wildernesse fourtie yeeres, O house of Israel?

26 But you haue borne [n] Siccuth your King and Chiun your images, and the starre of your gods, which ye made to your selues.

27 Therefore will I cause you to goe into captiuitie beyond Damascus, saith the Lord, whose Name is the God of hostes.

CHAP. VI.

Against the princes of Israel liuing in pleasures.

WOe to [a] them that are at ease in Zion and trust in the mountaine of Samaria, [b] which were famous at the beginning of the nations: and the house of Israel came to them.

2 Goe you vnto Calneh, and see: and from thence go you to Hamath the great: then goe downe to Gath of the Philistims: bee [c] they better then these kingdomes? or the border of their land greater then your border,

3 Ye that put farre away the [d] euill day, and approach to the seate of iniquitie?

4 They lie vpon beddes of yuorie, and stretch themselues vpon their beds, and eate the lambes of the flocke, and the calues out of the stall.

5 They sing to the sounde of the viole: they inuent to themselues instruments of musike like [e] Dauid.

6 They drinke wine in bowles, & anoint themselues with the chiefe ointments, but no man is [f] sory for the affliction of Ioseph.

7 Therefore nowe shall they goe captiue with the first that goe captiue, and [g] the sorowe of them that stretched themselues is at hand.

8 [h] The Lord God hath sworne by himselfe, saith the Lord God of hostes, I abhorre [i] the excellencie of Iaakob, & hate his palaces: therefore will I deliuer vp the citie with all that is therein.

9 And if there remaine tenne men in one house, they shall die.

10 And his vncle [k] shall take him vp and burne him to carry out ỹ bones out of the house, and shall say vnto him, that is by the [l] sides of the house, Is there yet any with thee? And he shall say, None. Then shall he say, [m] Holde thy tongue: for we may not remember the Name of the Lord.

11 For behold, the Lord commandeth, and he will smite the great house with breaches, and the litle house with clefts.

12 Shall horses [n] run vpon the rocke? or will one plowe there with oxen? for yet haue turned iudgement into gall, and the fruite of righteousnesse into [o] wormewood.

13 Ye reioyce in a thing of nought: ye say, Haue not we gotten vs [p] hornes by our owne strength?

14 But behold, I will raise vp against you a nation, O house of Israel, saith the Lorde God of hostes: and they shall afflict you, from the entring in of [q] Hamath vnto the riuer of the wildernesse.

CHAP. VII.

God sheweth certaine visions, whereby he signifieth the destruction of the people of Israel. 10 The false accusation of Amaziah. 12 His craftie counsell.

THus hath the Lord God shewed vnto me, and behold, he formed [a] grashoppers in the beginning of the shooting vp of the latter grouth: and loe, it was in the latter grouth [b] after the kings mowing.

h God will so plague them, that they shall not suffer the godly once to open their mouthes to admonish them of their faults.

i So that all degrees shall haue matter of lamentation for the great plagues.

k Thus he speaketh because the wicked and hypocrites saide they were content to abide Gods iudgements, whereas the godly tremble and feare, Iere. 30.7. Ioel. 2.2, 11, Zep. 1.15.

l Because ye haue corrupt my true seruice and remaine obstinate in your vices, Isa. 1.11. Iere. 6.10.

m Doe your duetie to God and to your neighbour, and so ye shall feele his grace plentifully, if you shewe your abundant affections according to Gods word.

n That idole which you esteemed as your king, and caried about as you did Chiun, in the which images you thought that there was a certaine diuinitie.

a The Prophet threatneth the wealthie, which regarded not Gods plagues nor menaces by his Prophets.

b These two cities were famous by their first inhabitants the Canaanites: and seeing before time they did nothing availe them ỹ were there borne, why should you looke that they should saue you which were brought in to dwell in other mens possessions?

c If God haue destroyed these excellent cities in three diuers kingdoms, as in Babylon, Syria and of the Philistims, and hath brought their wide borders into a greater straitnes, then yours yet are, thinke you to be better or to escape?

d Be that continue still in your wickednes, and thinke ỹ Gods plagues are not at hand, but giue your selues to all idlenesse, wantonnes and riot.

e As he caused diuers kindes of instruments to be made to serue Gods glorie, so these did consent to inuent as many to serue their wanton affections and lustes.

f They pitied not their brethren whereof none many were slaine and caried away captiue.

g Some reade, the top of them that stretch themselues, shall depart.

h Reade Iere. 51.14.

i That is, the riches & pompe.

k The destruction shalbe so great, ỹ none shall almost be left to burie the dead: therefore they shall burne them at home, to carry out the burnt ashes with more ease.

l That is, to some neighbour, that dwelleth round about.

m They shall be so astonished at this destruction, that they shall boast no more of the Name of God, and that they are his people: but they shall be dumme when they heare Gods Name, and abhorre it, as they that are desperate or reprobate.

n Hee compareth them to barren rockes whereupon it is in vaine to bestow labour: shewing that Gods benefits can haue no place among them.

o Reade Chap. 5.7.

p That is, power and glorie.

q From one corner of the countrey to another.

a To deuoure the land: and he alludeth to the inuading of the enemies.

b After the publike commandement for mowing was giuen: or as some reade, when the Kings sheepe were shorne.

2 And when they had made an ende of eating the graſſe of the land, then I ſaid, O Lord God, ſpare, I beſeech thee: who ſhall raiſe vp Iaakob? for he is ſmall.

c That is, ſtayed this plague at my prayer.

3 So the Lord [c] repented for this. It ſhall not be, ſaith the Lord.

4 ¶ Thus alſo hath the Lord God ſhewed vnto mee, and beholde, the Lord God called to iudgement by fire, [d] and it deuoured the great deepe, and did eate vp a part.

d Meaning, that Gods indignation was inflamed againſt the ſtubbernelle of this people.

5 Then ſaide I, O Lorde God, ceaſe, I beſeech thee: who ſhall raiſe vp Iaakob? for he is ſmall.

6 So the Lord repented for this. This alſo ſhall not be, ſaith the Lord God.

7 ¶ Thus againe he ſhewed me, and beheld, the Lord ſtood vpon a wall made by line [e] with a line in his hand.

e Signifying, that this ſhould be the laſt meaſuring of the people, and that he would deferre his iudgement no longer.

8 And the Lord ſaid vnto me, Amos, what ſeeſt thou? And I ſaid, A line. Then ſaide the Lord, Behold, I will ſet a line in [f] the mids of my people Iſrael, & will paſſe by them no more.

f That is, when Amos had propheſied that the King ſhould be deſtroyed: for this wicked Prieſt more for hatred he bare to the Prophet then for loue toward the King, thought this accuſation ſufficient to condemne him, whereas none other could take place.

9 And the hie places of Iſhak ſhall be deſolate, and the temples of Iſrael ſhalbe deſtroied: and I will riſe againſt the houſe of Ieroboam with the ſword.

10 ¶ [g] Then Amaziah the Prieſt of Beth-el ſent to Ieroboam King of Iſrael, ſaying, Amos hath conſpired againſt thee in the mids of the houſe of Iſrael: the lande is not able to beare all his wordes.

g When this inſtrument of Satan was not able to compaſſe his purpole by the King, he aſſayed by another practiſe: that was, to feare the Prophet, that hee might depart, and not reprooue their idolatrie there openly, and ſo hinder his gaine.

11 For thus Amos ſaith, Ieroboam ſhall die by the ſword, and Iſrael ſhall be led away captiue out of their owne land.

12 Alſo [h] Amaziah ſaide vnto Amos, O thou the Seer, go, flee thou away into the land of Iudah, and there eate thy bread and propheſie there.

h Thus he ſhutteth vp his extraordinarie vocation, that God had giuen him a charge which he muſt needes execute.

13 But propheſie no more at Beth-el: for it is the kings chappel, & it is the kings court.

14 Then anſwered Amos, and ſaide to Amaziah, I was no [h] Prophet, neither was I a Prophets ſonne, but I was an herdman, and a gatherer of wilde figs.

i Thus God vſed to approoue the authoritie of his Prophets by his plagues and iudgements againſt them, which were malicious enemies, Iere. 28. 12. and 29. 21, 25. as this day he doeth againſt them that perſecute the miniſters of his Goſpell.

15 And the Lorde tooke me as I followed the flocke, and the Lorde ſaide vnto mee, Goe, propheſie vnto my people Iſrael.

16 Now therefore heare thou the word of the Lord. Thou ſayeſt, Propheſie not againſt Iſrael, and ſpeake nothing againſt the houſe of Iſhak.

17 Therefore thus ſaith the Lorde, [i] Thy wife ſhall be an harlot in the citie, & thy ſonnes and thy daughters ſhall fall by the ſworde, and thy land ſhalbe diuided by line: and thou ſhalt die in a polluted land, and Iſrael ſhal ſurely go into captiuity forth of his land.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Againſt the rulers of Iſrael. 7 The Lord ſweareth. 11 The famine of the worde of God.

THus hath the Lord God ſhewed vnto me, and behold, a baſket of ſummer fruit.

2 And he ſaid, Amos, what ſeeſt thou? And I ſaid, A baſket of ſummer [a] fruite. Then ſaid the Lorde vnto me, The ende is come vpon my people of Iſrael, I will paſſe by them no more.

a Which ſignified the ripenes of their ſinnes and the readines of Gods iudgements.

3 And the ſongs of the Temple ſhall bee howlings in that day, ſaith the Lord God: many dead bodies ſhalbe in euery place: they ſhal caſt them forth with [b] ſilence.

b There ſhall be none left to mourne for them.

4 Heare this, O yee that [c] ſwallowe vp the poore, that yee may make the needie of the land to faile, c By ſtaying the ſale of foode and neceſſary things which you haue gotten into your owne hands, and ſo cauſe y poore to ſpend quickly that little that they haue, and at length for neceſſitie to be come your ſlaues.

5 Saying, When will the [d] newe moneth bee gone, that we may ſell corne? and the Sabbath that wee may ſet forth wheate, and make [e] the Ephah ſmall, and the ſhekel great, and falſifie the weights by deceit?

d When the dearth was once come, they were ſo greedie of gaine, that they thought the holy day to be an hinderance vnto them.

e That is, the meaſure ſmall, and the price great.

6 That wee may buy the poore for ſiluer, and the needie for ſhooes: yea, and ſel the refuſe of the wheate.

7 The Lord hath ſworne by the excellency of Iaakob, Surely I will neuer forget any of their works.

8 Shall not the lande tremble for this, and euery one mourne, that dwelleth therein? and it ſhall riſe vp wholy as a flood, and it ſhall be caſt out, and [f] drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

f That is, the inhabitants of the lande ſhalbe drowned, as Nilus drowneth many when it ouerfloweth.

9 And in that day, ſaith the Lorde God, I wil euen cauſe the [g] ſun to go downe at noone: and I will darken the earth in the cleare day.

g In the mids of their proſperitie, I will ſend great affliction.

10 And I wil turne your feaſts into mourning, and all your ſongs into lamentation: and I will bring ſackcloth vpon all loynes, and baldneſſe vpon euery head: and I will make it as the mourning of an onely ſonne, and the end thereof as a bitter day.

11 Behold, the dayes come, ſaith the Lord God, that I will ſend a famine in the land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirſt for water, but of hearing the word of the Lord.

h Whereby he ſheweth that they ſhall not onely periſh in body, but alſo in ſoule for lacke of Gods worde, which is the food thereof.

12 And they ſhall wander from ſea to ſea, & from the North euen vnto the Eaſt ſhall they run to and fro to ſeeke the [h] word of the Lorde, and ſhall not finde it.

i For the idolaters did vſe to ſweare by their idoles, which here he calleth their ſinne, as the Papiſts yet doe by theirs.

13 In that day ſhal the faire virgins and the yong men periſh for thirſt.

14 They that ſweare by the ſinne of [i] Samaria, and that ſay, Thy God, O Dan, liueth, and [k] the maner of Beer-ſheba liueth, euen they ſhall fall, and neuer riſe vp againe.

k That is, the common maner of worſhipping & the ſeruice or religion there vſed.

CHAP. IX.

1 Threatning againſt the Temple. 2 And againſt Iſrael. 11 The reſtoring of the Church.

I Sawe the Lorde ſtanding vpon the [a] altar, and hee ſaide, Smite the lintel of the doore, that the poſtes may ſhake: and cut them in pieces, euen the [b] heades of them all, and I will a Which was at Ieruſalem: for he appeared not in the idolatrous places of Iſrael.

b Both the chiefe of them & alſo the common people.

will ſlay the laſt of them with the ſwoꝛde: hee that fleeth of them, ſhall not flee away: and he that eſcapeth of them, ſhall not be deliuered.

2 Though they digge into the hell, thence ſhall mine hand take them: though they clime vp to heauen, thence wil I bꝛing them downe.

3 And though they hide themſelues in the toppe of Carmel, I will ſearch and take them out thence: and though they be hid from my ſight in the bottome of the ſea, thence will I commaund the [c] ſerpent, and hee ſhall bite them.

4 And though they goe into captiuitie beſoꝛe their enemies, thence wil I commaund the ſwoꝛde, and it ſhall ſlay them: and I will ſet mine eyes vpon them foꝛ euill, and not foꝛ good.

5 And the Loꝛde God of hoſtes ſhall touch the land, and it ſhall melt away, and all that dwell therein ſhall mourne, and it ſhall riſe vp wholly like a flood, and ſhall be dꝛowned as by the flood of Egypt.

6 He buildeth his [d] ſpheres in the heauen, and hath laid the foundation of his globe of elements in the earth: he calleth the waters of the ſea, and powꝛeth them out vpon the open earth: the Loꝛd is his Name.

7 Are yee not as the Ethiopians [e] vnto me, O childꝛen of Iſrael, ſaith the Loꝛd? haue not I bꝛought vp Iſrael out of the land of Egypt? and the Philiſtims from [f] Caphtoꝛ, and Aram from Kir?

8 Beholde, the eyes of the Loꝛde God are vpon the ſinfull kingdome, and I will deſtroy it cleane out of the earth. Neuertheleſſe, I will not vtterly deſtroy the houſe of Iaakob, ſaith the Loꝛd.

9 Foꝛ loe, I will commaund and I will ſift the houſe of Iſrael among all nations, like as corne is ſifted in a ſieue: yet ſhall not the [h] leaſt ſtone fall vpon the earth.

10 But all the ſinners of my people ſhal die by the ſwoꝛde, which ſay, The euill ſhall not come, noꝛ haſten foꝛ vs.

11 In that day will I raiſe vp the [i] tabernacle of Dauid, that is fallen downe, and cleſe vp the bꝛeaches thereof, and I will raiſe vp his ruines, and I will builde it, as in the dayes of olde, 12 That they may poſſeſſe the remnant of [k] Edom, and of all the heathen, becauſe my Name is called vpon them, ſaieth the Loꝛde, that doeth this.

13 Behold, the dayes come, ſaith the Loꝛd, that the plowman ſhall [l] touche the mower, and the treader of grapes him that ſoweth ſeed: and the mountaines ſhall [m] dꝛop ſweete wine, and all the hilles ſhal melt.

14 [n] And I will bꝛing againe the captiuity of my people of Iſrael: and they ſhall build the waſte cities, and inhabite them, and they ſhall plant vineyards, and dꝛinke the wine thereof: they ſhal alſo make gardens, and eat the fruits of them.

15 And I will plant them vpon their land and they ſhal no moꝛe be pulled vp againe out of their land, which I haue giuen them, ſayeth the Loꝛd thy God.

c He ſheweth that God will declare himſelfe enemie vnto them in all places, and that his elements and all creatures ſhalbe enemies to deſtroy them.

d He declareth by the wonderfull power of God by the making of the heauens and the elements that it is not poſſible foꝛ man to eſcape his iudgements when he puniſheth.

e Am I moꝛe bound to you then to the Ethiopians oꝛ Blackmoꝛes: yet haue I beſtowed vpon you greater benefites.

f Reade Ier. 47.4.

g Though hee deſtroy the rebellious multitude, yet he will euer reſerue the remnant his Church to call vpon his Name.

h Meaning, that none of his ſhall periſh in his wrath.

i I will ſend the Meſſiah promiſed and teſtified by him the ſpiritual Iſrael, Act. 15.16.

k Meaning, that the perpenemies, as were the Edomites and others, ſhould be ioyned with the Iewes in one ſecuiar body, whereof Chriſt ſhould be the head.

l Signifying that there ſhall be great plentie of all things, ſo that when one kind of fruite is ripe, another ſhould follow and euery one in courſe, Leuit. 26.5.

m Reade Ioel 3.18.

n The accompliſhment hereof is vnder Chriſt, when they are planted in his Church, out of the which they can neuer bee pulled, after they are once grafted therein.

OBADIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Idumeans which came of Eſau, were mortall enemies alway to the Iſraelites, which came of Iaakob, and therefore did not onely vexe them continually with ſundrie kindes of crueltie, but alſo ſtirred vp others to fight againſt them. Therefore when they were nowe in their greateſt proſperitie, and did moſt triumph againſt Iſrael, which was in great affliction and miſerie, God raiſed vp his Prophet to comfort the Iſraelites, foraſmuch as God had nowe determined to deſtroy their aduerſaries, which did ſo ſore vexe them, and to ſend them ſuch as ſhould deliuer them, and ſet vp the kingdome of Meſſiah, which he had promiſed.

THe viſiõ of Obadiah. Thus ſaith the Loꝛd God againſt Edom, [a] Wee haue heard a rumour from the Loꝛde, and an ambaſſadour is ſent among the heathen: ariſe, and [b] let vs riſe vp againſt her to battell.

2 Beholde, I haue made thee ſmall among the heathen: thou art vtterly deſpiſed.

3 The [c] pꝛide of thine heart hath deceiued thee: thou that dwelleſt in the clefts of the rockes, whoſe habitation is hie, that ſaieth in his heart, Who ſhal bꝛing me downe to the ground?

4 Though thou exalt thy ſelfe as the eagle, and make thy neſt among the ſtarres, thence will I bꝛing thee downe, ſaith the Loꝛd.

5 [d] Came theeues to thee oꝛ robbers by night? how waſt thou bꝛought to ſilence? would they not haue ſtollen, till they had pnough? if the grape gatherers came to thee, would they not leaue ſome grapes.

6 Howe are the things of Eſau ſought vp, and his treaſures ſearched?

7 All the men of thy confederacie [e] haue dꝛiuen a God hath certainely reuealed to his Pꝛophets that he wil raiſe vp the heathen to deſtroy the Edomites, whereof the rumour is now publiſhed, Ier. 49 14.

b Thus the heathen encouꝛage themſelues to riſe againſt Edom.

c Which deſpiſeſt all others in reſpect of thy ſelfe, and yet art but an handfull in compariſon of others, and art thut vp among the hils as ſeparate from the reſt of the world.

d God will ſo deſtroy them that he will leaue none though theeues when they came, take but till they haue enough, & they that gather grapes, euer leaue ſome behinde them. Ier. 49.9.

e They ſhall bꝛeak their confederacie, foꝛ to haue helpe and friends thy ſelfe, ſhalbe thine enemies, and deſtroy thee.

dyuen thee to the borders: the men that were at peace with thee, haue deceiued thee, and preuailed against thee: they that eate thy [f] bread, haue laide a wound vnder thee: there is none vnderstanding in him.

f That is, thy familiar friends and ghests haue by secret practises destroyed thee.

8 Shall not I in that day saith the Lord, euen destroy the wise men out of Edom, and vnderstanding from the mount of Esau?

9 And thy strong men, O Teman, shall be afraid, because euery one of the mount of Esau shalbe cut off by slaughter.

10 For thy crueltie against thy [g] brother Iaakob, shame shall couer thee, and thou shalt be cut off for euer.

g He sheweth the cause why the Edomites were so sharply punished: to wit, because they were enemies to his Church, whom now hee comforteth by punishing their enemies.

11 When thou stoodst [h] on the other side, in the day that the strangers caried away his substance, and strangers entred into his gates, and cast lots vpon Ierusalem, euen thou wast as one of them.

h When Nebuchad-nezzar came against Ierusalem, thou ioynedst with him, and hadst part of the spoyle, and so didst reioyce when my people, that is, thy brother, were afflicted, whereas thou shouldest haue pitied and holpen thy brother.

12 But thou shouldest not haue beholden the day of thy brother, in the day that hee was made [i] a stranger, neither shouldest thou haue reioyced ouer the children of Iudah, in the day of their destruction: thou shouldest not haue spoken proudly in the day of affliction.

i When the Lord depriued them of their former dignitie and gaue them to be caried into captiuitie.

13 Thou shouldest not haue entred into the gate of my people, in the day of their destruction, neither shouldest thou haue once looked on their affliction in the day of their destruction, nor haue laide hands on their substance in the day of their destruction.

14 Neither shouldest thou haue stood in the crosse wayes to cut off them, that should escape, neither shouldest thou haue shut vp the remnant thereof in the day of affliction.

15 For the day [k] of the Lord is neere, vpon all the heathen: as thou hast done, it shall bee done to thee: thy reward shall returne vpon thine head.

k When he will summon all the heathen and send them to destroy thee.

16 For as yee haue [l] drunke vpon mine holy Mountaine, so shall all the heathen drinke continually: yea, they shall drink and swallow vp, and they shall bee [m] as though they had not bene.

l That is, reioyced and triumphed.

m The Edomites shalbe vtterly destroyed, and yet in despite of all the enemies I will restore my Church and reliue it.

17 But vpon mount Zion shall bee deliuerance, and it shalbe holy, and the house of Iaakob shall possesse their possessions, n God attributeth this power, to consume his enemies, to his Church, which power is onely proper to himselfe, as Isa. 10. 17. Deut. 4. 24. Ieb. 12. 29.

18 And the house of Iaakob shalbe [n] a fire, and the house of Ioseph a flame, and the house of Esau as stubble, and they shall kindle in them and deuoure them: and there shall be no remnant of the house of Esau: for the Lord hath spoken it.

o He describeth how the Church shalbe enlarged and haue great possessions, but this chiefly is accomplished vnder Christ when as the faithfull are made heires and lords of all things by him which is their head.

19 And they shall possesse the South side of the [o] mount of Esau, and the plaine of the Philistims: and they shall possesse the fields of Ephraim, and the fields of Samaria, and Beniamin shall haue Gilead.

20 And the captiuitie of this hoste of the children of Israel, which were among the [p] Canaanites, shall possesse vnto Zarephath, and the captiuitie of Ierusalem, which is in Sepharad, shall possesse the cities of the South.

p By the Canaanites} Iewes. meane} Dutchmen and by Zarephath, France, and by Sepharad, Spaine.

21 And they [q] that shall saue, shall come vp to mount Zion to iudge the mount of Esau, and the kingdome shalbe the Lords.

q Meaning, that God will raise vp in his Church such as shall rule and gouerne for the defence of the same, and destruction of his enemies vnder Messiah, whom the Prophet calleth here the Lord and head of this kingdome.

IONAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

WHen Ionah had long prophecied in Israel and had litle profited, God gaue him expresse charge to goe and denounce his iudgements against Nineueh the chiefe citie of the Assyrians, because hee had appoynted, that they which were of the heathen, should conuert by the mightie power of his worde, and that within three dayes preaching, that Israel might see how horribly they had prouoked Gods wrath, which for the space of so many yeeres, had not conuerted to the Lord for so many Prophets and so diligent preaching. He prophecied vnder Ioash, and Ieroboam, as 2. King. 14. 25.

CHAP. I.

3 Ionah fled when he was sent to preach. 4 A tempest ariseth and he is cast into the sea for his disobedience.

THe worde of the Lord came [a] also vnto Ionah the sonne of Amittai, saying, a After that he had preached a long time in Israel: and so Ezekiel. After that for a time hee had prophecied in Iudea, he had visions in Babylon. Ezek. 1. 1.

2 Arise, and go to [b] Nineueh, that [c] great citie, and cry against it: for their wickednesse is come vp before me.

b For seeing the great obstination of the Israelites, he sent his Prophet to the Gentiles that they might prouoke them to repentance, or at least make them inexcusable: for Nineueh was the chiefe citie of the Assyrians.

c For as Authors write, it contained in circuit about eight and fourtie miles, and had a thousand and fiue hundreth towres, & at this time there were an hundreth and twentie thousand children therein, Chap. 4. 11.

3 But Ionah rose vp to [d] flee into Tarshish from the presence of the Lord, & went downe to [e] Iapho: & he found a ship going to Tarshish: so hee paide the fare thereof, and went downe into it, that he might go with them vnto Tarshish, from the [f] presence of the Lord.

d Whereby he declared his weakenes, that would not prepare ly follow the Lords calling, but gaue place to his owne reason, which perswaded him that he shuld nothing at all profite there, seeing he had done so small good among his owne people, Chap. 4. 2.

e Which was the hauen, and port to take shipping thither, called also Ioppe.

f From that location whereunto God had called him, and wherein he would haue assisted him.

4 But the Lord sent out a great wind into the sea, and there was a mighty tempest in the sea, so that the ship was like to be broken.

5 Then the mariners were afraide, and cryed euery man vnto his God, and cast the wares that were in the shippe, into the sea to lighten

lighten it of them: but Ionah was gone downe into the sides of the ship, and he lay downe, and was fast asleepe.

6 So the shipmaster came to him, and said vnto him, What meanest thou, O sleeper? Arise, call vpon thy [h] God, if so be that God will thinke vpon vs, that we perish not.

7 And they saide euery one to his fellowe. Come, and let vs cast [i] lots, that we may know, for whose cause this euill is vpon vs. So they cast lots, and the lot fell vpon Ionah.

8 Then saide they vnto him, Tell vs for whose cause this euill is vpon vs: what is thine occupation? and whence commest thou? which is thy countrey? and of what people art thou?

9 And hee answered them, I am an Ebrewe, and I feare the Lord God of heauen, which hath made the sea, and the dry land.

10 Then were the men exceedingly afraid, and saide vnto him, Why hast thou done this? (for the men knew, that he fled from the presence of the Lorde, because hee had tolde them)

11 Then saide they vnto him, What shall wee doe vnto thee, that the sea may lye calme vnto vs? (for the sea wrought and was troublous)

12 And he saide vnto them, Take me, and cast mee into the sea: so shall the sea be calme vnto you: for I knowe that for my sake this great tempest is vpon you.

13 Neuertheless, the men rowed to bring it to the land, but they could not: for the sea wrought, and was troublous against them.

14 Wherefore they cryed vnto the Lord, and said, [k] Wee beseech thee, O Lord, we beseech thee, let vs not perish for this mans life, and lay not vpon vs innocent blood: for thou, O Lord, hast done, as it pleased thee.

15 So they tooke vp Ionah, and cast him into the sea, [f] the sea ceased from her raging.

16 Then the men [l] feared the Lorde exceedingly, and offered a sacrifice vnto the Lorde, and made vowes.

17 Nowe the Lorde had prepared a great fish to swallow vp Ionah: and Ionah was in the [m] belly of the fish three dayes, and three nights.

CHAP. II.

1 Ionah is in the fishes bellie. 2 His prayer. 10 He is deliuered.

THen Ionah prayed vnto the Lorde his God [a] out of the fishes bellie,

2 And saide, I cried in mine affliction vnto the Lord, and he heard me: out of the belly [b] of hell cryed I, and thou heardest my voyce.

3 For thou hadst cast me into the bottome in the mids of the sea, and the floods compassed me about: all thy surges, and all thy waues passed ouer me.

4 Then I saide, I am [c] cast away out of thy sight: yet wil I looke againe toward thine holy Temple.

5 The waters compassed mee about vnto the soule: the depth closed mee rounde about, and the weedes were wrapt about mine head.

6 I went downe to the bottom of the mountaines: the earth with her barres was about me for euer, yet hast thou brought vp my [d] life from the pit, O Lord my God.

7 When my soule fainted within mee, I remembred the Lorde: and my prayer came vnto thee, into thine holy Temple.

8 They that waite vpon lying [e] vanities, forsake their owne [f] mercie.

9 But I will sacrifice vnto thee with the voyce of thankesgiuing, and will pay that that I haue vowed: saluation is of the Lord.

10 And the Lord spake vnto the fish, and it cast out Ionah vpon the dry land.

CHAP. III.

1 Ionah is sent againe to Nineueh. 5 The repentaunce of the king of Nineueh.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto [a] Ionah the second time, saying,

2 Arise: goe vnto Nineueh that great citie, and preach vnto it the preaching, which I bid thee.

3 So Ionah arose and went to Nineueh according to the word of the Lord: now Nineueh was a [b] great and excellent citie of three dayes iourney.

4 And Ionah beganne to enter into the citie a dayes [c] iourney, and hee cryed, and sayde, Yet fourtie dayes, and Nineueh shall be ouerthrowen.

5 So the people of Nineueh [d] beleeued God, and proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth from the greatest of them euen to the least of them.

6 For word came vnto the King of Nineueh, and he arose from his throne, and he laide his robe from him, and couered him with sackcloth, and sate in ashes.

7 And he proclaimed and said through Nineueh, (by the counsell of the king and his nobles) saying, Let neither man, nor [e] beast, bullocke nor sheepe taste any thing, neither feede, nor drinke water.

8 But let man and beast put on sackcloth, and [f] crie mightily vnto God: yea, let euerie man turne from his euill way, and from the wickednes that is in their hands.

9 [g] Who can tell if God will turne, and

---

[e] As one that would haue cast off this care and sollicitude, by seeking rest and quietnesse.

[h] As they had called on their Gods, which declareth that Idolaters haue no stay nor certainetie, but in their troubles seeke, they cannot tell in whom.

[i] Which declareth that the matter was in great extremitie, and doubt, which thing was Gods motion in them for the triall of the truth: and this may not be done but in matters of great importance.

[k] This declareth that the very wicked in their necessities flee vnto God for succour, and also that they are touched with a certaine feare to shed mans blood whereas they know no manifest signe of wickednesse.

[l] They were touched with a certaine repentance of their life past, and began to worship the true God, by whom they saw themselues so wonderfully deliuered: but this was done for feare and not of a pure heart and affection, neither according to Gods word.

[m] Thus the Lord would chastise his Prophet with a most terrible spectacle of death, and hereby also confirmed him of his fauour and support in this his charge which was inioyned him.

[a] Being now swallowed vp of death, and seeing no remedie to escape, his faith braste out vnto the Lord, knowing that out of the very hell he was able to deliuer him.

[b] For hee was now in the fishes bellie as in a graue or place of darknesse.

[c] This declared what his prayer was, and how he laboured betweene hope and despaire, considering the neglect of his vocation and Gods iudgements for the same: but yet in the end faith gate the victory.

[d] Thou hast deliuered me from the belly of the fish and all these dangers as it were raising me from death to life.

[e] They that depend vpon any thing saue on God alone.

[f] They refuse their owne felicitie, and that goodnes which they should receiue of God.

[a] This is a great declaration of Gods mercie, that he receiueth him againe and sendeth him forth as his Prophet, which had before shewed so great infirmitie.

[b] Reade Chap. 1. 2.

[c] He went forward one day in the citie, and preached, and is to be continued till the citie was conuerted.

[d] For he declared that he was a Prophet sent to them from God to denounce his iudgements against them.

[e] Not that the dumbe beasts had sinned or could repent, but that by their example men might bee astonished considering that for his sinne the anger of God hanged ouer all creatures.

[f] He willed that the men should earnestly call vnto God for mercie.

[g] For partly by the threatning of the Prophet, and partly by the meanes of his owne conscience hee doubted whether God would shewe them mercie.

repent and turne away from his fierce wrath, that we perish not?

10 And God sawe their [h] woorkes that they turned from their euill wayes: and [i] God repented of the euill that hee had saide that he would doe vnto them, and he did it not.

h That is, the fruits of their repentance, which did proceede of faith which God had planted by the ministerie of his Prophet.
i Read Jer. 18.8.

CHAP. IIII.

The great goodnesse of God toward his creatures.

THerefore it displeased [a] Jonah exceedingly, and he was angry.

2 And he prayed vnto the Lord, and saide, I pray thee, O Lorde, was not this my saying, when I was yet in my countrey: therefore I preuented it to flee vnto [b] Tarshish: for I knew that thou art a gracious God, and mercifull, slow to anger, and of great kindnesse, and repentest thee of the euill.

3 Therefore nowe, O Lorde, take I beseech thee, my life [c] from me: for it is better for me to die then to liue.

4 Then said the Lord, Doest thou well to be [d] angry?

5 So Jonah went out of the citie and sate on the East side of the citie, and there made him a boothe, and sate vnder it in the shadowe [e] till hee might see what should bee done in the citie.

a Because hereby he should be taken as a false prophet, and so the Name of God, which hee preached, should be blaspemed.
b Reade cha. 1.3
c Thus he prayed of griefe fearing lest Gods Name by this forgiuenesse might be blaspemed as though he sent his Prophets forth to denounce his iudgements in vaine.
d Wilt thou be angry when I doe things for my glorie, and when I doe not?
e For he doubted as yet whether God would shew them mercy or no: and therefore after fourty dayes he departed out of the citie, looking what issue God would send.

6 And the Lorde God prepared a [f] gourde, and made it to come vp ouer Jonah, that it might bee a shadowe ouer his head and deliuer him from his griefe. So Jonah was exceeding glad of the gourde.

7 But God prepared a worme when the morning rose the next day, and it smote the gourde, that it withered.

8 And when the sunne did arise, God prepared also a feruent East winde: and the sunne beat vpon the head of Jonah, that hee fainted, and wished in his heart to die, and saide, It is better for me to die, then to liue.

9 And God saide vnto Jonah, Doest thou well to be angrie for the gourde? And he said, I doe well to be angry vnto the death.

10 Then saide the Lorde, Thou hast had pitie on the gourde for the which thou hast not laboured, neither madest it growe, which came vp in a night, and perished in a night.

11 And should [h] not I spare Nineueh that great citie, wherein are fiue score thousand persons, that [i] can not discerne betweene their right hand, and their left hande, and also much cattell?

f Which was a further meanes, to couer him frō the heate of the sunne, as he remained in his boothe.
g This declareth the great inconueniences whereunto Gods seruants doe fall when they giue place to their owne affections, and doe not in all things willingly submit themselues to God.
h Thus God mercifully reproueth him, which would pitie himselfe, and this gourde, and yet would refraine God to shew his compassion to so many thousand people.
i Meaning, that they were chyldren & infants.

MICAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

MIcah the Prophet of the tribe of Iudah serued in the woorke of the Lorde concerning Iudah and Israel at the least thirtie yeeres: at what time Isaiah prophecied. He declareth the destruction, first of the one kingdome and then of the other, because of their manifolde wickednesse, but chiefly for their idolatrie. And to this ende he noteth the wickednesse of the people, the cruelkie of the princes and gouernors, and the permission of the false prophets, and the delsting in them. Then he setteth forth the comming of Christ, his kingdome, and the felicitie thereof. This Prophet was not that Micah, which resisted Ahab and all his false prophets, as 1. King. 22.8. but another of the same name.

CHAP. I.

1 The destruction of Iudah and Israel because of their idolatrie.

THe woorde of the Lorde, that came vnto Micah the [a] Morashite in ỳ daies of Iothā, Ahaz, & Hezekiah kings of Iudah, which he saw cōcerning Samaria, & Jerusalē.

2 Heare, [b] all ye people: hearken thou, O earth, and all that therein is, and let the Lorde God be witnesse against you, euen the Lorde from his holy Temple.

3 For behold, the Lord commeth out of his place, and will come [c] downe, and tread vpon the hie places of the earth.

4 And the mountaines shall melt vnder him (so shall the valleyes cleaue) as wax before the fire, and as the waters that are powred downward.

a Borne in Moreshah a citie of Iudah.
b Because of the malice, and obstinacie of the people, whom he had so oft exhorted to repentance, he summoneth them to Gods iudgements, taking all creatures, and God himselfe to witnesse, that the preaching of his Prophets, which they haue abused, shalbe reuenged.
c Meaning hereby, that God will come to iudgement against the strong cities and holdes.

5 For the wickednesse of Iaakob is al this, and for the sinnes of the house of Israel: what is the wickednesse of Iaakob? Is not [d] Samaria? and which are the [e] hie places of Judah? Is not Jerusalem?

6 Therefore I will make Samaria as an heape of the fielde, and for the planting of a vineyard, and I will cause the stones thereof to tumble downe into the valley, and I wil discouer the foundations thereof.

7 And all the grauen images thereof shalbe broken, and all the [f] gifts thereof shalbe burnt with the fire, and all the idoles thereof will I destroy: for thee gathered it of the hire of an harlot, and they shal returne [g] to the wages of an harlot.

8 Therefore I will mourne and howle: I will goe without clothes, and naked: I will make lamentation like the Dragons, and d Samaria which should haue bene an example to all Israel of true religion and iustice, was the puddle, and stewes of all idolatrie & corruption, and boasted themselues of their father Iaakob.

e That is, the idolatrie and infection.
f Which they gathered by euill practises, and thought that their idoles had enriched them therewith for their seruice vnto them.
g The gain that came by their idoles, shalbe cōsumed as a thing of nought: for as the wages or riches of harlots are wickedly gotten, so are they vilely and speedily spent.

mourning

mourning as the oſtriches.

9 For her plagues are grieuous: for it is come into Iudah: the enemie is come vnto the gate of my people, vnto Ieruſalem.

10 Declare yee it not at [h] Gath, neither weepe ye: for the houſe of [i] Aphrah roule thy ſelfe in the duſt.

11 Thou that dwelleſt at [k] Shaphir, goe together naked with ſhame: ſhe that dwelleth at Zaenan, ſhal not come forth in the mourning of Beth-ezel: the enemie ſhall [l] receiue of you for his ſtanding.

12 For the inhabitant of Maroth wayted for good, but euill came from the Lorde vnto the [m] gate of Ieruſalem.

13 O thou inhabitant of Lachiſh, bind the charet to the beaſts [n] of price: ſhee [o] is the beginning of the ſinne to the daughter of Zion: for the tranſgreſſions of Iſrael were found in thee.

14 Therefore ſhalt thou giue preſents to Moreſheth [p] Gath: the houſes of Achzib ſhalbe as a lie to the kings of Iſrael.

15 Yet will I bring an [q] heire vnto thee, O inhabitant of Mareſhah, he ſhall come vnto Adullam, [r] the glorie of Iſrael.

16 Make thee balde: and ſhaue thee for thy delicate children: enlarge thy baldneſſe as the Eagle, for they are goue into captiuitie from thee.

h Leſt the Philiſtims our enemies reioyce at our deſtruction.
i Which was a citie neere to Ieruſalem, Ioſh. 18.23. there called Ophrah, and ſignifieth duſt: therefore he willeth them to mourne, and roule themſelues in the duſt, for their ruſtie citie.
k Theſe were cities whereby the enemie ſhould paſſe as he came to Iudah.
l He ſhall not depart before hee hath ouercome you, and ſo you ſhall pay for his tarying.
m For Rabſhakeh had ſhut vp Ieruſalem, that they could not ſend to ſuccour them.
n To flee away: for Sancherib lain ſiege firſt to that citie, and remained there in when hee ſent his captaines and armie againſt Ieruſalem. o Thou firſt receiueſt the idolatrie of Ieroboam, and ſo diddeſt infect Ieruſalem. p Thou ſhalt bribe the Philiſtims thy neighbours: but they ſhall deceiue thee, as well as they of Ieruſalem. q Hee prophecieth againſt his owne citie, and becauſe it ſignified an heritage, he ſaith that God would ſend an heire to poſſeſſe it. r For ſo they thought themſelues for the ſtrength of their citie.

CHAP. II.

1 Threatnings againſt the wanton and deintie people. 6 They would teach the Prophets to preach.

WO vnto them that imagine iniquitie, and worke wickedneſſe vpon their beds: [a] when the morning is light they practiſe it becauſe their hand † hath power.

2 And they couet fields, and take them by violence, and houſes, and take them away: ſo they oppreſſe a man and his houſe, euen man and his heritage.

3 Therefore thus ſaieth the Lorde, Behold, againſt this familie haue I deuiſed a plague, whereout yee ſhall not plucke your neckes, and ye ſhall not goe ſo proudly, for this time is euill,

4 In that day ſhall they take vp a parable againſt you, and lament with a doleful lamentation, and ſay, [b] We bee vtterly waſted: hee hath changed the portion of my people: howe hath hee taken it away to reſtore it vnto me? he hath diuided our fields.

5 Therefore thou ſhalt haue none that ſhall caſt a corde by lot in [c] the congregation of the Lord.

a Aſſoone as they riſe, they execute their wicked deuiſes of the night, and according to their power hurt others.
† Hebr. In his power.

b Thus the Iewes lament & ſay that there is no hope of reſtitution, ſeeing their poſſeſſions are diuided among the enemies.
c Ye ſhall haue no more lands to diuide, as you had in times paſt, and as you vſed to meaſure them in the Jubile.

6 [d] They that prophecied, prophecie yee not, [e] They ſhall not prophecie to them, neyther ſhall they take ſhame.

7 O thou that art named the houſe of Iaakob, is the Spirite of the Lorde ſhortned? [f] are theſe his workes? are not my wordes good vnto him [g] that walketh vprightly?

8 But hee that was [h] yeſterday my people, is riſen vp on the other ſide, as againſt an enemie: they ſpoyle the [i] beautifull garment from them that paſſe by peaceably, as though they returned from the warre.

9 The women of my people haue yee caſt out from their pleaſant houſes, and from their children haue ye taken away [k] my glorie continually.

10 Ariſe and depart, for this is not your [l] reſt: becauſe it is polluted, it ſhal deſtroy you, euen with a ſore deſtruction.

11 If a man [m] walke in the Spirite, and would lie falſly, ſaying, [n] I will prophecie vnto thee of wine, and of ſtrong drinke, he ſhall euen be the prophet of this people.

12 I will ſurely gather [o] thee wholly, O Iaakob: I will ſurely gather the remnant of Iſrael: I wil put them together as the ſheepe of Bozrah, euen as the flocke in the middes of their folde: the cities ſhal be ful of brute of the men.

13 The [p] breaker vp ſhall come vp before them: they ſhall breake out, and paſſe by the gate, and goe out by it, and their king ſhall go before them, and the Lord ſhalbe [q] vpon their heads.

d Thus the people warne the Prophets that they ſpeake to them no more: for they cannot abide their threatnings.
e God ſaith that they ſhal not prophecie nor receiue no more of their rebukes nor taunts.
f Are theſe your workes according to his law?
g Doe not the godly finde my wordes comfortable?
h That is, afore time.
i The poore can haue no commoditie by them, but they ſpoile them, as though they were enemies.
k That is, their ſubſtance, and liuing, which is Gods bleſſing, and as it were, part of his glory.
l Ieruſalem ſhall not be your ſafegard: but the cauſe of your deſtruction.
m That is, ſhew himſelfe to be a Prophet.
n He ſheweth what Prophets they beare in: that is, in flatteres, whicheth them pleaſant tales, and ſpeake of their commodities.
o To deſtroy thee. p The enemie ſhall breake their gates and walles, & leade them into Calde. q To driue them forward, and to helpe their enemies.

CHAP. III.

1 Againſt the tyrannie of princes and falſe prophets.

AND I ſaid, Heare, I pray you, O heads of Iaakob, and ye princes of the houſe of Iſrael: ſhould not ye know [a] iudgement?

2 But they hate the good, and loue the euil: they plucke off their ſkinnes from them, and their fleſh from their bones.

3 And they eate alſo the [b] fleſh of my people, and flay off their ſkinne from them, and they breake their bones, and chop them in pieces, as for the pot, and as fleſh within the caldron.

4 Then [c] ſhall they cry vnto the Lord, but he wil not heare them: he wil euen hide his face from them at that time, becauſe they haue done wickedly in their works.

5 Thus ſaith the Lorde, Concerning the prophets that deceiue my people, and [d] bite them with their teeth, and crie peace, but if a man put not into their mouthes, they prepare warre againſt them, a That thing which is iuſt and lawfull, both to gouerne my people aright, and alſo to diſcharge your owne conſciences.

b The Prophet condemneth the wicked gouernours not only of couetouſneſſe, theft & murther, but compareth them to wolues, lyons, and moſt cruell beaſts.
c That is, when I ſhal diſlike their wicke neſſe: for though I heare the godly before they crie, Iſa. 65.24. yet I will not heare them though they cry Iſa. 1.15. and Ezek. 8.18. Iam. 2.13. 1. pet. 3. 11, 12.

d They deuoure all their ſubſtance, and then flatter them, promiſing that al ſhal goe well: but if one reſtraine from their bellies, then they inuent all wayes to miſchiefe.

e As you haue loued to walke in darkenes, and to prophecie lies, ſo God ſhal reward you with groſſe blindnes, and ignorance, ſo that when all others ſhall ſee the bright beames of Gods graces, ye ſhall as blinde men grope as in the night.

f When God ſhall diſcouer them to the world, they ſhall be afraide to ſpeake for all ſhall know that they were but falſe prophets, and did belie the word of God.

g The Prophet being aſſured of his vocation by the ſpirit of God, ſetteth himſelfe alone againſt all the wicked, ſhewing howe God hath gaue him giftes, habilitie and knowledge, to diſcerne betweene good and euill, and alſo conſtancie to reproue the ſinnes of the people, and not to flatter them.

h They builde them houſes by vſurie, which hee calleth blood and iniquitie.

i They will ſay, that they are the people of God, and abuſe his Name as a pretence to cloke their hypocriſie. k Reade Jerem.26,18.

6 Therefore e night ſhall be vnto you for a viſion, and darkenes ſhall be vnto you for a diuination, and the Sunne ſhall goe downe ouer the Prophets, and the day ſhall be darke ouer them.

7 Then ſhall the Seers be aſhamed, and the Soothſayers confounded: yea, they ſhall all couer f their lippes, for they haue none anſwere of God.

8 Yet notwithſtanding I am ful of power by the ſpirit of the Lord, and of iudgement, and of ſtrength to declare vnto Iaakob his tranſgreſſion, and to Iſrael his ſinne.

9 Heare this, I pray you, ye heads of the houſe of Iaakob, and Princes of the houſe of Iſrael: they abhorre iudgement, and peruert all equitie.

10 They builde vp Zion with h blood, and Ieruſalem with iniquitie.

11 The heads thereof iudge for rewards, and the Prieſtes thereof teach for hire, and the Prophets thereof prophecie for money: yet will they i leane vpon the Lord, and ſay, Is not the Lord among vs? no euill can come vpon vs.

12 Therefore ſhall Zion for your ſake be k plowed as a fielde, and Ieruſalem ſhall be an heape, and the mountaine of the houſe, as the high places of the foreſt.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Of the kingdome of Chriſt, and felicitie of his Church.

a When Chriſt ſhall come, and the Temple ſhall be deſtroyed.

b Reade Iſa. 2.2.

c He ſheweth that there is no true Church but where as the people are taught by Gods pure word.

d By his corrections and threatnings he will bring the people into ſubiection, which are in the deepeſt corners of the world.

e They ſhall abſteine from all euill doing, and exerciſe themſelues in goodnes and in well doing to others.

f Reade Iſa. 2.4.

g He ſheweth that the people of God ought to remaine conſtant in their religion, albeit all the world ſhould giue themſelues to their ſuperſtition & idolatrie.

BVt in the a laſt dayes it ſhall come to paſſe, that the mountaine of ſ houſe of the Lord ſhall be prepared in the top of the mountaines, and it ſhall be exalted aboue the b hils, and people ſhall flowe vnto it.

2 Yea, many nations ſhall come and ſay, Come, and let vs goe vp to the mountaine of the Lord, and to the houſe of the God of Iaakob, and he will c teach vs his wayes, and we will walke in his pathes: for the Law ſhall goe forth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from Ieruſalem.

3 And he ſhal iudge among many people, and d rebuke mightie nations afarre off, and they ſhall breake their ſwords into mattocks, and their ſpeares into e ſithes: nation ſhall not lift vp a ſword againſt nation, neither ſhall they learne to fight any more.

4 But they ſhall ſit euery man vnder his vine, and vnder his figge tree, and none ſhall make them afraide: for the mouth of the Lord of hoſtes hath ſpoken it.

5 For all people will walke f euery one in the name of his God, and we will walke in the Name of the Lord our God, for euer and euer.

6 At the ſame day, ſaith the Lord, will I gather her that halteth, and I will gather her that is caſt out, and her that I haue afflicted.

7 And I will make her that halted, h a remnant, & her that was caſt farre off, a mightie nation: and the Lord ſhall reigne ouer them in mount Zion, from hence forth euen for euer.

8 And thou, O i tower of the flocke, the ſtrong holde of the daughter Zion, vnto thee ſhall it come, euen k the firſt dominion, and kingdome ſhall come to the daughter Ieruſalem.

9 Nowe why doeſt thou crie out with lamentation? is l there no king in thee? is thy counſeller periſhed? for ſorowe hath taken thee, as a woman in trauaile.

10 Sorowe and mourne, O daughter Zion, like a woman in trauaile: for nowe ſhalt thou goe forth of the citie, and dwell in the fielde, and ſhalt goe into Babel, but there ſhalt thou be deliuered: there the Lord ſhal redeeme thee from the hand of thine enemies.

11 Now alſo many nations are gathered againſt thee, ſaying, Zion ſhall be condemned and our eie ſhall looke vpon Zion.

12 But they m knowe not the thoughts of the Lord: they vnderſtand not his counſell, for hee ſhall gather them as the ſheaues in the barne.

13 Ariſe, and threſh, n O daughter Zion: for I will make thine horne iron, and I will make thine hooues braſſe, and thou ſhalt breake in pieces many people: and I will conſecrate their riches vnto the Lorde, and their ſubſtance vnto the ruler of the whole world.

h I will exalt that Iſrael, which is now as one lame and halting, and ſo almoſt deſtroyed, ſhall liue againe and growe into a great people.

i Meaning Ieruſalem, where the Lords flocke was gathered.

k The flouriſhing ſtate of the kingdome, as it was vnder Dauid and Salomon, which thing was accompliſhed to the Church by the comming of Chriſt.

l In the meane ſeaſon he ſheweth that they ſhould endure great troubles & tentations when they ſawe themſelues neither to haue king nor counſell.

m He ſheweth that the faithfull ought not to meaſure Gods iudgements by the braggs and threatnings of the wicked, but thereby are admoniſhed to lift vp their hearts to God to call for deliuerance.

n God giueth his Church this victorie, ſo oft as he ouercommeth their enemies: but the accompliſhment hereof ſhall be at the laſt comming of Chriſt.

CHAP. V.

1 The deſtruction of Ieruſalem. 2 The excellencie of Beth-lehem.

NOwe aſſemble thy gariſons, O daughter a of gariſons: hee hath laide ſiege againſt vs: they ſhall ſmite the iudge of Iſrael with a rod vpon the cheeke.

2 And thou Beth-lehem Ephrathah art b litle to be among the thouſands of Iudah, yet out of thee ſhall he come forth vnto me, that ſhall be the ruler in Iſrael, whoſe c goings forth haue beene from the beginning and from euerlaſting.

3 Therefore will he giue them vp, vntill the time that d ſhe which ſhall beare, ſhall trauaile, then the remnant of their brethren ſhall returne vnto the children of Iſrael.

a He foreſeeth the dangers that ſhall come before they enioy theſe comforts, ſhewing that foraſmuch as Ieruſalem was accuſtomed with their gariſons to trouble others, the Lord would now cauſe other gariſons to vexe her, and that her Rulers ſhould be ſmitten on the face moſt contemptuouſly.

b For ſo the Iewes diuided their countrey, that for euery thouſand there was a chiefe captaine: and becauſe Beth-lehem was not able to make a thouſand, he calleth it litle, but yet God will raiſe vp his captaine and gouernour therein: and thus it is not the leaſt by reaſon of this benefite, as Mat.2.6. c He ſheweth that the comming of Chriſt, and all his wayes were appointed of God from all eternitie. d He compareth ſ Iewes to women with child, who for a time ſhould haue great ſorowes, but at length they ſhould haue a comfortable deliuerance, Joh.16.21.

4 And hee ſhall [c] ſtand, and feede in the ſtrength of the Lord, and in the Maieſtie of the Name of the Lord his God, and they ſhal dwel ſtill: for nowe ſhall he be magnified vnto the endes of the world.

5 And he [f] ſhalbe our peace when Aſſhur ſhall come into our land: when he ſhall treade in our palaces, then ſhall we raiſe againſt him ſeuen ſhepeheards, and eight principall men.

6 And they ſhall deſtroy Aſſhur with the ſword, and the land of Nimrod with their ſwordes: thus ſhal he [b] deliuer vs from Aſſhur, when he commeth into our land, and when he ſhall treade within our borders.

7 And the [i] remnant of Iaakob ſhalbe among many people, as a dewe from the Lord, and as the ſhowres vpon the graſſe, that waiteth not for man, nor hopeth in the ſonnes of Adam.

8 And the remnant of Iaakob ſhall be among the Gentiles in the middes of many people, as the Lyon among the beaſtes of the foreſt, and as the Lyons whelpe among the flockes of ſheepe, who when he goeth thorowe, treadeth downe and teareth in pieces, and none can deliuer.

9 Thine hand ſhall be lift vp vpon thine aduerſaries, and all thine enemies ſhall be cut off.

10 And it ſhall come to paſſe in that day, ſaith the Lord, that I wil cut off thine [k] horſes out of the middes of thee, and I wil deſtroy thy charets.

11 And I wil cut off the cities of thy land, and ouerthrowe all thy ſtrong holdes.

12 And I will cut off thine enchaſters out of thine hand: and thou ſhalt haue no more Soothſayers.

13 Thine idoles alſo will I cut off, and thine images out of the middes of thee: and thou ſhalt no more worſhip the worke of thine hands.

14 And I will plucke vp thy groues out of the middes of thee: ſo will I deſtroy thine enemies.

15 And I will execute a vengeance in my wrath and indignation vpon the heathen, [l] which they haue not heard.

c That is, Chriſtes kingdome ſhalbe ſtable and euerlaſting and his people, alwel the Gentiles as the Iewes ſhal dwel in ſafetie.

f This Meſſiah ſhall be a ſufficient ſafegard for vs, and though the enemie inuade vs for a time, yet ſhall God ſtirre vp many which ſhal be able to deliuer vs.

g Theſe whom God ſhall raiſe vp for the deliuerance of his Church, ſhall deſtroy all the enemies thereof, which are meant here by the Aſſyrians and Babylonians which were the chiefe at that time.

h By theſe gouernours will God deliuer vs when the enemie commeth into our land.

i This remnant or Church which God ſhall deliuer, ſhall onely depend on Gods power and defence, as doeth the graſſe of the fielde, and not on the hope of man.

k I will deſtroy al things wherein thou puttest thy confidence, as thy daine confidence and idolatrie, and ſo will helpe thee.

l It ſhall be ſo terrible that the like hath not bene heard of.

CHAP. VI.

An exhortation to the dumme creatures to heare the iudgement againſt Iſrael being vnkinde. 6 What maner of ſacrifices doe pleaſe God.

HEarken ye now what the Lord ſaith, Ariſe thou, and contend before the [a] mountaines, and let the hils heare thy voyce.

2 Heare ye, O mountaines, the Lords quarell, and yee mightie foundations of the earth: for the Lord hath a quarrell againſt his people, and he will pleade with Iſrael.

a He taketh the high mountaines and hard rockes to witneſſe againſt the obſtinacie of his people.

3 O my people, what haue I done vnto thee? or wherein haue I grieued thee? teſtifie againſt me.

4 Surely I [b] brought thee vp out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed thee out of the houſe of ſeruants, and I haue ſent before thee, Moſes, Aaron, and Miriam.

5 O my people, remember nowe what Balak king of Moab had deuiſed, and what Balaam the ſonne of Beor anſwered him, from [c] Shittim vnto Gilgal, that yee may knowe the righteouſneſſe of the Lord.

6 Wherewith [c] ſhall I come before the Lord, and bowe my ſelfe before the high God? Shall I come before him with burnt offerings, and with calues of a yeere olde?

7 Will the Lord be pleaſed with thouſands of Rammes, or with ten thouſand riuers of oile? ſhall I giue my [f] firſt borne for my tranſgreſſion, euen the fruite of my body, for the ſinne of my ſoule?

8 He hath ſhewed thee, O man, what is good, and what the Lord requireth of thee: [g] ſurely to doe iuſtly, and to loue mercie, and to humble thy ſelfe, to walke with thy God.

9 The Lords voyce crieth vnto the [h] citie, and the man of wiſedome ſhall ſee thy name: Heare the rod, and who hath appointed it.

10 Are yet the treaſures of wickednes in the houſe of the wicked, and the ſcant meaſure, that is abominable?

11 Shall I iuſtifie the wicked balances, and the bag of deceitfull waights?

12 For the rich men [i] thereof are full of crueltie, and the inhabitants thereof haue ſpoken lies, and their tongue is deceitfull in their mouth.

13 Therefore alſo will I make thee ſicke in ſmiting thee, and in making thee deſolate, becauſe of thy ſinnes.

14 Thou ſhalt eate and not be ſatisfied, and [k] thy caſting downe ſhall be in the middes of thee, and thou [l] ſhalt take holde, but ſhalt not deliuer: and that which thou deliuereſt, will I giue vp to the ſword.

15 Thou ſhalt ſowe, but not reape: thou ſhalt tread the oliues, but thou ſhalt not anoint thee with oile, and make ſweete wine, but ſhalt not drinke wine.

16 For the [m] ſtatutes of Omri are kept, and all the maner of the houſe of Ahab, and yee walke in their counſels, that I ſhoulde make thee waſte, and the inhabitants thereof an hiſſing: therefore ye ſhall beare the reproch of my people.

b I haue not hurt thee, but beſtowed infinite benefites vpon thee.

c That is, remember my benefites from the beginning, how I deliuered you from Balaams curſe, and alſo ſpared you from Shittim, which was in the plaine of Moab, till I brought you into the land promiſed.

d That is, the truerh of his promiſe, and his manifolde benefites toward you.

e Thus the people by hypocriſie aſke how to pleaſe God, and are content to offer ſacrifices, but will not change their liues.

f There is nothing ſo deere to man, but the hypocrites will offer it vnto God, if they thinke thereby to auoide his anger: but they will neuer be brought to mortifie their owne affections, and to giue themſelues willingly to ſerue God as he commaundeth.

g The Prophet in fewe wordes calleth them to the obſeruation of the ſecond table, to knowe if they will obey God aright or no, ſaying that God hath preſcribed them to doe this.

h Meaning, that when God ſpeaketh to any citie or nation, the godly will acknowledge his maieſtie, and conſider not the mortal man that bringeth the threatning, but God that ſendeth it.

i That is, of Ieruſalem.

k Thou ſhalt be conſumed with inward griefe & euils.

l Meaning, that the citie ſhould goe about to ſaue her men, as they that lay holde on that which they would preſerue.

m You haue receiued all the corruption and idolatrie, wherewith the ten tribes were infected vnder Omri and Ahab his ſonne: and to excuſe your doings, you allege Kings authoritie by his ſtatutes, and alſo wiſedome and policie in ſo doing, but you ſhall not eſcape punishment, but as I haue ſhewed you great fauour, and taken you for my people, ſo ſhall your plagues be accordingly, Luke 12.47.

CHAP. VII.

1 A complaint for the small number of the righteous. 4 The wickednesse of those times. 14 The prosperitie of the Church.

a The Prophet taketh vpon him the person of the earth, which complaineth that all her fruites are gone, so that none is left: that is, that there is no godly man remaining: for all are giuen to cruelitie and deceite, so that none spareth his owne brother.

WOe is me, for I am as [a] the sommer gatherings, and as the grapes of the vintage: there is no cluster to eate: my soule desired the first ripe fruites.

2 The good man is perished out of the earth, and there is none righteous among men: [b] they all lie in waite for blood: euery man huntеth his brother with a net.

b He sheweth that the Prince, the Iudge and the rich man are linked together, all to doe euill, and to cloke the doings one of another.

3 To make good for the euill of their hands, the Prince asked, and the Iudge iudgeth for a reward: therefore the [c] great man he speaketh out the corruption of his soule: so [d] they wrap it vp.

c That is, the rich man that is able to giue money, abstaineth from no wickednes nor iniurie.

d These men agree among themselues, and conspire with one consent to doe euill.

4 The best of them is as [e] a brier, and the most righteous of them is sharper then a thorne hedge: the day of [f] thy watchmen and thy visitation commeth: then shall be their confusion.

e They that are of most estimation, and are counted most honest among them, are but thornes and briers to pricke.

f Meaning, of the Prophets and gouernours.

5 Trust ye not in a friend, neither put ye confidence in a counseller: keepe the doores of thy mouth from her that lieth in thy bosome.

6 For the sonne reuileth the father: the daughter riseth vp against her mother: the daughter in lawe against her mother in lawe, and a mans enemies are the men of his owne house.

g The Prophet sheweth that the onely remedie for the godly in desperate euils, is to flee vnto God for succour.

7 Therefore [g] I will looke vnto the Lord: I will waite for God my Sauiour: my God will heare me.

h This is spoken in the person of the Church, which calleth the malignant Church her enemie.

8 Reioyce not against me, [h] O mine enemie: though I fall, I shall rise: when I shall sit in darkenesse, the Lord shall be a light vnto me.

9 I will beare the wrath of the Lord, because I haue sinned against him, vntill hee pleade my cause, and execute iudgement for me: then will he bring me foorth to the light, and I shall see his righteousnes.

10 Then shee that is mine enemie, shall looke vpon it, and shame shall couer her, which saide vnto me, Where is the Lorde thy God? Mine eyes shall beholde her: nowe shall she be troden downe as the myre of the streetes.

11 This is [i] the day, that thy walles shalbe built: this day shall driue farre away [k] the decree.

12 In this day also they shall come vnto thee from [l] Asshur, and from the strong cities, and from the strong holdes euen vnto the riuer, and from Sea to Sea, and from mountaine to mountaine.

13 Notwithstanding, the land shall be desolate because of them that dwell therein, and for the fruites of [m] their inuentions.

14 [n] Feede thy people with thy rodde, the flocke of thine heritage (which dwell solitarie in the wood) as in the middes of Carmel: let them feede in Bashan and Gilead, as in olde time.

15 [o] According to the dayes of thy comming out of the land of Egypt, will I shewe vnto him marueilous things.

16 The nations shall see, and be confounded for all their power: they shall [p] lay their hand vpon their mouth: [q] their eares shall be deafe.

17 They shal [r] licke the dust like a serpent: they shal moue out of their holes like wormes: they shall be afraide of the Lord our God, and shall feare because of thee.

18 Who is a God like vnto thee, that taketh away iniquitie, and [s] passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage! He reteineth not his wrath for euer, because mercie pleaseth him.

19 He will turne againe, and haue compassion vpon vs: hee will subdue our iniquities, and cast all [t] their sinnes into the bottome of the sea.

20 Thou wilt performe thy [u] trueth to Iaakob, and mercie to Abraham, as thou hast sworne vnto our fathers in olde time.

i To wit, when God shall shewe himselfe a deliuerer of his Church, and a destroyer of his enemies.

k Meaning, the cruell empire of the Babylonians.

l When the Church shall be restored, they that were enemies afore, shall come out of all the corners of the world vnto her, so that neither holdes, riuers, seas nor mountaines shall be able to let them.

m After this grace appeare, he sheweth how grieuously the hypocrites themselues shall be punished, seeing that the earth it selfe, which can not sinne, shall be made waste, because of their wickednesse.

n The Prophet prayeth to God to be mercifull vnto his Church, when they should be scattered abroad as in solitarie places in Babylon, and to be beneficiall vnto them as in time past.

o God promiseth to be fauourable to his people as he had beene afore time.

p They shalbe as dumbe men and dare byag no more.

q They shall be astonished and afraide to heare men speake, least they should heare of their destruction.

r They shall fall flat on the ground for feare.

s As though hee would not see it, but winke at it.

t Meaning of his elect.

u The Church is assured, that God will declare in effect the trueth of his mercifull promise, which he had made of olde to Abraham, and to all that should apprehend the promise by faith.

NAHVM.

THE ARGVMENT.

AS they of Nineueh shewed themselues prompt and ready to receiue the word of God at Ionahs preaching, and so turned to the Lord by repentance: so after a certaine time rather giuing themselues to worldly meanes to encrease their dominion, then seeking to continue in the feare of God, and trade wherein they had begun, they cast off the care of religion, and so returned to their vomit, and prouoked Gods iust iudgement against them, in afflicting his people. Therefore their citie Nineueh was destroyed, and Meroch-baladan king of Babel (or as some thinke Nebuchad-nezzar) enioyed the empire of the Assyrians. But because God hath a continuall care of his Church, he stirreth vp his Prophet to comfort the godly, shewing that the destruction of their enemies should be for their consolation. And as it seemeth, he prophesied about the time of Hezekiah, and not in the time of Manasseh his sonne, as the Iewes write.

CHAP. I.

Of the destruction of the Assyrians, and of the deliuerance of Israel.

THe [a] burden of Nineueh, [b] The booke of the vision of Nahum the [c] Elkeshite.

2 God is [d] ielous, and the Lord reuengeth: the Lord reuengeth: euen the Lord [e] of anger, the Lord will take vengeance on his aduersaries, and hee reserueth wrath for his enemies.

3 The [f] Lord is slow to anger, but he is great in power, and will not surely cleare the wicked: the Lord hath his way in the whirle winde, and in the stormе, and the cloudes are the dust of his feete.

4 He rebuketh the sea, and drieth it, & he drieth vp all the riuers: Bashan is wasted and Carmel, and the floure of Lebanon is wasted.

5 The mountaines tremble for him, and the hils melt, and the earth is burnt at his sight, yea, the world, and all that dwell therein.

6 [g] Who can stand before his wrath? or who can abide in the fiercenesse of his wrath? his wrath is powred out like fire, & the rockes are broken by him.

7 The Lord is good [h] and as a strong holde in the day of trouble, and hee knoweth them that trust in him.

8 But passing ouer as with a flood, he will vtterly destroy the [i] place thereof, and darkenesse shall pursue his enemies.

9 What doe yee [k] imagine against the Lord? he will make an vtter destruction: affliction shall not rise vp the second time.

10 For hee shall come as vnto [l] thornes folden one in another, and as vnto drunkardes in their drunkennesse: they shall be deuoured as stubble fully dried.

11 There [m] commeth one out of thee that imagineth euill against the Lord, euen a wicked counseller.

12 Thus saith the Lord, Though they be [n] quiet, and also many, yet thus shall they be cut off when he shall passe by: though I haue afflicted thee, I will afflict thee no more.

13 For now I will breake his yoke from thee, and will burst thy bonds in sunder.

14 And the Lord hath giuen a commaundement concerning thee, that no more of thy name be [o] sowen: out of the house of thy gods will I cut off the grauen and the molten image: I will make it thy graue for thee, for thou art vile.

15 * Beholde vpon the mountaines the feete of him that declareth, & publisheth [p] peace: O Iudah, keepe thy solemne feastes, performe thy vowes: for the wicked shall no more passe thorow thee: he is vtterly cut off.

CHAP. II.

He describeth the victorie of the Caldeans against the Assyrians.

THe [a] destroyer is come before thy face: keepe the munition: looke to the way: make thy loynes strong: increase thy strength mightily.

2 For the Lorde hath [b] turned away the glory of Iaakob, as the glory of Israel: for the emptiers haue emptied them out, and [c] marred their vine branches.

3 The shield of his mighty men is made red: [d] the valiant men are in skarlet: the charets shall be as in the fire, and flames in the day of his preparation, and [e] the firre trees shal tremble.

4 The charets shall rage in the streetes: they shall runne to and fro in the high wayes: they shall seeme like lampes: they shall shoote like the lightning.

5 [f] He shall remember his strong men: they shall stumble as they goe: they shall make haste to the walles thereof, and the defence shal be prepared.

6 The gates of the riuers shall be opened, and the palace shall melt.

7 And Huzzah the Queene shall be ledde away captiue, and her maides shall leade her as with the voyce of doues, smiting vpon their breastes.

8 But Nineueh is [g] of olde like a poole of water: yet they shall flee away. Stand, stand, shall they crie: but none shall looke backe.

9 [h] Spoile ye the siluer, spoile the golde: for there is none ende of the store, and glory of all the pleasant vessels.

10 [i] She is emptie and voide and waste, and the heart melteth, and the knees smite together, and sorowe is in all loines, and the faces [k] of them all gather blacknes.

11 Where is the [l] dwelling of the lyons, and the pasture of the Lions whelpes? where the Lion, and the Lioneſſe walked, and the Lions whelpe, and none made them afraide.

12 The Lion did teare in pieces ynough for his whelpes, and wozied for his Lioneſſe, and filled his holes with praye, and his dennes with spoyle.

13 Beholde, I come vnto thee, saith the Lord of hosts, & I will burne her charets in the [m] smoke, a Reade Isa. 13.1.

---

b The vision or reuelation, which God commanded Nahum to write concerning the Nineuites.
c That is, borne in a poore village in the tribe of Simeon.
d Meaning, of his glory.
e With his he is but angry for a time, but his anger neuer assuageth toward the reprobate, though for a time he defer it.
f Thus the wicked would make Gods mercie an occasion to sinne, but the prophet willeth them to consider his force and iustice.
g If al creatures be at Gods commandement, and none is able to resist his wrath, shall man flatter himselfe, & thinke by any meanes to escape when he prouoketh his God to anger?
h Least the faithfull should be discouraged by hearing the power of God, he sheweth them y his mercies appertaine vnto them, and that he hath care ouer them.
i Signifying, that God will suddenly destroy Nineueh, and the Assyrians, in such sort as they shall lie in perpetuall darkenesse, and neuer recouer their strength againe.
k He sheweth that the enterprises of the Assyrians against Iudah and the Church were against God, and therefore hee would so destroy them at once, that he should not neede to returne the second time.
l Though the Assyrians thinke themselues like thornes that pricke on all sides, yet the Lord will set fire on them, and as drunken men are not able to stand against any force, so they shall be nothing able to resist him.
m Which may be vnderstood either of Sanherib or of the whole body of the people of Nineueh.
n Though they thinke themselues in most safetie, and of greatest strength, yet when God shall passe by, he will destroy them: notwithstanding he comforteth his Church, and promiseth to make an ende of punishing them by the Assyrians.
o Meaning Sanherib, who should haue no more children, but be slaine in the house of his gods, 2 King. 19.36,37.

* Isa. 52.7. rom. 10.15. p Which peace the Iewes should enioy by y death of Sanherib.

a That is, Nebuchadnezzar is in a readines to destroy the Assyrians: and the Prophet describeth the enterprises of the Assyrians which prepared to resist him.
b Seeing God hath punished his owne people Iudah and Israel, he will nowe punish the enemies by whom he scourgeth them, reade Isa. 10.12.
c Signifying that the Israelites were vtterly destroyed.
d Both to feare the enemie, and also that they themselues should not so soone espie the blemishes one of another to discourage them.
e Meaning, their speares should shake and crash together.
f Then the Assyrians shall seeke by all meanes to gather their power, but all things shall faile them.
g The Assyrians will flatter themselues and say, that Nineueh is so ancient that it can neuer perish, and is as a fishpoole, whose waters they that walke on the bankes cannot touch, but they shall be scattered, and shall not looke backe, though men would call them.
h God commaundeth the enemies to spoile Nineueh, and promiseth them infinite riches and treasures.
i That is, Nineueh, and the men thereof shall be after this sort.
k Reade Ioel 2.6.
l Meaning Nineueh, whose inhabitants were cruell like the Lions, and giuen to all oppression, and spared no violence or tyrannie to prouide for their wiues and children.

m That is, aſſone as my worth beginneth to kindle.
n Signifying the Heraldes, which were accuſtomed to proclaime warre. Some reade of thy gumme teeth wherewith Nineueh was woont to bruiſe the bones of the poore.

m ſmoke, and the ſworde ſhall deuoure thy yong Lions, and I will cut off thy ſpoile from the earth, and the voyce of thy n meſſengers ſhall no more be heard.

CHAP. III.

1 Of the fall of Nineueh. 8 No power can eſcape the hand of God.

a It neuer ceaſeth to ſpoile and robbe.
b Hereby ſome the Caldeans ſhall haſte, and how courageous their hoſtes ſhall be in beating the ground, when they come againſt the Aſſyrians.

OBloodie citie, it is all ful of lies, and robberie: a the praye departeth not:
2 The noiſe of a whip, b and the noiſe of the mouing of the wheeles, and the beating of the horſes, and the leaping of the charets.
3 The horſeman lifteth vp both the bright ſworde, and the glittering ſpeare, and a multitude is ſlaine, and the dead bodies are many: there is none ende of their corpſes: they ſtumble vpon their corpſes, c He compareth Nineueh to an harlot, which by her beautie and ſubtiltie entiſeth yong men, and bringeth them to deſtruction.

4 Becauſe of the multitude of the fornications of the c harlot that is beautifull, and is a miſtreſſe of witchcraft, and ſelleth the people thorow her whoredome, & the nations through her witchcrafts.
5 Beholde, I come vpon thee, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, and will diſcouer thy ſkirtes vpon thy face, and will ſhewe the nations thy filthineſſe, and the kingdomes thy ſhame.
6 And I will caſt filth vpon thee, & make thee vile, and will ſet thee as a gaſing ſtocke.
7 And it ſhall come to paſſe, that all they that looke vpon thee, ſhall flee from thee, and ſay, Nineueh is deſtroyed, who will haue pitie vpon her? where ſhall I ſeeke comforters for thee?

d Meaning, Alexandria, which was in league with ſo many nations, and yet was nowe deſtroyed.

8 Art thou better then d No which was full of people? that lay in the riuers, and had the waters round about it? whoſe ditch was the Sea, and her wall was from the Sea?
9 Ethiopia & Egypt were her ſtrength, and there was none ende: Put and Lubim were ‖ her helpers.

‖ Or, thine.

10 Yet was ſhe caried away, and went into captiuitie: her young children alſo were daſhed in pieces at the head of al the ſtreetes: and they caſt lots for her noble men, and all her mightie men were bound in chaines.
11 Alſo thou ſhalt be dronken: thou ſhalt hide thy ſelfe, and ſhalt ſeeke helpe, becauſe of the enemie.
12 All thy ſtrong cities ſhall be like figge trees with the firſt ripe figges: for if they be ſhaken, they fall into the mouth of the eater.
13 Beholde, thy people within thee are women: the gates of thy land ſhall be opened vnto thine enemies, and the fire ſhall deuoure thy barres.
14 Draw thee waters for the ſiege: fortifie thy ſtrong holdes: goe into the clay, and temper the morter: make ſtrong bricke.

e Signifying, that Gods iudgements ſhould ſuddenly deſtroy the Aſſyrians, as theſe termine are with raine or change of weather.

15 There ſhall the fire deuoure thee: the ſworde ſhall cut thee off: it ſhall eate thee vp like the e locuſtes, though thou be multiplied like the locuſtes, and multiplied like the graſhopper.
16 Thou haſt multiplied thy merchants aboue the ſtarres of heauen: the locuſt ſpoileth and flieth away.
17 Thy Princes are as the graſhoppers, and thy captaines as the great graſhoppers which remaine in the hedges in the colde day: but when the ſame ariſeth, they flee away, and their place is not knowen where they are.

f Thy Princes and counſellers.

18 Thy f ſhepheards doe ſleepe, O king of Aſſhur: thy ſtrong men lie downe: thy people is ſcattered vpon the mountaines, and no man gathereth them.

g Meaning, that there was no people, to whome the Aſſyrians had not done hurt.

19 There is no healing of thy wound: thy plague is grieuous: all that heare the bruite of thee, ſhall clap the handes ouer thee: for vpon g whom hath not thy malice paſſed continually?

HABAKKVK.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Prophet complaineth vnto God, conſidering the great felicitie of the wicked, and the miſerable oppreſſion of the godly, which endure al kindes of affliction and cruelkie, and yet can ſee none end. Therefore he had this reuelation ſhewed him of God, that the Caldeans ſhould come & take them away captiues, ſo that they could looke for none end of their troubles as yet, becauſe of their ſtubberneſſe and rebellion againſt the Lord. And leſt the godly ſhould deſpaire, ſeeing this horrible confuſion, he comforteth them by this that God will puniſh the Caldeans their enemies, when their pride and cruelkie ſhall be at height: wherefore he exhorteth the faithfull to patience by his owne example, and ſheweth them a forme of prayer, wherewith they ſhould comfort themſelues.

CHAP. I.

2 A complaint againſt the wicked that perſecute the iuſt.

THe burden, which Habakkuk the Prophet did ſee.
2 O Lord how long ſhal I crie, and thou wilt not heare! euen crie out vnto thee a for violence, and thou wilt not helpe!

a The Prophet complaineth vnto God and bewaileth that among the Iewes is left none equitie nor brotherly loue: but in ſtead hereof reigneth cruelkie, theft, contention and ſtrife.

3 Why doeſt thou ſhewe me iniquitie, and cauſe me to beholde ſorrow? for ſpoiling, and violence are before me: and there are that raiſe vp ſtrife and contention.
4 Therefore the Lawe is diſſolued, and iudgement doth neuer go forth: for the wicked doth [b] compaſſe about the righteous: therefore [c] wrong iudgement proceedeth.

5 Beholde among the heathen, and regard, and wonder, and maruell: for I will worke a worke in your dayes: [d] ye will not beleeue it, though it be tolde you.

6 For loe, I raiſe vp the Caldeans, that bitter and furious nation, which ſhall goe vpon the breadth of the land to poſſeſſe the dwelling places, that are not theirs.

7 They are terrible and fearefull: [e] their iudgement and their dignitie ſhall proceede of themſelues.

8 Their horſes alſo are ſwifter then the leopards, and are more fierce then the wolues in the * euening: and their horſemen are many: and their horſemen ſhall come from farre: they ſhall flee as the eagle haſting to meate.

9 They come all to ſpoile: before their faces ſhall be an [f] Eaſtwinde, and they ſhall gather the captiuitie, [g] as the ſand.

10 And they ſhall mocke the Kings, and the princes ſhall be a ſcorne vnto them: they ſhall deride euery ſtrong holde: for they ſhall gather [h] duſt, and take it.

11 Then ſhall they [i] take a courage, and tranſgreſſe, and doe wickedly, imputing this their power vnto their god.

12 Art thou not of olde, O Lord my God, mine holy one? we ſhall [k] not die: O Lord, thou haſt ordeined them for iudgement, and O God, thou haſt eſtabliſhed them for correction.

13 Thou art of pure eies, and canſt not ſee euill: thou canſt not beholde wickednesſe: wherefore doeſt thou looke vpon the tranſgreſſours, and holdeſt thy tongue when the wicked deuoureth the man, that is more righteous then he?

14 And makeſt men as the [l] fiſhes of the ſea, and as the creeping things, that haue no ruler ouer them.

15 They take vp all with the angle: they catch it in their net, & gather it in their yarne, whereof they reioyce and are glad.

16 Therefore they ſacrifice vnto their [m] net, and burne incenſe vnto their yarne, becauſe by them their portion is fatte, and their meate plenteous.

17 Shall they therefore ſtretch out their net, and not ſpare continually to ſlay [n] the nations.

CHAP. II.

A viſion, & Againſt pride, couetouſneſſe, drunkenneſſe, and idolatrie.

I Will ſtand vpon my [a] watch, and ſet me vpon the tower, and will looke and ſee what he would ſay vnto me, and what I ſhall anſwere to him that rebuketh me.

2 And the Lord anſwered me, and ſaide, Write the viſion, and make it plaine vpon tables, that he may runne [b] that readeth it.

3 For the viſion is yet for an appointed time, but at the [c] laſt he ſhall ſpeake, and not lie: though it tary, waite: for it ſhall ſurely come, and ſhall not ſtay.

4 Beholde, [d] he that lifteth vp himſelfe, his mind is not vpright in him, but the iuſt ſhal liue by his faith.

5 Yea, in deede the proud man is as [e] he that tranſgreſſeth by wine: therefore ſhall he not endure, becauſe he hath enlarged his deſire as the hell, and is as death, and cannot be ſatisfied, but gathereth vnto him all nations, and heapeth vnto him all people.

6 Shall not all theſe take vp a parable againſt him, and a taunting prouerbe againſt him, and ſay, Ho, he that increaſeth that which is not his? how long? and he that ladeth him ſelfe with thicke clape?

7 Shall ſ they not riſe vp ſuddenly, that ſhall bite thee? and awake that ſhal ſtirre thee? and thou ſhalt be their praye?

8 Becauſe thou haſt ſpoiled many nations, all the remnant of the people ſhall ſpoile thee, becauſe of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwell therein.

9 Ho, he that coueteth an euill couetouſnes to his houſe, that hee may ſet his neſt on high, to eſcape from the power of euill.

10 Thou [h] haſt conſulted ſhame to thine owne houſe, by deſtroying many people, and haſt ſinned againſt thine owne ſoule.

11 For the [i] ſtone ſhall crie out of the wall, and the beame out of the timber ſhall anſwere it.

12 Woe vnto him that buildeth a towne with blood, and erecteth a citie by iniquitie.

13 Behold, is it not of the [k] Lord of hoſtes that the people ſhall labour in the very fire? the people ſhall euen wearie themſelues for very vanitie.

14 For the earth ſhall [l] be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters couer the Sea.

15 Woe vnto him that giueth his neighbour [m] drinke: thou ioyneſt thine heate, and makeſt him drunken alſo, that thou mayeſt ſee their priuities.

16 Thou art filled with ſhame [n] for glory:

[b] To ſuppreſſe him, if any ſhould ſhewe himſelfe zealous of Gods cauſe.

[c] Becauſe the iudges which ſhould redreſſe this exceſſe, are as euill as the reſt.

[d] As in times paſt you would not beleeue Gods word, ſo ſhall ye not nowe beleeue ſtrange plagues which are at hand.

[e] They themſelues ſhall be your iudges in this cauſe, and none ſhall haue authoritie ouer them to controle them.

* Zeph. 3.3.

[f] For the Iewes moſt feared this winde, becauſe it deſtroyed their fruites.

[g] They ſhalbe ſo many in number.

[h] They ſhal caſt vp mounts againſt it.

[i] The Prophet comforteth the faithfull that God will alſo deſtroy the Babylonians, becauſe they ſhall abuſe this victorie, and become proud and inſolent, attributing the praiſe hereof to their idoles.

[k] He aſſureth [ſ] godly of Gods protection, ſhewing that the enemie can doe no more then God hath appointed, and alſo that their ſinnes required ſuch a ſharpe rodde.

[l] So that the great deuoureth the ſmall, and the Caldeans deſtroy all the world.

[m] Meaning, that the enemies flatter themſelues, and glory in their owne force, power, and wit.

[n] Meaning, that they ſhould not.

[a] I will renounce mine owne iudgement, and onely depend on God to be inſtructed what I ſhall anſwere them that abuſe my preaching, and to be armed againſt all temptations.

[b] Write it in great letters, that hee that runneth, may reade it.

[c] Which conteineth [ſ] deſtruction of the enemie, and the comfort of the Church: which thing though God execute not according to mans haſty affections, yet the iſſue of both is certeine at his time appointed.

[d] To truſt in himſelfe, or in any worldly thing, is neuer to be quiet: for the onely reſt is to ſtay vpon God by faith. Rom. 1. 17. gal. 3. 11. heb. 10. 38.

[e] He compareth the proud, and couetous man to a drunkard that is without reaſon and ſenſe, whom God will puniſh, and make him a laughing ſtocke to all the world: and this he ſpeaketh for the comfort of the godly, and againſt the Caldeans.

[f] Signifying, that all the world ſhall with the deſtruction of tyrants, and that by their oppreſſion and couetouſnes, they heape but vpon themſelues more heauie burdens: for the more they get, the more are they troubled.

[g] That is, the Medes and Perſians, that ſhould deſtroy the Babylonians.

[h] Signifying that the couetous man is the ruine of his owne houſe, when as he thinketh to enrich it by cruelties and oppreſſion.

[i] The ſtones of the houſe ſhall cry and ſay, that they are built of blood, and the wood ſhall anſwere and ſay the ſame of it ſelfe.

[k] Meaning, that God will not deferre his vengeance long, but will come and deſtroy all their labours, as though they were conſumed with fire.

[l] In the deſtruction of the Babylonians his glory ſhall appeare through all the world.

[m] Hee reprocheth thus the king of Babylon, who as he was drunken with couetouſnes and cruelty, ſo he prouoked others to the ſame, and inflamed them by his rage, and ſo in the ende brought them to ſhame.

[n] Whereas thou thoughteſt to haue glory of thy doings, they ſhall turne to thy ſhame: for thou ſhalt drinke of the ſame cuppe with others in thy turne.

drinke thou also, and bee made naked: the cup of the Lords right hand shall bee turned vnto thee, and shamefull spewing shall be for thy glorie.

17 For the [o] crueltie of Lebanon shall couer thee: so shal the spoile of the beastes, which made them afraid, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwell therein.

18 What profiteth the [p] image? for the maker thereof hath made it an image, and a teacher of lies, though hee that made it, trust therein, when he maketh dumme idoles.

19 Woe vnto him that saieth to the wood, Awake, and to the dumme stone, Rise vp, it shall teach thee: [q] beholde, it is laide ouer with golde and siluer, and there is no breath in it.

20 But the Lorde is in his holy Temple: let all the earth keepe silence before him.

CHAP. III.

A prayer for the faithfull.

A Prayer of Habakkuk the Prophet for the [a] ignorances.

2 [b] O Lorde, I haue heard thy voyce, and was afraide: O Lorde, reuiue thy [c] woorke in the middes of the people, in the middes of the yeeres make it knowen: in wrath remember mercie.

3 God commeth from [d] Teman, and the holy one from mount Paran, Selah. His glorie coureth the heauens, and the earth is ful of his praise,

4 And his brightnesse was as the light: [e] hee had hornes comming out of his hands, and there was the hiding of his power.

5 Before him went the pestilence, and burning coales went forth before his feete.

6 He stood and measured the earth: he beheld and dissolued the nations and the euerlasting mountaines were broken, and the ancient hils did bowe: his [f] wayes are euerlasting.

7 [g] For his iniquitie I sawe the tentes of Cushan, and the curtaines of the land of Midian did tremble.

8 Was the Lorde angrie against the [h] riuers? or was thine anger against the floods? or was thy wrath against the sea, that thou didest ride vpō thine horses? thy charets brought saluation.

9 Thy [k] bowe was manifestly reueiled, and the [l] othes of the tribes were a sure word. Selah. thou [m] diddest cleaue the earth with riuers.

10 The mountaines sawe thee, and they trembled: the streame of the water [n] passed by: the deepe made a noise, and lift vp his hand on hie.

11 The [o] sunne and moone stood still in their habitation: [p] at the light of thine arrowes they went, and at the bright shining of thy speares.

12 Thou trodest downe the lande in anger, and diddest thresh the heathen in displeasure.

13 Thou wentest forth for the saluation of thy people, euen for saluation with thine [q] Anointed: thou hast wounded the head of the wicked, and discouered the foundations vnto the [r] necke, Selah.

14 Thou diddest [s] strike thorowe with his owne staues the heades of his villages: they came out as a whirlewinde to scatter me: their reioycing was as to deuoure the poore secretly.

15 Thou diddest walke in the Sea with thine horses vpon the heape of great waters.

16 When I [t] heard, my bellie trembled: my lips shooke at the voyce: rottennes entred into my bones, and I trembled in my self, that I might rest in [u] the day of trouble: for when he commeth vp [x] vnto the people, hee shall destroy them.

17 For the fig tree shall not flourish, neyther shall fruite be in the vines: the labour of the Olive shall faile, and the fieldes shall yeeld no meate: the sheepe shall be cut off from the folde, and there shall bee no bullocke in the stalles.

18 But I will reioyce in the Lord: I will ioy [y] in the God of my saluation.

19 The Lord God is my strength: he will make my feete like Hindes feete, and he will make mee to walke vpon mine high places. [z] To the chiefe singer on Neginothai.

o Because the Babylonians were cruell not onely against other nations, but also against the people of God, which is meant by Lebanon, and the beasts therein, he sheweth that the like crueltie shalbe executed against them.

p He sheweth that the Babylonians gods could nothing auaile them: for they were but blocks or stones, reade Jer. 10. 8.

q If thou wilt consider what it is, and how that it hath neither breath nor life, but is a dead thing.

a The Prophet instructeth his people to praye vnto God not onely for their great sinnes, but also for such as they had committed of ignorance.

b Thus the people were afraide when they heard Gods threatnings, & prayed.

c That is, the state of thy Church which is nowe readie to perish before it come to halfe a perfect age, which should be vnder Christ.

d Teman and Paran were neere Sinai where the Law was giuen: whereby is signified that his deliuerance was as present now, as it was then.

e Whereby is meant a power, that was ioyned with his brightnesse, which was hid to the rest of the world, but was reueiled in mount Sinai to his people. Psal. 31. 16.

f Signifying that God hath wonderful meanes, & euer had a maruellous power when he would deliuer his Church.

g The iniquity of this king of Syria in vexing the people was made manifest by thy iudgement, to the comfort of thy church. Judg. 3. 10.

h Also of the Midianites, which destroyed themselues, Judg. 7. 22.

i And so diddst by all the elements as instruments for the destruction of thine enemies.

k That is, thy power.

l For he had not onely made a couenant with Abraham, but renewed it with his posteritie.

m Read Numb. 20. 11.

n He alluded to the red sea.

o Josuen, which gaue passage to Gods people, and shewed signes of their obedience, as it were by lifting vp of their hands.

p As appeareth, Josh. 10. 12.

q According to thy commandement the sunne was directed by the weapons of thy people, that fought in thy cause, as though it durst not goe forward.

r Signifying that there is no saluation but by Christ.

s From the top to the toe thou hast destroied the enemies.

t God destroyed his enemies both great and small with their owne weapons, though they were neuer so fierce against his Church.

u He returneth to that which he spake in the second verse, and sheweth how he was afraide of Gods iudgements.

x That is, the enemie: but the godly shall be quiet, knowing that all things shall turne to good vnto them.

y Hee declareth wherein standeth the comfort & ioy of the faithfull, though they see neuer so great afflictions prepared.

z The chiefe singer vpon the instruments of musick shal haue occasion to praise God for this great deliuerance of his Church.

ZEPHANIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

SEeing the great rebellion of the people, and that there was nowe no hope of amendement, he denounceth the great iudgement of God, which was at hand, shewing that their countrey should bee vtterly destroyed, & they caried away captiues by the Babylonians. Yet for the cõfort of the faithful he prophecied of Gods vengeance against their enemies, as the Philistims, Moabites, Assyrians, and others, to assure them that God

God had a continuall care ouer them. And as the wicked ſhould bee puniſhed for their ſinnes and tranſgreſſions: ſo he exhorteth the godly to patience, and to truſt to find mercie by reaſon of the free promiſe of God made vnto Abraham: and therefore quietly to abide till God ſhew them the effect of that grace, whereby in the end they ſhould be gathered vnto him, and counted as his people and children.

CHAP. I.

1 Threatnings againſt Iudah and Ieruſalem, becauſe of their idolatrie.

THe word of the Lord, which came vnto Zephaniah the ſonne of Cuſhi, the ſonne of Gedaliah, the ſonne of Amariah, the ſonne of Hizkiah, in the dayes of * Ioſiah, the ſonne of * Amon king of Iudah.

2 I will ſurely deſtroy all things from off the land, ſaith the Lord.

3 I will deſtroy man and beaſt: I will deſtroy the [a] foules of the heauen, and the fiſhes of the ſea, and ruines ſhall bee to the wicked, and I will cut off man from off the land, ſaith the Lord.

4 I will alſo ſtretch out mine hand vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ieruſalem, and I will cut off the remnant of Baal from this place, and the name of the [b] Chemarims with the Prieſts,

5 And them that worſhip the hoſte of heauen vpon the houſe tops, and them that worſhip and ſweare by the Lord, and ſweare by [c] Malcham,

6 And them that are turned backe from the Lord, and thoſe that haue not ſought the Lord, nor inquired for him.

7 Be ſtill at the preſence of the Lord God: for the day of the Lord is at hand: for the Lord hath prepared a ſacrifice, and hath ſanctified his gheſts.

8 And it ſhal be in the day of the Lords ſacrifice, that I will viſite the princes and the kings children, and all ſuch as are clothed with [d] ſtrange apparell.

9 In the ſame day alſo will I viſite all thoſe that [e] dance vpon the threſholds ſo proudly,, which fill their maſters houſes by crueltie and deceite.

10 And in that day, ſaieth the Lord, there ſhall be a noyſe, and cry from the [f] fiſhgate, and an howling from the ſecond gate, and a great deſtruction from the hils, 11 Howle yee inhabitants of [g] the lowe place: for the company of the merchants is deſtroied: all they that beare ſiluer, are cut off.

12 And at that time will I ſearch Ieruſalem with [h] lights, and viſite the men that are froſen [i] in their dregs, and ſay in their heartes, The Lord wil neither do good nor do euill.

13 Therefore their goods ſhall be ſpoyled, and their houſes waſte: * they ſhall alſo builde houſes, but not inhabite them, and they ſhall plant vineyardes, but not drinke the wine thereof.

14 The great day of the Lord is neere: it is neere, and haſteth greatly, euen the voyce of the day of the Lord: the [k] ſtrong man ſhall cry there bitterly.

15 * That day is a day of wrath, a day of trouble and heauines, a day of deſtruction and deſolation, a day of obſcuritie and darkeneſſe, a day of cloudes and blackneſſe, 16 A day of the trumpet and alarme againſt the ſtrong cities, and againſt the hie towers.

17 And I will bring diſtreſſe vpon men, that they ſhall walke like blinde men, becauſe they haue ſinned againſt the Lorde, and their blood ſhalbe powred out as duſt, and their fleſh as the doung.

18 * Neither their ſiluer nor their golde ſhall bee able to deliuer them in the day of the Lords wrath, but the * whole land ſhall bee deuoured by the fire of his ielouſie: for hee ſhall make euen a ſpeedie riddance of all them that dwell in the land.

1 He moueth to returne to God, 5 Prophecying deſtruction againſt the Philiſtims, Moabits and others.

GAther [a] your ſelues, euen gather you, O nation not worthy to be loued,

2 Before the decree come forth, and yee be as chaffe that paſſeth in a day, and before the fierce wrath of the Lorde come vpon you, and before the day of the Lordes anger come vpon you.

3 Seeke yee the Lorde all the meeke of the earth, which [b] haue wrought his iudgement: ſeeke righteouſneſſe, ſeeke lowlineſſe, if ſo be that yee may be hidde in the day of the Lords wrath.

4 For [c] Azzah ſhall bee forſaken, and Aſhkelon deſolate: they ſhall driue out Aſhdod at the noone day, and Ekron ſhal be rooted vp.

5 Woe vnto the inhabitants of the Sea [d] coaſt: the nation of the Cherethims, the word of the Lorde is againſt you: O Canaan, the land of the Philiſtims, I wil euen deſtroy thee without an inhabitant.

6 And the ſea coaſt ſhall be dwellings and cotages for ſhepheards and ſheepfolds.

7 And that coaſt ſhall bee for the [e] remnant of the houſe of Iudah to feede thereupon: in the houſes of Aſhkelon ſhall they lodge a He exhorteth them to repentance, and willeth them to deſcend into themſelues & gather themſelues together, leaſt they be ſcattered like chaffe.

b That is, which haue liued vprightly & godly according as he preſcribeth by his word.
c He comforteth the faithfull in that that God would change his puniſhments from them vnto the Philiſtims their enemies & other nations.
d That is, Galilea: by theſe nations he meaneth the people that dwelt neere to the Iewes, & in ſtead of friendſhip were their enemies: therefore he calleth the Canaanites whom the Lord appointed to be ſlaine.
e Hee ſheweth why God would deſtroy their enemies, becauſe their countrey might be a reſting place for his Church.

toward night: for the Lorde their GOD ſhall viſite them, and turne away their captiuitie.

8 I haue heard the reproch of Moab, and the rebukes of the children of Ammon, whereby they vpbraided my people, and [f] magnified themſelues againſt their borders.

f These nations preſumed to take from the Iewes that countrey which the Lord had giuen them.

9 Therefore, as I liue, ſaieth the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Surely Moab ſhall bee as Sodome, and the children of Ammon as Gomorrah, euen the breeding of nettles and ſalt pits, and a perpetuall deſolation: the reſidue of my folke ſhall ſpoile them, and the remnant of my people ſhall poſſeſſe them.

10 This ſhall they haue for their pride, becauſe they haue reproched, and magnified themſelues againſt the Lorde of hoſtes people.

11 The Lord will be terrible vnto them: [g] for he will conſume all the gods of the earth, and euery man ſhall worſhip him from his place, euen all the yles of the heathen.

g When he ſhal deliuer his people and deſtroy their enemies and idols, his glory ſhall ſhine throughout all the world.

12 Ye Mozians alſo ſhall be ſlaine by my ſword with them.

13 And hee will ſtretch out his hand againſt the North, and deſtroy Aſſhur, and will make Nineueh deſolate, and waſte like a wilderneſſe.

14 And flockes ſhall lie in the middes of her, and all the beaſtes of the nations, and the [h] pellicane, and the ‖ owle ſhall abide in the vpper poſtes of it: the voyce of birdes ſhall ſing in the windowes, and deſolations ſhall bee vpon the poſtes: for the Cedars are vncouered.

h Reade Iſa.34 11. ‖ Or, hedgehog.

15 This is the [i] reioycing citie that dwelt careleſſe, that ſaide in her heart, I am, and there is none beſides mee: howe is ſhee made waſte, and the lodging of the beaſts! euerie one that paſſeth by her, ſhall hiſſe and wagge his hand.

i Meaning Niniueh, which reioycing ſo much of her ſtrength and proſperitie, ſhould be thus made waſte and Gods people deliuered.

CHAP. III.

4 Againſt the gouernours of Ieruſalem. 8 Of the calling of all the Gentiles. 13 A comfort to the reſidue of Iſrael.

a That is, Ieruſalem.

WOe to her that is filthie and polluted, to the robbing [a] citie.

2 She heard not the voice: ſhe receiued not correction: ſhe truſted not in the Lord: ſhe drew not neere to her God.

b Ezek.22.25,27 mich.3.11. * Habak.1.8. b They are ſo greedie that they eate vp bones and all. c The wicked thus boaſted that God was euer among them, but the Prophet anſwereth that God cannot excuſe their wickednes: for God will not beare with their ſinnes: yet that he did patiently abide and ſent his Prophets continually to call them to repentance, but he profited nothing.

3 Her princes within her are as roaring * lions: her iudges are as * wolues in the euening, which [b] leaue not the bones till the morow,

4 Her prophets are light and wicked perſons: her prieſts haue polluted the Sanctuary: they haue wreſted the Law.

5 The [c] iuſt Lorde is in the mids thereof: hee will doe none iniquitie: euery morning doeth he bring his iudgement to light, hee faileth not: but the wicked will not learne to be aſhamed.

d By the deſtruction of other nations he threweth that the Iewes ſhould haue learned to feare God.

6 I haue [d] cut off the nations: their towers are deſolate: I haue made their ſtreetes waſte, that none ſhall paſſe by: their cities are deſtroyed without man and without inhabitant.

7 I ſaide, Surely thou wilt feare mee: thou wilt receiue inſtruction: ſo their dwelling ſhould not bee deſtroyed howſoeuer I viſited them, but [e] they roſe earely and corrupted all their workes.

e They were moſt earneſt and readie to doe wickedly.

7 Therefore [f] waite yee vpon me, ſaith the Lord, vntill the day that I riſe vp to the praie: for I am determined to gather the nations, and that I will aſſemble the kingdomes to powre vpon them mine indignation, euen al my fierce wrath: for all the earth ſhall be deuoured with the fire of my ielouſie.

f Seeing ye will not repent, you ſhall looke for my vengeance as well as other nations.

9 Surely [g] then will I turne to the people a pure language, that they may all call vpon the Name of the Lord, to ſerue him † with one conſent.

g Leaſt any ſhould thinke then that Gods glory ſhould haue periſhed when Iudah was deſtroyed, he threweth that he will publiſh his grace through all the world.

† Ebr. with one ſhoulder, as Hoſ. 6.9.

10 From beyond the riuers of Ethiopia, the [h] daughter of my diſperſed, praying vnto me, ſhall bring me an offering.

h That is, the Iewes that come as well as the Gentiles: which is to be vnderſtood vnder the time of the Goſpel.

11 In that day ſhalt thou not bee aſhamed for [i] all thy workes, wherein thou haſt tranſgreſſed againſt me: for then I will take away out of the mids of thee them that reioyce of thy pride, and thou ſhalt no more be proude of mine holy mountaine.

i For they ſhall haue full remiſſion of their ſinnes: and the hypocrits which boaſted of the Temple, which was alſo thy pride in times paſt, ſhall be taken from thee.

12 Then wil I leaue in the middes of thee an humble and poore people: and they ſhall truſt in the Name of the Lord.

13 The remnant of Iſrael ſhall doe none iniquitie, nor ſpeake lies: neither ſhall a deceitfull tongue bee found in their mouth: for they ſhall be fed, and lie downe, and none ſhal make them afraide.

14 Reioyce, O daughter Zion: be ye ioyfull, O Iſrael: be glad and reioyce with all thine heart, O daughter Ieruſalem.

15 The Lorde hath taken away thy [k] iudgements: hee hath caſt out thine [l] enemie: the King of Iſrael, euen the Lorde is in the middes of [m] thee: thou ſhalt ſee no more euill.

k That is, the puniſhment for thy ſinne. l As the Aſſyrians, Caldeans, Egyptians, and other nations. m To defend thee as by thy ſigns thou haſt put him away and left thy ſelfe naked, as Exod. 32.25.

16 In that day it ſhall bee ſaide to Ieruſalem, Feare thou not, O Zion: let not thine hands be faint.

17 The Lorde thy God in the middes of thee is mightie: he wil ſaue, he will reioyce ouer thee with ioy: hee will quiet himſelfe in [n] his loue: hee will reioyce ouer thee with ioy.

n Signifying, [o] God delighteth to ſhew his loue and great affection toward his Church.

18 After a certaine time will I gather the afflicted that were of thee, and them that bare bare the reproch for it.

19 Beholde, at that time I will bruise all that afflict thee, and I will saue her that halteth, and gather her that was cast out, and I will get them praise and fame in all the lands of their shame.

20 At that time will I bring you againe, and then will I gather you: for I will giue you a name and a praise among all people of the earth, when I turne backe your captiuitie before your eyes, saith the Lord.

o That is, them that were had in hatred and reuiled for the Church and because of their religion.

p I will deliuer the Church which now is afflicted, as Mica.4.6.

q As among the Assyrians and Caldeans which did mocke them and put them to shame.

HAGGAI.

THE ARGVMENT.

WHen the time of the seuentie yeeres captiuitie prophecied by Ieremiah, was expired, God rayſed vp Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachie to comfort the Iewes and to exhort them to the building of the Temple, which was a figure of the ſpirituall Temple and Church of God, whoſe perfection and excellencie ſtood in Chriſt. And becauſe that all were giuen to their owne pleaſures and commodities, hee declareth that that plague of famine, which God ſent then among them, was a iuſt reward of their ingratitude, in that they contemned Gods honour, who had deliuered them. Yet he comforteth them, if they will returne to the Lorde, with the promiſe of greater felicitie, foraſmuch as the Lord will finiſh the worke that he hath begunne, and ſend Chriſt whom hee had promiſed, and by whom they ſhould attaine to perfite ioy and glory.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the prophecie of Haggai. 8 An exhortation to build the Temple againe.

IN the ſecond yeere of king [a]Darius, in the firſt moneth, the firſt day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord (by the miniſtery of the prophet Haggai) vnto [b] Zerubbabel the ſonne of Shealtiel, a prince of Iudah, and to Iehoſhua the ſonne of Iehozadak the hie Prieſt, ſaying,

2 Thus ſpeaketh the Lorde of hoſtes, ſaying, This people ſay, The time is not yet come, [c] that the Lordes Houſe ſhould be builded.

3 Then came the worde of the Lorde by the miniſterie of the Prophet Haggai, ſaying,

4 Is it time for your ſelues to dwell in your [d] ſieled houſes, and this Houſe lye waſte?

5 Nowe therefore thus ſaieth the Lord of hoſtes, Conſider your owne wayes in your hearts.

6 Yee haue ſowen much, and bring in little: yee eate, but yee haue not ynough: ye drinke, but ye are not filled: yee clothe you, but yee bee not warme: and hee that earneth wages, putteth the wages into a broken bagge.

7 Thus ſaith the Lorde of hoſts, Conſider your owne wayes in your hearts.

8 Goe [f] vp to the mountaine and bring wood, and build this Houſe, and [g] I will bee fauourable in it, and I will [h] be glorified, ſaith the Lorde.

9 Ye looked for much, and loe, it came to litle: and when ye brought it home, I did blow [i] vpon it. And why, ſaith the Lord of hoſts: Becauſe of mine Houſe that is waſte, and yee run euery man into his owne houſe.

10 Therefore the heauen ouer you ſtayed it ſelfe from dewe, and the earth ſtayed her fruite.

11 And I called for a drought vpon the land, and vpon the mountaines, and vpon the corne, and vpon the wine, and vpon the oile, vpon all that the ground bringeth forth: both vpon men and vpon cattel, and vpon al the labour of the hands.

12 When Zerubbabel the ſonne of Shealtiel, and Iehoſhua the ſonne of Iehozadak the hie Prieſt with all the remnant of the people, heard the [k] voice of the Lord their God, and the words of the Prophet Haggai (as the Lorde their God had ſent him) then the people did feare before the Lord.

13 Then ſpake Haggai the Lordes meſſenger in the Lords meſſage vnto the people, ſaying, I am with you, ſaith the Lord.

14 And the Lord ſtirred vp [l] the ſpirite of Zerubbabel, the ſonne of Shealtiel a prince of Iudah, and the ſpirit of Iehoſhua the ſonne of Iehozadak the hie Prieſt, and the ſpirite of all the remnant of the people, and they came, and did the worke in the Houſe of the Lorde of hoſts their God.

CHAP. II.

He ſheweth that the glory of the ſecond Temple ſhall exceed the firſt.

IN the foure and twentieth day of the firſt moneth, in the ſecond yeere of King Darius,

2 In the ſeuenth moneth, in the one and twentieth day of the moneth, came the worde of the Lorde by the miniſterie of the Prophet Haggai, ſaying, a Who was the ſonne of Hyſtaſpis and the third King of the Perſians, as ſome thinke.

3 Speake

b Becauſe the building of the Temple began to ceaſe by reaſon that the people were diſcouraged by their enemies: and if theſe two notable men had need to be ſtirred vp and admonished of their duetie, what ſhall we thinke of other gouernours, whoſe doings are either againſt God, or very cold in his cauſe?

c Not that they condemned the building thereof, but they preferred pollicie and priuate profite to religion, being content with ſmall beginnings.

d Shewing that they ſought not onely their neceſſities, but their very pleaſures before Gods honour.

e Conſider the plagues of God vpon you for preferring your poſtieries to religion, and becauſe ye ſeeke not him firſt of all.

f Meaning, that they ſhould leaue off their owne commodities, and goe forward in the building of Gods Temple, and in the ſetting forth of his religion. g That is, I will heare your prayers according to my promiſe, 2.Kin.8.21.29. h That is, my glory ſhalbe ſet forth by you.

i And ſo bring it to nothing.

k This declareth that God was the author of the doctrine, & that he was but the miniſter, as Exo. 14.31. Iohn 7.20 acts 15.28.

l Which declareth that men are vnapt and dull to ſerue the Lord, neither can they obey his worde or his meſſengers before God reforme their hearts and giue them new ſpirits, Iob. 6.44

3 Speake now to Zerubbabel the ſonne of Shealtiel prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the ſonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, and to the reſidue of the people, ſaying,

4 Who is left among you, that ſawe this a House in her firſt glory, and howe doe you ſee it now? is it not in your eies, in compariſon of it as nothing?

5 Yet now bee of good courage, O Zerubbabel, ſaith the Lord, and be of good comfort, O Iehoshua, ſonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest: and be ye ſtrong all ye people of the land, ſaieth the Lord, and [b] doe it: for I am with you, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes.

6 According to the word that I couenanted with you, when ye came out of Egypt: ſo my Spirite ſhall remaine among you, feare ye not.

7 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, [c] Yet a little while, and I will ſhake the heauens and the earth, and the ſea, and the dry land:

8 And I will moue all nations, and [d] the deſire of all nations ſhall come, and I will fill this House with glorie, ſaith the Lorde of hoſtes.

9 The [e] ſilluer is mine, and the gold is mine, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes.

10 The glorie of this laſt House ſhall bee greater then the firſt, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes: and in this place will I giue [f] peace, ſaieth the Lord of hoſtes.

11 ¶ In the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, in the ſecond yeere of Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto the Prophet Haggai, ſaying, 12 Thus ſayeth the Lorde of hoſtes, Aſke nowe the Prieſtes concerning the Lawe, and ſay, 13 If one beare [g] holy fleſh in the ſkirt of his garment, and with his ſkirt doe touch the bread, or the potage, or the wine, or ople, or any meate, ſhall it bee holy? And the Prieſtes anſwered and ſaid, No.

14 Then ſaid Haggai, If a polluted perſon touch any of theſe, ſhall it bee vncleane? And the Prieſts anſwered, and ſaid, It ſhalbe vncleane.

15 Then anſwered Haggai, and ſaid, So is this people, and ſo is this nation before me, ſaieth the Lorde: and ſo are all the workes of their hands, and that which they offer here, is vncleane.

16 And now, I pray you, conſider in your mindes: from this [h] day, and afore, euen afore a ſtone was laid vpon a ſtone in the Temple of the Lord:

17 [i] Before theſe things were, when one came to an heape of twentie meaſures, there were but ten: when one came to the wine preſſe for to drawe out fiftie veſſels out of the preſſe, there were but twentie.

18 I ſmote you with blaſting, and with mildewe, and with haile, in all the labours of your handes: yet you turned not to me, ſaith the Lord.

19 Conſider, I pray you, in your mindes, from [k] this day, and afore from the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, euen from the day that the foundation of the Lordes Temple was layed: conſider it in your mindes.

20 Is the [l] ſeed yet in the barne? as yet the vine, and the figge tree, and the pomegranate, and the oliue tree hath not brought forth: from this day will I bleſſe you.

21 And againe the worde of the Lord came vnto Haggai in the foure and twentieth day of the moneth, ſaying, 22 Speake to Zerubbabel the prince of Iudah, and ſay, I [m] will ſhake the heauens and the earth.

23 And I will ouerthrowe the throne of Kingdomes, and I will deſtroye the ſtrength of the [n] Kingdomes of the heathen, and I will ouerthrow the charets, and thoſe that ride in them, and the horſe and the riders ſhall come downe, euery one by the ſworde of his brother.

24 In that day ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel my ſeruant, the ſonne of Shealtiel, ſaith the Lorde, and will make thee as a [o] ſignet: for I haue choſen thee, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes.

a For the people, accepting as Iſa.32.11. and Ezek.41.1. had prophecied, though this Temple ſhould haue bene moze excellent then Salomons Temple, which was deſtroyed, by the Babyloni-ans, but the Prophets ment the ſpirituall Temple, the Church of Chriſt.

b That is, goe forward in buil-ding the Tem-ple.

c He exhorteth them to patience though they ſee not as yet this Temple ſo glo-rious as the Prophets had declared: for this ſhould be accompliſhed in Chriſt by whome all things ſhould be renewed.

d Meaning, Chriſt whom all ought to looke for and deſire: or by deſire he may ſignifie all precious things, as riches and ſuch like.

e Therefore when his time commeth, he can make all the creatures of the world to ſerue his purpoſe: but the glory of this ſecond Temple doeth not ſtand in materiall things, neither can be built.

f Meaning, all ſpirituall bleſ-ſings and felici-tie purchaſed by Chriſt. Phi-lip.4.7.

g That is, the fleſh of the ſacrifices: wherby he ſignifieth that that thing which of it ſelf is good, cannot make another thing ſo, & therefore they ought not to iuſtifie themſelues by their ſacrifices and ceremonies: but contrary he that is vncleane and not pure of heart, doeth corrupt thoſe things and make them deteſta-ble vnto God, which elſe are good and godly.

h Conſider howe God did plague you with famine afore you began to builde the Temple.

i That is, before the building was begun.

k From the time they began to build the Tem-ple he promiſeth that God would bleſſe them: and albeit as yet the fruit was not come forth, yet in the gathering they ſhould haue plenie.

l He exhorteth them to patience and to abide till the harueſt came, and then they ſhould ſee Gods bleſſings.

m I will make a change and renue all things in Chriſt, of whom Zerubba-bel here is a fi-gure.

n Hereby he ſheweth that there ſhall bee no let or hinde-rance when God will make this wonderful reſtitution of his Church.

o Signifying that his dignitie ſhould be moſt excellent, which thing was ac-compliſhed in Chriſt.

ZECHARIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

TWo moneths after that Haggai had begunne to propheſie, Zechariah was alſo ſent of the Lorde to helpe him in the labour, and to confirme the ſame doctrine. Firſt therefore he putteth them in remembrance, for what cauſe God had ſo ſore puniſhed their fathers: & yet comforteth them, if they wil repent vnfainedly, and not abuſe this great benefite of God in their deliuerance, which was a figure of that true deliuerance, that all the faithfull ſhoulde haue from death and ſinne by Chriſt. But becauſe they ſtill remained in their wickedneſſe and coldnes to ſet forth Gods glorie, and were not yet made better by their long baniſhment, hee rebuketh them moſt ſharply: yet for the comfort of the repentant, he euer mixeth the promiſe of grace, that they might by this meanes be prepared to receiue Chriſt, in whom all ſhould be ſanctified to the Lord.

CHAP.

CHAP. I.

2 He exhorteth the people to returne to the Lord, and to eſchew the wickednesſe of their fathers. 16 He ſignifieth the reſtitution of Ieruſalem and the Temple.

IN the eight moneth of ỹ ſecond yere of [a]Darius, came the word of the Lorde vnto [b]Zechariah the ſonne of Berechiah, the ſonne of Iddo, the Prophet, ſaying,

2 The Lorde hath bene [c] ſore diſpleaſed with your fathers.

3 Therefore ſay thou vnto them, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, [d] Turne yee vnto me, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, and I will turne vnto you, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes.

4 Be ye not as your fathers, vnto whome the former * Prophets haue cried, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Turne you now from your euill wayes, and from your wicked workes: but they would not heare, nor hearken vnto me, ſaith the Lord.

5 Your fathers, where [e] are they? and doe the Prophets liue for euer?

6 But did not my words and my ſtatutes, which I commanded by my ſeruants the prophets, take holde of [f] your fathers? and ſ they returned, and ſaid, As the Lord of hoſtes hath determined to doe vnto vs, according to our owne wayes, and according to our workes, ſo hath he dealt with vs.

7 Vpon the foure and twentieth day of the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth [h] Shebar, in the ſecond yere of Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto Zechariah the ſonne of Berechiah, the ſonne of Iddo the Prophet, ſaying,

8 I [i] ſawe by night, and beholde [k] a man riding vpon a red horſe, and hee ſtoode among the mirre trees, that were in a bottome, and behinde him were there [l] red horſes ſpeckled and white.

9 Then ſaide I, O my Lorde, what are theſe? And the Angel that talked with mee, ſaid vnto me, I will ſhew thee what theſe be.

10 And the man that ſtoode among the mirre trees, anſwered and ſaide, Theſe are they whom the Lorde hath ſent to goe thorow the world.

11 And they anſwered the Angel of the Lord, that ſtoode among the mirre trees, and ſaide, Wee haue gone thorow the world: and beholde, all the world ſitteth ſtill, and is at reſt.

12 Then the [m] Angel of the Lorde anſwered and ſaide, O Lord of hoſts, how long wilt thou be vnmercifull to Ieruſalem, and to the cities of Iudah, with whome thou haſt bene diſpleaſed now theſe threeſcore and ten yeres?

13 And the Lord anſwered the Angel that talked with me, with good words and comfortable words.

14 So the Angel that communed with me, ſaid vnto me, Cry thou, and ſpeake, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, I am [n] ielous ouer Ieruſalem, and Zion with a great zeale, 15 And am greatly angry against the careleſſe heathen: for I was angry but [o] a little, and they helped forward the affliction.

16 Therefore thus ſaith the Lorde, I will returne vnto Ieruſalem with tender mercie: mine houſe ſhall be builded in it, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, and a line [p] ſhalbe ſtretched vpon Ieruſalem.

17 Cry yet, and ſpeake, Thus ſaieth the Lorde of hoſts, My cities ſhall yet [q] bee ſpoken with plentie: the Lorde ſhall yet comfort Zion, and ſhall yet chuſe Ieruſalem.

18 Then lift I vp mine eies and ſaw, and behold, [r] foure hornes.

19 And I ſaid vnto the Angel that talked with me, What be theſe? And hee anſwered me, Theſe are the hornes which haue ſcattered Iudah, Iſrael, and Ieruſalem.

20 And the Lorde ſhewed mee foure [ſ] carpenters.

21 Then ſaid I, What come theſe to doe? And hee anſwered, and ſaide, Theſe are the hornes, which haue ſcattered Iudah, ſo that a man durſt not lift vp his head: but theſe are come to fray them, and to caſt out the hornes of the Gentiles, which lift vp their horne ouer the land of Iudah, to ſcatter it.

a Who was the ſonne of Hiſtaſpis.
b This was not that Zechariah, whereof is mention 2. Chro. 24. 20. but had the ſame name, and is called ỹ ſonne of Berechiah, as he was, becauſe he came of the progenitours, as of Iolada or Berechiah and Iudo.
c He theaketh this to feare the with Gods iudgements that they ſhould not prouoke him as their fathers had done, whom he ſo grieuouſly puniſhed.
d Lo, your fruits declare that you are Gods people, and that he hath wrought in you by his ſpirit & mortified your ſoe: els man hath no power to returne to God, but God muſt conuert him, as Ier. 31. 18. Iam. 5. 21. Iſa. 21. 8. & 31. 6. & 45. 21.
e Ierem. 3. 12. ezek. 18. 30. hoſe. 14. 2. ioel. 2. 12.
e Though your fathers be dead, yet Gods iudgements in puniſhing them ought ſtill to be before your eyes: and though the Prophets be dead, yet their doctrine remaineth for euer. 2. Pet. 1. 15.
f Seeing yee ſawe the force of my doctrine in puniſhing your fathers, why do not ye feare the threatnings contained in ỹ ſame, and declared by my Prophets?
g As men aſtoniſhed with my iudgements, and not that they were touched with true repentance.
h Which conteineth part of Ianuarie and part of Februarie.
i This viſion ſignifieth the reſtauration of the Church, but as yet it ſhould not appeare to mans eies which is here meant by the night, by the bottome, and by the mirre trees which are blacke, and giue a darke ſhadow: yet hee compareth God to a King, who hath his poſtes and meſſengers abroade, by whom he ſtill worketh his purpoſe, and bringeth his matters to paſſe.
k Who was the chiefe among the reſt of the horſemen.
l Theſe ſignified the diuers offices of Gods Angels, by whome God ſometime puniſheth, and ſometime comforteth, and bringeth forth his works in diuers ſorts.
m That is, Chriſt the Mediatour prayed for the ſaluation of his Church, which was nowe troubled when all the countries about them were at reſt.
n Though for a time God deferre his helpe and comfort from his Church, yet this declareth that he loueth them ſtill moſt derely, as a moſt mercifull father his children, or an huſband his wife, and when it is expedient for them, his helpe is euer readie.
o In deſtroying the reprobate I ſhewed my ſelfe but a little angrie toward my Church, but the enemie would haue deſtroyed them alſo, and conſidered not the ende of my chaſtiſements.
p To meaſure out the buildings.
q The abundance ſhall be ſo great that the places of ſtay ſhall not be able to containe their bleſſings that God will ſend, but ſhall euen breake for fulneſſe.
r Which ſignified all the enemies of the Church, Eaſt, Weſt, North, South.
ſ Theſe Carpenters or Smithes are Gods inſtruments, which with their mallets and hammers breake theſe hard & ſtrong hornes, which would ouerthrow the Church, and declare that none enemies horne is ſo ſtrong, but God hath an hammer to breake it in pieces.

CHAP. II.

The reſtoring of Ieruſalem and Iudah.

I Lift vp mine eyes againe and looked, and beholde, a [a] man with a meaſuring line in his hand,

2 Then ſaid I, whither goeſt thou? And he ſaid vnto me, To meaſure Ieruſalem, that I may ſee what is the breadth thereof, and what is the length thereof.

3 And beholde, the Angel that talked with me, went forth: and another Angel went out to meete him.

4 And ſaid vnto him, Runne, ſpeake to this [b] yong man, and ſay, [c] Ieruſalem ſhalbe inhabited without walles, for the multitude of men and cattel therein.

a That is, the Angel who was Chriſt: for in reſpect of his office he is oft times called an Angel, but in reſpect of his eternall eſſence, is God, and ſo called.
b Meaning him ſelfe Zechariah.
c Signifying the ſpirituall Ieruſalem and Church vnder Chriſt, which ſhould be extended by the Goſpel through all the worlds ſhould need no material walles, nor truſt in any worldly ſtrength, but ſhould be ſafely preſerued, and dwel in peace among all their enemies.

5 For I, saith the Lord, will be vnto her a wall of [d] fire round about, and will [e] be the glory in the middes of her.

6 Ho, ho, come [f] foorth, and flee from the land of the North, saith the Lord: for I haue scattered you into the foure winds of the heauen, saith the Lord.

7 [h] Saue thy selfe, O Zion, that dwellest with the daughter of Babel.

8 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, After this [i] glory hath he sent me vnto the nations, which spoyled you: for he that toucheth you, toucheth the [k] apple of his eye.

9 For behold, I will lift vp mine hand [l] vpon them: and [m] they shalbe a spoile to those that serued them, and ye shall knowe, that the Lord of hostes hath [n] sent me.

10 Reioyce, and be glad, O daughter Zion: for loe, I come, and will dwell in the mids of thee, saith the Lord.

11 And many nations shall be ioyned to the Lord in that day, and shall be my people: and I will dwell in the middes of thee, and thou shalt knowe that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto thee.

12 And the Lord shall inherite Judah his portion in the holy land, and shall chuse Jerusalem againe.

13 Let all flesh be still before the Lord: for he is raised vp out of his holy place.

d To defend my Church, to feare the enemies, and to destroy them if they approch neere.
e In me they shall haue their full felicitie and glory.
f He calleth to them which partly for feare, and partly for their owne ease, remained still in captiuitie, and so preferred their owne priuate commodities to the benefites of God promised in his Church.
g As it was I that scattered you, so haue I power to restore you.
h By flying from Babylon and comming to the Church.
i Seeing that God hath begun to shewe his grace among you by deliuering you, he continueth the same still towards you, and therefore sendeth me his Angel, and his Christ to defend you from your enemies, that they shall not hurt you, neither by the way, nor at home. k Ye are so deare vnto God, that he can no more suffer your enemies to hurt you, then a man can abide to be thrust in the eye, Psal. 17.8. l Vpon the heathen your enemies. m They shall be your seruants as you haue beene theirs. n This must necessarily be vnderstood of Christ, who being God equall with his Father, was sent as he was Mediatour to dwell in his Church, and to gouerne them.

CHAP. III.

A prophecie of Christ and of his kingdome.

AND he shewed me Jehoshua [a] the high Priest, [a] standing before the Angel of the Lord, and [b] Satan stood at his right hand to resist him.

2 And the [c] Lord said vnto Satan, The Lord rebuke thee, O Satan: euen the Lord that hath chosen Jerusalem, rebuke thee. Is not this a [d] brand taken out of the fire?

3 Now Jehoshua was clothed with filthie garments, and stood before the Angel.

4 And he answered and spake vnto those that stood before him, saying, Take away the [e] filthie garments from him. And vnto him he said, Behold, I haue caused thine iniquitie to depart from thee, and I will clothe thee with change of raiment.

5 And I said, Let them [f] set a faire diademe vpon his head. So they set a faire diademe vpon his head, and clothed him with garments, and the Angel of the Lord stood by.

6 And the Angel of the Lord testified vnto Jehoshua, saying,

7 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, If thou wilt walke in my wayes, and keepe my watch, thou shalt also [h] iudge mine House, and shalt also keepe my [i] courtes, and I will giue thee place among [k] those that stand by.

8 Heare now, O Jehoshua the hie Priest, thou and thy fellowes that sit before thee: for they are [l] monstrous persons: but behold, I will bring forth the [m] Branch my seruant.

9 For loe, the [n] stone that I haue laid before Joshua: vpon one stone shall be seuen eyes: behold, I wil [o] cut out the grauing thereof, saith the Lord of hostes, and I will take [p] away the iniquitie of this land in one day.

10 In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, shall ye call euery man his neighbour vnder the [q] vine, and vnder the figge tree.

a He prayed to Christ the Mediatour for [b] state of the Church.
b Which declareth that [b] faithful haue not only warre with flesh and blood, but with Satan him selfe and spirituall wickednesses, Ephes. 6.12.
c That is, Christ speaketh to God as the Mediator of his Church [b] he would rebuke Satan: as here he sheweth himselfe to be the continuall preseruer of his Church.
d Meaning, that Jehoshua was wonderfully preserued in the captiuitie and now Satan sought to afflict & trouble him when he was doing his office. e In respect of the glorious garments & precious stones that the Priests did weare before [b] captiuitie: and by this contemptible state the Prophet signifieth that these small beginnings should be made excellent when Christ shal make the full restitution of his Church. f He sheweth of what apparell he speaketh, which is when our filthie sinnes are taken away, & we are clad with Gods mercies, which is meant of the spirituall restitution. g The Prophet prayeth, that besides the rayment, the Priest might also haue [b] for his head accordingly, that is, that the dignitie of the Priesthood might be perfect: and this was fulfilled in Christ, who was both Priest & King: and here all such are condemned that can content themselues with any meane reformation in religion, seeing the Prophet desireth the perfection, and obteineth it.

h That is, haue rule and gouernment in my Church, as the predecessors haue had.
i Whereby he meaneth to haue the whole charge and ministerie of the Church.
k That is, the Angels who [b] preserued [b] whole number of the faithfull: signifying that all the godly should willingly receiue him.
l Because they follow my word, they are contemned in the world, and esteemed as monsters, Isa. 8.18.
m That is, Christ who did so humble himselfe, that not onely he became the seruant of God, but also the seruant of men: and therefore in him they should haue comfort, although in the world they were contemned, Isa. 11.1. Jere. 23.5. and 34.14,15. n He sheweth that the ministers cannot builde, before God lay the first stone, which is Christ, who is full of eyes, both because he giueth light vnto all others, and that all ought to seeke light at him. Chap. 4.10. o That is, I wil make it perfect in al points, as a thing wrought by the hand of God. p Though I haue punished this land for a time, yet I will euen now be pacified, and visite their sinnes no more. q Ye shall then liue in peace and quietnesse, that is, in the kingdome of Christ, Isa. 2.2 micah 4.4. haggai 2.10.

CHAP. IIII.

The vision of the golden candlestick, and the exposition thereof.

AND the Angel that talked with me, came againe and waked me, as a man that is raised out of his sleepe,

2 And said vnto me, What seest thou? And I saide, I haue looked, and beholde, a [a] candlesticke all of golde with a bowle vpon the top of it, and his seuen lampes therein, and seuen [b] pipes to the lampes, which were vpon the top thereof.

3 And two olive trees ouer it, one vpon the right side of the bowle, and the other vpon the left side thereof.

4 So I answered, and spake to the Angel that talked with me, saying, What are these, my Lord?

5 Then the Angel that talked with me, answered and said vnto me, Knowest thou not, what these be? And I said, No, my Lord.

6 Then he answered and spake vnto me, saying, This is the word of the Lord vnto [c] Zerubbabel, saying, Neither by [d] an armie nor strength, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of hostes.

7 Who art thou, O [e] great mountaine, a Which was euer in the mids of the Temple, signifying that the graces of Gods Spirit should shine there in most abundance, and in all perfection.

b Which conueied the oyle that dropped from the trees into the lampes, so that the light neuer failed: and this vision was to confirme the faithfull that God had sufficient power in him selfe to continue his graces, and to bring his promes to passe, though he had no helpe of man.
c Who was a figure of Christ, and therefore his doctrine was directed to all the Church who are his body and members. d He sheweth that Gods power onely is sufficient to preserue his Church, though he vse not mans helpe thereunto. e He compareth the power of the aduersaries to a great mountaine, who thought the Iewes nothing in respect of them, and would haue hindred Zerubbabel, who represented Christ whom the enemies daily labour to let in the building of his spirituall Temple, but all in vaine.

before Zerubbabel: thou shalt be a plaine, and f he shal bring forth the head stone thereof, with shoutings, crying, Grace, grace vnto it.

8 Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

9 The hands of Zerubbabel haue laid the foundation of this house: his handes shall also finish it, and thou shalt know that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto you.

10 For who hath despised the day of the h small things? but they shal reioyce, and shall see the stone of i tinne in the hand of Zerubba-bel: k these seuen are the eyes of the Lorde, which goe throw the whole world.

11 Then answered I, and said vnto him,
What are these two oliue trees vpon the right and vpon the left side thereof?

12 And I spake moreouer, and said vnto him, What be these two oliue branches, which throw the two golden pipes emptie themselues into the gold?

13 And he answered me, and said, Know-est thou not what these bee? And I said, No, my Lord.

14 Then said he, These are the two l oliue branches, that stand with the ruler of the whole earth.

f Though the enemies thinke to stay his building, yet Zerub-babel shall lay the highest stone thereof, & bring it to perfection, so that all the godly shall re-ioyce, and pray vnto God that he would continue his grace and fauour toward the Temple.
g Meaning, the Prophet, that I am Christ sent of my Father for the building, and preseruation of my spirituall Temple.
h Signifying that all were discouraged at the small and poore beginnings of the Temple.
i Whereby he signifieth the plummet and line, that is, that Zerubbabel which represented Christ, should goe forward with his building to the ioy and comfort of the godly, though the world be against him, and though his for a while be discouraged, because they see not things pleasant to the eye. k That is, God hath seuen eyes: meaning, a continuall prouidence, so that neither Satan nor any power in the world can go about or bring any thing to passe to hinder his work. Cha. 3. 9.
l Which were euer greene and full of oyle, so that still they powred foorth oyle into the lampes: signifying, that God will continually maintaine and preserue his Church, and indue it still with abundance and perfection of graces.

CHAP. V.

1 The vision of the flying booke, signifying the curse of thieues, and such as abuse the Name of God. 6 By the vision of the measure is signified the bringing of Iudah's afflictions into Babylon.

a Because the Iewes had prouoked Gods plagues by con-temning his word, and casting off all iudge-ment and equi-tie, he sheweth that Gods curses written in this booke had iustly light both on them, and their fathers: but nowe if they would repent,
God would send the same among the Caldeans their former enemies.
b That is, vseth any iniurie toward his neighbour.
c Meaning, whersoeuer he
be in the world.
d He that transgresseth the first table, and serneth not God aright, but abu-seth Gods
Name.

THen I turned mee, & lifted vp mine eyes and looked, and behold a flying booke.

2 And he said vnto me, What seest thou?
And I answered, I see a flying b booke: the length therof is twentie cubites, & the bredth thereof ten cubites.

3 Then said hee vnto mee, This is the curse that goeth foorth ouer the whole earth:
for euery one that b stealeth, shall bee cut off as well on this c side, as on that: and euery one that d sweareth, shall be cut off as well on this side as on that.

4 I will bring it foorth, saith the Lord of hostes, and it shall enter into the house of the thiefe, and into the house of him, that falsely sweareth by my Name: and it shall remaine in the mids of his house, and shall consume it, with the timber thereof, and stones thereof.

5 Then the Angel that talked with me, went foorth, and said vnto mee, Lift vp nowe thine eyes, and see what is this that goeth foorth.

6 And I said, What is it? And he sayde,
This is an e Ephah that goeth foorth. He sayd moreouer, This is the f sight of them through all the earth.

7 And behold, there was lift vp a talent of lead: and this is a h woman that sitteth in the mids of the Ephah.

8 And he sayd, This is i wickednesse, and he cast it into the mids of the Ephah, and hee cast the weight of lead vpon the mouth thereof.

9 Then lift I vp mine eyes, and looked:
and beholde, there came out two k women, and the wind was in their wings (for they had wings like the wings of a storke) and they lift vp the Ephah betweene the earth and the heauen.

10 Then sayd I to the Angel that talked with me, Whither do these beare the Ephah?

11 And hee sayde vnto mee, l To builde it an house in the land of Shinar, and it shall bee established and set there vpon her owne place.

e Which was a measure in vse things conteyning about ten pottels.
f That is, all the wickednes of the vngodly is in Gods sight, which he keepeth in a measure, & can shut it or open it at his pleasure.
g To couer the measure.
h Which repre-senteth iniquitie,
as in y next verse.
i Signifying, that Satã could not haue such power against y Iewes to tempt them, as he had in time past, but that God would shut vp iniquitie in a measure as in a prison.
k Which declared that God would execute his iudgements by the meanes of weake and infirme meanes. l To remoue the iniquitie and afflictions that came for the same from Iudah, to place it for euer in Babylon.

CHAP. VI.

By the foure charets he describeth the foure monarchies.

a By charets here, as by horses afore, he meneth the swift messengers of God to execute and declare his will b By the brasen mountaines he meaneth the eternal counsell & prouidence of God, whereby he hath from before all eternitie decreed what shall come to passe, and that which neither Satan nor all the world can alter.
c Which signified the great cruelties and persecutions that y
Church had endured vnder di-uers enemies.
d Signifying that they had endured great afflictions vnder the Babylonians.
e These represented their state vnder the Persians which restored them to libertie.
f Which signified that God would sometime giue his Church rest, and powre his plagues vpon their enemies, as he did in destroying Nineueh & Babylon, and other their enemies. g Meaning, all the actioons, and motions of Gods Spirit, which according to his vnchangeable counsell he causeth to appeare through all the world. h That is, toward Egypt, & other countreys thereabout. i That is, they of diuers colours, which take leaue, to signifie that Satan hath no power to hurt or afflict till God giue it him, Iob 1. 12.
k By punishing the Caldeans mine anger ceased, and you were deliuered.

A Gaine I turned and lift vp mine eyes, and looked: and beholde, there came foure a charets out from betweene b two moun-taines, and the mountaines were mountaines of brasse.

2 In the first charet were c red horses, and in the second charet d blacke horses,

3 And in the third charet e white horses, and in the fourth charet, horses of f diuers colours, and reddish.

4 Then I answered, and saide vnto the Angel that talked with me, What are these,
my Lord?

5 And the Angel answered, and said vnto me, These are the foure spirits of the heauen, which goe foorth from standing with the Lord of all the earth.

6 That with the blacke horse went foorth into the land of the North, and the white went out after them, & they of diuers colours went foorth toward the h South countrey.

7 And the i reddish went out, and required to goe, and passe through the world, and he saide, Goe, passe through the world. So they went throughout the world.

8 Then cryed he vpon me, and spake vnto me, saying, Beholde, these that goe toward the North countrey, haue pacified my k spirite in the North countrey.

9 And the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

10 Take of them of the captiuitie, euen of Heldai, and of Tobiiah, and Iedaiah, which are come from Babel, and come thou the same day, and goe vnto the house [l] of Iosiah, the sonne of Zephaniah.

11 Take euen siluer, and golde, and make crownes, and set them vpon the [m] head of Iehohua, the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, 12 And speake vnto him, saying, Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, and saith, Behold the man whose name is the [n] Branch, and he shall growe [o] vp out of his place, and he shall [p] build the Temple of the Lord.

13 Euen he shall builde the Temple of the Lord, and he shall beare the [q] glory, and shall sit and rule vpon his throne, and he shall be a Priest vpon his throne, and the counsell of peace shall be betweene [r] them both.

14 And the crownes shall be to [s] Helem, and to Tobiiah, and to Iedaiah, and to [t] Hen the sonne of Zephaniah, for a [u] memoriall in the Temple of the Lord.

15 And they that are [x] farre off, shall come and builde in the Temple of the Lord, and ye shall knowe, that the Lorde of hostes hath sent me vnto you. And this shall come to passe, if ye will [y] obey the voyce of the Lord your God.

l To receiue of him and the other three, money to make the two crownes: which were men of great authoritie among the Iewes, and doubted of the restitution of the kingdome and of the Priesthood, and durst others by their example.

m Because this could not be attributed to any one according to ỹ Law, therefore it followeth that Iehoshua must represent the Messiah who was both Priest and King.

n Meaning Christ of whom Iehoshua was the figure: for in Greeke they were both called Iesus.

o That is, of himselfe without the helpe of man.

p Which declareth that none could build this Temple, whereof Haggai speaketh, but onely Christ: and there fore it was spirituall, and not materiall. Hag. 2.10.

q Whereof Iehoshua had but a shadowe. r The two offices of the kingdome, and Priesthood shalbe so ioyned together, that they shall be no more diuideed. s Who was also called Heldai. t He also was called Iosiah. u That they may acknowledge their infirmitie, which looked that all things should haue beene restored incontinently: and of this their infidelitie these two crownes shall remaine as tokens. Act. 1.6. x That is, the Gentiles by the preaching of the Gospel shall helpe toward the building of this spirituall Temple. y If ye will beleeue and remaine in the obedience of faith.

CHAP. VII.

5 The true fasting. 11 The rebellion of the people is the cause of their affliction.

AND in the fourth yeere of King Darius, the worde of the Lord came vnto Zechariah in the fourth day of the ninth moneth, euen in [a] Chisleu.

2 For [b] they had sent vnto the house of God Sharezer, and Regem-melech and their men to pray before the Lord,

3 And to speake vnto the Priests, which were in the house of the Lorde of hostes, and to the Prophets, saying, Should I [c] weepe in the fift moneth, and [d] separate my selfe as I haue done these so many [e] yeeres?

4 Then came the worde of the Lorde of hostes vnto me, saying,

5 Speake vnto all the people of the land, and to the [f] Priestes, and say, When ye fasted, and mourned in the fift and seuenth moneth, euen these seuentie yeeres, did yee fast vnto me? 6 doe I approoue it?

6 And when ye did eate, and when ye did drinke, did ye not eate [h] for your selues, and drinke for your selues?

7 Should ye not heare the wordes, which the Lord [i] hath cried by the ministerie of the former Prophets when Ierusalem was inhabited, and in prosperitie, and the cities thereof rounde about her, when the South and the plaine was inhabited?

8 And the worde of the Lorde came vnto Zechariah, saying,

9 Thus speaketh the Lorde of hostes, saying, [k] Execute true iudgement, and shewe mercie and compassion, euery man to his brother.

10 And oppresse not the widow, nor the fatherlesse, the stranger nor the poore, and let none of you imagine euill against his brother in your heart.

11 But they refused to hearken, and [l] pulled away the shoulder, and stopped their eares, that they should not heare.

12 Yea, they made their hearts as an adamant stone, least they should heare the Lawe and the wordes which the Lorde of hostes sent in his [m] spirit by the ministerie of the former prophets: therefore came a great wrath from the Lord of hostes.

13 Therefore it is come to passe, that as he cried, and they would not heare, so they cried, and I woulde not heare, sayeth the Lorde of hostes.

14 But I scattered them among all their nations, whom they knewe not: thus the land was desolate [n] after them, that no man passed through nor returned: for they laide the pleasand land [o] waste.

a Which contained part of November, and part of December.

b That is, the rest of the people that remained yet in Caldea, sent to the Church at Ierusalem, for the resolution of these questions, because these fastes were conferred vpon by the agreement of the whole Church the one in the moneth that the Temple was destroyed, and the other when Gedaliah was slaine, Iere. 41.2. c By weeping and mourning appeare what exercises they vsed in their fasting. d That is, prepare my selfe with all deuotion to this fast. e Which was nowe since the Temple was destroyed. f For there were both of the people, and of the Priestes, which doubted as touching this controuersie, besides them which as yet remained in Caldea, and reasoned of it, as one of the chiefe points of their religion.

g For they thought they had deserued toward God because of this fast, which they inuented of themselues: and though fasting of it selfe be good, yet because they thought it a seruice toward God, and trusted therein, it is here reproued.

h Did ye not eate, and drinke for your owne commoditie and necessitie? and so likewise ye did abstaine according to your owne fantasies, and not after the precept of my Lawe.

i Hereby he condemneth their hypocrisie, which thought by their fasting to please God, and by such things as they inuented, and in ỹ meane season would not serue him as he had commanded.

k Be therwith, that they did not fast with a sincere heart, but for an hypocrisie, and that it was not done of a pure religion, because that they lacked these offices of charitie, which should haue declared that they were godly, Matth. 23.23.

l And would not carie the Lords burden, which was sweete and easie, but would beare their owne, which was heauie and grieuous to the flesh, thinking to merite thereby: which similitude is taken of oxen, which shrinke at the yoke, Nehe. 9.29. m Which declareth that they rebelled not onely against the Prophets, but against the spirit of God that spake in them. n That is, after they were caried captiue. o By their sinnes, whereby they prouoked Gods anger.

CHAP. VIII.

2 Of the returne of the people vnto Ierusalem, and of the mercie of God toward them. 16 Of good workes. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

AGaine the worde of the Lorde of hostes came to me, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, I was [a] ielous for Zion with great ielousie, and I was ielous for her with great wrath.

3 Thus saith the Lord, I wil returne vnto Zion, and will dwell in the mids of Ierusalem: and Ierusalem shalbe called [b] citie of trueth, & the Mountaine of the Lord of hostes, the holy Mountaine.

a I loued my citie with a singular loue, so that I could not abide that any should doe her any iniurie.

b Because she shalbe faithfull, and loyal toward her husband.

4 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, There shall yet olde [c] men and olde women dwell in the streetes of Jerusalem, and euery man with his staffe in his hand for very age.

5 And the streetes of the citie shall be full of boyes and girles, playing in the streetes thereof.

6 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Though it be [d] vnpossible in the eyes of the remnant of this people in these dayes, should it therefore be vnpossible in my sight, sayeth the Lord of hostes?

7 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, I will deliuer my people from the East countrey, and from the West countrey.

8 And I will bring them, and they shall [e] dwell in the mids of Jerusalem, and they shal be my people, & I will be their God in trueth, and in righteousnesse.

9 Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, Let your [f] handes be strong, ye that heare in these dayes these wordes by the mouth of the Prophets, which were in the day, that the foundation of the House of the Lorde of hostes was laide, that the Temple might be builded.

10 For before these dayes there was no hire for [g] man, nor any hire for beast, neither was there any peace to him that went out or came in because of the affliction: for I set all men, euery one against his neighbour.

11 But nowe, I will not intreate the residue of this people as aforetime, saith the Lord of hostes.

12 For the seede shall be prosperous: the vine shall giue her fruite, and the ground shall giue her increase, and the heauens shall giue their dewe, and I will cause the remnant of this people to possesse all these things.

13 And it shall come to passe, that as yee were a curse among the heathen, O house of Judah, and house of Israel, so will I deliuer you, and ye shalbe a blessing: feare not but let your hands be strong.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, As I thought to punish [h] you, when your fathers prouoked me vnto wrath, saith the Lorde of hostes, and repented not,

15 So againe haue I determined in these dayes [i] to doe well vnto Jerusalem, and to the house of Judah: feare ye not.

16 These are the things that ye shall doe. Speake yee euery man the trueth vnto his neighbour: execute iudgement truely and vprightly in your gates, 17 And let none of you imagine euill in your hearts against his neighbour, and loue no false othe: for all these are the things that I hate, saith the Lord.

18 And the worde of the Lorde of hostes came vnto me, saying,

19 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, The fast of the fourth moneth, and the fast of the fift, and the fast of the seuenth, and the fast of the [k] tenth, shall be to the house of Judah ioy and gladnesse, and prosperous hie feastes: therefore loue the trueth and peace.

20 Thus saieth the Lorde of hostes, That there shall yet come [l] people, and the inhabitants of great cities.

21 And they that dwell in one citie, shall goe to another, saying, *Up, let vs go and pray before the Lord, and seeke the Lord of hostes: I will goe also.

22 Yea, great people and mighty nations shall come to seeke the Lord of hostes in Jerusalem, and to pray before the Lord.

23 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, In those dayes shall tenne men take holde out of all languages of the nations, euen take holde of the skirte of him that is a Jewe, and say, We will goe with you: for we haue heard, that God is with you.

CHAP. IX.

1 The threatning of the Gentiles. 9 The comming of Christ.

THe burden of the word of the Lord in the land of [a] Hadrach: and Damascus shall be his [b] rest: when the [c] eyes of man euen of all the tribes of Israel shall be toward the Lord.

2 And Hamath also shall border [d] thereby: Tyrus also and Zidon, though they be [e] very wise.

3 For Tyrus did build her selfe a strong hold, and heaped vp siluer as the dust, and golde as the myre of the streetes.

4 Behold, the Lord will spoile her, and he will smite her [f] power in the Sea, and she shall be deuoured with fire.

5 Ashkelon shall see it, and feare, and Azzah shalbe very sorowfull, and Ekron: for her countenance shall be ashamed, and the King shall perish from Azzah, and Ashkelon shall not be inhabited.

6 And the [g] stranger shall dwell in Ashdod, and I will cut off the pride of the Philistims.

7 And I will take away his blood out of his mouth, & his abominations from betweene his [h] teeth: but he that remaineth, euen he shall be for our God, and he shalbe as a prince in Judah, but [i] Ekron shall be as a Jebusite.

8 And I will campe about [k] mine House against the armie, against him that passeth by, and against him that returneth, and no oppressour shall come vpon them any more: for now [l] haue I seene with mine eyes.

[c] Though their enemies did greatly molest and trouble them, yet God would come and dwell among them, and so preserue them so long as nature would suffer them to liue, and encrease their children in great abundance.

[d] He sheweth wherein our faith standeth, that is, to beleeue that God can performe that which he hath promised, though it seeme neuer so vnpossible to man, Rom. 4.23. Gen. 18. 14.

[e] So that their returne shall not be in vaine: for God will accomplish his promise, and their prosperitie shalbe sure and stable.

[f] Let neither respect of your priuate commodities, neither counsell of others, nor feare of enemies discourage you in the going forward with the building of the Temple, but be constant, and obey the Prophets which incourage you therevnto.

[g] For God curseth your worke, so that neither man nor beast had profite of their labours.

[h] Reade Ezek. 18.20.

[i] Which declareth, that man cannot turne to God, till he change mans heart by his Spirit, and so begin to doe well, which is to pardon his sinnes, and to giue him his graces.

[k] Which fast was appointed when the citie was besieged, & was the first fast of these foure: as here the Prophet sheweth, that if the Jewes will repent, & turne wholly to God, they shal haue no more occasion to fast, or to shewe signes of heauinesse: for God will send them ioy and gladnesse.

[l] He declareth the great zeale that God shall giue to the Gentiles to come to his Church, and to ioyne with the Jewes in his true religion which should be in the kingdome of Christ. *Isa. 2.3. micah 4.1.

[a] Whereby he meaneth Syria.

[b] Gods anger shall abide vpon their chiefe citie, and not spare so much as that.

[c] When the Jewes shal conuert and repent, then God will destroy their enemies.

[d] That is, by Damascus, meaning that Damath or Antiochia should be vnder the same rod and plague.

[e] He secretly sheweth the cause of their destruction, because they perceiued all other by their craft and subtilitie, which they cloked with this name of wisdome.

[f] Though they of Tyrus thinke themselues inuincible by reason of the sea, that compasseth them rounde about, yet they shall not escape Gods iudgements.

[g] Meaning, that all should be destroyed saue a very fewe, that should remaine as strangers.

[h] He promiseth to deliuer the Jewes when he shal take vengeance on their enemies, for their crueltie & wrongs done to them.

[i] As the Philistims had bin destroyed, so should Ekron and all the Philistims.

[k] He sheweth that Gods power onely shalbe sufficient to defend his Church against all aduersaries be they neuer so cruell, or assemble their power neuer so often.

[l] That is, God hath nowe seene the great iniuries and afflictions wherewith they haue beene afflicted by their enemies.

9 Reioyce greatly, O daughter Zion: shoute for ioy, O daughter Ierusalem: behold, thy King commeth vnto thee: [m] he is iust and saued himselfe, poore and riding vpon an [n] asse, and vpon a colt the foale of an asse.

10 And I will cut off the [o] charets from Ephraim, and the horse from Ierusalem: the bowe of the battell shalbe broken, and he shall speake peace vnto the heathen, and his dominion shall be from [p] sea vnto sea, and from the [q] Riuer to the end of the land.

11 [r] Thou also shalt be saued through the blood of thy couenant. I haue loosed thy [s] prisoners out of the pit wherein is no water.

12 Turne you to the [t] strong hold, ye [u] prisoners of hope: euen to day doe I declare, that I will render the [x] double vnto thee.

13 For Iudah haue I [y] bent as a bowe for me: Ephraims hand haue I filled, and I haue raised vp thy sonnes, O Zion, against thy sonnes, O Grecia, and haue made thee as a gyants sword.

14 And the Lord shall be seene ouer them, and his arrow shall goe forth as the lightning: and the Lord God shall blow the trumpet, and shall come forth with the whirle windes of the South.

15 The Lord of hostes shall defend them, and they shall deuoure them, [z] and subdue them with sling stones, and they shall drinke, and make a noyse as through wine, and they shalbe filled like bowles, and the hornes of the altar.

16 And the Lorde their God shall deliuer them in that day as the flocke of his people: for they shalbe as the [a] stones of the crowne lifted vp vpon his land.

17 For howe great is his goodnesse! and howe great is his beautie! corne shall make the yong men cheerefull, and newe wine the maides.

m That is, he hath righteousnes, and saluation in him selfe for the vse and commoditie of his Church.

n Which declareth that they should not looke for such a king as should be glorious in the eyes of man, but should be poore, and yet in himselfe haue all power to deliuer his: and this is meant of Christ, as Math. 21.5.

o No power of man or creature shall be able to let this kingdome of Christ, e he shall peaceably gouerne them by his word.

p That is, from the red sea, to the sea called Syriacum: and by these places which the Iewes knewe, he meant an infinite space and compasse ouer the whole world.

q That is, from Euphrates.

r Meaning, Ierusalem or the Church which is saued by the blood of Christ, whereof the blood of the sacrifices was a figure, and is here called the couenant of the Church, because God made it with his Church, and left it with them for the loue that he bare vnto them.

s God sheweth that he will deliuer his Church out of all dangers, seeme they neuer so great.

t That is, into the holy land where the citie and the Temple are, where God will defend you.

u Meaning, the faithfull which seemed to be in danger of their enemies on euery side, and yet liued in hope that God would restore them to libertie.

x That is, double benefites, and prosperitie in respect of that which your fathers enioyed from Dauids time to the captiuitie.

y I will make Iudah and Ephraim, that is, my whole Church, victorious against al enemies, which he here meaneth by the Grecians.

z He promiseth that the Iewes shall destroy their enemies and haue abundance, and excesse of all things, as there is abundance on the altar when the sacrifice is offered: which things are not to moue them to intemperance, but to sobrietie, and a thankfull remembrance of Gods great liberalitie.

a The faithfull shalbe preserued, and reuerenced of all, that the very enemies shalbe compelled to esteeme them: for Gods glory shal shine in them, as Iosephus declareth of Alexander the great when he met Iadi the high Priest.

CHAP. X.

2 The vanitie of idolatrie. 3 The Lord promiseth to visite and comfort the house of Israel.

A Ske you of the [a] Lord raine in the time of the latter raine: so shal the Lord make white cloudes, and giue you showres of raine, and to euery one grasse in the field.

a The Prophet reproueth the Iewes because by their owne infidelitie they put backe Gods graces promised, and so famine came by Gods iust iudgement: therefore to auoid this plague he willeth them to turne to God, and to pray in faith to him, and so he will giue them abundance.

2 Surely [b] the idoles haue spoken vanitie, and the southsayers haue seene a lye, and the dreamers haue tolde a vaine thing: they comfort in vaine: therefore [c] they went away as sheepe: they were troubled, because there was no shepheard.

3 My wrath was kindled against the shepheards, and I did visite the [d] goates: but the Lorde of hostes will visite his flocke the house of Iudah, and will make them as [e] his beautifull horse in the battell.

4 Out [f] of him shal the corner come forth, out of him the naile, out of him the bowe of battell, and out of him euery [g] appointer of tribute also.

5 And they shall be as the mightie men, which treade downe their enemies in the mire of the streetes in the battell, and they shal fight, because the Lord is with them, and the riders on horses shalbe confounded.

6 And I will strengthen the house of Iudah, and I will preserue the house [h] of Ioseph, and I wil bring them againe, for I pitie them: and they shalbe as though I had not cast them off: for I am the Lord their God, and will heare them.

7 And they of Ephraim shalbe as a gyant: and their heart shall reioyce as through wine: yea, their children shall see it, and be glad: and their heart shall reioyce in the Lord.

8 I wil [i] hisse for them, and gather them: for I haue redeemed them: and they shall encrease, as they haue encreased.

9 And I wil [k] sowe them among the people, and they shall remember me in farre countreis: and they shall liue with their children and [l] turne againe.

10 I wil bring them againe also out of the land of Egypt, and gather them out of Assur: and I will bring them into the land of Gilead, and Lebanon, and place shall not be found for them.

11 And he [m] shal go into the sea with affliction, and shal smite the waues in the sea, and all the depthes of the riuer shall drie vp: and the pride of Assur shalbe cast downe, and the scepter of Egypt shall depart away.

12 And I wil strengthen them in the Lord, and they shall walke in his Name, sayeth the Lord.

b He calleth to remembrance Gods punishments in times past, because they trusted not in him, but in their idoles and sorcerers who euer deceiued them.

c That is, the Iewes went into captiuitie.

d Meaning, the cruell gouernors which did oppresse the poore sheepe, Ezek. 34.16,17.

e He wilde mercifull to his Church and cherish them as a King or Prince doth his best horse which shalbe for his owne vse in the warre.

f Out of Iudah shall the chiefe gouernour proceede, who shall be as a corner to vphold the building, and as a naile to fasten it together.

g Ouer their enemies.

h That is, the ten tribes, which should be gathered vnder Christ to the rest of the Church.

i Whereby he declareth the power of God who needeth no great preparation when he will deliuer his: for with a becke or hisse he can call them from all places suddenly.

k Though they shal yet be scattered & seeme to be lost, yet it shall be profitable vnto them: for there they shall come to the knowledge of my Name, which was accomplished vnder the Gospel among whom it was first preached.

l Not that they should returne into their countrey, but be gathered and ioyned in one faith, by the doctrine of the Gospel.

m He alludeth to the deliuerance of the people of Egypt, where as the Angel smote the floods and riuers.

CHAP. XI.

1 The destruction of the Temple. 4 The care of the faithfull is committed to Christ. 7 A grieuous vision against Ierusalem and Iudah.

OPen thy doores, O [a] Lebanon, and the fire shall deuoure thy cedars.

a Because the Iewes thought themselues so strong by reason of this mountaine, that no enemie could come to hurt them, the Prophet sheweth that when God sendeth the enemies, it shall shew it selfe ready to receiue them.

2 Houle, [b] firre trees: for the cedar is fallen, because all the mighty are destroyed: houle ye, O okes of Bashan, for the [c] defenced forest is cut downe.

3 There is the voyce of the houling of the shepheards: for their [d] glory is destroyed: the voyce of the roaring of lyons whelpes: for the pride of Iorden is destroyed.

4 Thus saith the Lord my God, Feare the sheepe of the [e] slaughter.

5 They that possesse them, slay them [f] and sinne not: and they that sell them, say, [g] Blessed be the Lorde: for I am riche, and their owne shepheards spare them not.

6 Surely I will no more spare those that dwell in the land, saith the Lord: but loe, [h] I will deliuer the men euery one into his neighbours hand, and into the hand of his [i] King: and they shall smite the land, and out of their hands I will not deliuer them.

7 For I fed the sheepe of slaughter, euen the [k] poore of the flocke, and I tooke vnto me [l] two staues: the one I called Beautie, and the other I called Bandes, and I fed the sheepe.

8 [m] Three shepheards also I cut off in one moneth, and my soule lothed [n] them, and their soule abhorred me.

9 Then said I, I will not feede you: that that dyeth, let it die: and that that perisheth, let it perish: and let the remnant eate, euery one the flesh of his neighbour.

10 And I tooke my staffe, euen Beautie, and brake it, that I might disanull my couenant, which I had made with all people.

11 And it was broken in that day: and so the [o] poore of the sheepe that waited vpon me, knew that it was the word of the Lord.

12 And I said vnto them, If ye thinke it good, giue me my [p] wages: and if no, leaue off: so they weighed for my wages thirtie pieces of siluer.

13 And the Lord said vnto me, Cast it vnto the [q] potter: a goodly price, that I was valued at of them. And I tooke the thirtie pieces of siluer, and cast them to the potter in the house of the Lord.

14 Then brake I mine other staffe, euen the bandes, that I might dissolue the brotherhood betweene Iudah and Israel.

15 And the Lorde saide vnto me, Take to thee yet [r] the instruments of a foolish shepheard.

16 For loe, I will raise vp a shepheard in the lande, which shall not looke for the thing, that is lost, nor seeke the tender lambes, nor heale that that is hurt, nor feede that that [s] standeth vp: but he shall eate the flesh of the fat, and teare their clawes in pieces.

17 O idole shepheard that leaueth the flocke: the sword shall be vpon his [t] arme, and vpon his right eye. His arme shall be cleane dried vp, and his right eye shall be vtterly darkened.

CHAP. XII.

Of the destruction and building againe of Ierusalem.

THe burden of the word of the Lord vpon [a] Israel, sayeth the Lord, which spread the heauens, and layde the foundation of the earth, and formed the spirite of man within him.

2 Behold, I wil make Ierusalem a [b] cup of poyson vnto all the people rounde about: and also with Iudah will he be, in the siege against Ierusalem.

3 And in that day wil I make Ierusalem an heauie stone for all people: all that lift it vp, shalbe torne, though all the people of the earth be gathered together against it.

4 In that day, saith the Lord, I wil smite euery horse with astonishment, and his rider with madnes, and I will open mine eyes vpon the house of Iudah, and will smite euery horse of the people with blindnesse.

5 And the princes of Iudah shall say in their hearts, The [c] inhabitants of Ierusalem shalbe my strength in the Lord of hostes their God.

6 In that day will I make the princes of Iudah like coles of fire among the wood, and like a fire brand in the sheafe, and they shall deuoure all the people rounde about on the right hand, and on the left: and Ierusalem shall be inhabited againe in her owne place, euen in Ierusalem.

7 The Lord also shal preserue the [d] tents of Iudah, as afore time: therefore the glorie of the house of Dauid shall not boast, nor the glory of the inhabitants of Ierusalem against Iudah.

8 In that day shal the Lord defend the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and he that is feeble among them, in that day shalbe as Dauid: and the house of Dauid shall be as Gods house, and as the Angel of the Lord before them.

9 And in that day will I seeke to destroy all the nations that come against Ierusalem.

10 And I will powre vpon the house of Dauid, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem the Spirite of [e] grace and of compassion, and they shall looke vpon me, whom they haue [f] pearced, and they shal lament for [g] him as one mourneth for his onely sonne, and be sory for him

b Shewing that if the strong men were destroyed, the weaker were not able to resist.

c Seeing that Lebanon was destroyed, which was the strongest munition, the weaker places could not thinke to hold out.

d That is, the renoume of Iudah and Israel should perish.

e Which being nowe destinate to be slaine, were deliuered as out of the lions mouth.

f Their gouernours destroy them without any remorse of conscience, or yet thinking that they doe euill.

g He noteth the hypocrites, which euer haue the Name of God in their mouthes, though in their life and doings they denie God, attributing their gaine to Gods blessing, which commeth of the spoile of their brethren.

h I will cause one to destroy another.

i Their gouernours shall execute cruelties ouer them.

k That is, the small remnant, whom hee thought worthy to shewe mercie vnto.

l God sheweth his great benefites toward his people to conuince them of greater ingratitude, which would neither be ruled by his most beautifull order of gouernement, neither continue in the bandes of brotherly vnitie, and therefore he breaketh both the one and the other. Some reade, for Bands Destroyers, but in the 14 verse the first reading is confirmed.

m Whereby he sheweth his care and diligence, that hee would suffer them to haue no euill rulers, because they should consider his great loue.

n Meaning the people, because they would not acknowledge these great benefites of God.

o Hee sheweth that the least part euer profite by Gods iudgements.

p Besides their ingratitude God accuseth them of malice and wickednesse, which did not onely forget his benefites, but esteemed them as things of nought.

q Shewing that it was too litle to pay his wages, which could scarse suffice to make a few ryles for to couer ỹ Temple.

r Signifying, that they should haue a certaine kinde of regiment, and outward shew of gouernement: but in effect it should be nothing: for they should be wolues, and deuouring beastes in stead of shepheards.

s And is in health and sound.

t By the arme he signifieth strength, as he doeth wisedome and iudgement by the eye: that is, the plague of God shall take away both thy strength and iudgement.

a That is, the ten tribes, which neglected Gods benefite in deliuering their brethren, and had rather remaine in captiuitie, then to returne home, when God called them.

b Ierusalem shal be defended against all her enemies: so shall God defend all Iudah also, and shall destroy the enemies.

c Euery captaine that had many vnder him afore, shall nowe thinke that the small power of Ierusalem shall be sufficient to defend them against all enemies, because the Lord is among them.

d The people which are nowe as it were dispersed by the fields, & lie open to their enemies, shall be no lesse preserued by my power, then if they were vnder their Kings, (which is meant by the house of Dauid) or in their defenced cities.

e They shal haue the feeling of my grace by faith, & know ỹ I haue cõpassion on thẽ.

f That is, whom they haue continually vexed with their obstinacie, & grieues my spirit. Iob. 19 37. where it is referred to Christs body, which here is referred to the Spirite of God.

g They shall turne to God by true repentance, whom before they had so grieuously offended by their ingratitude.

him as one is sore for his first borne.

11 In that day shall there be a great mourning in Jerusalem, as the [h] mourning of [i] Hadadrimmon in the valley of Megiddon.

12 And the [k] lande shall bewayle euery familie [l] apart, the familie of the [m] house of Dauid apart, and their wiues apart: the familie of the house of Nathan apart, and their wiues apart:

13 The familie of the house of Leui apart, and their wiues apart: the familie of [n] Shemei apart, and their wiues apart.

14 All the families that [o] remaine, euery familie apart, and their wiues apart.

h They shal lament and repent exceedingly for their offences against God.

i Which was the name of a towne and place neere to Megiddo where Iosiah was slaine, 2. Chro. 35. 22.

k That is, in all places where the Iewes shal remaine.

l Signifying that this mourning or repentance should not be a vaine ceremonie: but euery one touched with his owne griefe shal lament.

m Vnder these certain families he conteineth all tribes, and sheweth that both the Kings and the Priests had by their slaues pierced Christ.

n Called also Simeon.

o To wit, which were elect by grace, and preserued from the common destruction.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Of the fountaine of grace. 2 Of the cleane riddance of idolatrie. 3 The zeale of the godly against false prophets.

IN that day there [a] shalbe a fountaine opened to the house of Dauid, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, for sinne and for vncleannesse.

2 And in that day, saith the Lord of hostes, I will cut off the [b] names of the idoles out of the land: and they shal no more be remembred: and I will cause the [c] prophets, and the vncleane spirite to depart out of the land.

3 And when any shall yet [d] prophecie, his father and his mother that begate him, shal say vnto him, Thou shalt not liue: for thou speakest lies in the name of the Lorde: and his father and his mother that begate him, [e] shall thrust him through, when he prophecieth.

4 And in that day shall the prophets [f] be ashamed euery one of his vision, when hee hath prophesied: neither shall they weare a rough garment to deceiue.

5 But he shall say, I am no [g] Prophet: I am an husbandman: for man taught me to bee an heardman from my youth vp.

6 And one shall say vnto him, What are these [h] wounds in thine hands? Then shall hee answere, Thus was I wounded in the house of my friends.

7 ¶ Arise, O sworde, vpon my [i] shepheard, and vpon the man, that is my fellow, saith the Lord of hostes: smite the shepheard, & the sheep shalbe scattered: and I will turne mine hande vpon the litle ones.

8 And in all the lande, sayeth the Lord, [k] two parts therein shalbe cut off, and die: but the third shalbe left therein.

9 And I will bring that third part through the fire, and wil fine them as the siluer is fined, and will trie them as golde is tried: they shall call on my Name, and I will heare them: I will say, It is my people, and they shall say, The Lord is my God.

CHAP. XIIII.

8 Of the doctrine that shal proceed out of the Church, and of the restauration thereof.

BEholde, the day of the Lord commeth, and thy spoile shall be [a] diuided in the middes of thee.

2 For I wil gather all nations against Jerusalem to battell, and the citie shall be taken, and the houses spoiled, and the women defiled, and halfe of the citie shall go into captiuity, and the residue of the people shal not be cut off from the citie.

3 Then shall the Lord goe forth, and fight against those nations, as when [b] hee fought in the day of battell.

4 And his feete shall stand in that day vpon the [c] mount of oliues, which is before Jerusalem on the East side, and the mount of oliues shall cleaue in the middes thereof: toward the East and toward the West there shalbe a very great [d] valley, and halfe of the mountaine shall remoue towarde the North, and halfe of the mountaine toward the South.

5 And ye shall flee vnto the [e] valley of the mountaines: for the valley of the mountaines shall reach vnto Azal: yea, ye shal flee like as ye fled from the [f] earthquake in the dayes of Vzziah King of Iudah: and the Lorde my God shal come: and all the Saints with thee.

6 And in that day shall there bee no cleere light, but darke.

7 And there shall be a day (it is knowen to the Lord) [h] neither day nor night, but about the euening time it shall be light.

8 And in that day shall there [i] waters of life goe out from Jerusalem, halfe of them toward the East sea, and halfe of them toward the vttermost sea, and shalbe, both in sommer and winter.

9 And the Lord shall bee King ouer all the earth: in that day shal there be one [k] Lord, and his name shalbe one.

10 All the land shalbe turned [l] as a plaine from Geba to Rimmon, toward the South of Jerusalem, and it shall bee lifted vp, and inhabited in her place: from Beniamins gate vnto the place of the first gate, vnto the corner a He sheweth what shal be the fruit of their repentance, to wit, remission of sinnes, by the blood of Christ, which shalbe a continual running fountaine, and purge them from all vncleannesse.

b He promiseth that God will also purge them from all superstition, and that their religion shalbe pure.

c Meaning, the false prophets and teachers, who are the corrupters of all religion, whom the Prophet here calleth vncleane spirits.

d That is, when they shall prophesie lies, and make God, who is the authour of trueth, a cloake thereunto.

e He sheweth what zeale the godly shal haue vnder the kingdome of Christ, Deut. 13. 6, 9.

f God shall make them ashamed of their errours and lies, and bring them to repentance, and they shall no more weare Prophets apparel to make their doctrine seeme more holy.

g They shall confesse their former ignorance, and be content to labour for their liuing.

h Here by he sheweth that though their parents and friends dealt more gently with the, and put them not to death, yet they would so punish their children, that became false prophets, that the marks and signes should remaine for euer.

i The prophet warneth the Iewes, that before this great comfort should come vnder Christ, there should be an horrible dissipation among the people: for their gouernours and pastours should be destroyed, and the people should be as scattered sheepe: and the Euangelist applieth this to Christ, because he was the head of all Pastors, Matth. 26. 31.

k The greatest part shall haue their portion of these blessings, & yet they that shall enioy them, shal be tried with great affliction, so that it shalbe knowen that only Gods power and his mercies doe preserue them.

a He armeth the godly against the great tentations that should come, before they enioyed this prosperous estate promised vnder Christ, that when these dangers should come, they might know, that they were warned of them afore.

b As your fathers, and you haue had experience both at the red sea and at all other times.

c By this maner of speech the Prophet sheweth Gods power and care ouer his Church, and how he wil as it were by miracle saue it.

d So that out of all the partes of the world, they shal see Jerusalem, which was before hid with this mountaine: and this he meaneth of the spirituall Jerusalem the Church.

e He speaketh of the hypocrits, which could not abide Gods presence, but should flee into all places, where they might hide them among the mountains.

f Reade Amos 1. 1.

g Because they did not credit the Prophets words he turneth to God, and comforteth himselfe in that that he knew that these things should come, and saith, Then, O God, with thine Angels wilt come to performe this great thing.

h Signifying, that there should be great troubles in the Church, and that the time hereof is in the Lords hands, yet at length (which is here meant by the euening) God would send comfort.

i That is, the spirituall graces of God, which should euer continue in most abundance.

k All idolatry and superstition shalbe abolished, and there shalbe one God, one faith, and one religion.

l This new Jerusalem shalbe seene through all the world, and shall excel the first in excellencie, wealth and greatnesse.

gate, gate, and from the towre of Hananiel, vnto the Kings wine preſſes.

11 And men ſhall dwell in it, and there ſhall bee no more deſtruction, but Ieruſalem ſhall be ſafely inhabited.

12 And this ſhalbe the plague, wherewith the Lord wil ſmite all people, that haue fought againſt Ieruſalem: their fleſh ſhall conſume away, though they ſtand vpon their feete, and their eyes ſhall conſume in their holes, and their tongue ſhal conſume in their mouth.

13 But in that day [m] a great tumult of the Lorde ſhall bee among them, and euery one ſhall take [n] the hand of his neighbour, and his hand ſhall riſe vp againſt the hand of his neighbour.

14 And Iudah ſhall fight alſo againſt Ieruſalem, and the arme of all the heathen ſhall be gathered round about, with [o] golde and ſiluer, and great abundance of apparell.

15 Yet this ſhalbe the plague of the horſe, of the mule, of the camell and of the aſſe and of all the beaſtes that be in theſe tentes as this [p] plague.

16 But it ſhal come to paſſe that euery one that is left of all [p] nations, which came againſt Ieruſalem, ſhall goe vp from yeere to yeere to worſhip the king the Lord of hoſts, and to keep the feaſt of Tabernacles.

17 And who ſo will not come vp of all the families of the earth vnto Ieruſalem to worſhip the King the Lorde of hoſtes, euen vpon them ſhall come no raine.

18 And if the familie of [q] Egypt goe not vp, and come not, it ſhall not raine vpon them. This ſhall be the plague wherewith the Lorde will ſmite all the heathen, that come not vp to keepe the feaſt of Tabernacles.

19 This ſhall bee the puniſhment of Egypt, and the puniſhment of all the nations that come not vp to keepe the feaſt of Tabernacles.

20 In that day ſhall there be written vpon [r] the bridles of the horſes, The holineſſe vnto the Lorde, and the [s] pottes in the Lordes houſe ſhall be like the bowels before the altar.

21 Yea, euery pot in Ieruſalem and Iudah ſhalbe holy vnto the Lord of hoſtes, and all they that ſacrifice, ſhall come and take of them, and ſeethe therein: and in that day there ſhall bee no more the [t] Canaanite in the Houſe of the Lorde of hoſtes.

[m] God will not ſuffer rayſe vp warre without, but ſeditions at home to trie them.

[n] To hurt, and oppreſſe him.

[o] The enemies ſhall be rich, & there ſhall not come for a pray, but to deſtroy and ſhed blood.

[p] As the men ſhould be deſtroyed, Deut. 12.

[q] By the Egyptians, which were greateſt enemies to true religion, be meaneth all the Gentiles.

[r] Signifying, that to what ſeruice they were put now (whether to labour, or to ſerue in warre) they were now holy, becauſe the Lord had ſanctified them.

[s] As precious the one as the other, becauſe they ſhalbe ſanctified.

[t] But all ſhalbe pure, & cleane, and there ſhall neither be hypocrite, or any that ſhall corrupt the true ſeruice of God.

MALACHI.

THE ARGVMENT.

THis Prophet was one of the three, which God raiſed vp for the comfort of his Church after the captiuitie, and after him there was no more vntill Iohn Baptiſt was ſent, which was either a token of Gods wrath, or an admonition that they ſhoulde with more feruent deſires looke for the comming of Meſſiah. He confirmeth the ſame doctrine, that the two former doe, but chiefly he reproueth the Prieſts for their couetouſneſſe, and for that they ſerued God after their owne fantaſies, and not according to the preſcript of his worde. He alſo noteth certaine peculiar ſinnes, which were then among them, as marrying of idolatrous and many wiues, murmurings againſt God, impatiencie, and ſuch like. Notwithſtanding, for the comfort of the godly, he declareth that God would not forget his promiſe made vnto their fathers, but would ſend Chriſt his meſſenger, in whom the couenant ſhould be accompliſhed, whoſe comming ſhould be terrible to the wicked, and bring all conſolation and ioy vnto the godly.

CHAP. I.

A complaint againſt Iſrael and chiefly the Prieſts.

THe [a] burden of the word of the Lorde to Iſrael by the miniſtery of Malachi.

2 I haue loued you, ſaith the Lord: yet ye ſay, Wherein haſt thou loued vs? Was not Eſau Iaakobs brother, ſaieth the Lorde? yet I loued Iaakob,

3 And I [c] hated Eſau, and made his mountaines waſte, and his heritage a wildernes for dragons.

4 Though Edom ſay, Wee are impouerished, but wee will returne and build the deſolate places, yet ſaith the Lorde of hoſtes, They ſhall builde, but I will deſtroy it, and they ſhall call them, The border of wickednes, and the people, with whom the Lorde is angry for euer.

5 And your eyes ſhal ſee it, and ye ſhal ſay, The Lord will bee magnified vpon the border of Iſrael.

6 A ſonne honoureth his father, & a ſeruant his maſter, If then I be a father, where is mine honour? & if I be a maſter, where is my feare, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes vnto you, [d] O Prieſts, that deſpiſe my Name? and ye ſay, [e] Wherein haue we deſpiſed thy Name?

7 Yee offer [f] vncleane bread vpon mine altar, and you ſay, Wherein haue wee polluted thee? In that ye ſay the table of the Lord is not [g] to be regarded.

8 And if yee offer the blinde for ſacrifice,

[a] Reade Iſa. 13. 1.

[b] Which declareth their great ingratitude that did not acknowledge this loue, which was ſo euident, in that he choſe Abraham from out of all the world, and next choſe Iaakob the ponger brother of whom they came, and left Eſau the elder.

[c] For beſides that the ſignes of mine hatred appeared euen when he was made ſeruant vnto his ponger brother, being yet in his mothers belly, and alſo afterwarde in that he was put from his birthright, yet euen now before your eyes the ſignes hereof are euident, in that that his country lieth waſte, and he ſhal neuer returne to inhabite it, whereas ye my people, whom the enemie hated more then them, are by my grace and loue towarde you deliuered, reade Rom. 9. 13.

[d] Beſides the reſt of the people be condemneth the prieſts chiefly, becauſe they ſhuld haue reproued others for their hypocriſie, and obſtinacie againſt God, and not haue hardened them by their example to greater euils.

[e] Hee noteth their groſſe hypocriſie, which would not ſee their faults, but moſt impudently couered them, & ſo were blinde guides.

[f] He receiue all maner offrings for your vnthankfulneſſe, and doe not examine whether they be according to my Law or no. [g] Not that they ſaide thus, but by their deedes, they declared no leſſe.

it it is [b] not euill: and if ye offer the lame and the sicke, it is not euil: offer it now vnto thy prince: will he be content with thee, or accept thy person, saith the Lord of hostes.

9 And nowe, I pray you, [i] pray before God, that hee may haue mercie vpon vs: this hath bene by your meanes: will hee regarde [k] your persons, saith the Lord of hosts.

10 Who is there euen among you, [l] that would shut the doores, and kindle not fire on mine altar in vaine? I haue no pleasure in you, saith the Lord of hostes, neither will I accept an offring at your hand.

11 For from the rising of the sunne vnto the going downe of the same, my Name is [m] great among the Gentiles, & in euery place incense shall be offered vnto my Name, and a pure offering: for my Name is great among the heathen, saith the Lord of hosts.

12 But ye haue polluted it, in that ye say, The table of the Lorde is [n] polluted and the fruite thereof, euen his meate is not to bee regarded.

13 Yee saide also, Beholde, it is a [o] wearinesse, and ye haue snuffed at it, saith the Lorde of hostes, and ye offered that which was torne, and the lame and the sicke: thus yee offered an offring: should I accept this of your hande, saith the Lord?

14 But cursed be the deceiuer, which hath in his flocke [p] a male, and voweth, and sacrificeth vnto the Lord a corrupt thing: for I am a great King, saith the Lorde of hostes, and my Name is terrible among the heathen.

of your solemne feasts, and you shall be like vnto it.

4 And ye shall know, that I haue [r] sent this commaundement vnto you, that my couenant, which I made with Leui, might stande, saith the Lord of hostes.

5 My couenaunt was with him of life and peace, and I [h] gaue him feare, and hee feared me, and was afraid before [i] my Name.

6 The lawe of [k] trueth was in his mouth, and there was no iniquitie founde in his lips: hee walked with me in peace and equitie, and did turne many away from iniquitie.

7 For the Priests [l] lippes should preserue knowledge, and they should seeke the Lawe at his mouth: for hee is the [m] messenger of the Lord of hosts.

8 But yee are gone out of the way: yee haue caused many to fall by the Law: ye haue broken the couenant of Leui, saith the Lorde of hostes.

9 Therefore haue I also made you to be despised, and vile before all the people, because ye kept not my wayes, but haue bene partiall in the Law.

10 Haue we not all one [n] father? hath not one God made vs? why doe we transgresse euery one against his brother, and breake the couenant of [o] our fathers?

11 Iudah hath transgressed, and an abomination is committed in Israel and in Ierusalem: for Iudah hath defiled the holinesse of the Lord, which he loued, and hath married the [p] daughter of a strange god.

12 The Lorde will cut off the man that doeth this: both the master and the seruant out of the Tabernacle of Iaakob, and him that [q] offereth an offering vnto the Lorde of hostes.

13 And this haue yee done againe, and [r] couered the altar of the Lorde with teares, with weeping and with mourning: because the offering is no more regarded, neither receiued acceptably at your hands.

14 Yet yee say, [s] Wherein? Because the Lord hath bene witnes betweene thee and the wife of thy youth, against whome thou hast transgressed: yet is she thy [t] companion, and the wife of thy [u] couenant.

15 And did not [x] he make one? yet had he [y] abundance of spirite: and wherefore one? because hee sought a godly [z] seede: therefore

CHAP. II.

Threatnings against the Priests being seducers of the people.

AND now, O ye [a] Priests, this commaundement is for you.

2 If yee will not heare it, nor consider it in your heart, to giue glorie [b] vnto my Name, saith the Lord of hostes, I wil euen send a curse vpon you, and will curse your [c] blessings: yea, I haue cursed them already, because ye doe not consider it in your heart.

3 Behold, I wil corrupt [d] your seed, & cast doung vpon your faces, euen the [e] doung b You make it no fault: whereby he be condemneth them, that thinke it sufficient to serue God partly as he hath commanded, and partly after mans fantasie.

c So come not to that purenesse of religion, which he requireth, and therefore in reproch he sheweth them that a mortal man would not be content to be so serued.

i He reuileth the Priests who bare the people in hand, that they prayed for them, and sheweth that they were the occasion, that these euils came vpon the people.

k Will God consider your office and state, seeing you are so couetous, & wicked?

l Because the Levites, who kept the doores, did not trie whether the sacrifices that came in, were according to the Law, God wisheth that they would rather shut the doores then to receiue such as were not perfit.

m God sheweth that their ingratitude, and neglect of his true seruice shall be the cause of the calling of the Gentiles: and here the Prophet that was vnder the Lawe framed his wordes to the capacitie of the people, and by the altar and sacrifice hee meaneth the spirituall seruice of God, which should bee vnder the Gospel, when an ende shoulde be made to all these legal ceremonies by Christes onely sacrifice. n Both the Priests and the people were infected with this errour, that they passed not what was offered: for they thought that God was as wel content with the leane as with the fatte: but in the meane season they shewed not that obedience to God, which he required, and so committed both impietie, and also shewed their contempt of God, and couetousnesse. o The Priests and people were both wearie with seruing God, and passed not what manner of sacrifice and seruice they gaue to God, for that which was leall profitable, was thought good enough for the Lorde. p That is, hath habilitie to serue the Lord according to his word, and yet wil serue him according to his couetous mind.

r The Priests obiected against the Prophet that he could not reproue them, but he must speake against the Priesthood, and the office established of God by promise, but he sheweth, that the office is nothing slaundered when these dilaines and doung are called by their own names.

g He sheweth what were the two conditions of the couenant made with the tribe of Leui, on Gods part, that he would giue them long life and felicitie, and on their part, that they should faithfully serue him according to his word.

h I prescribed Leui a certaine law to serue me.

i He serued me and set forth my glory with all humilitie and submission.

k He sheweth that the Priest ought to haue knowledge to instruct other in the word of the Lord.

l He is as the treasure house of Gods word and ought to giue to euery one according to their necessity, and not to reserue it for himselfe.

m She wing, that whosoeuer doeth not declare Gods will, is not his messenger, and Priest.

n The Prophet accuseth the ingratitude of the Iewes toward God and man: for seeing they were all borne of one father Abraham, and God had elected them to be his holy people, they ought neither to offend God nor their brethren. o Whereby they had bound themselues to God to be an holy people. p They haue ioyned themselues in marriage with them that are of another religion. q That is, the Priests. r Be cause the people to lament, because that God doth not regard their sacrifices, so they seeme to sacrifice in vaine. s This is another fault, whereof he accuseth them, that is, that they breake the lawes of mariage. t As the one halfe of thy selfe. u She that was ioyned to thee by a solemne couenant, and by the inuocation of Gods name. x Did not God make man and woman as one flesh and not many? y By his power and vertue he could haue made many women for one man. z Such as should be borne in lawfull and moderate mariage, wherein is no excesse of lusts.

a He speaketh vnto them chiefly, but vnder them he conteyneth the people also.

b To serue me according to my word.

c That is, the abundance of Gods benefites.

d Your seede shall come to no profite.

e You boast of your holinesse, sacrifices and feasts, but they shal turne to your shame, and be as vile as doung.

keepe your selues in your [a] spirite, and let none trespasse against the wife of his youth.

16 If thou hatest her, [b] put her away, saith the Lorde God of Israel, yet hee coureth [c] the iniurie vnder his garment, saieth the Lorde of hostes: therefore keepe your selues in your spirite, and transgresse not.

17 Ye haue [d] wearied the Lord with your wordes: yet ye say, Wherein haue we wearied him? When ye say, Euery one that [e] doeth euill, is good in the sight of the Lorde, and hee delileth in them. Or where is the God of [f] iudgement?

a Conteine your selues within your bounds, and be sober in minde, and bridle your affections.
b Not that hee doeth allowe diuorcement, but of the two faults hee sheweth, which is the lesse.
c He thinketh it sufficient to keepe his wife still, albeit hee take others, and so as it were couereth his fault.
d Ye murmured against God, because he heard not you alsoone as yee called.
e In thinking that God fauoured the wicked, and hath no respect to them that serue him. f Thus they blaspheme God in condemning his power and iustice, because he iudged not according to their fantasies.

9 Yee are cursed with a curse: for ye haue spoyled me, euen this whole nation.

10 Bring yee all the tythes into the storehouse that there may be meate in mine House, and proue me now herewith, saith the Lorde of hostes, if I will not open the windowes of heauen vnto you, and powre you out a blessing [k] without measure.

11 And I will rebuke the [l] deuourer for your sakes, and hee shall not destroy the fruite of your ground, neither shall your vine bee barren in the fielde, sayeth the Lorde of hostes.

12 And all nations shall call you blessed: for ye shall be a pleasant land, saith the Lord of hostes.

13 Your wordes haue bene stout [m] against me, saith the Lord: yet ye say, What haue wee spoken against thee?

14 Yee haue saide, It is in vaine to serue God: and what profite is it that we haue kept his commandement, and that we walked humbly before the Lord of hostes?

15 Therefore wee count the proude blessed: euen they that worke wickednesse, are set vp, and they that tempt God, yea, they are [n] deliuered.

16 [o] Then spake they that feared the Lord, euery one to his neighbour, and the Lorde hearkened and hearde it, and a [p] booke of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lorde, and that thought vpon his Name.

17 And they shalbe to me, saieth the Lorde of hostes, in that day [q] that I shall doe this, for a flocke, and I will [r] spare them, as a man spareth his owne sonne that serueth him.

18 Then shall you returne, and discerne betweene the righteous and wicked, betweene him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

k Not hauing respect howe much ye needs, but I will giue you in al abundance: so that ye shall lacke place to put my blessings in.
l Meaning, the caterpiller, and whatsoeuer destroyeth corne and fruits.
m The prophet condemneth them of double blasphemie against God first in that they said that God had no respect to them that feared him, and next that the wicked were more in his fauour then the godly.
n They are not onely preserued to honour, but also deliuered from dangers.
o After their admonitions of the Prophet some were lively touched, and encouraged others to feare God.
p Both because the thing was strange that some turned to God in that great and vniuersall corruption, and also that this might be an example of Gods mercies to all penitent sinners.
q When I shall restore my Church according to my promise.
r That is, forgiue their sinnes, and gouerne them with my Spirite.

CHAP. III.

1 Of the messenger of the Lorde, Iohn Baptist, and of Christs office.

BEholde, I will send my [a] messenger, and he shal prepare the way before mee: and the [b] Lord whom ye seek, shal speedily come to his Temple: euen the [c] messenger of the couenant whom ye desire: behold, he shal come, saith the Lord of hostes.

2 But who [d] may abide the day of his comming? and who shall endure, when hee appeareth? for he is like a purging fire, and like Fullers sope.

3 And he shal sit down to trie and fine the siluer: he shal euen fine the sonnes of [e] Leui and purifie them as golde and siluer, that they may bring offerings vnto the Lorde in righteousnesse.

4 Then shal the offrings of Iudah and Ierusalem be acceptable vnto the Lord, as in olde time and in the yeeres afore.

5 And I will come neere to you to iudgement, and I will be a swift witnes against the southsayers, and against the adulterers, and against falle swearers, and against those that wrongfully keepe backe the hirelings wages, and vexe the widowe, and the fatherlesse, and oppresse the stranger, and feare not mee, saieth the Lord of hosts.

6 For I am the Lorde: I change not, and ye sonnes of Iaakob [f] are not consumed.

7 From the dayes of your fathers, yee are gone away from mine ordinances, and haue not kept them: [g] returne vnto mee, and I will returne vnto you, saith the Lord of hostes: but ye said, Wherein shall we returne?

8 Will a [h] man spoile his gods? yet haue ye spoyled me: but ye say, Wherein haue wee spoyled thee? In [i] tithes, and offerings.

a This is meant of Iohn Baptist, as Christ expounded it, Luke 7.27.
b Meaning Messiah, as Psal. 40.1,7. dan. 9.17,25.
c That is, Christ by whom the couenant was made, and ratified, who is called the Angel or messenger of the couenant because he reconcileth vs to his Father: and is Lord or King, because hee hath the gouernment of his Church.
d Hee sheweth that the hypocrites which wish so much for the Lordes comming, will not abide when hee draweth neere: for hee will consume them, and purge his, and make them cleane.
e He beginneth at the Priests that they might be lights and shine vnto others.
f They murmured against God because they saw not his helpe euer present to defend them: and therefore he accuseth them of ingratitude, and sheweth that in that they are not daily consumed, it is a token, that he doeth still defend them: and so his mercy toward them neuer changeth. g Reade Zecha. 1.3. h There are none of the heathen so barbarous, that will defraude their gods of their honour, or deale deceitfully with them. i Whereby the seruice of God should haue bene maintened, and the Priests and the poore relieued.

CHAP. IIII.

The day of the Lorde, before the which Eliah shoulde come.

FOr beholde, the day commeth that shall [a] burne as an ouen, and all the proude, yea, and all that doe wickedly, shall bee stubble, and the day that commeth, shall burne them vp, sayeth the Lorde of hostes, and shall leaue them neyther roote nor branch.

2 But vnto you that feare my Name, shall the [b] sunne of righteousnesse arise, and a He prophecieth of Gods iudgements against the wicked, who would not receiue Christ, when as God should send him for the restauration of his Church.

b Meaning, Christ, who with his wings or beames of his grace should lighten & comfort his Church. Ephe. 5.14. and he is called the sunne of righteousnesse because in himselfe he hath all perfection, and also the instrument of the Father whereby he regenerateth vs into righteousnes, cleanseth vs from the filth of this world, and reformeth vs to the image of God.

healthy shalbe vnder his wings, and ye shal c go c Ye shall be set at liberty and increase in the ioy of the Spirit, 2.Cor.3.17.
foorth, and grow vp as fat calues.

3 And yee shall tread downe the wicked: for they shall bee dust vnder the soles of your feete in the day that I shall doe this, saieth the Lord of hostes.

4 d Remember the lawe of Moses my seruant, which I commaunded vnto him in Horeb for all Israel, with the statutes and iudgements.

d Because the time was come that the Iewes should be destitute of Prophets vntil the time of Christ, bicause they should with mare feruent mindes desire his comming, the Prophet exhorteth them to exercise themselues diligently in iudging the Lawe of Moses in the meane season, whereby they might continue in the true religion, and also be armed against all temptations.

5 Beholde, I will send you e Eliiah the Prophet before the comming of the great and f fearefull day of the Lord.

6 And he shall g turne the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of their children to their fathers, least I come h and smite the earth with cursing.

e This Christ expounded of Iohn Baptist, Matth.11.13, 14. who both by his zeale, and restoring of religion is aptly compared to Eliiah.

f Which as it is true for the wicked, so doeth it waken the godly and call them to repentance.

g He sheweth wherein Johns office should stand: in the turning of men to God, and ioyning the father and children in one vnitie of faith: so that the father shal turne to the religion of his sonne which is conuerted vnto Christ, and the sonne shall imbrace the faith of the true fathers, Abraham, Izhak and Iaakob.

h The second point of his office was to denounce Gods iudgements against them that would not receiue Christ.

The end of the Prophets.

APOCRYPHA.

THE ARGVMENT.

THese bookes that follow in order after the Prophets vnto the Newe Testament, are called Apocrypha, that is, bookes, which were not receiued by a common consent to be read & expounded publikely in the Church, neither yet serued to prooue any poynt of Christian religion, saue in asmuch as they had consent of the other Scriptures called Canonicall to confirme the same, or rather whereon they were grounded: but as bookes proceeding from godly men, were receiued to be read for the aduancement and furtherance of the knowledge of the historie, and for the instruction of godly maners: which bookes declare that at all times God had an especiall care of his Church, & left them not vtterly destitute of teachers and meanes to confirme them in the hope of the promised Messiah, and also witnesse that those calamities that God sent to his Church, were according to his prouidence, who had both so threatned by his Prophets, and so brought it to passe for the destruction of their enemies, and for the triall of his children.

I. ESDRAS.

CHAP. I.

1 Iosias appoynteth Priestes, and keepeth the Passeouer. 7 Offrings for the Priests and the people. 11 The order of the Leuites. 23 The vpright life of Iosias. 25 His death and the occasion thereof, and the lamentation for him. 34 Ioachaz appoynted King. 53 The destruction of Ierusalem.

AND Iosias kept the * Passeouer to his Lord in Ierusalem, and offered the Passeouer in the fourteeneth day of the first moneth,

* 2. King. 23. 21. 2. chro. 35. 1.

2 And appoynted the Priestes according to their dayly courses, being clothed with long garments in the Temple of the Lord.

3 And hee spake to the Leuites the holy Ministers of Israel, that they shoulde sanctifie themselues to the Lord, to set the holy Arke of the Lorde in the House, which Salomon the sonne of King Dauid had built,

4 And sayde, Yee shall no more beare the Arke vpon your shoulders: nowe therefore serue the Lord your God, and take the charge of his people of Israel, and prepare according to your families and tribes,

5 After the writing of Dauid king of Israel, and according to the Maiestie of Salomon his sonne, and stand in the Temple (according to the order of the dignitie of your fathers the Leuites) which were appointed before your brethren the children of Israel.

6 Offer in order the Passeouer, and make readie the sacrifices for your brethren, and keepe the Passeouer after the Lords commandement giuen to Moyses.

7 And Iosias gaue to the people that was present, thirtie thousand lambes and kiddes with three thousand calues.

8 These were giuen of the Kings possessions according to the promise, to the people, and to the Priestes, and to the Leuites. Then gaue Helkias and Zacharias and ‖ Syelus the gouernours of the Temple, to the Priests for the Passeouer two thousand fiue hundreth sheepe, and three hundreth calues. ‖ Or, Iehiel.

9 Furthermore, Iechonias, & Samaias, and Nathanael the brother, and ‖ Sabaias and ‖ Chielus, and ‖ Iozam captaines gaue to the Leuites for the Passeouer fiue thousande sheepe, and seuen hundreth calues. ‖ Or, Hasibias. ‖ Or, Iehiel. ‖ Or, Choraba.

10 And when these things were done, the Priests and the Leuites stood in order, hauing vnleauened bread according to their tribes, 11 And after the order of the dignitie of their fathers, before the people to offer to the Lord, as it is written in the bookes of Moises: and thus they did in the morning.

12 And they rosted the Passeouer with fire as * apperteined, and they sod their offerings with perfumes in caldrons and pottes, * Exod. 12. 1.

13 And set it before all them that were of the people, and afterwarde they prepared for themselues, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

14 For the Priests offered the fatte vnto the Euening, and the Leuites did make ready for themselues, and for the Priestes their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

15 And the holy singers, the sonnes of Asaph, were in their orders, according to the appoynted ordinances of Dauid, to wit, Asaph, and Azarias, and ‖ Eddinus, which was of the Kings appoynting. ‖ Or, Iedithun.

16 And the porters were at euery gate, so that it was not lawfull, that any shoulde passe his ordinarie wateh: for their brethren the Leuites made ready for them.

17 And in that day those things which apperteined to the sacrifice of the Lord, were accomplished, that they might offer ỳ Passeouer, 18 And offer sacrifices vpon the altar of the Lorde, according to the commaundement of King Iosias.

19 So the children of Israel, which were present at that time, kept the Passeouer and the feast of vnleauened bread seuen dayes.

20 And there was not such a Passeouer kept in Israel since the time of Samuel the Prophet.

21 And al the kings of Israel did not offer such a Passeouer, as did Iosias, & the Priestes, and the Leuites, and the Iewes, & all Israel, which were found to remaine in Ierusalem.

22 In the eighteenth yeere of the reigne of Iosias was this Passeouer kept.

23 The workes of Iosias were vpright before his Lord with a heart full of godlinesse.

24 And concerning the things which came to passe in his time, they are written before, to wit, of those that sinned and did wickedly againe the Lorde, aboue euery nation and kingdome, and grieued him with ‖ sensible things, so that the wordes of the Lord stood vp against Israel.

‖ Or, by worshipping sensible creatures.

* 2. Chro. 35. 20.

25 ¶ * Now after all these acts of Iosias, it came to passe that when Pharao king of Egypt came to moone warre at Carchamis vpon Euphrates, Iosias went out against him.

* 2. King. 23. 30. 2. chro. 36. 1.

26 But the King of Egypt sent to him, saying, What haue I to doe with thee, O King of Iudea?

27 I am not sent of the Lord God against thee: but my warre is vpon Euphrates, and nowe the Lord is with me, and the Lord hasteneth me forward: depart from me, and be not against the Lord.

28 But Iosias would not turne backe his chariot frō him, but prepared himselfe to fight with him, not regarding the wordes of Ieremias the Prophet by the mouth of the Lord.

29 But hee set himselfe in battell aray against him in the fielde of Megiddo, and the Princes came downe to king Iosias.

30 And the king sayde to his seruants, Conuey mee out of the battell, for I am very weake. And by and by his seruants brought him out of the battell.

31 So he gate vp on his second chariot, & being come againe to Ierusalem hee changed his life, and was buried in his fathers graue.

32 And in al Iudea was Iosias bewailed, yea, Ieremias the Prophet did lament for Iosias, & the gouernors & their wiues did lament him vnto this day: and this was ordeined in al the kinred of Israel, to be done continually.

33 But these things are written in ỳ booke of the stories of the kings of Iudea, and euery one of the actes that Iosias did, and his glorie and his knowledge in the Lawe of the Lord, and the things which he did before, and the things nowe rehearsed are registred in the booke of the kings of Israel and Iudea.

34 Then they of the nation tooke * Joachaz the sonne of Iosias, and made him king in steade of his father Iosias, when hee was three and twentie yeere olde.

35 And hee reigned in Iudea and Ierusalem three moneths: for the king of Egypt deposed him from reigning in Ierusalem.

36 He tared the people also of an hundreth talents of siluer, and one talent of gold.

37 And the king of Egypt made Joacim his brother king of Iudea and Ierusalem.

38 And hee bound Joachas and his gouernours: but when hee had taken Zaraces his brother, he led him away into Egypt.

39 Twentie and fiue yere olde was Joacim, when hee reigned in Iudea and Ierusalem, and he did euill in the sight of the Lord.

40 Wherefore against him came vp Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, who when he had bound him with a chaine of brasse, led him away into Babylon.

41 Then Nabuchodonosor tooke of the holy vessels of the Lorde, and caried them away, and set them in his Temple at Babylon.

42 But all his actes, and his prophanation, and his reproch are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings.

43 And Joacim his sonne reigned for him: and when hee was made King, hee was eighteene yeere olde.

44 And hee reigned three moneths and ten dayes in Ierusalem, and hee did euill in the sight of the Lord.

45 ¶ So a yeere after Nabuchodonosor sent and brought him to Babylon with the holy vessels of the Lord.

46 And he made Sedecias king of Iudea and Ierusalem, when he was one and twentie yeere olde, and he reigned eleuen yeeres.

47 And he did euil in the sight of the Lord, neither did he feare the wordes spoken * by Ieremias ỳ Prophet from ỳ mouth of the Lord.

48 For after that hee was sworne to king Nabuchodonosor, he forsware himselfe by the Name of the Lord and fell away, and hardened his necke and his heart, and transgressed the lawes of the Lord God of Israel.

49 Also the gouernours of the people, and the Priests cōmitted many things against the Lawes and passed all the pollutions of all nations, and polluted the Temple of the Lord, which was sanctified in Ierusalem.

50 Neuertheless the God of their fathers sent his messenger to call them backe, because he spared them and his owne Tabernacle.

51 But

51 But they derided his messengers, and in the day that the Lord spake vnto them, they mocked his Prophets, 52 So that hee, being mooued to anger against his people for their great wickednesse, commaunded the Kings of the Caldeans to inuade them.

53 These killed their yong men with the sword round about their holy Temple, neyther did they spare yong man, nor mayden, neither olde man, nor childe among them.

54 But hee deliuered them all into their hands, and al the holy vessels of the Lord, both great and small with the vessels of the Arke of God: and they tooke, and caried away the Kings treasures into Babylon.

55 And they set fire in the Houle of the Lord, and brake downe the walles of Jerusalem, and burnt their townes with fire.

56 They consumed also all the precious things thereof, and brought them to nought, and those that were left by the sword he caried away into Babylon.

57 And they were seruants to him, & to his children till the Persians reigned, to fulfil the *Ier.25.11, and 29.10. word of the Lord by the mouth of *Jeremias, 58 And that the lande might enioy her Sabbaths all the time, that it was desolate, till seuentie yeeres were accomplished.

CHAP. II.

1 Cyrus gaue leaue to the Iewes to returne. 10 Hee sent the holy vessels. 13 The names of them that returned. 16 Their aduersaries did let their building, and the Kings letters for the same.

2.Chro.36.22, Ezra.1.1. IN the first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus king of the Persians, to fulfill the word of the Lord by the mouth of Jeremias,

2 The Lorde raised vp the spirit of Cyrus king of the Persians, and hee made proclamation throughout all his kingdome, euen by expresse letters,

3 Saying, Thus saith Cyrus king of the Persians, The Lord of Israel, euen the most high Lord hath made me king ouer the whole world,

4 And he hath commanded me to build him an house in Jerusalem, which is in Judea.

5 If there bee any therefore of you of his people, let the Lorde, euen his Lord bee with him, & let him goe vp to Jerusalem, which is in Judea, and build the house of the Lord of Israel: hee is the true Lord which dwelleth in Jerusalem.

6 All they then that dwell in the places round about, those, I say, that are in his place, let them helpe him with gold and siluer,

7 With gifts, with horses and cattell, and other things, which shall be brought according to the vowes into the Temple of the Lord, which is in Jerusalem.

8 Then arose the chiefe of the families of Judea, and of the tribe of Beniamin, and the Priestes and Leuites, and all whose minde the Lord had mooued to goe vp, and builde an house to the Lord in Jerusalem.

9 And those that were about them, helped them in all things with siluer and golde, horses, and cattell, and with diuers vowes of many whose mindes were stirred vp.

10 Also king Cyrus brought out the holy vessels of the Lord, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of Jerusalem, and had consecrated them in the Temple of his idoles.

11 Now when Cyrus king of the Persians had brought them out, hee deliuered them to Mithridates his treasurer,

12 By whom they were giuen to ‖ Abassar the gouernour of Judea. ‖Or, Shashbazar, or, Sanaballar, 13 Whereof this was the number: a thousand golden cups, and a thousand siluer cups, basins of siluer for the sacrifices, nine and twentie vials, of golde thirtie, and of siluer two thousand, foure hundreth and ten, and a thousand other vessels.

14 So all the vessels of golde and siluer, which they caried away, were fiftie thousand, foure hundreth, threescore and nine.

15 They were brought by Sanaballar with them of the captiuitie of Babylon to Jerusalem.

19 But *in the time of Artaxerxes king of the Persians ‖ Belemus, and Mithridates, and Tabellius, and Rathumus, and Beelte-thimus, and ‖ Semellius the secretarie, and others which were ioyned to these, dwelling in Samaria and in other places, wrote vnto him this Epistle here following against them, that dwelt in Judea and Jerusalem, To The King Artaxerxes Our Lord, *Ezra.4.9. ‖Or, Bishlemus; ‖Or, Shimshai.

17 Thy seruants, Rathumus the writer of things that come to passe, and Semellius the secretarie and the rest of their counsel, and the iudges which are in Coelosyria and Phenice.

18 Be it therefore knowen to our Lorde the king, that the Iewes which came vp from you, are come to vs into Jerusalem, that rebellious & wicked citie, and build the market places, and make vp the walles thereof, and lay the foundations of the Temple.

19 Therefore if this citie be built, and the walles be finished, they will not onely not indure to pay tribute, but wil also resist kings.

20 And because the things pertaining to the Temple, goe forward, we thought it not meete to passe ouer such a thing,

21 But to declare it to our Lord the king, that if it be thy pleasure, it may bee sought out in the bookes of thy fathers,

22 And thou shalt finde in the Chronicles the writings concerning these things, and shalt know that this citie did alwayes rebell, and did trouble both kings and cities, 23 And that the Iewes are rebellious, raising alwayes warres therein: for the which cause also this citie was made desolate.

24 Nowe therefore, O lord the king, we declare it, that if this citie be built & the walles thereof repaired, you shal haue no more passage into Coelosyria, nor Phenice.

24 ¶ Then the king wrote againe to Rathumus, that wrote the things that came to passe, and to Beeltethmus, and to Samellius the secretarie, & to the rest of those ẏ were ioyned with them, & to the dwellers of Samaria, Syria and Phenice, these things that follow.

26 I haue read the Epistle, which you sent to me: therefore I commaunded, that it should be sought out, and it was found, that this citie hath alwayes practised against Kings, 27 And that the men thereof were giuen to rebellion and warres, and howe that mightie kings and fierce haue reigned in Ierusalem, which tooke tribute of Coelosyria, & Phenice.

28 Now therefore I haue commanded to forbid these men to build vp the citie, and that it be taken heed that no more be done,

29 And that those wicked things, which should molest the king, goe not forward:

30 Then when Rathumus, and Semellius the secretarie and the rest, which were ioyned with them, had read the things, which king Artaxerres had written, they mooued their tentes with speede to Ierusalem with horses and men in aray, 31 And began to let them which built, so that the building of the Temple in Ierusalem ceased vnto the second peere of the reigne of Darius king of the Persians.

CHAP. III.

The feast of Darius. 16 The three wise sentences.

NOwe when Darius reigned, he made a great feast to all his subiects and to all those of his owne house, and to al the Princes of Media and Persia,

2 And to al the gouernors and captaines, and lieutenants that were with him, from India vnto Ethiopia of an hundreth and seuen and twentie prouinces.

3 And when they had eaten and dronke, and were satisfied, they departed, and King Darius went into his chamber, and slept, till he wakened againe.

4 ¶ In the meane time three yong men of the gard, keepers of the kings body, sayde one to another,

5 Let euery one of vs speake a sentence, and hee that shall ouercome, and whose sentence shall appeare wiser then the others, Darius the king shall giue him great giftes, and great things in token of victorie,

6 As to weare purple, and to dronke in gold, and to sleepe in gold, and a chariot with bridles of gold, an head tyre of fine linnen, and a chaine about his necke.

7 And hee shall sit next to Darius for his wisedome, and shalbe called Darius cousin,

8 Then euery man wrote his sentence and sealed it, and put it vnder the pillowe of king Darius,

9 And said, when the king rose, they would giue him the writing, and whose sentence the king and the three Princes of Persia shoulde iudge to be wisest, to him shoulde the victorie be giuen as it was appointed.

10 One wrote, The wine is strongest.

11 The other wrot, The king is strongest.

12 The other wrote, Women are strongest, but trueth ouercommeth all things.

13 ¶ And when the king rose, they tooke the writings and gaue them to him, and hee read them.

14 And sent and called al the noble men of Persia and of Media, and the gouernours and the captaines, & lieutenants, and the consuls, 15 And sate him downe in the counsell, and the writing was read before them.

16 Then he said, Call the yong men, that they may declare their owne sentences. So the called them, and they came in.

17 Then he said vnto them, Declare vnto vs the writings. So the first began, which had spoken of the strength of wine, 18 And sayde on this maner, O yee men, howe strong is wine! it deceiueth all men that dronke it.

19 It maketh the minde of the king & of the fatherlesse both one, of ẏ bondman & of the free man, of the poore man and of the rich man.

20 It turneth also euery thought into ioy and gladnesse, so that one remembreth no maner of sorow, nor det.

21 It maketh euery heart rich, so that one remembreth neither king nor gouernour, and causeth to speake all things by ‖ talents.

‖ Or, pounds.

22 When men haue dronke, they haue no minde to loue either friendes or brethren, and a little after they draw out swordes.

23 But when they are from the wine, they doe not remember what they haue done.

24 O ye men, is not wine strongest, which compelleth to doe such things? and hee held his peace when he had thus spoken.

CHAP. IIII.

Of the strength of a King. 23 Of the strength of women. 34 Of the strength of trueth, which sentence is approued, 47 And his petition graunted.

THen the second which had spoken of the strength of the king, began to say,

2 O ye men, are not men strongest, which beare rule by lande and by sea, and ouer all things things which are in them.

3 But the king is yet greater: for hee ruleth all things, and is lord of them, so that they doe all things which he commandeth them.

4 If he bid them make warre one against another, they doe it: if hee send them out against the enemies, they goe and breake downe mountaines and walles and towers.

5 They kil and are killed, and doe not passe the commandement of the king: if they ouercome, they bring all to the king, as well the spoyles as all other things.

6 And those also which goe not to warre and battell, but till the earth: for when they haue sowne it againe, they reape it, and bring it to the king, and compell one another to pay tribute to the king,

7 Yet hee is but one man: if he bid, Kill, they kill: if he say, Spare, they spare.

8 If he bid, Smite, they smite: if hee bid them, Make desolate, they make desolate: if he bid, Build, they build.

9 If he bid, Cut off, they cut off: if hee bid Plant, they plant.

10 So all his people and all his armies obey one man: in the meane while hee sitteth downe, he eateth, and drinketh and sleepeth.

11 For these keepe him round about: neither they can any one go and do his owne businesse, neither are they disobedient vnto him.

12 O ye men, howe shoulde not the king be strongest, seeing he is thus obeyed: So hee held his tongue.

13 ¶ Then the third which had spoken of women and of the trueth (this was Zorobabel) began to speake, 14 O yee men, neither the mighty king, nor many men, nor wine is strongest: who then ruleth them or hath dominion ouer them: are they not women?

15 Women haue borne the King and all the people which beare rule by sea and by land.

16 Euen of them were they borne, and they nourished them, which planted the vines, of which the wine is made.

17 They also made mens garments and men honourable, neither can men be without women.

18 And if they haue gathered together golde and siluer, or any goodly thing, doe they not loue a faire and beautiful woman?

19 Doe they not leaue al those things and giue themselues wholy vnto her, and gape and gaze vpon her, and al men desire her more then gold, or siluer, or any precious thing?

20 A man leaueth his owne father which hath nourished him, and his owne countrey, and is ioyned with his wife.

21 And for the woman he ieopardeth his life, and neither remembreth father nor mother nor countrey.

22 Therefore by this ye may know that the women beare rule ouer you: doe ye not labour and trauel, and giue & bring al to the women?

23 Yea, a man taketh his sword and goeth forth to kil and to steale, and to saile vpon the sea, and vpon riuers, 24 And hee seeth a Lion and goeth in darkenesse, and when he hath stollen, rauished and spoyled, he bringeth it to his loue.

25 Wherefore a man loueth his owne wife more then father or mother.

26 Yea, many haue runne madde for women, and haue bene seruants for them.

27 Many also haue perished and haue erred and sinned for women.

28 Now therefore do you not beleeue me? is not the king great in his power? doe not all regions feare to touch him?

29 Yet I saw him and Apame the Kings concubine, the daughter of the famous Bartacus, sitting vpon the right hand of the king,

30 And shee tooke the crowne off the kings head, and put it vpon her owne, and strook the king with her left hand, 31 Yet in the meane season y king gaped and gazed on her: and if she laughed at him, he laughed: & if she were angry with him, he did flatter her that he might be reconciled with her.

32 Howe then, O ye men, are not women more strong, seeing they doe thus?

33 ¶ Then the King, and the Princes looked one vpon another, and hee beganne to speake of the trueth.

34 O yee men are not women strong? great is the earth, and the heauen hie, and the sunne is swift in his course: for hee turneth round about heauen in one day, and runneth againe into his owne place.

35 Is not hee great that maketh these things? therefore the trueth is greater and stronger then all.

36 All the earth calleth for trueth, and the heauen blesseth it: and al things are shaken and tremble, neither is there any vniust thing wt it.

37 The wine is wicked, the king is wicked, women are wicked, and al the children of men are wicked, and all their wicked workes are such, and there is no trueth in them, and they perish in their iniquitie.

38 But truth doth abide, and is strong for euer, and liueth and reigneth for euer and euer.

39 With her there is no receiuing of persons nor difference: but shee doth the things which are iust, and abstaineth from vniust and wicked things, and al men fauour her workes, 40 Neither is there any vniust thing in her iudgement, and she is the strength and the kingdome and the power, and maiestie of all ages. Blessed be the God of trueth.

41 So hee ceased to speake, and then all the people cryed and sayd, Trueth is great and strongest.

42 Then the king sayde vnto him, Aske what thou wilt besides that which is appoynted, and we will giue it thee, because thou art found the wisest, and thou shalt haue libertie to sit by me, and shalt be called my cousin.

43 ¶ Then hee said to the King, Remember the vowe that thou hast vowed to builde Jerusalem, in the day that thou tookest the kingdoome, 44 And to send againe all the vessels that were taken out of Jerusalem, which Cyrus set apart when he made a vowe to cut off Babylon, and vowed to send them thither.

45 Thou also hast vowed to builde the Temple, which the Idumeans burnt when Judea was destroyed by the Chaldeans.

46 And now, O lord the King, this is that which I desire & require of thee, and this is the magnificence, which I require of thee: I require therefore that thou wouldest accomplish the vowe which thou hast vowed with thine owne mouth to doe to the king of heauen.

47 Then King Darius rising vp, kissed him, and wrote him letters to al the stewards and lieutenants, and captaines, and gouernours, that they should bring on the way both him, and all that were with him, which went vp to build Jerusalem.

48 And hee wrote letters to all the lieutenants in Coelosyria and Phenice, and to them that were in Libanus, that they shoulde bring cedar wood from Libanus to Jerusalem, and builde the citie with him.

49 And he wrote for all the Jewes, which went vp out of his kingdome vnto Judea, concerning their libertie, that no Prince, nor lieutenant, nor gouernour, nor steward should enter into their doores,

50 And that all the region which they kept, should pay no tribute, and that the Idumeans shoulde let goe the villages of the Jewes which they held,

51 And that euery yeere there shoulde bee giuen for the building of the Temple twentie talents vntill it were built,

52 And to mainteine the burnt offerings vpon the altar euery day (as they had a commandement to offer seuenteene) other ten talents euery yeere.

53 And that all they which went from Babylon to builde the citie, should haue libertie, aswell they as their posteritie, and al the Priests that went away.

54 Hee wrote also touching the charges and the Priestes garment, wherein they should minister.

55 And he wrote that they should giue the Leuites their charges vntil the house were finished, and Jerusalem built.

56 Also hee wrote that they shoulde giue pensions & wages to them that kept the citie.

57 And hee sent away all the vessels which Cyrus had set apart out of Babylon, & whatsoeuer Cyrus had commanded to doe, hee also commanded to do it, and to send to Jerusalem.

58 And when the ‖ yong man was gone forth, he lift vp his face to heauen towards Jerusalem, & gaue thanks to the king of heauen, ‖ Or, Zorobabel.

59 Saying, Of thee is the victorie, and of thee is wisedome, and of thee is glorie, and I am thy seruant.

60 Blessed be thou which hast giuen mee wisedome, for vnto thee I acknowledge it, O Lord of our fathers.

61 ¶ So he tooke the letters & went out and came to Babylon, & told all his brethren.

62 And they blessed the God of their fathers, because hee had giuen them freedome and libertie.

63 To goe vp and to builde Jerusalem, and the Temple, where his Name is renowmed, and they reioyced with instruments of musicke and ioy, seuen dayes.

50 Whither also there were gathered against them of all nations of the lande: but they vpsset the altar in his owne place, although all the nations of the lande were their enemies and vexed them, and they offered sacrifices according to the season, and burnt offerings to the Lord, morning and euening.

51 They kept also the feast of Tabernacles, as it is *ordeined in the Lawe, and offered sacrifices euery day, as was requisite, 53 ¶ And all *they which had made any vowe to God, began to offer sacrifice vnto God in the first day of the seuenth moneth, although the Temple of God was not yet built.

55 And charets to the Sidonians and to those of Tyrus to bring Cedar wood out of Libanus, which should bee brought by flotes to the hauen of Joppe according to the commaundement giuen vnto them by Cyrus King of Persia.

56 And in the second yeere and second moneth came into the Temple of God in Jerusalem, Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel, and Jesus the sonne of Josedec, and their brethren, and the Priestes and Leuites, and all they that came out of captiuitie into Jerusalem, 57 And *layde the foundation of the house of God in the first day of the seconde moneth of the second yeere after their returne into Judea and Jerusalem.

*Eccle.49.12.

58 And they appointed the Leuites from twentie yeere old ouer the workes of the Lord, and Jesus and his sonne, and his brethren, and his brother Cadmiel, and the sonnes of Madiabon with the sonnes of Joda, the sonne of Heliadun, with their sonnes, and brethren, euen all the Leuites with one accord did follow after the worke, calling vpon the workes in the house of God: thus the workemen built the Temple of the Lord.

59 And the Priestes stoode clothed with their long garments with musical instruments and trumpets, and the Leuites the sonnes of Asaph with cymballes, 60 Singing and blessing the Lorde, according to the ordinance of Dauid king of Israel.

61 And they sung with loud voyce songs to the praise of the Lorde, because his mercy and glorie is for euer in all Israel.

62 Then all the people blewe trumpets, and cried with a loud voyce, praysing the Lord for the rayling vp of the house of the Lord.

63 Also some of the Priestes and Leuites, and chiefe men, to wit, the Ancients which had seene the former house, 64 Came to see the building of this with weeping and great crying, and many with trumpets, and ioy cryed with loude voyce.

65 So that the people coulde not heare the trumpets, because of ꝑ weeping of the people: yet there was a great multitude that blewe trumpets, so that they were heard farre off.

66 ¶ Where-

66 ¶ Wherefore when the enemies of the tribes of Juda and Beniamin heard it, they came to know what noyse of trumpets it was,

67 And they knew that they of the captiuitie built the Temple to the Lorde God of Israel.

68 Wherefore they comming to Zorobabel, and Jesus, and the chiefe of the families, said vnto them, Let vs build also with you.

69 For wee obey your Lorde, as you doe, and sacrifice vnto him since the dayes of ‖ Asbasareth king of the Assyrians, which brought vs hither. ‖ Or, Aserares. or, Asshadon.

70 Then Zorobabel, and Jesus, and the chiefe of the families of Israel said to them, It doeth not appertaine to vs, and to you to build an house to the Lord our God.

71 For we alone will builde it to the Lord God of Israel, as it becommeth vs, and as * Cyrus the king of the Persians bad vs. *Ezra.4.3,4.

72 Howbeit the people of the land made them sluggish that were in Judea, and letted them to builde the worke, and by their ambushments and seditions and conspiracies hindred the finishing of the building.

73 All the time of king Cyrus life: so that they were let from the building two yeere, vntil the raigne of Darius.

4 And sayde vnto them, By whose commaundement builde you this house and this building, and enterprise all these other things: and who are the builders that enterprise such things?

5 But the Auncients of the Iewes had grace of the Lord after that he hath visited the captiuitie.

7 ¶ The copie of the Epistle, which hee did write and send to Darius: SISINNES, gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, presidets in Syria and Phenice, salute King Darius.

8 It may please the king our Master plainely to vnderstand, that when wee came to the countrey of Judea, and entred into the citie of Jerusalem, wee founde in the citie of Jerusalem the Auncients of the Iewes that were of the captiuitie.

10 And these workes are done with great speede, yea, and the worke hath good successe in their hands, so that it will bee finished with all glory and diligence.

11 Then we asked their Ancients, saying, By whose commandement builde you this house, and laye the foundation of these works?

12 We asked them these things to the intent to notifie them to thee, and to write to thee the men that gouerned it: therefore wee demanded the names of the gouernours in writing.

22 And if it bee founde that the building of the house of the Lorde at Jerusalem hath bene

bene done by the conſent of king of Cyrus, and if it ſeeme good to the Lorde our king, let him make vs anſwere concerning theſe things.

23 Then king Darius commaunded to ſearch in the kings Libraries that were in Babylon, and there was found in Ecbatane, which is a tower in the region of Media, a place where ſuch things were layde vp for memorie.

24 In the firſt yeere of the reigne of Cyrus, king Cyrus commaunded the houſe of the Lorde at Jeruſalem to be builded, where they did ſacrifice with the continuall fire.

25 Of the which the height ſhould bee of threeſcore cubites, the breadth of threeſcore cubites with three rowes of hewen ſtones, and one rowe of newe wood of that countrey, and that the coſtes ſhould be paid out of the houſe of King Cyrus.

26 And that the holy veſſels of the houſe of the Lord, aſwell thoſe of gold as of ſiluer, which Nabuchodonoſor had caried out of the houſe in Jeruſalem, and brought into Babylon, ſhould be reſtored to the houſe, which is in Jeruſalem, and ſet in the place where they were afore.

27 Alſo hee commaunded that Siſinnes, gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, and thoſe which were conſtitute captaines in Syria and Phenice, ſhoulde take heede to refraine from that place, and to ſuffer Zorobabel the ſeruant of the Lorde, and gouernour of Judea, and the Elders of the Jewes to builde that houſe of the Lord in that place.

28 And I alſo haue commanded to builde it cleane vp againe, and that they be diligent to helpe them of the captiuitie of the Jewes, til the houſe of the Lord be finiſhed,

29 And that ſome part of the tribute of Coeloſyria and Phenice ſhould be diligently giuen to theſe men for ſacrifice vnto the Lord and to Zorobabel the gouernour, for bulles, rammes, and lambes:

30 Alſo corne, and ſalt, and wine, and oyle continually euery yeere without faile, as the Prieſtes, which are in Jeruſalem ſhal teſtifie to be ſpent euery day, 31 That offerings may bee made to the high God for the king, and his children, and that they may pray for their liues.

32 Furthermore hee commaunded that whoſoeuer ſhould tranſgreſſe any thing afore ſpoken or written, or derogate any thing thereof, that a tree ſhould be taken out of his poſſeſſion, and hee be hanged thereon, and that his goods ſhould be the kings.

33 And therefore let the Lorde whoſe Name is there called vpon, deſtroy euery king & nation, which ſtretcheth out his hande to hinder or doe euil to that Houſe of the Lord which is in Jeruſalem.

34 *I Darius the king haue ordayned that it ſhoulde bee diligently executed according to theſe things. *Ezra.6.12.

CHAP. VII.

1 Siſinnes and his companions follow the kings commaundement, and helpe the Iewes to build the Temple. 5 The time that it was built. 10 They keepe the Paſſeouer.

THen Siſinnes the *gouernour of Coeloſyria and Phenice and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, obeying King Darius commaundements, *Ezra.6.13.

2 Aſſiſted diligently the holy workes working with the Ancients and gouernours of the Sanctuarie.

3 And the holy workes proſpered by Aggeus and Zacharias the Prophets which prophecied.

4 So they finiſhed al things by the commaundement of the Lorde God of Iſrael, and with the conſent of Cyrus and Darius, and Artaxerxes kings of the perſians.

5 Thus the holy Houſe was finiſhed in the three and twentieth day of the moneth Adar in the firt yeere of Darius King of the Perſians.

6 ¶ And the children of Iſrael, and the Prieſtes and the Leuitts, and the reſt, which were of the captiuitie, and had any charge, did according to the things written in the booke of Moyſes.

7 And they offered for the dedication of the Temple of the Lord, an hundreth bulles, two hundreth rammes, foure hundreth lambs,

8 And twelue goates for the ſinne of all Iſrael, according to the number of the chiefe of the tribes of Iſrael.

9 And the Prieſtes, and the Leuites ſtoode according to their kinreds clothed with long robes in the workes of the Lorde God of Iſrael, according to the booke of Moyſes, and alſo the porters in euery gate.

10 And the children of Iſrael offered the Paſſeouer together with them of the captiuitie, in the foureteenth day of the firſt moneth, after that the Prieſtes and Leuites were ſanctified.

11 But all the children of the captiuitie were not ſanctified together, but all the Leuites were ſanctified together.

12 And they offered the Paſſeouer for all the children of the captiuitie, and for their brethren the Prieſts, and for themſelues.

13 Then al the children of Iſrael which were of the captiuitie did eate, euen all they that had ſeparated themſelues from the abominations of the people of the land, and ſought the Lord,

14 And

14 And they kept the feaſt of vnleauened breade ſeuen dayes, reioycing before the Lord.

15 Becauſe hee had turned the counſell of the king of the Aſſyrians towardes them to ſtrengthen their handes in the workes of the Lord God of Iſrael.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Eſdras commeth from Babylon to Ieruſalem. 10 The copie of the commiſſion, giuen by Artaxerxes. 29 Eſdras giueth thankes to the Lord. 32 The number of the heads of the people that came with him. 76 His prayer and confeſſion.

AND after theſe things, when Artaxerres King of the Perſians raigned, Eſdras the ſonne of ‖ Saraias, the ſonne of Ezerias, the ſonne of Helcias, the ſonne of Salum. ‖Or, Azarias.

2 The ſonne of Sadoc, the ſonne of Achitob, the ſonne of Amarias, the ſonne of ‖ Ezias, the ſonne of ‖ Memeroth, the ſonne of ‖ Zaraias, the ſonne of ‖ Sauias, the ſonne of Boccas, the ſonne of Abiſum, the ſonne of Phinees, the ſonne of Eleazar, the ſonne of Aron was the high Prieſt. ‖Or, Azarias. ‖Or, Meraioth, ‖Or, Sama. ‖Or, Azi, 3 This Eſdras went out of Babylon, and was a ſcribe well taught in the Lawe of Moyſes, giuen by the Lord God of Iſrael.

4 Alſo the king gaue him great honour, and hee found grace in his ſight in all his requeſtes.

5 With him alſo there departed ſome of the children of Iſrael, and of the Prieſtes and Leuites, and of the holy ſingers, and of the porters, and of the miniſters of the Temple vnto Ieruſalem,

6 In the ſeuenth yeere of the reigne of Artaxerres, and in the firſt moneth: this was the ſeuenth yeere of the king (for they went out of Babylon in the firſt day of the firſt month,

7 And came to Ieruſalem according as the Lorde gaue them ſpeede in their iourney.)

8 For Eſdras had gotten great knowledge, ſo that hee would let nothing paſſe that was in the lawe of the Lorde, and in the commandements, and he taught all Iſrael all the ordinances and iudgements, 9 So the commiſſion written by King Artaxerres was giuen Eſdras the Prieſt and reader of the law of the Lord: the copy thereof followeth.

10 King Artaxerres to Eſdras the Prieſt, and reader of the lawe of the Lorde, Salutation.

11 Foraſmuch as I conſider things with pitie, I haue commanded that they that will and deſire of the nations of the Iewes, and of the Prieſts and Leuites which are in our kingdome, ſhould go with thee vnto Iſrael.

12 Therefore as many as bee willing, let them depart together, as it hath ſeemed good to me and my ſeuen friends the counſellers,

13 That they may viſite the things that are in Iudea and Ieruſalem diligently, as it is conteined in the law of the Lord,

14 And carie the giftes to the Lorde of Iſrael in Ieruſalem, which I and my friendes haue vowed: alſo all the golde and ſiluer, which ſhall bee founde in the countrey of Babylon appertaining to the Lorde in Ieruſalem,

15 With that which is giuen of the people to the Temple of the Lorde their God, that it might bee brought to Ieruſalem, as wel ſiluer as golde, for bulles, and rames, and lambes, and things thereunto pertayning, 16 That they may offer ſacrifices to the Lorde vpon the altar of the Lorde their God, which is in Ieruſalem.

17 And whatſoeuer thou and thy brethren will doe with the gold or ſiluer, accompliſh it according to the will of thy God.

18 And the holy veſſels of the Lorde, which are giuen thee for the vſe of the Temple of thy God, which is in Ieruſalem, thou ſhalt ſet before thy God in Ieruſalem.

19 And what other things ſo euer thou ſhalt remember for the vſe of the Temple of thy God, thou ſhalt giue it out of the Kings treaſure.

20 And I alſo King Artaxerres haue commaunded the treaſurers of Syria and Phenice, that whatſoeuer Eſdras, the Prieſt and Reader of the Lawe of the higheſt God, ſhall ſende for, they ſhould giue it him with all ſpeede, euen to the ſumme of an hundreth talents of ſiluer.

21 And likewiſe vnto an hundreth cores of corne, and an hundreth pieces of wine and other things in aboundance.

22 Let al things be done to the higheſt God according to the Lawe of God with diligence, that wrath come not vpon the kingdome of the King and of his ſonnes.

23 Alſo to you it is commaunded, that of none of the Prieſtes or Leuites, or holy ſingers, or porters or miniſters of the Temple, or of the workemen of this Temple, no tribute nor tare be taken, nor that any haue power to tare them in any thing.

24 Thou alſo Eſdras, according to the wiſedome of God, ordeine iudges and gouernours, that they may iudge in all Syria and Phenice all thoſe which are well inſtructed in the Law of thy God, and teach thoſe which are not inſtructed.

25 And let all thoſe which ſhall tranſgreſſe the the Lawe of God and the king, bee diligently punished, either with death, or other punishment, either with penaltie of money, or banishment.

26 ¶ Then Esdras the scribe said, Blessed be the onely Lorde God of my fathers, which hath put this in the heart of the King to glorifie his house which is in Ierusalem, 27 And hath honoured me before the king and the counsellers, and all his friends, and gouernours.

*Ezra.8.15. 28 ¶ *Therefore I was encouraged by the helpe of the Lord my God, and gathered men of Israel to goe vp with me.

29 These are the guides after their families and order of dignities, which came vp with me out of Babylon in the raigne of Artaxerres the King.

*Ezra.8.15. 41 ¶ And I gathered them together to the flood called *Theras, and pitched our tents there three dayes, and numbred them.

42 But when I had founde there none of the Priests nor Leuites, 43 I sent to Eleazar, and Iduel, and Maasman, and Almathan, and Samaian, and ‖ Jozibon, and Nathan, Ennaton, Zachatian, and Mosollamon the chiefe, and best learned.

‖Or, Maisma. Alnathan, ‖Or, Iorib, Elnathan. Zacharie, & Mosollam.

44 And I bade them to goe to Daddeus the captaine, which was in the place of the treasurie.

45 With charge to bid Daddeus and his brethren, and the treasurers that were there, to sende to vs them, which should offer sacrifice in the house of our Lord.

46 And they brought vnto vs by the mightie hande of the Lorde, learned men of the sonnes of Moli, the sonne of Leui, the sonne of Israel, to wit, ‖ Eisebebzan and his sonnes, and his brethren being eighteene.

‖Or, Serebia.

47 And Asebia, and ‖ Annon, and Osaian his brethren of the sonnes of ‖ Cananeus with their sonnes, twentie persons,

‖Or, Anom, Iesias. ‖Or, Cananeus.

48 And of the ministers of the Temple, which Dauid gaue, and those which were rulers ouer the worke of the Leuites, to wit, ministers of the Temple, two hundreth and twentie, of whom all the names were regiſtred.

*Ezra.8.21. 49 ¶ And *there I proclaimed a fast for the yong men before the Lorde to aske of him a good iourney both for vs, and for them that were with vs, for our children, and for our cattel.

50 For I was ashamed to aske the King footemen, or horsemen, or conduct for safegarde against our enemies:

51 Because wee had sayde to the king, that the power of our Lorde should bee with them that sought him, to direct them in all things.

52 Wherefore we prayed our Lord again, according to these things, whome wee founde fauourable.

53 Then I chose from among the chiefe of the tribes, and of the Priestes, twelue men, to wit, ‖ Esebrias and Assanias, and with them ten of their brethren.

‖Or, Serebias.

54 And I weighed them the siluer and the golde, and the holy vessels of the house of our Lord, which the King and his counsellers, and his princes, and all Israel had giuen.

55 And I weighed them, fiue hundred and fiftie talents of siluer, and siluer vessels of an hundreth talents, and an hundreth talents of golde.

56 And twentie golden basins, and twelue vessels of brasse, of fine brasse shining like golde.

57 And I sayde to them, You are also holy to the Lord, and the vessels are holy, and the golde, and the siluer is a vowe to the Lorde of our fathers.

58 Watch and keepe them, till that you giue them to the heades of the families of the Priests

Priestes and Leuites, and captaines of the families of Israel in Ierusalem in the chambers of the house of our God.

59 So the Priests and Leuites tooke the siluer and the golde, and the vessels, and caried them to Ierusalem to the Temple of the Lord.

60 And we departed from the flood Thera, in the twelfth day of the first moneth, and came to Ierusalem, according to the mightie power of our Lord with vs: and the Lord deliuered vs from the beginning of our iourney from all enemies. So we came to Ierusalem.

61 And three dayes being past there, in the fourth day the siluer that was weighed, and the golde was deliuered in the House of our Lord to ‖ Parmoth the Priest, the sonne of Iouri, ‖ Or, Marimoth, the sonne of Iori of Vrie.

62 And with him to Eleazar the sonne of Phinees: and there were with them, Iosabad the sonne of Jesus, and ‖ Moeth sonne of Sabbanus, Leuites: all was deliuered them by number and weight.

‖ Or, Noedia, sonnes, sonne of Bannus.

63 And all the weight of them was written that same houre.

64 Afterwards those that were come out of the captiuitie, offered sacrifices to ỳ Lorde God of Israel, euen twelue bulles for all Israel, rammes foure score and sixteene, 65 Lambes three score and twelue, twelue goats for saluation, all in sacrifice to ỳ Lord.

66 And they presented the commaundements of the King to the Kings stewards, and to the gouernours of Coelosyria and Phenice who honoured the people, and the Temple of God.

*Ezra. 9.1. 67 ¶ * When these things were done, the gouernours came to me, saying, The people of Israel, the Princes and the Priestes, and and the Leuits haue not separated from them the strange people of the land, 68 Nor the pollutions of the Gentiles, to wit, of the Cananites, and Chetites, and Pherezites, and Iebusites, and Moabites, and Egyptians, and Idumeans.

69 For they haue dwelt with their daughters, both they and their sonnes, and the holy seede is mixed with the strange people of the land, and the gouernours and rulers haue bene partakers of this wickednesse from the beginning of the thing.

70 And assoone as I had heard these things, I rent my clothes, and the holy garment, and I pulled the haire off mine head, and off my beard, and sate me downe sorowfull and very sad.

71 Then also all they that were moued with the word of the Lorde God of Israel, came to me whiles I wept, for the iniquitie, but I sate very sad till the euening sacrifice.

72 Then I rose from the fast with my clothes torne, and the holy garment, and knees and stretched forth mine hands to the Lord, 73 And said, * O Lord, I am ashamed, and confounded before thy face. *Ezra. 5. 6.

74 For our sinnes are increased aboue our heads, and our ignorances are lifted vp to heauen, 75 Yea, euen from the time of our fathers we are in great sinne vnto this day.

76 For our sinnes therefore, and our fathers we with our brethren, with our kings and Priests haue bene giuen vp to the kings of the earth, to the sword and to captiuitie, and for a pray with all shame vnto this day.

77 And now how great hath thy mercie bene, O Lord, that there should be left vs a roote, and name in the place of thine holinesse!

78 And that thou shouldest reueale to vs a light in the house of the Lord our God, and giue vs meate in the time of our seruitude!

79 For when we were in bondage, wee were not left of our God, but he gaue vs fauour before the kings of the Persians, that they should giue vs meate, 80 And that they should honour the Temple of our Lord, and raise vp Sion that is desolate, and giue vs assurance in Iudea and Ierusalem.

81 And now, O Lord, what shal we say, hauing these things? for we haue transgressed thy commaundements, which thou hast giuen vp by the hands of thy seruants the Prophets, saying, 82 *Because the land, which yee goe to inherit, is a land polluted by the pollutions of the strangers of the land, which haue filled it with their filthinesse, *Deut. 7. 1.

83 Therefore nowe yee shall not ioyne their daughters with your sonnes, neither giue your daughters to their sonnes, 84 Neither shall you desire to haue peace with them for euer, that yee may be made strong, and eate the good things of the land, and leaue it for an inheritance to your children for euer.

85 Therefore all that is come to passe, was done for our wicked workes, and for our great sinnes: yet, Lord, thou hast forborne our sinnes, 86 And hast giuen vs such a roote: but wee againe haue turned backe to transgresse thy Lawe, and to mixe vs with the vncleannesse of the people of the land.

87 Wilt thou not be angrie with vs to destroy, so that thou shouldest neither leaue vs roote, nor seede, nor name?

88 But, O Lorde of Israel, thou art true: for there is a roote left, euen vnto this day.

89 Beholde, wee are now before thee with our iniquities, neither can we indure before thee for these things.

*Ezra.10.1. 90 ¶ And * as Esdras prayed and confessed and wept, and lay vpon the ground before the Temple, a very great multitude was gathered vnto him out of Jerusalem of men and women, and yong children: for there was great lamentation among the multitude.

‖Or,Iciel. 91 Then Jechonias the sonne of ‖ Jeel of the sonnes of Israel, crying out sayd, O Esdras, we haue sinned against the Lord God: wee haue taken in mariage strange women of the nations of the land.

92 And now all Israel is doubtful: therefore let vs make an othe concerning this to the Lorde to put away all our wiues, which are straungers, with their children.

93 If it seeme good to thee, and to all thē that obey the Lawe of the Lord, rise vp and put it in execution.

94 For to thee doeth it appertaine, and wee are with thee to make thee strong.

95 Then Esdras arose, and made all the chiefe of the families of the Priestes and Leuites of all Israel to sweare, that they would doe thus: and they sware.

CHAP. IX.

7. After Esdras had read the Lawe for the strange wiues,
10. They promise to put them away.

*Ezra.10.6. Then * Esdras rose from the court of the Temple, and went to the chamber of Joanan the sonne of Eliasib,

2 And being lodged there, he did eate no bread nor drinke water, but mourned for the great iniquities of the multitude.

3 And there was a proclamation in all Judea and Jerusalem, to all them that were of the captiuitie, that they should be gathered to Jerusalem,

4 And that all they which shoulde not meete there within two or three dayes, according to the ordinance of the Elders, which bare rule, should haue their cattell confiscate to the Temple, and he cast out from among them of the captiuitie.

5 Then all they which were of the tribe of Juda and Beniamin, came together within three dayes into Jerusalem: this was the ninth moneth, and twentieth day of the moneth.

6 And all the multitude sate in the broad place of the Temple shaking, because of the extreme winter.

7 Then Esdras arose and said to them, Ye haue sinned: for ye haue married strange wiues, so that ye haue augmented the sinnes of Israel,

8 Now therefore confesse and glorifie the Lord God of our fathers, 9 And doe his will, and separate your selues from the people of the land, and from the strange wiues.

10 Then all the multitude cryed out and sayd with a loude voyce, We will doe so as thou hast said.

11 But because the multitude is great, and the time is winter, so that we can not stand without, and the worke is not of one day nor of two, seeing that many of vs haue sinned in this matter,

12 Let the chiefe men of the multitude, and all they which haue strange wiues of our families, tarie:

13 And let the Priestes and iudges come out of all places at the day appointed, til they haue appeased the wrath of the Lorde against vs for this matter.

14 Then Jonathas Asaels sonne, and ‖ Ezecias sonne of ‖ Thecan were appointed concerning these things, and Mosollam and Sabbateus did helpe them. ‖Or,Iahazias. ‖Or,Thecua.

15 And they which were of the captiuitie, did after all these things.

16 Esdras the Priest also chose him certaine men, chiefe of their families, all by name: and they sate together in the first day of the tenth moneth to examine this matter.

17 And they made an ende of the things perteining to them that had married strange wiues in the first day of the first moneth.

36 All these married strange wiues, and put them away with their children.

37 And the Priests & the Leuites dwelt in Jerusalem, and in the countrey, the first day of the seuenth moneth, and the children of Israel in their owne houses.

38 ¶ * Then all the multitude assembled together with one consent into the broad place before the gate of the Temple toward the East, *Nehem. 8, 1.

39 And spake to Esdras the Priest, and reader, that he should bring the Law of Moyses, which had bene giuen by the Lord God of Israel.

40 Then brought Esdras the chief Priest the lawe to all the multitude, both man and woman, and to all the Priestes, that they might heare the Lawe the first day of the seuenth moneth.

41 And he read in the first broad place of the gate of the Temple, from morning to midday, before the men and the women, and all the multitude hearkened to the Law.

42 So Esdras the Priest and reader of the Lawe, stood vpon a pulpit of wood that was prepared.

43 And there stood by him ‖ Matgathias, Sammus, Ananias, Azarias, Urias, Ezecias, Balasamus at his right hand,

‖Or, Mattithias

44 And at his left hand ‖ Paldasus, and Sael, Melchias, Aethalaphus, Nabarias.

45 Then Esdras tooke the booke of the Law before the multitude (for he sate honourably before them all)

46 And they all stoode vpright when hee expounded the Lawe, and Esdras blessed the Lord the most high God, the most mighty God of hostes.

47 And the whole multitude cried, Amen.

48 Then Jesus and ‖ Anus, and Sarabias, and Adinus, and Jacobus, Sabataias, Autanias, Maianias and Calitas, Azarias, and Joazabdus, and Ananias, and Biatas the Leuits lift vp their hands, and fell downe on the ground, and worshipped the Lord,

‖Or, Bani.

49 And taught the Law of the Lord, and stood also earnestly vpon the reading.

50 Then said ‖ Athcharates to Esdras the chiefe Priest and reader, and to the Leuites, that taught the multitude in all things, This day is holy vnto the Lord, and all haue wept in hearing of the Law.

‖Or, Nehemias.

51 Goe therefore and eate the fat meates, and drinke the sweete drinks, and send presents to them that haue not.

52 For this day is holy to the Lord, and be not sorie: for the Lord God will glorifie you.

53 So the Leuites commanded all these things to the people, saying, This day is holy to the Lord: be not sad.

54 Then they departed all to eate, and drinke, and to reioyce, and to giue presents to the that had not, and to make good cheare.

55 For they were perfilled with the words wherewith they were instructed, when they were assembled together.

II. ESDRAS.

CHAP. I.

8 The people is reproued for their vnfaithfulnesse. 30 God will haue another people, if these will not be reformed.

*1124.1.

THe second booke of the Prophet * Esdras, the sonne of Saraias, the sonne of Azarias, the sonne of Helcias, the sonne of Sananis, the sonne of Sadoc, the sonne of Achitob,

2 The sonne of Achias, the sonne of Phinees, the sonne of Heli, the sonne of Amerias, the sonne of Asie, the sonne of Marimoth, the sonne of Arna, the sonne of Osias, the sonne of Bozith, the sonne of Abisei, the sonne of Phinees, the sonne of Eleazar,

3 The sonne of Aaron (of the tribe of Leui) which Esdras was prisoner in the land of Medes, in the reigne of Artaxerxes king of Persia.

*Isa.38.1. 4 *And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Goe, and shewe my people their sinnes, and their children their wickednesse, which they haue committed against me: that they may tell their childrens children.

6 For the sinnes of their fathers are increased in them, because they haue forgotten me, and haue offered vnto strange Gods.

7 Haue not I brought them out of the land of Egypt from the house of bondage? but they haue prouoked me vnto wrath, and despised my counsels.

8 Pul thou off then the haire of thine head, and cast all euill vpon them: for they haue not bene obedient vnto my Lawe, but they are a rebellious people.

9 How long shall I forbeare them, vnto whome I haue done so much good?

*Exod.14.28. 10 *Many Kings haue I destroyed for their sakes: Pharao with his seruants and all his armie haue I smitten downe.

11 All the nations haue I destroyed before them: *I haue destroyed the East: the people of the two countreyes Tyrus and Sidon, and haue slaine all their enemies.

*Nom.21.24. Ioſh.8.12.

12 Speake thou therefore vnto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord.

*Exod.14.29. 13 *I haue led you thorowe the Sea, and haue giuen you a sure [Or, streete.] way, since the beginning: *I gaue you Moyses for a guide, and Aaron for a Priest.

*Exod.3.10. and 4.14.

*Exod.13.21. 14 *I gaue you light in a pillar of fire, and great wonders haue I done among you: yet haue ye forgotten me, saith the Lord.

15 Thus saith the Almightie Lorde, the quailes *were a token vnto you: I gaue you tentes for safegard, wherein ye murmured:

*Exod.16.13. pſal.104.40.

16 And yet triumphed not in my Name for the destruction of your enemies, but ye yet murmure still.

17 Where are the benefites, that I haue done for you? when yee were hungry in the wilderne, *did ye not crie vnto me?

*Nam.14.3.

18 Saying, Why hast thou brought vs into this wildernesse, to kill vs? It had bene better for vs to haue serued the Egyptians, then to dye in the wildernesse.

19 I had pitie vpon your mournings, and gaue you Manna to eate, *so yee did eate Angels foode.

*Wiſd.16.20.

20 *When yee were thirstie, did not I cleaue the stone, and waters did flowe out to suffise you? from the heate I couered you with the leaues of the trees.

*Num.20.11. wiſd.11.4.

21 And I gaue you fat countreis: I cast out the Cananites, the Pherisites, and Philistims before you: *what shall I doe more for you, saith the Lord?

*Isa.5.4.

22 Thus saith the Almightie Lorde, *When ye were in the wildernesse at the bitter waters, being a thirst, and blaspheming my name,

*Exo.15.23.

23 I gaue you not fire for the blaspheimies but cast a tree into the water, and made the riuer sweete.

24 What shall I doe vnto thee, O Iacob? thou *Iuda wouldest not obey: I wil turne me to other nations, and vnto those will I giue my Name, that they may keepe my Lawes.

*Exod.32.8.

25 Seeing ye haue forsaken me, I will also forsake you: when ye aske mercie of me, I will not haue pitie vpon you.

26 *When yee call vpon mee, I wil not heare you: for yee haue defiled your handes with blood, and your feete are swift to commit murther,

*Isa.1.15.

27 Although ye haue not forsaken me, but your owne selues, saith the Lord.

28 Thus saith the Almightie Lord, Haue I not prayed you, as a father his sonnes, and as a mother her daughters, and as a nurce her yong babes.

29 That ye would be my people, as I am your God, and that yee would bee my children, as I am your Father?

*Mat.23.37. 30 *I gathered you together as a henne gathereth her chickens, vnder her wings: but now what shall I doe vnto you? I will cast you out from my sight.

*Isa.1.13. 31 *When you bring giftes vnto mee, I will turne my face from you: for your solemne feast dayes, your newe moones, and your circumcisions haue I forsaken.

32 I sent vnto you my seruants the Prophets, whome ye haue taken and slaine, and torne their bodies in pieces, whose blood I will reuenge, saith the Lord.

33 Thus saith the Almightie Lord, Your house shalbe desolate: I will cast you out as the winde doth the stubble.

34 Your children shall not haue generation: for they haue despised my commaundement, and done the thing that I hate before me.

35 Your houses wil I giue vnto a people, to come, who shall beleeue me though they heare me not, and they, vnto whom I neuer shewed miracle, shall doe the things that I commaund them.

36 Though they see no Prophets, yet shall they hate their iniquities.

37 ¶ I will delare the grace that I will doe doe for the people to come, whose children reioyce in gladnesse, and though they haue not seene me with bodilie eyes, yet in heart they beleeue the things that I say.

38 Now therefore brother, beholde what great glory, and see the people that come from the East.

39 Unto whome I will giue for leaders, Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Oseas, Amos, Micheas, Joel, Abdias, Jonas, 40 Naum, Habacuc, Sophonias, Aggeus, Zacharias, and Malachias, (which is called also the * messenger of the Lord.)

*Malac.3.1.

CHAP. II.

The Synagogue findeth fault with her owne children. 18 The Gentiles are called.

THus saith the Lord, I brought this people out of bondage: I gaue them also my commaundements by my seruants the Prophets, whome they would not heare, but despised my counsels.

2 The mother that bare them, saith vnto them, Goe you away, O children: for I am a widowe and forsaken.

3 I brought you vp with gladnesse, but with sorowe and heauinesse haue I lost you: for ye haue sinned against the Lord your God, and done the thing that displeaseth him.

4 But what shall I now doe vnto you? I am a widowe and forsaken: goe ye, O my children, and aske mercie of the Lord.

5 And thee O Father, I call for a witnesse for the mother of these children, which would not keepe my couenant, 6 That thou bring them to confusion, and their mother to a spoyle, that their kinred be not continued.

7 Let their names bee scattered among the heathen: let them be put out of the earth, for they haue despised my couenant.

8 Woe vnto thee, Assur: for thou hidest the vnrighteous in thee: O wicked people, remember * what I did vnto Sodom and Gomorah,

*Gen.19.24.

9 Whose land is mixed with cloudes of pitch and heapes of ashes: so will I doe vnto them, that heare me not, saith the Almightie Lorde.

10 Thus saith the Lorde vnto Esdras, Tell my people, that I will giue them the kingdome of Jerusalem, which I would haue giuen vnto Israel.

11 And I will get me glory by them, and giue them the euerlasting tabernacles, which I had prepared for those.

12 They shall haue at will the tree of life, smelling of oyntment: they shall neither labour nor be wearie.

13 Goe ye, and ye shall receiue it: pray that the time, which is long, may be shorte-ned: the kingdome is already prepared for you: watch.

14 Take heauen and earth to witnesse: for I haue abolished the euill, and created the good: for I liue saith the Lord.

15 Mother, embrace thy children, and bring them vp with gladnesse: make their feete as fast as a pillar: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.

16 And those that bee dead, will I raise vp from their places, and bring them out of the graues: for I haue knowen my Name in Israel.

17 Feare not, thou mother of the children: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lorde.

18 I will send thee my seruants Esay and Jeremie to helpe thee, by whose counsell I haue sanctified and prepared for thee twelue trees laden with diuers fruites, 19 And as many fountaines, flowing with milke and hony, and seuen mightie mountaines, whereupon there growe roses and lillies, whereby I will fill thy children with ioy.

20 Execute iustice for the widowe: iudge the cause of the fatherlesse: giue to the poore: defend the fatherlesse: clothe the naked.

21 Heale the wounded, and sicke, laugh not a lame man to scorne: defend the creeple, and let the blinde come into the light of my cleerenesse.

22 Keepe the olde and the yong that are within thy walles.

23 * Wheresoeuer thou findest the dead, take them and bury them, and I will giue thee the first place in my resurrection. *Tob.1.17,18, 19.

24 Abide still, O my people, and rest: for thy quietnesse shall come.

25 Nourish thy children, O thou good nurce: stablish their feete.

26 None of the seruants that I haue giuen thee, shall perish: for I will seeke them from among thy number.

27 Be not wearie: for when the day of trouble and heauinesse commeth, other shall weepe and be sorowfull, but thou shalt be merry and haue abundance.

28 The heathen shall enuie thee, and shal doe nothing against thee, saith the Lord.

29 Mine hands shall couer thee, so that thy children shall not see hell.

30 Be ioyfull O thou mother, with thy children: for I wil deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

31 Remember thy children that sleepe: for I wil bring them out of the sides of the earth, and will shewe mercie vnto them: for I am mercifull, saith the Lord almightie.

32 Embrace thy children, vntill I come and shewe mercie vnto them: for my fountaines runne ouer, and my grace ſhall not faile.

33 I Eſdras receiued a charge of the Lord vpon the mount Horeb, that I ſhould go vnto them of Iſrael, but when I came to them, they caſt me off, and deſpiſed the commaundements of the Lord.

34 And therefore I ſay vnto you, O yee heathen, that heare and vnderſtand, Waite for your ſhepheard, who ſhall giue you euerlaſting reſt: for he is neere at hand, that ſhall come in the ende of the world.

35 Be ready to the rewarde of the kingdome: for the euerlaſting light ſhall ſhine vpon you for euermore.

36 Flee the ſhadowe of this world: receiue the ioy of your glory: I teſtifie my Sauiour openly.

37 Receiue the gift that is giuen you, and be glad, giuing thankes vnto him, that hath called you to the heauenly kingdome.

38 Ariſe, and ſtand vp, and beholde the number of thoſe that are ſealed for the feaſt of the Lord, 39 Which are departed from the ſhadow of the world, and haue receiued glorious garments of the Lord.

40 Take thy number, O Sion, and ſhut vp them that are clothed in white, which haue fulfilled the Lawe of the Lord.

41 The number of thy children whome thou longeſt for, is fulfilled: beſeech the power of the Lord, that thy people which haue bene called from the beginning, may be ſanctified.

*Reue.7.9. 42 *I Eſdras ſaw vpon mount Sion a great people whome I could not number, and they all praiſed the Lord with ſongs.

43 And in the middes of them there was a yong man hier in ſtature then them all, and vpon euery one of their heads he ſet crowns, and was hier then the others, which I much marueiled at.

44 So I aſked the Angel, and ſaid, Who are theſe my Lord?

45 Who anſwered, & ſaid vnto me, Theſe be they, that haue put off the mortall clothing, and haue put on the immortall, and haue confeſſed the Name of God: now are they crowned, and receiue the palmes.

46 Then ſaide I vnto the Angel, What yong man is it, that ſetteth crownes on them, and giueth them the palmes in their handes?

47 And he anſwered and ſaid vnto me, It is the Sonne of God, whome they haue confeſſed in the world. Then began I greatly to commend them, that had ſtand ſo ſtrongly for the Name of the Lord.

48 Then the Angel ſaid vnto me, Goe thy way, and tell my people, what, and how great wonders of the Lorde God thou haſt ſeene.

CHAP. III.

4 The wonderous workes that God did for the people, are recited. 31 Eſdras marueileth that God ſuffereth the Babylonians to haue rule ouer his people, which yet are ſinners alſo.

IN the thirtieth yeere after the fal of the citie, as I was at Babylon, I lay troubled vpon my bed, and my thoughts came vp to my heart.

2 Becauſe I ſaw the deſolation of Sion, and the wealth of them that dwelt at Babylon.

3 So my ſpirit was ſore mooued, ſo that I began to ſpeake fearefull wordes to the moſt High, and ſaide,

4 O Lord, Lord, thou ſpakeſt at the beginning when thou alone plantedſt the earth, and gaueſt commandement vnto the people,

5 *And a body vnto Adam, without ſoule, who was alſo the workemanſhip of thine hands, and haſt breathed in him the breath of life, ſo that he liued before thee, *Gen.2.7.

6 And leddeſt him into Paradiſe, which thy right hand had planted, or euer the earth ‖brought forth. ‖Or, went forward.

7 Euen then thou gaueſt him commandement to loue thy way: but he tranſgreſſed it, and immediatly thou appointedſt death to him and his generation, of whome came nations, tribes, people and kinreds out of number.

8 *And euery people walked after their owne will, and did wonderfull things before thee, and deſpiſed thy commaundements. *Gene.6.12.

9 *But at the time appointed thou broughteſt the flood vpon thoſe that dwelt in the world, and deſtroyedſt them, *Gene.7.10.

10 So that by the flood, that came to euery one of thē, which came by death vnto Adam, 11 Yet thou leſteſt one, euen *Noe, with his houſhould, of whome came all righteous men. 1.Pet.3.20.

12 And when they that dwelt vpon the earth, began to multiplie, and the number of the children, people and many nations were increaſed, they began to bee more vngodly then the firſt.

13 Now when they liued wickedly before thee, *thou diddeſt chooſe thee a man from among them, whoſe name was *Abraham. *Gene.12.1. *Gene.17.5.

14 Whome thou louedſt, and vnto whom onely thou ſhewedſt thy will,

15 And madeſt an euerlaſting couenant with him, promiſing him that thou wouldeſt neuer forſake his ſeede.

16 *And vnto him thou gaueſt Iſaac, *vnto Iſaac alſo thou gaueſt Jacob and Eſau, *and diddeſt chooſe Jacob, and caſt off Eſau, *Gene.21.2,3. *Gen.25.25,26. *Mala.1.2,3. rom.9.13.

and

and ſo Jacob became a great multitude.

17 And when thou leddeſt his ſeede out
*Exod.19.1. deut.4.10. of Egypt, *thou broughteſt them vp to mount Sina, 18 And enclineddſt the heauens and boweddſt downe the earth, and diddeſt moue the grounde, and cauſe the depths to ſhake, and diddeſt aſtonish the world.

19 And thy glorie went thorowe foure gates of fire, with earthquakes, winde and colde, that thou mighteſt giue the Lawe vnto the ſeede of Jacob, and that which the generation of Iſrael ſhould diligently obſerue.

20 Yet tookeſt thou not away from them the wicked heart, that thy Lawe might bring forth fruite in them.

*Gen.3.6. 21 For * Adam firſt hauing a wicked heart, was ouercome and banquiſhed, and all they that are borne of him.

22 Thus remained weakeneſſe ioyned with the Law in the hearts of the people, with the wickedneſſe of the roote: ſo that the good departed away, and the euill abode ſtill.

23 So the times paſſed away, and the
*1.Sam.16.13. peeres were brought to an end, *till thou diddeſt raiſe thee vp a ſeruant called Dauid,

*2.Sam.5.1. and 7.5,13. 24 * Whom thou commandedſt to build a citie vnto thy Name, to call vpon thee therein with incenſe and ſacrifice.

25 When this was done many yeeres, the inhabitants forſooke thee, 26 Following the wayes of Adam and al his generation: for they alſo had a wicked heart.

27 Therefore thou gaueſt thy citie ouer into the hands of thine enemies.

28 But doe they that dwell at Babylon any better, that they ſhould haue the dominion of Sion?

29 For when I came thither, and ſawe their wicked deedes without number (for this is the thirtieth yeere that I ſee many treſpaſſing) I was diſcouraged.

30 For I ſawe, how thou ſufferedſt them that ſinne, and ſparedſt the wicked doers, where as thou haſt deſtroyed thine owne people, and preſerued thine enemies, and thou haſt not ſhewed it.

31 I cannot perceiue howe this commeth to paſſe. Are the deedes of Babylon better then they of Sion?

32 Or is there any other people that knoweth thee beſides Iſrael? or what generation hath ſo beleeued thy teſtimonies, as Jacob?

33 And yet their rewarde appeareth not, and their labour hath no fruite: for I haue gone here and there thorowout the heathen, and I ſee them flouriſh, and thinke not vpon thy commandements.

34 Weigh thou therfore our wickedneſſe nowe in the balance, and theirs alſo that dwel in the world, and no mention of thee ſhall be found but in Iſrael.

35 Or when is it that they that dwell on the earth, haue not ſinned in thy ſight? or what people hath ſo kept thy commandements?

36 Thou ſhalt ſurely finde that Iſrael by name hath kept thy precepts, but not the heathen.

CHAP. IIII.

2 The Angel reproueth Eſdras, becauſe he ſeemed to enter into the profound iudgements of God.

AND the Angel that was ſent vnto mee, whoſe name was Uriel, anſwered,

2 And ſayde, Thine heart hath taken too much vpon it in this world, and thou thinkeſt to comprehend the wayes of the Higheſt.

3 Then ſaid I, Yea, my Lord. And he anſwered me, and ſaid, I am ſent to ſhewe thee three wayes, and to ſet forth three ſimilitudes before thee,

4 Whereof if thou canſt declare me one, I will ſhew thee alſo the way, that thou deſireſt to ſee, and I will ſhewe thee from whence the wicked heart commeth.

5 And I ſaide, Tell on, my Lord. Then ſaid he vnto me, Goe thy way: weigh me the weight of the fire, or meaſure me the blaſt of the winde, or call mee againe the day that is paſt.

6 Then anſwered I, and ſaid, What man is borne, that can doe that, which thou requireſt me, concerning theſe things?

7 And he ſaid vnto mee, If I ſhould aſke thee how deepe dwellings are in the middes of the ſea, or how great ſprings are in the beginning of the depth, or how great ſprings are in the ſtretching out of the heauen, or which are the borders of paradiſe,

8 Peraduenture thou wouldeſt ſay vnto me, I neuer went downe to the deepe, nor yet to the hel, neither did I euer clime vp to heauen.

9 But nowe haue I aſked thee but of fire and winde, and of the day, whereby thou haſt paſſed, and from the which things thou canſt not be ſeparated, and yet canſt thou giue mee none anſwere of them.

10 Hee ſayde moreouer vnto mee, Thine owne things, and ſuch as are growen vp with thee, canſt thou not knowe?

11 Howe ſhould thy veſſell then be able to comprehend the wayes of the Higheſt, and now outwardly in the corrupt worlde, to vnderſtand the corruption, that is euident in my ſight?

12 Then ſaid I vnto him, It were better that wee were not at all, then that we ſhould liue in wickedneſſe, and to ſuffer, and not to knowe wherefore.

13 And

Iudg.9 8.
2.chron.25.18.

13 And hee answered mee, and saide, *I came to a forest in the plaine where the trees held a counsell.

14 And said, Come, let vs go fight against the sea, that it may giue place to vs, and that we may make vs more woods.

15 Likewise the floods of the sea tooke counsel and said, Come, let vs go vp and fight against the trees of the wood, that we may get another countrey for vs.

16 But the purpose of the wood was vaine: for the fire came and consumed it.

17 Likewise also the purpose of the floods of the sea: for the sand stood vp & stopped them.

18 If thou were iudge betweene these two, whom wouldest thou iustifie? or whome wouldest thou condemne?

19 I answered and said, Verely it is a foolish purpose, that they both haue deuised: for the ground is appointed for the wood, and the sea hath his place to beare his floods.

20 Then answered he me, and said, Thou hast giuen a right iudgement: but why iudgest thou not thy selfe also?

21 For like as the ground is appointed for the wood, and the sea for his floods, so *they that dwel vpon earth, can vnderstand nothing, but that which is vpon earth: and they that are in the heauens, the things that are aboue the height of the heauens.

*Isa.55.8,9.
Iohn 3.31.
1.Cor.2.13,14.

22 Then answered I, and said, I beseech thee, O Lord, let vnderstanding be giuen me.

23 For I did not purpose to inquire of thine hie things, but of such as we daily medle withall, namely, wherefore Israel is made a reproch to the heathen, and for what cause the people, whom thou hast loued, is giuen ouer to wicked nations, and why the Lawe of our fathers is abolished, and the written ceremonies are come to none effect.

24 Why we are tossed to and fro through the world as the grashoppers, and our life is a very feare, and we are not thought worthie to obteine mercie.

25 But what will hee doe to his Name, which is called vpon ouer vs? Of these things haue I asked the question.

26 Then answered he me, and sayd, The more thou searchest, the more thou shalt maruell: for the world hasteth fast to passe away, 27 And cannot comprehend the things, that are promised to the righteous in time to come: for this world is full of vnrighteousnesse and weakenesse.

28 But to declare thee the things whereof thou askest, the euill is sowen, but the destruction thereof is not yet come.

29 If the euill now that is sowen, be not turned vpside downe, and if the place where the euil is sowen, passe not away, then cannot the thing come, that is sowen with good.

30 For the corne of euill seede hath bene sowen in the heart of Adam from the beginning, and howe much vngodlinesse hath hee brought vp vnto this time? and howe much shall he bring forth vntill the haruest come?

31 Ponder with thy selfe, how much fruit of wickednesse the corne of euill seede bringeth forth, 32 And when the stalks shalbe cut downe, which are without number, howe great an haruest must be reaped.

33 Then I answered and said, Howe, and when shall these things come to passe? wherefore are our yeeres fewe and euill?

34 And he answered me, saying, Haste not to be aboue the most High: for thou labourest in vaine to bee aboue him, though thou indeuour neuer so much.

35 Did not the soules also of the righteous aske question of these things in their chambers, saying, Howe long shall I thus hope? and when commeth the fruite of my barne and our wages?

36 And vpon this Jeremiel the Archangel answered, and said, When the number of the seedes is filled in you: for he hath weighed the world in the balance.

37 The measure of the times is measured: the ages are counted by number, and they shall not be mooued or shaken, till the measure thereof be fulfilled.

38 Then answered I, and said, O Lord, Lord, we are all euen full of sinne, 39 And for our sake peraduenture the haruest of the righteous is not fulfilled, because of the sinne of them that dwell vpon earth.

40 So he answered me, and said, Goe, and aske a woman with childe, when she hath fulfilled her nine moneths, if her wombe may keepe the birth any longer within her.

41 Then saide I, No, Lord, she can not. And he said vnto me, In the graue the places of soules are like the wombe.

42 For as she that is with childe, hasteth to escape the necessitie of the trauell, so doe these places haste to deliuer those things that are committed vnto them.

43 That which thou desirest to see, shalbe shewed thee from the beginning.

44 Then answered I, and said, If I haue found grace in thy sight, and if it be possible, and if I be meete therefore, 45 Shewe me whether there be more to come then is past, or moe things past, then are to come.

46 What is past, I know, but what is to come, I know not.

47 And he saide vnto me, Stand on the right side, & I will expound thee this example,

48 So

48 So I ſtoode, and beholde, a hote burning ouen paſſed before mee: and when the flame was gone by, I looked, and beholde, the ſmoke had the vpper hand.

49 After this there paſſed before me a watrie cloude, and ſent downe much raine with a ſtorme: and when the ſtormy raine was paſt, the droppes came after.

50 Then ſaid he vnto me, Conſider with thy ſelfe, as the raine is more then the drops, and as fire exceedeth the ſmoke, ſo the portion that is paſt, hath the vpper hand. And the droppes, and the ſmoke were much.

51 Then I prayed, and ſaid, May I liue, thinkeſt thou vntill that time? or what ſhall come to paſſe in thoſe dayes?

52 He anſwered me, and ſaide, Of the tokens whereof thou aſkeſt me, I can tell thee a part: but I am not ſent to ſhewe thee of thy life: for I doe not know it.

CHAP. V.

1 In the latter times trueth ſhalbe hid. 10 Vnrighteouſneſſe and all wickedneſſe ſhall reigne in the world. 23 Iſrael is reiected and God deliuereth them. 35 God doth all things in ſeaſon.

NEuertheleſſe, concerning the tokens, beholde, the times ſhall come, that they which dwel vpō earth, ſhalbe taken in a great number, and the way of the trueth ſhalbe hid, and the land ſhalbe barren from faith,

*Matth.24.12. 3 And * iniquitie ſhall bee increaſed more then thou haſt ſeene now, or haſt heard in time paſt.

3 And it ſhall come to paſſe, that one ſhall ſet in foote, and thou ſhalt ſee the lande deſolate, which nowe reigneth.

4 Yea, if God graunt thee to liue, thou ſhalt ſee after the third trumpet, that the ſunne ſhal ſuddenly ſhine againe in the night, and the moone three times a day.

5 Blood ſhall droppe out of the wood, and the ſtone ſhall giue his voyce, and the people ſhall be moued.

6 And he ſhall rule, of whome they hope not that dwell vpon earth, and the foules ſhall change place.

7 And the ſea of Sodome ſhall caſt out fiſh, and make a noyſe in the night, which many ſhall not knowe, but they ſhall heare the voyce thereof.

8 There ſhall be a confuſion in many places, and the fire ſhall oft breake foorth, and the wilde beaſtes ſhall change their places, and menſtruous women ſhall beare monſters.

9 And ſalt waters ſhall bee founde in the ſweete, and all friends ſhall fight one againſt another: then ſhall wiſedome hide it ſelfe, and vnderſtanding depart into his ſecret chamber.

10 It ſhall be ſought of many, and yet not be found: then ſhall vnrighteouſneſſe and vnſatiouſnes haue the vpper hand vpon earth.

11 One land ſhall aſke another, and ſay, Is righteous iuſtice gone thorowe thee? And it ſhall ſay, No.

12 At the ſame time ſhall men hope, but not obteine: they ſhall labour, but their enterpriſes ſhall not proſper.

13 To ſhewe thee ſuch tokens I haue leaue, and if thou wilt pray againe and weepe as now, and faſt ſeuen dayes, thou ſhalt heare yet greater things then theſe.

14 ¶ Then I awaked, and a fearefulneſſe went thorow all my body, and my minde was feeble and fainted.

15 But the Angel that was come to talke with me, helde me, comforted me, and ſet me vp vpon my feete.

16 And in the ſecond night, Salathiel the captaine of the people came vnto me, ſaying, Where haſt thou bene? and why is thy countenance ſo heauie?

17 Knoweſt thou not that Iſrael is committed vnto thee in the land of their captiuity?

18 Up then and eate, and forſake vs not, as the ſhepheard that leaueth his flocke in the hands of the cruell wolues.

19 Then ſaide I vnto him, Goe thy waies from me, and come not neere me: and when he heard it, he went from me.

20 And I faſted ſeuen dayes, mourning and weeping, as Vriel the Angel had commanded me.

21 And after ſeuen dayes the thoughes of mine heart were very grieuous vnto mee againe.

22 And I had a deſire to reaſon againe, and I began to talke with the moſt High againe, 23 And ſaid, O Lord, Lord of euery foreſt of the earth, and of all trees thereof thou haſt choſen thee one onely vineyard.

24 And of all lands of the world thou haſt choſen thee one pit, and of all the flowres of the ground thou haſt choſen thee one lilie.

25 And of all the depths of the ſea thou haſt filled thee one riuer, and of all builded cities thou haſt ſanctified Sion vnto thy ſelfe.

26 And of all the foules that are created, thou haſt named thee one doue, & of all the cattel that are made, thou haſt appointed thee one ſheepe.

27 And among all the multitude of people thou haſt gotten thee one people, and vnto this people whom thou loueſt, thou gaueſt a Lawe, that is moſt of all.

28 And now, O Lord, why haſt thou giuen this one people ouer vnto many? and vpon one roote thou haſt ſet others, and haſt ſcattered thine onely people among many.

29 They treade them downe, which haue withſtand thy promiſes, and beleeue not thy teſtimonies.

30 And

30 And if thou diddest so much hate thy people, they shoulde haue bene punished with thine owne hands.

31 ¶ Nowe when I had spoken these wordes, the Angell that came to mee the night afore, was sent vnto me, 32 And said vnto me, Heare me, and I wil teach thee, and hearken that I may instruct thee further.

33 And I saide, Speake on, my Lorde. Then saide he vnto me, Thou art sore vexed and troubled for Israels sake. Louest thou them better, then he doth that made them?

34 And I saide, No, Lord: but of very sorowe haue I spoken: for my reines paine me euery houre, while I labour to comprehende the way of the most High, and to seeke out part of his iudgement.

35 And he saide vnto me, Thou canst not. And I sayde, Wherefore, Lord, wherefore was I borne? or why was not my mothers wombe then my graue? so had I not seene the trouble of Jacob, and the griefe of the stocke of Israel.

36 And he said vnto me, Number vnto me the things that are not yet come, or gather me the drops that are scattered, or make mee the withered flowers greene againe.

37 Open mee the places that are closed, and bring me foorth the windes, that are shut vp therein: shew me the image of a voyce, and then will I declare thee the thing, that thou askest and labourest to know.

38 And I saide, O Lord, Lord, who can knowe these things, but hee that hath not his dwelling with men?

39 But I that am ignorant, howe can I speak of these things, wherof thou askest me?

40 Then saide he vnto mee, Like as thou canst doe none of these things, that I haue spoken of, so canst thou not finde out my iudgement, nor the least benefite, that I haue promised vnto my people.

41 Then I said, Behold, O Lord, the last things are present vnto thee, and what shall they doe that haue bene before me, or we that be now, or they that shall come after vs?

42 And he said vnto me, I will compare my iudgement vnto a ring: as there is no slackenesse of the last, so is there no swiftnesse of the first.

43 Then I answered, and sayd, Couldest thou not make at once those that haue bene, those that are now, and those that shall come, that thou mightest shewe thy iudgement the sooner?

44 Then answered he me. The creature, said he, can not preuent the Creator, neither can the world holde them at once, that shall be created therein.

45 And I saide, As thou hast taught thy seruant, that thou which giuest strength to all, hast giuen life at once to all the worke created by thee, and hast sustained it, so might it nowe also conteine all men at once.

46 And he said vnto me, Aske the wombe of a woman, and say vnto her, Why must thou haue time before thou bringest forth? require her to bring forth tenne at once.

47 And I said, Surely she cannot, but by distance of time.

48 Then said he vnto me, So haue I diuided the number of the earth by times when seede is sowen vpon it.

49 For as a yong childe begetteth not that that belongeth to the aged, so haue I ordeined the time which I haue created.

50 ¶ I asked againe, and saide, Seeing thou hast now shewed me the way, I will proceede to speake before thee: for our mother, whom thou hast tolde mee is yong, yeaweth shee neere vnto age?

51 He answered me, and said, Aske a woman that trauelleth, and she will tell thee.

52 Say vnto her, Wherefore are not they (whom thou hast now brought foorth) like those ꝑ were before thee, but lesse of stature?

53 And she shal answere thee, Some were borne in ꝑ flower of youth, others were borne in the time of age, when the wombe failed.

54 Consider now thy selfe, how that ye are lesse of stature, thē those that were before you, 55 And so are they that come after you, lesse then ye, as the creatures which nowe beginne to bee olde, and haue passed ouer the strength of youth.

56 Then sayde I, Lord, I beseech thee, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, shewe thy seruant, by whom doest thou gouerne workemanship?

CHAP. VI.

God hath foreseene all things in his secrete counsell, and is authour thereof, and hath created them for his children.
25 The felicitie of the age to come.

AND he saide vnto me, In the beginning when the round world was made, & before the borders of the world was set, and before the windes blew one against another:

2 Before the noyse of thunders sounded, before the bright lightning did shine forth, before the foundations of Paradise were laid:

3 Before the faire flowers did appeare, before the moueable powers were stablished, before the innumerable armies of Angels were gathered:

4 Before the heights of the aire were lifted vp, before the measures of the heauens were named, before the chimnies in Sion were hot:

5 Before the present yeeres were sought out, and before the affections of them that now nowe ſinne, were turned away, and they that haue laid vp the treaſure of faith, were ſealed,

6 Then did I purpoſe theſe things, and they were made by me alone, and by none other: by me alſo they ſhall bee ended, and by none other.

7 Then anſwered I, and ſaid, What ſhall be the diuiſion of times? or when ſhall be the ende of the firſt, and the beginning of it that followeth?

8 And hee ſaide vnto me, From Abraham vnto Iſaac, when Jacob and Eſau were borne of him, *Jacobs hand helde faſt the heele of Eſau.

9 For Eſau is the ende of this world, and Jacob is the beginning of it that followeth.

10 The hand of man is betwixt the heele & the hand. Other thing, Eſdras, aſke thou not.

11 ¶ I anſwered then, and ſaid, O Lord, Lord, if I haue found fauour in thy ſight, 12 I beſeech thee, make an ende to ſhew thy ſeruant thy tokens, wherof thou ſhewedſt me part the laſt night.

13 So he anſwered me, and ſaide, Stand vp vpon thy feete, and heare a mightie ſounding voyce.

14 There ſhal come as an earthquake, but the place where thou ſtandeſt, ſhall not bee mooued.

15 And therfore when he ſpeaketh, be not afraid: for of the end ſhall be the word, & of the foundation of the earth ſhall it be vnderſtood.

16 Therefore while one ſpeaketh of them, it trembleth and is mooued: for it knoweth, that it muſt be changed at the ende.

17 And when I had heard it, I ſtoode vp vpon my feete, and hearkened, and beholde, there was a voyce that ſpake, and the ſound of it was like the ſound of many waters:

18 And it ſayd, Beholde, the dayes come, that I will come and inquire of them that dwell vpon the earth,

19 And when I beginne to inquire of them, who by their vnrighteouſneſſe haue hurt others, and when the affliction of Sion ſhalbe fulfilled,

20 And the world, that ſhall vaniſh away, ſhall be ſealed, then will I ſhew theſe ſignes: the bookes ſhall be opened before the heauen, and they ſhall ſee all it together.

21 And the children of a peere olde ſhall ſpeake with their voyces: the women with childe ſhall bring forth vntimely children of three or foure moneths old, and they ſhall liue that are raiſed vp.

22 Then ſuddenly ſhall the ſowen places appeare as the vnſowen, and the full ſtore houſes ſhall ſuddenly be found emptie.

23 And the trumpet ſhall ſound, and all they that heare it, ſhall be ſuddenly afraid.

24 At that time ſhall friendes fight with friendes, as with enemies, and the earth ſhall feare with them: the ſpringes of the welles ſhall ſtand ſtill, and in three houres they ſhall not runne.

25 Whoſoeuer remaineth from all theſe things that I haue told thee, ſhalbe ſaued, and ſee my ſaluation, and the ende of your world.

26 And the men that are receiued, ſhall ſee it: they that haue not taſted death from their birth, and the heart of the inhabitants ſhall be changed, and turned to another meaning.

27 For euill ſhall be put out out, and deceite ſhall be quenched, 28 But faith ſhall flouriſh: corruption ſhall be ouercome, and the trueth which hath bene ſo long without fruite, ſhall come forth.

29 ¶ And when hee talked with me, beholde, I looked a litle vpon him before whom I ſtoode.

30 And theſe words ſayde he vnto me, I am come to ſhewe thee the time of the night to come.

31 If thou wilt pray againe, and faſt ſeuen daies more, I wil tel thee more things, & greater then theſe, which I haue heard in the day.

32 For thy voyce is heard before the Higheſt: ſurely the mightie hath ſeene thy righteous dealing: he hath ſeene alſo thy chaſtitie, which thou haſt kept ſince thy youth.

33 Therefore hath hee ſent mee to ſhewe thee all theſe things, and to ſay vnto thee, Be of good comfort, and feare not,

34 And haſte not in the vaine conſideration of the firſt times, nor make haſte to the latter times.

35 And after this I wept againe & faſted ſeuen daies in like maner, that I might fulfill the three weekes, which he had appointed me.

36 And in the eight night was mine heart vexed within me againe, & I began to ſpeake before the moſt High.

37 For my ſpirit was greatly ſet on fire, and my ſoule was in diſtreſſe.

38 And I ſayd, O Lord, thou ſpakeſt expreſly in the firſt creation (euen the firſt day) and commandedſt *that the heauen & the earth ſhould be made, & the worke ſolowed thy word. * Gene.1.1.

39 And then was there the ſpirite, and the darkneſs was on euery ſide with ſilence: there was no mans voyce as yet created of thee.

40 Then commandedſt thou a bright light to come forth out of thy treaſures, that it might giue light to thy worke.

41 Upon the ſecond day thou createdſt the heauenly aire, and commandedſt it, that going betweene, it ſhould make a diuiſion betweene the waters, that the one part might remaine aboue, and the other beneath.

42 Upon the third day thou commandedſt dest, that the waters should bee gathered together in the seuenth part of the earth: six partes diddest thou drie, and kept them to the intent that of these there should be that should serue thee, being sowen of God and tilled.

43 Assoone as thy worde went forth, the worke was incontinently made.

44 For immediatly great and innumerable fruite did spring vp, and many diuers pleasures for the taste, and flowers of vnchangeable colour, and odours of a most wonderfull smell, and these things were created the third day.

*Gene.1.14. 45 *Vpon the fourth day thou createdst the light of the sunne, and of the moone, and the order of the starres,

*Gen.1.14. and 15.deut.4.19. 46 And gauest them a charge, to doe *seruice, euen vnto man that was for to be made.

*Gen.1.20. 47 And vpon the fift day thou saidest vnto the seuenth part *where the waters were gathered, that it shoulde bring forth beastes, as foules and fishes: and it was so.

48 For the dum waters, and without life brought forth liuing things at the commandement of God, that the nations might praise thy wonderous works.

‖Or, Enoch. 49 Then diddest thou prepare two liuing things: the one thou calledst ‖ Behemoth, and the other thou calledst Leuiathan, 50 And diddest separate the one from the other: for the seuenth part, where the water was gathered, could not hold them.

51 Vnto Behemoth thou gauest one part, which was dried vp the third day, that hee should dwell in the same part, wherein are a thousand hilles.

52 But vnto Leuiathan thou gauest the seuenth part, that is wet, & hast prepared him to deuoure what thou wilt, & when thou wilt.

53 Vpon the sixt day thou gauest commandement vnto the earth, that before thee it should bring forth beastes, cattell and creeping things.

54 And besides this Adam, whome thou madest lord ouer all the workes, which thou hast created, of him come we all, and the people also whom thou hast chosen.

55 All this haue I spoken before thee, O Lord, because thou hast created the worlde for our sakes.

56 As for the other people, which also come of Adam, thou hast declared them that they are nothing before thee, but be like vnto spittle, and hast compared their riches vnto a drop that falleth from a vessell.

57 And now, O Lord, behold, these heathen which haue bene reputed as nothing, haue begun to be lords ouer vs, and to deuoure vs.

58 And we thy people (whome thou hast called the first borne, the onely begotten, and thy feruent louer) are giuen into their hands.

59 If the world then bee created for our sakes, why haue we not the inheritance thereof in possession? or howe long shall we suffer these things?

CHAP. VII.

Without tribulation none can come to felicitie. 12 God aduertiseth all in time. 28 The coming & death of Christ. 32 The resurrection and last iudgement, 43 After the which all corruption shall cease. 48 All fell in Adam. 59 The true life. 62 The mercies and goodnesse of God.

AND when I had made an ende of these wordes, there was sent vnto me an Angell, which had bene sent downe to mee the nights afore.

2 And he said vnto mee, Vp Esdras, and heare the words that I am come to tell thee.

3 And I said, Speake on, my God. Then said he vnto me, The sea is set in a wide place, that it might be deepe and great,

4 But presuppose that the entrance thereof were narowe, and like the riuers,

5 Who could go into the sea to looke vpon it, and to rule it? if he went not thorow the narow, how could he come into the broad?

6 There is also another thing: a citie is builded and set vpon a broad field, and is full of all good things:

7 The entrance thereof is narowe and in a dangerous place to fall, that there is fire at the right hand, and a deepe water at the left,

8 And there is but one path betwixt them, euen betweene the fire and the water, so that there coulde but one goe there.

9 If this citie were giuen vnto a man for an inheritance, if he neuer went thorowe the perill before it, how could he receiue his inheritance?

10 And I said, It is so, Lord. Then saide he, So is the portion of Israel.

11 Surely for their sakes haue I made the world: and when Adam transgressed my statutes, then came this thing to passe.

12 Then were the entrances of the world made narrowe, full of sorowe and trauaile: they are but fewe, and euill, and full of perils, and very painefull.

13 For the entrances of the fore worlde were wide & sure, & brought immortal fruite.

14 If then they that are liuing, labour not to enter by these straight & brittle things, they cannot attaine to these things that are kept.

15 Why then disquietest thou thy selfe, seeing thou art corruptible? and why art thou moued, seeing thou art mortall?

16 And why hast thou not considered in thy minde the things to come, rather then them that are present?

17 Then saide I, O Lord, Lord * seeing *Deut.1.1. thou hast ordeined in thy Law, that the righteous ous should inherite these things, and that the vngodly should perish, 18 Should the righteous suffer straitnesse in hoping for large things: yet they that haue liued vngodly and suffred straitnesse, shall not see the large things.

19 Then hee sayde vnto mee, There is no iudge more iust then God, and there is none more wise then the most High.

20 For many perish in this life, because they despise the Law of God that is appointed.

21 For God hath diligently admonished such as came, so oft as they came, what they shoulde doe to haue life, and what they shoulde obserue, to auoyde punishment.

22 Neuertheless, they were not obedient vnto him, but spake against him, and imagined vaine things, 23 And deceiued themselues by their wicked deedes, and denied the power of the most High, and regarded not his wayes.

24 But they despised his Lawe, and refused his promises: they haue vnfaithfully broken his ordinances, and haue not performed his workes.

25 And therefore, Esdras, vnto the emptie are emptie things, and to the full, full things.

26 Behold, the time shall come, that these tokens which I haue tolde thee, shall come to passe, and the bride shall appeare, and shee shall come foorth, and bee seene that nowe is vnder the earth.

27 And whosoeuer shal escape these euils, he shall see my wonders.

28 For my sonne Iesus shal appeare with those that be with him, and they that remaine, shall reioyce with him foure hundreth yeeres.

29 After the same yeeres, shall my sonne Christ die, and all men that haue life.

30 And the worlde shall be turned into the old silence for seuen daies, as in the fore iudgements, so that no man shall remaine.

31 But after seuen dayes, the worlde that is yet asleepe, shall be raised vp: and that shall die that is corrupt.

32 Then the earth shall restore those that haue slept in her, and so shall the dust those that dwell therein in silence, and the secrete places shall deliuer the soules that were committed vnto them.

33 And the most High shall appeare vpon the seate of iudgement, and miseries shall vanish away, and long suffring shal haue an ende.

34 Iustice onely shall continue: the trueth shall remaine, and faith shalbe strong.

34 The worke shall followe, and the reward shalbe shewed: the good deedes shalbe of force, and vnrighteousnesse shall beare no more rule.

*Gene.18.23. 36 Then said I, *Abraham prayed first for the Sodomites, and *Moyses for the fathers that sinned in the wildernesse, *Exod.32.3,11.

37 And they that came after him, for Israel in the time of Achaz, and Samuel, 38 And *Dauid for the destruction, * and Salomon for them that came into the Sanctuarie, *2.Sam.24.17. *2.Chro.6.14.

39 *And Elias for those that receiued raine, and for the dead that he might liue, *1.King.17.21. and 18.42,45.

40 *And Ezechias for the people in ẏ time of Sennacherib, and diuers others for many. *2.King.19.15.

41 Euen so now, seeing vice is increased, and wickednes aboundeth, and the righteous haue prayed for the vngodly, wherefore shall not the same effect follow also nowe?

42 Then he answered me, & said, This present life is not ẏ end: oft times honour is reteined in it: therfore haue they prayed for ẏ weake.

43 But the day of iudgement shall bee the ende of this worlde, and the beginning of the immortalitie to come, wherein all corruption shall cease.

44 Intemperancie shall passe away: infidelitie shall bee cut off: righteousnesse shall growe vp, and the veritie shall spring vp.

45 There shall no man be able to saue him that is destroyed, nor oppresse him that hath gotten the victorie.

46 I answered then, and said, This is my first and last saying, that it had bene better not to haue giuen the earth vnto Adam, or when it was giuen him, to haue kept him that hee should not haue sinned.

47 For what profite is it for men in this present life to be in heauinesse, and after death to feare punishment?

48 O Adam, what hast thou done? * for in that that thou hast sinned, thou art not fallen alone, but the fall also redoundeth vnto vs that come of thee. *Rom.5.18.

49 For what profite is it vnto vs, if there be promised an immortall life, when wee doe the workes that bring death?

50 And that an euerlasting hope shoulde bee promised vs, seeing that wee betide our selues to deadly vanitie?

51 And that there should be appointed vs dwellings of health and safetie, if wee haue liued wickedly?

52 And that the glorie of the most High should be kept to defend them which haue led a patient life, if wee haue walked in the wicked wayes?

53 And that an eternall Paradise shoulde be shewed, whose fruite remaineth incorruptible, wherein is safetie and health, if we will not enter into it?

54 (For wee haue bene conuersant in vnpleasant places)

55 And that the faces of them which haue abſteined, ſhoulde ſhine moꝛe then ſtarres, if our faces be blacker then darkeneſſe?

56 Foꝛ while we liued, we did not remember when wee did vnrighteouſly, that wee ſhould ſuffer after death.

57 Then anſwered he me, and ſayd, This is the maner of the battell, which man, that is boꝛne in the earth, ſhall fight, 58 That if he be ouercome, he ſhoulde ſuffer as thou haſt ſaid: but if he get the victoꝛie, he ſhould receiue the thing that I ſaid.

59 Foꝛ this is the life, whereof Moyſes ſpake vnto the people, while he liued, ſaying, *Deut.30.19. *Chuſe thee life that thou mayeſt liue.

60 Neuertheleſſe, they beleeued him not, neither the Pꝛophetes after him, noꝛ mee alſo which haue ſaid vnto them, 61 Their heauineſſe ſhoulde not ſo bee to their deſtruction, as ioy ſhoulde come vnto them, to whom ſaluation is perſwaded.

62 I anſwered then, and ſayde, I knowe Loꝛde, that the moſt High is called mercifull, in that he hath mercie vpon them, which are not yet come to that woꝛld,

63 And that hee hath pitie on thoſe that walke in his Lawe,

*Rom.2.4. 64 And that *he is patient: foꝛ he long ſuffereth thoſe that haue ſinned as his creatures,

65 And that he is liberall: foꝛ he will giue as much as needeth,

66 And that he is of great mercie: foꝛ he ouercommeth in mercy thoſe that are pꝛeſent, and that are paſt, and them which are to come.

67 Foꝛ if hee were not aboundant in his mercies, the woꝛlde coulde not continue, noꝛ they that haue the poſſeſſion thereof.

68 He pardoneth alſo: foꝛ if hee gaue not of his goodneſſe, that they which haue done euill, might bee relieued from their wickedneſſe, the tenne thouſand part of men ſhoulde not remaine aliue.

69 And if hee, being iudge, foꝛgaue not thoſe that bee healed with his woꝛd and tooke away the multitude of ſinnes, 70 There ſhoulde peraduenture bee very fewe left in an innumerable multitude.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The number of the Godly is ſmall. 6 The workes of God are excellent. 10 Eſdras prayer for him and for his people. 39 The promiſe of ſalnation to the iuſt. 55 The deſtruction of the vniuſt.

AND he anſwered mee, ſaying, The moſt High made this woꝛld foꝛ many, but the woꝛld to come foꝛ fewe.

2 I will tel thee a ſimilitude, O Eſdras, As when thou aſkeſt the earth, it ſhall ſay vnto thee, that it giueth much earthly matter to make pottes, but litle duſt that gold commeth of, ſo is it with the woꝛke of this woꝛld.

*Matth.20.16. 3 *There be many created, but fewe ſhall be ſaued.

4 Then anſwered I, and ſayde, Then ſwallow vp the wit, O my ſoule, and deuoure vnderſtanding.

5 Foꝛ thou haſt pꝛomiſed to heare, and thou wilt pꝛophecie: foꝛ thou haſt no longer ſpace, but the life giuen thee.

6 O Loꝛde, if thou ſuffer not thy ſeruant, that wee may intreate thee, that thou mayeſt giue ſeede vnto our heart, and pꝛepare our vnderſtanding, that there may come fruite of it, whereby euery one which is coꝛrupt, may liue, who can ſet himſelfe foꝛ man?

7 Foꝛ thou art alone, and wee all are one woꝛkemanſhip of thine handes, as thou haſt ſaid,

8 Foꝛ when the body is faſhioned now in the wombe, & thou haſt giuen it members, the creature is pꝛeſerued by fire & water, and the woꝛke, created by thee, doth ſuffer nine moneths the creature, which is faſhioned in it.

9 But the thing that conteineth, and that which is conteyned, ſhall both bee pꝛeſerued, and when time is come, the wombe being pꝛeſerued, deliuereth the things that grew in it.

10 Foꝛ thou haſt commaunded the members, euen the bꝛeaſtes, to giue milke vnto the fruite appoynted to the bꝛeaſts, 11 That the thing, which is created, may be nouriſhed foꝛ a time, till thou diſpoſeſt it to thy mercie.

12 Thou bꝛingeſt it vp with thy righteouſneſſe, nourtureſt it in thy lawe, and reꝛoꝛmeſt it with thy iudgement.

13 Thou ſlayeſt it as thy creature, and giueſt it life as thy woꝛke.

14 Seeing then that thou deſtꝛoyeſt him, which with ſo great labours is faſhioned, it is an eaſie thing to appoynt by thy commaundement, that the thing alſo which is made, might be pꝛeſerued.

15 Now therefoꝛe, O Loꝛd, I will ſpeake (as touching men in generall thou ſhalt rather pꝛouide) but concerning thy people, foꝛ whoſe ſake I am ſoꝛy, 16 And foꝛ thine inheritance foꝛ whoſe cauſe I mourne, foꝛ Iſrael, foꝛ whō I am woful, & foꝛ Jacob, foꝛ whoſe ſake I am grieued.

17 Foꝛ them will I pꝛay befoꝛe thee, as well foꝛ my ſelfe, as foꝛ them: foꝛ I ſee our faults that dwel in the land.

18 ¶ But I haue heard the ſudden comming of the iudge, which is to come.

19 Therefoꝛe heare my voyce, and vnderſtand my woꝛdes, which I will ſpeake befoꝛe thee. The beginning of the woꝛds of Eſdras, befoꝛe he was taken vp:

20 O Loꝛd, thou liueſt foꝛ euer, which beholdeſt from aboue that which is aboue, and in the ayꝛe,

21 Whoſe

21 Whose throne is inestimable, and his glory incomprehensible, before whom the host of the Angels stand with trembling,

22 Whose keeping is turned in winde and fire, whose word is true, and sayings stedfast: whose commandement is strong, and gouernment terrible,

23 Whose looke driueth vp the depths, and wrath maketh the mountaines to melt away as the thing beareth witnesse.

24 Heare the prayer of thy seruant, & receiue into thine eares the petition of thy creature.

25 For while I liue, I will speake, and so long as I haue vnderstanding, I wil answere.

26 Looke not vpon the sinnes of thy people, rather then thy faithfull seruants.

27 Haue not respect vnto the wicked deedes of men, rather then to them that haue thy testimonies in afflictions.

28 Thinke not vpon those that haue walked fainedly before thee, but remember them that reuerence thy will.

29 Let it not bee thy will to destroy them, which haue liued like beastes, but looke vpon them that haue clearely taught thy Lawe.

30 Take not displeasure with them, which appeare worse then beastes, but loue them that alway put their trust in thy righteousnesse and glory.

31 For wee and our fathers haue all the same sicknesse: but because of vs that are sinners, thou shalt be called mercifull.

32 If therfore thou wilt haue mercy vpon vs, thou shalt be called mercifull towardes vs which haue no works of righteousnesse.

33 For the righteous, which haue layd vp many good workes, let them receiue the reward of their owne deedes.

34 But what is man, that thou shouldest take displeasure at him: or what is this mortal generation, that thou shouldest bee so grieued towards it?

*1. King. 8. 46. 2. chron. 6. 36. 35 * For verely there is no man among them that be borne, but he hath done wickedly, nor any that doth confesse thee, which hath not done amisse.

36 For in this, O Lord, thy righteousnesse and thy goodnesse shall be praised, if thou bee mercifull vnto them, which haue not the substance of good works.

37 ¶ Then answered he mee, and sayde, Some things hast thou spoken aright, and according vnto thy words it shal be.

38 For I will not vtterly consider the workes of them, before the death, before the iudgement, before destruction:

*Gen. 4. 4. 39 But * I will reioyce in the wayes of the righteous, and I will remember the pilgrimage, the saluation, and the reward that they shall haue.

40 Like as I haue spoken now, so shall it come to passe.

41 For as the husbandman soweth much seede vpon the grounde, and planteth many trees, and yet alway the thing that is sowen, cōmeth not vp in time, neither yet doth all that is planted take roote: so neither shall they all that are brought into the worlde, be saued.

42 I answered then and sayde, If I haue found grace, let me speake.

43 Like as the husbandmans seede perisheth, if it come not vp, and receiue not raine in due season, or if it bee destroyed with too much raine:

44 So perisheth man, which is created with thine handes, and thou art called his paterne, because he is created to thine image, for whose sake thou hast made all things, and likened him vnto the husbandmans seede.

45 Be not wroth with vs, O Lord, but spare thy people, and haue mercy vpon thine inheritance: for thou wilt bee mercifull vnto thy creature.

46 Then answered he me, and sayde, The things present, are for the time present, and the things to come for such as be to come.

47 For thou art farre off, that thou shouldest loue my creature aboue mee: but I haue oft time drawen neere vnto thee and vnto it, but neuer to the vnrighteous.

48 In this also thou art marueilous before the Highest,

49 In that thou hast humbled thy selfe, as it becommeth thee, and hast not iudged thy selfe worthy to boast thy selfe greatly among the righteous.

50 For many miseries and calamities remaine for them that shall liue in the latter time, because they shall walke in great pride.

51 But learne thou for thy selfe, and seeke out the glory for such as be like thee.

52 For vnto you is paradise opened: the tree of life is planted: the time to come is prepared, plenteousnesse made ready: the citie is builded, and rest is prepared, perfect goodnesse and absolute wisedome.

53 The roote of euil is sealed vp from you: the weakenesse & moth is destroyed from you, and into hell flieth corruption to be forgotten.

54 Sorowes are vanished away, & in the ende is shewed the treasure of immortalitie.

55 Therfore aske thou no more questions concerning the multitude of them that perish.

56 For when they had libertie, they despised the most High: they contemned his lawe and forsooke his wayes.

57 Moreouer, they haue troden downe his righteous,

58 *Saying in their heart, ỹ there was no God: though they knew that they shoulde die. *Psal. 14. 1. and 53. 1.

59 For as the thing that I haue spoken of, is made ready for you: so is thirst and paine prepared for them: for God woulde not that man should perish:

60 But they, after that they were created, haue defiled the Name of him that made them, and are vnthankefull vnto him, which prepared life for them.

61 Therefore my iudgement is nowe at hand.

62 These things haue I not shewed vnto all men, but vnto thee, and to a fewe like thee: then I answered, and said, 63 Beholde nowe, O Lorde: thou hast shewed me the many wonders, which thou art determined to doe in the last time, but in what time, thou hast not shewed me.

CHAP. IX.

5 All things in this world haue a beginning and an end. 10 Torments for the wicked after this life. 15 The number of the wicked is more then of the good. 29 The Iewes ingratitude. 36 Therefore they perish. 38 The vision of a woman lamenting.

HE answered me then, and said, Measure the time with it selfe, and when thou seest that one part of the tokens come to passe, which I haue told thee before,

2 Then shalt thou vnderstand that it is the time wherein the most High will beginne to visite the world which he made.

3 Therefore when there shall be seene an *earthquake in the world, and an vproar of the people, Matth. 24.7.

4 Then shalt thou vnderstand that the most High spake of those things frō the dayes that were before thee, euen from the beginning.

5 For as al that is made in the world, hath a beginning & an end, and the end is manifest,

6 So the times also of the most High haue plaine beginnings in wonders and signes, and ende in effect and miracles.

7 And euery one that shall escape safe, and shall bee deliuered by his workes, and by the faith wherein ye haue beleeued,

8 Shalbe preserued from the sayd perils and shall see my saluation in my lande, and within my borders: for I haue kept mee holy from the world.

9 Then shal they haue pitie of themselues, which nowe haue abused my wayes: and they that haue cast them out despitefully shall dwell in paines.

10 For such as in their life haue receiued benefites, and haue not knowen me,

11 But haue abhorred my law, while they were yet in libertie, and when they had yet leisure of amendment, and would not vnderstand but despised it,

12 They must bee taught it after death by paine.

13 And therefore be thou no more careful, to know how the vngodly shalbe punished, but inquire howe the righteous shall be saued, and whose the world is, & for whome it is, & when.

14 Then answered I, and sayd,

15 I haue afore said that which I say now and will speake it hereafter, that there bee many moe of them which perish, then of them that shall be *saued,

*Chap. 8. 3. matt. 20. 16.

16 As the flood is greater then a drop.

17 And he answered mee, saying, As the field is, so is also the seed: as the flowers be, so are the colours also: such as the workeman is, such is the work: & as the husbandman is, so is his husbandry: for it was ỹ time of the world.

18 Surely when I prepared the worlde, which was not yet made for them to dwell in that now liue, no man spake against me.

19 For then euery one obeyed, but nowe the maners of them that are created in this worlde, that is made, are corrupted by a perpetuall seede, and by a Law, whereout they cannot rid themselues.

20 So I considered the world, and behold there was perill, because of the deuises, that were sprung vp into it.

21 Yet when I sawe it, I spared it greatly, and haue kept mee one grape of the cluster, and a plant out of a great people.

22 Let therefore the multitude perish, which are borne in vaine: and let my grape be kept, and my plant, which I haue dressed with great labour.

23 ¶ Neuertheless, if thou wilt cease seuen dayes moe (but thou shalt not fast in them,

24 But shalt goe into a faire fielde, where no house is builded, and shalt eate onely of the flowres of the field, and eat no flesh, nor drinke wine, but the flowers onely,

25 And pray vnto the most High continually) then wil I come, and talke with thee.

26 So I went my way, as he had commanded mee into the fielde, which is called Ardath, and there I sate among the flowers, and did eate of the herbes of the fielde, and the meate of the same satisfied me.

27 And after seuen dayes, as I sate vpon the grasse, and mine heart was vexed within me, as afore,

28 I opened my mouth, and beganne to talke before the most High, and to say,

29 O Lord, when thou wouldest shewe thy selfe vnto vs, *thou declaredst thy selfe vnto our fathers in the wildernes, in a place, where no man dwelleth, in a barren place, when they came out of Egypt,

*Exod. 19. 9. and 24. 3. deut. 4. 13.

30 And expressly spakest vnto them, saying, Heare mee, O Israel, and marke my wordes, thou seede of Iacob.

31 For behold, I sow my Law in you, that it it may bring foorth fruite in you, and that yee may be honoured by it for euer.

32 But our fathers which receiued the Lawe, kept it not, neither obserued thine ordinances, neither did the fruite of the Lawe appeare, neither could it, for it was thine.

Exod. 32. 28. 33 * For they that receiued it, perished, because they kept not the thing that was sowen in them.

34 And lo, it is a custome when the ground receiueth seede, or the sea a ship, or a vessell meate and drinke, if that perish wherin a thing is sowen, or wherein any thing is put,

35 Likewise the thing that is sowen, or is put therein, and the things that are receiued, must perish: so the things that are receiued, doe not remaine with vs: but in vs it commeth not so to passe.

36 For we that haue receiued the Law perish in sinne, & our heart also which receiued it.

37 But the Law perisheth not, but remaineth in his force.

38 ¶ And when I spake these things in mine heart, I looked about mee, and vpon the [Chap. 10. 44. right side * I sawe a woman, which mourned sore, and lamented with a loud voice, and was grieued in heart, and rent her clothes, and shee had ashes vpon her head.

39 Then I left my thoughtes, wherein I was occupied, and turned me vnto her, 40 And said vnto her, Wherefore weepest thou? why art thou so sory in minde?

41 And shee sayde vnto mee, Sir, let mee alone, that I may bewayle my selfe, and increase sorowe: for I am sore vexed in my minde, and brought very lowe.

42 Then I sayde vnto her, What ayleth thee? tell me.

43 And shee sayde vnto me, I thy seruant haue bene barren, and haue had no childe, hauing an husband thirtie yeeres.

44 And euery houre, and euery day these thirtie yeeres I pray to the most High day and night.

45 And after thirtie yeeres God heard me thine handmaid, and looked vpon my miserie, considered my trouble, and gaue mee a sonne, and I was glad of him: so was mine husband also and all they of my countrey, and we gaue great honour vnto the Almightie.

46 And I nourished him with great trauell.

47 So when hee grewe vp, and came to take a wife, I made a feast.

CHAP. X.

Esdras and the woman that appeareth vnto him, commune together.

BUt when my sonne went into his chamber, he fell downe, and died.

2 Then we all ouerthrewe the lightes, and all my neighbours rose vp to comfort me: so I rested vntill the second day at night.

3 And when they had all left off to comfort mee, that I shoulde be quiet, then I rose vp by night, and fled, and am come into this fielde as thou seest.

4 And am not purposed to returne into the citie, but to remaine here, and neither to eate nor drinke, but continually to mourne and fast, vntill I die.

5 Then left I my purpose wherin I was, and spake to her angerly, and said, 6 Thou foolish woman aboue all other, seest thou not our heauinesse, and what commeth vnto vs?

7 For Sion our mother is all wofull and is sore afflicted, and mourneth extremely.

8 Seeing wee bee all nowe in heauinesse, and make our mone (for wee be all sorowfull) art thou sory for one sonne?

9 Demaund the earth, and shee shall tell thee that it is shee which ought to mourne for the fall of so many that grow vpon her.

10 For from the beginning all men are borne of her, and other shall come, and behold, they walke almost all into destruction, and the multitude of them shall be destroyed.

11 Who should then rather mourne, shee that hath lost so great a multitude, or thou which art sory but for one?

12 But if thou wouldest say vnto me, My mourning is not like the mourning of the earth (for I haue lost the fruite of my wombe, which I brought foorth with heauinesse, and bare with sorowes, 13 But the earth is according to the maner of the earth, and present multitude returneth into her as it came)

14 Then say I vnto thee, As thou hast borne with trauell, so the earth also from the beginning giueth her fruite vnto man, euen to him that laboured her.

15 Now therefore withhold thy sorowe in thy selfe, and beare constantly that which commeth vnto thee.

16 For if thou allowest Gods purpose, and receiuest his counsell in time, thou shalt be commended therein.

17 Goe thy way then into the citie to thine husband.

18 ¶ Then she said vnto me, I will not, I will not goe into the citie, but here will I die.

19 So I continued to speake more with her, and said, 20 Doe not so, but be counselled: for how many falles hath Sion? bee of good comfort because of the sorowe of Jerusalem.

21 For thou seest that our Sanctuarie is laid waste: our altar is broken downe: our Temple is destroyed:

22 Our psalterion fainteth, and the song ceaseth, and our mirth is vanished away, and the light of our candlestick is quenched, and the Arke of our couenant is taken away, and our holy things are defiled, and the Name that is called vpon ouer vs, is almost dishonoured, and our children are put to shame, and our Priests are burnt, and our Leuites are caried into captiuitie, and our virgins are defiled, and our wiues rauished, and our righteous men spoyled, and our children destroyed, and our yong men are brought in bondage, and our strong men are become weake,

23 And, which is the greatest of all, Sion the seale hath lost her worship: for shee is deliuered into the hands of them that hate vs.

24 And therefore shake off thy great heauinesse, & put away the multitude of sorowes, that the Almightie may bee mercifull vnto thee, and that the most High may giue thee rest and ease from thy labour.

25 And when I was talking with her, her face and her beautie shined suddenly, and her countenance was bright, so that I was afraid, of her and mused what it might be.

26 And beholde, immediatly she cast out a great voyce, very fearefull, so that the earth shooke at the noise of the woman.

27 And I looked, and beholde, the woman appeared vnto mee no more: but there was a citie builded, and a place was shewed from the ground and foundation. Then was I afraid, and cryed with a loud voyce, and said, 28 Where is Uriel the Angel * which came to me at the first? for he hath caused me to come into many and deepe considerations, and mine ende is turned into corruption, and my prayer to rebuke.

*Chap. 4. 1.

29 And as I was speaking these wordes, behold, he came vnto me, and looked vpon me.

30 And loe, I lay as one dead, and mine vnderstanding was altered, and he tooke me by the right hand and comforted me, and set mee vpon my feete, and said vnto me, 31 What aileth thee? and why is thine vnderstanding vexed? and the vnderstanding of thine heart? and wherefore art thou sorry?

32 And I sayde, Because thou hast forsaken me, and I haue done * according vnto thy words: I went into the fielde, & there haue I seene things, & see y I am not able to expres.

*Chap. 5. 16.

33 Then said he vnto me, Stand vp manly, and I will giue thee exhortion.

34 Then said I, Speake vnto me my Lord, & forsake mee not, lest I die through rashnesse.

35 For I haue seene that I knewe not, and heare that I doe not knowe.

36 Or is mine vnderstanding deceiued, or doeth my minde, being hautie, erre?

37 Now therefore I beseech thee that thou wilt shew thy seruant of this wonder.

38 Then he answered me, and said, Heare me, and I will informe thee, and tel thee wherefore thou art afraide: for the most High hath reuealed many secret things vnto thee.

39 He hath seene thy good purpose, that thou art sorry continually for thy people, and makest great lamentation for Sion.

40 This therefore is the vnderstanding of the vision, which appeared vnto thee a little while agoe.

41 Thou sawest a woman mourning, and thou begannest to comfort her:

42 But now seest thou the likenesse of the woman no more, but there appeared vnto thee a citie builded.

43 And where as shee tolde thee of the death of her sonne, this is the solution,

44 This woman which thou sawest, shee is Sion: and whereas she tolde thee (euen she which thou seest now as a citie builded)

45 And as touching that she said vnto thee, that shee was barren thirtie yeeres, this was concerning that, there was euen thirtie yeeres wherein there was no offering offered in her.

46 But after thirtie yeeres, Salomon built the citie, and offered offerings: then bare the barren a sonne.

47 And where as shee tolde thee, that shee nourished him with labour, that was the inhabiting of Ierusalem,

48 But where as shee tolde thee that her sonne, as his chance was, dyed when shee came into her chamber, that is the fall that is come to Ierusalem, 49 And when thou sawest her like one that mourned for her sonne, thou begannest to comfort her: of these things which haue chanced these are to be opened vnto thee.

50 For now the most High seeth, that thou art sorry in thy minde, and because thou sufferest with all thine heart for her, he shewed thee the clearenesse of her glorie, and the faireneſse of her beautie.

51 And therefore I bade thee remaine in the fielde where no house was built.

52 For I knew that the most High would shewe these things vnto thee.

53 Therefore I commaunded thee to goe into the fielde, where no foundation nor building is.

54 For the worke of mans building can not stand in that place where the citie of the most High should be shewed.

55 And therfore feare not, neither let thine heart be afraid, but goe in, and see the beautie and greatnesse of the building as much as thou art able to see with thine eyes.

56 And after this shalt thou heare, as much as thine eares may comprehend,

57 For

57 For thou art bleſſed aboue many, and art called with the moſt High among the fewe.

58 But to morowe at night thou ſhalt remaine here,

59 And the moſt High ſhall ſhewe thee viſions of high things, which the moſt High will doe vnto them that dwel vpon earth, in the laſt dayes. So I ſlept the ſame nigh and another as he had commanded me.

CHAP. XI.

1 The viſion of an egle comming forth of the ſea, and of her feathers. 37 Of a lyon comming out of the foreſt.

THen ſawe I a dreame, and behold, there came vp from the ſea an egle, which had twelue feathered wings and three heads.

2 And I ſawe and beholde, ſhee ſpred her wings ouer all the earth, and all the windes of the ayre blewe on her, and gathered them ſelues.

3 And I beholde, and out of her feathers grewe out other contrarie feathers, and they became little feathers and ſmall.

4 But her heades remained ſtill, and the head in the middes was greater then the other heads, yet reſted it with them.

5 Moreouer, I ſawe that the egle flewe with his feathers and reigned vpon earth, and ouer them that dwell therein.

6 And I ſaw that all things vnder heauen were ſubiect vnto her, and no man ſpake againſt her, no not one creature vpon earth.

7 I ſawe alſo that the egle ſtoode vp vpon her clawes, and ſpake to her feathers ſaying, 8 Watch not al together: ſleepe euery one in his owne place, and watch by courſe.

9 But let the heads bee preſerued for the laſt.

10 Neuertheleſſe, I ſawe that the voyce went not out of her heads, but from the midſt of her body.

11 Then I numbred her contrarie feathers, and behold there were eight of them.

12 And I looked, and beholde vpon the right ſide there aroſe one feather, and reigned ouer all the earth.

13 And when it had reigned, the end of it came, & the place thereof appeared no more. So the next ſtood vp, and reigned: it continued a long time.

14 And when it had reigned, the end of it came alſo, and as the firſt, ſo it appeared no more.

15 Then there came a voyce vnto it, and ſayd,

16 Heare thou that haſt kept the earth ſo long: this I ſay vnto thee, before thou beginneſt to appeare no more,

17 There ſhall none after thee attaine vnto thy time, neither to the halfe thereof.

18 Then aroſe the third and reigned as the other afore, and it appeared no more alſo.

19 So came it to all the others one after another, ſo that euery one reigned, and then appeared no more.

20 Then I looked, and beholde, in proceſſe of time the feathers that followed, ſtoode vp on the right ſide, that they might rule alſo, and ſome of them ruled, but within a while they appeared no more.

21 For ſome of them were ſet vp, but ruled not.

22 After this I looked, and beholde, the twelue feathers appeared no more, nor the two wings.

23 And there was no more vpon the egles body, but two heades that reſted, and ſixe wings.

24 Then ſawe I alſo that two wings deuided themſelues from the ſixe, and remained vnder the head, that was vpon the right ſide: for the foure continued in their place.

25 So I looked, and beholde, the vnder wings thought to ſet vp themſelues, and to haue the rule.

26 Then was there one ſet vp, but ſhortly it appeared no more.

27 And the ſecond were ſooner gone then the firſt.

28 Then I beheld, and loe, the two that remained, thought alſo in themſelues to reigne, 29 And when they ſo thought, beholde, there awaked one of the heades that were at reſt, which was in the middes: for that was greater then the two.

30 And then I ſawe, that the two heads were ioyned therewith.

31 And behold, the head was turned with them, that were with it, and did eate vp the two vnder wings that would haue reigned.

32 But this head put the whole earth in feare and bare rule in it, ouer all thoſe that dwelt vpon earth with much labour, and it had the gouernance of the worlde, more then all the wings that had bene.

33 After this I looked and beholde, the head that was in the middes ſuddenly appeared no more, as did the wings.

34 But the two heads remained, which alſo ruled likewiſe vpon earth, and ouer thoſe that dwelt therein.

35 And I beheld, and loe the head vpon the right ſide deuoured it that was vpon the left ſide.

36 ¶ Then I heard a voyce which ſaid vnto me, Looke before thee, and conſider the thing that thou ſeeſt.

37 So I ſawe, and beholde as it were a lyon

lyon that roareth, running haſtily out of the wood: and I ſawe that hee ſent out a mans voyce vnto the egle, and ſpake and ſaid.

38 Heare thou, I will talke with thee, and the moſt High ſhall ſay vnto thee,

39 Art not thou that that of the foure beaſtes remaineſt, whome I made to reigne in my worlde, that by them the ende of times might come,

40 And the fourth is come, and hath ouercome all the beaſtes that were paſt, and hath power ouer the worlde with great fearefulneſſe, and ouer the whole compaſſe of the earth with moſt wicked oppreſſion, and that dwelleth ſo long time in all the worlde with deceit:

41 For thou haſt not iudged the earth with trueth.

42 Seeing thou haſt troubled the meeke, thou haſt hurt the peaceable, and thou haſt loued lyars, and deſtroyed the dwellings of them that brought foorth fruite, and haſt caſt downe the wals of ſuch as did thee no harme, 43 Therefore is thy wonderfull dealing come vp vnto the moſt High, and thy pride vnto the Mightie.

44 The moſt High alſo hath looked vpon the proude times, and beholde, they are ended, and their abominations are fulfilled.

45 Therefore appeare no more, thou egle, nor thine horrible wings, nor thy wicked feathers, nor thy malicious heads, and thy wicked clawes, nor all thy vaine body:

46 That al the earth may be refreſhed, and come again as one deliuered from thy violence, and that ſhe may hope for the iudgement and mercie of him that made her.

CHAP. XII.

The declaration of the former viſions.

AND when the lyon ſpake theſe words to the egle, I ſaw,

2 And beholde, the heade that had the vpper hande, appeared no more, neither did the foure wings appeare any more, that came to it, and ſet vp themſelues to raigne, whoſe kingdom was ſmall and full of vproares.

3 And I ſawe and beholde, they appeared no more; and the whole body of the egle was burnt, ſo that the earth was in great feare. Then I awaked out of the trouble and trance of my minde, and from the great feare, and ſaid vnto my ſpirit,

4 Loe, this haſt thou done vnto mee in that thou ſeatcheſt out the wayes of the moſt High.

5 Loe, yet am I wearie in my minde, and very weake in my ſpirit, and little ſtrength is there in me, and the feare that I receiued this night.

6 Therefore now I will beſeech the moſt High that he will comfort me vnto the end.

7 And I ſaide, O Lorde, Lorde, if I haue found grace before thy ſight, and if I am iuſtified with thee before many other, and if my prayer in deede be come vp before thy face, 8 Comfort me, and ſhewe me thy ſeruant the interpretation and difference of this horrible ſight, that thou mayeſt perfectly comfort my ſoule.

9 Seeing thou haſt iudged mee worthie to ſhew me the laſt times,

10 ¶ Then he ſaide vnto me, This is the interpretation of this viſion.

11 The egle whome thou ſaweſt come vp from the ſea, is the *kingdom which was ſeene in the viſion of thy brother Daniel. *Dan.7.7.

12 But it was not expounded vnto him: therefore now I declare it vnto thee.

13 Behold, the dayes come, that there ſhall riſe vp a kingdome vpon the earth, and it ſhall be feared aboue al kingdomes that were before it.

14 In it ſhall twelue kings raigne one after another.

15 Whereof the ſeconde ſhall beginne to reigne, and ſhall haue more time then the twelue.

16 And this doe the twelue wings ſignifie which thou ſaweſt.

17 As for the voyce which thou heardeſt ſpeake, and that thou ſaweſt not goe out from the heades, but from the middes of the bodie thereof, this is the interpretation.

18 That after the time of that kingdome there ſhall ariſe great ſtrife, and it ſhall bee in danger to fall, but it ſhall not then fall, but ſhall be reſtored againe to his beginning.

19 Concerning the eight vnderwings, which thou ſaweſt hang vnto her wings, this is the interpretation, 20 In him ſhall ariſe eight Kings, whoſe time ſhall be but ſmall, and their yeeres ſwift, and two of them ſhall periſh.

21 But when the mid time commeth, there ſhall be foure kept a time, whiles his time beginneth to come, that it may be ended, but two ſhall be kept vnto the end.

22 And whereas thou ſaweſt three heades reſting, this is the interpretation,

23 In his laſt dayes ſhall the moſt High raiſe vp three kingdomes, and ſhall call againe many things into them, and they ſhall haue the dominion of the earth,

24 And of thoſe that dwell therein, with much griefe aboue all thoſe that were before them: therefore are they called the heades of the egle.

25 For they ſhall accompliſh his wickednesſe, and ſhall finiſh his laſt end.

26 And whereas thou ſaweſt that the great great head appeared no more, it ſignifieth that one of them ſhall die vpon his bed, and yet with paine.

27 For the two that remained, the ſworde ſhall deuoure them.

28 For the ſworde of the one ſhall deuoure the other: but at the laſt hee ſhall fall by the ſworde himſelfe.

29 And whereas thou ſaweſt two vnderwings, that went off towarde the head, which was on the right ſide, this is the interpretation, 30 Theſe are they whome the moſt High hath preſerued for their ende, whoſe kingdome is little, and full of trouble as thou ſaweſt.

31 And the Lyon whome thou ſaweſt riſing vp out of the wood and roaring, and ſpeaking vnto the Egle, and rebuking her for her vnrighteouſneſſe with all the wordes that thou haſt heard, 32 This is the wind which the moſt High hath kept for them, and for their wickedneſſe vnto the ende, and hee ſhall reproue them, and call before them their ſpoyles.

33 For he ſhall ſet them aliue in the iudgement, and ſhall rebuke them and correct them.

34 For hee will deliuer the reſidue of my people by affliction, which are preſerued vpon my borders, and hee ſhall make them ioyfull, vntill the comming of the day of iudgement, whereof I haue ſpoken vnto thee from the beginning.

35 This is the dreame that thou ſaweſt, and theſe are the interpretations.

36 Thou onely haſt bene meete to knowe this ſecret of the moſt High.

37 Therefore write all theſe things that thou haſt ſeene in a booke and hide them, 38 And teach them the wiſe of the people, whoſe hearts thou knoweſt may comprehende and keepe theſe ſecrets.

39 But waite thou here yet ſeuen dayes moe, that it may be ſhewed thee whatſoeuer it pleaſeth the moſt High to declare vnto thee: and with that he went his way.

40 And when all the people perceiued, that the ſeuen daies were paſt, and I not come againe into the citie, they gathered them all together, from the leaſt vnto the moſt, and came vnto me, and ſpake vnto me ſaying, 41 What haue we offended thee? or what euill haue we done againſt thee, that thou forſakeſt vs, and ſitteſt in this place?

42 For of all the people thou onely art left vs a grape of the vine, and as a candle in a darke place, as a hauen or ſhip preſerued from the tempeſt.

43 Are not the euils which are come vnto vs ſufficient.

44 If thou then forſake vs, how much better had it bene for vs, y wee had bene burnt alſo as Sion was burnt?

45 For we are no better then they that dyed there: and they wept with a loude voyce. Then anſwered I them, and ſayd, 46 Be of good comfort, O Iſrael, and be not heauie, thou houſe of Iacob.

47 For the moſt high hath you in remembrance, and the Almightie hath not forgotten you in temptation.

48 As for mee I haue not forſaken you, neither am I departed from you, but am come into this place to pray for the deſolation of Sion, that I might ſeeke mercie for the low eſtate of your Sanctuarie.

49 And nowe goe your way home euery man, and after theſe dayes will I come vnto you.

50 So the people went their way into the citie, as I commanded them:

51 But I remained ſtill in the fielde ſeuen dayes, as he had commanded me, and did eate onely of the flowers of the fielde, and had my meate of the herbes in thoſe dayes.

CHAP. XIII.

The viſion of a winde comming from the ſea. 3 which became a man. 5 His propertie and power againſt his enemies. 21 The declaration of this viſion.

AND after the ſeuen dayes I dreamed a dreame by night.

2 And behold, there aroſe a winde from the ſea, and it mooued all the waues thereof.

3 And I looked and beholde, there was a mightie man with the thouſandes of heauen: and when he turned his countenance to looke, all the things trembled that were ſeene vnder him.

4 And when the voyce went out of his mouth, all they burned that heard his voyce, as the earth faileth when it feeleth the fire.

5 After theſe things I ſawe, and behold, there was gathered together a multitude of men out of number, from the foure windes of the heauen, to fight againſt the man that came out from the ſea.

6 And I looked, and beholde, hee graued himſelfe a great mountaine, and flewe vp vpon it.

7 But I would haue ſeene the countrey or place whereout the hill was grauen, and I could not.

8 I ſaw after theſe things, and beholde all they which came to fight againſt him were ſore afraide, and yet they durſt fight.

9 Neuertheleſſe when he ſawe the fierceneſſe of the multitude that came, he lifted not vp his hand: for he helde no ſworde nor any inſtrument of warre.

10 But onely, as I ſawe, he ſent out of his mouth, mouth, as it had bene a blast of fire, and out of his lips the winde of the flame, and out of his tongue he cast out sparkes and stormes.

11 And they were all mixt together, euen this blast of fire, the wind of the flame, and the great storme, and fell with violence vpon the multitude, which was prepared to fight, and burnt them vp all, so that of the innumerable multitude there was nothing seene, but only dust, and smell of smoke. When I saw this, I was afraid.

12 ¶ Afterward saw I the same man come downe from the mountaine, and calling vnto him another peaceable multitude.

13 And there came many vnto him, some with ioyfull countenance: and some with sadde: some of them were bound, and some brought of them that were offered: and I was sicke through great feare, and awaked, and sayd, 14 Thou hast shewed thy seruant these wonders from the beginning, and hast counted me worthy to receiue my prayer.

15 Shew me now therefore the interpretation of this dreame.

16 For thus I consider in mine vnderstanding, woe vnto them that shall bee left in those dayes, and much more woe vnto them that are not left behind.

17 For they that were not left, were in heauinesse.

18 Nowe vnderstande I the things that are layed vp in the latter dayes, which shall come both vnto them, and to those that are left behinde.

19 Therefore are they come into great perils and many necessities, as these dreames declare.

20 Yet it is easier, that he that is in danger, shoulde fall into these, and foresee the things to come hereafter, then to passe away as a cloude out of the world.

21 ¶ Then answered he me, and said, The interpretation of the vision will I shewe thee, and I will open to thee the thing that thou hast required.

22 Whereas thou hast spoken of them that are left behinde, this is the interpretation.

23 He that shall beare the danger in that time, he shall keepe himselfe. They that be fallen into danger, are such as haue workes and faith toward the most Mightie.

24 Knowe therefore, that they which bee left behinde, are more blessed then they that be dead.

25 These are the meanings of the vision, Where as thou sawest a man comming vp from the middes of the sea, 26 The same is he whome the most High hath kept a great season, who by his owne selfe shall deliuer his creature, and hee shall order them that are left behinde.

27 ¶ And whereas thou sawest, that out of his mouth there came a blast with fire and storme.

28 And that hee neither helde sworde nor weapon, but that by his fiercenesse he destroyed the whole multitude, that came to fight against him, this is the interpretation.

29 Beholde the dayes come that the most High will beginne to deliuer them that are vpon the earth:

30 And he shal astonish the heartes of them that dwell vpon the earth:

31 And one shall prepare to fight against another, citie against citie, and place against place, * and nation against nation, and realme against realme. *Mat. 24.7.

32 When this commeth to passe, then shall the tokens come, that I shewed thee before, and then shal my sonne be reueiled, whom thou sawest goe vp as a man.

33 And when all the people heare his voyce, euery man shall in their owne lande leaue the battell that they haue one against another.

34 And an innumerable multitude shal be gathered as one, as they that bee willing to come, and to fight against him.

35 But hee shall stand vpon the toppe of mount Sion.

36 And Sion shall come, and shall bee shewed to all, being prepared and builded, as thou sawest the hill grauen foorth without any hands.

37 And this my Sonne shall rebuke the wicked inuentions of those nations, which for their wicked life are fallen into the tempest, 38 And into torments like to flame, whereby they shall be tormented: and without any labour will hee destroy them, euen by the Lawe, which is compared vnto the fire.

39 And whereas thou sawest that hee gathered another peaceable people vnto him, 40 Those are the ten tribes which were caryed away captiues out of their owne lande, * in the time Oseas, the King, whome Salmanasar the King of the Assyrians tooke captiue, and caryed them beyonde the riuer: so were they brought into another land. *2. king. 17.

41 But they tooke this counsell to themselues, that they would leaue the multitude of the heathen, and goe foorth into a further countrey, where neuer mankind dwelt,

42 That they might there keepe his statutes, which they neuer kept in their owne land.

43 And they entred in at the narrow passages of the riuer Euphrates.

44 For

44 For the moſt High then ſhewed them
[a]Exod.14.21. ioſh.3.15,16. ſignes,* and ſtaied the ſpringes of the flood till they were paſſed ouer.

45 For thorowe the countrey there was a great iourney, euen of a yeere and a halfe, and [‖]Or,Ararath. the ſame region is called ‖Arſareth.

46 Then dwelt they there vntil the latter time: and when they come forth againe.

47 The moſt High ſhall holde ſtill the ſpringes of the riuer againe that they may goe thorowe: therefore ſaweſt thou the multitude peaceable.

48 But they that bee left behinde of thy people, are thoſe that bee found within my borders.

49 Nowe when hee deſtroyeth the multitude of the nations that are gathered together, he ſhall defend the people that remaine, 50 And then ſhall hee ſhew great wonders vnto them.

51 Then ſayd I, O Lorde, Lorde, ſhewe me this, wherefore haue I ſeene the man comming vp from the middes of the ſea?

52 And he ſaid vnto me, As thou canſt neither ſeeke out, nor know theſe things, that are in the deepe of the ſea, ſo can no man vpon earth ſee my Sonne, or thoſe that be with him, but in the time of that day.

53 This is the interpretation of the dreame which thou ſaweſt, and whereby thou onely art lightened.

54 For thou haſt forſaken thine owne law, and applied thy diligence vnto mine, & ſought it.

55 Thy life haſt thou ordered in wiſdome, and haſt called vnderſtanding thy mother.

56 Therefore haue I ſhewed thee the rewardes with the moſt High: and after three other dayes I will ſpeake other things vnto thee, and wil declare vnto thee great and wonderous things,

57 Then went I forth vnto the field, glorifying and praying the moſt High for the wonders which he did in time, 58 Which hee gouerneth, and ſuch things as come in their ſeaſons: and there I ſate three dayes.

CHAP. XIIII.

3 How God appeared to Moſes in the buſh. 10 All things decline to age. 15 the latter times worſe then the former. 29 The ingratitude of Iſrael. 35 The reſurrection and iudgement.

VPon the third day I ſate vnder an Oke, and beholde, there came forth a voyce vnto me out of the buſh, and ſayde, Eſdras, Eſdras.

2 And I ſaid, Heare am I, Lord, and ſtood vp vpon my feete.

[b]Exod.3.2,8. 3 Then ſayde he vnto me,* In the buſh I reueiled my ſelfe, and ſpake vnto Moyſes, when my people ſerued in Egypt:

4 And I ſent him, and led my people out of Egypt, and brought him vpon the mount Sinai, and I helde him with mee a long ſeaſon.

5 And I tolde him many wonders, and ſhewed him the ſecrets of the times and the end and commanded him, ſaying,

6 Theſe wordes ſhalt thou declare, and theſe ſhalt thou hide.

7 And nowe I ſay vnto thee, that thou lay vp in thine heart the ſignes that I haue ſhewed, and the dreames that thou haſt ſeene, and the interpretations which thou haſt heard.

8 For thou ſhalt bee taken away from all, and thou ſhalt remaine hencefoorth with my counſell, and with ſuch as bee like thee, vntill the times be ended.

9 For the worlde hath loſt his youth, and the times beginne to waxe olde.

10 For the worlde is diuided into twelue partes, and ten parts of it are gone al ready, and halfe of the tenth part.

11 And there remaineth that which is after the halfe of the tenth part.

12 Therefore ſet thine houſe in order, and reforme thy people, and comfort ſuch of them as be in trouble, and nowe renounce the corruption.

13 Let goe from thee mortall thoughtes: caſt away from thee the burdens of men, and put off now the weake nature,

14 And ſet aſide thy moſt greeuous thoughtes, and haſte thee to depart from theſe times, 15 For greater euils then thoſe which thou haſt ſeene now ſhall they commit.

16 For the weaker that the worlde is by reaſon of age, the more ſhal the euils be increaſed vpon them that dwell therein.

17 For the trueth is fled farre away, and lies are at hand: for now haſteth the viſion to come, that thou haſt ſeene.

18 ¶ Then anſwered I and ſayde before thee,

19 Behold, O Lorde, I will goe as thou haſt commanded me, and reforme the people, which are preſent: but they that ſhall be borne afterward, who ſhall admoniſh them?

20 Thus the worlde is ſet in darkeneſſe, and they that dwell therein, are without light.

21 For the Lawe is burnt, therefore no man knoweth the things that are done of thee, or the workes that ſhall be done.

22 But if I haue found grace before thee, ſende the holy Ghoſt into mee, and I will write all that hath bene done in the world ſince the beginning which was written in thy Law, that men may finde the path, and that they which will liue in the latter dayes may liue.

23 And

23 And he answered me, saying, Goe, and gather the people, and say vnto them, that they seeke thee not for fourtie dayes, 24 But prepare thee many bare tables, and take with thee these fiue, Sarea, Dabria, Selemia, Ecanus, and Asiel, which are ready to write swiftly.

25 And come hither, and I will light a candle of vnderstanding in thine heart, which shall not be put out till the things be performed which thou shalt begin to write.

26 And then shalt thou declare some things openly vnto the perfite men, and some things shalt thou shew secretly vnto the wise: to morowe this houre shalt thou beginne to write.

27 Then went I forth, as he commanded mee, and gathered all the people together, and sayd, 28 Heare these wordes, O Israel.

*Gene.47.4. 29 * Our fathers at the beginning were strangers in Egypt, from whence they were deliuered,

*Act.7.53. 30 And receiued the Lawe of life, * which they kept not, which ye also haue transgressed after them.

31 Then was the lande, euen the lande of Sion parted among you by lot: but your fathers and ye also haue done vnrighteously, and haue not kept the wayes, which the most High commanded you.

32 And for so much as hee is a righteous Iudge, hee tooke from you in time the thing that he had giuen you.

33 And now are ye here, and your brethren among you.

34 Therefore if so be that you will subdue your owne vnderstanding, and reforme your heart, ye shall be kept aliue, and after death shal ye obtaine mercie.

35 For after death shall the iudgement come, when wee shall liue againe: and then shall the names of the righteous be manifest, and the workes of the vngodly shall be declared.

36 Let no man therefore come nowe vnto me, nor seeke me these fourtie dayes.

37 So I tooke the fiue men, as hee commanded me, and we went into the field, and remained there.

*Ezech.3.2. 38 The next day, beholde, a voyce called me, saying, Esdras, * open thy mouth, and drinke that I giue thee to drinke.

39 Then opened I my mouth, and behold, he reached me a full cup, which was full as it were with water: but the colour of it was like fire.

40 And I tooke and dranke it, and when I had drunke it, mine heart had vnderstanding, and wisedome grewe in my brest for my spirite was strengthened in memorie.

41 And my mouth was opened, and shut no more.

42 The most High gaue vnderstanding vnto the fiue men, that they wrote the high things of the night, which they vnderstood not.

43 But in the night they did eate bread, but I spake by day, and held not my tongue by night.

44 In fourtie dayes they wrote two hundreth and foure bookes.

45 And when the fourtie dayes were fulfilled, the most High spake, saying, The first that thou hast written, publish openly, that the worthie and vnworthy may read it.

46 But keepe the seuentie last, that thou mayest giue them to the wise among the people.

47 For in them is the veine of vnderstanding, and the fountaine of Wisedome, and the riuer of knowledge: and I did so.

CHAP. XV.

1 The prophecie of Esdras is certaine. 5 The euils that shall come ouer the world. 9 The Lorde will auenge the innocent blood. 12 Egypt shall lament. 16 Sedition, 20 And punishment vpon the Kings of the earth. 24 Cursed are they that sinne. 29 Troubles and warres vpon the whole earth. 53 God is the reuenger of his elect.

BEholde, speake thou in the eares of my people the wordes of prophecie, which I will put in thy mouth, sayth the Lord:

2 And cause them to be written in a letter: for they are faithfull and true.

3 Feare not the imaginations against thee: let not the vnfaithfulnesse of the speakers trouble thee, that speake against thee.

4 For euery vnfaithfull shall die in his vnfaithfulnesse.

5 Beholde, sayth the Lorde, I will bring plagues vpon all the worlde, the sworde, famine, death and destruction:

6 Because that iniquitie hath fully polluted all the earth, and their wicked workes are fulfilled.

7 Therefore, sayth the Lorde, I will holde my tongue no more for their wickednes, (they doe vngodly) neither will I suffer them in the things that they doe wickedly.

8 Beholde, * the innocent and righteous blood cryeth vnto mee, and the soules of the iust crie continually. *Exod.6.10 and 19.2.

9 I will surely auenge them, sayeth the Lorde, and receiue vnto mee all the innocent blood from among them.

10 Beholde, my people is led as a flocke to the slaughter: I will not suffer them now to dwell in the land of Egypt,

11 But I will bring them out with a mightie mightie hand, and ſtretched out arme, and ſmite it with plagues as afore, and will deſtroy all the land thereof.

12 Egypt ſhall mourne, and the foundations thereof ſhall be ſmitten with the plague and punishment, that GOD ſhall bring vpon it.

13 The plowmen that till the grounde, ſhal mourne: for their ſeedes ſhal faile through the blaſting and haile, and by an horrible ſtarre.

14 Wo to the worlde, and to them that dwell therein.

15 For the ſword, and their deſtruction draweth neere, and one people ſhal ſtand vp to fight againſt another with ſwordes in their handes.

16 For there ſhall bee ſedition among men, and one ſhall inuade another: they ſhall not regarde their King, and the princes ſhall meaſure their doings by their power.

17 A man ſhall deſire to go into a citie, and ſhall not be able.

18 Becauſe of their pride the cities ſhall bee troubled, the houſes ſhall bee afraide, and men ſhall feare.

19 A man ſhall haue no pitie vpon his neighbour, but ſhall deſtroy their houſes with the ſword, and their goods ſhall be ſpoyled for lacke of bread, and becauſe of great trouble.

20 Behold, ſaith God, I call together all the Kings of the earth to reuerence me, which are from the ‖ Eaſt, and from the South, from the Eaſt, and from Libanus, to turne vpon them, and to repay the things that they haue done to them.

‖ Or, Weſt.

21 As they doe yet this day vnto my choſen, ſo will I doe alſo, and recompence them in their boſome thus ſayeth the Lorde God, 22 My right hande ſhall not ſpare the ſinners, neither ſhall the ſworde ceaſe from them, that sheade innocent bloode vpon earth.

23 The fire is gone out from his wrath, and hath conſumed the foundations of the earth, and the ſinners like the ſtrawe, that is kindled.

24 Woe to them that ſinne, and keepe not my commandements, ſaith the Lord.

25 I will not ſpare them: depart, O children, from the power: defile not my Sanctuarie.

26 For the Lorde knoweth all them that ſinne againe him, and therefore deliuereth he them vnto death and deſtruction.

27 For now are the plagues come vpon the worlde, and ye ſhall remaine in them: for God will not deliuer you, becauſe yee haue ſinned againſt him.

28 Beholde, an horrible viſion commeth from the Eaſt.

29 Where generations of dragons of Arabia ſhall come out with many charets, and the multitude of them ſhall bee caryed as the winde vpon the earth, that all they which heare them, may feare and tremble.

30 Euen the Carmanians raging in wrath, ſhall goe forth as the boares of the foreſt, and ſhall come with great power, and ſtand againſt them in battell, and ſhall deſtroy a portion of the lande of the Aſſyrians.

31 But after this ſhall the dragons haue the vpper hand, and remember their nature, and ſhall turne about, and conſpire to conſume them with a great power.

32 Then theſe ſhal be troubled, and keepe ſilence by their power, and ſhal flee.

33 From the land of the Aſſyrians ſhal the enemie beſiege them, and conſume ſome of them, and in their hoſte ſhal bee feare and dread, and ſtrife among their kings.

34 Beholde cloudes from the Eaſt, and from the North vnto the South, and they are very horrible to looke vpon, full of wrath and ſtorme.

35 They ſhall ſmite one vpon another: and they ſhal ſmite downe a great multitude of ſtarres vpon the earth, euen their owne ſtarre, and the blood ſhal bee from the ſworde vnto the belly.

36 And the dung of man vnto the Camels litter.

37 And there ſhall bee great fearefulneſſe and trembling vpon earth, and they that ſee the wrath, ſhall bee afraide, and a trembling ſhal come vpon them.

38 And thē there ſhal come great ſtormes from the South, and from the North, and part from the Weſt.

39 And from the Eaſt ſhall windes ariſe and ſhall open it with the cloude, which bee raiſed vp in wrath, and the ſtarre, raiſed to feare the Eaſt and Weſt winde, ſhall bee deſtryed.

40 And the great and mightie cloudes ſhall bee lift vp full of wrath, and the ſtarre, that they may make all the earth afraide, and them that dwell therein, and that they may powre out ouer euery hie place, and lifted vp, an horrible conſtellation, 41 As fire and haile, and flying ſwordes, and many waters, that all fieldes may bee full, and all riuers with the abundance of great waters.

42 And they ſhall breake downe the cities, and walles, and mountaines, and hils, and the trees of the wood, and the graſſe of the medowes, and their corne.

43 And they ſhal goe with a ſtreight courſe vnto Babylon, and make it afraid.

44 They ſhall come to her, and beſiege her, and ſhall powre forth the conſtellation, and all the wrath againſt her: then ſhall the duſt and ſmoke goe vp vnto the heauen, and all they that be about her, ſhall bewaile her.

45 And they that remaine vnder her, ſhall doe ſeruice vnto them, that haue put her in feare.

49 ¶ And thou Aſia, that art partaker of the hope of Babylon, and the glory of her perſon, 47 Woe vnto thee, O wretch, becauſe thou haſt made thy ſelfe like vnto her, and haſt deckt thy daughters in whoredome, that they might pleaſe and glorie in thy louers, which haue alway deſired to commit whoredome with thee.

48 Thou haſt followed her that is hated in all her workes, and in her inuentions: therefore ſaith God, 49 I will ſend plagues vpon thee, widowhoode, pouertie, and famine, and the ſworde, and peſtilence, to waſte thine houſes with deſtruction and death.

50 And the glorie of thy power ſhall bee dryed vp, as a flower when the heate ariſeth, that is ſent vpon thee.

51 Thou ſhalt bee ſicke as a poore wife that is plagued and beaten of women, ſo that the mightie and the louers ſhall not bee able to receiue thee.

52 Would I thus hate thee, ſaith the Lord,

53 If thou hadſt not alway ſlaine my choſen, exalting the ſtroke of thine handes, and ſayde ouer their death, when thou waſt drunken,

54 Set forth the beautie of thy countenance:

55 The rewarde of thy whoredome ſhall be in thy boſome: therefore ſhalt thou receiue a reward.

56 As thou haſt done vnto my choſen, ſaith the Lorde, ſo wil God doe vnto thee, and will deliuer thee vnto the plague.

57 And thy children ſhall die of hunger, and thou ſhalt fall by the ſworde, and thy cities ſhall bee broken downe, and all thy men ſhall fall by the ſworde in the field.

58 And they that bee in the mountaines ſhall die of hunger, and eate their owne fleſh, and drinke their owne blood for want of bread and thirſt of water.

59 And thou as vnhappie, ſhalt come thorowe the ſea, and receiue plagues againe.

60 In the paſſage they ſhall caſt downe the ſlaine citie, and ſhall roote out one part of thy land, & conſume the portion of thy glory, and ſhall returne to her that was deſtroyed.

61 When thou ſhalt be caſt downe, thou ſhalt bee to them as ſtubble, and they ſhall bee to thee as fire.

62 And they ſhall deſtroy thee, and thy cities, thy land, and thy mountaines: all thy woods, and all thy fruitefull trees ſhall they burne with fire.

63 Thy children ſhal they carie away captiue, and ſhall ſpoyle thy ſubſtance, and marre the beautie of thy face.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Againſt Babylon, Aſia, and Egypt and Syria. 18 Of the euils that ſhall come vpon the worlde, with admonition how to gouerne themſelues in afflictions. 54 To acknowledge their ſinnes, and to commit themſelues to the Lord. 55 Whoſe mightie prouidence and iuſtice is to bee reuerenced.

WO to thee, Babylon and Aſia: woe to thee Egypt and Syria.

2 Girde your ſelues with ſacke and haire-cloth, and mourne your children, and be ſorie: for your deſtruction is at hand.

3 A ſworde is ſent vnto you, and who wil turne it backe? a fire is ſent among you, and who will quench it?

4 Plagues are ſent vnto you, and who can driue them away?

5 May any man driue away an hungrie lyon in the wood? or quench the fire in ſtubble when it hath once begun to burne? may one turne againe the arrowe, that is ſhot of a ſtrong archer?

6 The mightie Lord ſendeth the plagues, and who can driue them away? the fire is gone forth in his wrath, and who can quench it?

7 He ſhall caſt lightnings, and who ſhall not feare? he ſhall thunder, and who ſhall not be afraide?

8 The Lorde ſhall threaten, and who ſhall not vtterly bee broken in pieces at his preſence? the earth quaketh, and the foundation thereof: the ſea ariſeth vp with waues from the deepe, and the waues thereof are troubled, and the fiſhes thereof, before the Lord, and the glorie of his power.

9 For ſtrong is his right hand, that bendeth the bowe: his arrowes that hee ſhooteth, are ſharpe, and ſhall not miſſe, when they beginne to be ſhot into the endes of the worlde.

10 Beholde, the plagues are ſent, and ſhal not turne againe, till they come vpon earth.

11 The fire is kindled, and ſhal not bee put out, till it conſume the foundation of the earth.

12 As an arrowe which is ſhot of a mightie archer, returneth not backewarde, ſo the plagues that ſhal bee ſent vpon earth, ſhall not turne againe.

13 Woe

13 Woe is me: woe is me: who will deliuer me in those dayes?

14 The beginning of sorowes and great mournings the beginning of famine, & great dearth: the beginning of warres, and powers shall feare: the beginning of euils, and all shall tremble. What shall I doe in these things, when the plagues come?

15 Beholde, famine and plague, and trouble, and anguish are sent as scourges for amendment.

16 But for all these things they will not turne from their wickednesse nor bee alway mindfull of the scourges.

17 Beholde, vitailes shall bee so good cheape vpon earth, that they shal thinke themselues to bee in good case: but then shal the euils bud foorth vpon earth, euen the swoorde, the famine and great confusion.

18 For many of them that dwell vpon earth, shall perish with famine, and the other that escape the famine, shal the swoord destroy.

19 And the dead shall bee cast out as dung, and there shall bee no man to comfort them: for the earth shall be wasted, and the cities shall be cast downe.

20 There shall be no man left to till the earth, and to sowe it: the trees shall giue fruite, but who shall gather them?

21 The grapes shall be ripe, but who shall tread them? for all places shall be desolate, so that one man shall desire to see another, or to heare his voyce.

22 For of one citie there shal be tenne left, and two of the fielde, which shall hide themselues in the thicke woods, and in the clefts of rockes.

23 As when there remaine three or foure oliues in the place where oliues growe, or among other trees,

24 Or as when a vineyarde is gathered, there are left some grapes of them that diligently sought thorow the vineyard:

25 So in those dayes there shall be three or foure left by them that search their houses with the swoord.

26 And the earth shall bee left waste, and the fieldes thereof shall ware olde, and her wayes and all her pathes shall growe full of thornes, because no man shall trauell therethrough.

27 The virgins shall mourne, hauing no bridegromes: the women shall make lamentation, hauing no husbends: their daughters shall mourne, hauing no helpers.

28 In the wayes shall their bridegromes be destroyed, and their husbands shall perish with famine.

29 But, yee seruants of the Lorde, heare these things, and marke them.

30 Beholde the word of the Lord, receiue it: beleeue not the gods of whome the Lorde speaketh: beholde, the plagues drawe neere, and are not slacke.

31 As a trauelling woman which in the ninth moneth bringeth forth her sonne, when the houre of birth is come, two or three houres before the paines come vpon her bodie, and when the childe commeth to the birth, they tarie not a whit:

32 So shall not the plagues be slacke to come vpon the earth, and the worlde shall mourne, and sorowes shall come vpon it on euery side.

33 O my people, heare my word: make you ready to the battell, and in the troubles be euen as strangers vpon earth.

34 He that selleth, let him bee as hee that fleeth his way: and he that buyeth, as one that will lose.

35 Who so occupieth merchandise, as hee that winneth not: and he that buildeth, as he that shall not dwel therein.

36 Hee that soweth, as one that shall not reape: hee that cutteth the vine, as he that shal not gather the grapes:

37 They that marrie, as they that shall get no children: and they that marrie not, so as the widowes.

38 Therefore they that labour, labour in vaine.

39 For strangers shall reape their fruites, and spoyle their goods, and ouerthrowe their houses, and take their children captiue: for in captiuitie & famine shal they get their children.

40 And they that occupie their merchandise with couetousnesse, the more they decke their cities, their houses, their possessions, and their owne persons, 41 So much more wil I be angry against them for their sinnes, saith the Lord.

42 As a whore enuieth an honest and vertuous woman,

43 So shall righteousnesse hate iniquitie, when shee decketh her selfe, and shal accuse her openly, when hee shall come that shall bridle the author of all sinne vpon earth.

44 And therefore bee ye not like thereunto, nor to the workes thereof: for or euer it bee long iniquitie shal bee taken away out of the earth, and righteousnesse shall reigne among you.

45 Let not the sinner say, that hee hath not sinned: for coales of fire shall burne vpon his head, which saith, I haue not sinned before the Lord God and his glory.

46 Beholde, the Lorde * knoweth all the workes of men, their imaginations, their thoughts and their hearts. *Luke 16.15.

47 * For as soone as her sayde, Let the *Gene.1.2.

earth bee made, it was made: let the heauen be made, and it was created.

48 By his word were the starres established, and he *knoweth the number of them.

*Psal.147.4.

49 He searcheth the depth, and the treasures thereof: hee hath measured the sea, and what it conteineth.

50 He hath shut the sea in the mids of the waters, and with his worde hath hee hanged the earth vpon the waters.

51 Hee spreadeth out the heauens like a pawt: vpon the waters hath he founded it.

52 In the desert hath hee made springs of water, and pooles vpon the toppe of the mountaines, to powre out floods from the high rockes to water the earth,

53 Hee made man, and put his heart in the mids of the bodie, and gaue him breath, life, and vnderstanding.

54 And the Spirite of the almightie God, which made all things, and hath searched all the hid things in the secrets of the earth, 55 He knoweth your inuentions, and what yee imagine in your heart when yee sinne and would hide your sinnes.

56 Therefore hath the Lord searched and sought out all your workes, and will put you all to shame.

57 And when your sinnes are brought foorth before men, yee shall bee confounded, and your owne sinnes shall stand as your accusers in that day.

58 What will ye doe, or how will ye hide your sinnes before God and his Angels?

59 Beholde, God himselfe is the iudge: feare him: cease from your sinnes, and forget your iniquities, and meddle no more from henceforth with them: so shall God leade you foorth, and deliuer you from all trouble.

60 For beholde, the heart of a great multitude is kindled against you, and they shall take away certaine of you, and shall slay you for meate to the idoles.

61 And they that consent vnto them, shall be had in derision and in reproch, and troden vnder foote.

62 For in euery place and cities that are neere, there shall bee great insurrection against those that feare the Lord.

63 They shall be like mad men: they shal spare none: they shall spoyle and wast such as yet feare the Lord.

64 For they then shall waste and spoyle their goods, and cast them out of their houses, 65 Then shall the triall of my chosen appeare, as the gold is tried by the fire.

66 Heare, O yee my beloued, saith the Lord: behold, ỹ dayes of trouble are at hand, but I will deliuer you from them: bee not ye afraid: doubt not, for God is your captaine.

67 Who so keepeth my commandements and precepts, sayeth the Lorde God, let not sinnes weigh you downe, and let not your iniquities lift themselues vp.

68 Woe vnto them that are bound with their sinnes, and couered with their iniquities, as a fielde is hedged in with bushes, and the path thereof couered with thornes, whereby no man may trauell: it is shut vp, and is appoynted to be deuoured with fire.

TOBIT.

CHAP. I.

1 Tobits parentage. 3 His godlinesse. 6 His equitie, 8 His charitie and prosperitie. 23 He fleeth, and his goods are confiscate. 15 And after restored.

Tobias being captiue amongst the Assyrians, did not leaue the way of trueth.

THe booke of the wordes of Tobit sonne of Tobiel, the sonne of Ananeel, the sonne of Aduel, the sonne of Gabael, of the seed of Asael, and of the tribe of Nephthalim.

‖Or, Salmanasar. *2.King.17.3.

2 Who in the time of ‖Enemessar King of the Assyrians was *led away captiue out of Thisbie, which is at the right hand of that citie, which is called properly Nephthalim, in Galilee aboue Aser.

Tobias was mercifull.

3 I Tobit haue walked all my life long in the way of trueth and iustice, and I did many things liberally to the brethren, which were of my nation, and came with mee, to Nineue into the land of the Assyrians.

4 And when I was in mine owne countrey in the land of Israel, being but yong, all the tribe of Nephthalim my father fell from the house of Ierusalem, which was chosen out of the tribes of Israel, that all the tribes shoulde sacrifice there, where the Temple of the tabernacle of the most High was consecrated, and built vp for all ages.

*1.King.12.30

5 *Now all the tribes which fell from God, yea, and my father Nephthalims house offered to the heifer called Baal.

Or feeding idoles.

6 But I (as it was ordeyned to all Israel by an euerlasting decree) went alone often to Ierusalem, at the feastes *bringing the first fruites, and the tenth of beastes, with that which was first shorne, and offered them at the altar of the Priestes the children of Aaron.

*Exod.23.19 deut.12.6.

7 The first tenth part I gaue to ỹ Priests the sonnes of Aaron, which ministred in Ierusalem:

Ierusalem: the other tenth part I solde, and came & bestowed it euery peere at Ierusalem.

8 The third tenth part I gaue vnto them to whom it was meete, as Deboza my fathers mother had commaunded mee: for my father left me as a pupil.

He marrieth to wife Anna, which beareth him Tobiah.

9 ¶ Furthermore when I was come to the age of a man, I married Anna of *mine owne kinred, and of her I begate Tobias.

*Numb.36.7.

10 ¶ But when I was led captiue to Niniue, all my brethren, and those which were of my kinred, did eate of the * bread of the Gentiles.

*Gene.43.32.

11 But I kept my selfe from eating,

12 Because I remembred God with all mine heart.

He found grace in the sight of Salmanasar.

13 Therefore the most High gaue mee grace and fauour before Enemessar, so that I was his purueyer.

14 ¶ And I went into Media, and I deliuered ten talents of siluer to Gabael the ‖ brother of Gabrias ‖ in the land of Media.

‖Or, sonne. ‖Or, in Rages a citie of Media.

15 But when Enemessar was dead, Sennacherib his sonne reigned in his stead: whose state because it was troubled, I could not goe into Media.

‖Or, Salmanasar. The charitie of Tobias.

16 ¶ But in the time of ‖ Enemessar, I gaue many almes to my brethren, and gaue my bread to them which were hungrie, 17 And my clothes to the naked: and if I saw any of my kinred dead, or cast about the walles of Niniue, I buried him.

18 And if the King Sennacherib had slaine any, when he * was come and fled from Iudea, I buried them priuily (for in his wrath hee killed many) but the bodies were not found when they were sought for of the king.

*2.Kin.19.35,36 isa.37.36,37. ecclu.48.18, 22. 1.maccha.7.41. 2.maccha.8.19.

Tobit fleeth frō the face of Sennacherib.

19 Therefore when a certaine Niniuite had accused mee to the King, because I did burie them, I hid my selfe: and because I knew that I was sought to be slaine, I withdrew my selfe for feare.

20 Then all my goods were spoyled, neither was there any thing left mee besides my wife Anna and my sonne Tobias.

*2.King.19.37. 2.chro.32.21.

21 Neuertheless *within fiue and fiftie dayes, two of his sonnes killed him, and they fledde into the mountaines of Ararath, and Sarchedonus his sonne reigned in his stead, who appointed ouer his fathers accomptes and ouer all his domesticall affaires Achiacharus my brother Anaels sonne.

Tobit returneth.

22 And when Achiacharus had made a request for mee, I came againe to Niniue: nowe Achiacharus was cupbearer and keeper of the signet, and steward, and ouersawe the accompts: so Sarchedonus appointed him next vnto him, and hee was my brothers sonne.

CHAP. II.

2 Tobit calleth the faithfull to his table. 3 He leaueth the feast to burie the dead. 10 How hee became blinde. 13 His wife laboureth for her liuing. 14 She reproueth him bitterly.

NOw when I was come home againe, and my wife Anna was restored vnto mee with my sonne Tobias, in the feast of Pentecoste, which is the holy feast of the seuen weekes, there was a great dinner prepared me, in the which I sate downe to eate.

Tobit doth to dinner the which feare God.

2 And when I saw abundance of meate, I said to my sonne, Go, and bring what poore man soeuer thou shalt finde of our brethren which doeth remember God, and loe I will tarie for thee.

3 But he came againe, and sayde, Father, one of our nation is strangled, and is cast out in the market place.

Tobit leaueth his ghests, & keth vp the b body into his house to bury 4 Then before I had tasted any meate, I start vp, and brought him into mine house vntill the going downe of the sunne.

5 Then I returned and washed, and ate my meate in heauinesse,

*Amos 8.10. 1.maccha.1.

6 Remembring that prophecie of *Amos, which had sayde, Your solemne feastes shall be turned into mourning, and your ioyes into wailing.

7 Therefore I wept, and after the going downe of the sunne I went and made a graue and buried him.

Tobit is rebuked of his neighbours. *Chap.1.19.

8 But my neighbours mocked mee, and sayde, Doth he not feare, to die for this cause, who *fled away, and yet, loe, hee burieth the dead againe?

9 The same night also when I returned from the buriall, and slept at the wall of mine house because I was polluted, and hauing my face vncouered, Hee is made blinde for an example of patience to his posterity.

10 And I knewe not that sparrowes were in the wall and as mine eyes were open the sparrowes cast downe warme dung into mine eyes, and a whitenesse came in mine eyes, and I went to the Phisitions, but they helped mee not. Moreouer Achiacharus did nourish mee, vntill I went into Helimais.

The wife of Tobit laboureth for her liuing.

11 And my wife Anna did take womens workes to doe.

12 And when shee had sent them home to the owners, they payed the wages, and gaue a kid.

The innocencie of Tobit. *Deut.22.1.

13 Which when it was at mine house, and began to bleate, I sayde vnto her, From whence is this kid? is it not stollen? render it to the owners: *for it is not lawfull to eate any thing that is stollen.

14 But shee said, It was giuen for a gift more then the wages: but I did not beleeue, and bade her to render it to the owners, and

I did blush, because of her. Furthermore thee sayde, where are thine almes, and thy righteousnesse? beholde, they all now appeare to thee.

CHAP. III.

3 The prayer of Tobias. 7 Sarra Raguels daughter, and the things that came vnto her. 12 Her prayer heard. 19 The Angel Raphael sent.

THen I, being sorowfull, did weepe, and in my sorow prayed, saying,

2 O Lord, thou art iust, and all thy workes, and all thy wayes are mercie and trueth, and thou iudgest truely and iustly for euer.

3 Remember mee, and looke on me, neyther punish mee according to my sinnes, or mine ignorances or my fathers, which haue sinned before thee.

4 For they haue not obeyed thy commandements: wherefore thou hast deliuered vs
Deut. 29. 15, 37 * for a spoyle, and vnto captiuitie, and to death, and for a prouerbe of a reproch to all them among whom we are dispersed, and now ‖ thou hast many and iust causes,
Or, thy iudgements are many and true.

5 To doe with me according to my sinnes, and my fathers, because wee haue not kept thy commaundements, neyther haue walked in truth before thee.

6 Now therefore deale with mee as seemeth best vnto thee, and commaund my spirite to be taken from me, that I may be dissolued, and become earth: for it is better for me to die then to liue, because I haue heard false reproches, and am very sorowfull: commaund therefore that I may bee dissolued out of this distresse, and goe into the euerlasting place: turne not away thy face from me.

Sarra is cheefly layed of her fathers maides.

7 ¶ It came to passe the same day that in Ecbatane a citie of Media, Sarra the daughter of Raguel was also reproched by her fathers maydes.

8 Because shee had bene married to seuen husbandes, whome Asmodeus the euill spirite had killed before that they had lyen with her. Doest thou not knowe, sayde they, that thou hast strangled thine husbandes? thou hast had now seuen husbandes, neither wast thou named after any of them.

‖ Or, when shee beate them for their faults they saide.

9 Wherefore doest thou ‖ beate vs for them? if they bee dead, goe thy wayes hence to them, that wee may neuer see of thee either sonne or daughter.

10 When shee heard these things, shee was very sorowfull, so that shee thought to haue strangled her selfe. And shee saide, I am the onely daughter of my father, and if I doe this, I shall slander him, and shall bring his age to the graue with sorow.

Sarra prayeth and fasteth, that she may bee deliuered from shame.

11 Then she prayed toward the window we, and saide, Blessed art thou, O Lorde my God, and thine holy and glorious Name is blessed, and honourable for euer: let all thy workes praise thee for euer.

12 And now, O Lorde, I set mine eyes, and my face toward thee, 13 And say, Take mee out of the earth, that I may heare no more any reproch.

The innocencie of Sarra.

14 Thou knowest, O Lorde, that I am pure from all sinne with man,

Her chastitie.

15 And that I haue neuer polluted my name, nor the name of my father in the land of my captiuitie: I am the onely daughter of my father, neither hath hee any manchilde to bee his heire, neither any † neere kinseman or childe borne of him, to whome I may keepe my selfe for a wife: my seuen husbands are nowe dead, and why shoulde I liue? But if it please not thee that I shoulde die, commaund to looke on mee, and to pitie mee that I doe no more heare reproch.

† Greeke, neere brother.

The prayers of Tobit and Sarra are heard both at a time.

16 So the prayers of them both were heard before the maiestie of the great God.

17 And Raphael was sent to heale them both, that is, to take away the whitenesse of Tobits eyes, and to giue Sarra the daughter of Raguel for a wife to Tobias the sonne of Tobit, and to binde Asmodeus the euil spirit, because she belonged to Tobias by right. The selfe same time came Tobit home, and entred into his house, and Sarra the daughter of Raguel came downe from her chamber.

Precepts and exhortations of Tobit to his sonne.

IN that day Tobit remembred * the siluer

Tobits exhortation to his sonne, when he thought he should die.

3 And when he had called him, he said, My sonne, after that I am dead, burie mee, and despise not thy mother, but * honour her all the dayes of thy life, and doe that which shall please her, and anger her not.

The mother is to be reuerenced.

4 Remember, my sonne, how many dangers shee suffered when thou wast in her wombe, Eccle. 7. 17.

5 And when she dyeth, burie her by me in the same graue.

God must be in our hearts.

6 My sonne, set our Lorde God alwayes before thine eyes, and let not thy will bee set to sinne or to transgresse the commaundements of God. Doe vprightly all thy life long, and follow not the wayes of vnrighteousnesse: for if thou deale truely, thy doings shall prosperously succeede to thee, and to all them which liue iustly.

Almes.

when thou giueſt almes, let not thine eye bee enuious, neither turne thy face from any poore, leſt that God turne his face from thee.

*Luke 14.13. eccluſ.35.10. 8 *Giue almes according to thy ſubſtance: if thou haue but a little, bee not afraid to giue a little almes.

9 For thou layeſt vp a good ſtore for thy ſelfe againſt the day of neceſſitie,

*Eccle.29.13. 10 *Becauſe that almes doth deliuer from death, and ſuffreth not to come into darkenes.

11 For almes is a good gift before the moſt High to all them which vſe it.

Vnuertie. 1.Thel.4.3. 12 Beware of all whoredome, my ſonne, and chiefly take a wife of the ſeede of thy fathers, and take not a ſtrange woman to wife, which is not of thy fathers ſtocke: for wee are the children of the Prophets. Noe, Abraham, Iſaac and Iacob are our fathers from the beginning. Remember my ſonne, that they maried wiues of their own kinred, and were bleſſed in their children, and their ſeede ſhall inherite the land.

Pride. 13 Now therefore, my ſonne, loue thy brethren, and deſpiſe not in thine heart thy brethren, the ſonnes and daughters of thy people, in not taking a wife of them: for in pride is deſtruction, and much trouble, and in fierceneſſe is ſcarcitie and great pouertie: for ‖fierceneſſe is the mother of famine.

God is to be bleſſed. 19 Bleſſe thy Lord God alway, and deſire of him that thy wayes may bee made ſtreight, and that all thy purpoſes and counſels may proſper: for euery nation hath not counſel, but the Lorde giueth all good things, and he humbleth whome hee will, as he wil: nowe therefore, my ſonne, remember my cõmandements, neither let them at any time be put out of thy minde.

*Chap.1.14. 20 *Furthermore I ſignifie this to thee, that I deliuered tenne talents to Gabael the ſonne of Gabrias at Rages in Media.

21 And feare not, my ſonne, foraſmuch as we are made poore: for thou haſt many things, if thou feare God, and flee from all ſinne, and doe that thing which is acceptable vnto him.

Pouertie with the feare of God.

CHAP. V.

Tobias ſent to Rages. 4 He meeteth with the Angel Raphael, which did conduct him.

TObias then anſwered, and ſayde, Father, I wil doe all things which thou haſt commanded me.

2 But how can I receiue the ſiluer, ſeeing I know him not?

3 Then he gaue him the hand writting, and ſaide vnto him, Seeke thee a man, which may goe with thee, whiles I yet liue, and I will giue him wages, and goe & receiue the money.

Tobias ſent by his father to Rages, ſeeketh a companion, & meeteth with Raphael, whom he bringeth to his father.

4 Therefore when he was gone to ſeeke a man, he found Raphael the Angel.

5 But he knewe not, and ſayde vnto him, May I goe with thee, into the land of Media? and knoweſt thou thoſe places wel?

6 To whom the Angel ſayde, I will goe with thee: for I haue remained with our brother Gabael.

7 Then Tobias ſaid to him, Tarie for me, till I tell my father.

8 Then hee ſayde vnto him, Goe, and tary not: ſo he went in and ſayde to his father, Beholde, I haue founde one, which will goe with me. Then he ſayd, Call him vnto mee, that I may knowe of what tribe he is, and whether he be faithfull to goe with thee.

9 So hee called him, and hee came in, and they ſaluted one another.

10 Then Tobit ſayde vnto him, Brother, ſhew me of what tribe and familie thou art.

11 To whom he ſayde, Doeſt thou ſeeke a ſtocke or familie or an hired man to goe with thy ſonne? Then Tobit ſayde vnto him, I would know, brother, thy kindred & thy name.

12 Then he ſayde, I am of the kinred of Azarias and Ananias the great, and of thy brethren.

13 Then Tobit ſayde, ‖Thou art welcome, brother: be not nowe angry with mee, becauſe I haue enquired to knowe thy kinred, and thy familie: for thou art my brother of an honeſt and good ſtocke: for I knowe Ananias, and Jonathas, ſonnes of that great Samaias: for we went together to Jeruſalem to worſhip, and offred the firſt borne, and the tenths of the fruites, and they are not deceiued with the error of our brethren: my brother, thou art of a great ſtocke.

‖Or, thou commeſt happily.

14 But tell me, What wages ſhall I giue thee? wilt thou a groat a day and things neceſſarie, as to mine owne ſonne?

15 Yea, moreouer if ye returne ſafe, I wil adde ſome thing to the wages?

16 So they agreed. Then ſayde hee to Tobias, Prepare thy ſelfe for the iourney, and goe

goe you on Gods Name. And when his ſonne had prepared all things for the iourney, his father ſayde, Goe thou with this man, and God which dwelleth in heauen, proſper your iourney, and the Angell of God keepe you companie. So they went forth both and departed, and the dogge of the yong man with them.

Tobias goeth forth, the Angel keeping him companie.

17 But *Anna his mother wept, and ſayd to Tobit, Why haſt thou ſent away our ſonne? is hee not the ſtaffe of our hand to miniſter vnto vs?

His mother weepeth. *Chap. 10. 4.

18 Would to God wee had not layed money vpon money, but that it had bene caſt away in reſpect of our ſonne.

19 For that which God hath giuen vs to liue with, doth ſuffice vs.

20 Then ſayd Tobit, Be not carefull, my ſiſter: hee ſhall returne in ſafetie, and thine eyes ſhall ſee him.

21 For the good Angel doeth keepe him companie, and his iourney ſhall be proſperous, and he ſhall returne ſafe.

22 Then ſhe made an ende of weeping.

CHAP. VI.

2 Tobias deliuered from the fiſh. 7 Raphael ſheweth him certaine medicines. 10 He conducteth him toward Sarra.

AND as they went on their iourney, they came at night to the flood Tygris, and there abode.

Tobias inuaded of a fiſh, is deliuered by the Angel.

2 And when the yong man went to waſh himſelfe, a fiſh leaped out of the riuer, and would haue deuoured him.

3 Then the Angel ſayde vnto him, Take the fiſh. And the yong man tooke the fiſh, and drew it to land.

4 To whome the Angel ſayd, Cut the fiſh, and take the heart, and the liuer and the gall, and put them vp ſurely.

5 So the yong man did, as the Angel commanded him, and when they had roſted the fiſh, they ate it: then they both went on their way, till they came to Ecbatane.

6 ¶ Then the yong man ſayde to the Angel, Brother Azarias, what auaileth the heart, and the liuer, and the gall of the fiſh?

7 And hee ſayde vnto him, Touching the heart, and the liuer, if a deuill or an euill ſpirite trouble any, wee muſt make a perfume of this before the man or the woman, and he ſhall bee no more vexed.

8 As for the gall, anoint a man that hath whitneſſe in his eyes, and he ſhalbe healed.

9 ¶ And when they were come neere to Rages,

10 The Angel ſayd to the yong man, Brother, to day we ſhall lodge with Raguel, who is thy couſin: hee alſo hath one only daughter named Sarra: I will ſpeake for her that ſhee may be giuen thee for a wife.

11 For to thee doth *the right of her perteine, ſeeing thou alone art the remnant of her kinred. *Num. 27. 8. and 36. 8.

12 And the maid is faire and wiſe: nowe therefore heare mee, and I will ſpeake to her father, that wee may make the marriage when we are returned from Rages: for I know that Raguel cannot marry her to another according to the Law of Moyſes: els he ſhould deſerue death becauſe the right doeth rather apperteine to thee then to any other man.

13 Then the yong man anſwered the Angel, I haue heard, brother Azarias, that this maid hath bene giuen to ſeuen men, who all dyed in the mariage chamber:

14 And I am the onely begotten ſonne of my father, and I am afraide, leſt I goe in to her, and die as the other before: for a wicked ſpirite loueth her, which hurteth no bodie but thoſe which come in to her: wherefore I alſo feare leſt I die, and bring my fathers and my mothers life becauſe of me to the graue with ſorowe: for they haue no other ſonne to burie them.

15 Then the Angel ſayd vnto him, Doeſt thou not remember the precepts which thy father gaue thee, that thou ſhouldeſt marie a wife of thine owne kinred? wherefore heare me, O my brother: for ſhee ſhall be thy wife, neither be thou carefull of the euill ſpirit: for this ſame night ſhall ſhee be giuen thee in mariage.

16 And when thou ſhalt goe into the mariage chamber, thou ſhalt take of the hote coles for perfumes, and make a perfume of the heart, and of the liuer of the fiſh, 17 Which if the ſpirite doe ſmell, hee will flee away, and neuer come againe any more: but when thou ſhalt come to her, riſe vp both of you, and pray to God which is mercifull, who will haue pitie on you, and ſaue you: feare not, for ſhee is appointed vnto thee from the beginning, and thou ſhalt keepe her, and ſhee ſhall goe with thee: moreouer I ſuppoſe that ſhee ſhall beare thee children: nowe when Tobias had heard theſe things, he loued her, and his heart was effectually ioyned to her.

CHAP. VII.

Tobias marieth Sarra Raguels daughter.

AND when they were come to Ecbatane, they came to the houſe of Raguel: and Sarra mette them, and after they had ſaluted one another, ſhe brought them into the houſe. Raphael and Tobias come to Raguel.

2 Then ſayde Raguel to Edna his wife, Howe like is this yong man to Tobit my couſin!

3 And Raguel aſked, Whence are you, my brethren? To whome they ſayd, that they were of the tribe of Nephthalim, and of the captiues captiues that dwelt at Niniue.

4 Then he sayde to them, Doe ye know Tobit our kinsman? And they sayde, Wee knowe him. Then sayde hee, Is he in good health?

5 And they sayd, Hee is both aliue, and in good health: and Tobias said, He is my father.

6 Then Raguel leaped, and kissed him, and wept.

7 And blessed him, and sayde vnto him, Thou art the sonne of an honest and good man: but when he had heard that Tobit was blind, he was sorowfull and wept.

8 And likewise Edna his wife, and Sarra his daughter wept. Moreouer they receiued them with a readie minde, and after that they had killed a ram of a flocke, they set much meate one the table. Then sayd Tobias to Raphael, Brother Azarias, put forth those things whereof thou spakest in the way that this businesse may be dispatched.

Tobias offereth Raguels daughter vnto him.

9 So hee communicated the matter with Raguel, and Raguel sayd to Tobias, Eate, and drinke and make merry.

10 For it is meete that thou shouldest marrie my daughter: neuertheles, I will declare vnto thee the trueth.

11 I haue giuen my daughter in mariage to seuen men, who died that night which they came in vnto her: neuertheless, bee thou of a good courage and merry. But Tobias sayde, I will eate nothing here, vntil ye bring her hither, and betrothe her to me.

12 Raguel sayde then, Marry her then according to the custome: for thou art her cousin, and she is thine. God which is mercifull, make this prosperous to you in all good things.

Raguel giueth his daughter Sarra to Tobias.

13 Then he called his daughter Sarra, and she came to her father, and he tooke her by the hand, and gaue her for wife to Tobias, saying, Behold, take her after the * lawe of Moyses, and leade her away to thy father: and hee blessed them,

*Num.36,6

14 And called his wife Edna, and he tooke a booke and wrote a contract and sealed it.

15 Then they began to eate.

16 After, Raguel called his wife Edna, and sayde vnto her, Sister, prepare another chamber, and bring her in thither.

17 Which when she had done, as hee had bidden her, she brought her thither: then Sarra wept, and her mother wiped away her daughters teares, 18 And sayde vnto her, Be of good comfort, my daughter: the Lorde of heauen and earth giue thee ioy for this thy sorowe be of good comfort my daughter.

CHAP. VIII.

Tobias driueth away the euill spirit. 4 He prayeth to God with his wife. 11 Raguel prepareth a graue for his sonne in law. 16 Raguel blesseth the Lord.

AND when they had supped, they brought Tobias in vnto her.

2 And as hee went, hee remembred the words of Raphael, and tooke coles for perfumes, and put the heart and the liuer of the fish thereupon, and made a perfume.

Tobias followeth Raphaels counsel as Chap.6.7.

3 The which smell when the euill spirite had smelled, he fled into the ‖ vtmost partes of Egypt, whom the Angel bound.

‖ Or, vtmost.

4 And after that they were both shut in, Tobias rose out of the bed, and sayde, Sister, arise and let vs pray, that God would haue pitie on vs.

5 Then began Tobias to say, Blessed art thou, O God of our fathers, and blessed is thine holy and glorious Name for euer: let the heauens blesse thee and all thy creatures.

Tobias prayer.

6 Thou madest Adam, and gauest him * Eua his wife for an helpe, and stay: of them came mankinde: thou hast sayd, It is not good, that a man should be alone: let vs make vnto him an ayde like vnto himselfe.

*Gen.2.7,18,22.

7 And nowe, O Lord, I take not this my sister for fornication, but vprightly therefore graunt me mercie, that we may become aged together.

8 And she said with him, Amen.

9 So they slept both that night, and Raguel arose, and went and made a graue,

Raguel thinking Tobias was dead, made a graue for him.

10 Saying, Is not he dead also?

11 But when Raguel was come into his house,

12 He sayde to his wife Edna, Send one of the maydes, and let them see whether hee be aliue: if not, that I may burie him, and none know it.

13 So the mayde opened the doore, and went in, and founde them both asleepe, 14 And came forth, and tolde them that he was aliue.

15 Then Raguel prayed God, and sayde, O God, thou art worthy to bee prayed with all pure and holy praise: therefore let thy Saints praise thee with all thy creatures, and let all thine Angels and thine elect prayse thee for euer.

Raguel praiseth God for Tobias.

16 Thou art to be prayed, O Lorde: for thou hast made me ioyful, and that is not come to me which I suspected: but thou hast dealt with vs according to great mercie.

17 Thou art to bee praised because thou hast had mercie of two that were the onely begotten children of their fathers: graunt them mercie, O Lorde, and finish their life in health with ioy and mercie.

18 Then Raguel bade his seruants to fill the graue.

19 And hee kept the wedding feast fourteene dayes,

20 For

20 For Raguel had sayde vnto him by an oathe, that hee shoulde not depart before that the fourteene dayes of the marriage were expired, Raguel giueth halfe of his goods toward the marriage of his daughter to Tobias.

21 And then hee shoulde take the halfe of his goods and returne in safetie to his father, and should haue the rest, when he and his wife were dead.

CHAP. IX.

Raphael leadeth Gabael to Tobias mariage.

THen Tobias called Raphael, and said vnto him,

2 Brother Azarias, take with thee a seruant and two camels, and goe to Rages of the Medes to Gabael, and bring mee the money and bring him two the wedding.

3 For Raguel had sworne that I shall not depart.

Tobias care for his sonne. The Angel goeth on Tobias message.

4 But my father counteth the dayes: and if I tary long, he will be very sorie.

5 So Raphael went out and came to Gabael, and gaue him the hande writting, who brought forth baggs which were sealed vp, and gaue them to him.

6 And in the morning they went forth both together, and came to the wedding. And Tobias begate his wife with child.

CHAP. X.

1 Tobit and his wife thinke long for their sonne. 10 Raguel sendeth away Tobias and Sarra.

NOw Tobit his father counted euery day, and when the dayes of the iourney were expired, and they came not,

The father and mother are in heauinesse for Tobias tarying.

2 Tobit sayde, are they not mocked: or is not Gabael dead, and there is no man to giue him the money?

3 Therefore he was very sorie.

4 Then his wife said to him, My sonne is dead, seeing he tarieth: and she began to * bewaile him, and said,

*Chap. 5. 17.

5 Now I care for nothing, my sonne, since I haue lost thee the light of mine eyes.

6 To whom Tobit said, Hold thy peace: be not carefull, for he is safe.

7 But she said, Hold thy peace, and deceiue me not: my sonne is dead: and she went out euery day by the way, which they went, neither did she eate meate on the day time, and did consume whole nights in bewailing her sonne Tobias vntill the fourteene dayes of the wedding were expired, which Raguel had sworne, that he should tary there. Then Tobias sayde to Raguel, Let me goe: for my father and my mother looke no more to see me.

8 But his father in lawe sayde vnto him, Tarie with me, and I will send to thy father, and they shall declare him thine affaires.

9 But Tobias sayde, No, but let me goe to my father.

10 Then Raguel arose, and gaue him Sarra his wife, and halfe his goods, as seruants, and cattell, and money.

Raguel giueth Tobias, and his wife leaue to depart.

11 And hee blessed them, and sent them away, saying, The God of heauen make you, my children, to prosper before I die.

12 And he sayde to his daughter, Honour thy father, and thy mother in lawe, which are nowe thy parents, that I may heare good report of thee: and hee kissed them. Edna also saide to Tobias, The Lorde of heauen restore thee, my brother, and grant that I may see thy children of my daughter Sarra, that I may reioyce before the Lord. Behold now, I commit to thee my daughter, as a pledge: doe not entreat her euil.

Sarra is instructed by her parents.

CHAP. XI.

1 The returne of Tobias to his father. 9 How he was receiued. 10 His father hath his sight restored and prayseth the Lord.

AFter these things Tobias went his way, praysing God that hee had giuen him a prosperous iourney, and blessed Raguel and Edna his wife, and went on his way till hee drewe neere to Niniue.

2 Then Raphael sayde to Tobias, Thou knowest, brother, howe thou diddest leaue thy father.

3 Let vs haste before thy wife, and prepare the house,

The Angels counsel to Tobias.

4 And take in thine hande the gall of the fish. So they went their way, and the dog followed them.

5 Now Anna sate in the way looking for her sonne,

6 Whom when shee sawe comming, shee sayde to his father, Beholde thy sonne commeth, and the man that went with him.

7 Then sayd Raphael, I knowe Tobias, that thy father shall receiue his sight.

8 Therefore anoint his eyes with the gall, and being pricked therewith, he shall rub and make the whitenes to fal away, & shal see thee.

9 ¶ Then Anna ranne forth, and fell on the necke of her sonne, and said vnto him, Seeing I haue seene thee, my sonne, from henceforth I am content to die, and they wept both.

10 Tobit also went forth toward the doore, and stumbled, but his sonne ranne vnto him, 11 And tooke hold of his father, and sprinkled of the gall on his fathers eyes, saying, Be of good hope, my father.

12 And when his eyes began to pricke, hee rubbed them,

13 And the whitenesse pilled away from the corners of his eyes, and when hee sawe his sonne, he fel vpon his necke,

14 And he wept and sayd, Blessed art thou O Lord, and blessed be thy Name for euer, and blessed be all thine holy Angels,

15 For

15 For thou haſt ſcourged me, and haſt had pitie on me: for beholde, I ſee my ſonne Tobias: and his ſonne, beeing glad went in, and told his father the great things that had come to paſſe in Media.

16 Then Tobit went out to meete his daughter in lawe, reioycing and prayſing God to the gate of Niniue: and they which ſawe him goe, marueiled, becauſe hee had receiued his ſight.

17 But Tobit teſtified before thē all, that God had had pitie on him. And when he came neere to Sara his daughter in lawe, hee bleſſed her ſaying, Thou art welcome, daughter: God be bleſſed, which hath brought thee vnto vs, and bleſſed be thy father: and there was great ioy among al his brethren which were at Niniue.

18 And Achiacarus and Nabas his brothers ſonne came.

19 And Tobias marriage was kept ſeuen dayes with great ioy.

CHAP. XII.

1 Tobias declareth to his father the pleaſures that Raphael had done him, 5 The which he would recompence. 11 15 Raphael declareth that hee is an Angel ſent of God

THen Tobit called his ſonne Tobias, and ſaid vnto him, Prouide, my ſonne, wages for the man, which went with thee, and thou muſt giue him more.

2 And he ſayde vnto him, O father, it ſhall not grieue me to giue him halfe of thoſe things which I haue brought.

3 For he hath brought mee againe to thee in ſafetie, and hath made whole my wife, and hath brought mee the money, and hath likewiſe healed thee.

4 Then the olde man ſayde, It is due vnto him.

5 So he called the Angel, and ſayde vnto him, Take halfe of all that yee haue brought, and goe away in ſafetie.

6 But he tooke them both apart, and ſayde vnto them, Praiſe God, and confeſſe him, and giue him the glorie, and prayſe him for the things which he hath done vnto you before all them that liue. It is good to praiſe God, and to exalt his Name, and to ſhew forth his euident workes with honour: therefore be not wearie to confeſſe him.

7 It is good to keepe cloſe the ſecrets of a king, but it is honorable to reueile the workes of God: doe that which is good, and no euill ſhall touch you.

8 Prayer is good with faſting, and almes, and righteouſneſſe. A litle with righteouſneſſe is better then much with vnrighteouſneſſe: is better to giue almes then to lay vp golde.

9 For almes doth deliuer from death, and doeth purge all ſinne. Thoſe which exercile almes and righteouſnes, ſhalbe filled with lif.

10 But they that ſinne, are enemies to their owne life.

11 Surely I wil keepe cloſe nothing from you: neuertheles, I ſaid it was good to keepe cloſe the ſecret of a king, but that it was honorable to reueile the workes of God.

12 Nowtherefore when thou diddeſt pray, and Sarra thy daughter in lawe, I did bring to memorie your prayer before the Holy one: and when thou diddeſt burie the dead, I was with thee likewiſe.

13 And when thou was not grieued to riſe vp, and leaue thy dinner to burie the dead, thy good dede was not hid from mee: but I was with thee. He that will be acceptable to God, muſt be proued with tentation.

14 And nowe God hath ſent mee to heale thee, and Sarra thy daughter in law.

15 I am Raphael one of the ſeuen holy Angles, which preſent the prayers of the Saints, and which goe forth before his holy maieſtie.

16 Then they were both troubled, and fel vpon their face: for they feared.

17 But he ſaid vnto them, Feare not, for it ſhall go well with you: prayſe God therefore.

18 For I came not of mine owne pleaſure, but by the good will of your God: wherefore prayſe him in all ages.

19 * All theſe dayes I did appeare vnto you, but I did neither eate nor drinke, but you ſaw it in viſion. *Gen.18.8. and 19.3. Iudge.13.16

20 Now therefore giue God thankes: for I goe vp to him that ſent mee: but write all things which are done, in a booke.

21 And when they aroſe, they ſaw him no more.

22 Then they confeſſed the great and wonderfull workes of God, and howe the Angel of the Lord had appeared to them.

CHAP. XIII.

A thankeſgiuing of Tobit, who exhorteth all to prayſe the Lord.

THen Tobit wrote a prayer of reioycing, and ſaid, Bleſſed be God that liueth for euer, and bleſſed be his kingdome.

2 * For he doeth ſcourge, and hath pitie: he leadeth to hel, and bringeth vp, neither is there any that can auoyd his hand. *Deut.32.39. 1.Sam.2.6. Wiſd.16.13.

3 Confeſſe him before the Gentiles, yee children of Iſrael: for he hath ſcattered you among them.

4 There declare his greatneſſe, and extoll him before all the liuing: for he is our Lord and our God, and our Father for euer.

5 Hee hath ſcourged vs for our iniquities, and will haue mercie againe, and will gather vs out of all nations, among whome wee are ſcattered.

6 If you turne to him with your whole heart, and with your whole minde, and deale vprightly vprightly before him, then will hee turne vnto you, and will not hide his face from you, but ye shall see what he will doe with you: therefore confesse him with your whole mouth, & praise the Lord of righteousnesse, and extoll the euerlasting King. I will confesse him in the land of my captiuitie, and will declare his power, and greatnesse to a sinfull nation. O yee sinners, turne and doe iustice before him: who can tell if he will receiue you to mercie, and haue pitie on you?

7 I will extol my God, and my soule shall praise the King of heauen, and shall reioyce in his greatnesse.

8 Let all men speake, and let all praise him for his righteousnesse.

9 O Ierusalē the holy citie, he will scourge thee for thy childrens workes, but hee will haue pitie againe on the sonnes of righteous men.

10 Giue praise to the Lord duly and praise the euerlasting King, that his tabernacle may be builded in thee againe with ioy: and let him make ioyfull there in thee those that are captiues, and loue in thee for euer those that bee miserable.

11 Many nations shall come from farre to the Name of the Lorde God, with giftes in their hands, euen giftes to the King of heauen: all generations shall praise thee, and giue signes of ioy.

12 Cursed are all they, which hate thee: but blessed are they for euer which loue thee.

13 Reioyce, and be glad for the children of the iust: for they shall bee gathered, and shall blesse the Lord of the iust.

14 Blessed are they which loue thee: for they shall reioyce in thy peace. Blessed are they which haue bene sorowfull for all thy scourges: for they shall reioyce for thee, when they shal see al thy glory, and shal reioyce for euer.

15 Let my soule blesse God the great King.

16 For Ierusalem shall be built vp with saphires, and emeraudes, and thy walles with precious stones, and thy towres, and thy bulwarkes with pure gold.

17 And the streetes of Ierusalem shall bee paued with berall, and carbuncle, and stones of ‖Ophir.

‖Or, Souphir.

18 And all her streetes shall say, ‖ Halleluiah, and they shall praysse him, saying, Blessed be God which hath extolled ‖ it for euer.

‖Or, prayse the Lord.

‖That is, Ierusalem.

CHAP. XIIII.

4 Lessons of Tobit to his sonne. 4 He propheciesh the destruction of Nineue, 5 And the restoring of Ierusalem and the Temple. 13 The death of Tobit and his wife. 14 Tobias age and death.

SO Tobit made an ende of praysing God,

2 And hee was eight and fiftie yeere olde, when he lost his sight, which was restored to him after eight yeere, and hee gaue almes, and he continued to feare the Lorde God, and to praise him.

3 And when hee was very aged, hee called his sonne, and sire of his sonnes sonnes, and sayde to him, My sonne, take thy children (for behold, I am aged, and am ready to depart out of this life)

4 Goe into Media, my sonne: for I surely beleeue those things which Ionas the Prophet spake of Nineue, that it shall be destroyed, and for a time peace shall rather be in Media, and that our brethren shal be scattered in the earth from the good land, and Ierusalem shall be desolate, and the House of God in it shall bee burned, and shall be desolate for a time.

5 Yet againe God * will haue pitie on them, and bring them againe into the lande where they shall builde a Temple, but not like to the first, vntil the times of that age be fulfilled, which beeing finished they shall returne from euery place out of captiuitie, and builde vp Ierusalem gloriously, and the House of God shall be built in it for euer with a glorious building, as the Prophets haue spoken thereof.

*Ezra.3.8. and 6.14.

6 And all nations shall turne, and feare the Lord God truely, and shall burie their idoles.

7 So shall all nations prayse the Lorde, and his people shall confesse God, and the Lord shall exalt his people, and all those which loue the Lorde in trueth and iustice, shall reioyce, and those also which shewe mercie to our brethren.

8 And now, my sonne, depart out of Nineue, because that those things which ỳ Prophet Ionas spake, shal surely come to passe.

9 But keepe thou the Lawe, and the commandements, and shew thy selfe mercifull and iust, that it may goe well with thee.

10 And burie me honestly, and thy mother with mee: but tarie no longer at Ninive. Remember, my sonne, how Aman handled Achiacharus that brought him vp, how out of light he brought him into darkenesse, and how he rewarded him againe: yet Achiacharus was saued, but the other had his reward: for he went downe into darkenesse. Manasses gaue almes, and escaped the snare of death, which they had set for him, But Aman fell into the snare and perished.

11 Therefore nowe, my sonne, consider what almes doeth, and how righteousnes doeth deliuer. ¶ Whē he had said these things, ‖he gaue vp the ghost in the bed, being an hundreth and eight and fiftie yeere old, and he buried him honourably.

‖Or his soule failed him in the bed.

12 And when Anna was dead, hee buried her her with his father: but Tobias went with his wife and children to Ecbatane to Raguel his father in lawe.

13 Where hee became olde with honour, and hee buried his father and mother in lawe honourably, and hee inherited their substance and Tobits his father.

14 And hee dyed at Ecbatane in Media, being an hundreth and seuen and twentie yeere olde.

15 But before he dyed, hee heard of the destruction of Niniue, which was taken by Nabuchodonosor and Assuerus, and before his death reioyced for Niniue.

IVDETH.

CHAP. I.

1 The building of Ecbatane. 5 Nabuchodonosor made warre against Arphaxad, and ouercame him. 12 Hee threatneth them that would not helpe him.

IN the twelfth yeere of the reigne of Nabuchodonosor, who reigned in Niniue the great citie (in the dayes of Arpharad, which reigned ouer the Medes in Ecbatane,

2 And built in Ecbatane the walles round about of hewen stone, three cubites broade, and sixe cubites long, and made the height of the wall seuenty cubits, and the breadth thereof fiftie cubites,

3 And made the towers thereof in the gates of it of an hundreth cubites, and the breadth thereof in the foundation threescore cubites.

4 And made the gates thereof, euen gates that were lifted vp on hie, seuentie cubites, and the breadth of them fourtie cubites, for the going forth of his mightie armies, and for the setting in arap of his footemen)

5 Euen in those dayes, King Nabuchodonosor made warre with King Arpharad, in the great field, which is the field in the coastes of Ragau.

6 Then came vnto him all they that dwelt in the mountaines, and all that dwelt by Euphrates, and Tygris and Hydaspes, and the countrey of Arioch the king of the Elymeans, and very many nations assembled themselues to the battell of the sonnes of Chelod.

7 And Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians sent vnto all that dwelt in Persia, and to all that dwelt in the West, and to those that dwelt in Cilicia, and Damascus, and Libanus and Antilibanus, and to all that dwelt vpon the sea coast,

8 And to the people that are in Carmel, and Galaad, and the hier Galile, and the great field of Esdrelam,

9 And to al that were in Samaria, and the cities thereof, and beyond Jorden vnto Jerusalem, and Betane, and Chellus, and Cades, and the riuer of Egypt, and Taphnes, and Ramesse, and all the land of Gesem, 10 Vntil one come to Tanis, and Memphis, and to all the inhabitants of Egypt, and to one come to the mountaines of Ethiopia.

11 But all the inhabitants of this countrey did not passe for the commaundement of Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians, neyther would they come with him to the battell: for they did not feare him: yea, hee was before them as one man: therefore they sent away his ambassadours from them without effect, and with dishonour.

12 Therefore Nabuchodonosor was very angry with al this countrey, and sware by his throne and kingdome that he would surely bee auenged vpon all those coastes of Cilicia and Damascus, and Syria, and that he would slay with the sword all the inhabitants of the land of Moab, and the children of Ammon, and all Judea, and all that were in Egypt, till one come to the borders of the two seas.

13 Then he marched in battell aray with his power against King Arpharad in the seuenteenth yere, and he preuailed in his battel: for he ouerthrewe all the power of Arpharad, and all his horsemen, and all his chariots.

14 And he wanne his cities, and came vnto Ecbatane, and tooke the towres, and spoyled the streetes thereof, and turned the beauty thereof into shame.

15 Hee tooke also Arpharad in the mountaines of Ragau, and smote him through with his dartes, and destroyed him vtterly that day.

16 So he returned afterward to Niniue, both he and all his company with a very great multitude of men of warre, and there he passed the time, and banketted, both hee, and his armie an hundreth and twentie dayes.

CHAP. II.

1 Nabuchodonosor commanded presumptuously that al people shoulde be brought in subiection, 6 And to destroy those that disobeyed him. 15 The preparation of Olofernes armie. 23 The conquest of his enemies.

AND in the eighteenth yeere, the two and twentieth day of the first moneth, there was talke in the house of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians, that hee should auenge himselfe on all the earth, as he had spoken.

2 So he called vnto him al his officers and all his nobles, and communicated with them his ſecrete counſell, and ſet before them with his owne mouth all the malice of the earth.

3 Then they decreed to deſtroy all fleſh, that had not obeyed the commaundement of his mouth.

4 And when hee had ended his counſell, Nabuchodonoſor king of the Aſſyrians called Holofernes his chiefe captaine, and which was next vnto him, and ſayd vnto him,

5 Thus ſayth the great king, the lord of the whole earth, Beholde, thou ſhalt goe forth from my preſence, and take with thee men that truſt in their owne ſtrength, of footemen, an hundreth and twentie thouſande, and the number of horſes with their riders, twelue thouſand,

6 And thou ſhalt goe againſt all the Weſt countrey, becauſe they diſobeyed my commandement.

7 And thou ſhalt declare vnto them, that they prepare for me the land and the water: for I will goe forth in my wrath againſt them, and will couer the whole face of the earth with the feete of mine armie, and I will giue them as a ſpoyle vnto them,

8 So that their wounded ſhall fill their valleys, and their riuers, and the floode ſhall ouerflow, being filled with their dead.

9 And I will bring their captiuitie to the vtmoſt partes of all the earth.

10 Thou therefore ſhalt depart hence, and take vp for me all their countrey: and if they yeelde vnto thee, thou ſhalt reſerue them for me vntill the day that I rebuke them.

11 But concerning them that rebel, let not thine eye ſpare them, but put them to death, and ſpoyle them whereſoeuer thou goeſt.

12 For as I liue, and the power of my kingdome, whatſoeuer I haue ſpoken, that will I doe by mine hand.

13 And take thou heede that thou tranſgreſſe not any of the commaundements of thy lord, but accompliſh them fully, as I haue commanded thee, and deferre not to doe them.

14 ¶ Then Holofernes went forth from the preſence of his Lorde, and called all the gouernours, and captaines, and officers of the armie of Aſſur, 15 And he muſtred the choſen men for the battell, as his Lord had commanded him, vnto an hundreth and twentie thouſand, and twelue thouſand archers on horſebacke.

16 And hee ſet them in aray according to the maner of ſetting a great armie in aray,

17 And hee tooke camels and aſſes for their burdens, a very great number, and ſheepe, and oxen, and goates without number for their prouiſion, 18 And vitaile for euery man of the armie, and very much golde and ſiluer out of the kings houſe.

19 Then he went forth and all his power, to goe before in the voyage of king Nabuchodonoſor, and to couer all the face of the earth Weſtward, with their charets, and horſemen, and choſen footemen.

20 A great multitude alſo of ſundry ſorts came with them like graſhoppers, and like the grauell of the earth: for the multitude was without number.

21 And they went forth of Niniue three dayes iourney toward the countrey of Bectileth, and pitched from Bectileth neere the mountaine which is at the left hand of the vpper Cilicia.

22 Then he tooke all his armie, his footemen and horſemen, and charets, and went from thence into the mountaines, 23 And he deſtroyed Phud and Lud, and ſpoyled all the children of Raſes, and the children of Iſmael, which were toward the wildernelle at the South of the Chelians.

24 Then he went ouer Euphrates, and went through Meſopotamia, and deſtroyed all the hie cities that were vpon the riuer of Arbonai, vntill one come to the ſea.

25 And hee tooke the borders of Cilicia, and deſtroyed all that reſiſted him, and came to the borders of Japheth, which were towarde the South and ouer againſt Arabia.

26 Hee compaſſed alſo all the children of Madian, and burnt vp their tabernacles, and ſpoyled their lodges.

27 Then hee went downe into the countrey of Damaſcus, in the time of wheate harueſt, and burnt vp all their fieldes, and deſtroyed their flockes and the heards: hee robbed their cities, and ſpoyled their countrey, and ſmote all their yong men with the edge of the ſword.

28 Therefore feare and trembling fell vpon all the inhabitants of the ſea coaſt, which were in Sidon and Tyrus, and all that dwelt in Sur and Ocina, and all that dwelt in Iemnaan: and they that dwelt in Azotus, and Aſcalon feared him greatly.

CHAP. III.

The people ſubiect to Holofernes. 8 He deſtroyed their gods that Nabuchodonoſor might onely be worſhipped.

SO they ſent ambaſſadours to him with meſſages of peace, ſaying,

2 Beholde, wee are the ſeruants of Nabuchodonoſor the great king: wee lie downe before thee: vſe vs as ſhalbe good in thy ſight.

3 Beholde, our houſes and all our places, and all our fieldes of wheate, and our flockes, and our heards, and all our lodges and tabernacles lie before thy face: vſe them as it pleaſeth thee.

4 Behold, euen our cities and the inhabitants

tants thereof are thy ſeruants: come, and take them, as ſeemeth good to thee.

5 ¶ So the men came to Holofernes, and declared vnto them after this maner.

6 Then came hee downe toward the ſea coaſt, both hee and his armie, and ſet gariſons in the hie cities, and tooke out of them choſen men for the warre.

7 So they and all the countrey rounde about receiued them, with crownes, with daunces, and with timbrels.

8 Yet hee brake downe all their borders, and cut downe their woods: for it was inioyned him to deſtroy all the gods of the lande, that all nations ſhould worſhip Nabuchodonoſor onely, and that all tongues and tribes ſhould call vpon him as God.

9 Alſo hee came againſt Eſdraelon, neere vnto Judea, ouer againſt the great ſtraite of Judea, 10 And hee pitched betweene Geba, and a citie of the Scythians, and there hee taried a moneth, that hee might aſſemble all the baggage of his armie.

CHAP. IIII.

The Iſraelites were afrayde and deſended their countrey. 6 Ioacim the Prieſt writeth to Bethulia, that they ſhould fortifie themſelues. 9 They cryed to the Lord, and humbled themſelues before him.

NOw the children of Iſrael that dwelt in Judea, heard all that Holofernes the chiefe captaine of Nabuchodonoſor King of the Aſſyrians had done to the nations, and how hee had ſpoyled all their temples, and brought them to nought.

2 Therefore they feared greatly his preſence, and were troubled for Jeruſalem, and for the temple of the Lord their God.

3 For they were newly returned from the captiuitie, and of late all the people was aſſembled in Judea, and the veſſels and the altar of the houſe had bene ſanctified becauſe of the pollution.

4 Therefore they ſent into all the coaſtes of Samaria, and the villages, and to Bethoron, and Belmen, and Jericho, and to Choba, and Eſora, and to the valley of Salem,

5 And tooke all the toppes of the hie mountaines, and walled the villages that were in them, and put in vitailes for the prouiſion of warre: for their fields were of late reaped.

6 Alſo Joacim the hie Prieſt which was in thoſe dayes in Jeruſalem, wrote to them that dwelt in Bethulia and Betomeſtham, which is ouer againſt Eſdraelon towarde the open countrey neere to Dothaim,

7 Exhorting them to keepe the paſſages of the mountaines: for by them there was an entrie into Judea, and it was eaſie to let them that would come vp, becauſe the paſſage was ſtraite for two men at the moſt.

8 And the children of Iſrael did as Joacim the hie Prieſt had commanded them with the Ancients of all the people of Iſrael, which dwelt at Jeruſalem.

9 Then cried euery man of Iſrael to God with great feruencie, and their ſoules with great affection.

10 Both they, and their wiues, and their children, and their cattell, and euery ſtranger, and hireling, and their bought ſeruants put ſackecloth vpon their loynes.

11 Thus euery man and woman, and the children, and the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, fell before the Temple, and ſprinkled aſhes vpon their heads, and ſpread out their ſackecloth before the face of the Lorde: alſo they put ſackcloth about the altar, 12 And cryed to the God of Iſrael, all with one conſent moſt earneſtly, that hee woulde not giue their children for a pray, and their wiues for a ſpoyle, and the cities of their inheritance to deſtruction, and the Sanctuarie to pollution and reproch, and vnto deriſion to the heathen.

13 So God heard their prayers, and looked vpon their affliction: for the people faſted many dayes in all Judea and Jeruſalem before the Sanctuarie of the Lord Almightie.

14 And Joacim the hie Prieſt, and all the Prieſtes that ſtoode before the Lord, and miniſtred vnto the Lorde, had their loynes girt with ſackecloth, and offered the continuall burnt offering, with prayers and the free gifts of the people,

15 And had aſhes on their mytres, and cried vnto the Lorde with all their power for grace, and that hee woulde looke vpon all the houſe of Iſrael.

CHAP. V.

Achior the Ammonite doth declare to Holofernes of the maner of the Iſraelites.

THen was it declared to Holofernes the chiefe captaine of the armie of Aſſur, that the children of Iſrael had prepared for warre, and had ſhut the paſſages of the mountaines, and had walled all the toppes of the hie hilles, and had laid impediments in the champion countrey.

2 Wherewith hee was very angry, and called all the princes of Moab, and the captaines of Ammon, and all the gouernours of the ſea coaſt.

3 And he ſaid vnto them, Shewe mee, O ye ſonnes of Chanaan, Who is this people that dwelleth in the mountaines? and what are the cities that they inhabit? and what is the multitude of their armie? and wherein is their ſtrength & their power? and what king or captaine is raiſed among them ouer their armie?

4 And why haue they determined not to come to meete mee, more then all the inhabitants of the West?

Chap.11.7,9. 5 ¶ Then * said Achior the captaine of all the sonnes of Ammon, Let my lord heare the word of the mouth of his seruant, and I will declare vnto thee the trueth concerning this people that dwell in these mountaines, neere where thou remainest: and there shall no lie come out of the mouth of thy seruant.

6 This people come of the stocke of the Chaldeans.

Gene.11.31. 7 And * they dwelt before in Mesopotamia, because they would not followe the gods of their fathers, which were in the land of Chaldea.

8 But they went out of the way of their auncestors and worshipped the God of heauen, the God whome they knewe: so they cast them out from the face of their gods, and they fled into Mesopotamia, and sojourned there many dayes.

Gene.12.1. 9 Then * their God commanded them to depart from the place where they sojourned, and to goe into the land of Chanaan, where they dwelt, and were increased with golde and siluer, and with very much cattell.

10 But when a famine couered all the land of Chanaan, they went downe into Egypt, and dwelt there till they returned, and became there a great multitude, so that one could not number their linage.

Exod.1.8. 11 * Therefore the king of Egypt rose vp against them, and vsed deceit against them, and brought them lowe with labouring in bricke, and made them slaues.

12 Then they cried vnto their God, and he smote all the land of Egypt with incurable Exod.12.31,37 plagues: so the * Egyptians cast them out of their sight.

Exod.14.21. 13 And * God dried the red sea in their presence, Exod.19.1. 14 And * brought them into mount Sina and Cades barne, and cast forth al that dwelt in the wildernesse.

15 So they dwelt in the land of the Amorites, and they destroyed by their strength all them of Esebon, and passing ouer Iordan, they inherited all the mountaines.

Ioth.12.8. 16 And they * cast forth before them the Chanaanites, and the Pherezites, and the Iebusites, and them of Sichem, and all the Gergesites, and they dwelt in that countrey many dayes.

17 And whiles they sinned not before their God, they prospered, because the God that hated iniquitie, was with them.

Deut.11.& 28. 18 But * when they departed from the way which hee appointed them, they were destroyed in many battels after a wonderfull sort, * and were led captiues into a land that *1.King.25.1,11 was not theirs: and the Temple of their God was cast to the ground, and their cities were taken by the enemies.

19 But * now they are returned to their *Ezra.1.1,3. God, and are come vp from the scattering wherein they were scattered, & haue possessed Ierusalem, where their Temple is, and dwell in the mountaines which were desolate.

20 Now therefore, my lord and gouernour, if there be any fault in this people, so that they haue sinned against their God, let vs consider that this shall be their ruine, and let vs goe vp, and we shall ouercome them.

21 But if there bee none iniquitie in this people, let my lord passe by, lest their lorde defend them, and their God be for them, and wee become a reproch before all the world.

22 ¶ And when Achior had finished these sayings, all the people standing round about the tent, murmured: and the chiefe men of Holofernes, and all that dwelt by the sea side and in Moab, spake that hee shoulde kill him.

23 For, say they, wee feare not to meete the children of Israel: for loe, it is a people that haue no strength nor power against a mightie armie.

24 Let vs therefore goe vp, O lorde Holofernes, and they shal bee meate for thy whole armie.

CHAP. VI.

Holofernes blasphemeth God whome Achior confessed. 14 Achior is deliuered into the handes of them of Bethulia. 18 The Bethulians crie vnto the Lord.

AND when the tumult of the men that were about the councill, was ceased, Holofernes, the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, sayde vnto Achior before all the people of the strangers, and before all the children of Moab, and of them that were borne of Ephraim,

2 Because thou hast prophecied among vs to day, and hast sayde that the people of Ieru- salem is able to fight, * because their God *Chap.5.5,21. wil defend them: and who is God but Nabuchodonosor?

3 Hee wil sende his power, and will destroy them from the face of the earth, and their God shall not deliuer them: but wee his seruants will destroy them as one man: for they are not able to sustayne the power of our horses.

4 For wee will treade them vnder feete with them, and their mountaines shalbe drunken with their blood, and their fieldes shalbe filled with dead bodies, and their footesteps shall not bee able to stand before vs: but they shall vtterly perish.

5 The King Nabuchodonosor, lorde of all all the earth, hath said, euen he hath said, None of my words shall be in vaine.

6 And thou Achior an hireling of Ammon, because thou hast spoken these wordes in the day of thine iniquitie, thou shalt see my face no more from this day vntill I take vengeance of that people that is come out of Egypt.

7 And then shall the yron of mine armie, and the multitude of them that serue mee, passe through thy sides, and thou shalt fall among their slaine, when I shall put them to flight.

8 And my seruants shall carrie thee into the mountaines, and they shall leaue thee at one of the hie cities: but thou shalt not perish, till thou be destroyed with them.

9 And if thou perswade thy selfe in thy minde, that they shall not bee taken, let not thy countenance fall: I haue spoken it, and none of my wordes shalbe in vaine.

10 Then commaunded Holofernes them concerning Achior, that they should bring him to Bethulia, and deliuer him into the handes of the children of Israel.

11 So his seruants tooke him, & brought him out of the campe into the plaine: and they went out from the middest of the plaine into the mountaines, and came vnto the fountaines that were vnder Bethulia.

12 And when the men of the citie sawe them from the toppe of the mountaine, they tooke their armour, and went foorth of the city vnto the toppe of the mountaine, euen all the throwers with slings, and kept them from comming vp, by casting stones against them.

13 But they went priuily vnder the hill, and bound Achior, and left him lying at the foote of the hill, and returned to their lord.

14 Then the Israelites came downe from their citie, and stoode about him, and loosed him and brought him to Bethulia, and presented him to the gouernours of the citie,

15 Which were in those dayes, Ozias the sonne of Micha, of the tribe of Simeon, and Chabris the sonne of Gothoniel, and Charmis the sonne of Melchiel.

16 And they called together all the Ancients of the citie, and all their youth ranne together, and their women to the assemblie: and they set Achior in the middes of all their people. Then Ozias asked him of that which was done.

17 And hee answered and declared vnto them the wordes of the counsell of Holofernes, and all the wordes that hee had spoken in the mids of the princes of Assur, and whatsoeuer Holofernes had spoken proudely against the house of Israel.

18 Then the people fell downe and worshipped God, and cryed vnto God, saying, 19 O Lorde God of heauen, beholde their pride, and haue mercie on the baseneſſe of our people, and beholde this day the face of those that are sanctified vnto thee.

20 Then they comforted Achior, and prayſed him greatly.

21 And Ozias tooke him out of the assemblie into his house, and made a feast vnto the Elders, and they called on the God of Israel all that night for helpe.

CHAP. VII.

1 Holofernes doth besiege Bethulia. 8 The counsel of the Idumeans & others against the Israelites. 23 The Bethulians murmure against their gouernours for lacke of water.

THe next day Holofernes commanded all his armie and all his people, which were come to take his part, that they should remoue their campes against Bethulia, and that they should take all the straites of the hill, and to make warre against the children of Israel.

2 Then their strong men remoued their campes in that day, and the armie of the men of warre was an hundreth thousande and seuentie footemen, and twelue thousande horsemen, beside the baggage and other men that were afoote among them, a very great multitude.

3 And they camped in the plaine neere vnto Bethulia, by the fountaine, and they spred abroad toward Dothaim vnto Belbaim, and in length from Bethulia vnto Ciamon, which is ouer against Esdraelon.

4 Now the children of Israel, when they saw the multitude, were greatly troubled, and sayde euery one to his neighbour, Nowe will they shut vp all the whole earth: for neyther the hie mountaines nor the valleys, nor the hilles are able to abide their burden.

5 Then euery one tooke his weapons of warre, and burning fires in their towres, they remained and watched all that night.

6 But in the second day, Holofernes brought forth all his horsemen in the sight of the children of Israel, which were in Bethulia,

7 And viewed the passages vp to their citie, and came to the fountaines of their waters, and tooke them, & set garisons of men of warre ouer them, and remoued toward his people.

8 Then came vnto him al the chiefe of the children of Esau, and all the gouernours of the people of Moab, and all the captaines of the sea coast, and said, 9 Let our captaine nowe heare a word, lest an inconuenience come to thine armie.

10 For this people of the children of Israel doe not trust in their speares, but in the height of the mountaines, where in they dwell, because it is not easie to come vp to the toppes of their mountaines.

11 Nowe therefore my lorde, fight not against them in battell aray, and there shall not so much as one man of thy people perish.

12 Remaine in thy campe, and keepe all the men of thine armie, and let the men keepe still the water of the countrey, that commeth foorth at the foote of the mountaine.

13 For all the inhabitants of Bethulia haue their water thereof: so shall thirst kill them, and they shall giue vp their citie: and we and our people will goe vp to the toppes of the mountaines that are neere, and will campe vpon them, and watch that none goe out of the citie.

14 So they & their wiues, and their children shalbe consumed with famine, and before the sworde come against them, they shall bee ouerthrowen in the streetes where they dwell.

15 Then shalt thou render them an euill reward, because they rebelled and obeyed not thy person peaceably.

16 And these wordes pleased Holofernes and all his souldiers, and he appointed to doe as they had spoken.

17 So the campe of the children of Ammon departed, and with them fiue thousand of the Assyrians, and they pitched in the valley, and tooke the waters, and the fountaines of the waters of the children of Israel.

18 Then the children of Esau went vp with the children of Ammon, and camped in the mountaines ouer against Dothaim, and they sent some of themselues towarde the South, and towarde the East, ouer against Rebet, which is neere vnto Chusi, that is vpon the riuer Mochmur: and the rest of the armie of the Assyrians camped in the fielde, and couered the whole lande: for their tentes and their baggage were pitched in a wonderfull great place.

19 Then the children of Israel cryed vnto the Lorde their God, because their heart failed: for all their enemies had compassed them about, and there was no way to escape out from among them.

20 Thus all the company of Assur remained about them, both their footemen, chariots and horsemen, foure and thirtie dayes: so that euen all the places of their waters failed all the inhabitants of Bethulia.

21 And the cisternes were emptie, and they had not water ynough to drinke for one day: for they gaue them to drinke by measure.

22 Therefore their children swooned, and and their wiues and yong men failed for thirst, and fell downe in the streetes of the citie, and by the passages of the gates, and there was no strength in them.

23 Then all the people assembled to Ozias, and to the chiefe of the citie, both yong men and women, and children, and cried with a loude voyce, and said before all the Elders, 24 The *Lorde iudge betweene vs and you: for you haue done vs great iniurie, in that ye haue not required peace of the children of Assur. *Exod.5.21.

25 For now we haue no helper: but God hath solde vs into their handes, that we shoulde bee throwen downe before them with thirst and great destruction.

26 Now therefore call them together, and deliuer the whole citie for a spoyle to the people of Holofernes, and to all his armie.

27 For it is better for vs to bee made a spoyle vnto them, then to die for thirst: for we will be his seruants that wee may liue, and not see the death of our infantes before our eyes, nor our wiues, nor our children to die.

28 Wee take to witnesse against you the heauen and the earth, and our God, and Lorde of our fathers, which punisheth vs, according to our sinnes and the sinnes of our fathers, that he lay not these things to our charge.

29 Then there was a great crie of al with one consent in the middes of the assemblie, and they cried vnto the Lord God with a loude voyce.

30 Then sayde Ozias to them, Brethren, bee of good courage: let vs waite yet fiue dayes, in the which space the Lorde our God may turne his mercie toward vs: for he will not forsake vs in the ende.

31 And if these dayes passe, and there come not helpe vnto vs, I will doe according to your word.

32 So hee separated the people, euery one vnto their charge, and they went vnto the walles and towres of their citie, and sent their wiues and their children into their houses, and they were very lowe brought in the citie.

CHAP. VIII.

The parentage, life, & conuersation of Iudeth. 11 She rebuketh the faintnesse of the gouernours. 12 Shee sheweth that they should not tempt God, but waite vpon him for succour. 33 Her enterprise against the enemies.

NOw at that time, Judeth heard thereof, which was the daughter of Merari the sonne of Or, the sonne of Joseph, the sonne of Oziel, the sonne of Elcia, the sonne of Ananias, the sonne of Gedeon, the sonne of Raphaim, the sonne of Acito, the sonne of Eliu, the sonne of Eliab, the sonne of Nathanael, the sonne of Samael, the sonne of Salasadai, the sonne of Israel.

2 And Manasses was her husband, of her stocke & kinred, who died in the barley haruest.

3 For as he was diligent ouer them that bounde sheaues in the fielde, the heate came vpon his head, and hee fell vpon his bed, and dyed

byed in the citie of Bethulia, and they buryed him with his fathers in the fielde betweene Dothaim and Balamo.

4 So Judeth was in her house a widowe three yeres and foure moneths.

5 And she made her a tent vpon her house, and put on sackecloth on her loynes, and ware her widowes apparell.

6 And shee fasted all the dayes of her widowhood, saue the day before the Sabbath and the Sabbaths, and the day before the new moones, and in the feastes and solemne dayes of the house of Israel.

7 She was also of a goodly countenance and very beautifull to beholde: and her husband Manasses had left her gold and siluer, and men seruants, and maide seruants, and cattell, and possessions, where she remained.

8 And there was none that coulde bring an euill report of her: for shee feared God greatly.

9 Nowe when she hearde the euill wordes of the people against the gouernour, because they fainted for lacke of waters (for Judeth had heard all the wordes that Ozias had spoken vnto them, and that hee had *sworne vnto them to deliuer the citie vnto the Assyrians within fiue dayes) *Chap.7.26,31.

10 Then she sent her mayde, that had the gouernement of all things that she had, to call Ozias and Thabris and Charmis the Ancients of the citie.

11 And they came vnto her, and shee sayde vnto them, Heare me, O ye gouernours of the inhabitants of Bethulia: for your words that yee haue spoken before the people this day, are not right, touching this othe which yee made and pronounced betweene God and you, and haue promised to deliuer the citie to the enemies, vnlesse within these dayes the Lorde turne to help you.

12 And now who are you that haue tempted God this day, and set your selues in the place of God among the children of men?

13 So now you seeke the Lord almightie, but you shall neuer know any thing.

14 For you can not finde out the depth of the heart of man, neither can ye perceiue the things that hee thinketh: then howe can you search out God, that hath made al these things, and know his minde, or comprehend his purpose? Nay my brethren, prouoke not the Lord our God to anger.

15 For if he will not helpe vs within these fiue dayes, he hath power to defend vs, when he will, euen euery day, or to destroy vs before our enemies.

16 Doe not you therefore binde the counsels of the Lord our God: For God is not as man that he may be threatned, neither as the sonne of man to be brought to indgement.

17 Therefore let vs waite for saluation of him and call vpon him to helpe vs, and hee will heare our voyce if it please him.

18 For there appeareth none in our age, neither is there any now in these dayes, neither tribe, nor familie, nor people, nor citie among vs, which worship the gods made with hands, as hath bene afore time.

19 For* the which cause our fathers were giuen to the sworde, and for a spoyle, and had a great fall before our enemies. *Iude 2.11.12. 4,1.and.6,2.

20 But we know none other God: therefore we trust that he will not despise vs, nor any of our lynage.

21 Neither when wee shall be taken, shall Judea be so famous: for our Sanctuarie shall be spoyled, and hee will require the prophanation thereof at our mouth.

22 And the feare of our brethren, and the captiuitie of the country, and the desolation of our inheritance will hee turne vpon our heades among the Gentiles, whereseuer we shall be in bondage, and we shall be an offence and a reproch to all them that possesse vs.

23 For our seruitude shall not be directed by fauour, but the Lord our God shall turne it to dishonour.

24 Nowe therefore, O brethren, let vs shewe an example to our brethren, because their heartes depend vpon vs, and the Sanctuarie, and the House, and the altar rest vpon vs.

25 Moreouer, let vs giue thankes to the Lord our God, which tryeth vs euen as hee did our fathers.

26 Remember what things he did to* Abraham, and how he tryed Isahac, and all that he did to* Jacob in Mesopotamia of Syria, when he kept the sheepe of Laban his mothers brother. *Gene.22.1. *Gene.28.7.

27 For he hath not tryed vs as he did them to the examination of their heartes, neither doeth he take vengeance on vs, but the Lorde punisheth for instruction them that come neere to him.

28 ¶ Then sayde Ozias to her, All that thou hast spoken, hast thou spoken with a good heart, and there is none that is able to resist thy wordes.

29 For it is not to day that thy wisedome is knowen, but from the beginning of thy life al the people haue knowen thy wisedome: for the deuise of thine heart is good.

30 But the people were very thirstie, and compelled vs to doe vnto them, as we haue spoken, and haue brought vs to an othe which wee may not transgresse.

31 Therefore nowe pray for vs, because thou art an holy woman, that the Lorde may send ſend vs raine to fill our ciſternes, and that we may faint no more.

32 Then ſaid Judeth vnto them, Heare me, and I will doe a thing, which ſhall bee declared in all generations, to the children of our nation.

33 You ſhall ſtand this night in the gate, and I will goe forth with mine handmayde: & within the dayes that ye haue promiſed to deliuer the citie to our enemies, the Lord will viſite Iſrael by mine hand.

34 But inquire not you of mine acte: for I will not declare it vnto you, till the things be finiſhed that I doe.

35 Then ſayde Ozias and the princes vnto her, Goe in peace, and the Lorde God before thee, to take vengeance on our enemies.

36 So they returned from the tent, and went to their wards.

CHAP. IX.

1 Iudeth humbleth her ſelfe before the Lord, and maketh her prayers for the deliuerance of her people. 7 Againſt the pride of the Aſſyrians. 11 God is the helpe of the humble.

THen Judeth fell vpon her face, and put aſhes vpon her head, and put off the ſackcloth wherewith ſhee was clothed. And about the time that the incenſe of that euening was offered in Ieruſalem in the houſe of the Lord, Judeth cryed with a loude voyce, and ſaide,

*Gen.34.2,25. 2 O Lord God of my father *Simeon, to whome thou gaueſt a ſworde to take vengeance of the ſtrangers which opened the wombe of the maide, and defiled her, and diſcouered the thigh with ſhame, & polluted the wombe to reproch (for thou haddeſt commaunded that that it ſhould not ſo be,

3 Yet they did things for the which thou gaueſt their princes to the ſlaughter, for they were deceiued and waſhed their beds with blood) and haſt ſtricken the ſeruants with the gouernours, and the gouernours vpon their thrones,

4 And haſt giuen their wiues for a praye and their daughters to be captiues, and all their ſpoyles for a bootie to the children that thou louedſt: which were mooued with thy zeale, and abhorred the pollution of their blood, and called vpon thee for ayde, O God, O my God, heare me alſo a widow.

5 For thou haſt wrought the things afore, and theſe, and the things that ſhal be after, and thou conſidereſt the things that are preſent, and the things that are to come.

6 For the things which thou doeſt purpoſe, are preſent, and ſay, Behold we are heare: for all thy wayes are ready, and thy iudgements are foreknowen.

7 Behold, the Aſſyrians are multiplied by by their power: they haue exalted themſelues with horſes and horſemen: they glorie in the ſtrength of their footemen: they truſt in ſhield, ſpeare and bow, and ſling, and doe not knowe that thou art the Lord that breakeſt the battels: the Lord is thy Name.

8 Breake thou their ſtrength by thy power, and breake their force by thy wrath: for they haue purpoſed to defile thy Sanctuarie, and to pollute the Tabernacle where thy glorious Name reſteth, and to caſt down with weapons hornes of the altar.

9 Behold their pride, and ſend thy wrath vpon their heads: giue into mine hand which am a widowe, the ſtrength that I haue conceiued.

10 *Smite by the deceite of my lippes the ſeruant with the prince, and the prince with the ſeruant: abate their bright by the hand of a woman. *Iudg.4.21, and 5.26.

11 *For thy power ſtandeth not in the multitude, nor thy might in ſtrong men: but thou O Lord, art the helpe of the humble and little ones, the defender of the weake, and the protectour of them that are forſaken, and the Sauiour of them that are without hope. *Iudg.7.2. 2. chron. 14.11. and 16.8. and 20.6.

12 Surely, ſurely thou art the God of my father, and the God of the inheritance of Iſrael, the Lord of heauen and earth, the creator of the waters, the King of all creatures: heare thou my prayer, 13 And graunt me wordes and craft, and a wound and a ſtroke againſt them that enterpriſe cruell things againſt thy couenant, and againſt thine holy Houſe, and againſt the top of Sion, and againſt the houſe of the poſſeſſion of thy children.

14 Shew euidently among all thy people, and all the tribes, that they may knowe that thou art the God of all power and ſtrength, and that there is none other that defendeth the people of Iſrael, but thou.

CHAP. X.

1 Iudeth decketh her ſelfe and goeth forth of the citie. 11 She is taken of the watch of the Aſſyrians and brought to Olofernes.

NOw after ſhee had ceaſed to cry vnto the God of Iſrael, and had made an ende of all theſe wordes.

2 She roſe where ſhe had fallen downe, and called her maide, and went downe into the houſe, in the which ſhee abode in the Sabbath dayes, and in the feaſtes dayes,

3 And putting away the ſackecloth wherewith ſhee was clade, and putting off the garments of her widowhoode, ſhee waſhed her body with water, and annointed it with much oyntment, and dreſſed the haire of her heade,

and

and put attire vpon it, and put on her garments of gladneſſe, wherewith ſhee was clad during the life of Manaſſes her huſband.

4 And ſhe put ſlippers on her feete, and put on bracelets, and ſleeues, and rings, and eare-rings, and all her ornaments, and ſhee decked her ſelfe brauely to allure the eyes of all men that ſhould ſee her.

5 Then ſhe gaue her maid a bottel of wine, and a pot of oyle, and filled a ſcrip with floure, and with drie figges, and with fine bread: ſo ſhe lapped vp all theſe things together and layde them vpon her.

6 Thus they went forth to the gate of the city of Bethulia, and found ſtanding there Ozias, and the Ancients of the citie, Chabris and Charmis.

7 And when they ſaw her that her face was changed, and that her garment was changed, they marueiled greatly at her wonderfull beautie, and ſaide vnto her,

8 The God, the God of our fathers giue thee fauour, and accompliſh thine enterpriſes to the glory of the children of Iſrael, and to the exaltation of Ieruſalem. Then they worſhipped God.

9 And ſhe ſayd vnto them, Commaund the gates of the citie to be opened vnto me, that I may goe forth to accompliſh the things which you haue ſpoken to mee. So they commanded the yong men to open vnto her, as ſhe had ſpoken.

10 And when they had done ſo, Judeth went out, ſhe and her maide with her, and the men of the citie looked after her, vntill ſhee was gone downe the mountaine, and til ſhe had paſſed the valley, and could ſee her no more.

11 Thus they went ſtreight forth in the valley, and the firſt watch of the Aſſyrians met her.

12 And tooke her, and aſked her, Of what people art thou? and whence commeſt thou? and whither goeſt thou? And ſhe ſaid, I am a woman of the Hebrewes, and am fled from them: for they ſhall be giuen you to be conſumed.

13 And I come before Holofernes, the chiefe captaine of your armie, to declare him true things, and I will ſhewe before him the way whereby he ſhal go and win all the mountaines, without loſing the bodie or life of any of his men.

14 Now when the men heard her words and beheelde her countenance, they wondred greatly at her beautie, and ſaide vnto her.

15 Thou haſt ſaued thy life, in that thou haſt haſted to come downe to the preſence of our Lorde: now therefore come to his tent: and ſome of vs ſhall conduct thee vntil they haue deliuered thee into his hands.

16 And when thou ſtandeſt before him, be not afraid in thine heart, but ſhew vnto him according as thou haſt told, and he will intreate thee well.

17 Then they choſe out of them an hundreth men, and prepared a charet for her and her maide, and brought her to the tent of Holofernes.

18 Then there was a running to and fro, throughout the campe: for her comming was bruted among the tents: and they came and ſtoode round about her: for ſhe ſtoode without the tent of Holofernes vntill they had declared vnto him concerning her.

19 And they marueiled at her beautie, and wondred at the children of Iſrael becauſe of her, and euery one ſayde vnto his neighbour, Who would deſpiſe this people, that haue among them ſuch women? ſurely it is not good that one man of them be left: for if they ſhould remaine, they might deceiue the whole earth.

20 Then Holofernes garde went out, and all his ſeruants, and they brought her into the tent.

21 Now Holofernes reſted vpon his bed vnder a canopie, which was wouen with purple and golde and emerauds, and precious ſtones.

22 So they ſhewed him of her, and hee came forth vnto the entrie of his tent, and they carried lampes of ſiluer before him.

23 And when Judeth was come before him and his ſeruants, they all marueiled at the beautie of her countenance, and ſhe fell downe vpon her face, and did reuerence vnto him, and his ſeruants tooke her vp.

CHAP. XI.

1 Holofernes comforteth Iudeth. 3 And aſketh the cauſe of her comming. 5 She deceiueth him by her faire words.

THen ſaid Holofernes vnto her, Woman, bee of good comfort: feare not in thine heart: for I neuer hurt any that would ſerue Nabuchodonoſor the king of all the earth.

2 Nowe therefore if thy people that dwelleth in the mountaines, had not deſpiſed mee, I would not haue lifted vp my ſpeare againſt them: but they haue procured theſe things to themſelues.

3 But now tell me wherefore thou art fled from them, and art come vnto vs: for thou art come for ſafegarde: be of good comfort, thou ſhalt liue from this night and hereafter.

4 For none ſhall hurt thee, but intreate thee well, as they do the ſeruants of King Nabuchodonoſor my lord.

5 Then Judeth ſaid vnto him, Receiue the words of thy ſeruant, and ſuffer thine handmaide to ſpeake in thy preſence, and I will declare no lye to my lord this night.

6 And

6 And if thou wilt followe the wordes of thine handmaide, God will bring the thing perfectly to passe by thee, and my Lorde shall not faile of his purpose.

7 As Nabuchodonosor King of all the earth liueth, and as his power is of force, who hath sent thee to reforme all persons, not onely men shall be made subiect to him by thee, but also the beastes of the fieldes, and the cattell, and the foules of the heauen shall liue by thy power vnder Nabuchodonosor and all his house.

8 For wee haue heard of thy wisedome and of thy prudent spirite, and it is declared through the whole earth, that thou onely art excellent in all the kingdome, and of a wonderful knowledge, and in feates of warre marueilous,

*Chap.5.5. 9 *Now as concerning the matter which Achior did speake in thy councill, wee haue heard his wordes: for the men of Bethulia did take him, and he declared vnto them all that he had spoken vnto thee.

10 Therefore, O lorde and gouernour, reiect not his worde, but let it in thine hearte, for it is true: for there is no punishment against our people, neither can the sworde preuaile against them, except they sinne against their God.

11 Nowe therefore, least my lorde should be frustrate, and voyde of his purpose, and that death may fal vpon them, & that they may be taken in their sinne whiles they prouoke their God to anger, which is so oft times as they doe that which is not beseeming.

12 (For because their victailes faile, and all their water is wasted, they haue determined to take their cattell, and haue purposed to consume all things that God had forbidden thē to eate by his Lawes:

13 Yea, they haue purposed to consume the first fruites of the wheate, and the tithes of the wine, and of the oyle which they had reserued and sanctified for the Priests that serue in Ierusalem before the face of our God: the which things it is not lawfull for any of the people to touch with their hands.

14 Moreouer, they haue sent to Ierusalem, because they also that dwell there, haue done the like, such as should bring them licence from the Senate)

15 Nowe when they shall bring them worde, they will doe it, and they shall be giuen thee to be destroyed the same day.

16 Wherefore I thine handmaide, knowing all this, am fledde from their presence, and God hath sent me to worke a thing with thee, whereof all the earth shall wonder, and whosoeuer shall heare it.

17 For thy seruant feareth God, and worshippeth the God of heauen day and night, and nowe let me remaine with thee my lorde, and let thy seruant goe out in the night into the valley, and I will pray vnto God, that hee may reueile vnto mee when they shall commit their sinnes,

18 And I will come and shew it vnto thee: then thou shalt goe forth with all thine armie, and there shall be none of them that shall resist thee.

19 And I will lead thee through the middes of Iudea, vntill thou come before Ierusalem, and I will set thy throne in the middes thereof, and thou shalt driue them as sheepe that haue no shepheard, and a dogge shall not barke with his mouth against thee: for these things haue bene spoken vnto me, and declared vnto me according to my foreknowledge, and I am sent to shew thee.

20 ¶ Then her wordes pleased Olofernes, and all his seruants, and they marueiled at her wisedome, and said.

21 There is not such a woman in all the world, both for beautie of face, and wisedome of wordes.

22 Likewise Olofernes sayde vnto her, ‖God hath done this, to send thee before the people, that strength might bee in our handes, and destruction vpon them that despise my lorde. ‖or, hath done well.

23 And nowe thou art both beautifull in thy countenance, and wittie in thy wordes: surely if thou doe as thou hast spoken, thy God shall be my God, and thou shalt dwell in the house of Nabuchodonosor, and shalt bee renowned throughout the whole earth.

CHAP. XII.

1 Iudeth would not pollute her selfe with the meate of the Gentiles. 5 She maketh her request that shee might goe out by night to pray. 11 Olofernes causeth her to come to the banket.

THen he commanded to bring her in where his treasures were layde, and bade that they should prepare for her of his own meates, and that shee shoulde drinke of his owne wine.

2 But Iudeth sayde, * I may not eate of them, least there shoulde be an offence, but I can suffice my self with the things that I haue brought. *Gen.43.32. daniel 1.8. tob.1,11.

3 Then Olofernes sayde vnto her, if the things that thou hast, should faile, howe should we giue thee the like: for there is none with vs of thy nation.

4 Then sayde Iudeth vnto him, As thy soule liueth, my lorde, thine handmaide shall not spend those things that I haue, before the Lorde worke by mine hand the things that hee hath determined.

5 Then ỳ seruants of Olofernes brought her her into the tent, and she slept vntill midnight, and rose at the morning watch.

6 And sent to Holofernes, saying, Let my lorde command that thine handmaide may go forth vnto prayer.

7 Then Holofernes commanded his garde that they should not stay her: thus shee abode in the campe three dayes, and went out in the night into the valley of Bethulia, and washed her selfe in a fountaine, euen in the water by the campe.

8 And when shee came out, shee prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, that he would direct her way to the exaltation of the children of her people, 9 So she returned, and remained pure in the tent, vntil she ate her meate at euening.

10 ¶ And in the fourth day, Holofernes made a feast to his owne seruants onely, and called none of them to the banket, that had the affaires in hand.

11 Then saide hee to Bagoas the eunuch who had charge ouer all that hee had, Goe and perswade this Hebrew woman, which is with thee, that she come vnto vs, and eate and drinke with vs.

12 For it were a shame for vs, if we should let such a woman alone, and not talke with her, and if we doe not allure her, she will mocke vs.

13 Then went Bagoas from the presence of Holofernes, and came to her, and sayde, Let not this faire maide make difficultie to goe in to my lord, and to be honoured in his presence, and to drinke wine with vs ioyfully, and to bee entreated as one of the daughters of the children of Assur, which remaine in the house of Nabuchodonosor.

14 Then said Judeth vnto him, Who am I now, that I should gainsay my lord: Surely whatsoeuer pleaseth him, I will doe speedily, and it shall bee my ioy vnto the day of my death.

15 So shee arose and trimmed her with garments, and with all the ornaments of women, and her maide went, and spred forth her skinnes on the grounde ouer against Holofernes, which shee had receiued of Bagoas for her dayly vse, that shee might sit and eat vpon them.

16 Nowe when Judeth came and sate downe, Holofernes heart was rauished with her, and his spirit was mooued, and hee desired greatly her companie: for hee had waited for the time to deceiue her from the day that he had seene her.

17 Then said Holofernes vnto her, Drink now, and be merry with vs.

18 So Judeth said, I drink now my lord, because my state is exalted this day more then euer it was since I was borne.

19 Then she tooke, and ate and dranke before him the things, that her maide had prepared.

20 And Holofernes reioyced because of her, and dranke much more wine, then he had drunken at any time in one day since hee was borne.

CHAP. XIII.

4 Judeth prayeth for strength. 8 Shee smiteth off Holofernes necke. 10 She returneth to Bethulia and reioyceth her people.

NOwe when the euening was come, his seruants made haste to depart, and Bagoas shut his tent without, and dismissed those that were present, from the presence of his lorde, and they went to their beddes: for they were all wearie, because the feast had bene long.

2 And Judeth was left alone in the tent, and Holofernes was stretched along vpon his bed: for he was filled with * wine. *Ezek. 31. 10. 15.

3 ¶ Nowe Judeth had commaunded her maide to stand without her chamber, and to waite for her comming forth as shee did dayly: for she sayd, she would goe forth to her prayers, and she spake to Bagoas according to the same purpose.

4 So all went foorth of her presence, and none was left in the chamber, neither little nor great: then Judeth standing by his bed, sayde in her heart, O Lord God of all power, behold at this present the workes of mine handes for the exaltation of Jerusalem.

5 For nowe is the time to helpe thine inheritance, and to execute mine enterprises, to the destruction of the enemies which are risen against vs.

6 Then shee came to the post of the bed which was at Holofernes heade, and tooke downe his fauchin from thence,

7 And approched to the bedde, and tooke hold of the haire of his head, and said, Strengthen me, O Lord God of Israel this day.

8 And she smote twise vpon his neck, with al her might, and she tooke away his head from him,

9 And rolled his body down from the bed, and pulled downe the canopie from the pillars, and anon after she went foorth, and gaue Holofernes head to her maide,

10 And shee put it in her scrippe of meate: so they twaine went together according to their custome vnto prayer, and passing through the tents, went about by that valley, and went vp to the mountaine of Bethulia, and came to the gates thereof.

11 ¶ Then sayd Judeth afarre off to the watchmen at ẏ gates, Open now ẏ gate: God, euen our God is with vs to shewe his power yet in Jerusalem, and his force against his enemies, enemies, as he hath euen done this day.

12 Now when the men of her citie heard her voyce, they made haste to goe downe to the gate of their citie, and they called the Elders of the citie.

13 And they ranne altogether both small and great: for it was aboue their expectation, that shee shoulde come. So they opened the gate, and receiued her, and made a fire for a light, and stood round about them twaine.

14 Then shee sayde to them with a loude voyce, Praise God, praise God: for hee hath not taken away his mercie from the house of Israel, but hath destroyed our enemies by mine hands this night.

15 So she tooke the head out of the scrip and shewed it, and saide vnto them, Beholde, the head of Holofernes, the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, and beholde the canopie, wherein he did lie in his drunkennesse, and the Lorde hath smitten him by the hande of a woman.

16 As the Lord liueth, who hath kept mee in my way that I went, my countenance hath deceiued him to his destruction, and he hath not committed sinne with me by any pollution or villenie.

17 Then all the people were wonderfully astonished, and bowed themselues, and worshipped God and sayde with one accord, Blessed be thou, O our God, which hast this day brought to nought the enemies of thy people.

18 Then sayde Ozias vnto her, O daughter, blessed art thou of the most hie God aboue all the women of the earth, and blessed bee the Lord God, which hath created the heauens and the earth, which hath directed thee to the cutting off of the head of the chiefe of our enemies.

19 Surely this thine hope shall neuer depart out of the heartes of men: for they shal remember the power of God for euer.

20 And God turne these things to thee for a perpetuall praise, and visite thee with good things, because thou hast not spared thy life, because of the affliction of our nation, but thou hast holpen our ruine, walking a straight way before our God. And all the people sayd, So be it, so be it.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Iudeth causeth to hang vp the head of Holofernes. 10 Achior ioyneth himselfe to the people of God. 11 The Israelites goe out against the Assyrians.

Then sayde Iudeth vnto them, Heare me also, my brethren, and * take this head, and hang it vpon the hiest place of your wals.

*Mat.15.35.

2 And so soone as the morning shall appeare and the sunne shall come forth vpon the earth, take you euery one his weapons, and goe forth euery valiant man out of the citie, and set you a captaine ouer them, as though you woulde goe downe into the field, towarde the watch of the Assyrians, but go not downe.

3 Then they shall take their armour, and shall goe into their campe, and raise vp the captaines of the armie of Assur, and they shall run to the tent of Holofernes, but shall not finde him: then feare shall fall vpon them, and they shall flee before your face.

4 So you and all that inhabite the coastes of Israel, shall pursue them, and ouerthrow them as they go.

5 But before you doe these things, call me Achior the Ammonite, that he may see, & know him that despised the house of Israel, and that sent him to vs as to death.

6 Then they called Achior out of the house of Ozias, and when he was come and sawe the heade of Holofernes in a certaine mans hande in the assemblie of the people, he fell downe on his face, and his spirit failed.

7 But when they had taken him vp, he fell at Iudeths feete, and reuerenced her, and said, Blessed art thou in all the tabernacle of Iuda, and in al nations, which hearing thy name, shal be astonished.

8 Nowe therefore tell mee all the things, that thou hast done in these dayes. Then Iudeth declared vnto him in the middes of the people all that shee had done from the day that shee went forth, vntill that houre shee spake vnto them.

9 And when shee had left off speaking, the people reioyced with a great voyce, and made a noyse of gladnesse through their citie.

10 And Achior, seeing all things that God had done for Israel, beleeued in God vnfainedly, and circumcised the foreskin of his flesh, and was ioyned vnto the house of Israel vnto this day.

11 ¶ Assoone, as the morning arose, they hanged the head of Holofernes out at the wall, and euery man tooke his weapons, and they went forth by bands vnto the straites of the mountaine.

12 But when the Assyrians sawe them, they sent to their captaines, which went to their gouernours and chiefe captaines, and to all their rulers.

13 So they came to Holofernes tent and sayd to him that had the charge of al his things, Waken our Lorde: for the slaues haue beene bolde to come downe against vs to battel, that they may be destroyed for euer.

14 Then went in Bagoas, and knocked at the doore of the tent: for he thought that hee had slept with Iudeth.

15 But

15 But because none answered, hee opened it, and went into the chamber, and found him cast vpon the flooze, and his head was taken from him.

16 Therefore he cryed with a loud voyce, with weeping and mourning, and a mightie cry and rent his garments.

17 After, hee went into the tent of Judeth where shee vsed to remaine, and founde her not: then hee leaped out to the people and cryed.

18 These slaues haue committed wickednesse: one woman of the Hebrewes hath brought shame vpon the house of King Nabuchodonosor: for beholde, Olofernes lyeth vpon the ground without an head.

19 When the captaines of the Assyrians armie heard these wordes, they rent their coates, and their heart was wonderfully troubled, and there was a cry and a very great noyse throughout the campe.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Assyrians are afraide and flee. 3 The Israelites pursue them. 8 Ioacim the hie Priest commeth to Bethulia to see Iudeth and to prayse God for her.

AND when they that were in the tents, heard, they were astonished at the thing that was done.

2 And feare and trembling fell vpon them, so that there was no man that durst abide in the sight of his neighbour: but altogether amased, they fled by euery way of the plaine and of the mountaines,

3 They also that had camped in the mountaines rounde about Bethulia, were put to flight: then the children of Israel, euery one that was a warriour among them, rushed out vpon them.

4 Then sent Ozias to Bethomasthem, and to Bebai, and Thobai, and Chola and to all the coastes of Israel, such as shoulde declare vnto them the things that were done, and that all shoulde rush forth vpon their enemies to destroy them.

5 Now when the children of Israel heard it, they all fell vpon them together vnto Choba: likewise also they that came from Jerusalem and from all the mountaines: for men had tolde them what things were done in the campe of their enemies, and they that were in Galaad and in Galile chased them with a great slaughter vntill they came to Damascus to the coastes thereof.

6 And the residue that dwelt at Bethulia, fell vpon the campe of Assur & spoyled them, and were greatly enriched.

7 And the children of Israel that returned from the slaughter, had the rest: and the villages and the cities that were in the mountaines and in the plaine, had a great bootie: for the abundance was very great.

8 Then Joacim the hie Priest, and the Ancients of the children of Israel that dwelt in Jerusalem, came to consirme the benefites that God had shewed to Israel, and to see Judeth, and to salute her.

9 And when they came vnto her, they blessed her with one accord, and sayde vnto her, Thou art the exaltacion of Jerusalem: thou art the great glorie of Israel: thou art the great reioycing of our nation.

10 Thou hast done all these things by thine hand: thou hast done much good to Israel, and God is pleased therewith: blessed bee thou of the almightie Lord for euermore: and all the people said, So be it.

11 And the people spoyled the campe the space of thirtie dayes, and they gaue vnto Judeth Olofernes tent, and all his siluer and beds, and basins, and all his stuffe, and shee tooke it and layde it on her mules, and made ready her charets, and laid them thereon.

12 Then all the women of Israel came together to see her, and blessed her, and made a daunce among them for her, and shee tooke branches in her hand, and gaue also to the women that were with her.

13 They also crowned her with oliues, and her that was with her, and shee went before the people in the daunce, leading all the women: and all the men of Israel followed in their armour, with crownes, and with songs in their mouthes.

CHAP. XVI.

Iudeth prayseth God with a song. 19 She offereth to the Lorde Olofernes stuffe. 23 Her continencie, life and death. 25 All Israel lamenteth her.

THen Judeth began this confession in all Israel, and all the people sang this song with a loude voyce.

2 And Judeth sayde, Beginne vnto my God with tymbrels: sing to my Lorde with cymbals: tune vnto him a psalme: exalt his prayse, and call vpon his Name.

3 For God breaketh the battels, and pitched his campe in the middes of the people and deliuered me out of the hand of the persecuters.

4 Assur came from the mountaines forth of the North: hee came with thousands in his armie, * whose multitude hath shut vp the riuers and their horsemen haue couered the valleys. *Chap.2,11,15.

5 He sayde that hee woulde burne vp my borders and kil my young men with the sword, and dash the sucking children against the grounde, and make mine infants as a praye, and my virgins a spoyle.

6 But the almightie Lorde hath brought them to nought by the hand of a woman.

7 For the mightie did not fall by the yong men, neyther did the sonnes of Titan smite him, nor the hie giants inuade him, but Judeth the daughter of Merari did discomfite him by the beautie of her countenance.

8 For shee put off the garment of her widowhoode, for the exaltation of those that were oppressed in Israel, and anoynted her face with oyntment, and bounde vp her haire in a coife, and tooke a linnen garment to deceiue him.

9 Her slippers rauished his eyes: her beautie tooke his minde prisoner, and the sawchin passed throughe his neck.

10 The Persians were astonished at her boldnesse, and the Medes were troubled with her hardinesse.

11 But mine afflicted reioyced, and my feeble ones shouted: then they feared, they lifted vp their voyce and turned backe.

12 The children of maides pierced them, and wounded them as they fledde away like children: they perished by the battell of the Lord.

13 I will sing vnto the Lorde a song of prayse, O Lorde, thou art great and glorious, marueilous and inuincible in power.

*Gene.1.24. *Psal.33.9.

14 Let all thy creatures serue thee: *for thou hast spoken and they were made: thou hast sent thy Spirite, and hee made them vp: and there is none that can resist thy voyce.

15 For the mountaines leape vp from their foundations with the waters: the rocks melt at thy presence like ware: yet thou art mercifull to them that feare thee.

16 For all sacrifice is too little for a sweet sauour, and all the fat is too little for thy burnt offering: but hee that feareth the Lorde, is great at all times.

17 Woe to the nations that rise vp against my kinred: the Lorde almightie will take vengeance of them in the day of iudgement, in sending fire and wormes vpon their flesh, and they shall feele them and weepe for euer.

18 ¶ After, when they went vnto Ierusalem, they worshipped the Lorde, and assoone as the people were purified, they offered their burnt offerings, and their free offerings, and their gifts.

19 Judeth also offered all the stuffe of Holofernes, which the people had giuen her, and gaue the canopie which shee had taken off his bed, for an oblation to the Lord.

20 So the people reioyced in Ierusalem by the Sanctuarie, for the space of three moneths, and Judeth remained with them.

21 After this time, euery one returned to his owne inheritance, and Judeth went to Bethulia, and remained in her owne possession, and was for her time honourable in all the countrey.

22 And many desired her, but none had her company all the dayes of her life after that Manasses her husband was dead, and was gathered to ‖ his people. Or, her people.

23 But shee increased more and more in honour, and waxed old in her husbands house, being an hundreth and fiue yeere olde, and made her maide free: so shee dyed in Bethulia, and they buried her in the graue of her husband Manasses.

*Gene.50.26. 24 And * the house of Israel lamented her seuen dayes, and before shee dyed, shee did distribute her goods to all them that were the neerest of her kinred.

25 And there was none that made the children of Israel any more afraide in the dayes of Judeth, nor a long time after her death.

ESTHER.

Certaine portions of the storie of Esther, which are founde in some Greeke and Latine translations.

Which followe the tenth Chapter.

AND when Mardocheus sayde, God hath done these things.

5 For I remember a dreame, which I sawe concerning these matters, and there was nothing thereof omitted.

6 A litle fountaine which became a flood, was a light, and as the sunne, and as much water: this flood was Esther whom the King married, and made Queene.

7 And the two dragons are I and Aman.

8 And the people are they that are assembled to destroy the name of the Iewes.

9 And my people is Israel, which cryed to God, and are saued: for the Lorde hath saued his people, and the Lorde hath deliuered vs from all these euils, and God hath wrought signes, and great wonders, which haue not bene done among the Gentiles.

10 Therefore hath hee made two lottes, one for the people of God, and another for all the Gentiles.

11 And

2 And these two lottes came before God for all nations, at the houre and time appointed, and in the day of iudgement.

12 So God remembred his owne people, and iustified his inheritance.

13 Therefore those dayes shall bee vnto them in the moneth Adar the fourteenth, and fifteenth day of the same moneth, with an assemblie and ioy, and with gladnesse before God, according to the generations for euer among his people.

CHAP. XI.

IN the fourth yeere of the reigne of Ptolemeus and Cleopatra, Dositheus, who sayde he was a Priest and Leuite, and Ptolemeus his sonne, that brought the former letters of ‖ Phurai, which they sayde Lysimachus the sonne of Ptolemeus, which was at Jerusalem, interpreted. ‖ Or, Jonas.

2 In the seconde yeere of the reigne of great Artaxerres: in the first day of the moneth Nisan, Mardocheus the sonne of Jarus, the sonne of Semei, the sonne of Cis of the tribe of Beniamin had a dreame:

3 A Jew dwelling in the Citie of Susis, a noble man that bare office in the kings court.

4 He was also one of the captiuitie which Nabuchodonosor ỳ King of Babylon brought from Jerusalem with Jechonias.

5 And this was his dreame. Behold a noyse of a tempest with thunders, and earthquakes, and vproare in the land.

6 Behold two great dragons came foorth readie to fight one against another.

7 Their cry was great, whereby all the heathen were ready to fight against the righteous people.

8 And the same day was full of darkenes and obscuritie, and trouble, and anguish: yea, aduersitie, and great affliction was vpon the earth.

9 For then the righteous fearing their afflictions, were amased, and being ready to dye, cried vnto God.

10 And while they were crying, the little well grewe into a great riuer, and flowed ouer with great waters.

11 The light and the sonne rose vp, and the lowly were exalted, and deuoured the glorious.

12 Nowe when Mardocheus had seene this dreame, hee awooke and rose vp, and thought in his heart vntill the night, what God woulde doe, and so he desired to knowe all the matter.

CHAP. XII.

AT the same time dwelt Mardocheus in the kings court with Bagathas & Thara, the kings eunuches & keepers of the palace.

2 * But when he heard their purpose, and their imaginations, hee perceiued that they went about to lay their handes vpon the King Artaxerres, and so hee certified the King thereof. * After 2, 31, and 6, 2.

3 Then caused the King to examine the two eunuches with torments, and when they had confessed it, they were put to death.

4 This the King caused to bee put in the Chronicles, Mardocheus also wrote the same thing.

5 So the King commaunded that Mardocheus shoulde remaine in the court, and for the aduertisement, he gaue him a reward.

6 But Aman the sonne of Amadathus the Agagite, which was in great honour and reputation with the king, went about to hurt Mardocheus and his people, because of the two eunuches of the king that were put to death.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The copie of the letters of Artaxerres against the Iewes.
8 The prayer of Mardocheus.

THE copie of the letters was this, The great King Artaxerres writeth these things to the princes and gouernours that are vnder him from India vnto Ethiopia in an hundreth and seuen and twenty prouinces. Iosep. antiq. lib. 11. chap. 6.

2 When I was made Lorde ouer many people, and had subdued the whole earth vnto my dominion, I woulde not exalt my selfe by the reason of my power, but purposed with equitie alway and gentlenesse to gouerne my subiectes, and wholy to set them in a peaceable life, and thereby to bring my kingdome vnto tranquilitie, that men might safely goe thorow on euery side, and to renewe peace againe, which all men desire.

3 Nowe when I asked my counsellers, how these things might bee brought to passe, one that was conuersant with vs, of excellent wisdome, and constant in good will, and shewed himselfe to be of sure fidelitie, which had the second place in the kingdome, euen Aman,

4 Declared vnto vs, that in all nations there was scattered abroade a rebellious people, that had lawes contrarie to all people, and haue alway despised the commandements of kings, and so that this generall empire, that we haue begunne, cannot bee gouerned without offence,

5 Seeing now we perceiue, that this people alone are altogether contrary vnto euery man, vsing strange and other maner of lawes, and hauing an euill opinion of our doings, and goe about to stablish wicked matters, that our kingdome should not come to good estate,

6 Therefore haue wee commaunded, that all they that are appointed in writing vnto you by Aman (which is ordeyned ouer the affaires, and is as our ſecond father) ſhall all with their wiues and children be deſtroyed and rooted out with the ſworde of their enemies without all mercie, and that none be ſpared the fourteenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar of this yeere,

7 That they which of olde, and nowe alſo haue euer beene rebellious, may in one day with violence bee thruſt downe into the hell, to the intent that after this time our affaires may bee without troubles, and well gouerned in all points.

8 Then Mardocheus thought vpon all the workes and of the Lorde, and made his prayer vnto him, 9 Saying, O Lorde, Lorde, the King Almightie (for all things are in thy power) and if thou haſt appoynted to ſaue Iſrael, there is no man that can withſtand thee.

10 For thou haſt made heauen and earth, and al ỹ wonderous things vnder the heauen.

11 Thou art Lorde of all things, and there is no man that can reſiſt thee, which art the Lord.

12 Thou knoweſt all things, and thou knoweſt Lorde, that it was neyther of malice, nor preſumption, nor for any deſire of glorie, that I did this, and not bowe downe to proude Aman.

13 For I would haue bene contented with good will for the ſaluation of Iſrael, to haue kiſt the ſole of his feete.

14 But I did it, becauſe I would not preferre the honour of a man aboue the glory of God, & would not worſhip any but onely thee, my Lord, and this haue I not done of pride.

15 And therefore, O Lord God and King, haue mercie vpon thy people: for they imagine how they may bring vs to nought, yea, would deſtroy the inheritance, that hath bene thine from the beginning.

16 Deſpiſe not ỹ portion, which thou haſt deliuered out of Egypt for thine owne ſelfe, 17 Heare my prayer, and be mercifull vnto thy portion: turne our ſorow into ioy, that we may liue, O Lord, and praiſe thy Name: ſhut not the mouthes of them that praiſe thee.

18 All Iſrael in like manner cryed moſt earneſtly vnto the Lorde, becauſe that death was before their eyes.

CHAP. XIIII.

The prayer of Eſther for the deliuerie of her & her people.

QVeene Eſther alſo, being in danger of death, reſorted vnto the Lord,

2 And layde away her glorious apparell, and put on the garments of ſighing, and mourning. In the ſtead of precious ointment, ſhe ſcattered aſhes, and dongue vpon her head: and ſhee humbled her body greatly with faſting, and all the places of her ioy filled ſhee with the haire that ſhe pluckt off.

3 And ſhee prayed vnto the Lorde God of Iſrael, ſaying, O my Lorde, thou onely art our king: helpe mee deſolate woman, which haue no helper but thee.

4 For my danger is at hand.

5 From my youth vp I haue heard in the kinred of my father, that thou, O Lorde, tookeſt Iſrael from among all people, and our fathers from their predeceſſours for a perpetuall inheritance, and thou haſt performed that which thou diddeſt promiſe them.

6 Now Lord, we haue ſinned before thee: therefore haſt thou giuen vs into the hands of our enemies,

7 Becauſe wee worſhipped their Gods. O Lord, thou art righteous.

8 Neuertheleſſe, it ſatisfieth them not, that we are in bitter captiuitie, but they haue ſtroken hands with their idoles,

9 That they will aboliſh the thing that thou with thy mouth haſt ordeined, & deſtroyed thine inheritance, to ſhut vp the mouth of them that praiſe thee, and to quench the glory of thy Temple, and of thine altar.

10 And to open the mouthes of the heathen, that they may praiſe the power of the idoles, and to magnifie a fleſhly king for euer.

11 O Lord, giue not thy ſcepter vnto them that be nothing, leſt they laugh vs to ſcorne in our miſerie: but turne their deuiſe vpon themſelues, and make him an example, that hath begunne the ſame againſt vs.

12 Thinke vpon vs, O Lorde, and ſhewe thy ſelfe vnto vs in the time of our diſtreſſe, and ſtrengthen mee, O King of gods, and Lord of all power.

13 Giue mee an eloquent ſpeach in my mouth before the Lyon: turne his heart to hate our enemie, to deſtroy him, and all ſuch as conſent vnto him.

14 But deliuer vs with thine hande, and helpe me that am ſolitarie, which haue no defence but onely thee.

15 Thou knoweſt all things, O Lorde: thou knoweſt, that I hate the glorie of the vnrighteous, and that I abhorre the bed of the vncircumciſed, and of all the heathen.

16 Thou knoweſt my neceſſitie: for I hate this token of my preeminence, which I beare vpon mine head, what time as I muſt ſhew my ſelfe, and that I abhorre it as a menſtruous cloth, and that I weare it not when I am alone by my ſelfe.

17 And that I thine handmaide haue not eaten at Amans table, and that I haue had no pleaſure in the kings feaſt, nor drunke the wine of the drinke offerings,

18 And that I thine handmayde haue no ioy ſince that day that I was brought hither, vntill

vntill this day, but in thee, O Lorde God of Abraham.

19 O thou mightie God aboue all, heare the voyce of them that haue none other hope, and deliuer vs out of the hand of the wicked, and deliuer me out of my feare.

CHAP. XV.

1 Mardocheus moueth Esther to goe in to the king and make intercession for her people. 9 And she performeth his request.

MArdocheus also bade Esther to goe in vnto the king, and pray for her people, and for her countrey.

2 Remember, saith hee, the dayes of thy lowe estate, how thou wast nourished vnder mine hand: for Aman which is next vnto the king hath giuen sentence of death against vs.

3 Call thou therefore vpon the Lorde, and speake for vs vnto the king, and deliuer vs from death.

4 And vpon the third day when shee had ended her prayer, she laid away the mourning garments, and put on her glorious apparell,

5 And deckt herselfe goodly, after that shee had called vpon God, which is the beholder and sauiour of all things, and tooke two handmaides with her.

6 Upon the one she leaned her selfe, as one that was tender.

7 And the other followed her, and bare the traine of her vesture.

8 The shine of her beautie made her face rose coloured: and her face was cheerefull and amiable, but her heart was sorowfull for great feare.

9 Then she went in thorow all the doores, and stoode before the king, and the king sate vpon his royall throne, and was clothed in his goodly aray, all glittering with gold and precious stones, and he was very terrible.

10 Then he lift vp his face, that shone with maiestie, and looked fiercely vpon her: therefore the Queene fell downe, and was pale and faint and leaned her selfe vpon the head of the maide that went with her.

11 Neuertheless, God turned the kings minde that he was gentle, who being carefull, leaped out of his throne, and tooke her in his armes, till she came to her selfe againe: and comforted her with louing words, and said,

12 Esther, what is the matter? I am thy brother, be of good cheere, 13 Thou shalt not die: for our commandement toucheth the commons, and not thee. Come neere.

14 And so hee held vp his golden scepter, and laid it vpon her necke.

15 And kissed her, & said, Talke with me.

16 Then said she, I sawe thee, O lorde, as an Angel of God, and mine heart was troubled for feare of thy maiestie.

17 For wonderfull art thou, O lorde, and thy face is full of grace.

18 And as shee was thus speaking vnto him, shee fell downe againe for faintnesse.

19 Then the king was troubled, and all his seruants comforted her.

CHAP. XVI.

The copie of the letter of Artaxerxes, whereby hee reuoketh those which he first sent forth.

THe great king Artaxerxes, which reigneth from India, vnto Ethiopia, ouer an hundreth and seuen and twentie prouinces, sendeth vnto the princes and rulers that haue the charge of our affaires, Salutation. Ioseph. Antiq. 11. Chap. 6.

2 There bee many that through the goodnesse of Princes and honour giuen vnto them, become very proud,

3 And endeuour not onely to hurt our subiects, but not content to liue in wealth, doe also imagine destruction against those that doe them good,

4 And take not onely all thankefulnesse away from men, but in pride and presumption, as they that be vnmindfull of benefits, they thinke to escape the vengeance of God, that seeth all things, and is contrary to euill.

5 And oft times many, which bee set in office, and vnto whome their friends causes are committed, by vaine intisements doe wrappe them in calamities, that cannot bee remedied: for they make them partakers of innocent blood,

6 And deceitefully abuse the simplicitie, and gentlenesse of Princes with lying tales.

7 This may bee proued not onely by olde histories, but also by those things that are before our eyes, and are wickedly committed of such pestilences, as are not worthie to beare rule.

8 Therefore wee must take heede hereafter, that wee may make the kingdome peaceable for all men, what chance soeuer shall come,

9 And discerne the things that are before your eyes, to withstand them with gentlenesse.

10 For Aman, a Macedonian, the sonne of Amadathus, being in deede a stranger from the Persians blood, and farre from our goodnesse was receiued of vs, 11 And hath proued the friendship that we beare toward all nations, so that he was called our father, and was honoured of euery man, as the next person vnto the King.

12 But he could not vse himself soberly in this great dignitie, but went about to deprive vs of the kingdome, and of our life.

13 With manifolde deceite also hath hee desired to destroy Mardochens our preseruer, which hath done vs good in all things, and innocent Esther the partaker of our kingdome, with all her nation.

14 For his minde was (when hee had taken them out of the way) to lay waite for vs, and by this meanes to translate the kingdome of the Persians vnto them of Macedonia.

15 But wee finde that the Iewes (which were accused of this most wicked man that they might be destroyed) are no euill doers, but vse most iust lawes.

16 And that they bee the children of the most High and Almightie and euerliuing God, by whome the kingdome hath bene preserued vnto vs, and our progenitors in very good order.

17 Wherefore yee shall doe well, if ye doe not put in execution those letters, that Aman the sonne of Amadathus did write vnto you.

18 For hee that inuented them, hangeth at Susis before the gates, with all his familie, and God (which hath all things in his power) hath speedily rewarded him after his deseruing.

19 Therefore yee shall publish the copie of this letter in all places, that the Iewes may freely liue after their owne lawes.

20 And ye shall ayde them, that vpon the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar they may bee auenged of them, which in the time of their trouble would haue oppressed them.

21 For almightie God hath turned to ioy the day wherein the chosen people should haue perished.

22 Moreouer, among other solemne dayes ye shall keepe this day with all gladnesse, 23 That both nowe and in time to come this day may bee a remembrance of deliuerance for vs and all such as loue the prosperitie of the Persians, but a remembrance of destruction to those that be seditious vnto vs.

24 Therefore al cities and countreys that doe not this, shall horribly bee destroyed with swoorde and fire, and shall not onely not bee inhabited of men, but bee abhorred also of the wilde beastes and foules for euer.

THE WISDOME OF SALOMON.

CHAP. I.

1 Howe wee ought to search and enquire after God. 2 Who be those that find him. 5 The holy Ghost. 8, 11 We ought to flee from backbiting and murmuring. 12 Whereof death commeth. 15 Righteousnesse and vnrighteousnesse.

*1 King. 3. 3. Psa. 36. 2.

LOue * righteousnesse, yee that bee iudges of the earth: thinke reuerently of the Lord, and seeke him in simplicitie of heart.

*Deut. 4. 29. 2. Chro. 15. 4.

2 * For he will be found of them that tempt him not, and appeareth vnto such as be not vnfaithfull vnto him.

3 For wicked thoughtes separate from God: and his power when it is tried, reprooueth the vnwise.

4 Because wisedome cannot enter into a wicked heart, nor dwell in the body that is subiect vnto sinne.

*Isai. 4. 22.

5 For the holy * Spirit of discipline fleeth from deceite, and withdraweth himselfe from the thoughtes that are without vnderstanding, and is rebuked when wickednesse commeth.

*Gala. 5. 22.

6 For the Spirit of wisdome * is louing, and will not absolue him, that blaspemeth with his lips: for God is a witnesse of his reines, and a true beholder of his heart, and an hearer of the tongue.

7 For the Spirit of the Lord filleth all the world: & the same that mainteineth all things, hath knowledge of the voyce.

8 Therefore hee that speaketh vnrighteous things, cannot bee hid: neither shall the iudgement of reprooch let him escape, 9 For inquisition shall bee made for the thoughtes of the vngodly, and the sounde of his wordes shall come vnto God for the correction of his iniquities.

10 For the eare of ielousie heareth all things, and the noyse of the grudging shall not be hid.

11 Therefore beware of murmuring, which profiteth nothing, and refraine your tongue from slander: for there is no worde so secret, that shall goe for nought, and the mouth that speaketh lyes, slayeth the soule.

12 Seeke not death in the errour of your life: * destroy not your selues thorowe the workes of your owne handes. *Deut 4.23.

13 * For God hath not made death, neither hath he pleasure in the destruction of the liuing. *Ezek. 18. 23, and 33. 11.

14 For hee created all things, that they might haue their being: and the generations of the worlde are preserued, and there is no poyson of destruction in them, and the kingdome of hell is not vpon earth.

15 For righteousnesse is immortall, but vnrighteousnesse bringeth death.

16 And the vngodly a call it vnto them both with hands and wordes: and while they thinke to haue a friende of it, they come to nought: for they are confederate with it, therefore are they worthy to be partakers thereof. a To wit, death.

CHAP. II.

1 The imaginations and desires of the wicked, and their counsell against the faithfull.

FOr the vngodly say, as they fally imagine with themselues, * Our life is short and tedious: and in the death of a man there is no recouerie, neither was any knowē that hath returned from the graue.

*Iob.7.1.and 14.1.mat.22.23. 1.cor.15.32.

2 For we are borne at all aduenture, & we shalbe hereafter as though we had neuer bene: for the breath is as a smoke in our nostrels, and the wordes as a sparke raised out of the heart,

3 Which being extinguished, the body is turned into ashes, and the Spirit vanisheth as the soft ayre.

4 Our life shall passe away as the trace of a cloude, and come to nought as the mist that is driuen away with the beames of the sunne, and cast downe with the heate thereof. Our name also shall be forgotten in time, and no man shall haue our workes in remembrance.

*1.Chro.29.15. chap.5.9.

*Isa.22.13.and 56.12.1.cor. 15.32.

6 *Come therefore, and let vs enioy the pleasures, that are present, and let vs cheerefully vse the creatures as in youth.

7 Let vs fill our selues with costly wine, and ointments, and let not the floure of life passe by vs.

8 Let vs crowne our selues with rose buds afore they be withered,

9 Let vs all bee partakers of our wantonnesse: let vs leaue some token of our pleasure in euery place: for that is our portion, and this is our lot,

10 Let vs oppresse the poore that is righteous: let vs not spare the widow, nor reuerence the white haires of the aged, that haue liued many yeeres.

11 Let our strength be the law of vnrighteousnesse: for the thing that is feeble, is reproued as vnprofitable.

12 Therefore let vs defraude the righteous: for he is not for our profite, and he is contrary to their doings: he checketh vs for offending against the lawe, and blameth vs as transgressers of discipline.

13 He maketh his boast to haue the knowledge of God: and he calleth himselfe the sonne of the Lord.

*Iob.7.7. ephes.5.13. *Isa.53.3.

15 It grieueth vs also to looke * vpon him: for his life is not like other mens: his wayes are of another fashion.

16 He counteth vs as bastards, & he withdraweth himselfe from our wayes as from filthinesse: he commendeth greatly the latter end of the iust, and boasteth that God is his father.

17 Let vs see then if his words be true: let vs proue what ende he shall haue.

18 For if the righteous man be the *sonne of God, he wil helpe him and deliuer him from the handes of his enemies.

19 Let vs *examine him with rebukes and torments that we may know his meekenesse, and proue his patience.

20 Let vs condemne him vnto a shamefull death: for he shall be preserued as hee himselfe saith.

21 Such things doe they imagine, and goe astray: for their owne wickednes hath blinded them.

22 And they doe not vnderstand the mysteries of God, neither hope for ye reward of righteousnesse, nor can discerne the honour of the soules that are faultlesse.

Of vertue and the commoditie thereof. 10 The death of the righteous, and the condemnation of the vnfaithfull.

BEtter is barrenneſſe with vertue: for the memoriall thereof is immortall: for it is knowen with God and with men.

2 When it is preſent, men take example thereat, and if it goe away, yet they deſire it: it is alway crowned and triumpheth, and winneth the battell and the vndefiled rewards.

3 But the multitude of the vngodly which abound in children, is vnprofitable: and the baſtard plants ſhall take no deepe roote, nor lay any faſt foundation.

4 For though they bud forth in the branches for a time, * yet they ſhall be ſhaken with the winde: for they ſtand not faſt, and through the vehemencie of the winde they ſhall be rooted out.

*Matth.7.19.

5 For the vnperfect branches ſhall be broken, and their fruite ſhall bee vnprofitable and ſowre to eate, and meete for nothing.

6 For all the children that are borne of the wicked bed, ſhall be witneſſe of the wickednes againſt their parents when they be aſked.

7 But though the righteous be preuented with death, yet ſhall he be inreſt.

8 For the honorable age is not that which is of long time, neither that which is meaſured by the number of yeeres.

9 But wiſedome is the gray haire, and an vndefiled life is the old age.

10 * He pleaſed God, and was beloued of him, ſo that where as he lined among ſinners, he tranſlated him.

*Gene.5.24. Hebr.11.5.

11 Hee was taken away, leſt wickednes ſhould alter his vnderſtanding, or deceite beguile his minde.

12 For wickednes by bewitching obſcureth ỹ things that are are good, and the vnſtedfaſtnes of concupiſcence peruerteth the ſimple minde.

13 Though he was ſoone dead, yet fulfilled he much time, 14 For his ſoule pleaſed God: therefore haſted he to take him away from wickednes.

15 Yet the people ſee & vnderſtand it not, and conſider no ſuch things in their heartes, how that grace and mercy is vpon his Saints, and his prouidence ouer the elect.

16 Thus the righteous that is dead, condemneth the vngodly which are liuing: and the youth that is ſoone brought to an ende, the long life of the vnrighteous.

17 For they ſee the ende of the wiſe, but they vnderſtand not what God hath deuiſed for him, and wherefore the Lorde hath preſerued him in ſafetie.

18 They ſee him and deſpiſe him, but the Lord will laugh them to ſcorne, 19 So that they ſhall fall heareafter without honour, and ſhall haue a ſhame among the dead for euermore: for without any voyce ſhal he burſt them and caſt them downe, and ſhake them from the foundations, ſo that they ſhall be vtterly waſted, and they ſhall be in ſorow, and their memoriall ſhall periſh.

20 So they being afraide ſhall remember their ſinnes, and their owne wickednes ſhall come before them to conuince them.

CHAP. V.

1 The conſtantneſſe of the righteous before their perſecuters. 14 The hope of the vnfaithfull is vaine. 15 The bleſſednes of the Saints and Godly.

THen ſhall the righteous ſtande in great boldneſſe before the face of ſuch as haue tormented him, and taken away his labours.

2 When they ſee him, they ſhall bee vered with horrible feare, and ſhall be amaled for his wonderful deliuerance,

3 And ſhall change their mindes, and ſigh for griefe of minde, and ſay within themſelues, This is he whom we ſometime had in deriſion and in a parable of reproch.

4 * Wee fooles thought his life madneſſe, and his ende without honour.

*Chap.3.1.

5 How is he counted among the children of God, and his portion is among the Saints!

6 Therefore we haue erred from the way of trueth, and the light of righteouſneſſe hath ſhined vnto vs, and the ſunne of vnderſtanding roſe not vpon vs.

7 We haue wearied our ſelues in the way of wickednes and deſtruction, and wee haue gone through dangerous wayes: but we haue not knowen the way of the Lorde,

8 What hath pride profited vs? or what

hath the pompe of riches brought vs:

*1.Chron.29.15. iob.8.9. 9 All those things are *passed away like a shadow, and as a poste that passeth by:

10 As a ship that passeth ouer the waues of the water, which when it is gone by, the trace thereof cannot be found, neither the path of it in the floods:

*Pro.30.19. 11 Or as a *birde that flieth through the ayre, and no man can see any token of her passage, but onely heare the noyse of her wings beating the light winde, parting the ayre through the vehemence of her going, and fleeeth on shaking her wings, whereas afterward no token of her way can be found:

12 Or as when an arrowe is shotte at a marke, it parteth the ayre, which immediatly commeth together againe, so that a man cannot know where it went through.

13 Euen so we, assoone as we were borne, we began to draw to our end, and haue shewed no token of vertue, but are consumed in our owne wickednesse.

*Iob.8.9.&c.14. and 14.2. prou. 10.25. and 11.7. ioan.1.10,11. 14 For *the hope of the vngodly is like the dust that is blowen away with the winde, and like a thinne fome that is scattered abroade with the storme, and as the smoke, which is dispersed with the winde, & as the remembrance of him passeth, that tarieth but for a day.

15 But the righteous shall liue for euer: their rewarde also is with the Lorde, and the most High hath care of them.

16 Therefore shall they receiue a glorious kingdome, & a beautifull crowne of the Lords hande: for with his right hande shall hee couer them, and with his arme shal hee defend them.

17 He shal take his iealousie for armour, & shal arme the creatures to be reuenged of the enemies.

18 Hee shall put on righteousnesse for a brestplate, and take true iudgement in stead of an helmet.

19 He will take holinesse for an inuincible shielde.

20 Hee will sharpen his fierce wrath for a swoorde, and the worlde shall fight with him against the vnwise.

21 Then shal the thunderbolts go streight out of the lightenings, and shall flee to the marke as out of the bent bowe of the cloudes, and out of his anger that throweth stones, shall thicke haile be cast, and the water of the sea shal bee wroth against them, and the floods shall mightily ouerflow.

22 And a mightie winde shall stande vp against them, and like a storme shall scatter them abroad. Thus iniquitie shall lying all the earth to a wildernesse, and wickednesse shall ouerthrow the thrones of the mightie.

CHAP. VI.

The calling of Kings, Princes and Iudges, which are also exhorted to search wisdome.

HEare therefore, O ye Kings, and vnderstande: learne, yee that be Iudges of the endes of the earth.

2 Giue eare, yee that rule the multitudes, and glory in the multitude of the people,

*Rom.13.2. 3 For the rule *is giuen you of the Lorde, and power by the most High, which will trie your workes, & search out your imaginations.

4 Because that yee being officers of his kingdome haue not iudged aright, nor kept the Law, nor walked after the will of God,

5 Horrible and suddenly will hee appeare vnto you: for an harde iudgement shall they haue that beare rule.

6 For he that is most low is worthy mercy, but the mightie shalbe mightily tormented.

*Deut.10.17. 2.chro.19.7. iob 34.19.eccius. 35. 12.16.&c.10. rom.2.11.gal. 2.6.ephes.6.9. colos.3.25. 1.pet.1.17. 7 For hee that is Lorde ouer all, will spare no *person, neither shal he feare any greatnesse: for hee hath made the small and great, and careth for all alike.

8 But for the mightie abideth the surer triall.

9 Unto you therefore, O tyrants, doe I speake, that yee may learne wisedome, and not goe amisse.

10 For they that keepe holinesse holily, shall bee holy, and they that are learned there, shall finde a defence.

11 Wherefore set your delite vpon my wordes and desire them, & ye shalbe instructed.

12 Wisedome shineth and neuer fadeth away, and is easily seene of them that loue her, and found of such as seeke her, 13 Shee preuenteth them that desire her, that she may first shew her selfe vnto them.

14 Who so awaketh vnto her betimes, shal haue no great trauaile: for he shall finde her sitting at his doores.

15 To thinke vpon her then is perfite vnderstanding: and who so watcheth for her, shal be soone without care.

16 For she goeth about, seeking such as are meete for her, and sheweth herselfe cheerefully vnto them in the wayes, and meeteth them in euery thought.

17 For the most true desire of discipline is her beginning: & the care of discipline is loue:

18 And loue is the keeping of her lawes: and the keeping of the lawes is the assurance of immortalitie:

19 And immortalitie maketh vs neere vnto God.

20 Therefore the desire of wisedome leadeth to the kingdome.

21 If your delite bee then in thrones, and scepters, O kings of the people, honour wisedome that ye may reigne for euer.

22 Nowe I will tell you what wisdome is, and whence it cometh, & will not hide the mysteries from you, but will seeke her out from the

the beginning of her nativitie, and bring the knowledge of her into light, and will not keepe backe the trueth.

23 Neither will I haue to doe with consuming enuy: for such a man shall not be partaker of wisedome.

24 But the multitude of the wise is the preseruation of the worlde, and a wise King is the stay of the people.

25 Be therefore instructed by my wordes, and ye shall haue profite.

CHAP. VII.

Wisedome ought to be preferred aboue all things.

I My selfe am also mortall and a man like all other, and am come of him that was first made of the earth.

2 And in my mothers wombe was I fashioned to bee flesh in tenne monethes: I was *brought together into blood of the seede of man, and by the pleasure that commeth with sleepe.

3 And when I was borne, I receiued the common ayre, and fell vpon the earth, which is of like nature, crying and weeping at the first as all other doe.

4 I was nourished in swadling clothes, and with cares.

5 For there is no King that had any other beginning of birth.

6 All *men then haue one entrance vnto life, and a like going out.

7 Wherefore I prayed, and vnderstanding was giuen me: I called, and the spirit of wisdome came vnto me.

8 I preferred her to sceptres & thrones, and counted riches nothing in comparison of her.

9 *Neither did I compare precious stones vnto her: for all golde is but a litle grauell in respect of her, and siluer shall be counted but clay before her.

10 I loued her aboue health and beautie, and purposed to take her for my light: for her light cannot be quenched.

11 All* good things therefore came to me together with her, and innumerable riches through her hands.

12 So I was glad in all: for wisedome was the author thereof, and I knew not that she was the mother of these things.

13 And I learned vnfainedly, & communicate without enuy, and I do not hide her riches.

14 For shee is an infinite treasure vnto men, which who so vse, become partakers of the loue of the God, and are accepted for the gifts of knowledge.

15 God hath graunted me to speake according to my minde, and to iudge worthily of the things that are giuen me: for he is the leader vnto wisedome, and the directer of the wise.

16 For in his hande are both wee and our wordes, and all wisedome and the knowledge of the workes,

17 For he hath giuen me the true knowledge of the things that are, so that I knowe how the worlde was made, and the powers of the elements, 18 The beginning and the ende, and the mids of the times: howe the riuers alter, and the change of the seasons.

19 The course of the yere, the situation of the starres, 20 The nature of liuing things, and the furiousnesse of beasts, the power of the winds, and the imaginations of men, the deuersities of plants, and the vertues of rootes.

21 And all things both secret and knowen doe I know: for wisedome the worker of all things, hath taught me it.

22 For in her is the Spirit of vnderstanding, which is holy, the onely begotten, manifold, subtil, moueable, cleare, vndefiled, euident, not hurtfull, louing the good, sharpe, which can not be letted, doing good,

23 Courteous, stable, sure, without care, hauing all power, circumspect in all things, and passing through all, intellectuall, pure and subtil spirits.

24 For wisedome is nimbler then all nimble things: she goeth throwe and atteineth to all things, because of her purenesse.

25 For shee is the breath of the power of God, and a pure influence that floweth from the glorie of the Almightie: therefore can no defiled thing come vnto her.

26 For* she is the brightnesse of the euerlasting light, and the vndefiled mirrour of the maiestie of God, and the image of his goodnes. *Heb.1.3.

27 And being one, shee can doe all things, and remaining in her selfe, renueth all, and according to the ages shee entreth into the holy soules, and maketh them the friendes of God and Prophets.

28 For God loueth none, if hee dwell not with wisdome.

29 For she is more beautiful thē the sunne, and is aboue all the order of the starres, and the light is not to be compared vnto her.

30 For night commeth vpō it, but wickednesse cannot ouercome wisedome.

CHAP. VIII.

The effects of wisedome.

SHe also reacheth from one ende to another mightily, and comely doth shee order all things.

2 I haue loued her, and sought her from my youth: I desired to marry her, such loue had I vnto her beautie.

3 In that she is conuersant with God, it commendeth her nobilitie: yea, the Lord of all things loueth her.

4 For

*Job.10.10,11.

*Iob.1.21. Eccl.6.7.

*Iob.28.15.

*1.King.3.13. 2.Chro.1.12.

4 For she is the scholemistres of the knowledge of God, & the chooser out of his workes.

5 If riches be a possession to be desired in this life, what is richer then wisedome, that worketh all things?

6 For if prudencie worketh, what is it among all things that worketh better then she?

7 If a man loue righteousnesse, her labours are vertuous: for she teacheth sobernes and prudency, righteousnesse & strength, which are the most profitable things that men can haue in this life.

8 If a man desire great experience, she can tell the things that are past, & discerne things to come: she knoweth the subtilties of words, and the solutions of darke sentences: shee foreseeth the signes and wonders, or euer they come to passe, and the successe of seasons and times.

9 Therefore I purposed to take her vnto my companie, knowing that she would counsell me good things, and comfort mee in cares and griefes.

10 For her sake shall I haue glory among the multitude, and honour among the Elders though I be yong.

11 I shall bee found of sharpe iudgement, so that I shall bee marueilous in the sight of great men.

12 When I holde my tongue, they shall abide my leysure: when I speake, they shall heare diligently, and if I talke much, they shall lay their hands vpon their mouth.

13 Moreoner, by her I shall obtaine immortalitie, and leaue an euerlasting memorial among them that come after me.

14 I shall gouerne the people, and the nations shall be subdued vnto me.

15 Horrible tyrants shall bee afraide when they heare me: among the multitude I shall be counted good, and mightie in battell.

16 When I come home, I shall rest with her: for her companie hath no bitternesse, and her fellowship hath no tediousnes, but mirth and ioy.

17 Now when I considered these things by my selfe, and pondred them in my heart, howe that to bee ioyned vnto wisedome is immortalitie, 18 And great pleasure is in her friendship, and that in the workes of her hands are infinite riches, and that in the exercise of talking with her is prudency, and glory by communing with her, I went about, seeking how I might take her vnto me.

19 For I was a wittie childe, and was of a good spirit.

20 Yea, rather being good, I cam to an vndefiled body.

21 Neuertheless, when I perceiued that I could not inioy her except God gaue her (and that was a point of wisedome also, to knowe whose gift it was) I went vnto the Lorde, and besought him and with my whole hearte, I sayd,

CHAP. IX.

A prayer of Solomon to obteine wisedome.

O God of fathers, and Lord of mercy, which hast made all things with thy word,

2 And ordeined man through thy wisdome, that he should haue * dominion ouer the creatures which thou hast made, *Gene.1.1,28.

3 And gouerne the worlde according to equitie and righteousnesse, and execute iudgement with an vpright heart:

4 * Giue me that wisedome, which sitteth by thy throne, and put me not out from among thy children. *1.King.3.9.

5 For I * thy seruant, and sonne of thine handmayde, am a feeble person, and of a short time, and yet lesse in the vnderstanding of iudgment and the lawes. *Psal.116.16.

6 And though a man be neuer so perfect among the children of men, yet if thy wisedome be not with him, hee shall be nothing regarded.

7 * Thou hast chosen mee to bee a King of thy people, and the iudge of thy sonnes and daughters. *1.Chro.28.5. 2.chro.1.1.

8 Thou hast commanded me to build a temple vpon thine holy Mount, and an altar in the citie wherein thou dwellest, a likenesse of thine holy Tabernacle, which thou hast prepared from the beginning.

9 And thy * wisedome with thee, which knoweth thy workes, which also was when thou madest the world, and which knew what was acceptable in thy sight, and right in thy commandements. *Prou.8.22. ioh.1.1.

10 Sende her out of thine holy heauens, and sende her from the throne of thy maiestie, that shee may bee with mee, and labour, that I may know what is acceptable in thy sight.

11 For she knoweth and vnderstandeth all things, and shee shall leade me soberly in my workes and preserue me by her glory.

12 So shall my workes be acceptable, and then shall I gouerne thy people righteously, and be meete for my fathers throne.

13 For * what man is he that can knowe the counsell of God? or who can thinke what the will of God is? *Isa.40.13. rom.11.34. 1.cor.2.16.

14 For the thoughts of mortall men are fearefull, and our forecasts are vncertaine.

15 Because a corruptible body is heauie vnto the soule, and the earthly mansion keepeth downe the minde that is full of cares.

16 And hardly can wee discerne the things that are vpon earth, and with great labour finde wee out the things which are before vs: who can can then seek out the things that are in heauē?

17 Who can know thy counsel, except thou giue him wisedome, and send thine holy Spirit from aboue?

18 For so the wayes of them which are vpon earth are reformed, and men are taught the things that are pleasant vnto thee, and are preserued through wisedome.

CHAP. X.

The deliuerance of the righteous and destruction of the enemies commeth through wisedome.

She preserued the first father of the worlde, that was formed, and kept him when hee was created alone, and brought him out of his offence,

2 And * gaue him power to rule all things,

3 * But the vnrighteous in his wrath departed from her, and perished by killing his brother in his furie.

4 For whose cause the * earth was ouerflowen, but wisedome preserued it againe, gouerning the iust man by a litle wood.

5 Moreouer, * when the nations were ioyning in their malicious confederacies, she knew the righteous, and preserued him faultlesse vnto God, and ‖ kept him sure because she loued him tenderly as a sonne.

6 She preserued the righteous, * when the vngodly perished, when hee fled from the fire that fell downe vpon the fiue cities.

7 Of whose wickednesse the wast land that smoketh, yet giueth testimonie, and the trees that beare fruite that neuer commeth to ripenesse: and for a remembrance of the vnfaithful soule, there standeth a pillar of salt.

8 For all such as regarde not wisedome, had not onely this hurt, that they knew not the things which were good, but also left behinde them vnto men a memoriall of their foolishnesse, so that in the things wherein they sinned, they cannot lie hid.

9 But wisedome deliuered them that serued her.

10 * When the righteous fled because of his brothers wrath she led him the right way, shewed him the kingdome of God, gaue him knowledge of holy things, made him rich in his labours, and made his paines profitable.

11 Against the couetousnes of such as defrauded him, she stood by him & made him rich.

12 She saued him from the enemies, and defended him from them that lay in waite, and she gaue him the prize in a mightie battell, that hee might know that the feare of God is stronger then all things.

13 * When the righteous was sold, she forsooke him not, but deliuered him from sinne: she went downe with him into the dungeon,

14 And failed him not in the bands, till she had brought him the sceptre of the realme, and power against those that oppressed him, and them that had accused him, she declared to bee liars, and gaue him perpetuall glorie.

15 * She deliuered the righteous people and faultlesse seede from the nations that oppressed them.

16 She entred into the soule of the seruāt of the Lord, and stood * by him in wonders and signes against the terrible kings.

17 She gaue the Saintes the rewarde of their labours, and led them forth a maruelous way: on the day time she was a shadowe vnto them, and a light of starres in the night.

18 * Shee brought them thorow the red sea, and carried them through the great water, 19 But shee drowned their enemies, and brought them out of the bottome of the deepe.

20 So the righteous tooke the spoyles of the vngodly, * and prayed thine holy Name, O Lorde, and magnified thy victorious hand with one accord.

21 For wisedome openeth the mouth of the dumbe, and maketh the tongues of babes eloquent.

CHAP. XI.

1 The miracles done for Israel. 13 The vengeance of sinners. 28 The great power and mercie of God.

She prospered their workes in the handes of thine holy Prophet.

2 * They went through the wildernesse that was not inhabited, and pitched their tents in places where there lay no way.

3 * They stood against their enemies, and were auenged of their aduersaries.

4 * When they were thirstie, they called vpon thee, and water was giuen them out of the hie rocke, and their thirst was quenched out of the hard stone.

5 For by the things whereby their enemies were punished, by the same were the Israelites helped in their neede.

6 For in the steade of a fountaine of running water, the enemies were troubled at the corrupt blood, which was to rebuke the commandement of the killing of the children, but thou gauest vnto thine own abundance of water vnlooked for,

7 Declaring by the thirst that was at that time * how thou hadst punished thine aduersaries.

8 For when they were tried and chastised with mercy, they knew how the vngodly were iudged and punished in wrath.

9 For these hast thou exhorted as a father, and proued them: but thou hast condemned the other as a righteous King, when thou didst examine them.

10 Whether they were absent or present their punishment was alike: for their griefe was double with mourning, and the remembrance yzance of things past.

11 For when they perceiued that through their torments good came vnto them, they felt the Lord.

12 And seeing the things that came to passe, at the least they wondered at him, whom afore they had cast out, denied and derided: for they had another thirst then the iust.

13 Because of the foolish deuices of their wickednesse wherewith they were deceiued, and worshipped * serpentes, that had not the vse of reason, and vile beastes, thou sendedst a multitude of vnreasonable beastes vpon them for a vengeance, that they might knowe, that where with a man sinneth, by the same also shall he be punished.

*Chap.11.24. ma.1.23.

14 For vnto thine almightie hand, that made the worlde of *nought, it was not vnpossible to sende among them a multitude of *beares or fierce lyons.

*Gen.1.1.

*Leui.26.22. ieu.5.16.17. chap.16.1.

15 Or furious beastes newly created, and vnknowen, which shoulde breath out blastes of fire, and cast out smoke as a tempest, or shoote horrible sparkes like lightnings out of their eyes.

16 Which might not onely destroy them with hurting, but also kill them with their horrible sight.

17 Yea, without these might they haue bene cast downe with one winde, being persecuted by the vengeance, and scattered abroade through the power of thy Spirite: but thou hast ordered all things in measure, number, and weight.

18 For thou hast euer had great strength and might, and who can withstand the power of thine arme?

19 For as the smal thing that the ballance weigheth, so is the worlde before thee, and as a drop of the morning dewe, that falleth downe vpon the earth.

20 But thou hast mercy vpon all: for thou hast power of all things, and makest as though thou sawest not the sinnes of men, because they should amend.

21 For thou louest all the things that are, and hatest none of them whome thou hast made: for thou wouldest haue created nothing that thou hadst hated.

22 And how might any thing endure, if it were not thy will? or how could any thing be preserued, except it were called of thee?

23 But thou sparest all: for they are thine, O Lord, which art the louer of soules.

CHAP. XII.

2 The mercie of God toward sinners. 14 The workes of God are vnrepreuable. 19 God giueth leisure to repent.

FOr thine incorruptible spirite is in all things.

2 Therefore thou chastenest them meanerably that goe wrong, and warnest them by putting them in remembrance of the things wherein they haue offended, that leauing wickednesse, they may beleeue in thee, O Lord.

3 *As for those olde inhabitants of the holy land, thou diddest hate them. *Deut.9.3.12.31 and 18.12.

4 For they committed abominable workes, as sorceries and wicked sacrifices,

5 And slaying of their owne children without mercie, and eating of the bowels of mans flesh in banketting, where the raging Priestes shed abominable blood.

6 And the fathers were § chiefe murtherers of the soules, destitute of all helpe, whom thou wouldest destroy by the hands of our fathers,

7 That the land which thou loued aboue all other, might be a meete dwelling for the children of God.

8 *Neuertheselle, thou sparedst them also as men, and sendedst the forerunners of thine hoste, euen hornets to destroy them by little and little. *Exod.23.28. deut.7.22.

9 Not that thou wast vnable to subdue the vngodly vnto the righteous in battell, or with cruell beastes, or with one rough word to destroy them together.

10 But in punishing them by little and little, thou gauest them space to repent, knowing well, that it was an vnrighteous nation, and wicked of nature, & that their thought could neuer be altered.

11 For it was a cursed seede from the beginning: yet hast thou not spared them when they sinned, because thou fearedst any man.

12 For who dare say, * What hast thou done? or who dare stand against thy iudgement? or who dare accuse thee for the nations that perish, whom thou hast made? or who dare stand against thee to reuenge the wicked men? *Rom.9.20.

13 For there is none other God but thou, * that carest for all things, that thou mayest declare how that thy iudgement is not vnright. *1.Pet.5.7.

14 There dare neither king nor tyrant in thy sight require accounts of them whome thou hast punished.

15 For so much then as thou art righteous thy selfe, thou ordereste all things righteously, * thinking it not agreeable to thy power to condemne him, that hath not deserued to be punished. *Iob.34.18.

16 For thy power is the beginning of righteousnesse, and because thou art Lorde of all things, it causeth thee to spare all things.

17 When men thinke thee not to bee of a perfite power, thou declarest thy power, and reprouest the boldnesse of the wise.

18 But thou ruling the power, iudgest with equitie, and gouernest vs with great fauour: for thou mayest shewe thy power when thou wilt.

19 By such workes now hast thou taught thy people, that a man shoulde be iust and louing, and hast made thy children to be of a good hope: for thou giuest repentance to sinners.

20 For if thou hast punished the enemies of thy children that had deserued death with so great consideration, and requesting vnto them, giuing them time and place that they might change from their wickednesse.

21 With how great circumspection wilt thou punish thine owne children, vnto whose fathers thou hast sworne and made couenants of good promises?

22 So when thou doest chasten vs, thou punishest our enemies a thousand times more, to the intent that when we iudge, we should diligently consider thy goodnesse, and when wee are iudged, we should hope for mercie.

23 Wherefore thou hast tormented the wicked that haue liued a dissolute life by their owne imaginations.

*Chap.11.13,16 rom.1,23. 24 *For they went astray very farre in the wayes of errour, and esteemed the beasts, which their enemies despised, for gods, being abused after the manner of children, that haue none vnderstanding.

25 Therefore hast thou sent this punishment that they shoulde bee in derision as children without reason.

26 But they that will not be reformed by those scornefull rebukes, shal feele the worthy punishment of God.

27 For in those things when they suffred, they disdained: but in these whom they counted godly, when they sawe themselues punished by them, they all acknowledged the true God whome afore they had denied to know: therefore came extreme damnation vpon them.

CHAP. XIII.

1 All things be vaine except the knowledge of God. 10 Idolaters and idoles are mocked.

*Rom.1.19. SUrely all men are vaine by nature, and are ignorant of God, * and coulde not knowe him that is, by the good things that are seene, neyther consider by the workes, the worke master.

*Deut.4.19. and 17.3. 2 *But they thought the fire, or the wind or the swift aire, or the course of the starres, or the raging water, or the lightes of heauen to be gouernours of the world, and gods.

3 Though they had such pleasure in their beautie that they thought them gods, yet shoulde they haue knowen, howe much more excellent hee is that made them: for the first authour of beautie hath created these things.

4 Or if they marueyled at the power, and operation of them, yet shoulde they haue perceiued thereby, how much he that made these things, is mightier.

5 For by the greatnesse of their beautie, and of the creatures, the Creator being compared with them, may be considered.

6 But yet the blame is lesse in these, that seeke God and woulde finde him, and yet peraduenture doe erre.

7 For * they goe about by his workes to seeke him, and are perswaded by the sight, because the things are beautifull that are seene. *Rom.1,21.

8 Howbeit they are not to be excused.

9 For if they can know so much, that they can discerne the worlde, why doe they not rather finde out the Lord thereof?

10 But miserable are they, and among the dead is their hope, that call them gods, which are the workes of mens handes, golde, and siluer, and the thing that is inuented by arte, and the similitude of beastes, or any vaine stone that hath beene made by the hand of antiquitie.

*Isa.44.13. ierie,10.3. 11 *Or as when a carpenter cutteth down a tree meete for the worker, and pareth off all the barke thereof cunningly, and by arte maketh a vessell profitable for the vse of life.

12 And the things that are cut off from his worke, he bestoweth to dresse his meate to fill himselfe,

13 And that which is left of these things, which is profitable for nothing (for it is a crooked piece of wood and full of knobbes) hee carueth it diligently at his leasure, and according as he is expert in cunning, hee giueth it a proportion, and facioneth it after the similitude of a man, 14 Or maketh it like some vile beast, and straketh it ouer with red, and painteth it, and couereth euery spotte that is in it.

15 And when hee hath made a conuenient tabernacle for it, he setteth it in a wall, and maketh it fast with yron, 16 Prouiding so for it, lest it fall: for hee knoweth that it cannot helpe it selfe, because it is an image, which hath neede of helpe.

17 Then he prayeth for his goods, and for his marriage, and for his children: hee is not ashamed to speake vnto it, that hath no life.

18 Hee calleth on him that is weake for health: hee prayeth vnto him that is dead for life: hee requireth him of helpe that hath no experience at all.

19 And for his iourney, him that is not able to goe, and for gaine, and worke, and successe of his affaires hee requireth furtherance of him, that hath no maner of power.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The detestation and abominations of images, 8 A curse of them, and of him that maketh them. 14 Whereof idolatrie proceeded. 23 What euils come of idolatrie.

AGaine, another man purposing to saile, and intending to passe thorowe the raging ging waues, calleth vpon a ſtocke moꝛe rotten then the ſhip that carieth him.

‖ Or, ſhip. 2 Foꝛ as foꝛ ‖ it, couetouſneſſe of money hath foũde it out, and the crafteſman made it by cunning.

*Exod.14.20. 3 But thy pꝛouidence, O Father, gouerneth it: * foꝛ thou haſt made a way, euen in the ſea, and a ſure path among the waues, 4 Declaring thereby, that thou haſt power to helpe in all things, yea, though a man went to the ſea without meanes.

5 Neuertheleſſe thou wouldeſt not, that the woꝛkes of thy wiſedome ſhoulde be vaine, and therefoꝛe doe men commit their liues to a ſmall piece of wood, and paſſe ouer the ſtoꝛmie ſea in a ſhip, and are ſaued.

*Gen.6.4, and 7.10. 6 * Foꝛ in the olde time alſo when the pꝛoude giants periſhed, the hope of the woꝛld went into a ſhip which was gouerned by thine hand, and ſo left ſeede of generation vnto the woꝛld.

7 Foꝛ bleſſed is the tree whereby righteouſneſſe commeth.

*Pſal.115.8. baruc.6.3. 8 But that is curſed that is made with handes, * both it, and hee that made it: he becauſe hee made it, and it being a coꝛruptible thing, becauſe it was called God.

*Pſal.5.5. 9 * Foꝛ the vngodly, and his vngodlineſſe are both like hated of God: ſo truely the woꝛke and hee that made it, ſhall bee punished together.

*Ierem.10.8. habak.2.18. 10 Therefoꝛe ſhall there be a viſitation foꝛ the idoles of the nations: foꝛ of the creatures of God they are become abomination, * and ſtumbling blockes vnto the ſoules of men, and a ſnare foꝛ the feete of the vnwiſe.

11 Foꝛ the inuenting of idoles was the beginning of whoꝛedome, and the finding of them is the coꝛruption of life.

12 Foꝛ they were not from the beginning, neither ſhall they continue foꝛ euer.

13 The vaine gloꝛie of men bꝛought them into the woꝛld: therefoꝛe ſhal they come ſhoꝛtly to an end.

14 When a father mourned grieuouſly foꝛ his ſonne that was taken away ſuddenly, hee made an image foꝛ him that was once dead, whome now hee woꝛſhippeth as a god, and oꝛdeined to his ſeruants ceremonies & ſacrifices.

15 Thus by pꝛoces of time this wicked cuſtome pꝛeuailed, and was kept as a lawe, and idoles were woꝛſhipped by the commandement of tyꝛants.

16 As foꝛ thoſe that are ſo farre off that men might not woꝛſhip them pꝛeſently, they did counterfeite the viſage that was farre off, and made a goꝛgeous image of a King, whom they woulde honour, that they might by all meanes flatter him that was abſent, as though he had bene pꝛeſent.

17 Againe the ambition of the craftesmen thꝛuſt foꝛward the ignoꝛant to increaſe the ſuperſtition.

18 Foꝛ he peraduenture willing to pleaſe a noble man, laboured with all his cunning to make the image of the beſt faſhion.

19 And ſo thoꝛow the beautie of the woꝛke the multitude was allured, and ſo tooke him now foꝛ a God, which a little afoꝛe was but honoured as a man,

20 And this was the deceiuing of mans life, when men, being in ſeruitude, thꝛough calamitie and tyꝛannie aſcribed vnto ſtones and ſtockes the name, which ought not to bee communicate vnto any.

21 Moꝛeouer, this was not inough foꝛ them that they erred in the knowledge of God: but where as they liued in great warres of ignoꝛance, thoſe ſo great plagues called they peace.

*Deut.18.10. ierem.7.9. and 19.4. 22 Foꝛ either * they ſlewe their owne chilꝛen in ſacrifice, oꝛ vſed ſecrete ceremonies, oꝛ raging diſſoluteneſſe by ſtrange rites, 23 And ſo kept neither life noꝛ marriage cleane: but either one ſlewe another by treaſon, oꝛ els vexed him by adulterie.

24 So were all mixt together, blood and ſlaughter, theft and deceit, coꝛruption, vnthankefulneſſe, tumults, periurie, 25 Diſquieting of good men, vnthankefulneſſe, defiling of ſoules, changing of birth, diſoꝛder in marriage, adulterie and vncleanneſſe.

26 Foꝛ the woꝛſhipping of idoles that ought not to bee named, is the beginning and the cauſe and the ende of all euill.

27 Foꝛ either they be madde when they be merie, oꝛ pꝛophecie lies, oꝛ liue vngodly, oꝛ els lightly foꝛſweare themſelues.

28 Foꝛ in ſo much as their truſt is in the idoles, which haue no life, though they ſweare falſly, yet they thinke to haue no hurt.

29 Therefoꝛe foꝛ two cauſes ſhall they iuſtly bee punished, becauſe they haue an euill opinion of God, addicting themſelues vnto idoles, and becauſe they ſweare vniuſtly to deceiue, and deſpiſe holineſſe.

30 Foꝛ it is not the power of them by whom they ſweare, but the vengeance of them that ſinne, which puniſheth alwayes the offence of the vngodly.

CHAP. XV.

The voyce of the faithfull, prayſing the mercie of God, by whoſe grace they ſerue not idoles.

BUt thou, O our God, art gracious and true, long ſuffering, and gouerneſt all things by mercie,

2 Though wee ſinne, yet are we thine: foꝛ we know thy power: but we ſinne not, knowing that we are counted thine.

3 Foꝛ to knowe thee, is perfect righteouſneſſe, and to knowe thy power is the roote of immortalitie.

4 For neyther hath the wicked inuention of men deceiued vs, nor the vnprofitable labour of the painters, nor an image spotted with diuers colours.

5 Whose sight stirreth vp the desire of the ignorant: so that hee coueteth the forme that hath no life, of a dead image.

6 They that loue such wicked things are worthie to haue such things to trust to, and they that make them, and they that desire them, and they that worship them.

*Rom.9.21. 7 The * potter also tempereth soft earth, and facioneth euery vessell with labour to our vse: but of the same clay hee maketh both the vessels, that serue to cleane vses, and the contrary likewise: but where to euery vessell serueth, the potter is the iudge.

8 So by his wicked labour hee maketh a vaine God of the same clay: euen hee, which a little afore was made of earth himselfe, and within a litle while after goeth thither againe

*Luke 12.20. whence hee was taken, * when hee shall make account for the lone of his life.

9 Notwithstanding hee careth not for the labour hee taketh, nor that his life is short, but hee striueth with the goldsmithes, and siluersmithes, and counterfeiteth the coppersmiths, and taketh it for an honour to make deceiueable things.

10 His heart is ashes, and his hope is more vile then earth, and his life is lesse worthie of honour then clay.

11 For hee knoweth not his owne maker, that gaue him his soule, that had power and breathed in him the breath of life.

12 But they count our life to be but a pastime, and our conuersation as a market, where there is gaine: for they say we ought to be getting on euery side, though it be by euil means.

13 Nowe hee that of earth maketh fraile vessels and images, knoweth himselfe to offend aboue all other.

14 All the enemies of the people, that hold them in subiection, are most vnwise, and more miserable then very fooles.

15 For they iudge all the idoles of the nations to bee gods, which neyther haue eyesight to see, nor noses to smell, nor eares to heare, nor fingers of hands to grope, and their feete are slow to goe.

16 For man made them, and hee that hath but a borowed spirite, fashioned them: but no man can make a God like vnto himselfe.

17 For seeing hee is but mortall himselfe, it is but mortall that hee maketh with vnrighteous hands: hee himselfe is better then they whome hee worshippeth: for he liued, but they neuer liued.

18 Yea, they worshipped beasts also, which are their most enemies, and which are the worst, if they bee compared vnto others, because they haue none vnderstanding.

19 Neither haue they any beauty to be desired in respect of other beastes: for they are destitute of Gods prayse, and of his blessing.

CHAP. XVI.

The punishment of idolaters. 20 The benefites done vnto the faithfull.

THerefore by such things they are worthily punished and * tormented by the multitude of beasts. *Chap.11.13. numb.21.6.

2 In steade of the which punishment thou hast beene fauourable to thy people, and to satisfie their appetite, hast prepared a meate of a strange taste, euen * quailes, *Numb.11.31.

3 To the intent that they that desired meate, by thethings which were shewed and sent among them, might turne away their necessarie desire, and that they, which had suffered penurie for a space, shoulde also feele a new taste.

4 For it was requisite, that they which vsed tyrannie, shoulde fall into extreme pouertie, and that to these onely it should bee shewed, how their enemies were tormented.

5 * For when the cruell fiercenesse of the beastes came vpon them, and they were hurt with the stings of cruell serpents, *Numb.21.6. 1.cor.10.9.

6 The wrath indured not perpetually, but they were troubled for a little season, that they might be reformed, hauing a ‖ * signe of saluation, to remember the commaundement of thy Lawe. ‖The signe of the brasen serpent. *Numb.21.4.

7 For hee that turned toward it, was not healed by the thing that hee sawe, but by thee, O Sauiour of all.

8 So in this thou shewedst our enemies, that it is thou, which deliuerest from all euill.

9 *For the biting of grashoppers and flies killed them, and there was no remedie founde for their life: for they were worthie to be punished by such. *Exod.8.14.and 10.4.sap.9.7.

10 But the teeth of the venemous dragons could not ouercome thy children: for thy mercie came to helpe them, and healed them.

11 For they were pricked, because they shoulde remember thy wordes, and were speedily healed, lest they shoulde fall into so deepe forgetfulnesse, that they coulde not be called backe by thy benefite.

12 For neither herbe nor plaster healed them, but thy word, O Lord, which healeth all things.

13 For thou hast the power of life and death, * and leadest downe vnto the gates of hell, and bringest vp againe. *Deut.32.39. 1.sam.2.9. tob.13.2.

14 A man in deede by his wickednesse may slay another: but when the spirit is gone foorth, it turneth not againe, neither can hee call call againe the ſoule that is taken away.

15 But it is not poſſible to eſcape thine hand.

*Exod.9.23. 16 *For the vngodly that would not know thee, were punished by the ſtrength of thine arme, with ſtrange raine and with haile, and were purſued with tempeſt, that they coulde not auoyde, and were conſumed with fire.

17 For it was a wonderous thing that fire might doe more then water, which quencheth all things: but the worlde is the auenger of the righteous.

18 For ſometime was the fire ſo tame, that the beaſtes, which were ſent againſt the vngodly, burnt not: and that becauſe they ſhould ſee and knowe, that they were perſecuted with the punishment of God.

19 And ſometime burnt the fire in the middes of the water aboue the power of fire, that it might deſtroy the generation of the vniuſt land.

*Exod.16.14. num.11.7. pſal.78.25. ioh 6,31. 20 *In the ſteade whereof thou haſt fed thine owne people with Angels foode, and ſent them bread ready from heauen without their labour, which had aboundance of all pleaſures in it, and was meete for all taſts.

21 For thy ſuſtenance declared thy ſweetneſſe vnto thy children, which ſerued to the appetite of him that tooke it, and was meete to that that euery man would.

*Exod.9.23. 22 Moreouer the *ſnowe and yce abode the fire and melted not, that they might know, that the fire burning in the haile, and ſparkeling in the raine, deſtroyed the fruite of the enemies.

23 Againe it forgate his owne ſtrength, that the righteous might be nouriſhed.

24 For the creature that ſerueth thee which art the maker, is fierce in puniſhing the vnrighteous: but it is eaſie to doe good vnto ſuch as put their truſt in thee.

25 Therefore was it changed at the ſame time vnto all facions to ſerue thy grace, which nouriſheth all things, according to the deſire of them that had neede thereof,

*Deut.8.3. Matth.4.4. 26 That thy children whom thou loueſt, Lorde, might know, *that it is not the increaſe of fruits that feedeth men, but that it is thy word, which preſerueth them that truſt in thee.

27 For that which could not bee deſtroyed with the fire, being onely warmed a little with the ſunne beames, melted, 28 That it might bee knowen that wee ought to preuent the ſunne riſing to giue thankes vnto thee, and to ſalute thee before the day ſpring.

29 For the hope of the vnthankefull ſhall melt as the winter yce, and flowe away as vnprofitable waters.

CHAP. XVII.

The iudgement of God againſt the wicked.

FOr thy iudgements are great, and cannot be expreſſed: therefore men doe erre, that will not be reformed.

2 For when the vnrighteous thought to haue thine holy people in ſubiection, they were bounde with the bandes of darkeneſſe, and long night, and being ſhut vp vnder the roofe, did lie there to eſcape the euerlaſting prouidence.

3 And while they thought to bee hid in their darke ſinnes, they were ſcattered abroade in the darke couering of forgetfulneſſe, fearing horribly and troubled with viſions.

4 For the denne that hid them, kept them not from feare: but the ſoundes that were about them, troubled them, and terrible viſions and ſorowfull ſights did appeare.

5 No power of the fire might giue light, neither might the cleare flames of the ſtarres lighten the horrible night.

6 For there appeared vnto them onely a ſudden fire, very dreadfull: ſo that being afraid of this viſion, ‖ which they could not ſee, they thought the things, which they ſawe, to be worſe. ‖That is, the mightie viſion.

*Exod.7.12, and 8.7,19. 7 *And the illuſions of the magicall artes were brought downe, & it was a moſt ſhameful reproch for ỹ boaſting of their knowledge.

8 For they that promiſed to driue away feare and trouble from the ſicke perſon, were ſicke for feare, and worthy to be laughed at.

9 And though no fearefull thing did feare them, yet were they afraide at the beaſtes which paſſed by them, and at the hiſſing of the ſerpents: ſo that they died for feare, and ſayd they ſawe not the ayre, which by no meanes can be auoyded.

10 For it is a fearefull thing, when malice is condemned by her owne teſtimonie: and a conſcience that is touched, doeth euer forecaſt cruell things.

11 For feare is nothing els but a betraying of the ſuccours, which reaſon offreth.

12 And the leſſe that the hope is within, the more doeth hee eſteeme the ignorance of the thing, that tormenteth him, great.

13 But they that did endure the night that was intollerable, and that came out of the dungeon of hell, which is inſupportable, ſlept the ſame ſleepe, 14 And ſometimes were troubled with monſterous viſions, and ſometime they ſwooned, as though their owne ſoule ſhould betray them: for a ſudden feare not looked for, came vpon them.

15 And thus, whoſoeuer fell downe, he was kept and ſhut in priſon, but without chaines.

16 For whether he was an huſbandman, or shepheard, or one that is set to worke alone, if he were taken, hee must suffer his necessitie, that he could not auoyde:

17 (For with one chaine of darkenesse were they al bound) whether it were an hissing winde, or a sweete song of the birdes among the thicke branches of the trees, or the vehemencie of hastie running water,

18 Or a great noyse of the falling downe of stones, or the running of skipping beastes, that could not bee seene, or the noyse of cruell beastes, that roared, or the ‖ sound that answereth againe in the hollow mountaines: these fearefull things made them to swoone.

Or, Echo.

19 For all the worlde shined with cleare light, and no man was hindred in his labour.

20 Onely vpon them there fell an heauie night, an image of that darkenesse that was come vpon them: yea, they were vnto themselues more grieuous then darkenesse.

CHAP. XVIII.

3 The fierie pillar that the Israelites had in Egypt. 8 The deliuerance of the faithful. 10 The Lord smote the Egyptians. 20 The sinne of the people in the wildernesse. 21 Aaron stood betweene the liuing & the dead with his censer.

*Exod. 10.23. ‖Or, the Egyptians.

BUt thy Saints had a very great * light, whose voice because ‖ they heard, and saw not the figure of them, they thought them blessed, because they also had not suffered the like.

2 And because they did not hurt them, which did hurt them afore, they thanked them, and asked pardon for their enimitie, *Exod. 13.21, & 14.24. psal. 78. 14, & 105.39.

3 * Therefore thou gauest them a burning pillar of fire to leade them in the vnknowen way, and madest the sunne that it hurted not them in their honourable iourney.

4 But they were worthy to be deprsiued of the light, and to bee kept in darkenesse, which had kept thy children shut vp, by whome the incorrupt light of the Lawe should be giuen to the world.

*Exod. 1.16.

5 * Whereas they thought to slay the babes of the Saints, by one childe that was cast out, and preserued to reproue them, thou hast taken away the multitude of their children, & destroied them all together in the mightie water.

6 Of that night were our fathers certified afore, that they knowing vnto what othes they had giuē credit, might be of good cheere.

*Exo. 14.24, 25.

7 Thus thy * people receiued the health of the righteous, but the enemies were destroied.

8 For as thou hast punished the enemies, so hast thou glorified vs whom thou hast called.

9 For the righteous children of the good men offred secretly, and made a Law of righteousnes by one consent, that the Saints should receiue good and euill in like maner, and that the fathers should first sing prayses.

10 But a disagreeing crie was heard of the enemies, and there was a lamentable noise for the children that were bewailed.

11 For the * master and the seruant were punished with like punishment, and the common people suffered alike with the King.

*Exod. 11. 5. and 12. 2.

12 So they all together had innumerable that died with one kinde of death: neither were the liuing sufficient to burie them: for in the twinckling of an eye the noblest offspring of them was destroyed.

13 So they that could beleeue nothing, because of the enchantments, confessed this people to bee the children of God, in the destruction of the first borne:

14 For while all these things were in quiet silence, and the night was in the middest of her swift course,

15 Thine Almightie worde leapt downe from heauen out of thy royall throne, as a fierce man of warre in the middes of the land that was destroyed,

16 And brought thine vnfained cōmandement as a sharpe sword, and stood vp and filled all things with death, and being come downe to the earth, it reached vnto the heauens.

17 Then the sight of the fearefull dreames vexed them suddenly, and fearefulnesse came vpon them vnawares, 18 Then lay there one here, another there halfe dead, and shewed the cause of his death.

19 For the visions that vexed them, shewed them these things afore: so that they were not ignorant, wherefore they perished.

20 Nowe tentation of death touched the righteous also, and * among the multitude in the wildernesse there was a plague, but the wrath indured not long.

*Num. 16.46.

21 For the blamelesse man made haste, and defended them, & tooke the weapons of his ministration, euen prayer, and the reconciliation by the perfume, and set himselfe against the wrath, and so brought the miserie to an ende, declaring that he was thy seruant.

22 For hee ouercame not the multitude with bodily power, nor with force of weapons, but with the word hee subdued him that punished, alledging the othes and couenant made vnto the fathers.

23 For when the dead were fallen downe by heapes one vpon another, hee stoode in the mids, and cut off the wrath, and parted it from comming to the liuing.

24 * For in the long garment was all the ornament, and in the foure rowes of the stones was the glory of the fathers grauen with thy maiestie in the diademe of his head.

*Exo. 28.6, 11.

25 Unto these the destroyer gaue place, and was afraide of them: for it was sufficient, that they had tasted the wrath.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The death of the Egyptians, and the great ioy of the Hebrewes. 11 The meate that was giuen at the desire of the people. 17 All the enemies serue to the will of God.

As

AS for the vngodly, the wrath came vpon them without mercie vnto the ende: for he knew what should come vnto them,

2 That they (when they had consented to let them goe, and had sent them out with diligence) would repent, and pursue them.

3 For while yet sorowe was before them, and they lamented by the graues of the dead, they deuised another foolishnesse, so that they persecuted them in their fleeing, whome they had [a] cast out afore with prayer.

[a] That is, the children of Israel whom they before had desired and prayed vp their way.

4 For the destenie whereof they were worthy, brought them to this ende, and caused them to forget the things that had come to passe, that they might accomplish the punishment, which remained by torments,

5 Both that thy people might trie a marueilous passage, and that these might finde a strange death.

6 For euery creature in his kinde was facioned of newe, and serued in their owne offices enioyned them, that thy children might bee kept without hurt.

7 For the cloude ouershadowed their tents, and the dry earth appeared, where afore was water: so that in the red sea there was a way without impediment, and the great deepe became a greene fielde.

8 Through the which all the people went that were defended with thine hand, seeing thy wonderous maruelles.

‖Or, were fed. 9 For they ‖neyed like horses, and leaped like lambes, praysing thee, O Lorde, which haddest deliuered them.

10 For they were yet mindefull of those things which were done in the lande where they dwelt, howe the grounde brought foorth flies, in stead of cattel, and how the riuer scrauled with the multitude of frogges in steade of fishes.

*Exod. 16, 13. num. 11, 31, 11 *But at the last they sawe a newe generation of birds, when they were intised with lust, and desired delicate meates.

*Chap. 16.2. 12 *For the quailes came foorth of the sea vnto them for comfort, but punishments came vpon the ‖sinners not without signes that were giuen by great thundrings: for they suffered worthily according to their wickednesse, because they shewed a cruel hatred towarde strangers. ‖Or, Egyptians.

13 For the one sort woulde not receiue them when they were present, because they knewe them not: the other sort brought the straungers into bondage that had done them good.

14 Beside al these things some would not suffer, that any regarde should be had of them: for they handled the strangers despitefully.

15 Others that had receiued them with great banquetting, and admitted them to bee partakers of the same lawes, did afflict them with great labours.

16 Therefore they were striken with blindenesse, as in old time certaine were at the doores of *the righteous, so that euery one being compassed with darkenesse, sought the entrance of his doore. *Gene. 19. 11.

17 Thus the elements agreed among themselues in this change, as when one tune is changed vpon an instrument of musicke, and the melodie still remaineth, which may easily be perceiued by the sight of the things that are come to passe.

18 For the things of the earth were changed into things of the water, and the things that did swimme went vpon the ground.

19 The fire had power in the water contrary vnto his owne vertue, and the water forgate his owne kinde to quench.

20 Againe, the flames did not hurt the flesh of the corruptible beastes that walked therein, neither melted they that which seemed to bee byce, and was of a nature that would melt, and yet was an immortall meate. b Hemaneth Man, looke Exod. 16. 14, 15. and Num. 11. 7.

21 For in all things, O Lorde, thou hast magnified and glorified thy people, and hast not despised to assist them in euery time and place.

THE WISDOME OF Iesus the sonne of Sirach, called Ecclesiasticus.

This Argument was found in a certaine Greeke copie.

THis Iesus was the sonne of Sirach, and Sirachs father was also called Iesus, and hee liued in the latter times, after the people had bene ledde away captiue, and brought home againe, and almost after all the Prophets. Now his grandfather, as he himselfe witnesseth, was a man of great diligence, and wisdome among the Hebrewes, who did not onely gather the graue sentences of wise men, that had bene before him, but he himselfe also spake many full of great knowledge and wisdome. So this first Iesus dyed, and left this which he had gathered, and Sirach afterwarde left it to Iesus his sonne, who tooke it and put it in order in a booke, and called it WISDOME, intituling it both by his owne name, his fathers name, and his grandfathers: thinking by this title of Wisdome to allure the reader to reade this booke with more great desire, and to consider it more diligently. Therefore this booke conteineth wise sayings, and darke sentences, similitudes with certaine diuine histories which are notable and ancient, euen of men that were approued of God, and certaine prayers, and songs of the author himselfe: moreouer, what benefites the Lorde had bestowed ſtowed vpon his people, and what plagues he had heaped vpon their enemies. This Ieſus did imitate Salomon, and was no leſſe famous in wiſdome and doctrine, who was therefore called a man of great knowledge, as he was indeed.

The Prologue of the Wiſdome of Ieſus the ſonne of Sirach.

WHere as many and great things haue bene giuen vs by the Law and the Prophets, and by others that haue followed them, (for the which things Iſrael ought to be commended by the reaſon of doctrine and wiſedome, whereby the readers ought not onely to become learned themſelues, but alſo may be able by the diligent ſtudie thereof to be profitable vnto ſtrangers, both by ſpeaking and writing) after that my grandfather Ieſus had giuen himſelfe to the reading of the Law and the Prophets, and other bookes of our fathers, and had gotten therein ſufficient iudgement, he purpoſed alſo to write ſomething perteining to learning and wiſdome, to the intent that they which were deſirous to learne, and would giue themſelues to theſe things, might profit much more in liuing according to the Law. Wherefore I exhort you to receiue it louingly, and to reade it with diligence, and to take it in good woorth, though we ſeeme to ſome in ſome things not able to atteine to the interpretation of ſuch words as are hard to be expreſſed: for the things that are ſpoken in the Hebrew tongue, haue another force in themſelues then when they are tranſlated into another tongue, and not onely theſe things, but other things alſo, as the Law it ſelfe, and the Prophets, and other bookes haue no ſmall difference when they are ſpoken in their owne language. Therefore in the eight and thirtieth yeere, when I came into Egypt vnder King Euergetes, and continued there, I found a copie full of great learning, and I thought it neceſſarie to beſtow my diligence and trauaile to interpret this booke. So for a certeine time with great watching and ſtudie I gaue my ſelfe to the finiſhing of this booke, that it might be publiſhed, that they which remaine in baniſhment, and are deſirous to learne, might applie themſelues vnto good maners, and liue according to the Law.

ALl wiſdome * commeth of the Loꝛde, [and hath bene euer with him] and is with him foꝛ euer.

2 Who can number the ſand of the ſea, and the dꝛops of the raine, and the dayes of the woꝛlde? [who can meaſure] the height of heauen, the bꝛedth of the earth, and the depth?

3 Who can finde the wiſedome [of God which hath bene befoꝛe all things?]

4 Wiſedome hath bene created befoꝛe all things, & the vnderſtanding of pꝛudence from euerlaſting.

5 [The woꝛd of God moſt high is the fountaine of wiſedome, and the euerlaſting commandements are the entrance vnto her.]

6 * Vnto whom hath the roote of wiſdome bene declared? oꝛ who hath knowen his wiſe counſels?

7 [Vnto whom hath the doctrine of wiſedome bene diſcouered and ſhewed? and who hath vnderſtoode the manifold entrance vnto her?]

8 There is one wiſe, [euen the moſt high Creatoꝛ of all things, the Almightie, the king of powꝛer] and very terrible, which ſitteth vpon his thꝛone.

9 He is the Loꝛd, that hath created her [thꝛoꝛow the holy Ghoſt:] he hath ſeene her, numbꝛed her, [and meaſured her.]

10 Hee hath powꝛed her out vpon all his woꝛkes, and vpon all fleſh, accoꝛding to his gift, and giueth her abundantly vnto them that loue him.

11 The feare of the Loꝛde is glꝛie, and gladneſſe, and reioycing, and a ioyfull crowne.

12 The feare of the Loꝛde maketh a merie heart, and giueth gladneſſe and ioy, and long life.

13 Who ſo feareth the Loꝛde, it ſhall goe well with him at the laſt, and he ſhall finde fauour in the day of his death.

14 [The loue of God is honourable wiſedome, and vnto whom it appeareth in a viſion, they loue it foꝛ the viſion, and foꝛ the knowledge of the great woꝛks thereof.]

15 * The feare of the Loꝛde is the beginning of wiſedome, and was made with the faithfull in the wombe: [ſhee goeth with the choſen women, and is knowen with the righteous and faithfull.

16 The feare of the Loꝛd is an holy knowledge.

17 Holineſſe ſhall pꝛeſerue, and iuſtifie the heart, and giueth mirth and gladneſſe.

18 Who ſo feareth the Loꝛde, ſhall pꝛoſper, and in the day of his end, hee ſhall be bleſſed.]

19 She hath built her euerlaſting foundations with men, and is giuen to be with their ſeed.

20 To feare God is the fulneſſe of wiſedome, and filleth men with her fruits.

21 She filleth her whole houſe with [all] things deſireable, and the garners with the things, that ſhee bꝛingeth foꝛth, and both twaine are gifts of God, 22 The feare of the Loꝛd is the crowne of wiſdome, and giueth peace and perfect health: he hath ſeene her, and numbꝛed her.

23 ‖ Shee raineth downe knowledge and vnderſtanding of wiſedome, and hath bꝛought vnto honour, them that poſſeſſed her.

24 The feare of the Loꝛd is the root of wiſdome, and her bꝛanches are long life.

‖ Or, Wiſdome.

26 The feare of ꝓ Lord driueth out sinne: and when she is present, she driueth away anger.

27 ¶ For wicked anger cannot be iustified: for his rashnesse in his anger shalbe his destruction.

28 A patient man will suffer for a time, and then shall he haue the reward of ioy.

29 He will hide his words for a time, and many mens lippes shall speake of his wisedome.

30 In the treasures of wisedome are the secrets of knowledge, but the sinner abhorreth the worship of God.

31 If thou desire wisedome, keep the commandements, and the Lord shall giue her vnto thee, [and will fill her treasures.]

32 For the feare of the Lord is wisedome and discipline: hee hath pleasure in faith and meekenesse, 33 Be not disobedient to the feare of the Lorde, and come not vnto him with a double heart.

34 ¶ Be not an hypocrite that men should speake of thee, but take heed what thou speakest.

35 Exalt not thy selfe, least thou fall and bring thy soule to dishonour, and so God discouer thy secrets, and cast thee downe in the middes of the congregation, because thou wouldest not receiue the true feare of God, and thine heart is full of deceite.

CHAP. II.

1 He exhorteth the seruants of God to righteousnesse, loue, vnderstanding, and patience, 11 To trust in the Lorde. 13 A curse vpon the that are faint hearted & impatient.

My sonne, if thou wilt come into the seruice of God, [stand fast in righteousnesse and feare, and] prepare thy soule to tentation.

2 Settle thine heare, and bee patient: [bowe downe thine eare, and receiue the words of vnderstanding,] and shrinke not away, when thou art assayled, [but waite vpon God patiently.]

3 Ioyne thy selfe vnto him, and depart not away, that thou mayest be increased at thy last ende.

4 Whatsoeuer commeth vnto thee, receiue it patiently, and bee patient in the change of thine affliction.

5 * For as golde [and siluer are] tryed in the fire, euen so are men acceptable in the fornace of aduersitie. *Wisd. 3.6. Ecclus. 27.5.

6 Beleeue in God and hee will helpe thee: order thy way aright, and trust in him: [holde fast his feare, and growe olde therein.]

7 Ye that feare the Lord, waite for his mercie: shrinke not away from him that yee fall not.

8 Ye that feare the Lord, beleeue him, and your reward shall not faile.

9 O yee that feare the Lorde, trust in good things, and in the euerlasting ioy and mercie.

10 [Ye that feare the Lorde, loue him, and your hearts shall be lightened.]

11 Consider the olde generations [of men, ye children,] and marke them wel: *was there euer any confounded, that put his trust in the Lord? or who hath continued in his feare, and was forsaken? or whome did hee euer despise, that called vpon him? *Psal. 37.25.

12 For God is gracious and merciful, and forgiueth sinnes, & saueth in the time of trouble, [and is a defender for all them that seeke him in the trueth.]

13 Woe vnto them that haue a ‖ fearefull heart, [and to the wicked lips] and to the faint hands, and to the sinner that goeth two *maner of wayes. ‖Or, double. *1. King. 18.21.

14 Woe vnto him that is faint hearted, for he beleeueth not: therefore shall he not be defended.

15 Woe vnto you that haue lost patience, [and haue forsaken the right wayes, and are turned backe into froward wayes] for what will ye doe when the Lord shall visite you?

16 They that feare the Lord, will not disobey his worde: and they that *loue him, will keepe his wayes. *Iohn 14.23, 24.

17 They that feare the Lord, will seeke out the things that are pleasant vnto him: and they that loue him, shall bee fulfilled with his lawe.

18 [They that feare the Lord, will prepare their hearts, and humble their soules in his sight.

19 They that feare the Lorde, keepe his commaundements, and will be patient till hee see them.

20 Saying, if wee doe not repent we shall fall into the hands of the Lord, and not into the hands of men.

21 Yet as his greatnes is, so is his mercy.

CHAP. III.

2 To our father and mother ought we to giue double honor 10 Of the blessing and curse of the father and mother. 22 No man ought ouer curiously to search out the secrets of God.

The children of wisedome are the Church of the righteous, and their obeying is obedience and loue.]

2 Heare your fathers iudgement, O children, and doe thereafter, that ye may be safe.

3 For the Lorde will haue the father honored of the children, and hath confirmed the authoritie of the mother ouer the children.

4 Who so honoureth his father, his sinnes shall bee forgiuen him, [and hee shall abstaine from them, and shall haue his daily desires.]

5 And

5 And he that honoureth his mother, is like one that gathereth treaſure.

6 Who ſo honoureth his father, ſhall haue ioy of his owne children, and when he maketh his prayer, he ſhall be heard.

7 He that honoureth his father, ſhall haue a long life, & he that is obedient vnto the Lord, ſhall comfort his mother.

8 He that feareth the Lorde, honoureth his parents, and doeth ſeruice vnto his parents, as vnto lordes.

10 For the bleſſing of the father eſtabliſheth the houſes of the children, and the mothers curſe rooteth out the foundations.

11 Reioyce not at the diſhonour of thy father: for it is not honour vnto thee, but ſhame.

12 Seeing that mans glorie commeth by his fathers honour, and the reproche of the mother is diſhonour to the children.

13 My ſonne, helpe thy father in his age, and grieue him not, as long as he liueth.

14 And if his vnderſtanding faile, haue patience with him, & deſpiſe him not when thou art in thy full ſtrength.

15 For the good intreatie of thy father ſhall not be forgotten, but it ſhall be a fortreſſe for thee againſt ſinnes, [and for thy mothers offence, thou ſhalt be recompenced with good, and it ſhall bee founded for thee in righteouſneſſe.]

16 And in the day of trouble thou ſhalt bee remembred: thy ſinnes alſo ſhall melt away as the yce in the faire weather.

17 He that forſaketh his father, ſhall come to ſhame, and he that angreth his mother, is curſed of God.

24 Be not curious in ſuperfluous things: for many things are ſhewed vnto thee aboue the capacitie of men.

25 The medling with ſuch hath beguiled many, and an euill opinion hath deceiued their iudgement.

26 Thou canſt not ſee without eyes: profeſſe not the knowledge therefore that thou haſt not.

27 A ſtubburne heart ſhall fare euill at the laſt day: and he that loueth danger, ſhal periſh therein.

28 An heart that goeth two wayes, ſhall not proſper: & he that is froward of heart, ſhal ſtumble therein.

29 An obſtinate heart ſhall bee laden with ſorowes: and the wicked man ſhall heape ſinne vpon ſinne.

30 The perſuaſion of the proude is without remedie, and his ſteps ſhall be plucked vp: for the plant of ſinne hath taken roote in him, [and he ſhall not be eſteemed.]

1 Almes muſt be done with gentlemeſſe. 12 The ſtudie of wiſedome and her fruit. 20 An exhortation to eſchewe euill, and to doe good.

MY ſonne, defraude not the *poore of his liuing, and make not the needy eyes to waite long. *Deut.15.7.

2 Make not an hungry ſoule ſorowful, neither vexe a man in his neceſſitie.

3 Trouble not the heart that is grieued, and defrre not the gift of the needie,

4 Refuſe not the prayer of one that is in trouble: * turne not away thy face from the poore. *Tob.4.7.

5 Turne not thine eyes aſide [in anger] from the poore, and giue him none occaſion to ſpeake euill of thee.

6 For if he curſe thee in the bitternes of his ſoule, his prayer ſhal be heard of him that made him.

7 Bee courteous vnto the companie [of poore, and humble thy ſoule vnto the Elder,] and bowe downe thine head to a man of worſhip.

8 Let it not grieue thee to bowe downe thine eare vnto the poore, [but pay thy dette,] and giue him a friendly anſwere.

9 ¶ Deliuer him that ſuffereth wrong, from from the hand of the oppressour, and be not faint hearted ‖ when thou iudgest.

‖ Or, to defend him.

10 Be as a father to the fatherlesse, and as an husband vnto their mother: so shalt thou be as the sonne of the most High: and hee shall loue thee more then thy mother doth.

11 Wisedome exalteth her children, and receiueth them that seeke her, [and will goe before them in the way of righteousnesse.]

12 He that loueth her, loueth life, and they that seeke life in the morning, shall haue great ioy.

13 Hee that keepeth her, shall inherit glorie: for vnto whom she entreth, him the Lord will blesse.

14 They that honour her, shall be the seruants of the Holy one, and them that loue her, the Lord doth loue.

15 Who so giueth eare vnto her, shall iudge the nations, and he that goeth vnto her, shall dwell safely.

16 He that is faithfull vnto her, shall haue her in possession, and his generation shall possesse her.

17 For first shee will walke with him by crooked wayes, and bring him vnto feare, and dread, and torment him with her discipline vntill she haue tried his soule, and haue prooued him by her iudgements.

18 Then will she returne the streight way vnto him, and comfort him, and shew him her secrets, [and heape vpon him the treasures of knowledge, and vnderstanding of righteousnesse.]

19 But if he goe wrong, she will forsake him, and giue him ouer into the hands of his destruction.

21 And be not ashamed [to say the trueth] for thy life: for there is a shame that bringeth sinne, and a shame that bringeth worship and fauour.

22 Accept no person against thine owne conscience, that thou be not confounded to thine owne decay, [and forbeare not thy neighbour in his fault.]

23 And keepe not backe counsell when it may do good, neither hide thy wisedome when it may be famous.

24 For by the talke is wisedome knowen, and learning by the wordes of the tongue, [and counsell, wisedome and learning by the talking of the wise, and stedfastnesse in the works of righteousnesse.]

25 In no wise speake against the word of truth, but be ashamed of the lies of thine owne ignorance.

26 Be not ashamed to confesse thy sinnes, and resist not the course of the riuer.

27 Submit not thy selfe vnto a foolish man, neither accept the person of the mightie.

28 Striue for the trueth vnto death, [and defend iustice for thy life,] and the Lord God shall fight for thee [against thine enemies.]

29 Be not hastie in thy tongue, neither slacke and negligent in thy works.

30 Be not as a Lyon in thine owne house, neither beat thy seruants for thy fantasie [nor oppresse them that are vnder thee.]

31 * Let not thine hand be stretched out to receiue, and shut, when thou shouldest giue. * Acts 20. 35.

CHAP. V.

1 In riches may we not put any confidence. 7 The vengeance of God ought to be feared, and repentance may not be deferred.

TRust not vnto thy * riches, and say not, I haue enough for my life: [for it shall not helpe in the time of vengeance and indignation.] * Prou. 10. 2. and 11. 4.

2 Follow not thine owne minde, and thy strength to walke in the wayes of thine heart:

3 Neither say thou, [How haue I had strength?] or who will bring me vnder for my works? for God the auenger will reuenge the wrong done by thee.

4 And say not, I haue sinned, and what euill hath come vnto me? for the Almightie is a patient rewarder, but he will not leaue thee vnpunished.

5 Because thy sinne is forgiuen, be not without feare, to heape sinne vpon sinne.

6 And say not, The mercie of God is great: he will forgiue my manifolde sinnes: for mercie and wrath come from him, and his indignation commeth downe vpon sinners.

7 Make no tarying to turne vnto the Lord, and put not off from day to day: for suddenly shall the wrath of the Lord breake foorth, and in thy securitie thou shalt be destroyed, and thou shalt perish in time of vengeance.

8 Trust not in wicked riches: for they shall not helpe thee in the day of punishment [and vengeance.]

9 Be not caried about with euery winde, and go not into euery way: for so doth the sinner that hath a double tongue.

10 Stand fast in thy sure vnderstanding [and in the way and knowledge of the Lord] and haue but one maner of word, [and follow the word of peace and righteousnesse.]

11 Be humble to heare the word of God, that thou mayest vnderstand it, and make a true answere with wisedome.]

12 * Be swift to heare good things, and let thy life be pure, and giue a patient answere. * Iam. 1. 19.

13 If thou hast vnderstanding, answere thy neighbour: if not, lay thine hand vpon thy mouth, [least thou be trapped in an vnwiseres word, and so be blamed.]

14 Honour and shame is in the talke, and the tongue of a man causeth him to fall.

*Luc.19.16. 15 Be not counted a *talebearer, and lie not in waite with thy tongue: for shame [and repentance] followe the theefe, and an euil condemnation is ouer him that is double tongued: [but he that is a backebiter, shall be hated, enuied, and confounded.]

16 Doe not rashly, neither in small things nor in great.

CHAP. VI.

1 It is a propertie of a sinner to be euil tongued. 6 Of friendship. 33 Desire to be taught.

BE not of a friende [thy neighbours] enemie: for such shal haue an euil name, shame and reproch, and he shall bee in infamie as the wicked that hath a double tongue.

2 Bee not proude in the deuice of thine owne minde, least thy soule rend thee as a bull,

3 And eate vp thy leaues, and destroy thy fruite, and so thou be left as a drie tree [in the wildernesse.]

4 For a wicked soule destroyeth him that hath it, & maketh him to be laughed to scorne of his enemies, [and bringeth him to the portion of the vngodly.]

5 A sweete talke multiplieth the friendes [and pacifieth them that be at variance,] and a sweete tongue increaseth much good talke.

6 Holde friendship with many, neuertheless haue but one counseller of a thousand.

7 If thou getteſt a friend proue him first, and be not hastie to credite him.

8 For some man is a friend for his owne occasion, and will not abide in the day of thy trouble.

9 And there is some friend that turneth to enmitie, and taketh part against thee, and in contention he will declare thy shame.

*Chap.37.4,5. 10 Againe some *friend is but a companion at the table, and in the day of thine affliction he continueth not.

11 But in thy prosperitie he will be as thou thy selfe, and will vse libertie ouer thy seruants.

12 If thou be brought lowe, he will bee against thee, and will hide himselfe from thy face.

13 Depart from thine enemies, and beware of thy friends.

14 A faithfull friend is a strong defence, and hee that findeth such one, findeth a treasure.

15 A faithfull friend ought not to be changed for any thing, and the weight [of gold and siluer] is not to bee compared to the goodnesse [of his faith.]

16 A faithfull friende is the medicine of life [and immortalitie,] and they that feare the Lord, shall finde him.

17 Who so feareth the Lord, shal direct his friendship aright, and as his owne selfe, so shal his friend be.

18 ¶ My sonne, receiue doctrine from thy youth vp: so shalt thou finde wisedome [which shall indure] till thine olde age.

19 Goe to her as one that ploweth, and soweth, and waite for her good fruites: for thou shalt haue but litle labour in her worke: but thou shalt eate of her fruites right soone.

20 How exceeding sharp is she to the vnlearned: he that is without iudgement, will not remaine with her.

21 Vnto such one she is as a fine touchstone, and he casteth her from him without delay.

22 For they haue the name of wisedome, but there be but few that haue the knowledge of her.

23 [For with them that know her, shee abideth vnto the appearing of God]

24 Giue eare my sonne: receiue my doctrine, and refuse not my counsell.

25 And put thy feet into her linkes, and thy necke into her chaine.

26 Bow downe thy shoulder vnto her, and beare her, and be not wearie of her bands.

27 Come vnto her with thy whole heart, and keepe her wayes with all thy power.

28 Seeke after her, and search her, and shee shall be shewed thee: and when thou hast gotten her, forsake her not.

29 For at the last thou shalt finde rest in her, and that shall be turned to thy ioy.

30 Then shall her fetters bee a strong defence for thee, [and a sure foundation] and her chaines a glorious rayment.

31 For there is a golden ornament in her, and her bands are the laces of purple colour.

32 Thou shalt put her on as arobe of honour, and shalt put her vpon thee, as a crowne of ioy.

33 My sonne, if thou wilt, thou shalt bee taught, and if thou wilt apply thy minde, thou shalt be wittie.

34 If thou loue to heare, thou shalt receiue [doctrine,] and if thou delight in hearing, thou shalt be wise.

35 Stand with the multitude of the Elders, which are wise, and ioyne with him that is wise.

36 *Desire to heare all godly talke, and *Chap.8. let not the graue sentences of knowledge escape thee.

3 Striue not with a man that is full of words, and lay no stickes vpon his fire.

4 Play not with a man that is vntaught, least thy kinred be dishonoured.

*Galat.6.1. 5 *Depise not a man that turneth himselfe away from sinne, nor cast him not in the teeth withall, but remember that wee are all worthy blame.

*Leuit.19.32. 6 *Dishonour not a man in his olde age: for they were as we which are not olde.

7 Be not glad of the death of thine enemie, but remember that we must die all, [and so enter into toy.]

*Chap.6.35. 8 *Despise not the exhortation of the [Elders] that bee wise, but acquaint thy selfe with their wise sentences: for of them thou shalt learne wisedome, [and the doctrine of vnderstanding,] and howe to serue great men [without complaint.]

9 Goe not from the doctrine of the Elders: for they haue learned it of their fathers and of them thou shalt learne vnderstanding, and to make answere in the time of neede.

10 Kindle not the coles of sinners, [when thou rebukest them,] least thou bee burnt in the fiery flames [of their sinnes.]

11 Rise not vp against him that doeth wrong, that hee lay not waite as a spie for thy mouth.

*Chap.29.4. 12 *Lende not vnto him that is mightier then thy selfe: for if thou lendest him, count it but lost.

13 Be not suretie aboue thy power: for if thou be suretie, thinke to pay it.

14 Goe not to lawe with the Iudge: for they will giue sentence according to his owne honour.

*Gen.4.8. 15 *Trauaile not by the way with him that is rash, least hee doe thee iniurie: for hee followeth his owne wilfulnesse, and so shalt thou perish through his follie.

*Prou.22.24. 16 *Striue not with him that is angrie, and goe not with him into the wildernesse: for blood is as nothing in his sight, and where there is no helpe, he will ouerthrow thee.

17 Take no counsell at a foole: for hee cannot keepe a thing close, 18 Doe no secret thing before a stranger: for thou canst not tell what he goeth about.

19 Open not thine heart vnto euery man, least he be vnthankful to thee, [and put thee to reproofe.]

CHAP. IX.

Of iealousie. 12 An olde friend is to be preferred before a newe. 18 Righteous men should be bidden to thy table.

BE not iealous ouer thy wife of thy bosome, neyther teach her by thy meanes an euill lesson.

2 Giue not thy life vnto a woman, least she ouercome thy strength, [and so thou be confounded.]

3 Meete not an harlot, least thou fall into her snares.

4 Use not the company of a woman that is a singer, [and a dancer, neither heare her,] least thou be taken by her craftinesse.

5 Gaze not on a *maide, that thou fall not by that that is precious in her. *Gen.6.1,2. and 34.2.

6 *Cast not thy minde vpon harlots [in any maner of thing,] least thou destroy [both thy selfe and] thine heritage. *Prou.5.2.

7 Goe not about gazing in the streetes of the citie, neither wander thou in the secrete places thereof.

8 *Turne away thine eye from a beautifull woman, and looke not vpon others beautie: for many *haue perished by the beautie of women: for through it, loue is kindled as a fire. *Mat.5.28. *Gen.34.1,2, 2.Sam.11.2. Iudeth 16.17,18. and 12.16,23.

9 [Euery woman that is an harlot, shall be troden vnder foote as dunge, of euery one that goeth by the way.

10 Many wondering at the beautie of a strange woman, haue beene cast out: for her words burne as a fire.]

11 Sit not at all with another mans wife, [neyther lye with her vpon the bed,] nor banket with her, lest thine heart incline vnto her, and so through thy desire fall into destruction.

12 ¶ Forsake not an olde friende: for the newe shall not be like him: a newe friend is as new wine: when it is olde, thou shalt drinke it with pleasure.

13 *Desire not the honour [and riches] of a sinner: for thou knowest not what shall be his ende. *Iudg.9.3. 2.Sam.15.12.

14 Delite not in the thing that the vngodly haue pleasure in, but remember that they shall not be found iust vnto their graue.

15 Keepe thee from the man that hath power to slay: so shalt thou not doubt the feare of death: and if thou come vnto him, make no fault, least he take away thy life: remember that thou goest in the midst of snares, and that thou walkest vpon the towres of the citie.

16 Trie thy neighbours as neere as thou canst, * and aske counsell of the wise. *Chap.6.36,37. & 8.8. & 37.12.

17 *Let thy talke bee with the wise, and all thy communication in the Lawe of the most High. *Deut.6.7.and 11.19.

18 Let iust men eate and drinke with thee, and let thy reioycing bee in the feare of the Lord.

19 In ‖ the handes of the craftesmen shall the workes be commended, and the wise prince of the people by his worde, [and the worde by the wisedome of the Elders.] ‖ Or, the workeman is prayed according to the worke.

20 A man full of wordes is dangerous in his his citie, and he that is rash in his talking, shall be hated.

CHAP. X.

1 Of Kings and iudges. 7 Pride and couetousnesse are to be abhorred. 28 Labour is praysed.

A Wise Iudge will instruct his people with discretion: the gouernance of a prudent man is well ordered.

2 As the iudge of the people is himselfe, so are his officers, and what maner of man the ruler of the citie is, such are all they that dwell therein.

3 *An vnwise king destroyeth his people, but where they that bee in authoritie, are men of vnderstanding, there the citie prospereth. *1.Esd.13.1, 13,14.

4 The gouernement of the earth is in the hand of the Lorde, [and all iniquitie of the nations is to be abhorred,] and when time is, he will set vp a profitable ruler ouer it.

5 In the hand of God is the prosperitie of man, and vpon the scribes will hee lay his honour.

6 *Be not angrie for any wrong with thy neighbour, and doe nothing by iniurious practises. *Luk.19.27.

7 Pride is hatefull before God and man, and by both doth one commit iniquitie.

8 *Because of vnrighteous dealings, and wrongs and riches gotten by deceite, the kingdome is translated from one people to another. *Ecc.27.6.Ecclus. 4.14.

9 There is nothing worse then a couetous man: [why art thou proude, O earth and ashes?: there is not a more wicked thing, then to loue money:] for such one would euen sell his soule, and for his life euery man is compelled to pull out his owne bowels.

10 [All tyrannie is of small indurance, and the disease that is hard to heale, is grieuous to the physition.]

11 The physicion cutteth off the sore disease, and he that is to day a king, to morrow is dead.

12 Why is earth and ashes proude, seeing that when a man diech, he is the heire of serpents, beasts and wormes?

13 The beginning of mans pride, is to fall away from God, and to turne away his heart from his maker.

14 For pride is the originall of sinne, and hee that hath it, shall powre out abomination, till at last he bee ouerthrowen: therefore the Lorde bringeth the perswasions [of the wicked] to dishonour, and destroyeth them in the ende.

15 The Lord hath *cast downe the thrones of the [proude] princes, and set vp the meeke in their stead. *Luke 1.52. and 14.11. and 18.14 Iam.4.6.

16 The Lord plucketh vp the rootes of the [proude] nations, and planteth the lowly with glory among them.

17 The Lorde ouerthroweth the lands of the heathen, and destroyeth them vnto the foundations of the earth: hee causeth them to wither away, and destroyeth them, and maketh their memoriall to cease out of the earth.

18 [God destroyeth the memoriall of the proude, and leaueth the remembrance of the humble.]

19 Pride was not created in men, neither wrath in the generation of women.

20 There is a seede of man which is an honourable seede: the honourable seede are they that feare the Lorde: there is a seede of man, which is without honour: the seede without honour, are they that transgresse the commaundements of the Lorde: it is a seede that remaineth which feareth the Lorde, and a faire plant, that loue him: but they are a seede without honour, that despise the Lawe, and a deceiueable seede that breake the commandements.

21 He that is the chiefe among Brethren, is honourable: so are they that feare the Lord in his sight.

22 The feare of the Lorde causeth that the kingdome faileth not, but the kingdome is lost by crueltie and pride.

23 The feare of the Lorde is the glory aswell of the rich and the noble, as of the poore.

24 It is not meete to despise the poore man that hath vnderstanding, neither is it conuenient to magnifie the rich that is a wicked man.

25 The great man and the iudge and the man of authoritie, are honourable, yet is there none of them greater, then he that feareth the Lord.

26 *Vnto the seruant that is wise, shall they that are free doe seruice: *he that hath knowledge, will not grudge when he is reformed, [and the ignorant shall not come to honour.] *Prou.17.2. *1.Sam.12.13.

27 Seeke not excuses when thou shouldest doe thy worke, neither be ashamed thereof through pride in the time of aduersitie.

28 *Better is hee that laboureth and hath plenteousnesse of all things, then hee that is gorgeous, and wanteth bread. *Prou.12.9. 18

29 My sonne, get thy selfe prayse by meekenesse, and esteeme thy selfe as thou deseruest.

30 Who will count him iust that sinneth against himselfe?: or honour him, that dishonoureth his owne soule?

31 The poore is honoured for his knowledge [and his feare,] but the rich is had in reputation because of his goods.

32 He that is honourable in pouertie, how much more ſhall he be when he is rich? and hee that is vnhoneſt being rich, howe much more will he be ſo when he is in pouertie?

CHAP. XI.

1 The praiſe of humilitie. 2 After the outward appearance ought we not to iudge. 7 Of raſh iudgement. 14 All things come of God. 29 All men are not to be brought into thine houſe.

*Gene.41.40. Dan.6.3. WIſedome * lifteth vp the head of him that is lowe, and maketh him to ſit among great men.

2 Commend not a man for his beautie, neither deſpiſe a man in his vtter appearance.

3 The Bee is but ſmall among the foules, yet doeth her fruite paſſe in ſweeteneſſe.

4 Be not proude of clothing and rayment, *Act.12.21,23. * and exalt not thy ſelfe in the day of honour: for the workes of the Lorde are wonderfull, [and glorious,] ſecrete, [and vnknowen] are his workes among men.

*1.Sam.15.28. eſter 6.10. 5 Many tyrants haue ſit downe vpon the earth, * and the vnlikely hath worne the crowne.

6 Many mightie men haue bene brought to diſhonour, and the honourable haue bene deliuered into other mens hands.

*Deut.13.14.& 17.4,6.ioſh.7. 23. 7 ¶ * Blame [no man] before thou haue inquired the matter: vnderſtand firſt, and then reproue [righteouſly.]

*Prou.18.13. 8 *Giue no ſentence, before thou haſt heard the cauſe, neither interrupt men in the middes of their tales.

9 Striue not for a matter that thou haſt not to do with, and ſit not in the iudgement of ſinners.

*Matth.19.22. 1.tim.6.9. 10 My ſonne, meddle not with many matters: * for if thou gaine much, thou ſhalt not be blameleſſe, and if thou followe after it, yet ſhalt thou not attaine it, neither ſhalt thou eſcape, though thou flee from it.

*Prou.10.3. 11 *There is ſome man that laboureth and taketh paine, and the more he haſteth, the more he wanteth.

*Iob.42.10. 12 Againe there is ſome that is ſlouthfull, and *hath neede of helpe: for hee wanteth ſtrength, and hath great pouertie, yet the eye of the Lord looketh vpon him to good, and ſetteth him vp from his lowe eſtate.

13 And he lifteth vp his head: ſo that many men marueile at him, [and giue honour vnto God.]

*Iob.1.21. ezek.28.4. 14 *Proſperitie and aduerſitie, life and death, pouertie and riches come of the Lord.

15 Wiſedome and knowledge, and vnderſtanding of the Lawe are of the Lord: loue and good workes come of him.

16 Errour and darkeneſſe are appointed for ſinners, and they that exalt themſelues in euill, waxe olde in euill.

17 The gift of the Lord remaineth for the godly, and his good will giueth proſperitie for euer.

18 ¶ Some man is rich by his care and niggardlyhy, and this is the portion of his wages,

*Luke.12.19. 19 In that he ſaith * I haue gotten reſt, and now wil I eate continually of my goods, yet hee conſidereth not, that the time draweth neere, that he muſt leaue all theſe things vnto other men, and die himſelfe.

20 Stand thou in thy ſtate, and exerciſe thy ſelfe therein, and remaine in thy worke vnto thine age.

21 Marueile not at the workes of ſinners, but truſt in the Lorde, and abide in thy labour: for it is an eaſie thing in the ſight of the Lorde, ſuddenly, to make a poore man rich.

22 The bleſſing of the Lorde is in the wages of the godly, and hee maketh his proſperitie ſoone to flouriſh.

23 ¶ Say not, what profite and pleaſure ſhall I haue? and what good things ſhall I haue hereafter?

24 Againe ſay not, I haue ynough, and poſſeſſe many things, * and what euill can come to me hereafter?

*Chap.18.24. 25 *In thy good ſtate remember aduerſitie, and in aduerſitie forget not proſperitie.

26 For it is an eaſie thing vnto the Lorde in the day of death to rewarde a man accordding to his wayes.

27 The aduerſitie of an houre maketh one to forget pleaſure: and in a mans ende, his workes are diſcouered.

28 Iudge none bleſſed before his death: for a man ſhalbe knowen by his children.

29 Bring not euery man into thine houſe: for the deceitfull haue many traines, [and are like ſtomackes that belch ſtinkingly.]

30 As a partrich is taken vnder a baſket, [the hinde is taken in the ſnare,] ſo is the heart of the proude man, which like a ſpie watcheth for thy fall.

31 For hee lyeth in waite and turneth good vnto euill, and in things worthy prayſe he will finde ſome fault.

32 Of one little ſparke is made a great fire, [and of one deceitfull man is blood increaſed:] for a ſinfull man layeth waite for blood.

33 Beware of a wicked man: for he imagineth wicked things to bring thee into a perpetuall ſhame.

34 Lodge a ſtranger, and hee will deſtroy thee with vnquietneſſe, and driue thee from thine owne.

CHAP. XII.

1 Vnto whome we ought to doe good. 10 Enemies ought not to be truſted.

When

WHen thou wilt doe good, knowe to whome thou doest it, so shalt thou bee thanked for thy benefits.

*Gal.6.10. 1.tim.5.8. 2 *Doe good vnto the righteous, and thou shalt finde [great] reward, though not of him, yet of the most High.

3 He can not haue good that continueth in euill, and giueth no almes: [for the most High, hateth the sinners, and hath mercie vpon them that repent.]

4 Giue vnto such as feare God, and receiue not a sinner.

5 Doe well vnto him that is lowly, but giue not to the vngodly: hold backe thy bread, and giue it not vnto him, least hee ouercome thee thereby: else thou shalt receiue twise as much euill for all the good that thou doest vnto him.

6 For the most High hateth the wicked, and will repay vengeance vnto the vngodly, and keepeth them against the day of horrible vengeance.

7 Giue vnto the good, and receiue not the sinner.

8 A friend can not bee knowen in prosperitie, neither can an enemie be vnknowen in aduersitie.

9 When a man is in wealth, it grieueth his enemies, but in heauinesse and trouble a mans very friend will depart from him.

10 Trust neuer thine enemie: for like as an yron rusteth, so doeth his wickednesse.

11 And though he make much crouching and kneeling, yet aduise thy selfe, and beware of him, and thou shalt be to him, as he that wipeth a glasse, and thou shalt know that all his rust hath not bene well wiped away.

12 Set him not by thee, least hee destroy thee, and stand in thy place.

13 Neither set him at thy right hand, least hee seeke thy roome, and thou at the last remember my wordes, and bee pricked with my sayings.

*Chap.7.8. and 31.1. 14 *Binde not two sinnes together: for there shall not one be vnpunished.

15 Who will haue pitie of the charmer, that is stinged of the serpent? or of all such as come neere the beastes? so is it with him that keepeth company with a wicked man, and wrappeth himselfe in his sinnes, 16 For a season will he bide with thee: but if thou stumble he tarieth not.

*Isa.41.6. 17 *An enemie is sweete in his lippes: hee can make many good wordes, and speake many good things: yea, hee can weepe with his eyes, but in his heart hee imagineth howe to throw thee into the pit: and if hee may find opportunitie, hee will not bee satisfied with blood.

18 If aduersitie come vpon thee thou shalt finde him there first, and though he pretend to helpe thee, yet shall he vndermine thee: he will shake his head, and clap his handes, and will make many wordes, and disguise his countenance.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The companies of the proude and of the rich are to bee eschewed. 15 The loue of God. 17 Like doe companie with their like.

HE *that toucheth pitch shall bee defiled with it: and he that is familiar with the proude, shall be like vnto him. *Deut.7.2.

2 Burthen not thy selfe aboue thy power, whilest thou liuest, and company not with one that is mightier, and richer then thy selfe: for how agree the kettle and the earthen pot together? for if the one bee smitten against the other, it shalbe broken.

3 The rich dealeth vnrighteously, and threatneth withall: but the poore being oppressed must intreate: if the rich haue done wrong, hee must yet be intreated: but if the poore haue done it, he shall straight wayes bee threatned.

4 If thou be for his profite, hee vseth thee: but if thou haue nothing, he will forsake thee.

5 If thou haue any thing, hee will liue with thee: yea, he will make thee a bare man, and will not care for it.

6 If he haue neede of thee, he will defraude thee, and will laugh at thee, and put thee in hope, and giue thee all good wordes, and say, What wantest thou?

7 Thus will hee shame thee in his meate, vntill hee haue supt thee cleane vp twise or thrise, and at the last hee will laugh thee to scorne: afterwarde, when he seeth thee, he will forsake thee, and shake his head at thee.

8 [Submit thy selfe vnto God, and waite vpon his hand.]

9 Beware that thou bee not deceiued in thine owne conceite and brought downe by thy simplenesse: [bee not too humble in thy wisedome.]

10 ¶ If thou be called of a mightie man, absent thy selfe: so shall hee call thee the more oft.

11 Presse not thou vnto him, that thou be not shut out, but goe not thou farre off, lest he forget thee.

12 Withdrawe not thy selfe from his speach, but beleeue not his many wordes: for with much communication will hee tempt thee: and laughingly will he grope thee,

13 He is vnmercifull and keepeth not promise: he will not spare to doe thee hurt, and to put thee in prison.

14 Beware, and take good heede: for thou walkest in perill of thine ouerthrowing: when thou heerest this, awake in thy sleepe.

15 Loue the Lorde all thy life, and call vpon him for thy saluation.

16 ¶ Euery beast loueth his like, and euery man loueth his neighbour.

17 All flesh will resort to their like, and euery man will keepe company with such as he is himselfe.

18 Howe can the wolfe agree with the lambe? no more can the vngodly with the righteous.

Which is a wilde beast that counterfeiteth the voyce of men, and so enticeth them out of their houses and deuoureth them.

19 What fellowship hath ‖hyena with a dogge? and what peace is betweene the rich and the poore?

20 As the wilde Asse is the Lions pray in the wildernesse, so are poore men the meate of the rich.

21 As the proude hate humilitie, so doe the rich abhorre the poore.

22 If a rich man fall, his friendes set him vp againe: but when the poore falleth, his friendes driue him away.

23 If a rich man offend, he hath many helpers: he speaketh proude words, and yet men iustifie him: but if a poore man faile, they rebuke him, and though he speake wisely, yet can it haue no place.

24 When the rich man speaketh, euery man holdeth his tongue: and looke what hee saith, they prayse it vnto the cloudes: but if the poore man speake, they say, What fellow is this? and if hee doe amisse, they will destroy him.

25 Riches are good vnto him that hath no sinne [in his conscience,] and pouertie is euill in the mouth of the vngodly.

26 The heart of a man changeth his countenance, whether it be in good or euill.

27 A chearefull countenance is a token of a good heart: for it is an hard thing to know the secrets of the thought.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The offence of the tongue. 17 Man is but a vaine thing. 21 Happie is he that continueth in wisedome.

*Chap.19.6,16. Iam.3.2. BLessed is the man * that hath not fallen by [the worde of] his mouth, and is not tormented with the sorow of sinne.

2 Blessed is hee that is not condemned in his conscience, and is not fallen from his hope in the Lorde.

3 Riches are not comely for a niggard, and what shoulde an enuious man doe with money?

4 Hee that gathereth together from his owne soule, heapeth together for others, that will make good cheare with his goods.

5 Hee that is wicked vnto him selfe, to whome will hee bee good? for such one can haue no pleasure of his goods.

6 There is nothing worse, then when one enuieth himselfe: and this is a reward of his wickednesse.

7 And if he doe any good, he doeth it, not knowing thereof, and against his will, and at the last he declareth his wickednes.

8 The enuious man hath a wicked looke: hee turneth away his face, and despiseth men.

9 A couetous mans eye hath neuer ynough of a portion, and his wicked malice withereth his owne soule.

10 A * wicked eye enuieth the bread, and there is scarcenesse vpon his table. *Prou.27.20.

11 My sonne, doe good to thy selfe of that thou hast, and giue the Lorde his due offerings.

12 Remember that death tarieth not, and that the couenant of the graue is not shewed vnto thee.

13 * Doe good vnto thy friende before thou die, and according to thine habilitie stretch out thine hand, and giue him. *Chap.4.1. Iob.4.7. Iak.4.13.

14 Defraude not thy selfe of the good day, and let not the portion of the good desires ouerpasse thee.

15 Shalt thou not leaue thy trauailes vnto another, and thy labours for the deuiding of the heritage?

16 Giue and take and sanctifie thy soule: [worke thou righteousnes before the death:] for in the hell there is no meate to finde.

17 ¶ * All flesh wareth old, as a garment, and this is the condition of all times, Thou shalt die the death. *Isa.40.6. 1 pet. 1.24. iam.1,10.

18 As the greene leaues on a thicke tree, some fall, and some growe, so is the generation of flesh and blood: one commeth to an ende, and another is borne.

19 All corruptible things shall faile, and the worker thereof shall goe withall.

20 [Euery excellent worke shall be iustified, and hee that worketh it, shall haue honour thereby.]

21 * Blessed is the man that doeth meditate honest things by wisedome, [and exerciseth himselfe in iustice,] and he that reasoneth of holy things by his vnderstanding. *Psal.1.2.

22 Which considereth in his heart her wayes, and vnderstandeth her secrets.

23 Goe thou after her as one that seeketh her out, and lye in waite in her wayes.

24 He shall looke in at her windowes, and hearken at her doores.

25 He shal abide beside her house, and fasten a stake in her walles: hee shall pitch his tent besides her,

26 And hee shal remaine in the lodging of good men, and shall set his children vnder her couering, and shall dwell vnder her branches.

27 By her hee shall bee couered from the heate, and in her glory shall he dwell.

CHAP. XV.

1 The goodneſſe that followeth him which feareth God. 8 God reiecteth and caſteth off the ſinner. 11 God is not the authour of euill.

HE that feareth the Lord, will doe good: and hee that hath the knowledge of the Law, will keepe it ſure.

2 As an [honourable] mother ſhall ſhee meete him, and ſhee, as his wife married of a virgine, will receiue him.

3 With the bread [of life] and vnderſtanding ſhall ſhe feede him, and giue him the *water of [wholeſome] wiſedome to drinke. *Ioh.4.10.

4 He ſhall aſſure himſelfe in her, and ſhall not be moued, and ſhall holde himſelfe faſt by her, and ſhall not be confounded.

5 She ſhal exalt him aboue his neighbors, and in the middes of the congregation ſhall ſhe open his mouth: [With the ſpirit of wiſdom, and vnderſtanding ſhall ſhe fill him, and clothe him with the garment of glory.]

6 She ſhall cauſe him to inherite ioy & the crowne of gladneſſe, and an euerlaſting name.

7 But fooliſh men will not take holde vpon her: [but ſuch as haue vnderſtanding, will meete her:] the ſinners ſhall not ſee her.

8 For ſhe is farre from pride [and deceit,] and men that lye cannot remember her: [but men of trueth ſhall haunt her, and ſhall proſper euen vnto the beholding of God.]

9 Praiſe is not ſeemely in the mouth of the ſinner: for that is not ſent of the Lord.

10 But if prayſe come of wiſdome, [and bee plenteous in a faithfull mouth] then the Lord will proſper it.

11 Say not thou, It is through the Lorde that I turne backe: for thou oughteſt not to doe the things that he hateth.

12 Say not thou, Hee hath cauſed mee to erre: for he hath no neede of the ſinfull man.

13 The Lorde hateth all abomination [of error:] and they that feare God, loue it not.

*Gen.1.27. 14 *Hee made man from the beginning, and left him in the hand of his counſell, [and gaue him his commandements, and precepts.]

15 If thou wilt, thou ſhalt obſerue the commandements, and teſtifie thy good will.

16 Hee hath ſet water and fire before thee: ſtretch out thine hand vnto which thou wilt.

*Ier.21.8. 17 *Before man is life and death, [good and euill:] what him liketh ſhall be giuen him.

18 For the wiſedome of the Lord is great, and he is mightie in power, and beholdeth all things [continually.]

*Pſal.34.15,16. Ieb.4.31. 19 *And the eyes [of the Lord] are vpon them that feare him, and hee knoweth all the workes of man.

20 He hath commanded no man to doe vngodly, neither hath he giuen any man licence to ſinne: [for he deſireth not a multitude of infidels, and vnprofitable children.]

CHAP. XVI.

1 Of vnhappie and wicked children. 17 No man can hide himſelfe from God. 24 An exhortation to the receiuing of inſtruction.

DEſire not the multitude of vnprofitable children, neither delight in vngodly children: though they bee many, reioyce not in them, except the feare of the Lord be with thē.

2 Truſt not theu to their life, neither reſt vpon their multitude,

3 For one that is iuſt, is better then a thouſand ſuch, better it is to die without children, then to leaue behinde him vngodly children.

4 For by one that hath vnderſtanding, ſhall the citie bee inhabited: but the ſtocke of the wicked ſhall be waſted incontinently.

5 Many ſuch things haue I ſeene with mine eyes, and mine eare hath heard greater things then theſe.

6 *In the congregation of the vngodly ſhall a fire bee kindled, and among vnfaithfull people ſhall the wrath be ſet on fire. *Chap.21.9,10.

7 *He ſpared not þ old gyants, which were rebellious, truſting to their owne ſtrength. *Gene.6.4.

8 *Neither ſpared he whereas Lot dwelt, thoſe whom he abhorred for their pride. *Gen.19.21,25.

9 Hee had no pitie vpon the people that were deſtroyed, and puffed vp in their ſinnes.

10 *And ſo he preſerued the ſixe hundreth thouſand footemen, that were gathered in the hardneſſe of their heart, in afflicting them and pitying them, in ſmiting them and healing them, with mercy, and with chaſtiſement. *Nomb.14.15. 16,20.& 26.51.

11 Therefore if there be one ſtifnecked among the people, it is marueile if he eſcape vnpuniſhed: for mercy & wrath are with him: he is mightie to forgiue, & to powre out diſpleaſure.

12 *As his mercie is great, ſo is his puniſhment alſo, hee iudgeth a man according to his workes. *Chap.5.6.

13 The vngodly ſhall not eſcape with his ſpoyle, and the patience of the godly ſhall not be delayed.

14 He will giue place to all good deedes, and euery one ſhall finde according to his workes, [and after the vnderſtanding of his pilgrimage.]

15 The Lord hardened Pharao, that hee ſhoulde not knowe him, and that his workes ſhoulde bee knowen vpon the earth vnder the heauen.

16 His mercy is knowen to all creatures: he hath ſeperate his light from the darkeneſſe with an adamant.

17 Say not thou, I wil hide my ſelfe from the Lorde: for who will thinke vpon me from aboue? I ſhall not be knowen in ſo great an heape of people: for what is my ſoule among ſuch an infinitie number of creatures?

and the earth, and all that therein is, shall bee mooued when he shall visite.

19 All the world which is created & made by his will, the mountaines also, and the foundations of the earth shall shake for feare, when the Lord looketh vpon them.

20 These things doth no heart vnderstand worthily, [but he vnderstandeth euery heart.]

21 And who vnderstandeth his waies: and the storme that no man can see: for the most part of his workes are hid.

22 Who can declare the works of his righteousnesse: or who can abide them: for his ordinance is farre off, and the trying out of all things fayleth.

23 He that is humble of heart, will consider these things: but an vnwise and erronious man casteth his minde vpon foolish things.

24 My sonne, hearken vnto me, and learne knowledge, and marke my words with thine heart.

25 I will declare thee waighty doctrine, and I will instruct thee exactly in knowledge.

26 The Lord hath set his workes in good order from the beginning, and part of them hath hee sundred from the other when hee first made them.

27 He hath garnished his workes for euer, and their beginnings so long as they shall endure, they are not hungry nor wearied in their labours, nor cease from their offices.

28 None of them hindreth an other, neither was any of them disobedient vnto his words.

29 After this the Lorde looked vpon the earth and filled it with his good things.

30 With al maner of liuing beasts hath he couered the face therof, and they returne into it againe.

1 The creation of man, and the goodnesse that God hath done vnto him. 20 Of almes. 22 And repentance.

*Gene. 1.27. and 5.2, wisd. 2.23. and 7.1, 6.1. cor. 11.7. col. 3.10.

THe * Lord hath created man of the earth, and turned him vnto it againe.

2 Hee gaue him the number of dayes and certaine times, & gaue him power of the things that are vpon earth.

3 Hee clothed them with strength, as they had need, & made them according to his image.

4 He made all flesh to feare him, so that hee had the dominion ouer the beastes and foules.

*Gene. 2, 22. 1. cor. 11, 9.

5 [* Hee created out of him an helper like vnto himselfe,] and gaue them discretion and tongue, and eyes, and eares, and an heart to vnderstand, and stirly he gaue them a spirit, and seuenthly hee gaue them speech to declare his workes:

6 And hee filled them with knowledge of vnderstanding, and shewed them good and euil.

7 He set his eie vpon their hearts, declaring vnto them his noble workes,

8 And gaue them occasion to reioyce perpetually in his miracles, that they shoulde prudently declare his workes, and that the elect should praise his holy name together.

9 Besides this hee gaue them knowledge, and gaue them the Law of life for an heritage, that they might nowe knowe that they were mortall.

10 He made an euerlasting couenant with them, and shewed them his iudgements.

11 Their eyes saw the maiestie of his glorie, and their eares heard his glorious voyce.

12 And he saide vnto them, Beware of all vnrighteous things. * He gaue euery man also a commaundement concerning his neighbour. *Exo. 20, 16, 17. and 22. 23.

13 Their wayes are euer before him, and are not hid from his eyes.

14 Euery man from his youth is giuen to euill, & their stonie hearts can not become flesh.

15 He appoynted a ruler vpon euery people, when he diuided the nations of the whole earth.

16 * And he did chuse Israel, as a peculiar people to himselfe, whome he nourisheth with discipline as his first borne, & giueth him most louing light, and doth not forsake him. *Deut. 4. 20. and 10. 15.

17 All their works are as the sunne before him, and his eyes are continually vpon their wayes.

18 None of their vnrighteousnes is hidde frō him, but all their sinnes are before ỹ Lorde.

19 And as he is merciful, and knoweth his worke, he doth not leaue them nor forsake thē, but spareth them.

20 * The almes of a man, is a thing sealed vp before him, and he keepeth the good deedes of man as the apple of the eye, and giueth repentance to their sonnes, and daughters. *Chap. 29, 13.

21 * At the last shall hee arise, and reward them, and shall repay their reward vpon their heads. *Matth. 25. 35.

22 * But vnto them that will repent, hee giueth them grace to returne, & exhorteth such as faile with patience, [and sendeth them the portion of veritie.] *Act. 3. 19.

23 * Returne then vnto the Lord, and forsake thy sinnes: make thy prayer before his face, and take away the offence. *Iere. 3. 12.

24 Turne againe vnto the most High: for he will bring thee from darkenesse to wholesome light: forsake thine vnrighteousnesse, and hate greatly all abomination.

25 [Knowe the righteousnesse and iudgements of God: stand in the portion that is set forth for thee, in the prayer of the most High God, and goe in the partes of the holy worlde with such as be liuing and confesse God.]

26 * Who can praise the most High in the hel, as do all they that liue and confesse him: *Psal. 6. 5. & 88. 12, 13.

27 [Abide not thou in the errour of the vngodly, vngodly, but praise the Lord before death.]

28 Thankefulnes perisheth from the dead, as though he were not: but the liuing, and hee that is sound of heart, prayseth the Lorde, [and reioyceth in his mercie.]

26 How great is the louing kindnes of the Lord our God, and his compassion vnto such as turne vnto him in holinesse!

30 For al things can not be in men, because the sonne of man is not immortall, [and they take pleasure in the vanitie of wickednes.]

31 What is more cleare then the sunne: yet shall it faile.

32 So flesh and blood that thinketh euill, [shall be reproued.]

33 He seeth the power of the high heauen, and all men are but earth and ashes.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The marueilous workes of God. 6, 7 The miserie and wretchednesse of man. 9 Against God ought wee not to complaine. 21 The performing of vowes.

*Gen.1.1. HE that liueth for euer, * made all things together: the Lord who onely is iust, and there is none other but hee, [and he remaineth a victorious king for euer.]

2 He ordereth the world with the power of his hand, and all things obey his will: for hee gouerneth all things by his power, and diuideth the holy things from the prophane.

3 To whome hath he giuen power to expresse his works: who will seek out the ground of his noble actes:

4 Who shal declare the power of his greatnesse: or who will take vpon him to tell out his mercie:

5 As for the wonderous works of ỹ Lord, there may nothing be taken from them, neither can any thing be put vnto them, neither may the ground of them be found out.

6 But when a man hath done his best, hee must beginne againe, and when he thinketh to come to an end, he must go againe to his labor.

7 ¶ What is man: whereto serueth hee: what good or euill can he doe:

*Psal.90.10. 8 *If the number of a mans dayes bee an hundreth yeere it is much: and no man hath certaine knowledge of his death.

9 As drops of raine are vnto the sea, and as a grauel stone is in comparison of the sand, so are *a thousand yeres to the daies euerlasting.

*2.Pet.3.8. 10 Therefore is [God] patient with them, and powreth out his mercie vpon them,

11 He saw & perceiued that [the arrogancie of their heart, & their ruine was euil: therefore heaped hee vp his mercie vpon them, and shewed them the way of righteousnesse.]

12 The mercy that a man hath reacheth to his neighbor: but ỹ mercie of the Lord is vpon all flesh: he chasteneth, & nurtureth, & teacheth and bringeth backe, as a shepheard his flocke

13 He hath mercy of them that receiue discipline, and that diligently seek after his iudgments.

14 ¶ My sonne, when thou doest good, reproue not: and whatsoeuer thou giuest, vse no discomfortable words.

15 Shall not the deaw asswage the heat: so is a word better then a gift, 16 Loe, is not a worde better then a good gift: but a gracious man giueth them both.

17 A foole will reproth churlishly, and a gift of the enuious purreth out the eyes.

18 [Get thee righteousnesse before thou come to iudgement:]learne before thou speak, and vse physicke or euer thou be sicke.

*1.Cor.11.31. 19 * Examine thy selfe, before thou be iudged, and in the day of the visitatiõ thou shalt finde mercy.

20 Humble thy selfe before thou be sicke, and whilest thou mayest yet sinne, shewe thy conuersion.

21 Let nothing let thee to pay thy vowe in time, & deferre not vnto death to be reformed: [for the reward of God indureth for euer.]

22 Before thou prayest, prepare thy selfe, and be not as one that tempteth the Lord,

*Chap.7.17,36. 23 Thinke vpon the * wrath, that shall be at the end, and the houre of vengence, when he shall turne away his face.

*Chap.11.25. 24 * When thou hast enough, remember the time of hunger: & when thou art rich, think vpon pouertie and neede.

25 From the morning vntill the euening the time is changed, and all such things are done bone before the Lord.

26 A wise man feareth in all things, and in the dayes of transgression he keepeth himselfe from sinne: but the foole doth not obserue the time.

27 ¶ Euery wise man knoweth wisdom, & knowledge, & prayseth him that findeth her.

28 They that haue vnderstanding, deale wisely in words: [they vnderstand the truth and righteousnesse,] and powre out wise graue sentences for mans life.

29 The chiefe authoritie of speaking is of the Lord alone: for a mortall man hath but a dead heart.

*Rom.6.6.and 15.14. 30 ¶ * Follow not thy lusts, but turne thee from thine owne appetites.

31 For if thou giuest thy soule her desires, it shall make thine enemies that enuie thee, to laugh thee to scorne.

32 Take not thy pleasure in great voluptuousnesse, and intangle not thy selfe with such companie, 33 Become not a begger by making banketts of that that thou hast borrowed, and so leaue nothing in thy purse: else thou shouldest slanderously lie in waite for thine owne life.

A Labouring man that is giuen to drunkennes, shall not be rich: and he that contemneth small things, shall fall by litle and litle.

Gene.19.33. Iudi.11.1,2,4. 2 *Wine and women leade wise men out of the way, [and put men of vnderstanding to reproofe.]

3 And he that companieth adulterers, shall become impudent: rottennesse and wormes shall haue him in heritage, and hee that is too bolde, shal be taken away, and be made a publike example.

Iosh.22.11,12. 4 *He that is hastie to giue credite, is light minded, and he that erreth, sinneth against his owne soule.

5 Who so reioyceth in wickednesse, shalbe punished: [he that hateth to be reformed, his life shalbe shortened, and he that abhorreth babbling of words, quencheth wickednesse:] but he that resisteth pleasures, crowneth his owne soule.

6 He that refraineth his tongue, may liue with a troublesome man, and hee that hateth babbling, shall haue lesse euil.

7 Rehearse not to another that which is tolde vnto thee: so thou shalt not be hindred.

8 Declare not other mens maners, neither to friend nor foe: and if the sinne appertaine not vnto thee, reuelle it not.

9 For he wil hearken vnto thee, and marke thee, and when he findeth opportunitie, he will hate thee.

Chap.22.22. and 27.17. 10 *If thou hast heard a word [against thy neighbour,] let it die with thee, and be sure it will not burst thee.

11 A foole trauelleth when hee hath heard a thing, as a woman that is about to bring forth a child.

12 As an arrowe that sticketh in ones thigh, so is a word in a fooles heart.

Leuit.19.17. Matth.18.15. 13 *Reproue a friend lest he do euil, and if he haue done it, that he doe it no more.

14 Reproue a friend that he may keepe his tongue: and if he haue spoken, that he say it no more.

15 Tell thy friend his fault: for oft times a slaunder is raysed: and giue no credence to euery word.

16 A man falleth with his tongue, but not with his will: * and who is he, that hath not offended in his tongue?

*Iam.3.2.

17 Reproue thy neighbour before thou threaten him, and being without anger, giue place vnto the Law of the most High.

18 The feare of the Lorde is the first degree to bee receiued of him, and wisedome obteineth his loue.

19 The knowledge of the cõmandements of the Lord is the doctrine of life, and they that obey him, shal receiue the fruit of immortality.

20 The feare of the Lord is al wisdom, and the performing of the law is perfect wisdom, and the knowledge of his almightie power.

21 If a seruant say vnto his master, I will not doe as it pleaseth thee, though afterward hee doeit, he shall displease him that nourisheth him.

22 The knowledge of wickednesse is not wisedome, neither is there prudencie wheras the counsel of sinners is: but it is euen execrable malice, and the foole is voyd of wisedome.

23 He that hath small vnderstanding, and feareth God, is better then one that hath much wisedome, and transgresseth the Lawe of the most High.

24 There is a certaine subtiltie that is fine, but it is vnrighteous: and there is that wresteth the open and manifest Law: yet there is that is wise and iudgeth righteously.

25 There is some that beeing about wicked purposes, doe bowe downe themselues, and are sadde, whose inward parres burne altogether with deceite: he looketh downe with his face, and faineth himselfe deafe: yet before thou perceiue, he will be vpon thee to hurt thee.

26 And though he be so weake that he can do thee no harme, yet when he may finde opportunitie, he will do euil.

27 ¶ A man may be knowen by his looke, and one that hath vnderstanding, may be perceiued by the marking of his countenance.

28 *A mans garment, and his excelliue laughter, and going declare what person he is. *Chap.21.20,21

CHAP. XX.

Of correction and repentance. 6 To speake and keepe silence in time. 17 The fall of the wicked. 23 Of lying. 24 The thiefe and the murtherer. 28 Giftes blinde the eyes of the wise.

THere is some rebuke that is not comely: againe some man holdeth his tongue, and he is wise.

2 It is much better to reproue, then to beare euill will: and he that acknowledgeth his fault, shall be preserued from hurt.

3 As * when a gelded man through lust would defile a mayd, so is he that vseth violence in iudgement. *Chap.30.20.

4 How good a thing is it, when thou art reproued, to shew repentance! for so shalt thou escape wilful sinne.

5 Some man keepeth silence, and is found wise, and some by much babbling becommeth hatefull.

6 Some man holdeth his tongue, because hee hath not to answere: and some keepeth silence, silence, waiting a conuenient * time.

7 * A wise man will hold his tongue till he see opportunitie: but a trifler and a foole wil regard no time.

8 He that vseth many wordes, shall be abhorred, and he that taketh authoritie to himself, shall be hated.

9 Some man hath oft times prosperitie in wicked things, and some time a thing that is founde, bringeth losse.

10 There is some gift that is not profitable for thee, and there is some gift, whose reward is double.

11 Some man humbleth himselfe for glories sake, and some by humblenesse lifteth vp the head.

12 Some man buyeth much for a litle price: for ỳ which he paieth seuen times more.

13 * A wise man with his words maketh himselfe to be loued, but the merrie tales of fooles shall be powred out.

14 The gift receiued of a foole, shall doe thee no good, neither yet of the enuious for his importunitie: for hee looketh to receiue many things for one: hee giueth litle, and he vpbraideth much: hee openeth his mouth like a twone cryer: to day he lendeth, to morow asketh he againe, and such one is to be hated of of God and man.

15 The foole sayth, I haue no friende: I haue no thanke for all my good deedes: and they that eat my bread, speake euill of me.

16 How oft, and of how many shall he bee laughed to scorne: for hee comprehendeth not by right iudgement that which he hath: and it is all one as though he had it not.

17 The fall on a pauement is very sudden: so shall the fall of the wicked come hastily.

18 A man without grace is as a foolish tale which is oft told by the mouth of the ignorant.

19 A wise sentence loseth grace when it commeth out of a fooles mouth: for hee speaketh not in due season.

20 Some man sinneth not because of pouertie, and yet is not greiued when he is alone.

21 Some man there is that destroyeth his owne soule, because he is ashamed, and for the regard of persons, loseth it.

22 Some man promiseth vnto his friend for shame, and getteth an enemie of him for nought.

23 * A lie is a wicked shame in a man: yet is it oft in the mouth of the vnwise.

24 A thiefe is better, then a man that is accustomed to lie: but they both shall haue destruction to heritage.

25 The conditions of liers are vnhonest, and their shame is euer with them.

26 A wise man shall bring himselfe to honour with his wordes, and he that hath vnderstanding, shall please great men.

27 * He that tilleth his land, shall increase his heape: [hee that worketh righteousnesse, shall be exalted,] and hee that pleaseth great men, shall haue pardon of his iniquitie.

28 * Rewardes and giftes blinde the eyes of the wise, and make them dumme, that they can not reproue faultes.

29 Wisdome that is hid, and treasure that is hoarded vp, what profite is in them both?

30 Better is he that keepeth his ignorance secret, then a man that hideth his wisdome.

31 The necessarie patience of him, that followeth the Lord, is better then hee that gouerneth his life without the Lord.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Not to continue in sinne. 5 The prayer of the afflicted. 6 To hate to be reproued. 17 The mouth of the wise man. 26 The thought of the foole.

My sonne, hast thou sinned? doe so no more, * but pray for thy fore sinnes [that they may be forgiuen thee.]

2 Flee from sinne, as from a serpent: for if thou commest too neere it, it will bite thee: the teeth thereof are as the teeth of a Lyon, to slay the soules of men.

3 All iniquitie is as a two edged sword, the woundes whereof cannot be healed.

4 Strife and iniuries waste riches: so the house of the proude shall be desolate.

5 * The prayer of the poore going out of the mouth, commeth vnto the eares of the Lorde, and iustice is done him incontinently.

6 Who so hateth to be reformed, is in the way of sinners: but he that feareth the Lorde, conuerteth in heart.

7 An eloquent talker is knowen afarre off: but he that is wise, perceiueth when he falleth.

8 Who so buildeth his house with other mens money, is like one that gathereth stones to make his graue.

9 * The congregation of the wicked is like tow wrapped together: their ende is a flame of fire to destroy them.

10 The way of sinners is made plain with stones, but at the end thereof is hell, [darkenes and paines.]

11 He that keepeth the Law of the Lorde, ‖ruleth his owne affections therby: and the encrease of wisdom is the end of the feare of God.

12 He that is not wise, will not suffer him selfe to be taught: but there is some wit that increaseth bitternes.

13 The knowledge of the wise shall abound like water that runneth ouer, and his counsel is like a pure fountaine of life.

16 The talking of a foole is like a burden in the way, but there is comelinesse in the talke of a wise man.

17 They inquire at the mouth of the wise man in the congregation, and they shall ponder his wordes in their heart.

18 As is an house that is destroyed, so is wisedome vnto a foole, and the knowledge of the vnwise is as words without order.

19 Doctrine vnto fooles is as fetters on the feete, & like manacles vpon the right hand.

20 * A foole lifteth vp his voyce w laughter, but a wise man doeth scarce smile secretly. *Chap.19.27,28

21 Learning is vnto a wise man a iewel of golde, and like a bracelet vpon his right arme.

22 A foolish mans foote is soone in [his neighbours] house: but a man of experience is ashamed to looke in.

23 A foole will peepe in at the doore into the house: but hee that is well nurtured, will stand without.

24 It is the point of a foolish man to hearken at the doore: for hee that is wise, will bee grieued with such dishonour.

25 The lips of talkers will be telling such things as pertaine not vnto thē, but the words of such as haue vnderstanding, are weighed in the balance.

26 The heart of fooles is in their mouth: but the mouth of the wise is in their heart.

A Slouthfull man is like a filthie stone, which euery man mocketh at for his shame.

2 A slouthfull man is to bee compared to the dunge of oxen, and euery one that taketh it vp, will shake it out of his hand.

3 An euil nurtured sonne is the dishonour of the father: and the daughter is leaft to bee esteemed.

4 A wise daughter is an heritage vnto her husband: but she that liueth dishonestly, is her fathers heauinesse.

5 She that is bold, dishonoureth both her father & her husband, [and is not inferiour to the vngodly.] but they both shall despise her.

6 A talke out of time is as musicke in mourning: but wisedome knoweth the seasons of correction and doctrine.

7 Who so teacheth a foole, is as one that gleweth a potshard together, and as hee that waketh one that sleepeth, from a sound sleepe.

8 If children liue honestly, and haue wherwith, they shall put away the shame of their parents.

9 But if children be proud, with hautinesse and foolishnesse they defile the nobilitie of the kinred.

10 Who so telleth a foole of Wisedome, is as a man, which speaketh to one that is a sleepe: when he hath tolde his tale, hee sayth, What is the matter?

11 * Weepe for the dead, for hee hath lost the light: so weepe for the foole, for he wanteth vnderstanding: make small weeping for the dead, for he is at rest: but the life of the foole is worse then the death: *Chap.38.16.

12 Seuen dayes doe men mourne for him that is dead: but the lamentation for the foole, and vngodly [should endure] all the dayes of their life,

13 Talke not much with a foole, and goe not to him that hath no vnderstāding: * beware of him, lest it turne thee to paine, and lest thou bee defiled when he shaketh himselfe: Depart from him, and thou shalt finde rest, and shalt not receiue sorowe by his foolishnesse. *Chap.13.13.

14 What is heauier then leade? and what other name should a foole haue?

15 * Sand and salte, and a lumpe of yron is easier to beare, then an vnwise, [foolish and vngodly man.] *Prou.27.3

16 As a frame of wood ioyned together in a building cannot bee loosed with shaking, so the heart that is stablished by aduised counsell, shall feare at no time.

17 The heart that is confirmed by discreet wisdom, is as a faire plaistring on a plain wall.

18 As reedes that are set vp on hie, cannot abide the winde, so the feareful heart with foolish imagination can indure no feare.

19 He that hurteth the eye, bringeth forth teares, and he that hurteth the heart, bringeth forth the affection.

20 Who so casteth a stone at the birds, fraieth thē away: and he that vpbraideth his friend, breaketh friendship.

21 Though thou drewest a swoorde at thy friend, yet despaire not: for there may be a returning to fauour.

22 If thou hast opened thy mouth against thy friend, feare not: for there may be a reconciliation, so that vpbrayding or pride or disclosing of secrets or a traiterous wound doe not lett: for by these things euery friende will depart.

23 Be faithfull vnto thy friende in his pouertie, that thou mayest reioyce in his prosperitie. Abide stedfast vnto him in the time of his trouble, trouble, that thou mayest be heire with him in his heritage: for pouertie is not alwayes to bee contemned, nor the rich that is foolish, to be had in admiration.

24 As the vapour & smoke of the chimney goeth before the fire, so euill wordes [rebukes and threatnings] goe before blood shedding.

25 I wil not be ashamed to defend a friend: neither will I hide my selfe from him, though he should doe me harme: whosoeuer heareth it, shall beware of him.

Psal.141.3. 26 Who shall set * a watch before my mouth, and a seale of wisedome vpon my lips, that I fall not suddenly by them, and that my tongue destroy me not?

CHAP. XXIII.

1 A prayer of the autor. 13 Of Othes, blasphemie, and vnwise communication. 16 Of three kindes of sinnes. 23 Many sinnes proceede of aduiterie. 27 Of the feare of God.

O Lorde, father and gouernour of all my whole life, leaue me not to their counsell, and let me not fall by ‖ them. ‖ Or, my lippes.

2 Who will correct my thought, and put the doctrine of wisedome in mine heart, that they may not spare me in mine ignorance, neither let ‖ their faults passe: ‖ That is, of the tongue, and lips.

3 Lest mine ignorances increase, and my sinnes abound to my destruction, and lest I fal before mine aduersary, & mine enemies reioyce ouer me, whose hope is farre from thy mercy.

4 O Lorde, Father and God of my life, [leaue mee not in their imagination] neither giue mee a proude looke, but turne away from thy seruants a stout minde.

5 Take from me vaine hope, and concupiscence, and retaine him in obedience, that desireth continually to serue thee.

6 Let not the greedinesse of the belly, nor lust of the flesh holde me, and giue not me thy seruant ouer into an impudent minde.

7 ¶ Heare, O yee children, the instruction of a mouth that shal speake trueth: who so keepeth it, shall not perish through his lips, [nor be hurt by wicked works.]

8 The sinner shall bee taken by his owne lips: for the euill speaker and the proude doe offend by them.

Exod.20.7. deut.5.11. mat.5.33,34. 9 * Accustome not thy selfe to swearing: [for in it there are many falles,] neither take vp for a custome the naming of the Holy one: [for thou shalt not bee vnpunished for such things.]

10 For as a seruant which is oft punished, cannot be without some skarre, so he that sweareth, and nameth God continually, shall not be faultelesse.

11 A man that vseth much swearing, shall be filled with wickednesse, and the plague shall neuer goe from his house: when he shal offend: his fault shalbe vpon him, and if he knowledge not his sinne, he maketh a double offence: and if he sweare in vaine, he shall not bee innocent, but his house shalbe full of plagues.

12 There is a word which is clothed with death: God graunt that it bee not found in the heritage of Iacob: but they that feare God, eschew all such, and are not wrapped in sinne.

13 Vse not thy mouth to ‖ ignorant rashnesse: for therein is the occasion of sinne. ‖ Or, inordinate swearing.

14 ¶ Remember thy father and thy mother when thou art set among great men, lest thou be forgotten in their sight, and so through thy custome become a foole, and wish that thou haddest not bene borne, and curse the day of thy natiuitie.

15 * The man that is accustomed to opprobrious wordes, will neuer bee reformed all the dayes of his life. *2.Sam.16.7.

16 There are two sortes [of men] that abound in sinne, and the third bringeth wrath [and destruction:] a minde hote as fire, that cannot be quenched till it be consumed: an aduulterous man that giueth his body no rest, till he haue kindled a fire.

17 (All bread is sweete to a whoremonger: he will not leaue off till he perish)

18 A man that breaketh wedlocke, and thinketh thus in his heart; * Who seeth me: I am compassed about with darkenesse: the walles couer me: no body seeth mee: whome needs I to feare? the most High will not remember my sinnes. *Isa.29.15.

19 Such a man onely feareth the eyes of men, and knoweth not that the eyes of the Lord are ten thousand times brighter then the sunne, beholding all the wayes of men, [and the ground of the deepe,] and considereth the most secret parts.

20 He knewe all things or euer they were made, and after they be brought to passe also he looketh vpon them all.

21 * The same man shalbe punished in the streetes of the citie, [and shall be chased like a young horsefoale,] and when hee thinketh not vpon it, he shalbe taken: [thus shall he be put to shame of euery man, because hee would not vnderstand the feare of the Lord.] *Leuit.20.10. deut.22.22.

22 And thus shall it goe also with euery wife, that leaueth her husband, and getteth inheritance by another.

23 * For first she hath disobeyed the Lawe of the most High, and secondly shee hath trespassed against her owne husband, and thirdly, shee hath played the whore in aduultery, and gotten her children by another man. *Exod.20.14.

24 She shall be brought out into the congregation, and examination shall bee made of her children.

25 Her children shall not take roote, and her branches shall bring forth no fruite.

26 A shamefull report shall thee leaue, and her reproch shall not be put out.

27 And they that remaine, shall knowe that there is nothing better then the feare of the Lorde, and that there is nothing sweeter then to take heede vnto the commandements of the Lord.

28 It is great glorie to follow the Lorde and to be receiued of him is long life.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 A praise of wisedome proceeding foorth of the mouth of God. 6 Of her workes and place where shee resteth. 20 She is giuen to the children of God.

WIsedome shall praise her selfe, [and be honoured in God,] and reioyce in the middes of her people.

2 In the congregation of the most High shall she open her mouth, and triumph before his power.

3 [In the middes of her people shall shee be exalted, & wondred at in the holy assemblie.

4 In the multitude of the chosen shee shal be commended, and among such as be blessed, she shall be praised, and shall say,]

5 I am come out of the mouth of the most High, [first borne before all creatures.

6 I caused the light that faileth not, to arise in the heauen,] and couered the earth as a cloud.

7 My dwelling is aboue the height, and my throne is in the pillar of the cloud.

8 I alone haue gone round about the compasse of heauen, and haue walked in the bottome of the depth.

9 I possessed the waues of the sea, and all the earth, and al people, and nations, [and with my power haue I troden downe the hearts of all, both high and low.]

10 In all these things I sought rest, and a dwelling in some inheritance.

11 So the creator of all things gaue me a commandement, and he that made me, appointed me a tabernacle, and said, Let thy dwelling be in Iacob, and take thine inheritance in Israel, and roote thy selfe among my chosen.

*Pro.8.23. 12 *He created mee from the beginning, and before the worlde, and I shall neuer faile:

*Exod.31.3. *In the holy habitation haue I serued before him, and so was I established in Sion.

*Psal.132.8. 13 *In the welbeloued citie gaue he mee rest, and in Ierusalem was my power.

14 I tooke roote in an honourable people, euen in the portion of the Lords inheritance.

15 I am set vp on hie like a cedar in Libanus, & as a cypres tree vpon the mountaines of Hermon.

‖Or, in Cades. 16 I am exalted like a palme tree ‖ about the bankes, and as a rose plant in Iericho, as a faire oliue tree in a pleasant field, and am exalted as a plane tree by the water.

17 I smelled as the cinamom, and as a bag of spices: I gaue a sweete odour as the best mirrhe, as galbanum, and onix, and sweete storax, and perfume of incense in an house.

18 As the terebinth, haue I stretched out my branches, and my branches are the branches of honour and grace.

19 *As the vine haue I brought foorth [fruite] of sweete sauour, and my flowres are the fruite of honour and riches. *Iohn 15.1.

20 I am the mother of beautifull loue, and of feare, and of knowledge, and of holy hope: I giue eternall things to all my children to whom God hath commanded.

21 [In mee is all grace of life and trueth: in me is all hope of life and vertue.]

22 Come vnto me all ye that bee desirous of me, and fill your selues with my fruites.

23 *For the remembrance of me is sweeter then honie, and mine inheritance [sweeter] then the honie combe: [the remembrance of me endureth for euermore.] *Psal.19.10,11.

24 They that eate me, shall haue the more hunger, and they that drinke me, shall thirst the more.

25 Who so hearkeneth vnto me, shall not come to confusion, and they that worke by me, shall not offend: [they that make mee to bee knowen, shall haue euerlasting life.]

26 All these things are the booke [of life,] and the couenant of the most high God, [and the knowledge of the trueth,] * and the Law that Moyses [in the precептes of righteousnesse] commaunded for an heritage vnto the house of Iacob, [and the promises pertaining vnto Israel.] *Exod.20.1.and 24.3. deut.4.1.and 29.9.

27 Bee not wearie to behaue your selues valiantly with the Lord, that he may also confirme you: cleaue vnto him: for the Lorde Almightie is but one God, and besides him there is none other Sauiour.

28 [Out of Dauid his seruant he ordeined to raise vp a mightie King that shoulde sit in the throne of honour for euermore.]

29 He filleth all things with his wisdome, as *Physon, and as Tygris, in the time of the newe fruites. *Gene.2.11.

30 Hee maketh the vnderstanding to abound like Euphrates, and as *Iorden, in the time of the harueſt. *Iosh.3.15.

31 He maketh the doctrine of knowledge to appeare as the light, and ouerfloweth as Geon in the time of the vintage.

32 The first man hath not knowen her perfectly: no more shall the last seeke her out, 33 For her considerations are more abundant then the sea, and her counsell is profounder then the great deepe.

34 I wisdome [haue cast out floods:] I am as an arme of the riuer: I run into Paradise as as a water conduite.

35 I sayde, I will water my faire garden, and will water my pleasant ground: and loe, my ditch became a flood, and my flood became a sea.

36 For I make doctrine to shine as the light of the morning, and I lighten it for euer.

37 [I will pearce thorowe all the lower partes of the earth: I will looke vpon all such as be asleepe, and lighten all them that trust in the Lord.]

38 I will yet powre out doctrine, as prophecie, and leaue it vnto all ages for euer.

39 *Beholde that I haue not laboured for my selfe onely, but for all them that seeke wisedome.

*Chap.33.16.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Of three things which please God, and of three which he hateth. 7 Of nine things which he not to bee suspected. 14 Of the malice of a woman.

THree things reioyce me, and by them am I beautified before God and men: * the vnitie of brethren, the loue of neighbours, a man and wife that agree together.

*Gen.13.8, 10, rom.12.10.

2 Three sorts of men my soule hateth, and I vtterly abhorre the life of them: a poore man that is proude: a rich man that is a lyar: and an olde adulterer that doteth.

3 If thou hast gathered nothing in thy youth, what canst thou finde in thine age?

4 Oh, howe pleasant a thing is it when gray headed men minister iudgement, and when the elders can giue good counsell!

5 Oh, howe comely is wisedome vnto the aged men, and vnderstanding and prudencie to men of honour!

6 The crowne of olde men is to haue much experience, and the feare of God is their glorie.

7 There be nine things, which I haue iudged in mine heart to be happy, and the tenth will I pronounce with my tongue: a man that while he liueth, hath ioy of his children, and seeth the fall of his enemies.

8 Well is him that dwelleth with a wife of vnderstanding, * and that hath not fallen with his tongue, and that hath not serued such as are vnworthy of him.

*Chap.14.1. and 19.16, iam.3.2.

9 Well is him that findeth prudencie, and he that speaketh in the eares of them that will heare.

10 Oh, howe great is hee that findeth wisedome! yet is there none aboue him, that feareth the Lord.

11 The feare of the Lord passeth all things in clearenesse.

12 [Blessed is the man vnto whome it is granted to haue the feare of God.] Vnto whom shall he be likened that hath attained it?

13 The feare of the Lord is the beginning of his loue, and faith is the beginning to be ioyned vnto him.

14 [The greatest heauinesse is the heauinesse of the heart, and the greatest malice is the malice of a woman.]

15 Giue mee any plague, saue onely the plague of the heart, and any malice, saue the malice of a woman.

16 Or any assault, saue the assault of them that hate, or any vengeance, saue the vengeance of the enemie.

17 There is not a more wicked head then the head of a serpent, and there is no wrath aboue the wrath of an ‖ enemie.

‖Or, woman.

18 * I had rather dwell with a lion & dragon, then to keepe house with a wicked wife.

*Prou.21.19.

19 The wickednesse of a woman changeth her face, and maketh her countenance blacke as ‖ a sacke.

‖Or, beare.

20 Her husband is sitting among his neighbours: because of her hee sigheth sore or he beware.

21 All wickednesse is but little to the wickednesse of a woman: let the portion of the sinner fall vpon her.

22 As the climing vp of a sandie way is to the feete of the aged, so is a wife full of words to a quiet man.

23 * Stumble not at the beautie of a woman, and desire her not for thy pleasure.

*Chap.42.12. 2.sam.11.2, and 13.2.

24 If a woman nourish her husbande, shee is angrie and impudent and full of reproch.

25 A wicked wife maketh a sorie heart, an heauie countenance, and a wounded minde, weake handes and feeble knees, and can not comfort her husband in heauinesse.

26 Of the * woman came the beginning of sinne, and through her we all die.

*Gene.3.6. 1.tim.2.14.

27 Giue the water no passage, [no not a little,] neither giue a wicked woman libertie to goe out.

28 If shee walke not in thine obedience, [shee shall confound thee in the sight of thine enemies.] Cut her off then from thy flesh Giue her, and forsake her.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 The prayse of a good woman. 5 Of the feare of three things, and of the fourth. 6 Of the ielous and drunken woman. 29 Of two things that cause sorowe, and of the third which mooueth wrath.

BLessed is the man that hath a vertuous wife: for the number of his yeeres shalbe double.

2 An honest woman reioyceth her husband, and shee shall fill the yeeres of his life with peace.

3 A vertuous woman is a good portion, which shall bee giuen for a gift vnto such as feare the Lord.

4 Whether a man be rich or poore, he hath a good heart toward the Lorde, and they shall at all times haue a cheerefull countenance.

5 ¶ There be three things that mine heart feareth, and my face is afraide of the fourth: treason in a citie: the assemblie of the people, and false accusation: all these are heauier then death.

6 ¶ But the sorrowe and griefe of the heart is a woman that is ielous ouer another: and she that communeth with all, is a scourge of the tongue.

7 An euill wife is a yoke of oxen that draw diuers wayes: hee that hath her, is as though he held a scorpion.

8 A drunken woman and such as can not be tamed, is a great plague: for shee cannot couer her owne shame.

9 The whoredome of a woman may be knowen in the pryde of her eyes, and eye lids.

[a]Chap.42,11. 10 ¶* If thy daughter be not shamefast, hold her streitly, lest she abuse herselfe through ouermuch libertie.

11 Take heede of her that hath an vnshamefast eye: and marueile not if she trespasse against thee.

12 As one that goeth by the way, and is thirstie, so shall she open her mouth, and drinke of euery next water: by euery hedge shall shee sit downe, and open her quiuer against euery arrowe.

13 The grace of a wife reioyceth her husband, and feedeth his bones with her vnderstanding.

14 A peaceable woman and of a good heart is a gift of the Lorde, and there is nothing so much worth as a woman well instructed.

15 A shamefast and a faithfull woman is a double grace, and there is no weight to bee compared vnto her continent minde.

16 As the sunne when it ariseth in the high places of the Lorde, so is the beautie of a good wife the ornament of her house.

17 As the cleere light is vpon the holy candlesticke, so is the beautie of the face in a ripe age.

18 As the golden pillars are vpon the sockets of siluer: so are faire feete with a constant minde.

19 [Perpetuall are the foundations that be layde vpon a strong rocke: so are the commaundements of God in the heart of an holy woman.]

20 My sonne, keepe the strength of thine age stable, and giue not thy strength to strangers.

21 When thou hast gotten a fruitfull possession through all thy fields, sow it with thine owne seede, trusting in thy nobilitie.

22 So thy stocke that shall liue after thee, shall growe, trusting in the great liberalitie of their nobilitie.

23 An harlot is compared to a sowe: but the wife that is married, is counted as a towre against death to her husband.

24 A wicked woman is giuen as a reward to a wicked man: but a godly woman is giuen to him that feareth the Lord.

25 A shamelesse woman contemneth shame: but a shamefast woman will reuerence her husband.

26 A shamelesse woman is compared to a dog: but she that is shamefast, reuerenceth the Lord.

27 A woman that honoureth her husband, shall be iudged wise of all: but she that despiseth him, shalbe blased for her pryde.

28 A loud crying woman & a babler, let her be sought out to driue away the enemies: the mind of euery man that liueth with such, shall be conuersant among the troubles of warre.

29 There be two things that grieue mine heart, & the third maketh me angrie: a man of warre that suffreth pouertie: and men of vnderstanding that are not set by: and when one departeth from righteousnesse vnto sinne: the Lord appoynteth such to the sword.

30 [There be two things, which me thinke to bee hard and perillous.] A merchant cannot lightly keepe him from wrong, and a vitailer is not without sinne.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Of the poore that would be rich. 5 The probation of the man that feareth God. 13 The vnconstantnesse of a foole. 16 The secrets of friends are not to be vttered. 26 The wicked imagineth euill, which turneth vpon himselfe.

BEcause of pouertie haue many sinned: and *he that seeketh to be rich, turneth his eyes aside. *1.Tim.6.6. prou.23.4.

2 As a naple in the wall sticketh fast betweene the ioyntes of the stones, so doth sinne sticke betweene the selling and the buying.

3 If hee holde him not diligently in the feare of the Lorde, his house shall soone bee ouerthrowen.

4 As when one sifteth, the filthinesse remaineth in the sieue, so the filth of man remaineth in his thought.

5 The fornace proueth the potters vessell: *so doeth [tentation] trie mens thoughts. *Prou.27.21.

6 *The fruite declareth if the tree haue bene trimmed: so the worde [declareth] what man hath in his heart. *Matth.7.17.

7 Praise no man, except thou haue heard his talke: for this is the triall of men.

8 ¶ If thou followest righteousnesse, thou shalt get her, and put her on as a faire garment, [and shalt dwell with her, and shee shall defend thee for euer: and in the day of knowledge thou shalt finde stedfastnesse.]

9 The

9 The birds reſort vnto their like: ſo doth the trueth turne vnto them, that are practiſed in her.

10 As the lyon waiteth for the beaſt, ſo doth ſinne vpon them that doe euill.

11 The talking of him that feareth God, is all wiſedome: as for a foole, hee changeth as the moone.

12 If thou be among the vndiſcreete, obſerue the time, but haunt ſtill the aſſemblie of them that are wiſe.

13 The talking of fooles is grieuous, and their ſport is in the pleaſure of ſinne.

*Chap.23.9, 10. 14 *The talke of him that ſweareth much, maketh the haire to ſtand vp: and to ſtriue with ſuch, ſtoppeth the eares.

15 The ſtrife of the proude is blood ſhedding, & their ſcoldings are grieuous to heare.

*Chap.19.10. and 22.22. 16 *Who ſo diſcouereth ſecrets, loſeth his credite, and findeth no friend after his will.

17 Loue thy friend, and bee faithfull vnto him: but if thou bewrayeſt his ſecretes, thou ſhalt not get him againe.

18 For as a man deſtroyeth his enemie, ſo doeſt thou deſtroy the friendſhip of thy neighbour.

19 As one that letteth a birde goe out of his hand, ſo if thou giue ouer thy friend, thou canſt not get him againe.

20 Follow after him no more, for he is too farre off: hee is as a roe eſcaped out of the ſnare: [for his ſoule is wounded.]

21 As for wounds, they may be bound vp againe, and an euill worde may be reconciled: but who ſo bewrayeth the ſecretes of a friend, hath loſt all his credite.

*Prou.10.10. 22 *He that winketh with the eyes, imagineth euill: and hee that knoweth him, will let him alone.

23 When thou art preſent, he will ſpeake ſweetely, and praiſe thy wordes: but at the laſt he will turne his tale, and ſlander thy ſaying.

24 Many things haue I hated, but nothing ſo euill as ſuch one: for the Lord alſo hateth him.

25 Who ſo caſteth a ſtone on hie, caſteth it vpon his owne head: and he that ſmiteth with guile maketh a great wound.

*Gal.7.15.pro. 26.27.eccle.10.8 26 Who ſo *diggeth a pit, ſhal fal therein, [and hee that layeth a ſtone in his neighbours way, ſhal ſtumble theron,] and he that layeth a ſnare for another, ſhalbe taken in it himſelfe.

27 He that worketh euill, ſhal be wrapped in euills, and ſhall not know from whence they come vnto him.

28 Mockerie & reproch followe the proud, and vengeance lurketh for them as a lyon.

29 They that reioyce at the fal of the righteous, ſhall bee taken in the ſnare, and anguiſh ſhall conſume them before they dye.

30 Deſpite & anger are abominable things, and the ſinfull man is ſubiect to them both.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 Wee ought not to deſire vengeance, but to forgiue the offence. 13 Of the vices of the tongue, and of the dangers thereof.

*Deut.32.35. rom.12.19. HE * that ſeeketh vengeance, ſhall finde vengeance of the Lorde, and he will ſurely keepe his ſinnes.

Man ought not to ſeeke vengeance. 2 ‖ Forgiue thy neighbour the hurt that he hath done to thee, ſo ſhall thy ſinnes be forgiuen thee alſo, when thou prayeſt.

3 Should a man beare hatred againſt man, and * deſire forgiuenes of the Lord:

*Matth.6.14. 4 He will ſhew no mercie to a man, which is like himſelfe: and will hee aſke forgiuenes of his owne ſinnes?

5 If he that is but fleſh, nouriſheth hatred [and aſke pardon of God,] who will intreate for his ſinnes?

6 Remember the ende, and let enimitie paſſe: imagine not death and deſtruction to another through anger, but perſeuere in the commandements.

7 Remember the cõmandements: ſo ſhalt thou not bee rigorous againſt thy neighbour: [and conſider diligently] the couenant of the moſt High, and forgiue his ignorance.

*Chap.8.1. 8 *Beware of ſtrife, and thou ſhalt make thy ſinnes fewer: for an angrie man kindleth ſtrife.

9 And the ſinfull man diſquieteth friends, and bringeth in falſe accuſations among them that be at peace.

*Prou.16.21. 10 *As the matter of the fire is, ſo it burneth, and mans anger is according to his power: and according to his riches his anger increaſeth, and the more vehement the anger is, the more is he inflamed.

11 An haſtie brawling kindleth a fire, and an haſtie fighting ſheadeth blood: [a tongue that beareth falſe witneſſe, bringeth death.]

12 If thou blowe the ſparke, it ſhal burne: if thou ſpit vpon it, it ſhall bee quenched, and both theſe come out of the mouth.

‖ The tongue. *Chap.11.28. 13 ‖ *Abhorre the ſlanderer, and double tongued: for ſuch haue deſtroyed many that were at peace.

14 The double tongue hath diſquieted many, and driuen them from nation to nation: ſtrong cities hath it broken downe, and ouerthrowen the houſes of great men, [the ſtrength of the people hath it brought downe, and bene the decay of mightie nations.]

15 The double tongue hath caſt out many vertuous women, and robbed them of their labours.

16 Who ſo hearkeneth vnto it, ſhall neuer finde reſt, and neuer dwell quietly.

17 The ſtroke of the rod maketh markes in the flesh, but the stroke of the tongue breaketh the bones.

18 There bee many that haue perished by the edge of the sworde, but not so many as haue fallen by the tongue.

19 Well is him that is kept from an euill tongue, and commeth not in the anger thereof, which hath not drawen the yoke, neither hath bene bound in the bandes thereof.

20 For the yoke thereof is a yoke of yron, and the bandes of it are bandes of brasse.

21 The death thereof is an euil death: hell were better then suchone.

22 It shall not haue rule ouer them that feare God, neither shall they be burnt with the flame thereof.

23 Such as forsake the Lorde, shall fall therein: & it shall burne them, and no man shall be able to quench it: it shall fall vpon them as a lyon, and deuoure them as a leopard.

24 Hedge thy possession with thornes, and make doores and barres for thy mouth.

25 Binde vp thy siluer & golde, and weigh thy wordes in a balance, and make a doore and a barre, [and a sure bridle] for thy mouth.

26 Beware that thou slide not by it, and so fall before him that lyeth in waite, [and thy fall be incurable, euen vnto death.]

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Doe lend money, and doe almes. 15 Of a faithfull man answering for his friend. 24 The poore mans life.

‖Of well doing.

HE that will shew mercie, ‖lendeth to his neighbour: and he that hath power ouer himselfe keepeth the commandements.

*Deut.15.7,8.

2 *Lende to thy neighbour in time of his neede, and pay thou thy neighbour againe in due season.

3 Keepe thy word, and deale faithfully with him, and thou shalt alway finde the thing that is necessarie for thee.

4 Many when a thing was lent them, reckened it to be found, and grieued them that had holpen them.

5 Till they receiue, they kisse his hands, and for their neighbours good they humble their voyce: but when they should pay againe, they prolong the terme, & giue a careleſſe answere, and make excuses by reason of the time.

6 And though hee be able, yet giueth hee scarce the halfe againe, and reckeneth the other as a thing found: els he deceiueth him of his money, and maketh him an enemie without a cause: he payeth him with cursing and rebuke, and giueth him euill words for his good deede.

7 There be many which refuse to lend because of this inconuenience, fearing to bee defrauded without cause.

8 Yet haue thou patience with him that humbleth himselfe, and deferre not mercie from him.

9 Helpe the poore for the commandements sake, and turne him not away, because of his pouertie.

10 Lose thy money for thy brothers and neighbours sake, and let it not rust vnder a stone to thy destruction.

11 *Bestowe thy treasure after the commandement of the most high, and it shal bring thee more profite then gold. *Dan.4.24. matth.6.20. luke 11.41. and 12.33.

14 It shall fight for thee against thine enemies, better then the shield of a strong man, or speare of the mightie.

15 An honest man is ‖suretie for his neighbour: but he that is impudent, forsaketh him. ‖Of suretiship.

16 Forget not the friendship of thy suretie: for he hath layd his life for thee.

17 The wicked despiseth the good deede of his suretie.

18 The wicked will not become suretie: and hee that is of vnthankefull minde, forsaketh him that deliuered him.

19 [Some man promiseth for his neighbour: and when hee hath lost his honestie, hee will forsake him.]

20 Suretiship hath destroyed many a rich man, and remoued them as the wayes of the sea: mighty men hath it driuen away from their houses, and caused them to wander among strange nations.

21 A wicked man transgressing the commandements of the Lord shall fall into suretiship: and hee that medleth much with other mens businesse, is intangled in controuersies.

22 ℂ Helpe thy neighbour according to thy power, and beware that thou thy selfe fall not.

23 *The chiefe thing of life is water, and bread, and clothing, and lodging to couer thy shame. *Chap.39.26.

24 ‖The poore mans life in his owne lodge is better then delicate fare in another mans. ‖Or, sober liuing.

25 Be it little or much, holde thee contented, that the house speake not euill of thee.

26 For it is a miserable life to goe from house to house: for where thou art a stranger, thou darest not open thy mouth.

27 Thou shalt lodge and feede vnthankefull men, and after shalt haue bitter wordes for the same, saying, 28 Come thou stranger, and prepare the table, and feede me of that thou hast ready.

29 Giue place, thou stranger, to an honourable man: my brother commeth to be be lodged, and I haue neede of mine house.

30 These things are heauie to a man that hath vnderstanding, the vpbraiding of the house, and the reproch of the lender.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Of the correction of children. 14 Of the commoditie of health, 17 Death is better then a sorowfull life. 22 Of the ioye and sorow of the heart.

1 Pro.13.24. and 23.13. HE that loueth his sonne, * causeth him oft to feele the rodde, that he may haue ioy of him in the end.

2 He that chastiseth his sonne, shall haue ioy in him, and shall reioyce of him among his acquaintance.

1 Deut.8.5. 3 Hee that * teacheth his sonne, grieueth the enemie, and before his friendes he shall reioyce of him.

4 Though his father dye, yet is hee as though he were not dead: for hee hath left one behinde him that is like him.

5 In his life he sawe him, and had ioye in him, and was not sorie in his death, [neither was he ashamed before his enemies.]

6 He left behinde him an auenger against his enemies, and one that should shew fauour vnto his friendes.

7 He that flattereth his sonne, bindeth vp his woundes, and his heart is grieued at euery cry.

8 An vntamed horse wil be stubburne, and a wanton childe will be wilfull.

9 If thou bring vp thy sonne delicately, he shall make thee afraide: and if thou play with him, he shall bring thee to heauinesse.

10 Laugh not with him least thou be sorie with him, and least thou gnash thy teeth in the ende.

1 Chap.7.23. 11 * Giue him no libertie in his youth, and winke not at his follie.

12 Bowe downe his necke while hee is yong, and beate him on the sides, while hee is a childe, least he ware stubburne, and be disobedient vnto thee, and so bring sorowe to thine heart.

13 Chastise thy childe, and bee diligent therein, least his shame grieue thee.

‖ The praise of health. 14 ℭ ‖ Better is the poore, being whole and strong, then a rich man that is afflicted in his bodie.

15 Health and strength is aboue all golde, and a whole bodie aboue infinite treasure.

16 There is no riches aboue a sound body, and no ioy aboue the ioy of the heart.

17 Death is better then a bitter life, [and long rest,] then continuall sickenesse.

18 The good things that are powred on a mouth shut vp, are as messes of meate set vpon a graue.

19 What good doeth the offering vnto an idole? for he can neither eate nor smell: so is he that is persecuted of the Lorde, [and beareth thereward of iniquitie.]

20 He seeth with his eyes, and groneth like * a gelded man, that lyeth with a virgin and sigheth. * Chap.20.3.

21 * Giue not ouer thy minde vnto heauinesse, and vexe not thy selfe in thine owne counsell. * Prou.12.25. and 15.13. and 17.22.

22 The ioy of the heart is the life of man, and a mans gladnesse is the prolonging of his dayes.

23 Loue thine owne soule, and comfort thine heart: driue sorow farre from thee: for sorowe hath slaine many, and there is no profite therein.

24 Enuie and wrath shorteth the life, and carefulnesse bringeth age before the time.

25 A noble and good heart will haue consideration of his meate and diet.

CHAP. XXXI.

Of couetousnesse. 2 Of them that take paine to gather riches. 8 The praise of a rich man without a fault. 12 We ought to flee drunkennesse, and follow sobernesse.

WAking ‖ after * riches pineth away the body, and the care thereof driueth away sleepe. ‖ Couetousnesse. * 1.Tim.6.9,10.

2 This waking care breaketh the sleepe, as a great sickenesse breaketh the sleepe.

3 The rich hath great labour in gathering riches together, and in his rest hee is filled with pleasures.

4 The poore laboureth in liuing poorely, and when he leaueth off, he is still poore.

5 He that loueth golde, shall not be iustified, and he that followeth corruption, shal haue ynough thereof.

6 * Many are destroyed by the reason of golde, and haue found their destruction before them. * Chap.8.2.

7 It is a stumbling blocke vnto them that sacrifice vnto it, and euery foole is taken therewith.

8 Blessed is the * rich which is founde without blemish, and hath not gone after gold, [nor hoped in money and treasures.] * Luke 6.24.

9 Who is he, and we wil commend him? for wonderfull things hath hee done among people.

10 Who hath bene tryed thereby, and founde perfite? let him be an example of glorie, who might offend, and hath not offended, or doe euill, and hath not done it.

11 Therefore shall his goods be stablished, and the congregation shall declare his almes.

12 If thou sit at a costly table, ‖ open not thy mouth wide vpon it, and say not, Beholde much meate. ‖ Temperancie.

13 Remember that an euill eye is a shrew: and what thing created is worse then a wicked eye? for it weepeth for euery cause.

14 Stretch

14 Stretch not thine hand whereſoeuer it looketh, and thruſt it not with it into the diſh.

15 Conſider by thy ſelfe him that is by thee, and marke euery thing.

16 Eate modeſtly that which is ſet before thee, and deuoure not, leaſt thou be hated.

17 Leaue thou off firſt for nurtours ſake, and be not inſatiable, leaſt thou offend.

18 When thou ſitteſt among many, reach not thine hand out firſt of all.

*Chap.37.29. 19 *How little is ſufficient for a man wel taught? and therely hee belcheth not in his chamber, [nor feeleth any paine.]

20 A wholeſome ſleepe commeth of a temperate bellie: hee riſeth vp in the morning, and is well at eaſe in himſelfe: but paine in watching and cholericke diſeaſes and pangs of the bellie are with an vnſatiable man.

21 If thou haſt beene forced to eate, ariſe, goe forth, vomite, and then take thy reſt [ſo ſhalt thou bring no ſickeneſſe to thy body.]

22 My ſonne, heare me, and deſpiſe me not, and at the laſt thou ſhalt finde as I haue tolde thee: in all thy workes be quicke, ſo ſhall there no ſickeneſſe come vnto thee.

*Prou.22.9. Liberalitie. 23 * Who ſo is ‖ liberall in his meate, men ſhall bleſſe him: and the teſtimonie of his honeſtie ſhall be beleeued.

24 But againſt him that is a niggard of his meate the whole citie ſhal murmure: the teſtimonies of his niggardneſſe ſhall be ſure.

25 Shew not thy valiantnes in wine: for *Iudith. 13.2,8. * wine hath deſtroyed many.

26 The fornace proueth the edge in the tempering: ſo doeth wine the heartes of the proude by drunkenneſſe.

*Pſal.104.15. prou.31.4,5,6,7. 27 * Wine ſoberly drunken, is profitable for the life of man: what is his life that is ouercome with wine?

28 Wine was made [from the beginning] to make men glad, [and not for drunkenneſſe.] Wine meaſurably drunken and in time, bringeth gladneſſe and chearefulneſſe of the minde.

29 But wine drunken with exceſſe, maketh bitterneſſe of minde with brawlings and ſcouldings.

30 Drunkenneſſe encreaſeth the courage of a foole, till hee offend: it diminiſheth his ſtrength and maketh woundes.

*Chap.20.1. 31 * Rebuke not thy neighbour at the wine, and deſpiſe him not in his mirth: giue him no deſpiteful wordes, and preſſe not vpon him with contrary wordes.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 An exhortation to modeſtie. 3 Let the ancient ſpeake. 14 To giue thanks after the repaſt. 25 Of the feare, faith and confidence in God.

IF thou bee made the maſter of the feaſt ‖ lift not thy ſelfe vp, but be among them, as one of the reſt: take diligent care for them, and ſo ſit downe. ‖ Humblenes.

2 And when thou haſt done all thy duetie, ſit downe, that thou maieſt bee merrie with them, and receiue a crowne for thy good behauiour.

3 Speake thou that art the elder: for it becommeth thee, but with ſounde iudgement and hinder not muſicke.

4 Powre not out words, where there is no audience, * and ſhew not foorth wiſedome out of time. *Eccle.3.7. chap.20.7.

5 The conſent of muſicians at a banket is as a ſignet of carbuncle ſet in golde.

6 And as the ſignet of an Emeraude well trimmed with gold, ſo is the melodie of muſick in a pleaſant banket.

7 [Giue eare, and be ſtill, and for thy good behauiour thou ſhalt be loued.

8 Thou that art yong ſpeake if neede bee, and yet ſcarcely when thou art twiſe aſked.

9 Comprehende much in fewe wordes: [in many things bee as one that is ignorant:] bee as one that vnderſtandeth, and yet holde thy tongue.

10 If thou be among *great men, compare not thy ſelfe vnto them: & when an elder ſpeaketh, babble not much. *Iob.32.6.

11 Before the thunder goeth lightning, and before a ſhamefaſt man goeth fauour.

12 Stand vp betimes, and be not the laſt: but get thee home without delay.

13 And there take thy paſtime, and doe what thou wilt, ſo that thou doe none euill, or vſe proude words.

14 But aboue all things, giue thanks vnto him that hath made thee, & repleniſhed thee with his goods.

15 ¶ Who ſo feareth the Lorde, will receiue his doctrine, and they that riſe early, ſhall finde fauour.

16 He that ſeeketh the Law, ſhall be filled therewith, but the hypocrite will be offended thereat.

17 They that feare the Lorde, ſhall finde that which is righteous, and kindle iuſtice as a light.

18 An vngodly man will not be reformed, but findeth our excuſes according to his will.

19 A man of vnderſtanding deſpiſeth not counſell: but a lewde and proude man is not touched with feare, euen when hee hath done raſhly.

20 [My ſonne,] doe nothing without aduiſement: ſo ſhall it not repent thee after the deede.

21 Go not in the way where thou mayeſt fall, nor where thou mayeſt ſtumble among the the stones, neither trust thou in the way that is plaine.

22 And beware of thine owne children, [and take heede of them that bee thine owne houshold.]

23 In euery good worke bee of a faithful heart: for this is the keeping of the commandements.

‖Or, the Law. 24 Who so beleeueth in ‖the Lorde, keepeth the commandements: and hee that trusteth in the Lord, shall take no hurt.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The deliuerance of him that feareth God. 4 The answere of the wise. 12 Man is in the hand of God, as the clay is in the hand of the potter. 23 Of euil seruants.

‖The feare of God. THere shall no euil come vnto him that ‖feareth the Lord: but when he is in tentation, he will deliuer him againe.

2 A wise man hateth not the Lawe: but he that is an hypocrite therein, is as a ship in a storme.

3 A man of vnderstanding walketh faithfully in the Law, and the Law is faithfull vnto him.

4 As the question is made, prepare the answere, and so shalt thou be heard: bee sure of the matter, and so answere.

*Chap.21.16. 5 The heart of the foolish * is like a cart wheele: and his thoughts are like a rolling axeltree.

6 As a wild horse neyeth vnder euery one that sitteth vpon him, so is a scornefull friend.

7 Why doeth one day excell another, seeing that the light of the dayes of the yere come of the sunne?

8 The knowledge of the Lord hath parted them asunder, and he hath by them disposed the times and solemne feastes.

9 Some of them hath he chosen and sanctified, and some of them hath hee put among the dayes to nomber.

*Gen.1.27. and 2.7. 10 And all men are of the * ground, and Adam was created out of the earth: but ỹ Lord hath deuided them by great knowledge, and made their wayes diuers.

11 Some of them hath he blessed and exalted, and some of them hath hee sanctified, and approprate to himselfe: but some of them hath he cursed, and brought them lowe, and put them out of their estate.

*Ie.45.9.rom. 9.20,21. 12 * As the clay is in the potters hand, to order it at his pleasure, so are men also in the hand of their Creator, so that hee may reward them as liketh him best.

13 Against euill is good, and against death is life: so is the godly against the sinner, and the vngodly against the faithfull.

14 So in all the workes of the most High thou mayest see that there are euer two, one against another.

15 ¶ I am awaked vp last of all, as one that gathereth after them in the vintage. In the blessing of the Lorde I am increased, and haue filled my wine presse, like a grape gatherer.

16 *Beholde, how I haue not laboured onely for my selfe, but for all them that seeke knowledge. *Chap.24.39.

17 Heare me, O ye great men of the people, and hearken with your eares, ye rulers of the Congregation.

18 Giue not thy sonne and wife, thy brother and friende, power ouer thee while thou liuest, and giue not away thy substance to another, least it repent thee, and thou intreate for the same againe.

19 As long as thou liuest, and hast breath, giue not thy selfe ouer to any person.

20 For better it is that thy children should pray vnto thee, then that thou shouldest looke vp to the hands of thy children.

21 In al thy workes be excellent, that thine honour be neuer stained.

22 At the time when thou shalt ende thy dayes, and finish thy life, distribute thine inheritance.

23 ¶ The fodder, the whippe and the burden belong vnto the asse: and meate, correction and worke, vnto thy seruant.

24 If thou set thy seruant to labour, thou shalt finde rest: but if thou let him goe idle, hee shall seeke libertie.

25 The yoke and the whippe bowe downe the hard necke: so tame thine euil seruant with the whippes and correction.

26 Send him to labour, that he go not idle: for idlenesse bringeth much euil.

27 Set him to worke, for that belongeth vnto him: if he be not obedient, ‖ put on more heauie fetters. ‖Olde slaues were ordred in old time.

28 But be not excessiue towarde any, and without discretion doe nothing.

29 * If thou haue a faithfull seruant, let him be vnto thee as thine owne soule: for in blood hast thou gotten him. If thou haue a seruant, intreate him as thy brother: for thou hast neede of him, as of thy selfe. If thou intreate him euill, and he runne away, wilt thou seeke him? *Chap.7.20.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

Of dreames. 15 The prayse of them that feare God. 18 The offerings of the wicked. 22 The bread of the needie. 27 God doeth not allowe the workes of an vnfaithfull man.

THe hope of a foolish man is vaine and false, ‖ and dreames make fooles to haue wings. ‖Dreames.

2 Who so regardeth dreames, is like him that will take holde of a shadow, and follow after the winde.

3 Euen

3 Euen so is it with the appearings of dreames, as the likenesse of a face is before another face.

4 Who can be clensed by the vncleane: or what trueth can be spoken of a lyar:

5 Southsayings, witchcraft, and dreaming is but vanitie, and a minde that is occupied with fantasies, is as a woman that trauaileth.

6 Where as such visions come not of the most High to trie thee, set not thine heart vpon them.

7 For dreames haue deceiued many, and they haue failed that put their trust therein.

8 The Lawe shall bee fulfilled without lyes, and wisdome is sufficient to a faithfull mouth: [what knowledge hath he that is not tryed:]

9 A man that is instructed, vnderstandeth much, and hee that hath good experience, can talke of wisedome.

10 He that hath no experience, knoweth litle, and he that erreth, is full of craft.

11 When I wandred to and fro, I sawe many things, and mine vnderstanding is greater then I can expresse.

12 I was oft times in danger of death, yet I was deliuered by these things.

13 ¶ The spirite of those that feare the Lord, shall liue: for their hope is in him that can helpe them.

The feare of the Lord.

14 Who so ‖ feareth the Lorde, feareth no man, neither is afraide: for he is his hope.

15 Blessed is the soule of him that feareth the Lord: in whom putteth he his trust: who is his strength:

Psalm.33.18.

16 *For the eyes of the Lord hath respect vnto them, that loue him: he is their *mightie protection, and strong ground, a defence from the heate, and a shadowe for the noone day, a succour from stumbling, and an helpe from falling.

Psal.91.1,2.

17 Hee setteth vp the soule, and lightneth the eyes: he giueth health, life and blessing.

Prou.21.27.

18 ¶ He that *giueth an offering of vnrighteous goods, offereth a mocking sacrifice, and the giftes of the vnrighteous, please not him.

19 [But the Lorde is theirs onely, that patiently abide him in the way of trueth and righteousnesse.]

The offering of the wicked and vnlit prayer. Prou.15.8.

20 The most High doeth not alowe the ‖ offerings of the wicked, * neither is he pacified for sinne by the multitude of sacrifice.

21 Who so bringeth an offering of the goods of the poore, doeth as on that sacrificeth the sonne before the fathers eyes.

22 The bread of the needfull is the life of the poore: he that defraudeth him thereof, is a murtherer.

23 He that taketh away his neigbours liuing, slayeth him, * and he that defraudeth the labourer of his hire, is a bloodsheader.

*Deut.24.14,15 chap.7.20.

24 ¶ When one buildeth, and another breaketh downe, what profite haue they then but labour:

25 When one prayeth, another curseth whose voyce will the Lorde heare:

26 *He that washeth himselfe because of a dead body, and toucheth it againe, what auaileth his washing:

*Num.19.11,12.

27 *So is it with a man that fasteth for his sinnes, and committeth them againe: who will heare his prayer: or what doeth his fasting helpe him:

*2.Pet.2.20, 21,22.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 Of true sacrifices. 14 The prayer of the fatherlesse, and of the widow: of him that humbleth himselfe.

WHo so keepeth the Law, *bringeth offerings ynowe: hee that holdeth fast the commandements, ‖ offereth an offering of saluation.

*1.Sam.15.22. iere.7.3,5,6,7. ‖ True sacrifices.

2 He that is thankefull to them that haue well deserued, offereth fine flowre: *& he that giueth almes, sacrificeth praise.

*Philip.4.18.

3 To depart from euil is a thankefull thing to the Lord, and to forsake vnrighteousnes, is a reconciling vnto him.

4 *Thou shalt not appeare emptie before the Lord.

*Exod.23.15. and 34.20, deut. 16.16.

5 For all these things are done because of the commandement,

6 *The offering of the righteous maketh the altar fat, and the smell thereof is sweete before the most High.

*Gene.4.4,5.

7 The sacrifice of the righteous is acceptable, and the remembrance thereof shall neuer be forgoten.

8 Giue the Lorde his honour with a good and liberall eye, and diminish not ỹ first fruites of thine hands.

9 *In all thy giftes shew a ioyfull countenance, and dedicate thy tythes with gladnesse,

*2.Cor.9.7.

10 Giue vnto the most High according as he hath enriched thee, * and looke what thine hand is able, giue with a chearefull eye.

*Tobit.4.8.

11 For the Lorde recompenseth, and will giue thee seuen times as much.

12 *Diminish nothing of thine offering: for hee will not receiue it, and abstaine from wrongfull sacrifices: for the Lord is the iudge, and regardeth no *mans person.

13 Hee accepteth not the person of the poore, but he heareth the prayer of the oppressed.

14 He despiseth not the desire of the fatherlesse, nor the widow, when she powreth out her prayer.

15 Doeth not the teares runne downe the widowes widows cheekes: and her crie is against him that caused them [for from her cheekes doe they goe vp vnto heauen, and the Lord, which heareth them, doeth accept them.]

16 He that serueth the Lorde, shall bee accepted with fauour, and his prayer shall reach vnto the cloudes.

17 The prayer of him that humbleth himselfe, goeth thorowe the cloudes, and ceaseth not till it come neere, and will not depart till the most High haue respect thereunto to iudge righteously, and to execute iudgement.

18 And the Lord will not be slacke, nor the Almightie will tarry long from them, till hee hath smitten in sunder the loines of the vnmercifull, & auenged him selfe of the heathen, till he haue taken away the multitude of the cruell, and broken the scepter of the vnrighteous, till hee giue euery man after his workes, and reward them after their deuices: till hee haue iudged the cause of his people, and comforted them with his mercy.

19 Oh, how faire a thing is mercie in the time of anguish and trouble! it is like a cloud of raine, that commeth in the time of a drought.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 A prayer to God in the person of all faithfull men, against those that persecute his Church. 22 The praise of a good woman.

HAue mercie vpon vs, O Lord God of all things, and beholde vs, [and shew vs the light of thy mercies.]

Against the wicked.

2 And send thy feare ‖ among the nations, which seeke not after thee, [that they may know that there is no God but thou, and that they may shew thy woonderous workes.]

Ecclus.10.25.

3 Lift vp thine * hand vpon the strange nations, that they may see thy power.

4 As thou art sanctified in vs before them, so be thou magnified among them before vs,

5 That they may know thee, as wee know thee: for there is none other God but onely thou, O Lord.

6 Renew the signes, and change the woonders: shew the glorie of thine hand, and thy right arme, that they may shew forth thy wonderous acts.

7 Raise vp thine indignation, and powre out wrath: take away the aduersarie, and smite the enemie.

8 Make the time short: remember thine othe, that thy woonderous workes may be praised.

9 Let the wrath of the fire consume them that escape, and let them perish that oppresse the people.

10 Smite in sunder the heads of the princes that be our enemies, and say, There is none other but we.

11 ‖ Gather all the tribes of Jacob together, [that they may know that there is none other God but onely thou, and that they may shew thy wonderous workes,] and inherit thou them as from the beginning.

‖ A prayer for the godly.

12 O Lord, haue mercie vpon the people, that is called by thy Name, and vpon Israel, * whom thou hast likened to a first borne sonne.

*Exod.4.12.

13 Oh, be mercifull vnto Jerusalem the citie of thy Sanctuarie, the citie of thy rest.

14 Fill Sion, that it may magnifie thine oracles, and fill thy people with thy glory.

15 Giue witnesse vnto those that thou hast possessed from the beginning, and raise vp the prophesies that haue bene shewed in thy Name.

16 Reward them that wait for thee, that thy Prophets may be found faithfull.

17 O Lord, heare the prayer of thy seruants according to the * blessing of Aaron ouer thy people, [and guide thou vs in the way of righteousnesse,] that all they which dwell vpon the earth, may know that thou art the Lord the eternall God.

*Numb.6.23.

18 ¶ The belly deuoureth all meats, yet is one meat better then another.

19 As the throat tasteth venison, so doth a wise minde discerne false words.

20 A froward heart bringeth griefe, but a man of experience will resist it.

21 A woman is apt to receiue euery man: yet is one daughter better then another.

22 The beautie of a woman cheereth the face, and a man loueth nothing better.

23 If there be in her tongue gentlenesse, meekenesse, and wholesome talke, then is not her husband like other men.

24 He that hath ‖ gotten a [vertuous] woman, hath begunne to get a possession: shee is an helpe like vnto himselfe, and a pillar to rest vpon.

‖ The praise of a good woman.

25 Where no hedge is, there the possession is spoyled: and he that hath no wife, wandereth to and fro mourning.

26 Who will trust a thiefe that is alway readie, and wandereth from towne to towne? and likewise, him that hath no rest, and lodgeth wheresoeuer the night taketh him?

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 How a man should know friends and counsellers. 12 To keepe his companie that feareth God.

EVery friend saith, ‖ I am a friend vnto him also: but there is some friend, which is onely a friend in name.

‖ Of friendship.

2 Remaineth there not heauinesse vnto death, when a companion and friend is turned to an enemie?

3 O wicked presumption, frō whence art thou sprung vp to couer the earth with deceit?

4 * There

4 *There is some companion which in prosperitie reioyceth with his friende: but in the time of trouble he is against him.

*Chap.6.10.

5 There is some companion that helpeth his friende for the bellies sake, and taketh vp the buckler against the enemie.

6 Forget not thy friend in thy minde, and thinke vpon him in thy riches.

7 Seeke ‖ no counsell at him of whome thou art suspected, and disclose not thy counsell vnto such as hate thee.

‖Of whome we should take counsell.

8 *Euery counseller praiseth his owne counsell: but there is some that counselleth for himselfe.

*Chap.8.19. and 9.16.

9 Beware of the counseller, and be aduised afore ‖ whereto thou wilt vse him: for hee will counsell for himselfe, least he cast the lot vpon thee,

‖Or, what neede he hath.

10 And say vnto thee, Thy way is good, and afterward he stand against thee, and looke what shall become of thee.

11 [Aske no counsell for religion of him, that is without religion, nor of iustice, of him that hath no iustice,] nor of a woman touching her of whome thee is ielous, nor of a coward in matters of warre, nor of a marchant concerning exchange, nor of a buyer for the sale, nor of an enuious man touching thankefulnesse, nor of the vnmerciful touching kindnesse, [nor of an vnhonest man of honestie,] nor of the slouthfull for any labour, nor of an hireling for the finishing of a worke, nor of an idle seruant for much busines: hearken not vnto these in any matter of counsell.

12 But bee continuall with a godly man whome thou knowest to keepe the commandements of the Lord, whose minde is according to thy minde, and is sorie for thee when thou stumblest.

13 Take counsell of thine owne heart: for there is no man more faithfull vnto thee, then it.

14 For a mans minde is sometime more accustomed to shewe more then seuen watchmen that sit aboue in an high towre.

15 And aboue all this pray vnto the most High, that he will direct thy way in trueth.

16 Let reason goe before euery enterprise, and counsell before euery action.

17 ¶ The [changing] of the countenance is a signe of the changing of the heart: foure things appeare, good and euill, life and death, but the tongue hath euermore the gouernment ouer them.

18 ¶ Some man is wittie, and hath instructed many, & yet is vnprofitable vnto himselfe.

19 Some man wil be wise in wordes, and is hated, yea he is destitute of all ‖ foode.

‖Or, wisdome.

20 Because grace is not giuen him of the Lord: for he is destitute of all wisedome.

21 Another is wise for himselfe, and the fruites of vnderstanding are faithfull in his mouth.

22 A wise man instructeth his people, and the fruites of his wisedome faile not.

23 A wise man shal be plenteously blessed, and all they that see him, shall thinke him blessed.

24 The life of man standeth in the number of dayes: but the dayes of Israel are innumerable.

25 A wise man shall obtaine credite among his people, and his name shall be perpetuall.

26 My sonne proue thy soule in thy life, and see what is euill for it, and permit it not to doe it.

27 For all things are not profitable for all men, neither hath euery soule pleasure in euery thing.

28 Be not ‖ greedie in all delites, and be not too hastie vpon all meates.

‖Temperate.

29 *For excesse of meates bringeth sicknesse, and gluttonie commeth into cholericke diseases,

*Chap 31.19,20

30 By surfet haue many perished: but hee that ‖ dieteth himselfe, prolongeth his life.

‖Or, taketh heed

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 A physition is commendable. 16 To waile the dead. 24 The wisedome of him that is learned.

HOnour the ‖ Physition with that honour that is due vnto him, because of necessitie: for the Lord hath created him.

‖Or, Physicke and physicke.

2 For of the most High commeth healing, and he shall receiue gifts of the King.

3 The knowledge of the Physition lifteth vp his head, and in the sight of great men hee shall be in admiration.

4 The Lord hath created medicines of the earth, and hee that is wise, will not abhorre them.

5 *Was not the water made sweete with wood, that men might know the vertue thereof?

*Exod.15.25.

6 So he hath giuen men knowledge, that hee might bee glorified in his wonderous works.

7 With such doth he heale men, and taketh away their paines.

8 Of such doth the Apothecarie make a confection, and yet he cannot finish his own works: for of the Lord commeth prosperitie & wealth ouer all the earth.

9 My sonne, faile not in thy sickenesse, but *pray vnto the Lord, and hee will make thee whole.

Ia.38.16.

10 Leaue off from sinne, and order thine hands aright, and cleanse thine heart from all wickednes.

11 Offer

11 Offer ſweete incenſe, and fine flowre for a remembrance: make the offering fat, for thou art not the firſt ‖ giuer.

‖God beſtoweth firſt his benefits, and we muſt render a portion thereof to ſuch vſes as he appointeth.

12 Then giue place to the phyſition: for the Lorde hath created him: let him not goe from thee, for thou haſt neede of him.

13 The houre may come, that their enterpriſes may haue good ſucceſſe.

14 For they alſo ſhal pray vnto the Lorde, that hee woulde proſper that, which is giuen for eaſe, and their phiſicke for the prolonging of life.

15 Hee that ſinneth before his maker, let him fall into the hands of the phyſition.

*Chap.22.11. 16 My ſonne, *powre foorth teares ouer the dead ‖ and begin to mourne, as if thou haddeſt ſuffered great harme thy ſelfe, and then couer his body according to his ‖ appointment, and neglect not his buriall.

‖Or, mourning.

‖Or, the cuſtome.

17 Make a grieuous lamentation, and be earneſt in mourning, and vſe lamentation, as he is worthie, and that, a day or two, leaſt thou bee euill ſpoken of, and then comfort thy ſelfe for thine heauineſſe.

*Prou.15.13. and 17.22. 18 *For of heauineſſe commeth death, and the heauineſſe of the heart breaketh the ſtrength.

19 Of the affection of the heart commeth ſorowe, and the life of him that is afflicted, is according to his heart.

20 Take no heauines to heart: driue it away and remember the laſt end.

21 Forget it not: for there is no turning againe: thou ſhalt doe him no good, but hurt thy ſelfe.

22 Remember his iudgement: thine alſo ſhall be likewiſe, vnto me yeſterday, and vnto thee to day.

*1.Sam.22.20. 23 *Seeing the dead is at reſt, let his remembrance reſt, and comfort thy ſelfe againe for him, when his ſpirite is departed from him.

24 ¶ The wiſdome of a learned man commeth by vſing well his vacant time: and hee that ceaſeth from his owne matters and labour, may come by wiſedome.

25 How can hee come by wiſedome that holdeth the plough, and hee that hath pleaſure in the goad, and in driuing oxen, and is occupied in their labours, and talketh but of the breed of bullocks?

26 He giueth his minde to make furrows, and is diligent to giue the kine fodder.

27 So is it of euery carpenter, and workmaſter that laboureth night and day: and they that cut and graue ſeales, and make ſundry diuerſities, and giue themſelues to counterfaite imagerie, and watch to perfome the worke.

28 The ſmith in like manner abideth by his anuill, and doeth his diligence to labour the yron: the vapour of the fire dryeth his fleſh, and hee muſt fight with the heate of the fornace, the noyſe of the hammer is euer in his eares, and his eyes looke ſtill vpon the thing that he maketh: he ſetteth his minde to make vp his workes: therefore hee watcheth to poliſh it perfectly.

29 So doeth the potter ſit by his worke: hee turneth the wheele about with his feete: he is carefull alway at his worke, and maketh his worke by number.

30 He faſhioneth the clay with his arme, and with his feete hee tempereth the hardneſſe thereof: his heart imagineth how to couer it with leade, and his diligence is to cleanſe the ouen.

31 All theſe hope in their handes, and euery one beſtoweth his wiſdome in his worke.

32 Without theſe cannot the cities bee mainteined, nor inhabited, nor occupied.

33 And yet they are not aſked their iudgement in the counſell of the people, neither are they hie in the congregation, neither ſit they vpon the iudgement ſeates, nor vnderſtand the order of iuſtice: they cannot declare matters according to the forme of the Lawe, and they are not meete for hard matters.

34 But they maintaine the ſtate of the worlde, and their deſire is concerning their worke and occupation.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 A wiſe man. 16 The works of God. 24 Vnto the good good things profite, but vnto the euill, euen goods things are euill.

HE onely that applieth his minde to the Lawe of the moſt high, and is occupied in the meditation thereof, ſeeketh out the ‖ wiſdome of all the ancient, and exerciſeth himſelfe in the prophecies.

‖Of true wiſedome.

2 Hee keepeth the ſayings of famous men, and entreth in alſo to the ſecrets of darke ſentences.

3 He ſeeketh out the myſterie of graue ſentences, and exerciſeth himſelfe in darke parables.

4 Hee ſhall ſerue among great men and appeare before the prince: hee ſhall trauaile through ſtrange countries: for hee hath tried the good and the euill among men.

5 He wil giue his heart to reſort early vnto the Lord that made him, and to pray before the the moſt High, and will open his mouth in prayer, and pray for his ſinnes.

6 When the great Lorde will, he ſhall be filled with the Spirite of vnderſtanding, that hee may powre out wiſe ſentences, and giue thankes vnto the Lord in his prayer.

7 ‖ He ſhall direct his counſell, and knowledge: ſo ſhall he meditate in his ſecrets.

‖Or, the Lord.

8 He shall shewe forth his science and learning, and reioyce in the Lawe and couenant of the Lord.

9 Many shall commend his vnderstanding, and his memorie shall neuer bee put out, nor depart away: but his name shall continue from generation to generation.

*Chap.44.15. 10 *The congregation shall declare his wisedome, and shewe it.

11 Though hee be dead, he shall leaue a greater fame then a thousand: and if hee liue still, he shall get the same.

12 Yet will I speake of moe things: for I am full as the moone.

13 Hearken vnto mee, ye holy children, and bring forth fruite, as the rose that is planted by the brookes of the fielde,

‖Or, Libanus. 14 And giue yee a sweete smell as ‖ incense, and bring forth flowers as the lillie: giue a smell and sing a song of prayse: blesse the Lord in all his workes.

15 Giue honour vnto his Name, and shewe forth his prayse with the songs of your lippes, and with harpes, and yee shall say after this maner,

*Gene.1.31. mar.7.37. 16 *All the workes of the Lorde are exceeding good, and all his commaundements are done in due season.

17 And none may say, What is this? wherfore is that? for at time conuenient: they shall all bee sought out: at his commandement the water stood as an heape, and at the word of his mouth the waters gathered themselues.

18 His whole fauour appeared by his commandement, and none can diminish that which he will saue.

19 The workes of all flesh are before him, and nothing can be hid from his eyes.

20 He seeth from euerlasting to euerlasting, & there is nothing wonderfull vnto him.

21 A man needs not to say, What is this? wherefore is that? for he hath made all things for their owne vse.

22 His blessing shall runne ouer as the streame, and moysten the earth like a flood.

23 As he hath turned the waters into saltnesse, so shall the heathen feele his wrath.

24 As his wayes are plaine and right vnto the iust, so are they stumbling blockes to the wicked.

25 ¶ For the good, are good things created from the beginning, and euill things for the sinners.

*Chap.39.33. 26 *The principall things for the whole vse of mans life is water, fire, and yron, and salt, and meale, wheate and hony, and milke, the blood of the grape, and oyle, and clothing.

27 All these things are for good to ỹ godly: but to the sinners they are turned vnto euill.

28 There bee spirits that are created for vengeance, which in their rigour lay on sure strokes: in the time of destruction they shewe forth their power, and accomplish the wrath of him that made them.

29 *Fire, and haile, and famine, and death: *Chap.4.9,10. all these are created for vengeance.

30 The teeth of wilde beastes, and the scorpions, and the serpents, and the sworde execute vengeance for the destruction of the wicked.

31 They shalbe glad to doe his commandements: and when neede is, they shall be readie vpon earth: & when their houre is come, they shall not ouerpasse the commandement.

32 Therefore haue I taken a good courage vnto mee from the beginning, and haue thought on these things, and haue put them in writing.

33 *All the workes of the Lorde are *Gene.1.31. good, and hee giueth euery one in due season, and when neede is:

34 So that a man needs not to say, This is worse then that, for in due season they are all worthie prayse.

35 And therefore prayse the Lorde with whole heart and mouth, and blesse the Name of the Lord.

CHAP. XL.

1 Many miseries in mans life. 14 Of the blessing of the righteous and prerogatiue of the feare of God.

‖The miserie of mans life. GReat ‖ trauell is created for all men, and an heauie yoke vpon the sonnes of Adam from the day that they goe out of their mothers wombe, till the day that they returne to the mother of all things.

2 Namely their thoughts, and feare of the heart, and their imagination of the things they waite for, and the day of death.

3 From him that sitteth vpon the glorious throne, vnto him that is beneath in the earth and ashes:

4 From him that is clothed in blewe silke, and weareth a crowne, euen vnto him that is clothed in simple linnen.

5 Wrath and enuie, trouble, and vnquietnesse, and feare of death, and rigour, and strife, and in the time of rest the sleepe in the night vpon his bed, change his knowledge.

6 A little or nothing is his rest, and afterwarde in sleeping hee is as in a watchtowre in the day: hee is troubled with the visions of his heart, as one that runneth out of a battell.

7 And when all is safe, hee awaketh, and marueileth that the feare was nothing.

8 Such things come vnto all flesh, both man and beast, but seuen folde to the vngodly:

9 Moreouer, * death and blood, and strife, *Chap.39.30. and sworde, oppression, famine, destruction, and punishment.

10 These things are all created for ỹ wicked

*Gene.7.11. ked, and for their sakes came the * flood also.

*Gene.3.19. Eccle.41.10. 11 * All things that are of the earth, shall turne to earth againe: and they that are of the * waters, shall returne into the sea.

*Eccle.1.7. 12 ¶ All bribes and vnrighteousnesse shal be put away: but ‖ faithfulnesse shall endure for euer. ‖Faithfulnesse.

13 The substance of the vngodly shall bee dryed vp like a riuer, and they shall make a sounde like a great thunder in the raine.

14 When he openeth his hand, hee reioyceth: but all the transgressours shall come to nought.

15 The children of the vngodly shall not obtaine many branches: for the vncleane rootes are as vpon the high rockes.

16 Their tender stalke by what water so euer it be or water banke, it shall be pulled vp before all other herbes.

17 ¶ Friendlinesse is a most plentiful garden of pleasure, and merry endureth for euer.

*Phil.4.12. 1.Tim.6.8. 18 * To labour and to bee content with that a man hath, is a sweete life: but hee that findeth a treasure, is aboue them both.

19 Children, and the building of the citie maketh a perpetuall name: but an honest woman is counted aboue them both.

20 Wine and musicke reioyce the heart: but the loue of wisedome is aboue them both.

21 The pipe and the psalterion make a sweete noyse: but a pleasant tongue is aboue them both.

22 Thine eye desireth fauour and beautie: but a greene seede time, rather then them both.

23 A friende and companion come together at opportunitie: but aboue them both is a wife with her husband.

24 Friendes and helpe are good in time of trouble, but almes shall deliuer more then them both.

25 Golde and siluer fasten the feete: but counsell is esteemed aboue them both.

26 Riches and strength lift vp the minde: but the feare of the Lord is aboue them both: there is no want in the feare of the Lorde, and it needeth no helpe.

27 The feare of the Lord is a pleasant garden of blessing, and there is nothing so beautifull as it is.

28 ¶ My sonne, leade not a beggers life: for better it were to die then to begge.

29 The life of him that dependeth on another mans table, is not to bee counted for a life: for hee tormenteth himselfe after other mens meate: but a wise man and well nourtered, will beware thereof.

30 Begging is sweete in the mouth of the vnshamefast, and in his bellie there burneth a fire.

CHAP. XLI.

1 Of the remembrance of death. 3 Death is not to be feared. 8 A curse vpon them that forsake the Lawe of God. 13 Good name and fame. 24 An exhortation to giue heede vnto wisedome. 17 Of what things a man ought to be ashamed.

O Death, how bitter is the remembrance of thee to a man that liueth at rest in his possessions, vnto the man that hath nothing to vexe him, and that hath prosperitie in all things: yea, vnto him that yet is able to receiue meate! ‖Of death.

2 O death, howe acceptable is thy iudgement vnto the needefull, and vnto him whose strength faileth, and that is now in the last age, and is vexed with all things, and to him that despaireth, and hath lost patience!

3 Feare not the iudgement of death: remember them that haue bene before thee, and that come after: this is the ordinance of the Lord ouer all flesh.

4 And why wouldest thou bee against the pleasure of the most High? whether it bee tenne or an hundreth, or a thousand yeeres, there is no defence for life against the graue.

5 ¶ The children of the vngodly are abominable children, and so are they that keepe companie with the vngodly.

6 The inheritance of vngodly children shall perish, and their posteritie shal haue a perpetuall shame.

7 The children complaine of an vngodly father, because they are reproched for his sake.

8 Woe be vnto you, O ye vngodly, which haue forsaken the Law of the most high God: for though you increase, yet shal you perish.

9 If ye be borne, yee shall be borne to cursing: if ye die, the curse shall be your portion.

10 * All that is of the earth, shall turne to earth againe: so the vngodly goe from the curse to destruction. *Chap.40.11.

11 Though men mourne for their bodie, yet the wicked name of the vngodly shall bee put out.

12 Haue regard to thy name: for that shal continue with thee aboue a thousande treasures of golde.

13 A good life hath the dayes numbred: but ‖ a good name endureth euer. ‖A good name.

14 My children, keepe wisedome in peace: * for wisedome that is hid, and a treasure that is not seene, what profite is in them both? *Chap.20.29.

15 A man that hideth his foolishnesse, is better then a man that hideth his wisedome.

16 Therefore beare reuerence vnto thy wordes: for it is not good in all things to be ‖ ashamed: neither are all things allowed as faithfull in all men. ‖Of shamefastnesse.

17 Bee ashamed of whoredome before father and mother: bee ashamed of lyes before the prince and men of authoritie.

18 Of sinne before the Iudge and ruler: of offence before the congregation and people: of vnrighteousnesse, before a companion and friend, 19 And of theft before the place where thou dwellest, and before the trueth of God and his couenant, and to leane with thine elbowes vpon the ‖ bread, or to bee reproued for giuing or taking.

‖Or, table.

20 And of silence vnto them that salute thee, and to looke vpon an harlot,

21 And to turne away thy face from thy kinseman: or to take away a portion or gift, or to bee euill minded toward anothers mans wife,

22 Or to solicite any mans mayde, or to stand by her bed, or to reprooche thy friendes with words, 23 Or to vpbraide when thou giuest any thing, or to report a matter that thou hast heard, or to reueile secret wordes.

24 Thus mayest thou wel be shamefast and shalt finde fauour with all men.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The Lawe of God must be taught, 9 A daughter. 14 A woman. 18 God knoweth all things, yea, euen the secrets of thine heart.

‖In what things we ought not to be ashamed.

OF these things bee not thou ‖ ashamed, neither haue regard to offende for any person:

2 Of the Lawe of the most High and his couenant, and of iudgement to iustifie the godly:

3 Of the cause of thy companion, or of strangers, or of distributing the heritage among friendes:

4 To be diligent to keepe true balance, and weight, whether thou haue much or litle.

5 To sell merchandise at an indifferent price, and to correct thy children diligently, and to beate an euill seruant to the blood.

6 To set a good locke where an euill wife is, and to locke where many hands are:

7 If thou giue any thing by number, and weight, to put all in writing, both that that is giuen out, and that that is receiued againe:

8 To teach the vnlearned and the vnwise, and the aged, that contend against the yong: thus shalt thou be well instructed, and approued of all men liuing.

‖Or, is a secret watch to the father.

9 ¶ The daughter ‖ maketh the father to watch secretly, and the carefulnesse that hee hath for her, taketh away his sleepe: in the youth, least shee shoulde passe the flower of her age: and when she hath an husband, least shee should be hated.

10 In her virginitie, least shee shoulde be defiled, or gotten with childe in her fathers houle, and when she is with her husband, least she mis behaue her selfe: and when she is married, least she continue vnfruitfull.

11 * If thy daughter bee vnshamefast, keepe her straitely, least shee cause thine enemies to laugh thee to scorne, and make thee a common talke in the citie, and defame thee among the people, and bring thee to publike shame.

*Chap. 26. 10.

12 * Beholde not euery bodies beautie, and companie not among women.

*Chap. 25. 13.

13 For as the moth commeth out of the garments, * so doeth wickednesse out of the woman,

*Gene. 3. 6.

14 The wickednesse of a man is better then the good intreatie of a woman, to wit, of a woman that is in shame, and reproch.

15 ¶ I will remember the workes of the Lord, and declare the thing that I haue seene: by the word of the Lord are his works.

16 The sunne that shineth, looketh vpon all things, and all the worke thereof is full of the glory of the Lord.

17 Hath not the Lord appointed: that his Saints shoulde declare all his wonderous workes, which the almightie Lord hath stablished to confirme all things by in his maiestie.

18 He seeketh out the depth, and the heart, and he knoweth their practises: for the Lorde knoweth all science, and hee beholdeth the signes of the world.

19 He declareth the things that are past, and for to come, and discloseth the pathes of things that are secrete.

20 * No thought may escape him, neither may any word be hid from him.

*Iob. 42. 2. Isai. 29. 15.

21 He hath garnished the excellent works of his wisedome, and hee is from euerlasting to euerlasting, and for euer: vnto him may nothing be added, neither can he bee diminished: he hath no neede of any counseller.

22 Oh, how delectable are all his workes, and to bee considered euen vnto the sparkes of fire!

23 They liue all, and endure for euer: and whensoeuer neede is, they are all obedient.

24 They are all double, one against another: he hath made nothing ẏ hath any fault.

25 The ‖ one commendeth the goodnesse of the other, and who can bee satisfied with beholding Gods glorie.

‖Or, stablisheth.

CHAP. XLIII.

The summe of the creation of the works of God.

‖The wonderfull workes of God.

THis high ornament ‖ the cleare firmament, the beautie of the heauen so glorious to beholde,

2 The sunne also a marueilous instrument when it appeareth, declareth at his going out, the worke of the most High.

3 At noone it burneth the countrey, and who who may abide for the heate thereof?

4 The sunne burneth the mountaines three times more then hee that keepeth a fornace with continuall heate: it casteth out the fierie vapours, and with shining beames blindeth the eyes.

5 Great is the Lorde that made it, and by his commaundement hee causeth it to runne hastily.

*Gene.1,16. 6 *The moone also hath he caused to appeare according to her season, that it should be a declaration of the time, and a signe for the world.

*Exod.12,2. 7 *The feastes are appointed by the moone: the light thereof diminisheth vnto the ende.

8 The moneth is called after the name thereof, and groweth wonderously in her changing.

9 It is a campe pitched on high, shining in the firmament of heauen: the beautie of heauen are the glorious starres, and the ornament that shineth in the high places of the Lorde.

10 By the commaundement of the Holy one they continue in their order, and faile not in their watch.

*Gene.9.13, 14. 11 ¶ *Looke vpon the raine bowe, and praise him that made it: very beautifull is it in the brightnesse thereof.

*Is.40.22. 12 *It compasseth the heauen about with a glorious circle, and the handes of the most High haue bended it.

13 ¶ Through his commandement he maketh the snowe to haste, and sendeth swiftly the lightning of his iudgement.

14 Therefore hee openeth his treasures, and the cloudes flie forth as the foules.

15 In his power hath he strengthened the cloudes, and broken the hailestones.

16 The mountaines leape at the sight of him: the South winde bloweth according to his will.

17 The sound of his thunder beateth the earth: so doeth the stormе of the North: the whirlewinde also, as birdes that flie, scattereth the snowe, and the falling downe thereof is as the grashoppers that light downe.

18 The eye marueileth at the beautie of the whitenesse thereof, and the heart is astonished at the raine of it.

19 He also powreth out the frost vpon the earth like salt, and when it is frosen, it sticketh on the tops of pales.

20 When the colde North winde bloweth, and yce is frosen of the water, it abideth vpon all the gatherings together of water, and clotheth the waters as with a brestplate.

21 It deuoureth the mountaines, and burneth the wildernesse, and destroyeth that that is greene, like fire.

22 The remedie of all these is when a cloude commeth hastily, and when a dewe commeth vpon the heate, it refresheth it.

23 [By his worde he stilleth the winde:] by his counsell hee appeaseth the deepe, and planteth plants therein.

24 They that saile ouer the sea, tell of the perils thereof, and when we heare it with our eares, we marueile thereat.

25 For there be strange, and wonderous workes, diuers maner of beastes, and the creation of whales.

26 Through him are all things directed to good ende, and are stablished by his word.

27 And when we haue spoken much, wee cannot attaine vnto them: but this is the summe of all, that he is all.

28 What power haue we to praise him? for he is aboue all his workes.

29 The Lord is terrible, and very *great, and marueilous is his power. *Psal.36.4.

30 Praise the Lorde, and magnifie him as much as ye can, yet doeth he farre exceede: exalt him with all your power, and bee not wearie, yet can ye not attaine vnto it.

31 *Who hath seene him, that hee might tell vs? and who can magnifie him as he is? *Psal.106.2. Iohn 1.18.

32 For there are hid yet greater things then these be, and we haue seene but a fewe of his workes.

33 For the Lorde hath made all things, and giuen wisedome to such as feare God.

CHAP. XLIIII.

The praise of certaine holy men, Enoch, Noe, Abraham, Isaac and Iacob.

LEt vs nowe commend the famous men, and our fathers of whom we are begotten.

2 The Lorde hath gotten great glory by them, and that through his great power from the beginning.

3 They haue borne rule in their kingdomes, and were renoumed for their power, and were wise in counsell, and declared prophecies.

4 *They gouerned the people by counsell and by the knowledge of learning meete for the people, in whose doctrine were wise sentences. *Exod.18.25.

5 They inuented the melodie of musicke, and expounded the verses that were written.

6 They were rich and mighty in power, and liued quietly at home.

7 All these are honourable men in their generations, and were well reported of in their times.

8 There are of them that haue left a name behinde them, so that their praise shall bee spoken of.

9 There are some also which haue no me-

*Gene.7.21. moriall, * and are periſhed, as though they had neuer beene, and are become as though they had neuer bene borne, and their children after them.

CHAP. LI.

A prayer of Ieſus the ſonne Syrach.

I Will confeſſe thee, O Lord and King, and prayſe thee, O God, my ſauiour: I will giue thanks vnto thy name.

2 For thou art my defender and helper, and haſt preſerued my body from deſtruction, and from the ſnare of the ſlanderous tongue, and from the lips that are occupyed with lyes: thou haſt holpen me againſt mine aduerſaries,

3 And haſt deliuered mee according to the multitude of thy mercie, and for thy Names ſake, from the roaring of them that were readie to deuoure me, and out of the handes of ſuch as ſought after my life, and from the manifold afflictions, which I had,

4 And from the fire that choked mee round about, and from the mids of the fire that I burned not,

5 And from the bottome of the belly of hel, from an vncleane tongue, from lying wordes, from falſe acculation to the king, and from the ſlander of an vnrighteous tongue.

6 [My ſoule ſhall prayſe the Lorde vnto death:] for my ſoule drewe neere vnto death: my life was neere to hell beneath.

7 They compaſſed mee on euery ſide, and there was no man to help me: I looked for the ſuccour of men, but there was none.

8 Then thought I vpon thy mercy, O Lord, and vpon thine acts of olde, how thou deliuereſt ſuch as waite for thee, and ſaueſt them out of the hands of the ‖ enemies.

‖ Or, nations.

9 Then lifted I vp my prayer from the earth, and prayed for deliuerance from death.

10 I called vpon the Lorde the Father of my Lorde, that he would not leaue me in the day of my trouble, and in the time of the proud prouide, without helpe.

11 I will prayse thy Name continually, and will sing prayse with thankesgiuing: and my prayer was heard.

12 Thou sauedst me from destruction, and deliueredst me from the euill time: therefore will I giue thanks, and prayse thee, and blesse the Name of the Lord.

13 When I was yet yong, or euer I went abroade, I desired wisdome openly in my prayer.

14 I prayed for her before the Temple, and sought after her vnto farre countreys, and she was as a grape that wareth ripe out of the flower.

15 Mine heart reioyceth in her: my foote walked in the right way, and from my youth vp sought I after her.

16 I bowed somewhat downe mine eare, and receiued her, and gate mee much wisedome:

17 And I profited by her: therefore will I ascribe the glorie vnto him, that giueth mee wisedome.

18 For I am aduised to doe thereafter: I will be ielous of that that is good: so shall I not be confounded.

19 My soule hath wrestled with her, and I haue examined my works: I lifted vp mine hands on high, and considered the ignorances thereof.

20 I directed my soule vnto her, and I found her in pureneſſe: I haue had my heart ioyned with her from the beginning: therefore shall I not be forsaken.

21 My bowels are troubled in seeking her: therefore haue I gotten a good possession.

22 The Lord hath giuen me a tongue for my reward, wherewith I will praise him.

23 Draw neere vnto me, yee vnlearned, and dwell in the house of learning.

24 Wherefore are ye slowe? and what say you of these things seeing your soules are very thirstie?

25 I opened my mouth, and said, *Buy her for you without money. *Isa.55.1.

26 Bow downe your necke vnder the yoke, and your soule shall receiue instruction: she is ready that ye may finde her.

27 Beholde with your eyes, *how that I haue had but litle labour, and haue gotten vnto me much rest. *Chap.6.18.

28 Get learning with a great summe of money: for by her yee shall possesse much golde.

29 Let your soule reioyce in the mercie of the Lord, and be not ashamed of his praise.

30 Doe your duetie betimes, and hee will giue you a reward at his time.

BARVCH.

CHAP. I.

1 Baruch wrote a booke during the captiuitie of Babylon which hee read before Iechoniah and all the people. 10 The Iewes sent the booke with the money vnto Ierusalem to their other brethren, to the intent that they should pray for them.

AND these are the wordes of the booke, which Baruch the sonne of Nerias, the sonne of Maasias, the sonne of Sedecias, the sonne of ‖Aladias, the sonne of Helcias, wrote in at Babylon, ‖Or, Sedcias.

2 In the fift yeere, and in the seuenth day of the moneth, what time as the Chaldeans tooke Ierusalem, and burnt it with fire.

3 And Baruch did read the wordes of this booke, that Iechonias the sonne of Joacim king of Juda might heare, and all the people that were come to heare the booke.

4 And in the audience of the gouernour, and of the Kings sonnes, and before the Elders, and before the whole people, from the lowest vnto the hiest, before all them that dwelt at Babylon by the riuer ‖Sud. ‖Or, Sodi.

5 Which when they heard it, wept, fasted, and made prayers before the Lord.

6 They made a collection also of money, according to euery mans power,

7 And sent it to Ierusalem vnto Joacim the sonne of Helcias the sonne of Salom priest, and vnto the other priest, and to all the people which were with him at Ierusalem,

8 When he had receiued the vessels of the Temple of the Lorde, that were taken away out of the Temple, to bring them againe into the land of Juda, the tenth day of the moneth ‖Siuan, to wit, siluer vessels, which Sedecias the sonne of Josias King of Juda had made, ‖Or, Sibat.

9 After that Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon had led away Iechonias from Ierusalem, and his princes, & his nobles, prisoners, and the people, and carried them to Babylon.

10 And they sayde, Beholde, we haue sent you money, wherewith ye shall buye burnt offerings for sinnes, and incense, and prepare a ‖meate offering, and offer vpon the altar of the Lord our God, ‖Or, Manna for Minhah, which was the euening and morning sacrifice.

11 And pray for the life of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, and for the life of Baltasar his sonne, that their dayes may bee vpon earth, as the dayes of heauen,

12 And

12 And that God woulde giue vs ſtrength and lighten our eyes, that wee may liue vnder the ſhadow of Nabuchodonoſor King of Babylon, and vnder the ſhadowe of Baltaſar his ſonne, that we may long doe them ſeruice, and finde fauour in their ſight.

13 Pray for vs alſo vnto ꝑ Lord our God (for we haue ſinned againſt the Lord our God, and vnto this day the furie of the Lord and his wrath is not turned from vs.)

14 And reade this booke (which wee haue ſent to you to be rehearſed in the Temple of the Lord) vpon the feaſt dayes, and at time conuenient.

*Chap.2.6. 15 Thus ſhall ye ſay, * To the Lord our God belongeth righteouſnes, but vnto vs the confuſion of our faces, as it is come to paſſe this day vnto them of Iuda, and to the inhabitants of Ieruſalem, 16 And to our Kings and to our Princes, and to our Prieſtes, and to our Prophets, and to our fathers,

*Dan.9.5. 17 Becauſe wee haue * ſinned before the Lord our God,

18 And haue not obeyed him, neyther hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, to walke in the commandements that he gaue vs openly.

19 From the day that the Lorde brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, euen vnto this day, we haue bene diſobedient vnto the Lord our God, and we haue bene negligent to heare his voyce.

*Deut.28.15. 20 * Wherefore theſe plagues are come vpon vs, and the curſe which the Lord appoynted by Moyſes his ſeruant at the time that hee brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, to giue vs a land that floweth with milke and honie, as appeareth this day.

21 Neuertheleſſe, we haue not hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, according to all the workes of the Prophets, whom he ſent vnto vs.

22 But euery one of vs followed the wicked imagination of his owne heart, to ſerue ſtrange gods, and to doe euill in the ſight of the Lord our God.

CHAP. II.

1 The Iewes confeſſe that they ſuffer iuſtly for their ſinnes. 6 The true confeſſion of the Chriſtians. 11 The Iewes deſire to haue the wrath of God turned from them. 32 Hee promiſeth that hee will call againe the people from captiuitie, and giue them a newe and euerlaſting Teſtament.

THerefore the Lorde our God hath performed his word, which hee pronounced againſt vs, and againſt our iudges that gouerned Iſrael, and againſt our Kings, and againſt our princes, and againſt the men of Iſrael, and Iuda,

2 To bring vpon vs great plagues, ſuch as neuer came to paſſe vnder the whole heauen, as they that were done in Ieruſalem, according to things that were * written in the Lawe of Moyſes, *Deut.28.33.

3 That ſome among vs ſhould eate the fleſh of his owne ſonne, and ſome the fleſh of his owne daughter.

4 Moreouer, he hath deliuered them to bee in ſubiection to all the kingdomes, that are round about vs, to be as a reproch and deſolation among all the people round about where the Lord hath ſcattered them.

5 Thus they are brought beneath, and not aboue, becauſe we haue ſinned againſt the Lord our God, and haue not heard his voyce.

6 * To the Lorde our God appertaineth righteouſnes, but vnto vs and our fathers open ſhame as appeareth this day. *Chap.1.15.

7 For all theſe plagues are come vpon vs, which the Lord hath pronounced againſt vs.

8 Yet haue we not prayed before the Lord, that we might turne euery one from the imaginations of his owne wicked heart.

9 So the Lorde hath watched ouer the plagues, and the Lord hath brought them vpon vs: for the Lord is righteous in all his workes, which he hath commanded vs.

10 Yet wee haue not hearkened vnto his voyce, to walke in the commandements of the Lorde that he hath giuen vnto vs.

11 * And nowe, O Lorde God of Iſrael, *Dan.9.15. that haſt brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mightie hand, and an hie arme, and with ſignes and with wonders, and with great power, and haſt gotten thy ſelfe a Name, as appeareth this day.

12 O Lord our God we haue ſinned: wee haue done wickedly: wee haue offended in all thine ordinances.

13 Let thy wrath turne from vs: for we are but a fewe left among the heathen, where thou haſt ſcattered vs.

14 Heare our prayers, O Lorde, and our petitions, and deliuer vs for thine owne ſake, and giue vs fauour in the ſight of them, which haue led vs away, 15 That all the earth may know that thou are the Lord our God, and that thy Name is called vpon Iſrael and vpon their poſteritie.

16 Therefore looke downe from thine holy Temple, and thinke vpon vs: encline thine eare, O Lord, and heare vs.

17 * Open thine eyes, and beholde: for the dead that is in the graues, and whoſe ſoules are out of their bodies, * giue vnto the Lord neither ‖ praiſe nor righteouſneſſe. *Deut.25.15. *Iſa.63.15. *Pſal.6.5,6.and 115.17,18. Iſai.38.18,19. ‖Or, glory, nor prayſe of righteouſneſſe.

18 But the ſoule that is vexed for the greatneſſe of ſinne, and hee that goeth crookedly, and weake, and the eyes that faile, and the hungrie ſoule will giue thee prayſe and righteouſneſſe, O Lord.

the

19 For we doe not require mercie in thy ſight, O Lord our God, for the righteouſneſſe of our fathers, or of our kings,

20 But becauſe thou haſt ſent out thy wrath and indignation vpon vs, as thou haſt ‖ Or, by the hand of thy ſeruants. * Ier. 27.7. ſpoken by ‖ thy ſeruants the Prophets, ſaying, 21 *Thus ſaith the Lorde, Bowe downe your ſhoulders, and ſerue the King of Babylon: ſo ſhal ye remaine in the land, that I gaue vnto your fathers.

22 But if ye will not heare the voyce of the Lord, to ſerue the king of Babylon, 23 I will cauſe to ceaſe in the cities of Iuda, and in Ieruſalem, I will cauſe to ceaſe the voyce of mirth, and the voyce of ioy, and the voyce of the bridgrome, and the voyce of the bride, and the land ſhall bee deſolate of inhabitants.

24 But wee woulde not hearken vnto thy voyce, to ſerue the king of Babylon: therefore haſt thou performed the wordes that thou ſpakeſt by thy ſeruants the Prophets: namely, that the bones of our kings, and the bones of our fathers ſhould bee caried out of their places.

25 And loe, they are caſt out to the heate of the day, and to the colde of the night, and are dead in great miſerie with famine, and with the ſword, and in baniſhment.

26 And the Temple wherein thy Name was called vpon, thou haſt brought to the ſtate, as appeareth this day, for the wickednes of the houſe of Iſrael, and the houſe of Iuda.

27 O Lorde our God, thou haſt intreated vs according to equitie, and according to all thy great mercie,

28 As thou ſpakeſt by thy ſeruant Moyſes, in the day when thou diddeſt commaund him to write thy Lawe before the children of Iſrael, ſaying,

* Leuit. 26.14. deut. 28.15. 29 *If yee will not obey my voyce, then ſhall this great ſwarme and multitude be turned into a very fewe among the nations where I will ſcatter them.

30 For I knowe that they will not heare me: for it is a ſtiffenecked people: but in the land of their captiuitie they ſhall remember themſelues,

31 And knowe that I am the Lord their God: then will I giue them an heart to vnderſtand, and eares, 32 And they ſhall heare, and praiſe mee in the land of their captiuitie, and thinke vpon my Name.

33 Then ſhall they turne them from their hard backes, and from their euill workes: for they ſhall remember the way of their fathers, which ſinned before the Lord.

34 And I will bring them againe into the land, which I promiſed with an othe vnto their fathers, Abraham, Iſaac and Iacob, and they ſhall be Lordes of it: and I will increaſe them, and they ſhall not be diminiſhed.

35 And I will make an euerlaſting couenant with them, that I will be their God, and they ſhall be my people: and I will no more driue my people of Iſrael out of the land that I haue giuen them.

CHAP. III.

1 The people continueth in their prayer begunne for their deliuerance. 9 He prayſeth wiſedome vnto the people, ſhewing, that ſo great aduerſities came vnto them for the deſpiſing thereof. 36 Onely God was the finder of wiſedome. 37 Of the incarnation of Chriſt.

O Lord Almightie, O God of Iſrael, the ſoule that is in trouble, and the ſpirite that is vexed, cryeth vnto thee.

2 Heare, O Lorde, and haue mercie: for thou art mercifull, and haue pitie vpon vs, becauſe we haue ſinned before thee.

3 For thou endureſt for euer, and wee vtterly periſh.

4 O Lorde Almightie, the God of Iſrael, heare nowe the prayer of the dead Iſraelites, and of their children, which haue ſinned before thee, and not hearkened vnto the voyce of thee their God, wherefore theſe plagues hang vpon vs.

5 Remember not the wickednes of our fathers, but thinke vpon thy power, and thy Name at this time.

6 For thou art the Lorde our God, and thee, O Lord, will we praiſe.

7 And for this cauſe haſt thou put thy feare in our hearts, that wee ſhoulde call vpon thy Name, & praiſe thee in our captiuitie: for we haue conſidered in our mindes all the wickednes of our fathers, that ſinned before thee.

8 Behold, wee are yet this day in our captiuitie, where thou haſt ſcattered vs, to be a reproch and a curſe, and ſubiect to payments, according to all the iniquities of our fathers, which are departed from the Lord their God.

9 O Iſrael, heare the commaundements of life: hearken vnto them, that thou mayeſt learne wiſedome.

10 What is the cauſe, O Iſrael, that thou art in thine enemies land, and art waxen olde in a ſtrange countrey?

11 And art defiled with the dead? and art counted with them, that goe downe to the graues?

12 Thou haſt forſaken the fountaine of wiſedome.

13 For if thou hadſt walked in the way of God, thou ſhouldeſt haue remained ſafe for euer.

14 Learne where is wiſedome, where is ſtrength, where is vnderſtanding, that thou mayeſt knowe alſo from whence commeth long continuance, and life, and where the light of the eyes, and peace is.

15 Who hath founde out her place? or who hath come into her treaſures?

16 Where are the princes of the heathen, and ſuch as ruled the beaſts vpon the earth?

17 They that had their paſtime with the foules of the heauen, that hoarded vp ſiluer and golde, wherein men truſt, and made none ende of their gathering?

18 For they that coyned ſiluer, and were ſo carefull of their worke, and whoſe inuention had none ende, 19 Are come to nought, and gone downe to hell, and other men are come vp in their ſteades.

20 When they were yong, they ſawe the light, and dwelt vpon the earth: but they vnderſtoode not the way of knowledge, 21 Neither perceiued the pathes thereof, neither haue their children receiued it: but they were farre off from that way.

22 It hath not bene heard of in the lande of Chanaan, neither hath it bene ſeene in Theman, 23 Nor the Agarines that ſought after wiſdome vpon the earth, nor the merchants of Merran, and of Theman, nor the expounders of fables, nor the ſearchers out of wiſedome haue knowen the way of wiſedome, neither doe they thinke vpon the paths thereof.

24 O Iſrael, how great is ꝓ̄ Houſe of God! and how large is the place of his poſſeſſion!

25 It is great, and hath none ende: it is hie, and vnmeaſurable.

25 There were the gyants, famous from the beginning, that were of ſo great ſtature, and ſo expert in warre.

27 Thoſe did not the Lord chooſe, neither gaue he the way of knowledge vnto them.

28 But they were deſtroyed, becauſe they had no wiſedome, and periſhed through their owne fooliſhneſſe.

29 Who hath gone vp into heauen, to take her, and brought her downe from the cloudes?

30 Who hath gone ouer the ſea to finde her, and hath brought her, rather then fine golde?

31 No man knoweth her wayes, neither conſidereth her paths.

32 But he that knoweth all things, knoweth her, and he hath found her out with his vnderſtanding: this ſame is he which hath prepared the earth for euermore, and hath filled it with fourefooted beaſtes.

33 When hee ſendeth out the light, it goeth: and when he calleth it againe, it obeyeth him with feare.

34 And the ſtarres ſhine in their watch, and reioyce. When he calleth them, they ſay, Here we be: and ſo with cheerefulneſſe they ſhew light vnto them that made them.

35 This is our God, and there ſhall none other be compared vnto him.

36 He hath found out all the way of knowledge, and hath giuen it vnto Iaakob his ſeruant, and to Iſrael his beloued.

37 Afterward hee was ſeene vpon earth, and dwelt among men.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The reward of them that keepe the Law, and the puniſhment of them that deſpiſe it. 12 A comforting of the people being in captiuitie. 19 A complaint of Ieruſalem and vnder the figure thereof the Church. 25 A conſolation and comforting of the ſame.

THis is the booke of the commandements of God, and the Lawe that endureth for euer: all they that keepe it, ſhall come to life: but ſuch as forſake it, ſhall die.

2 Turne thee, O Iacob, and take holde of it: walke by this brightnes before the light thereof.

3 Giue not thine honour to another, nor the things that are profitable vnto thee, to a ſtrange nation.

4 O Iſrael, we are bleſſed: for the things that are acceptable vnto God, are declared vnto vs.

5 Be of good comfort, O my people, which art the memoriall of Iſrael.

6 Ye are ſolde to the nations, not for your deſtruction: but becauſe yee prouoked God to wrath, ye were deliuered vnto the enemies.

7 For yee haue diſpleaſed him that made you, offering vnto deuils and not to God.

8 Ye haue forgotten him that created you, euen the euerlaſting God, and ye haue grieued Ieruſalem, that nouriſhed you.

9 When ſhee ſawe the wrath comming vpon you from God, ſhee ſayde, Hearken, yee that dwell about Sion: for God hath brought me into great heauineſſe.

10 I ſee the captiuitie of my ſonnes and daughters, which the euerlaſting will bring vpon them.

11 With ioy did I nouriſh them, but I muſt leaue them with weeping and mourning.

12 Let no man reioyce ouer mee a widow, and forſaken of many, which for the ſinnes of my children am deſolate, becauſe they departed from the Lawe of God.

13 They woulde not know his righteouſneſſe, nor walke in the wayes of his commandements: neither did they enter into the paths of diſcipline, through his righteouſneſſe.

14 Come, ye that dwell about Sion, and call to remembrance the captiuitie of my ſonnes ſonnes and daughters, which the euerlaſting hath brought vpon them.

15 For he hath brought vpon them a nation from farre, an impudent nation, and of a ſtrange language, 16 Which neither reuerence the aged, nor pitie the yong: theſe haue caried away the deare beloued of the widowes, leauing mee alone, and deſtitute of my daughters.

17 But what can I helpe you?

18 Surely hee that hath brought theſe plagues vpon you, can deliuer you from the hands of your enemies.

19 Goe your way, O children, goe your way: for I am left deſolate.

20 I haue put off the clothing of peace, and put vpon me the ſackcloth of prayer, & ſo long as I liue, I will call vpon the Euerlaſting.

21 Bee of good comfort, O children: crie vnto God, and hee will deliuer you from the power, and hand of the enemies.

22 For I haue hope of your ſaluation through the Euerlaſting, and ioy is come vpon me from the Holy one, becauſe of the mercie, which ſhall quickely come vnto you from our euerlaſting Sauiour.

23 For I ſent you away with weeping, and mourning: but with ioy and perpetuall gladneſſe will God bring you againe vnto me.

24 Like as now the neighbours of Sion ſaw your captiuitie, ſo ſhall they alſo ſee ſhortly your ſaluation from God, which ſhall come vnto you with great glory, and brightneſſe from the Euerlaſting.

25 My children, ſuffer patiently the wrath that is come vpon you from God: for thine enemie hath perſecuted thee, but ſhortly thou ſhalt ſee his deſtruction, and ſhalt treade vpon his necke.

26 My dearlings haue gone by rough wayes, and were led away as a flocke that is ſcattered by the enemies.

27 Be of good comfort, my children, and crie vnto God: for he that led you away, hath you in remembrance.

28 And as it came into your minde to goe aſtray from your God, ſo endeuour your ſelues ten times more, to turne againe and to ſeeke him.

29 For he that hath brought theſe plagues vpon you, will bring you euerlaſting ioy againe, with your ſaluation.

30 Take a good heart, O Jeruſalem: for he which gaue thee that name, will comfort thee.

31 They are miſerable that afflict thee, and ſuch as reioyce at thy fall.

32 The cities are miſerable whome thy children ſerue: miſerable is ſhee that hath taken thy ſonnes.

33 For as ſhee reioyced at thy decay, and was glad of thy fall, ſo ſhall ſhee be ſory for her owne deſolation.

34 For I will take away the reioycing of her great multitude, and her ioy ſhalbe turned into mourning.

35 For a fire ſhall come vpon her from the Euerlaſting, long to endure, and ſhee ſhall bee inhabited of deuils for a great ſeaſon.

36 O Jeruſalem, looke now toward the Eaſt, and behold, the ioy that commeth vnto thee from thy God.

37 Loe, thy ſonnes (whome thou haſt let goe) come gathered together from the Eaſt vnto the Weſt, reioycing in the worde of the Holy one vnto the honour of God.

CHAP. V.

1 Jeruſalem is moued vnto gladneſſe for the returne of her people, and vnder the figure thereof the Church.

PVt off thy mourning clothes, O Jeruſalem, and thine affliction, and decke thee with the worſhip and honour, that commeth vnto thee from God, for euermore.

2 Put on the garment of righteouſnes, that commeth from God, and ſet a crowne vpon thine head of the glory of the Euerlaſting.

3 For God will declare thy brightneſſe to euery countrey vnder the heauen.

4 And God will name thee by this name for euer, The peace of righteouſneſſe, and the glory of the worſhip of God.

5 Ariſe, O Jeruſalem, and ſtand vp on hie, and looke about thee toward the Eaſt, and behold thy children gathered from the Eaſt vnto the Weſt by the worde of the holy one, reioycing in the remembrance of God.

6 For they departed from thee on foote, and were led away of their enemies: but God will bring them againe vnto thee, exalted in glory, as children of the kingdome.

7 For God hath determined to bring downe euery hie mountaine, and the long enduring rockes, and to fill the valleys, to make the grounde plaine, that Iſrael may walke ſafely vnto the honour of God.

8 The woods and all ſweete ſmelling trees ſhall ouerſhadow Iſrael at the commandement of God.

9 For God ſhall bring Iſrael with ioy in the light of his maieſtie, with the mercie and righteouſneſſe that commeth of him.

CHAP. VI.

A COPIE OF THE EPISTLE THAT Ieremias ſent vnto them that were ledde away captiues into Babylon by the King of the Babylonians, to certifie them of the thing that was commanded him of God.

BEcauſe of the ſinnes, that yee haue committed againſt God, yee ſhall be led away captiues vnto Babylon, by Nabuchodonoſor, King of the Babylonians.

2 So when yee bee come into Babylon, yee shall remaine there many yeeres, and a long season, euen seuen generations, and after that I will bring you againe peaceably from thence.

*Isai.44.10. psal.115.9. wisd.13.10.

3 *Nowe shall ye see in Babylon gods of siluer, and of golde, and of wood, borne vpon mens shoulders, to cause the people to feare.

4 Beware therefore that ye in no wise bee like the strangers, neither be ye afraid of them, when ye see the multitude before them and behinde them worshipping them,

5 But say ye in your hearts, O Lord, wee must worshipther.

6 For mine Angell shall be with you, and shall care for your soules.

7 As for their tongue, it is polished by the carpenter, and they themselues are gilted, and laid ouer with siluer: yet are they but lies, and cannot speake.

8 And as they take golde for a maide that loueth to be dect,

9 So make the crownes for the heads of their gods: sometimes also the Priests themselues conuey away the gold, and siluer from their gods, and bestow it vpon themselues.

10 Yea, they giue of the same vnto the harlots, that are in their houses: againe, they decke these gods of siluer, and gods of golde, and of wood with garments like men,

11 Yet cannot they be preserued from rust and wormes,

13 Though they haue couered them with clothing of purple, and wipe their faces because of the dust of the Temple, whereof there is much vpon them.

13 One holdeth a scepter, as though hee were a certaine iudge of the countrey: yet can he not slay such as offend him.

14 An other hath a dagger or an axe in his right hand: yet is hee not able to defend himselfe from battell, nor from thieues: so then it is euident, that they be no gods.

15 Therefore feare them not: for as a vessell that a man vseth, is nothing worth when it is broken,

16 Such are their gods: when they be set vp in their temples their eyes bee full of dust by reason of the feete of those that come in:

‖Or, courts.

17 And as the ‖ gates are shut in rounde about vpon him thath hath offended the king: or as one that should be led to be put to death: so the priestes keepe their temples with doores, and with lockes, and with barres, lest their gods should be spoyled by robbers.

18 They light vp candles before them, yea, more then for themselues, whereof they cannot see one: for they are but as one of the postes of the temple.

19 They confesse, that euen their heartes are gnawen vpon: but when the things that creepe out of the earth, eate them and their clothes, they feele it not.

20 Their faces are blacke through the smoke that is in the temple.

21 The owles, swallowes and birdes flie vpon their bodies, and vpon their heads, yea, and the cats also.

22 By this yee may bee sure, that they are not gods: therefore feare them not.

23 Notwithstanding the gold, that is about them to make them beautifull, except one wipe off the rust, they cannot shine: neither when they were molten, did they feele it.

24 The things wherein is no breath, are bought for a most high price.

*Isai.46.7.

25 *They are borne vpon mens shoulders, because they haue no feete, whereby they declare vnto men, that they bee nothing worth: yea, and they that worship them, are ashamed.

26 For if they fall to the ground at any time, they cannot rise vp againe of themselues, neither if one set them vpright, can they moue of themselues, neither if they be bowed down, can they make themselues streight: but they set gifts before them, as vnto dead men.

27 As for the things that are offered vnto them, their priestes sell them, and abuse them: likewise also the women lay vp of ỹ same: but vnto the poore and sicke they giue nothing.

29 The menstruous women, and they that are in childbed, touch their sacrifices: by these things yee may knowe that they are no gods: feare them not.

26 From whence cõmeth it then, that they are called gods? because the women bring gifts to the gods of siluer, and gold, and wood.

30 And the priestes sit in their temples, hauing their clothes rent, whose heads and beards are shauen, and being bare headed,

31 They roare, and cry before their gods, as men doe at the feast of one that is dead.

32 The priestes also take away of their garments, and clothe their wiues & children.

33 Whether it be euill that one doeth, vnto them or good, they are not able to recompence it: they can neither set vp a king nor put him downe.

34 In like maner they can neither giue riches, nor money: though a man make a vowe vnto them and keepe it not, they will not require it.

35 They can saue no man from death, neither deliuer the weake from the mightie.

36 They can not restore a blinde man to his sight, nor helpe any man at his needs.

37 They can shewe no mercie to the widowe, nor doe good to the fatherlesse, 38 Their gods of wood, gold, and siluer, are

are as ſtones, that bee hewen out of the mountaine, and they that worſhip them, ſhalbe confounded.

39 Howe ſhould a man then thinke or ſay that they are Gods?

40 Moreouer the Chaldeans themſelues diſhonoured them: for when they ſee a dumme man, that cannot ſpeake, they preſent him to Bel, 41 And deſire that he would make him to ſpeake, as though he had any feeling: yet they that vnderſtand theſe things, can not leaue them: for they alſo haue no ſenſe.

42 Furthermore the women, girded with coardes, ſit in the ſtreetes, and burne ‖ ſtraw. ‖ Or, braune.

43 And if one of them bee drawen away, and lie with any ſuch as come by, ſhee caſteth her neighbour in the teeth, becauſe ſhee was not ſo worthily reputed, nor her coard broken.

44 Whatſoeuer is done among them, is lies: how then may it be thought or ſaid, that they are gods?

45 Carpenters and goldſmithes make them, neither be they any other thing, but euen what the workeman will make them.

46 Yea, they that make them, are of no long continuance: howe ſhoulde then the things that are made of them, be gods?

47 Therefore they leaue lies, and ſhame for their poſteritie.

48 For when there commeth any warre or plague vpon them, the Prieſtes imagine with themſelues, where they may hide themſelues with them.

49 How then can men not perceiue, that they bee no gods, which can neither defend themſelues, from warre nor from plagues?

50 For * ſeeing they bee but of wood, and of ſiluer, and of golde, men ſhall knowe hereafter that they are but lies, and it ſhall bee manifeſt to all nations and kings, that they bee no gods, but the workes of mens handes, and that there is no worke of God in them. *Pſal.115.4. wiſd.13.10.

51 Whereby it may be knowen that they are no Gods.

52 They can ſet vp no king in the land, nor giue raine vnto men.

53 They can giue no ſentence of a matter, neither preſerue from iniurie: they haue no power, but are as crowes betweene the heauen and the earth.

54 When there falleth a fire vpon the houſe of thoſe gods of wood, and of ſiluer, and of golde, the prieſtes will eſcape and ſaue themſelues, but they burne as the balkes therein.

55 They cannot withſtand any King or enemies: howe can it then be thought or ſaid that they be gods?

56 Moreouer theſe gods of wood, of gold, and of ſiluer can neither defende themſelues from thieues and robbers.

57 For they that are ſtrongeſt, take away their golde and ſiluer, and apparell, wherewith they be clothed: and when they haue it, they get them away: yet can they not helpe themſelues.

58 Therefore it is better to bee a king, and ſo to ſhewe his power, or elſe a profitable veſſell in an houſe, whereby hee that oweth it, might haue profite, then ſuch falſe gods: or to bee a doore in an houſe, to keepe ſuch things ſafe as bee therein, then ſuch falſe gods: or a pillar of wood in a palace, then ſuch falſe gods.

59 For the ſunne, and the moone, and the ſtarres that ſhine, when they are ſent downe for neceſſary vſes, obey.

60 Likewiſe alſo the lightning, when it ſhineth, it is euident: and the winde bloweth in euery countrey.

61 And when God commaundeth the cloudes to goe about the whole worlde, they doe as they are bidden.

62 When the fire is ſent downe from aboue to deſtroy hilles and woods, it doth that which is cõmanded: but theſe are not like any of theſe things, neither in forme, nor power.

63 Wherefore men ſhoulde not thinke, nor ſay that they be gods, ſeeing they can neither giue ſentence in iudgement, nor doe men good.

64 For ſo much now as yee are ſure, that they be no gods, feare them not.

65 For they can neither curſe, nor bleſſe kings:

66 Neither can they ſhewe ſignes in the heauen among the heathen, neither ſhine as the moone.

67 The beaſtes are better then they: for they can get them vnder a couert, and doe themſelues good.

68 So yee may bee certified that by no manner of meanes, they are gods: therefore feare them not.

69 For as a ſcarrecrowe in a garden of cucumbers keepeth nothing, ſo are their gods of wood, and of ſiluer, and of golde:

70 And likewiſe their gods of wood, and gold and ſiluer are like to a white thorne in an orchard, that euery bird ſitteth vpon, and as a dead body that is caſt in the darke.

71 By the purple alſo and brightneſſe, which fadeth vpon them, yee may vnderſtand, that they bee no gods: yea, they themſelues ſhall be conſumed at the laſt, and they ſhall bee a ſhame to the countrey.

72 Better therefore is the iuſt man, that hath none idoles: for he ſhall be farre from reproofe,

The ſong of the three holy children, which followeth in the third Chapter of Daniel after this place, They fell downe bound in the middes of the hote fierie fornace.

CHAP. I.

25 The prayer of Azarias. 46 The cruelties of the King. 48 The flame deuoureth the Chaldeans, 49 The Angell of the Lord was in the fornace. 51 The three children prayſe the Lorde and prouoke all creatures to the ſame.

24 AND they walked in the middes of the flame, prayſing God and magnified the Lord.

25 Then Azarias ſtoode vp, and prayed on this maner, and opening his mouth in the mids of the fire, ſayd, 26 Bleſſed be thou, O Lord God of our fathers: thy Name is worthy to be prayſed and and honoured for euermore.

27 For thou art righteous in all the things, that thou haſt done vnto vs, and all thy workes are true, and thy wayes are right, and all thy iudgements certaine.

28 In all theſe things that thou haſt brought vpon vs, and vpon Ieruſalem, the holy citie of our fathers, thou haſt executed true iudgements: for by right and equitie haſt thou brought all theſe things vpon vs, becauſe of our ſinnes.

29 For we haue ſinned and done wickedly, departing from thee: in all things haue we treſpaſſed, 30 And not obeyed thy commandements, nor kept them, neither done as thou haddeſt commanded vs, that we might proſper.

31 Wherefore in all that thou haſt brought vpon vs, and in euery thing that thou haſt done to vs, thou haſt done them in true iudgement:

32 And in deliuering vs into the hands of our wicked enemies, and moſt hatefull traitours, and to an vnrighteous king, and the moſt wicked in all the world.

33 And nowe wee may not open our mouthes: wee are become a ſhame and reproofe vnto thy ſeruants, and to them that worſhip thee.

34 Yet for thy names ſake, wee beſeech thee, giue vs not vp for euer, neither breake thy couenant,

35 Neither take away thy mercy from vs, for thy beloued Abrahams ſake, and for thy ſeruant Iſaacs ſake, and for thine holy Iſracls ſake, 36 To whome thou haſt ſpoken and promiſed, that thou wouldeſt multiplie their ſeed as the ſtarres of heauen, and as the ſand, that is vpon the ſea ſhore.

37 For we, O Lord, are become leſſe then any nation, and bee kept vnder this day in all the world, becauſe of our ſinnes:

38 So that nowe we haue neither prince, nor prophet, nor gouernour, nor burnt offring, nor ſacrifice, nor oblation, nor incenſe, nor place to offer the firſt fruites before thee, that wee might finde mercie.

39 Neuertheleſſe in a contrite heart and an humble ſpirit, let vs be receiued.

40 As in the burnt offering of rammes and bullockes, and as in tenne thouſande of fatte lambes, ſo let our offering bee in thy ſight this day, that it may pleaſe thee: for there is no confuſion vnto them that put their truſt in thee.

41 And now we followe thee with all our heart, and feare thee, and ſeeke thy face.

42 Put vs not to ſhame, but deale with vs after thy louing kindneſſe, and according to the multitude of thy mercies.

43 Deliuer vs alſo by the miracles, and giue thy Name the glorie, O Lord, 44 That all they which doe thy ſeruants euill, may bee confounded: euen let them bee confounded by thy great force and power, and let their ſtrength be broken,

45 That they may knowe, that thou onely art the Lorde God, & glorious ouer the whole world.

46 ¶ Nowe the kings ſeruants that had caſt them in, ceaſed not to make the ouen hote with naphtha, and with pitch, and with towe, and with fagots, 47 So that the flame went out of the fornace fourtie and nine cubites.

48 And it brake forth, and burnt thoſe Chaldeans, that it found by the fornace.

49 But the Angel of the Lord went down into the fornace with them that were with Azarias, and ſmote the flame of the fire out of the fornace, 50 And made in the middes of the fornace like a moyſt hiſſing winde, ſo that the fire touched them not at all, neither grieued nor troubled them.

51 Then theſe three (as out of one mouth) prayſed, and glorified, and bleſſed God in the fornace, ſaying, 52 Bleſſed bee thou, O Lorde God of our fathers, and prayſed, & exalted aboue all things for euer, and bleſſed bee thy glorious and holy Name, and praiſed aboue all things, and magnified for euer.

53 Bleſſed be thou in the Temple of thine holy holy glorie, and prayſed aboue all things, and exalted for euer.

54 Bleſſed bee thou that beholdeſt the depthes, and ſitteſt vpon the Cherubims, and prayſed aboue all thinges, and exalted for euer.

55 Bleſſed be thou in the glorious Throne of the kingdome, and prayſed aboue all things, and exalted for euer.

56 Bleſſed be thou in the firmament of heaueu, and prayſed aboue all things, and glorified for euer.

57 All ye workes of the Lord, bleſſe ye the Lord: praiſe him, and exalt him aboue al things for euer.

THE

THE HISTORIE OF ‖SV- ‖Or, Sosanna.

sanna, which some ioyne to the end of Daniel, and make it the thirteeneth Chapter.

3 The two gouernours are taken with the loue of Susanna. 19 They take her alone in the garden 20 They solicite her to wickednesse. 23 She chuseth rather to obey God, though it be to the danger of her life. 34 She is accused. 45 Daniel deliuereth her. 62 The gouernours are put to death.

THere dwelt a man in Babylon called Joacim,

2 And hee tooke a wife, whose name was Sulanna, the daughter of Helcias, a very faire woman, and one that feared God.

3 Her father and her mother also were godly people, and taught their daughter according to the Law of Moses.

4 Nowe Joacim was a great rich man, and had a faire garden ioyning vnto his house, and to him resorted the Iewes, because hee was more honourable then all others.

5 The same yeere were appoynted two of the ancients of the people to be iudges, such as the Lorde speaketh of, that the iniquitie came from Babylon, and from the ancient Iudges, which seemed to rule the people.

6 These haunted Joacims house, and all such as had any thing to do in the Lawe, came thither vnto them.

7 Now when the people departed away at noone, Sulanna went into her husbands garden to walke.

8 And the two Elders sawe her that shee went in dayly and walked, so that their lust was inflamed toward her.

9 Therefore they turned away their mind, and cast downe their eyes, that they shoulde not see heauen, nor remember iust iudgements.

10 And albeit they were both wounded with her loue, yet durst not one shew another his griefe.

11 For they were ashamed to declare their lust, that they desired to haue to doe with her.

12 Yet they watched diligently from day to day to see her.

13 And the one sayde to the other, let vs go now home, for it is dinner time.

14 So they went their way, and departed one from another: yet they returned againe, and came into the same place, and after that they had asked one another the cause, they acknowledged their lust: then appoynted they a time both together when they might finde her alone.

15 Now when they had spied out a conuenient time that shee went in, as her manner was, with two maydes onely, and thought to wash herselfe in the garden (for it was an hote season)

16 And there was no body there, saue the two Elders that had hid themselues, and watched for her.

17 Shee sayde to her maides, Bring mee oyle, and sope, and shut the garden doores, that I may wash me.

18 And they did as shee bad them, and shut the garden doores, and went out themselues at a backe doore, to fet the thing that she had commanded them: but they sawe not the Elders, because they were hid.

19 Nowe when the maydes were gone foorth, the two Elders rose vp and ranne vnto her, saying, 20 Beholde, the garden doores are shut, that no man can see vs, and we burne in loue, with thee: therefore consent vnto vs, and lye with vs.

21 If thou wilt not, we will beare witnes againe thee, that a yong man was with thee: and therefore thou didst send away thy maides from thee.

22 Then Sulanna sighed, and sayd, I am in trouble one euery side: for if I do this thing, it is death vnto me, and if I doe it not I can not escape your hands.

23 It is better for mee to fall into your hands, and not to do it, then to sinne in the sight of the Lord.

24 With that Sulanna cryed with a loude voyce, and the two Elders cryed out against her.

25 Then ranne the one, and opened the garden doore.

26 ¶ So when the seruants of the house heard the cry in the garden, they rushed in at the backe doore, to see what was done vnto her.

27 But when the Elders had declared their matter, the seruants were greatly ashamed: for there was neuer such a report made of Sulanna:

28 On the morrowe after, came the people to Joacim her husband, and the two Elders came also, full of mischieuous imagination against Sulanna, to put her to death.

29 And sayd before the people, Send for Sulanna the daughter of Helcias Joacims wife. And immediatly they sent.

30 So

30 So shee came with her father and mother, her children and her kinred.

31 Nowe Susanna was very tender, and faire of face.

32 And these wicked men commanded to vncouer her face (for shee was couered) that they might so be satisfied with her beautie.

33 Therefore they that were about her, and all they that knew her, wept.

34 Then the two Elders stood vp in the mids of the people, and layed their hands vpon her head, 35 Which wept & looked vp toward heauen: for her heart trusted in the Lord.

36 And the Elders sayd, As we walked in the garden alone, she came in with two maids, whom shee sent away from her, and shut the garden doores.

37 Then a yong man which there was hid, came vnto her, and lay with her.

38 Then wee which stoode in a corner of the garden, seeing this wickednesse, ranne vnto them, and wee saw them as they were together, 39 But we could not hold him: for he was stronger then we, and opened the doore, and leaped out.

40 Now when we had taken this woman, we asked her what yoong man this was, but she would not tell vs: of these things are wee witnesses.

41 Then the assemblie beleeued them, as those that were the Elders and Iudges of the people: so they condemned her to death.

42 Then Susanna cried out with a loude voice, and said, O euerlasting God, that knowest the secrets, & knowest all things afore they come to passe, 43 Thou knowest, that they haue borne false witnes against me, & beholde I must die, whereas I neuer did such things as these men haue maliciously inuented against me.

44 And the Lord heard her voyce.

45 ¶ Therefore when shee was led to be put to death, the Lord raised vp the holy spirit of a yong childe, whose name was Daniel.

46 Who cried with a loud voice, I am cleane from the blood of this woman.

47 Then all the people turned them toward him, and said, What meane these words, that thou hast spoken?

48 Then Daniel stoode in the middes of them, and sayd, Are ye such fooles, O Israelites, that without examination, or knowledge of the trueth, ye haue condemned a daughter of Israel?

49 Returne againe to iudgement: for they haue borne false witnesse against her.

50 Wherefore the people turned againe in all haste, and the Elders sayde vnto him, Come, sit downe among vs, and shew it vs, seeing God hath giuen thee the office of an Elder.

51 Then sayde Daniel vnto them, Put these two aside, one farre from another, and I will examine them.

52 So when they were put asunder, one from another, he called one of them and sayde vnto him, O thou that art olde in a wicked life, nowe thy sinnes which thou hast committed afore time are come to light.

53 For thou hast pronounced false iudgements, and hast condemned the innocent, and hast let the guilty goe free, albeit the Lorde saith, *The innocent and righteous shalt thou not slay. *Exod.23.7.

54 Nowe then, if thou hast seene her, tell me, vnder what tree sawest thou them companying together? Who answered, Vnder a lentisk tree.

55 Then sayd Daniel, Verely thou hast lyed against thine owne ‖head: for loe, the Angel of God hath receiued sentence of God to cut thee in two, ‖Or, life.

56 So put he him aside, and commanded to bring the other, and sayde vnto him, O thou seede of Chanaan, and not of Iuda, beautie hath deceiued thee, & lust hath subuerted thine heart.

57 Thus haue you dealt with the daughters of Israel, and they for feare companied with you, but the daughter of Iuda would not abide your wickednesse.

58 Nowe therefore tell mee, vnder what tree diddest thou take them companying together? Who answered, Vnder a ‖prime tree. ‖Or, mirtle tree.

59 Then sayde Daniel vnto him, Verely thou hast also lyed against thine head: for the Angel of God waiteth with a sword to cut thee in two, and so to destroy you both.

60 ¶ With that all the whole assembly cryed with a loude voyce, and prayed God, which saueth them that trust in him.

61 And they arose against the two Elders, (for Daniel hath conuict them of false witnesse by their owne mouth.)

62 *And according to the Lawe of Moyses they dealt with them, as they deale wickedly against their neyghbour, and put them to death. Thus the innocent blood was saued the same day. *Deut.19.19. prou.19.2.

63 Therefore Helcias, and his wife praysed God for their daughter Susanna, with Joacim her husband, and all the kinred, that there was no dishonestie found in her.

64 From that day forth was Daniel had in great reputation in the sight of the people.

65 And king Astiages was laid with his fathers, & Cyrus of Persia reigned in his stead.

THE

THE HISTORIE OF BEL

and of the Dragon, which is the fourteenth chapter of Daniel after the Latine.

NOwe when king Astyages was layd with his fathers, Cyrus the Persian receiued his kingdome.

2 And Daniel did eat at the kings table, and was honoured aboue all his friends.

3 Nowe the Babylonians had an idole called Bel, and there were spent vpon him euery day ewelue ‖ great measures of fine floure, and fourtie sheepe, and sixe great ‖ pots of wine.

Called Artaba, whereof euery one conteyned somewhat more then nine gallons, which make vi al an hundreth and eyght gallons, at the least. ‖ Called Metretes, and euery one of these measures contained about xxvii gallons, which in al make cccxxxvi.

4 And the King worshipped it, and went daily to honour it: but Daniel worshipped his owne God. And the king said vnto him, Why doest not thou worship Bel?

5 Who answered and sayde, Because I may not worship idoles made with handes, but the liuing God, which hath created the heauen and the earth, and hath power vpon all flesh.

6 Then sayd the king vnto him, Thinkest thou not that Bel is a liuing God? Seest thou not how much hee eateth and drinketh euery day?

7 Then Daniel smiled and said, O king, be not deceiued: for this is but clay within, and brasse without, and did neuer eate any thing.

8 So the king was wroth, and called for his Priests, and sayd vnto them; If ye tell me not, who this is that eateth vp these expenses, ye shall die:

9 But if ye can certifie mee that Bel eateth them, then Daniel shall die: for hee hath spoken blasphemie against Bel. And Daniel sayde vnto the king, Let it be according to thy word.

10 (Now the Priests of Bel were threescore and tenne, beside their wiues and children:) and the king went with Daniel into the Temple of Bel.

11 So Bels Priests said, Behold, we wil goe out, and set thou the meate there, O king, and let the wine bee filled: then shut the doore fast, and seale it with thine owne signet:

12 And to morow when thou comest in, if thou findest not that Bel hath eaten vp all, we will suffer death, or else Daniel that hath lyed vpon vs.

13 Nowe they thought themselues sure ynough: for vnder the table they had made a priuie entrance, and there went they in euer, and tooke away the things.

14 So when they were gone forth, the king set meate before Bel. Now Daniel had commaunded his seruants to bring ashes, and these they strowed throughout the Temple, in the presence of the king alone: then went they out, and shut the doore, and sealed it with the kings signet, and so departed.

15 Nowe in the night came the Priestes, with their wiues and children, (as they were wont to do) and did eat and drinke vp all.

16 In the morning betimes, the king arose and Daniel with him.

17 And the king said, Daniel are the seales whole? Who answered, Yea, O king, they bee whole.

18 And assoone as he had opened the doore, the king looked vpon the table, and cryed with a loude voyce, Great art thou O Bel, and with thee is no deceit.

16 Then laughed Daniel, and held the king that he should not go in, and sayd Behold now the pauement, and marke wel whose footsteps are these.

20 And the king sayde, I see the footsteps of men, women, and children: therefore the king was angry, 21 And took the Priests, with their wiues, and children, and they shewed him the priuie doores, where they came in, and consumed such things as were vpon the table, 22 Therefore the king slewe them, and deliuered Bel into Daniels power, who destroyed him and his temple.

23 ¶ Moreouer in that same place there was a great Dragon, which the Babylonians worshipped.

24 And the king sayd vnto Daniel, Sayest thou, that this is of brasse also? loe, he liueth and eateth and drinketh, so that thou canst not say, that he is no liuing God: therefore worship him.

25 Then sayd Daniel vnto the king, I wil worship the Lord my God: for he is the liuing God.

26 But giue me leaue, O king, and I will slay this Dragon without sword or staffe. And the king sayd, I giue thee leaue.

27 Then Daniel tooke pitch and fat, and haire, and did seeth them together, and made lumpes thereof: this hee put in the Dragons mouth, and so the Dragon burst in sunder. And Daniel sayde, Beholde, whom yee worship.

27 When the Babylonians heard, they were wonderfull wroth, and gathered them together against the king, saying, The king is is become a Iewe: for he hath destroyed Bel, and hath slaine the Dragon, & put the Priests to death.

29 So they came to the king, and said, Deliuer vs Daniel, or els we will destroy thee and thine house.

30 Nowe when the king sawe that they pressed sore vpon him, and that necessitie constrayned him hee deliuered Daniel vnto them.

31 Who cast him into the Lyons denne, where he was sixe dayes.

32 In the denne there were seuen Lyons, and they had giuen them euery day two bodies and two sheep, which then were not giuen them, to the intent that they might deuoure Daniel.

33 ¶ Nowe there was in Iewrie a prophet called Abbacuc, which had made pottage, and broken bread into a bowle, and was going into the fielde for to bring it to the reapers.

34 But the Angell of the Lorde sayde to Abbacuc, Goe, carry the meate that thou hast, into Babylon vnto Daniel, which is in the Lions denne.

35 And abbacuc sayd, Lord, I neuer sawe Babylon, neyther do I know where the denne is.

36 Then the Angel took him by the crown of the head, and bare him by the haire of the head, and through a mightie winde set him in Babylon vpon the denne.

37 And Abbacuc cryed, saying, O Daniel, Daniel, take the dinner that God hath sent thee.

38 Then sayd Daniel, O God, thou hast thought vpon mee, and thou neuer failest them that seeke thee and loue thee.

39 So Daniel arose, and did eat, and the Angell of the Lorde set Abbacuc in his owne place againe immediatly.

40 Upon the seuenth day, the king went to bewaile Daniel: and when hee came to the denne, he looked in, and behold, Daniel sate in the mids of the Lyons.

41 Then cryed the king with a loude voyce, saying, Great art thou O Lord God of Daniel, and there is none other besides thee.

42 And he drew him out of the denne, and cast them that were the cause of his destruction into the denne, and they were deuoured in a moment before his face.

THE FIRST BOOKE of the Maccabees.

CHAP. I.

1 The death of Alexander the king of Macedonia. 11 Antiochus taketh the kingdome. 12 Many of the children of Israel make a couenant with the Gentiles. 21 Antiochus subdueth Egypt and Ierusalem vnto his dominion. 50 Antiochus setteth vp idoles.

AFter that Alexander the Macedonian, the sonne of Philip, went foorth of the lande of Chettim, and slewe Darius king of the Persians and Medes, and reigned for him, as he had before in Grecia,

2 Hee tooke great warres in hande, and wanne strong holdes, and slew the kings of the earth.

3 So went hee thorowe to the ends of the world, and tooke spoyles of many nations, in so much that the world stoode in awe of him: therfore his heart was puffed vp and was hautie.

4 Nowe when hee had gathered a mightie strong hoste,

5 And had raigned ouer regions, nations and kingdomes, they became tributaries vnto him.

6 After these things he fell sicke and knew that he should die.

7 Then he called for the chiefe of his seruants, which had bene brought vp with him of children, and parted his kingdom among them, whiles he was yet aliue.

8 So Alexander had reigned twelue yeres when he died.

9 And his seruants reigned euery one in his roome.

10 And they all caused themselues to bee crowned after his death, & so did their children after them many yeeres, and much wickednes increased in the world.

11 Forout of these came the wicked roote, euen Antiochus | Epiphanes, the sonne of king Antiochus, which had bene an hostage at Rome, and he reigned in the hundreth and seuen and thirtieth yeere of the kingdome of the Grekes. | Or, Noble.

12 In those dayes went there out of Israel wicked men, which intised many, saying, Let vs goe, and make a couenant with the heathen that are round about vs: for since we departed from them, we haue had much sorow.

13 So this deuice pleased them well.

14 And certaine of the people were readie, and went to the king, which gaue them licence, to doe after the ordinances of the heathen.

15 Then

Ioseph. Antiq. 12. Chap. 6.

15 Then set they vp a place of exercise at Ierusalem, according to the facions of the heathen,

16 And made themselues [a] vncircumcised, and forsooke the holy Couenant, and ioyned themselues to the heathen, and were sold to doe mischiefe.

[a] By drawing the skinne ouer the part that was circumcised, as Celi. 7. chap. 25. Epiph. li. de pon. lerib. & mensuris.

17 So when Antiochus kingdom was set in order, he went about to reigne ouer Egypt, that hee might haue the dominion of two Realmes.

18 Therefore he entred into Egypt with a mightie companie, with charets, and Elephants, and with horsemen, and with a great nauie.

19 And mooued warre against Ptolemeus King of Egypt: but Ptolemeus was afraide of him, and fled, and many were wounded to death.

20 Thus Antiochus wanne many strong cities in the land of Egypt, and tooke away the spoyles of the land of Egypt.

21 And after that Antiochus had smitten Egypt, he turned againe in the hundreth fourtie and three yeere, 22 And went vp towarde Israel and Ierusalem with a mightie people,

23 And entred proudely into the Sanctuarie, and tooke away the golden altar, and the candlestick for the light, and al the instruments thereof, and the table of the shewe bread, and the powring vessels, and the bowles, and the golden basins, and the vaile, and the crownes, and the golden apparrell which was before the Temple, and brake all in pieces.

24 Hee tooke also the siluer and golde, and the precious iewels, and hee tooke the secrete treasures that he found, and when he had taken away all he departed into his owne land.

25 After he had murthered many men, and spoken very proudly.

26 Therefore there was a great lamentation in euery place of Israel.

27 For the Princes and the Elders mourned: the yong women and the yong men were made feeble, and the beautie of the women was changed.

28 Euery bridegroome tooke him to mourning, and shee that sate in the marriage chamber, was in heauinesse.

29 The land also was mooued for the inhabitants thereof: for all the house of Iacob was couered with confusion.

30 After two yeres the king sent his chiefe Tarmaster into the cities of Iuda, which came to Ierusalem with a great multitude.

31 Who spake peaceable wordes vnto them in deceite, and they gaue credite vnto him.

32 Then hee fell suddenly vpon the citie, and smote it with a great plague, and destroied much people of Israel.

33 And when he had spoyled the citie, hee set fire one it, casting down the houses thereof, and walles thereof on euery side.

34 The women and their children tooke they captiue, and led away the cattel.

35 Then fortified they the citie of Dauid with a great and thicke wall, and with mighty towres, and made it a strong holde for them.

36 Moreouer they set wicked people there, and vngodly persons, and fortified themselues therein.

37 And they stored it with weapons and vitailes, and gathered the spoyle of Ierusalem, and laide it vp there.

38 Thus became they a sore snare and were in ambushment for the Sanctuarie, and were wicked enemies euermore vnto Israel.

39 For they shed innocent blood on euery side of the Sanctuarie, and defiled the Sanctuarie.

40 In so much that the citizens of Ierusalem fled away because of them, and it became an habitation of strangers, beeing desolate of them whome she had borne: for her owne children did leaue her.

41 Her Sanctuary was left waste as a wildernes: her holy dayes were turned into mourning, her Sabbaths into reproche, and her honour brought to nought.

42 As her glory had bene great, so was her dishonour, and her excellencie was turned into sorow.

43 Also the king wrote vnto all his kingdome, that all the people should be as one, and that euery man should leaue his lawes. Ioseph. Antiq. Chap. 6, & 7.

44 And all the heathen agreed to the commandement of the King.

45 Yea, many of the Israelites consented to his religion, offering vnto idoles, and defiling the Sabbath.

46 So the King sent letters by the messengers vnto Ierusalem, and to the cities of Iuda, that they should follow ẏ strange lawes of the country, 47 And that they shoulde forbid the burnt offerings, and sacrifices, and the ‖ offrings in the Sanctuarie, ‖ Or, drinke offring.

48 And that they shoulde defile the Sabbaths and the feastes,

49 And pollute the Sanctuarie and the holy men,

50 And so set vp altars, and groues, and chappels of idoles, and offer vp swines flesh, and vncleane beasts.

51 And that they shoulde leaue their children vncircumcised, and defile their soules with vncleannes, and pollute themselues, that they might forget the Lawe, and change all the ordinances,

52 And

52 And that whosoeuer woulde not doe according to the commaundement of the king, should suffer death.

53 In like manner wrote hee throughout all his kingdomes, and set ouerseers ouer all the people, for to compell them to doe these things.

54 And he commanded the cities of Juda to doe sacrifice, citie by citie.

55 Then went many of the people vnto them by heapes, euery one that forsooke the Law, and so they committed euill in the land.

56 And they droue the Israelites into secret places, euen whersoeuer they coulde flee for succour.

57 The fifteenth day of Calleu, in the hundreth and fiue and fourtieth yeere, they set vp the abomination of desolation vpon the altar, and they builded altars throughout the cities of Juda on euery side.

58 And before the doores of the houses, and in the streetes they burnt incense.

59 And the bookes of the Lawe, which they found, they burnt in the fire, and cut in pieces.

60 Whosoeuer had a booke of the Testament found by him, or whosoeuer consented vnto the Lawe, the kings commaundement was, that they should put him to death by their authoritie.

61 And they executed these things euery moneth vpon the people of Israel that were found in the cities.

62 And in the fiue & twentieth day of the moneth, they did sacrifice vpon the altar, which was in the stead of the altar of sacrifices.

63 And according to the commaundement, they put certaine women to death, which had caused their children to be circumcised, 64 And they hanged vp the children at their necks, and they spoyled their houses, and slew the circumcisers of them.

65 Yet were there many in Israel, which were of courage, & determined in themselues, that they would not eate vncleane things, 66 But chose rather to suffer death, then to bee defiled with those meates: so because they woulde not breake the holy couenaunt, they were put to death.

67 And this ‖ tyrannie was very sore vpon the people of Israel. ‖Or, rage.

CHAP. II.

7 The mourning of Mattathias and his sonnes for the destruction of the holy citie. 19 They refuse to do sacrifice vnto idoles. 24 The zeale of Mattathias for the Lawe of God. 33 They are slaine and wil not fight againe because of the Sabbath day. 49 Mattathias dying, commandeth his sonnes to sticke by the word of God, after the example of the fathers.

Ioseph. Antiq. 12. cap. 7.

IN those dayes stoode vp Mattathias the Priest: the sonne of Joannes, the sonne of Simeon of the sonnes of Jarib of Jerusalem, and dwelt in Modin.

2 And hee had fiue sonnes, Joanan called Gaddis,

3 Simon called Thassi,

4 Judas which was called Maccabeus,

5 Eleazar called ‖ Abaron, and Jonathan, whose name was Apphus. ‖Or, Anaran.

6 Now hee sawe the blasphemies, which were committed in Juda and Jerusalem:

7 And he said, Woe is me: wherefore was I borne to see the destruction of my people, and the destruction of the holy citie, and thus to sit still: it is deliuered into the handes of the enemies.

8 And the Sanctuarie is in the handes of strangers: her Temple is as a man that hath no renoume.

9 Her glorious vessels are caried away into captiuitie: her infantes are slaine in the streetes, and her yong men are fallen by the sword of the enemies.

10 What people is it, that hath not some possession in her kingdome, or hath not gotten of her spoyles?

11 All her glory is taken away: of a free woman, she is become an handmayd.

12 Behold our Sanctuarie and our beautie, and honour is desolate, as the Gentiles haue defiled it.

13 What helpeth it vs then to liue any longer?

14 And Mattathias rent his clothes, hee, and his sonnes, and put sackcloth vpon them, and mourned very sore.

15 ¶ Then came men from the king to the citie of Modin to compell them to forsake God, and to sacrifice.

16 So many of the Israelites consented vnto them: but Mattathias and his sonnes assembled together.

17 Then spake the Commissioners of the king, and sayde vnto Mattathias, Thou art the chiefe and an honourable man, and great in the citie, and hast many children and brethren.

18 Come thou therefore first, and fulfill the kings commandement, as all the heathen haue done, and also the men of Juda, and such as remaine at Jerusalem: so shalt thou and thy family bee in the kings fauour, and thou and thy children shall bee enriched with siluer and gold, and with many rewards.

19 Then Mattathias answered and sayde with a loud voyce, Though all nations that are vnder the kings dominion, obey him, and fall away euery man from the religion of their fathers, and consent to his commandements, 20 Yet wil I and my sonnes, and my brethren, walke in the couenant of our fathers.

21 God be mercifull vnto vs, that we forſake not the Law and the ordinances.

22 We will not hearken vnto the kings words to tranſgreſſe our religion, neither on the right ſide, nor on the left.

23 And when hee had left off ſpeaking theſe wordes, there came one of the Iewes, in the ſight of all to ſacrifice vpon the altar which was at Modin, according to the kings commandement.

24 Now when Mattathias ſaw it, he was ſo inflamed with zeale, that his reines ſhooke, and his wrath was kindled according to the ordinance of the Law: therefore he ranne vnto him, and killed him by the altar:

25 And at the ſame time he ſlew the kings commiſſioner that compelled him to doe ſacrifice, and deſtroyed the altar.

26 Thus bare he a zeale to the Lawe of God, * doing, as Phinees did vnto Zambri the ſonne of Salom.

*Num.25.7.

27 ¶ Then cried Mattathias with a loud voyce in the citie, ſaying, Whoſoeuer is zealous of the Lawe, and will ſtand by the couenant, let him come forth after me.

28 So hee and his ſonnes fledde into the mountaines, and left all that they had in the citie.

29 Then many that ‖ ſought after iuſtice and iudgement,

‖Or, that lived iuſtly and vprightly.

30 Went downe into the wilderneſſe to dwell there, both they, and their children, and their wiues, and their cattell: for their afflictions increaſed ſore vpon them.

31 ¶ Nowe when it was tolde vnto the kings ſeruants, and to the garriſons, which were in Ieruſalem in the citie of Dauid, that men had broken the kings commaundement, and were gone downe into the ſecret places in the wilderneſſe,

32 Then many purſued after them: and hauing ouertaken them, they camped againſt them, and ſet the battell in arap againſt them on the Sabbath day, 33 And ſayde vnto them, Let this nowe be ſufficient: come forth and doe according to the commaundement of the king, and yee ſhall liue.

34 But they anſwered, We will not goe forth, neyther will wee doe the kings commandement, to defile the Sabbath day.

35 Then they gaue them the battell.

36 But the other anſwered them nothing, neither caſt any one ſtone at them, nor ſtopped the priuie places.

37 But ſayde, We will die all in our innocencie: the heauen and earth ſhall teſtifie for vs, that ye deſtroy vs wrongfully.

38 Thus they gaue them the battell vpon the Sabbath, and ſlew both men and cattell, their wiues, and their children to the number of a thouſand people.

36 ¶ When Mattathias and his friendes vnderſtoode this, they mourned for them greatly,

40 And ſayde one to another, if we all do as our brethren haue done, and fight not againſt the heathen for our liues, and for our Lawes, then ſhall they incontinently deſtroy vs out of the earth.

41 Therefore they concluded at the ſame time, ſaying, Whoſoeuer ſhall come to make battayle with vs vpon the Sabbath day, wee will fight againſt him, that wee die not all, as our brethren that were murthered in the ſecret places.

42 Then came vnto them the aſſembly of the Aſidians, which were of the ſtrongeſt men of Iſrael, all ſuch as were well minded toward the Law.

43 And all they that were fled for perſecution, ioyned themſelues vnto them, and were an helpe vnto them.

44 So they gathered a power, and ſmote the wicked men in their wrath, and the vngodly in their anger: but the reſt fledde vnto the heathen, and eſcaped.

45 Then Mattathias and his friendes went about and deſtroyed the altars,

46 And circumciſed the children by force that were vncircumciſed, as many as they found within the coaſts of Iſrael, 47 And they purſued after the proud men: and this act proſpered in their hands.

48 So they recouered the Law, out of the hand of the Gentiles, and out of the hand of kings, and gaue not place to the wicked.

49 Now when the time drewe neere, that Mattathias ſhoulde die, hee ſayde vnto his ſonnes, Nowe is pride and perſecution increaſed, and the time of deſtruction, and the wrath of indignation.

50 Nowe therefore my ſonnes, be yee zealous of the Law, and giue your liues for the couenant of our fathers.

51 Call to remembrance what actes our fathers did in their time: ſo ſhall yee receiue great honour and an euerlaſting name.

52 * Was not Abraham found faithfull in tentation, and it was imputed vnto him for righteouſneſſe?

*Dan.3.16,17,18,26. 59 *Ananias, Azarias and Misael by their faith were deliuered out of the flame.

*Dan.6.22. 60 *Daniel, because of his innocencie, was deliuered from the mouth of the Lyons.

61 And thus yee may consider throughout all ages, that whosoeuer put their trust in him, shall not want strength.

*Mat.10.28,28. Iai.51.7,8. 62 * Feare not ye then the words of a sinful man: for his glory is but doung and wormes.

*Iam.1.10. 1.pet.1.24. eccle.14,18. 64 Wherefore, my sonnes, take good hearts, and shew your selues men for the Law: for by it shall you obteine glory.

65 And beholde, I know that your brother Simon is a man of counsell: giue eare vnto him alwayes he shall be a father vnto you.

66 And Judas Maccabeus hath beene mightie and strong, euen from his youth vp: let him bee your captaine, and fight you the battell for the people.

67 Thus shall ye bring vnto you all those that obserue the Lawe, and shall auenge the iniuries of your people.

68 Recompence fully the heathen, and giue your selues to the commandement of the Lawe.

69 So he blessed them, and was laid with his fathers,

70 And died in the hundreth, fourtie and sixt yeere, and his sonnes buried him in his fathers sepulchre at Modin, and all Israel made great lamentation for him.

CHAP. III.

1 Iudas is made ruler ouer the Iewes. 11 He killeth Apollonius and Seron the princes of Syria. 44 The confidence of Iudas toward God. 55 Iudas determineth to fight against Lysias, whome Antiochus had made captaine ouer his host.

THen Judas his sonne, called Maccabeus, rose vp in his place.

2 And all his brethren helped him, and all they that helde with his father, and fought with courage the battell of Israel.

3 So he gate his people great honour: he put on a brestplate as a giant, and armed himselfe, and set the battell in aray, and defended the campe with the sword.

4 In his acts he was like a Lyon, and as a Lions whelpe roaring after the pray.

5 For hee pursued the wicked, and sought them out, and burnt vp those that vexed his people.

6 So that the wicked fled for feare of him, and all the workers of iniquitie were put to trouble: and saluation prospered in his hand.

7 And he grieued diuers kings, but Jacob reioyced by his actes, and his memorial is blessed for euer.

8 He went also thorowe the cities of Juda, and destroyed the wicked out of them, and turned away the wrath from Israel.

9 So was he renoumed vnto the endes of the earth, and he assembled together those that were ready to perish.

10 ¶ But Apollonius gathered the Gentiles, and a great host out of Samaria, to fight against Israel.

11 Which when Judas had perceiued, he went forth to meete him, and smote him, and slew him, so that many fell downe slaine, and the rest fled.

12 So Judas tooke his spoyles, and tooke also Apollonius sworde, and fought with it all his life long.

13 ¶ Now when Seron a prince of the army of Syria, heard that Judas had gathered vnto him the Congregation, and Church of the faithfull, and went forth to the warre, 14 He said, I will get me a name, and will bee glorious in the realme: for I will goe fight with Judas, and them that are with him, which haue despised the kings commaundement.

15 So he made him readie to goe vp, and there went with him a mighty hoste of the vngodly to helpe him, and to bee auenged of the children of Israel.

16 And when he came neere to the going vp of Bethhoron, Judas went forth to meete him with a small company.

17 But when they saw the army comming against them, they said to Judas, How are we able, being so fewe, to fight against so great a multitude, and so strong, seeing we bee so weary, and haue fasted all this day?

18 Then saide Judas, It is an easie thing for many to bee shut vp in the handes of fewe, and there is no difference before the God of heauen, to deliuer by a great multitude, or by a small company.

19 For the victorie of the battell standeth not in the multitude of the hoste, but the strength commeth from heauen.

20 They come against vs with a cruel and proud multitude, to destroy vs, and our wiues, and our children, and to robbe vs:

21 But wee doe fight for our liues, and for our Lawes.

22 And God himselfe will destroy them before our face: therefore be not ye afraide of them.

23 And when hee had left off speaking, he leapt suddenly vpon them: so was Seron and his hoste destroyed before him.

24 And they pursued them from the going downe of Bethhoron vnto the plaine: where there were slaine eighthundreth men of them, and the residue fledde into the land of the Philistims.

25 Then the feare and terrour of Judas and his brethren fell vpon the nations rounde about,

26 So that his fame came vnto the king: for all the Gentiles coulde tell of the warres of Judas.

27 ¶ But when king Antiochus heard these tidings, hee was angry in his minde: wherefore he sent foorth, and gathered all the power of his realme, a very strong armie, 28 And opened his treasury, and gaue his host a yeeres wages in hande, commaunding them to be ready for a yeere for all occasions.

29 Neuertheless, when hee sawe that the money of his treasures failed, and that the tributes in the countrey were small, because of the dissension, and plagues that he had brought vpon the lande, in taking away the lawes which had bene of old time,

30 He feared least he should not haue now at the second time, as at the first, for the charges and gifts that he had giuen with a liberall hand afore: for in liberality he farre passed the other kings that were before him.

31 Wherefore he was heauie in his mind, and thought to goe into Persia, for to take tributes of the countreys, and to gather much money.

32 So hee left Lysias a noble man and of the kings blood to ouersee the kings businesse, from the riuer of Euphrates vnto the borders of Egypt.

33 And to bring vp his sonne Antiochus, till he came againe.

34 Moreouer hee gaue him halfe of his hoste and elephants, and gaue him the charge of all things that he would haue done,

35 And concerning those which dwelt in Juda and Jerusalem, that hee shoulde send an army against them, to destroy and roote out the power of Israel and the remnant of Jerusalem, and to put out their memoriall from that place, 36 And to set strangers for to inhabite all their quarters, & part their land among them.

37 And the king tooke the halfe of the host that remained, and departed from Antiochia his royall citie, in the yeere an hundreth fourty and seuen, and passed the riuer Euphrates, and went thorow the hie countreys.

38 Then Lysias chose Ptolemeus the sonne of Dorymenus, and Nicanor, and Gorgias, mighty men, and the kings friends, 39 And sent with them fourtie thousande footemen, and seuen thousande horsemen, to goe into the land of Juda, and to destroy it, as the king commanded.

40 So they went forth with all their power, and came and pitched by ‖ Emmaus in the plaine countrey. ‖ Emaus.

41 Now when the merchants of the countrey heard the rumour of them, they tooke very much siluer and golde, and seruantes, and came into the campe to buy the children of Israel for slaues, and the strength of Syria and of strange nations ioyned with them.

42 ¶ Now when Judas and his brethren sawe that trouble increased, and that the hoste drew neere vnto their borders, considering the kings words, whereby he had commaunded to destroy the people, and vtterly abolish them, 43 They sayde one to another, Let vs redresse the decay of the people, and let vs fight for our people, and for our Sanctuarie.

44 Then the Congregation were soone readie gathered to fight and to pray, and to desire mercy and compassion.

45 As for Jerusalem it was not inhabited, but was as a wildernesse. There went none that was borne in it, in or out at it, and the Sanctuarie was troden downe, and the strangers kept the fortresse, and it was the habitation of the heathen: and the mirth of Jacob was taken away: the pipe and the harpe ceased.

46 So they gathered themselues together, and came to Maspha before Jerusalem: for in Maspha was the place where they prayed aforetime in Israel.

47 And they fasted that day, and put sackcloth vpon them, and cast ashes vpon their heads, and rent their clothes, 48 And opened the booke of the law, wherein the heathen sought to paint the likenesse of their idoles.

49 And brought the Priestes garmentes, and the first fruites, and the tythes, and set there the Nazarites, which accomplished their dayes.

50 And they cryed with a loude voyce toward heauen, saying, What shall wee doe with these? and whither shall wee cary them away?

51 For thy Sanctuarie is troden downe and defiled, and the Priestes are in heauinesse, and brought downe.

52 And beholde, the heathen are come against vs, to destroy vs: thou knowest what things they imagine against vs.

53 How can we stand before them, except thou helpe vs?

54 Then they blewe the trumpets, and cryed with a loud voyce.

55 And

55 And after this, Judas ordayned captaines ouer the people, euen captaines ouer thousands, and captaines ouer hundreds, and captaines ouer fifties, and captaines ouer ten.

56 And they commanded them that builded houses, or maried wiues, or planted vineyardes, or were fearefull, that they shoulde returne euery one into his owne house, according *to the Law,

*Deut.20.9. iudg.7.3.

57 So the hoste remoued, and pitched vpon the Southside of Emmaus.

58 And Judas sayde, Arme your selues, and be valiant men, and bee ready against the morning to fight with these nations, which are gathered together against vs, to destroy vs and our Sanctuarie.

59 For it is better for vs to dye in battell, then to see the calamities of our people and of our Sanctuarie.

60 Neuertheless as the wil of God is in heauen, so be it.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Judas goeth against Gorgias which lyeth in waye. 14 He putteth Gorgias and his host to flight. 28 Lysias inuadeth Judea. 29 But Judas driueth him out. 43 Judas purifieth the Temple and dedicateth the altar.

Ioseph.lib.12. cap.10.

THen tooke Gorgias fiue thousande foote men, and a thousand of the best horsemen, and departed out of the campe by night,

2 To inuade the campe of the Iewes, and to slay them suddenly: and the men of the fortresse were his guides.

3 Nowe when Judas heard it, hee remooued, and they that were valiant men to smite the kings armie which was at Emmaus,

4 Whiles yet the armie was dispersed from the campe.

5 In the meane season came Gorgias by night into Judas campe: and when he founde no man there, hee sought them in the mountaines: for sayde he, They flee from vs.

6 But assoone as it was day, Judas shewed himselfe in the fielde with three thousande men, which had neyther harnesse nor swordes to their mindes.

7 And they saw that the armies of the heathen were strong and well armed, and their horsemen about them, and that these were expert men of warre.

8 Then sayd Judas to the men that were with him, Feare yee not their multitude, neyther be afraid of their assault.

9 Remember, howe our fathers were de- Exod.14.9,29. liuered *in the redde Sea, when Pharao pursued them with an armie, 10 Therefore now let vs cry vnto heauen and the Lorde will haue mercie vpon vs, and remember the couenaunt of our fathers, and will destroy this hoste before our face this day.

11 So shal al the heathen know, that there is one, which deliuereth and saueth Israel.

12 Then the strangers lift vp their eyes, and saw them comming against them, 13 And they went out of their tentes into the battell, and they that were with Judas, blewe the trumpets.

14 So they ioyned together, and the heathen were discomfited and fled by the plaine.

15 But the hindmost of them fell by the sword, and they pursued them vnto ‖ Gazeron, ‖Or, Assaremoth and into the plaines of Idumea, and of Azotus, and of Jamnia, so that there were slaine of them about three thousand men.

16 So Judas turned againe with his hoste from pursuing them,

17 And sayde vnto the people, Bee not greedy of the spoyles: for there is a battell before vs.

18 And Gorgias and the armie is here by vs in the mountaine: but stand ye now fast against your enemies, & ouercome them: then may ye safely take the spoyles.

19 As Judas was speaking these words, there appeared one part which looked from the mountaines.

20 But when Gorgias saw that his were fledde, and that Judas souldiers burnt the tents: (for the smoke that was seene, declared what was done:)

21 When they saw these things, they were sore afraid, and when they sawe also that Judas and his hoste were in the fielde ready to set themselues in aray, 22 They fled euery one into the lande of strangers.

23 So Judas turned againe to spoyle the tents, where they gate much golde and siluer, and precious stones, and purple of the sea, and great riches.

24 Thus they went home, & sung psalmes, and praysed towards the heauen: for hee is gracious, and his mercy endureth for euer.

25 And so Israel had great victorie in that day.

26 ¶ Now all the strangers that escaped, came, and told Lysias all the things that were done.

27 Who when he heard these things, was sore afraide, and discouraged, because such things came not vpon Israel as hee woulde, neyther such things as the king had commanded him, came to passe.

28 Therefore the nert yeere following, gathered Lysias threescore thousande chosen foote men, and fiue thousande horse men to fight against Jerusalem.

29 So they came into ‖ Idumea, and pit- ‖Or, Iudea. ched their tents at ‖ Beth-sura, where Judas ‖Or, Bethoron. came against them with ten thousand men.

30 And when he ſaw that mightie army, he prayed and ſaide, Bleſſed be thou, O Sauiour of Iſrael * which diddeſt deſtroy the aſſault of the mighty man by the hand of thy ſeruant Dauid, *and gaueſt the hoſte of the ſtrangers into the hand of Jonathan, the ſonne of Saul, and of his armour bearer.

*1. Sam. 17. 50, 51.

*1. Sam. 14. 13, 14.

31 Shut vp this army in the hand of thy people of Iſrael, and let them bee confounded with their power, and with their horſemen.

32 Make them afraid, and conſume their boldneſſe and ſtrength, that they may bee aſtoniſhed at their deſtruction.

33 Caſt them downe by the ſworde of them that loue thee: then ſhall all they that know thy Name, prayſe thee with ſongs.

34 So they ioyned together, and there were ſlaine of Lycias hoſte, fiue thouſande men, and they fell before them.

35 Then Lyſias ſeeing his army put to flight, and the manlineſſe of Judas ſouldiers, and that they were ready, eyther to liue or die valiantly, hee went into Antiochia, and gathered ſtrangers, and when hee had furniſhed his armie, hee thought againe (being prepared) to come againſt Judea.

36 Then ſayde Judas vnto his brethren, Beholde, our enemies are diſcomfited: let vs nowe goe vp to cleanſe, and to repaire the Sanctuarie.

37 So all the hoſte gathered them together, and went vp into the mountaine of Sion.

38 Nowe when they ſawe the Sanctuary layde waſte, and the altar defiled, and the doores burnt vp, and the ſhrubbes, growing in the courtes, as in a foreſt, or as on one of the mountaines, and that the Prieſtes chambers were broken downe,

39 They rent their clothes, and made great lamentation, and caſt aſhes vpon their heads, 40 And fell downe to the ground on their faces, and blewe an alarme with their trumpets, and cryed toward heauen.

41 Then Judas commaunded certaine of the men to fight againſt thoſe which were in the caſtle, till he had cleanſed the Sanctuarie.

42 So he choſe Prieſts that were vndefiled, ſuch as delited in the Lawe.

43 And they cleanſed the Sanctuarie, and bare out the defiled ſtones into an vncleane place, 44 And conſulted what to doe with the altar of burnt offrings, which was polluted.

40 So they thought it was beſt to deſtroy it, leaſt it ſhoulde bee a reproch vnto them, becauſe the heathen had defiled it: therefore they deſtroyed the altar, 46 And laid vp the ſtones vpon the mountayne of the Temple in a conuenient place, till there ſhoulde come a Prophet, to ſhewe what ſhould be done with them.

47 So they tooke whole ſtones according to the Lawe, and builded a newe altar according to the former,

48 And made vp the Sanctuarie, and the things that were within the Temple, and the courts, and all things.

49 They made alſo newe holy veſſels, and brought into the Temple the candleſtick, and the altar of burnt offrings, and of incenſe, and the table.

50 And they burnt incenſe vpon the altar, and lighted the lampes which were vpon the candleſticke, that they might burne in the Temple.

51 They ſet alſo the ſhewbread vpon the table, and hanged vp the vailes, and finiſhed all the workes that they had begunne to make.

52 And vpon the fiue and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, which is called the moneth of Chaſleu, in the hundreth and eight and fourtieth yeere they aroſe vp betimes in the morning, 53 And offred ſacrifice according to the Lawe, vpon the newe altar of burnt offrings, that they had made.

54 According to the time, and according to the day that the heathen had defiled it, in the ſame day was it made newe with ſongs, and harpes, and lutes, and cymbales.

55 And all the people fell vpon their faces, worſhipping and prayſing towarde the heauen him that had giuen them good ſucceſſe.

56 So they kept the dedication of the altar eyght dayes, offring burnt offrings with gladneſſe, and offred ſacrifices of deliuerance and prayſe.

57 And deckt the forefront of the Temple with crownes of gold and ſhields, and dedicated the gates and chambers, and hanged doores vpon them.

58 Thus there was very great gladneſſe among the people, and the reproch of the heathen was put away.

59 So Judas and his brethren with the whole congregation of Iſrael, ordayned that the dayes of dedication of the altar ſhoulde bee kept in their ſeaſon from yeere to yere, by the ſpace of eight dayes, from the fiue and twentieth day of the moneth Chaſleu, with mirth and gladneſſe.

60 And at the ſame time builded they vp mount Sion with hie wals, and ſtrong towres round about, leſt the Gentiles ſhoulde come, and tread it downe, as they had done afore.

61 Therefore they ſet a garriſon there to keepe it, and fortified Beth-ſura to keepe it, that the people might haue a defence againſt Idumea.

CHAP. V.

3 Iudas vanquiſhed the heathen that goe about to deſtroy Iſrael, and is holpen of his brethren Simon and Ionathan. 50 He ouerthroweth the citie of Ephron, becauſe they denied him paſſage thorow it.

NOwe when the nations rounde about heard, that the altar was builded, and the Sanctuarie renued as afore, they were ſore grieued.

2 Therefore they thought to deſtroy the generation of Iacob that were among them, and began to ſlay and deſtroy the people,

3 Then Iudas fought againſt the children of Eſau in Idumea at ‖Arrabathene, becauſe they beſieged the Iſraelites, and hee ſmote thē with a great plague, and droue them to ſtraits, and tooke their ſpoyles.

‖Or, Arabathane.

4 Hee thought alſo vpon the malice of the children of Bean, which had bene a ſnare and an hinderance vnto the people, when they lay in wayte for them in the hie way.

5 Wherefore hee ſhut them vp in towers, and beſieged them, and deſtroyed them vtterly, and burnt their towers with fire, with all that were in them.

6 Afterward, went he againſt the children of Ammon, where he found a mightie power, and a great multitude with Timotheus their captaine.

7 So he had many battels with them, but they were deſtroyed before him, and ſo hee diſcomfited them,

8 And tooke Gazer with the townes thereof, and ſo turned againe into Iudea.

9 ¶ Then the heathen that were in Galaad, gathered them together againſt the Iſraelites that were in their quarters, to ſlay them: but they fled to the caſtle of Datheman,

10 And ſent letters to Iudas, and to his brethren, ſaying, the heathen that are about vs, are gathered againſt vs to deſtroy vs.

11 And they made them readie for to come, and to take the fortreſſe, whereunto we are fledde, and Timotheus is captaine of their hoſte.

12 Come nowe therefore, and deliuer vs out of their hands: for many of vs are ſlaine:

13 And all our brethren that were at Tubin, are ſlaine, and they haue taken away their wiues, and their children, and their gods, and deſtroyed there almoſt a thouſand men.

14 While theſe leters were yet a reading, behold, there came other meſſengers from Galile with their clothes rent, which told the ſame tidings, 15 And ſayd, that they of Ptolemais, and of Tyrus, and of Sidon, and of all Galile of the Gentiles were gathered againſt thē to deſtroy them.

16 When Iudas, and the people hearde theſe wordes, a great congregation came together, to conſult what they might doe for their brethren that were in trouble, and whom they beſieged.

17 Then ſayde Iudas to Simon his brother, Chuſe thee out men, and goe & deliuer thy brethrē in Galile, and I and my brother Ionathan will go into the countrey of Galaad.

18 ¶ So he left Ioſephus the ſonne of Zacharias and Azarias to be captaines of the people, and to keepe the remnant of the hoſte in Iudea, 19 And commaunded them ſaying, Take the ouerſight of this people, & make no warre againſt the heathen, vntil we come againe.

20 And vnto Simō were giuen three thouſand men to go into Galile, & to Iudas eight thouſand men for the countrey of Galaad.

21 Then went Simon into Galile, & gaue diuers battels to the heathen, and the heathen were diſcomfited by him.

22 And he purſued them vnto the gates of Ptolemais: and there were ſlaine of the heathen almoſt three thouſand men: ſo hee tooke their ſpoyles.

23 Thus they reſcued them that were in Galile and in Arbattis with their wiues, and their children, and al that they had, and brought them into Iudea with great ioy.

24 ¶ Iudas Maccabeus alſo, and his brother Ionathan went ouer Iorden, and trauailed three dayes iourney in the wilderneſſe,

25 Where they met with the Nabathites, who receiued them louingly, and tolde them euery thing that was done vnto their brethren in the Countrey of Galaad,

26 And howe that many of them were beſieged in Boſora, and Boſor, in Alemis ‖Chaſbon, Maged, and Carnaim (all theſe cities are ſtrong, and great)

‖Or, Chaſphor.

27 And that they were kept in other cities of Galaad, and to morrow they are appointed to bring their hoſte vnto theſe fortes, and to take them, and to deſtroy them all in one day.

28 So Iudas and his hoſte turned in all haſte by the way of the wildernes toward Boſora, and wan the citie, and ſlew all the males with the edge of the ſword, and tooke all their ſpoyle, and ſet fire vpon the citie.

29 And in the night hee remoued from thence, and went toward the fortreſſe.

30 And betimes in the morning when they looked vp, beholde, there was an innumerable people bearing ladders, and inſtruments of warre, to take the fort and had aſſaulted them.

31 When Iudas ſaw that the battell was begun, and that the crie of the citie went vp to heauen with trumpets and a great ſound,

32 Then he ſaid vnto the armie, Fight this day for your brethren,

33 So hee went forth behinde them with three three companies, and they blew the trumpets, and cryed with prayer.

34 Then the hoste of Timotheus knewe, that it was Maccabeus, & they fled from him, and he smote them with a great slaughter, so that there was killed of them the same day, almost eight thousand men.

35 ¶ Then departed Judas vnto Malpha, & layd siege vnto it, & wanne it, and slew all the males thereof, and spoiled it, & set fire vpon it.

36 From thence went he and tooke Chasbon, Maged, and Bosor, and the other cities in Galaad.

37 After these things gathered Timotheus another hoste, and he camped before Raphon beyond the flood,

38 Now Judas had sent to espie the hoste, and they brought him word againe, saying, All the heathen that be round about vs, are gathered vnto him, and the hoste is very great,

39 And he hath hired the Arabians to help them, and they pitched their tents beyonde the flood, and are ready to come and fight against thee. So Judas went to meete them.

40 Then Timotheus sayde vnto the captaines of his hoste, When Judas and his hoste come neere to the flood, if he passe ouer first vnto vs, we shall not be able to withstand him: for he will be too strong for vs.

41 But if he be afraide, and campe beyond the flood, we will goe ouer vnto him, and shall preuaile against him.

42 Now when Judas came neere to the flood, he caused the gouernours of the people to remaine by the flood, and commanded them, saying, Suffer none to pitch a tent, but let euery man come to the battel.

43 So he went first ouer toward them, and all the people after him: and all the heathen were discomfited before him, and cast away their weapons, and fled into the Temple that was at Carnaim.

44 Which citie Judas wanne, & burnt the temple with all that were in it: so was Carnaim subdued, and might not withstande Judas.

45 ¶ Then Judas gathered al the Israelites that were in the countrey of Galaad, from the least vnto the most, with their wiues and their children, and their baggage, a very great hoste, to come into the land of Juda.

46 So they came vnto Ephron, which was a great citie by the way, and strongly defensed: they could not passe, neither at the right hande nor at the left, but must goe thorow it.

47 But they that were in the citie, shutte themselues in, and stopped vp the gates with stones: and Judas sent vnto them with peaceable words, saying,

48 Let vs passe thorowe your land, that we may goe into our owne countrey, and none shal hurt you: we wil but onely go thorow on foote: but they would not open vnto him.

49 Wherefore Judas commanded a proclamation to bee made throughout the hoste, that euery man shoulde assault it according to his standing.

50 So the valiant men set vpon it, and assaulted the citie all that day, and all that night, and the citie was giuen ouer into his hands:

51 Who slew all the males with the edge of the swoorde, and destroyed it, and tooke the spoyle thereof, and went through the citie ouer them that were slaine.

52 Then went they ouer Jordan into the great plaine before Bethsan.

53 And Judas gathered together those that were behinde, and gaue the people good exhortation all the way thorow, till they were come into the land of Juda.

54 Thus they went vp with ioy and gladnesse vnto mount Sion, where they offered burnt offerings, because there were none of them slaine, but came home againe in safetie.

55 ¶ Nowe whiles Judas and Jonathan were in the lande of Galaad, and Simon their brother in Galilee before Ptolemais, 56 Joseph the sonne of Zacharias, & Azarias the captaines, hearing of the valiant actes, and battels which they had atchieued, sayd, 57 Let vs get vs a name also, and goe fight against the heathen that are round about vs.

58 So they gaue their hoste a commandement and went toward Jamnia.

59 But Gorgias and his men came out of the citie to fight against them.

60 And Joseph and Azarias were put to flight, and pursued vnto the borders of Judea: and there were slaine that day of the people of Israel about two thousand men: so that there was a great ouerthrowe among the people of Israel, 61 Because they were not obedient vnto Judas, and his brethren, but thought to doe some valiant thing.

62 Also they came out of the stocke of these men, by whose hands deliuerance was giuen to Israel.

63 But the man Judas and his brethren were greatly commended in the sight of all Israel, and of all the heathen, whereseuer their name was heard of.

64 And the people came vnto them, bidding them welcome.

65 Afterward went Judas forth with his brethren, and fought against the children of Esau in the land toward the South, where hee wanne Hebron, and the townes thereof, and he destroyed the castle thereof, and burnt the towres thereof round about. Ioseph. Ant. 13. chap. 11. and 12

66 The remoued he to goe into the lande of

of the ‖ ſtrangres, and went thorow Samaria. for, Philiſtims.

67 At the ſame time were the Prieſtes of the cities ſlaine in the battell, which woulde ſhewe their valiantneſſe, and went forth to battell without counſell: and when Judas came to Azotus in the ſtrangers lande, hee brake downe their altars, and burnt with fire the images of their gods, and tooke away the ſpoyles of the cities, and came againe into the land of Juda.

CHAP. VI.

1 Antiochus, willing to take the cities of Elimais, is driuen away of the citizens. 8 He falleth into ſickneſſe, and dyeth. 17 His ſonne Antiochus is made King. 34 The manner to prouoke elephants to fight. 43 Eelazarus valiant acte. 48 The ſiege of Sion.

Ioſeph. Antiq. 11. cap. 13.

NOwe when king Antiochus trauailed thorow the high countreys, he heard that Elimais in the countrey of Perſia was a citie greatly renowmed for riches, ſiluer and golde,

2 And that there was yet a very rich temple, whereas were coueringes of golde, coate armours, and harneſſe, which Alexander king of Macedonia the ſonne of Philip (that reigned firſt in Grecia) had left there.

3 Wherefore he went about to take the citie, and to ſpoyle it, but he was not able: for the citizens were warned of the matter,

4 And roſe vp againſt him in battell, and he fled and departed thence with great heauineſſe, and came againe into Babylon.

5 Moreouer, there came one which brought him tidings in the countrey of Perſia, that the armies that went againſt the lande of Juda, were driuen away,

6 And that Lyſias, which went foorth firſt with a great power, was driuen away of the Iewes, and that they were made ſtrong by the armour, and power, and diuers ſpoyles which they had gotten of the armies whome they had deſtroyed,

7 And that they had pulled downe the abomination, which he had ſet vp vpon the altar at Jeruſalem, & fenſed the Sanctuarie with hie wals, as it was afore, & Bethſura his citie.

8 So when the king had heard theſe words, he was aſtonished, and ſore mooued: therefore he laid him downe vpon his bed, and fell ſicke for very ſorowe, becauſe it was not come to paſſe, as he had thought.

9 And there continued he many dayes: for his griefe was euer more and more, ſo that he ſaw he muſt needes die.

10 Therefore he ſent for al his friends, and ſayd vnto them, The ſleepe is gone from mine eyes, and mine heart faileth for very care.

11 And I thinke with my ſelfe, into what aduerſitie am I come: and into what floods of miſerie am I fallen nowe, whereas afore-time I was in proſperitie, and greatly ſet by, by reaſon of my power:

12 And now do I remember the euils that I haue done at Jeruſalem: for I tooke all the veſſels of gold and of ſiluer that were in it, and ſent to deſtroy the inhabitants of Juda without cauſe.

13 I knowe that theſe troubles are come vpon me for the ſame cauſe, and behold, I muſt die with great ſorow in a ſtrange land.

14 Then called hee for Philip, one of his friends, whō he made ruler ouer al his reuine, 15 And gaue him the crowne, and his robe, and the ring, that he ſhould inſtruct his ſonne Antiochus, and bring him vp, till hee might reigne himſelfe.

16 So King Antiochus died there in the hundreth, and fourtie and ninth yere.

17 ¶ When Lyſias knewe, that the king was dead, hee ordeined Antiochus his ſonne (whome he had brought vp) to reigne in his fathers ſtead and called him Eupator. Ioſeph. Antiq. 12. Chap. 14.

18 Now they that were in the caſtle at Ieruſalem, kept in the Iſraelites round about the Sanctuarie, and ſought alwayes their hurt, and the ſtrengthening of the heathen.

19 Therefore Judas thought to deſtroy them, and called all the people together to beſiege them.

20 So they came together, and beſieged them in the hundreth and fiftie yere, and made inſtruments to ſhoot, and other engins of war.

21 But certaine of them that were beſieged, gat forth, (vnto whom ſome vngodly men of Iſrael ioyned themſelues)

22 And they went vnto the king, ſaying, Howe long wilt thou ceaſe from executing iudgement, and auenge our brethren.

23 We haue bin ready to ſerue thy father, and to goe forward in thoſe things that hee appointed, and to obey his commandements.

24 Therefore they of our nation fell from vs for this cauſe, and whereſoeuer they found any of vs, they ſlewe them, and ſpoyled our inheritance.

25 And they haue not onely layd hand vpon vs, but vpon all about their borders.

26 And behold this day are they beſieging the caſtle at Jeruſalem to take it, and haue fortified the Sanctuarie, and Beth-ſura.

27 And if thou do not preuent them quickly, they will do greater things then theſe, and thou ſhalt not be able to ouercome them.

28 When the king heard this, he was very angrie, and called all his friends, the captaines of his armie, and his horſemen, 29 And bandes that were hired, came vnto him from the kings, that were confederate, and from the yles of the ſea.

30 So the number of his armie was an hundreth thouſande footemen, and twentie thouſande horſemen, and two and thirtie elephants elephants exercised in battell.

31 These came through Idumea, & drewe neere to Beth-sura & besieged it a long season and made engins of warre: but they came out, and burnt them with fire, and fought valiantly.

32 Then departed Judas from the castle, and remoued the hoste toward Beth-zacarias ouer against the kings campe.

33 So the king arose very early, & brought the armie and his power towarde the way of Beth-zacarias, where ỹ armie set themselues in aray to the battell, and blewe the trumptes.

34 And to prouoke the elephants for to fight, the shewed them the blood of grapes and mulberies.

35 And they set the beasts according to the ranges: so that by euery elephant there stoode a thousande men armed with coates of maile and helmets of brasse vpon their heads, and vnto euery beast were ordeined fiue hundreth horsemen of the best,

36 Which were ready at all times wheresoeuer the beast was: and whithersoeuer the beast went, they went also, and departed not from him.

37 And vpon them were strong towers of wood that couered euery beast, which were fastened thereon with instruments, and vpon euery one was two and thirtie men that fought in them, and the Indian that ruled him.

38 They set also the remnant of the horsemen vpon both the sides in two wings of the hoste, to stirre them vp, and to keepe them in the valleyes.

39 And when the sunne shone vpon the golden shields, the mountaines glistred therewith, and gaue light as lamps of fire.

40 Thus part of the kings army was spred vpon the high mountaines, and part beneath: so they marched forward warily, and in order.

41 And al they that heard the noyse of their multitude, and the marching of the company, and the ratling of harnesse, were astonished: for the armie was very great and mightie.

42 Then Judas and his hoste entred into the battell, and they slewe sixe hundreth men of the Kings armie.

43 ¶ Now when Eleazar, the sonne of ‖Abaron, sawe one of the elephants armed with royall harnesse, and was more excellent then all the other beastes, he thought that the King should be vpon him. ‖Or, Saura.

44 Wherefore hee ieoparded himselfe to deliuer his people, and to get him a perpetuall name, 45 And ran boldly vnto him through the mids of the hoste, slaying, on the right hand and on the left, so that they departed away on both sides.

46 So went he to the elephants feete, and gate him vnder him, and slew him: then fell the elephant downe vpon him, and there he dyed.

47 But the other, seeing the power of the king and the fiercenesse of his armie, departed from them.

48 ¶ And ỹ kings armie went vp to meet them toward Jerusalem, and the king pitched his tents in Judea toward mount Sion.

49 Moreouer, the king tooke truce with them that were in Beth-sura, but when they came out of the citie, because they had no vittailes there, and were shut vp therein, and the land had rested,

50 The King tooke Beth-sura, & set there a garison to keepe it, 51 And besieged ỹ Sanctuarie many daies, and made instruments to shoote, and other engins of warre, and instruments to cast fire and stones, and pieces to cast dartes and slings.

52 ‖ They also made engins against their engins, and fought a long season. ‖Or, the Iewes.

53 But in the garners there were no vittailes: for it was the seuenth yere, and then they that went in Judea, and were deliuered from the Gentiles, had eaten vp the residue of the store, 54 So that in the Sanctuarie were fewe men left: for the famine came so vpon them, that they were scattered euery man to his owne place.

55 ¶ Nowe when Lysias heard that Philip (whome Antiochus the King whiles hee liued, had ordeined to bring vp Antiochus his sonne, that he might be king.)

56 Was come againe out of Persia and Media, and the kings hoste with him, and thought to take vnto him the rule of all things, 57 He and his hasted, and were stirred forward by them in the castle, to goe and tell the king, and the captaines of the hoste, and to others, saying, We decrease dayly, and our vittailes are but small: and the place that we lay siege vnto, is strong, and the affaires of the realme depend vpon vs.

58 Now therefore let vs ‖agree with these men and take truce with them, and with all their nation, ‖Or, giue hands.

59 And grant them to liue after their law, as they did afore: for they be grieued, and doe all these things, because we haue broken their Lawes.

60 So the king and the princes were content, and sent vnto them to make peace, and the receiued it.

61 When the king and the princes had made an othe vnto them, they came vpon this out of the fortresse.

62 And the king went vp to mount Sion: but when hee sawe that the place was well defenced defenſed, he brake his othe that he had made, and commaunded to breake downe the wall round about.

63 Then departed he in all haſte, & returned vnto Antiochia where he found Philip hauing dominion of the citie: ſo he fought againſt him, and tooke the citie by force.

CHAP. VII.

1 Demetrius raigned, after he had killed Antiochus and Lyſias. 5 Hee troubleth the children of Iſrael through the counſell of certaine wicked perſons. 37 The prayer of the Prieſtes againſt Nicanor. 41 Iudas killeth Nicanor, after he had made his prayer.

Ioſeph. Antiq. 12. Cap. 3.

IN the hundreth, and one and fiftieth yere departed Demetrius the ſonne of Seleucus from Rome, and came vp with a fewe men vnto a citie of the Sea coaſt, and reigned there.

2 And when he came into the poſſeſſion of his fathers kingdome, his ſouldiers tooke Antiochus and Lyſias, and brought them vnto him.

3 But when it was told him, he ſaid, Shew me not their faces.

4 So they put them to death. Now when Demetrius was ſet vpon the throne of his kingdome, 5 There came vnto him al the wicked and vngodly men of Iſrael, whoſe captaine was Alcimus, that would haue beene the Hie Prieſt.

6 Theſe men accuſed the people vnto the King, ſaying, Iudas and his brethren haue ſlaine all thy friends, and driuen vs out of our owne land,

7 Wherefore ſend now ſome man, whom thou truſteſt, that he may goe and ſee all the deſtruction, which he hath done vnto vs, and to the kings land, and let him puniſh them with all their partakers.

8 Then the king chooſe Bacchides a friend of his, which was a great man in the realme, and ruled beyond the flood, and was faithfull vnto the king, and ſent him,

9 And that wicked Alcimus, whome hee made Hie Prieſt, and commanded him to be auenged of the children of Iſrael.

10 So they departed, & came with a great hoſte into the lande of Iuda, and ſent meſſengers to Iudas and his brethrē deceitfully with peaceable words.

11 But they beleeued not their ſaying: for they ſaw that they were come with a great hoſte.

12 Then a companie of the gouernours aſſembled vnto Alcimus and Bacchides to intreat of reaſonable poynts.

‖Or, Haſidims.

13 And the ‖ Aſideans were the firſt that required peace among the children of Iſrael.

14 For ſayd they, He that is a Prieſt of the ſeede of Aaron, is come with this armie: therefore he will not hurt vs.

15 Then hee ſpake vnto them peaceably, and ſwore vnto them, and ſayd, Wee will doe you no harme, neither your friendes:

16 And they beleeued him: but hee tooke of them threeſcore men and ſlewe them in one day according to the wordes that were written

17 * They haue caſt the bodies of the Saints, and their blood round about Ieruſalem, and there was no man that would burie them.

*Pſal. 79. 1.

18 So there came a feare and trembling among all the people: for they ſayde, There is neither trueth nor righteouſneſſe in them: for they haue broken the appoyntment and othe that they made.

19 Then Bacchides remooued from Ieruſalem, and pitched his tent at ‖ Beth-zecha, where he ſent foorth and tooke many of the men that had forſaken him, and certaine of the people whome he ſlew and caſt into the great pit.

‖Or, Bethſeth. or, Bezeth.

20 Then committed he the countrey vnto Alcimus, and left men of warre with him to helpe him: ſo Bacchides went vnto the king.

21 Thus Alcimus ſtroue for ꝑ Prieſthood.

22 And all ſuch as troubled the people, reſorted vnto him: in ſo much, that they obtained the land of Iuda, and did much hurt in Iſrael.

23 Now when Iudas ſaw al the miſchiefe that Alcimus & his company had done among the Iſraelites more then the heathen, 24 Hee went foorth rounde about all the borders of Iudea, & puniſhed thoſe that were fallen away, ſo that they came no more abroad in the country.

25 But when Alcimus ſawe that Iudas and his people had gotten the vpper hand, and knewe that he was not able to abide them, he went againe to the king, and accuſed them of wicked things.

26 Then the King ſent Nicanor one of his chiefe princes, which hated Iſrael deadly, and commanded him, that he ſhould deſtroy the people.

Ioſeph. Antiq. 12. cap. 16.

27 ¶ So Nicanor came to Ieruſalem with a great hoſte, and ſent vnto Iudas, and his brethren deceitfully with friendly wordes, ſaying, 28 Let there bee no warre betweene mee, and you: I wil come with few men, to ſee how ye doe, friendly.

29 So he came vnto Iudas and they ſaluted one another peaceably: but the enemies were prepared to take away Iudas.

30 Neuertheleſſe, it was told Iudas, that he came vnto him vnder deceit: therefore hee feared him, and would ſee his face no more.

31 When Nicanor perceiued that his counſell was bewrayed, hee went out to fight againſt against Iudas, beside ‖Carphalalana.

32 Where there were slaine of Nicanors hoste about fiue thousand men: so they fled vnto the citie of Dauid.

33 After this came Nicanor vp vnto mount Sion, and some of the Priestes with the Elders of the people went forth of the Sanctuarie to salute him peaceably, and to shewe him the burnt offering that was offered for the king.

34 But hee laughed at them and mocked them and counted them prophane, and spake proudly, 35 And swore in his wrath, saying, If Iudas and his hoste bee not nowe deliuered into mine handes, if euer I come againe in safetie, I will burne vp this house. With that went he out in a great anger.

36 Then the Priestes came in, and stood before the Altar in the Temple, weeping, and saying,

37 For so much as thou, O Lord, hast chosen this *House, that thy Name might be called vpon therein and that it should be an house of prayer, and petition for thy people,

*Ia. 36. 5, 7.

38 Be auenged of this man, and his hoste, and let them be slaine by the sword: remember their blasphemies, and suffer them not to continue,

39 ¶ When Nicanor was gone from Ierusalem, hee pitched his tent at Beth-horon, and there an hoste met him out of Syria.

‖Or, Adasa.

40 And Iudas pitched in ‖Adasa, with three thousand men, where Iudas prayed, saying,

*2. King. 19. 35. Iudith. 1. 18. Eccles. 48. 22. Isa. 37. 36. 2. mac. 8, 19.

41 O Lord, *because the messengers of King Sennacherib blasphemed thee, thine Angel went forth, and slew an hundreth, fourescore and fiue thousand of them.

42 So destroy thou this hoste before vs to day, that all other may know that they had spoken wickedly against thy Sanctuarie, and punish him according to his malice.

43 So the armies ioyned together in battell, the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar: but Nicanors hoste was discomfited, and hee himselfe was first slaine in the battell.

44 Now when his armie sawe that Nicanor was slaine, they cast away their weapons, and fled.

45 But they pursued after them a dayes iourney from Adasa vnto Gasera, blowing an alarme with the trumpets after them.

46 So they came forth of all the townes of Iudea round about, and rushed vpon them, and threwe them from one to another, so that they all fell by the sworde, and there was not one of them left.

47 Then they tooke the spoyles, and the pray, and smote off Nicanors heade, and his right hand, which he held vp so proudly, and brought it with them, and hanged them vp afore Ierusalem.

48 So the people reioyced greatly, and kept that day as a day of great gladnes.

49 And they ordayned to keepe yeerely that day on the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar.

50 Thus the land of Iuda was in rest a litle while.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Iudas considering the power and policie of the Romanes, maketh peace with them. 22 The conditions of mutuall friendship sent to the Iewes.

IUdas heard also the fame of the Romanes, that they were mightie and valiant, and agreeable to all things that were required of them, and make peace with all that came vnto them, Ioseph. Ant. 12. chap. 18.

2 And that they were men of great power, and they tolde him of their battels, and their worthy acts, which they did among the ‖Galatians whom they had conquered, and made to pay tribute, ‖Or, French men.

3 And what they had done in the countrey of Spaine: how that they had wonne there the mines of siluer and golde,

4 And that by their counsel and gentle behauiour they were rulers in euery place, though the place was farre from them, and that they had discomfited, and giuen great ouerthrowes to the kings that came against thē, from the vttermost part of the earth, and that others gaue them tribute euery yeere,

5 How they had also discomfited by battell Philip and Perses Kings of the ‖Macedonians, and others, that arose against them, and how they ouercame them, ‖Or, Citims.

6 And how great Antiochus King of Asia that came against them in battell, hauing an hundreth and twentie elephants, with horsemen, and charets, a very great armie, was discomfited by them,

7 And howe they tooke him aliue, and ordeined him with such as shoulde reigne after him, to pay a great tribute, and to giue hostages, and a separate portion,

8 Euen the countrey of India, and Media, and Lydia, and of his best countreys, which they tooke of him and gaue them to King Eumenes.

9 Againe when it was tolde them that the Grecians were comming to destroy them,

10 They sent against them a captaine, which gaue them battell, and slewe many of them, and tooke many prisoners with their wiues, and children, and spoyled them and conquered their lande, and destroyed their strong holdes, and subdued them to be their bond men vnto this day:

11 Moreouer, howe they destroyed, and brought brought into subiection other kingdomes and yles, whosoeuer had withstand them:

12 But that they kept amitie with their owne friends, and those that staied vpon them: finally, that they conquered kingdomes, both farre & neere, insomuch that whosoeuer heard of their renowme, was afraid of them.

13 For whome they woulde helpe to their kingdomes, those reigned, and whome they woulde, they put downe: thus were they in most high authoritie.

14 Yet for all this that none of them ware a crowne, neither was clothed in purple, to bee magnified thereby,

15 But that they had ordeyned themselues a counsel, wherein three hundreth and twenty men consulted dayly, & grounded for the common affaires, to gouerne them well,

16 And that they committed their gouernment to one man euery yeere, who did rule ouer all their countrey, to whome euery man was obedient: and there was neyther hatred nor enuie among them.

17 ¶ Then Judas chose Epolemus the sonne of John, the sonne of Accus, and Jason, the sonne of Eleazar, and sent them vnto Rome to make friendship, and mutuall fellowship with them,

18 That they might take from them the yoke (for they sawe that the kingdome of the Grecians would keepe Israel in bondage)

19 So they went vnto Rome, which was a very great iourney, and came into the ‖ Senate, where they spake and said,

‖Or, counsell.

20 Judas Maccabeus with his brethren, and the people of the Iewes hath sent vs vnto you, to make a bond of friendship, and peace with you, and yee to register vs as your partakers and friends.

21 And the matter pleased them.

22 And this is the copie of the Epistle that they wrote in tables of brasse and sent to Jerusalem, that they might haue by them a memoriall of the peace, and mutuall fellowship.

23 Good successe bee to the Romanes, and to the people of the Iewes, by sea, and by land for euer, and the sworde, and enemie bee from them.

24 If there come first any warre vpon the Romanes, or any of their friendes throughout all their dominion, 25 The people of the Iewes shall helpe them, as the time shall bee appoynted, with al their heart.

‖Or, the Romanes.

26 Also ‖ they shall giue nothing to them that come to fight for them, nor serue them with wheate nor weapons, nor money, nor ships, as it pleaseth the Romanes, but ‖ they shall keepe their couenants without taking any thing of them.

‖Or, the Iewes.

27 Likewise also if warre come first against the nation of the Iewes, the Romanes shall helpe them with a good will, according as the time shall be appointed them.

28 Neither shal wheat be giuen vnto them, that take their part, nor weapons, nor money nor ships, as it pleased the Romanes, who will keepe these couenants without deceit.

29 According to these articles the Romanes made the bonde with the people of the Iewes.

30 If after these poynts the one partie, or the other will adde or diminish, they may doe it, at their pleasures, and whatsoeuer they shall adde, or take away, shalbe ratified.

31 And as touching the euill that Demetrius hath done vnto the Iewes, wee haue written vnto him, saying, Wherefore layest thou thy heauie yoke vpon our friendes, and confederates the Iewes?

32 If therefore they complaine any more against thee, we will doe them iustice, and fight with thee by sea and by land.

CHAP. IX.

1 After the death of Nicanor, Demetrius sendeth his army against Iudas. 18 Iudas is slaine. 31 Ionathan is put in stead of his brother. 47 The battell betweene Ionathan, and Bacchides. 55 Alcimus is smitten with the palsie, and dyeth. 68 He commeth vpon Ionathan by the counsell of certaine wicked person, and is ouercome. 70 The truce of Ionathan with Bacchides.

IN the meane season when Demetrius had heard howe Nicanor, and his hoste had giuen the battell, hee sent Bacchides, and Alcimus againe into Judea, and his ‖ chiefe strength with them,

Ioseph. Antiq. 13. cap. 13.

‖Or, the right horne.

2 So they went forth by the way that is toward Galgala, and pitched their tentes before Mesaloth which is in Arbelis, and wanne it, and slew much people.

3 And in the first moneth of the hundreth, fiftie and two yeere, they layde their siege against Jerusalem.

4 But they raised their campe, and came to Berea, with twentie thousande foote men and two thousand horsemen.

5 Now Judas had pitched his tent at ‖ Eleasa, & three thousand chosen men with him.

‖Or Laisa.

6 And when they sawe that the multitude of the armie was great, they were sore afraid, and many conueyed themselues out of the hoste, so that there abode no moe of them, but eight hundreth men.

7 When Judas saw that his hoste fayled him, and that he must needes fight, he was sore troubled in minde that hee had no time to gather them together, and was discouraged.

8 Neuertheless, hee sayde vnto them that remained, Let vs rise, and goe vp against our enemies, if peraduenture wee may bee able to fight with them.

9 But they would haue staied him, saying, Wee are not able: but let vs rather saue our liues: turne backe nowe, seeing our brethren are departed: for shall wee fight against them that are so fewe?

10 Then Judas said, God forbid, that we should doe this thing, to flie from them: if our time be come, let vs die manfully for our brethren, and let vs not staine our honour.

11 Then the hoste remooued out of the tentes, and stoode against them, who had deuided their horsemen into two troupes, and they that threwe with slings, and the archers marched in the foreward, and they that fought in the foreward, were all valiant men.

12 And Bacchides was in the right wing. So the armie drewe neere on both sides, and blewe the trumpets.

13 They of Judas side blewe the trumpets also, and the earth shooke at the noyse of the armies, and the battell continued from morning to night.

14 And when Judas saw that Bacchides and the strength of his armie was on the right side, he tooke with him all the hardie men, 15 And brake the right wing, and followed vpon them vnto mount Azotus.

16 Nowe when they which were of the left wing, sawe that the right wing was discomfited, they followed Judas behinde, and them that were with him hard at the heeles.

17 Then was there a sore battell: for many were slaine of both parties.

18 Judas also himselfe was killed, and the remnant fled.

19 So Jonathan and Simon tooke Judas their brother, and buried him in his fathers sepulchre in the citie of Modin.

20 And all the Israelites wept for him, and mourned greatly for him, and lamented many dayes, saying, 21 Howe is the valiant man fallen which deliuered Israel!

22 Concerning the other things of Judas, both the battels and the valiant actes that he did, and of his worthines, they are not written: for they were very many.

Ioseph. Antiq. 13. chap. 1. and 3.

23 ¶ Now after the death of Judas, wicked men came vp in all the coasts of Israel, & there arose all such as gaue themselues to iniquitie.

24 In those dayes was there a very great famine in the land, and all the countrey gaue ouer themselues with them.

25 And Bacchides did chuse wicked men, and made them lords in the land.

26 These sought out, and made search for Judas friendes, and brought them vnto Bacchides, which auenged himselfe vpon them, and mocked them.

27 And there came so great trouble in Israel, as was not since the time that no Prophet was seene among them.

28 Then came all Judas friends together, and said vnto Jonathan, 29 Seeing thy brother Judas is dead, and there is none like to goe forth against our enemies, euen against Bacchides, and ‖ against them of our nation that are enemies vnto vs.

‖ Or, against the enemies of our nation.

30 Therefore, this day we chuse thee, that that mayest be our Prince and captaine in his place, to order our battell.

31 So Jonathan tooke the gouernance vpon him at the same time, and ruled in steade of his brother Judas.

32 But when Bacchides knewe it, hee sought for to slay him.

33 Then Jonathan & Simon his brother, perceiuing that, fledde into the wildernesse of Thecua with all their company, and pitched their tents by the water poole of Asphar.

34 Which when Bacchides vnderstoode, he came ouer Jorden with all his hoste vpon the Sabbath day.

35 (Now had Jonathan sent his brother Iohn, a captaine of the people, to pray his friendes the Nabathites, that they would keepe their baggage which was much.

36 But the children of ‖ Ambri came out of Medeba, & tooke John, & all that hee had, and when they had taken it, went their way.

‖ Or, Iambri.

37 After this came word vnto Jonathan, and to Simon his brother, that the children of Ambri made a great marriage, and brought the bride from ‖ Medeba with great pompe: for shee was daughter to one of the noblest Princes of Canaan.

‖ Or, Nadabath.

38 Therefore they remembred John their brother, and went vp, and hid themselues vnder the couert of the mountaine.

39 So they lift vp their eyes, and looked, and behold there was a great noyse, and much preparation: then the bridegrome came forth, and his friendes and his brethren met them with tymbrels, and instruments of musicke, and many weapons.

40 Then Jonathans men that lay in ambush, rose vp against them, and slewe many of them, and the remnant fledde into the mountaines, so that they tooke all their spoyles.

41 Thus the marriage was turned to mourning, and the noyse of their melodie into lamentation.

42 And so when they had auenged the blood of their brother, they turned againe vnto Jorden.

43 When Bacchides heard this, he came vnto the border of Jorden with a great power vpon the Sabbath day.)

44 Then Jonathan said vnto his companie, Let vs rise now, and fight against our enemies:

nies: for it is not to day as in times past.

45 Behold, the battell is before vs, and behinde vs, and the water of Jorden on this side and that side, and the marise, and forest, so that there is no place for vs to turne aside.

46 Wherefore cry now vnto heauen, that yee may bee deliuered from the power of your enemies: so they ioyned battell.

47 Then Jonathan stretched out his hand to smite Bacchides: but he turned aside from him and reculed.

48 Then Jonathan, and they that were with him, leapt into Jorden, & swimmed ouer vnto the further banke: but the other would not passe through Jorden after them.

49 So in that day were slaine of Bacchides side about a thousand men.

50 Then he turned againe to Jerusalem, and built vp the strong cities in Juda, as the castle of Jericho, and Emmaus, and Bethhoron, and Bethel, & Thamnatha, Pharathoni, and Tepho, with high walles, with gates, and with barres, 51 And set garisons in them, that they might vse their malice vpon Israel.

52 He fortified also the citie of Beth-sura, and Gazara, and the castle, and set a garison in them with prouision of vitailes.

53 He tooke also the chiefest mens sonnes in the countrey for hostages, and put them in the castle at Jerusalem to be kept.

54 ¶ Afterward in the hundreth, fiftie and three yeere, in the seconde moneth, Alcimus commaunded, that the walles of the inner court of the Sanctuarie should be destroyed, and hee pulled downe the monuments of the Prophets, and began to destroy them.

55 But at the same time Alcimus was plagued, and his enterprises were hindred, and his mouth was stopped: for he was smitten with a pallie, and could no more speake, nor giue order concerning his house.

56 Thus died Alcimus with great torment at the same time.

57 And when Bacchides saw that Alcimus was dead, he turned againe to the king, and so the land of Juda was in rest two yeeres.

58 Then all the vngodly men held a counsell, saying, Behold, Jonathan and his companie dwell at ease, and without care: wherefore let vs bring Bacchides hither, and he wil take them all in one night.

59 So they went and consulted with him.

60 Who arose & came with a great hoste, and sent letters priuily to his adherents, which were in Judea, to take Jonathan and those that were with him: but they could not, for their counsell was knowen vnto them.

61 And ‖ they tooke fiftie men of the countrey, which were the chiefe workers of this wickednesse, and slewe them.

‖ Or, Jonathan.

62 ¶ Then Jonathan and Simon with their companie departed vnto ‖ Beth-basin which is in the wildernesse, and repayred the decay thereof, and made it strong.

‖ Or, Beth-besen.

63 When Bacchides knew this he gathered all his hoste, and sent worde to them that were of Judea.

64 Then came he and laid siege to Bethbasin, and fought against it a long season, and made instrument of warre.

65 But Jonathan had left his brother Simon in the citie, and went forth into the countrey, and came with a certaine number, 66 And slew ‖ Odomeras and his brethren and the children of Phasiron in their tents: so he began to slay, and increased in power.

‖ Or, Odares.

67 Simon also & his company went out of the citie, & burnt vp the instruments of warre, 68 And fought against Bacchides, and discomfited him, and vexed him sore, so that his counsell and iourney was in vaine.

69 Wherefore he was very wroth at the wicked men, that gaue him counsell to come into the countrey, and slew many of them, and purposed to returne into his owne countrey.

70 Whereof when Jonathan had knowledge, hee sent Ambassadours vnto him, to intreate of peace with him, and that the prisoners should be deliuered.

71 Which thing hee accepted, and did according to his desire, and made an othe, that he would neuer doe him harme, all the dayes of his life.

72 So he restored vnto him the prisoners that he had taken aforetime out of the land of Juda, and so returned and went into his owne land, neither did hee come any more into their borders.

73 Thus the sworde ceased from Israel, and Jonathan dwelt at Machmas, and began there to gouerne the people, and destroyed the vngodly men out of Israel.

CHAP. X.

4 Demetrius desireth to haue peace with Ionathan, 18 Alexander also desireth peace with the Iewes. 48 Alexander maketh warre against Demetrius. 50 Demetrius is slaine. 51 The friendship of Ptolemeus and Alexander.

IN the hundreth and threescore yeere came Alexander the sonne of Antiochus Epiphanes, and tooke Ptolemais, and they receiued him, and there he reigned, Ioseph. Antiq. 13. chap. 2. 3.

2 Now when Demetrius the king heard it, he gathered an exceeding great hoste, and went forth against him to fight.

3 Also Demetrius sent letters vnto Jonathan with louing wordes, as though he would preferre him.

4 For hee sayde, Wee will first make peace with him, before hee ioyne with Alexander against vs.

5 Els he will remember all the euill that we haue done against him, and against his brethren and his nation.

6 And so he gaue Jonathan leaue to gather an hoste, and to prepare weapons, and to bee confederate with him, and commaunded the hostages that were in the castle, to bee deliuered vnto him.

7 ¶ Then came Jonathan to Jerusalem, and read the letters in the audience of all the people, and of them that were in the castle.

8 Therefore they were sore afraid, because they heard that the king had giuen him licence to gather an armie.

9 So they that were of the castle, deliuered the hostages vnto Jonathan, who restored them to their parents.

10 Jonathan also dwelt at Jerusalem, and began to builde, and repaire the citie.

11 And hee commanded the workemen to builde the walles, and the mount Sion round about with hewen stone, to fortifie it: and so they did.

12 Then the strangers that were in the castles which Bachides had made, fled, 13 So that euery man left his place, and went into his owne countrey.

14 Only at Beth-sura remained certaine which had forsaken the Law and the commandements: for it was their refuge.

15 ¶ Nowe when King Alexander had heard of the promises that Demetrius had made vnto Jonathan: and when it was told him of the battels and noble acts, which he and his brethren had done, and of the paines that they had endured, 16 He sayde, Might we finde such a man: nowe therefore we will make him our friende and confederate.

17 Upon this he wrote a letter, and sent it vnto him, with these words, saying, 18 KING ALEXANDER to his brother Jonathan sendeth salutation.

19 We haue heard of thee, that thou art a very valiant man, and worthy to be our friend.

20 Wherefore this day we ordaine thee to be the hie Priest of thy nation, and to be called the kings friend: (and hee sent him a purple robe, and a ‖ crowne of golde,) that thou maist ‖ consider what is for our profite, and keepe friendship toward vs.

‖ Or, mitre.
‖ Or, take our part.

21 So in the seuenth moneth of the hundreth and three score yeere, vpon the feast day of the tabernacles, Jonathan put on the holy garment, and gathered an hoste, and prepared many weapons.

Ioseph. Antiq. 13. cap. 3.

22 ¶ Which when Demetrius heard, hee was marueilous sorie, and said, 23 What haue wee done, that Alexander hath preuented vs in getting the friendship of the Jewes for his strength?

24 Yet will I write and exhort them, and promise them dignities and rewardes, that they may helpe me.

25 Whereupon he wrote vnto them these words, KING DEMETRIVS vnto the nation of the Jewes, sendeth greeting.

26 We haue heard that ye haue kept your couenant towarde vs, and continued in our friendship, and haue not ioyned with our enemies, whereof we are glad.

27 Now therefore remaine still, and keepe fidelitie toward vs, & we will recompence you for the good things that ye haue done for vs, 28 And will release you of many charges, and giue you rewards.

29 And now I discharge for your sake all the Jewes from tributes, & free you from the customes of salt, and the crowne taxes, and from the third part of the seede.

30 And from the halfe of the fruite of the trees which is mine owne duetie, I so release them that from this day forth, none shall take any thing of the land of Juda, or of the three gouernments which are added thereunto, as of Samaria and of Galile, from this day forth for euermore.

31 Jerusalem also with all the things belonging thereto, shalbe holy and free from the tenths and tributes.

32 Also I release the power of the castle which is at Jerusalem, and giue it vnto the hie Priest, that he may set in it such men, as he shall chuse to keepe it.

33 Moreouer I freely deliuer euery one of the Jewes that were taken away prisoners out of the lande of Juda throughout all my realme, and euery one of them shalbe free from tributes, yea, euen their cattell.

34 And all the feastes, and Sabbaths, and newe Moones, and the dayes appoynted and the three dayes before the feast, and the three dayes after the feast, shalbe dayes of freedome and libertie for all the Jewes in my realme, 35 So that in them no man shall haue power to doe any thing, or to vexe any of them in any maner of cause.

36 Also thirtie thousand of the Jewes shal bee written vp in the kings hoste, and haue their wages payed them as appertayneth to all them that are of the kings armie: and of them shall bee ordeyned certaine to keepe the kings strong holdes.

37 And some of them shall bee set ouer the kings most secret affaires, & their gouernours and their Princes shall be of themselues, and they shall liue after their owne lawes, as the king hath commanded in the land of Juda.

38 And the three gouernments that are added vnto Judea from the countrey of Samaria, maria, shall bee ioyned vnto Judea, and they shall bee as vnder one, and obey none other power, but the hie Priest.

39 And I giue Ptolemais and the borders thereof vnto the Sanctuary at Jerusalem, for the necessarie expenses of the holy things.

40 Moreouer, I will giue euery yeere fifteene thousand sicles of siluer of the kings reuenues out of ỳ places apperteining vnto me.

41 And all the ouerplus which they haue not paied for the things due, as they did in the former yeeres, from henceforth they shal giue it toward the works of the Temple.

42 And besides this, the fiue thousande sicles of siluer which they receiued yeerely of the account appoynted for the interteinement of the Sanctuarie these yeeres passed, euen these things shall be released because they apperteine to the Priests that minister.

43 Item, whosoeuer they be that flee vnto the Temple at Jerusalem, or within the liberties thereof, and are indetted to the King for any maner of thing, they shal be pardoned, and all that they haue in my realme.

44 For the building also and repayring of the workes of the Sanctuarie, expenses shall be giuen of the kings reuenues.

45 And for the making of the walles of Jerusalem, and fortifying it round about, that the holdes in Judea may be built vp, shall also the costes be giuen out of the kings reuenues.

46 ¶ But when Jonathan and the people heard these wordes, they gaue no credit vnto them, neither receiued them: for they remembred the great wickednesse that he had done in Israel, and how sore he had vexed them.

47 Wherefore they agreed vnto Alexander: for hee was the first that had intreated of true peace with them, and so were confederate with him alway.

48 Then gathered king Alexander a great hoste, and camped ouer against Demetrius.

49 So the two kings ioyned battell, but Demetrius hoste fled, and Alexander pursued him, and preuailed against them.

50 So that sore battell continued till the sunne went downe, & Demetrius was slaine the same day.

Ioseph. Antiq. 13. cap. 5.

51 ¶ Then Alexander sent Ambassadours vnto Ptolemeus the king of Egypt with these wordes, saying,

52 For so much as I am come againe to my realme, and am set in the throne of my fathers, and haue gotten the dominion, and haue destroyed Demetrius, and enioy my countrey,

53 Seeing that I haue euen giuen him the battell, and he and his armie is discomfited by me, and I sit in the throne of his kingdome,

34 Let vs now make friendship together, and giue me now thy daughter to wife: so shall I be thy sonne in law, and giue thee rewards, and vnto her things according to thy dignitie, 45 Then Ptolemeus the king, gaue answere, saying, Happy bee the day, wherein thou art come againe vnto the land of thy fathers, and sittest in the throne of their kingdome.

56 Nowe therefore will I fulfill thy writing: but meete me at Ptolemais that we may see one another, and that I may make thee my sonne in lawe, according to thy desire.

57 So Ptolemeus went out of Egypt with his daughter Cleopatra, and came vnto Ptolemais in the hundreth threescore and two yeere, 58 Where king Alexander met him, and he gaue vnto him his daughter Cleopatra, and married them at Ptolemais with great glory, as the maner of kings is.

59 ¶ Then wrote king Alexander vnto Jonathan, that he should come and meete him.

60 So hee went honourably vnto Ptolemais, & there he met the two kings, and gaue them great presents of siluer and golde, and to their friends, and found fauour in their sight.

61 And there assembled certaine pestilent fellowes of Israel, and wicked men to accuse him: but the king would not heare them.

62 And the king commaunded that they should take off the garments of Jonathan, and clothe him in purple: and so they did: and the king appoynted him to sit by him,

63 And sayde vnto his Princes, Goe with him into the middes of the citie, and make a proclamation, that no man complaine against him for any matter, and that no man trouble him for any maner of cause.

64 So when his accusers saw his honour according as it was proclaimed, and that hee was clothed in purple, they fled all away.

65 And ỳ king preferred him to honor, and wrote him among his chiefe friends, and made him a Duke, and partaker of his dominion, 66 Thus Jonathan returned to Jerusalem with peace and gladnesse.

67 ¶ In the hundreth, threescore and fiue yeere came Demetrius the sonne of Demetrius, from Creta into his fathers land. Ioseph. Antiq. cap. 6. lib. 13.

68 Whereof when king Alexander heard, he was very sory, and returned vnto Antiochia.

69 Then Demetrius appoynted Appollonius the gouernour of Coelosyria, who gathered a great hoste, and camped in Jamnia, and sent vnto Jonathan the hie Priest, saying, 70 Darest thou, being but alone, lift vp thy selfe against vs: and I am laughed at, and reproched, because of thee: now therefore why doest thou vaunt thy selfe against vs in the mountaines?

71 Nowe then if thou trust in thine owne strength, come downe to vs into the plaine fielde, and there let vs try the matter, together: for I haue the strength of cities.

72 Aske and learne who I am, and they shall take my part: and they shall tell thee that your foote is not able to stand before our face: for thy fathers haue bene twise chased in their owne land.

73 And nowe howe wilt thou be able to abide so great an hoste of horsemen and footemen in the plaine, where is neyther stone, nor rocke, nor place to flee vnto?

74 When Jonathan heard the wordes of Apollonius, hee was mooued in his minde: wherefore hee chose tenne thousand men, and went out of Jerusalem, and Simon his brother met him for to helpe him.

75 And he pitched his tents at Joppe: but they shut him out of the citie: for Apollonius garison was in Joppe.

76 Then they fought against it, and they that were in the citie, for very feare let him in: so Jonathan wanne Joppe.

77 Apollonius hearing of this tooke three thousand horsemen with a great host of foote men, and went toward Azotus, as though hee would goe forward, and came immediatly into the plaine fielde, because hee had so many horsemen, and put his trust in them.

78 So Jonathan followed vpon him to Azotus, and the armie skirmished with his arriere band.

79 For Apollonius had left a thousande horsemen behide them in ambush.

80 And Jonathan knewe that there was an ambushment behinde him, and though they had compassed in his hoste, and shot dartes at the people from the morning to the euening, 81 Yet the people stoode still, as Jonathan had commaunded them, till their horses were wearie.

82 Then brought Simon forth his hoste, and set them against the band: but the horses were wearie, and hee discomfited them, and they fled: so the horsemen were scattered in the fielde.

83 And they fled to Azotus, and came into the temple of Dagon their idole, that they might there saue themselues.

84 But Jonathan set fire vpon Azotus and all the cities rounde about it, and tooke their spoyles, and burnt with fire the temple of Dagon with all them that were fled into it.

85 Thus were slaine and burnt about eight thousand men.

86 So Jonathan remoued the hoste from thence, and camped by Ascalon, where the men of the citie came forth, and met him with great honour.

87 After this went Jonathan and his hoste againe to Jerusalem with great spoyles.

88 And when king Alexander heard these things, he began to doe Jonathan more honor, 89 And sent him a collar of golde, as the vse is to be giuen vnto such as are of the kings blood: hee gaue him also Accaron, with the borders thereof in possession.

CHAP. XI.

1 The dissention betweene Ptolemeus and Alexander his sonne in lawe. 17 The death of Alexander. 19 Demetrius reigneth after the death of Ptolemus. 22 Sion is besieged of Jonathan. 41 Demetrius seeing that no man resisted him, sendeth his armie againe. 58 Tryphon moueth Antiochus against Demetrius.

AND the king of Egypt gathered a great hoste, like the sand that lieth vpon the sea shore, and many ships, and went about through deceit to obtaine the kingdome of Alexander, and to ioyne it vnto his owne realme. Ioseph. Antiq. 13. chap. 7.

2 Upon this hee went into Syria with friendly words, and was let into the cities, and men came forth to meete him: for king Alexander had commaunded them to meete him, because he was his father in lawe.

3 Nowe when hee entred into the citie of Ptolemais, he left bands and garisons in euery citie.

4 And when he came neere to Azotus, they shewed him the temple of Dagon that was burnt, and Azotus, and the suburbes thereof that were destroyed, & the bodies cast abroad, and them that he had burnt in the battell: for they had made heapes of them by the way where he should passe.

5 And they tolde the king what Jonathan had done, to the intent they might get him euill will: but the king held his peace.

6 And Jonathan met the king with great honour at Joppe, where they saluted one another, and lay there.

7 So when Jonathan had gone with the king vnto the water that was called Eleutherus, he turned againe to Jerusalem.

8 So king Ptolemeus gate the dominion of the cities by the sea vnto Seleucia vpon the sea coast, imagining wicked counsels against Alexander, 9 ¶ And sent Ambassadours vnto king Demetrius, saying, Come, let vs make a league betweene vs, and I will giue thee my daughter, which Alexander hath, and thou shalt reigne in thy fathers kingdome.

10 For I repent that I gaue Alexander my daughter: for he goeth about to slay me.

11 Thus he slandered Alexander, as one that should desire his Realme.

12 And hee tooke his daughter from him, and gaue her vnto Demetrius, and forsooke Alexander, so that their hatred was openly knowen.

13 Then Ptolemeus came to Antiochia, where where he set two crownes vpon his own head, of Asia and of Egypt.

14 In the meane season was King Alexander in Cilicia: for they that dwelt in those places, had rebelled against him:

15 But when Alexander heard it, he came to warre against him, and Ptolemeus brought forth his host, and met him with a mighty power, and put him to flight.

16 Then fled Alexander into Arabia, there to be defended: so Ptolemeus was exalted.

17 And Zabdiel the Arabian smote off Alexanders head, and sent it vnto Ptolemeus.

18 But the third day after, king Ptolemeus died: and they that were in the holdes, were slaine one of another.

19 And Demetrius reigned in the hundreth, threescore and seuenth yeere.

20 ¶ At the same time gathered Jonathan them that were in Judea, to lay siege vnto the castell, which was at Jerusalem, and they made many instruments of warre against it.

21 Then went there certaine vngodly persons (which hated their owne people) vnto king Demetrius, and told him that Jonathan besieged the castell.

22 So when hee heard it, hee was angry, and immediatly came vnto Ptolemais, and wrote vnto Jonathan, that hee should lay no more siege vnto it, but that hee should meete him and speake with him at Ptolemais in all haste.

23 Neuertheless when Jonathan hearde this, he commanded to besiege it: he chose also certaine of the Elders of Israel, & the Priests, and put himselfe in danger, 24 And tooke with him siluer and golde, and apparell, and diuers presentes, and went to Ptolemais vnto the king, and found fauor in his sight.

25 And though certaine vngodly men of his owne nation had made complaints vpon him,

26 Yet the king intreated him as his predecessours had done, and promoted him in the sight of all his friends, 27 And confirmed him in the high priesthood with all honourable things, that hee had afore, and made him his chiefe friend.

28 Jonathan also desired the king, that he would make Judea free with three gouernments, and the countrey of Samaria, and Jonathan promised him three hundred talents.

29 Whereunto the king consented, and gaue Jonathan writing of the same, conteyning these words,

30 KING DEMETRIVS vnto his brother Jonathan, and to the nation of the Jewes sendeth greeting, 31 We send you here a copy of the letter which wee did write vnto our cousine Lasthenes concerning you that ye should see it.

32 King Demetrius vnto Lasthenes his father, sendeth greeting.

33 For the faithfulnesse that our friendes the nation of the Jewes keepe vnto vs, and for their good will towardes vs, we are determined to doe them good.

34 Wherefore we assigne to them the coasts of Judea with the three gouernments, Apherema, and Lydda, and Ramathe (which are added vnto Judea from the countrey of Samaria) and all that appertaineth to all them that sacrifice in Jerusalem: both concerning the payments which the king tooke yeerely afore time, both for the fruits of the earth, and for the fruits of the trees.

35 As for the other things appertaining vnto vs of the tenthes and tributes, which were due vnto vs, and the customes of salt, and crowne taxes, which were payed vnto vs, wee discharge them of all from henceforth.

36 And nothing hereof shall bee reuoked from this time forth and for euer.

37 Therefore see that yee make a copy of these things, & deliuer it vnto Jonathan, that it may bee set vp vpon the holy mount in an open palace.

38 After this when Demetrius the king saw that his land was in rest, and that no resistance was made against him, he sent away all his host, euery man to his owne place, except certaine bands of strangers, whom he brought from the yles of the heathen: wherefore all his fathers host hated him.

36 Now was there one Tryphon, that had bene of Alexanders part afore, which when he sawe that all the host murmured against Demetrius, hee went to ‖ Simalcue the Arabian, that brought vp Antiochus the sonne of Alexander, ‖Emalcuel.

40 And lay fore vpon him, to deliuer him this yong Antiochus, that hee might reigne in his fathers steade: hee told him also what great euil Demetrius had done, and how his men of warre hated him, and he remained there a long season.

41 Also Jonathan sent vnto king Demetrius to driue them out which were in the castell at Jerusalem, and those that were in the fortresses: for they fought against Israel.

42 So Demetrius sent vnto Jonathan, saying, I will not onely doe these things for thee, and thy nation, but if opportunitie serue, I will honour thee and thy nation.

43 Now therefore thou shalt do me a pleasure, if thou wilt send me men to helpe me: for all mine armie is gone from me.

44 So Jonathan sent him three thousand strong strong men vnto Antiochia, and they came vnto the king: therefore the king was very glad at their comming.

45 ¶ But they that were of the citie, euen an hundreth, and twentie thousand men, gathered them together in the mids of the citie, and would haue slaine the king.

46 But the king fled into the palace, and the citizens kept the streetes of the citie, and began to fight.

47 Then the king called to the Iewes for helpe, which came to him altogether, and went abroad through the citie, 48 And slewe the same day an hundred thousand, and set fire vpon the citie, and tooke many spoyles in that day, and deliuered the king.

49 So when the citizens sawe that the Iewes had gotten the vpper hand of the citie, and that they themselues were disappointed of their purpose, they made their supplication vnto the king, saying,

‖Or, giue vs the right hand.

50 ‖ Graunt vs peace, and let the Iewes cease from vexing vs and the citie.

51 So they cast away their weapons, and made peace and the Iewes were greatly honoured before the king, & before all that were in his realme, and they came againe to Ierusalem with great pray.

52 Then king Demetrius sate in ỳ throne of his kingdome, and had peace in his land.

53 Neuertheless he dissembled in all that euer hee spake, and withdrewe himselfe from Ionathan, neither did he reward him according to the benifits which hee had done for him, but troubled him very sore.

54 ¶ After this returned Tryphon with the yong child Antiochus, which reigned, and was crowned.

Ioulam.

55 Then there gathered vnto him all the men of warre, whome Demetrius had scattered, and they fought against him, who fled and turned his backe.

‖Or, Elephants.

56 So Tryphon tooke the ‖ beastes, and wanne Antiochia.

57 And yong Antiochus wrote vnto Ionathan, saying, I appoint thee to be the chiefe Priest, and make thee ruler ouer the foure gouernements, that thou mayest bee a friende of the kings.

58 Upon this hee sent him golden vessels to be serued in, and gaue him leaue to drinke in golde, and to weare purple, and to haue a collar of gold.

59 He made his brother Simon also captaine from the coastes of Tyrus vnto the borders of Egypt.

60 Then Ionathan went forth, and passed thorow the cities beyonde the flood, and all the men of warre of Syria gathered vnto him for to helpe him: so he came vnto Ascalon, and they of the citie receiued him honourably.

61 And from thence went he vnto Gaza: but they of Gaza shut him out: wherefore he layde siege vnto it, and burned the suburbes thereof with fire, and spoyled them.

62 Then they of Gaza made supplication vnto Ionathan and he made peace with them, and tooke the sonnes of the chiefe men for hostages, and sent them to Ierusalem, and went thorow the countrey vnto Damascus.

63 And when Ionathan heard that Demetrius princes were come into Cades, which is in Galile, with a great hoste, purposing to driue him out of the countrey.

64 He came against them and left Simon his brother in the countrey.

65 And Simon besieged Beth-sura, and fought against it a long season, and shut it vp.

66 So they desired to haue peace with him, which hee granted them, and afterwarde put them out from thence, and tooke the citie, and set a garison in it.

67 Then Ionathan with his host came to the water of Genesar, and betimes in the morning came to the plaine of Azor.

68 And behold the hostes of the ‖ strangers met him in the plaine, and had layde ambushments for him in the mountaines.

‖Or, heathen.

69 So that when they came against them, the ambushments rose out of their places and skirmished.

70 So all that were of Ionathans side, fled: and there was not one of them left, except Mattathias the sonne of ‖ Absalomus, and Iudas the sonne of Calphi the captaines of the hoste.

‖Or, Abessalomus.

71 Then Ionathan rent his clothes, and cast earth vpon his head, and prayed, 72 And turned againe to them to fight, and put them to flight, so that they fled away.

73 Nowe when his owne men that were fled, sawe this, they turned againe vnto him, and helped him to follow after all vnto their tents at Cades, and there they camped.

74 So there were slaine of the strangers the same day about three thousand men, and Ionathan turned againe to Ierusalem.

CHAP. XII.

1 Ionathan sendeth ambassadours to Rome, 2 And the people of Sparta, to renue their couenant of friendshippe, 24 Ionathan putteth to flight the princes of Demetrius. 40 Tryphon taketh Ionathan by deceite.

IOnathan nowe seeing that the time was meete for him, chose certaine men, and sent them vnto Rome, to establish and renue the friendship with them.

Ioseph. Antiq. 13. Cap. 8.

2 He sent letters also vnto ‖ the Spartians and to other places, for the same purpose,

‖Or, Lacedemoniam.

3 So

3 So they went vnto Rome, and entred into the Senate, and sayd, Ionathan the high Priest & the nation of the Iewes send vs vnto you, for to renue friendship with you, and the bond of loue, as in times past.

4 So the Romanes gaue them free passports, that men should leade them home into the land of Iuda peaceably.

5 ¶ AND THIS is the copie of letters that Ionathan wrote vnto the Spartians, 6 Ionathan the hie Priest with the elders of the nation, and the Priestes, and the rest of the people of the Iewes, sent greeting vnto the Spartians their brethren.

Ioseph. Antiq. 12. chap. 5. Or, Darius.

7 Heretofore were letters sent vnto Onias the hie Priest, from ‖ Arius, which then reigned among you, that ye would be our brethren, as the copy herunder written specifieth.

8 And Onias intreated the ambassadour honourably, and receiued the letters: wherein there was mention made of the bond of loue and friendship.

9 But as for vs, wee neede no such writings: for we haue the holy books in our hands for comfort.

10 Neuertheless wee thought it good to sende vnto you for the renuing of the brotherhood and friendship, least we should be strange vnto you: for it is long since the time that yee sent vnto vs.

11 Wherefore wee remember you at all seasons continually, and in the feasts and other dayes appointed, when we offer sacrifices and prayers, as it is meete and conuenient to thinke vpon our brethren.

12 And wee reioyce at your prosperous estate.

13 And though wee haue beene enuironed with great troubles and warres, so that the kings round about vs haue fought against vs, 14 Yet woulde wee not bee grieuous vnto you, nor to other of our confederats and friends in these warres.

15 For we haue had help from heauen, that hath succoured vs, and wee are deliuered from our enemies, and our enemies are subdued.

16 Yet haue we chosen Numenius the sonne of Antiochus, and Antipater the sonne of Iason, and sent them vnto the Romanes, for to renue the former friendship with them, and league.

17 We commanded them also to goe vnto you, and to salute you, and to deliuer you our letters, concerning the renuing of our brotherhood.

18 And now ye shall doe vs a pleasure to giue vs an answere of these things.

19 ¶ And this was ỹ copy of ỹ letters which Arius the king of Sparta sent vnto Onias.

20 THE KING of the Spartians vnto Onias the high Priest sendeth greeting.

21 It is found in writing, that the Spartians and Iewes are brethren, and come out of the generation of Abraham.

22 And now for so much as this is come to our knowledge, ye shall do well to write vnto vs of your prosperitie.

23 As for vs we haue written vnto you, that your cattell and goods are ours, and ours are yours: these things haue we commanded to be shewed vnto you.

24 ¶ Nowe when Ionathan heard, that Demetrius princes were come to fight against him, with a greater hoste then afore, 25 Hee went from Ierusalem, and met them in the land of Hamath: for he gaue them not space to come into his owne country.

26 And he sent spies into their tents, which came againe, and tolde him that they were appointed to come vpon him in the night.

27 Wherefore when the sunne was gone down, Ionathan cõmanded his men to watch, and to be in armes readie to fight all the night, and sent watchmen round about the hoste.

28 But when the aduersaries heard that Ionathan was ready with his men to the battell, they feared, and trembled in their hearts, and kindled fires in their tents, and fled away.

29 Neuertheless, Ionathan and his companie knewe it not till the morning: for they saw the fires burning.

30 Then Ionathan followed vpon them, but he could not ouertake them: for they were gone ouer the flood Eleutherus.

31 So Ionathan turned to the Arabians, which were called Zabedei, and slew them, and tooke their spoyle.

32 He proceeded further also, & came vnto Damascus, and went through al the countrey.

33 But Simon his brother went foorth, and came to Ascalon and to the nert holdes, departing vnto Ioppe, and wanne it.

34 For hee heard that they would deliuer the hold to them that tooke Demetrius part: wherefore he set a garison there to keepe it.

35 ¶ After this came Ionathan home, and called the Elders of the people together, and deuised with them for to build vp the strong holds in Iudea, 36 And to make the walles of Ierusalem hyer, and to make a great mount betwixt the castell and the citie, for to separate it from the citie, that it might bee alone, & that men should neyther buy nor sell in it.

37 So they came to gether to build vp the citie: for part of the wal vpon the brooke of the Eastside was fallen downe, and they repaired it, and called it Caphenatha.

38 Simon also set vp Adida in Sephela, and made it strong with gates and barres.

39 ¶ In

Ioseph. Antiq. 13. chap. 9.

39 ¶ In the meane time Tryphon purposed to reigne in Asia, and to be crowned when he had slaine the king Antiochus.

40 But hee was afraide that Jonathan woulde not suffer him, but fight against him: wherefore hee went about to take Jonathan, and to kill him: so he departed, and came vnto Bethsan.

41 Then went Jonathan forth against him to the battell with fourtie thousand chosen men, and came vnto Bethsan.

42 But when Tryphon sawe that Jonathan came with so great an hoste, hee durst not lay hand vpon him,

43 But receiued him honorably, and commended him vnto all his friendes, and gaue him rewardes, and commanded his men of warre to bee as obedient vnto him as to himselfe,

44 And sayde vnto Jonathan, Why hast thou caused this people to take such trauaile, seeing there is no warre betweene vs?

45 Therefore send them now home againe, and chuse certaine men to waite vpon thee, and come thou with me to Ptolemais: for I will giue it thee, with the other strong holds, and the other garisons, and all them that haue the charge of the common affaires: so will I returne, and depart: for this is the cause of my comming.

46 Jonathan beleeued him, and did as hee sayd, and sent away his hoste, which went into the land of Juda, 47 And reteined but three thousand with him, whereof he sent two thousand into Galile, and one thousand went with himselfe.

48 Now assoone as Jonathan entred into Ptolemais, they of Ptolemais shut the gates, and tooke him, and slew al them with the sword, that came with him.

49 Then sent Tryphon an hoste of footemen, & horsemen into Galile, & into the great plaine, to destroy all Jonathans campany.

50 But when they knewe that Jonathan was taken, and slaine, & those that were with him, they incouraged one another, and came forth against them ready to the battell.

51 But when they which followed vpon them, sawe that it was a matter of life, they turned backe againe.

52 By this meanes all they came into the land of Juda peaceably, and bewayled Jonathan, & them that were with him, and feared greatly, & all Israel made great lamentation.

53 For all the heathen that were round about them, sought to destroy them.

54 For they said, Now haue they no captaine, nor any man to helpe them: therefore let vs now fight against them, and roote out their memorie from among men.

CHAP. XIII.

1 After Ionathan was taken, Simon is chosen captayne. 17 Tryphon, taking his children, and money for the redemption of Ionathan, killeth him and his children. 31 Tryphon killeth Antiochus, and possesseth the Realme. 36 Demetrius taketh truce with Simon. 43 Simon winneth Gaza. 50 Hee possesseth the tower of Sion. 53 He maketh his sonne Iohn captaine.

NOw when Simon heard that Tryphon gathered a great hoste to come into the land of Juda, to destroy it, Ioseph. Antiq. 13. cap. 9.

2 And sawe that the people was in great trembling, and feare, hee came vp to Jerusalē, and gathered the people together,

3 And gaue them exhortation, saying, Yee know what great things I, and my brethren, and my fathers house haue done for the Lawe and the Sanctuary, and the battels, and troubles that we haue seene.

4 By reason whereof all my brethren are slaine for Israels sake, and I am left alone.

5 Now therefore God forbid, that I should spare mine owne life in any time of trouble: for I am not better then my brethren.

6 But I will auenge my nation, and the Sanctuarie and our wiues, and our children: for all the heathen are gathered together to destroy vs of very malice.

7 In hearing these words the hearts of the people were kindled,

8 So that they cryed with a loude voyce, saying, Thou shalt be our captaine in steade of Judas and Jonathan thy brethren.

9 Fight thou our battels, and whatsoeuer thou commandest vs we will doe it.

10 ¶ So he gathered al the men of warre, making haste to finish the wals of Jerusalem, and fortified it round about.

11 Then sent hee Jonathan the sonne of Absalomus with a great hoste vnto Joppe, which droue them out that were therin, and remayned there himselfe.

12 Tryphon also remoued from Ptolemais with a great army, to come into the land of Juda, & Jonathan was with him as prisoner.

13 And Simon pitched his tents at ‖ Adidis vpon the open plaine. ‖ Or, Addet, 14 But when Tryphon knewe that Simon stood vp in the steade of his brother Jonathan, and that he would fight against him, hee sent messengers vnto him saying,

15 Whereas we haue kept Jonathan thy brother, it is for money that he is owing in the kings account concerning the busines that hee had in hand.

16 Wherefore send nowe an hundreth talents of siluer, and his two sonnes for hostages, that when he is letten forth, hee will not turne from vs, and we will sent him againe.

17 Neuertheless Simon knewe that hee dissembled in his words, yet commanded hee the the money and children to bee deliuered vnto him, least he should be in greater hatred of the people of Israel.

18 Who might haue sayde, Because he sent him not the money and the children, therefore is Ionathan dead.

16 So he sent the children and an hundreth talents: but he dissembled, and would not let Ionathan goe.

20 ¶ Afterward came Tryphon into the land to destroy it, and went round about by the way, ỳ leadeth vnto Adora: but whersoeuer they went, thither went Simon and his hoste.

21 Now they that were in the castell, sent messengers vnto Tryphon ỳ he would make haste to come by the wildernesse, and to send them vitailes.

22 So Tryphon, made ready al his horsemen: but the same night fel a very great snow, so that he came not, because of the snowe: but he remoued and went into the countrey of Galaad.

23 And when he came neere to Bascama, he slew Ionathan, and he was buried there.

24 So Tryphon returned, and went into his owne land.

25 ¶ Then sent Simon to take the bones of Ionathan his brother, and they buried him in Modin his fathers citie.

26 And al Israel bewayled him with great lamentation and mourned for him very long.

27 And Simon made vpon the sepulchre of his father and his brethren, a building hie to looke vnto, of hewen stone behinde and before.

28 And set vp seuen pillars vpon it, one against another, for his father, his mother, and foure brethren, 29 And set great pillars round about them, and set armes vpon the pillars for a perpetuall memorie, and carued ships beside the armes, that they might be seene of men sayling in the sea.

30 This sepulchre which he made at Modin standeth yet vnto this day.

Ioseph. Antiq. 13. cap. 10.

31 ¶ Now as Tryphon went forth with the yong king Antiochus, he slew him traiterously, 32 And reigned in his stead, and crowned himselfe king of Asia, and brought a great plague vpon the land.

33 Simon also built vp the castels of Iudea, & compassed them about with hie towres, and great walles, euen with towres, and gates, and barres, and layd vp vitailes in the strong holdes.

34 Moreouer Simon chose certaine men and sent them to king Demetrius, that hee would discharge the land: for al Tryphons doings were robberies.

35 Whereupon Demetrius the king answered him, & wrote vnto him after this maner, 36 DEMETRIVS the king vnto Simon the hie Priest, and the friend of kings, and to the Elders and to the nation of the Iewes sendeth greting.

37 The golden crowne, & ‖precious stone that ye sent vnto vs, haue we receiued, and are ready to make a stedfast peace with you, and to write vnto the officers, to release you of the things wherein we made you free.

‖Or, collar, or, baudricke.

38 So the things that wee haue graunted you, shall be stable: the strong holds which ye haue builded shall be your owne.

39 Also we forgiue the ouersightes, and faultes committed vnto this day, & the crowne tare that yee ought vs: and whereas was any other tribute in Ierusalem, it shall be now no tribute.

40 And they that are mete among you to be written without men, let them be written vp, that there may be peace betweene vs.

41 Thus the yoke of the heathen was taken from Israel in the hundred and seuentie yere.

42 And the people of Israel began to write in their letters, and publique instruments, IN THE FRIST yere of Simon the hie and chiefe Priest, gouernour and prince of the Iewes.

43 In those daies Simon camped against Gaza, and besieged it round about, where hee set vp an engine of warre, & approched neere the citie, and beat a tower, and tooke it.

44 So they that were in the engine, leapt into the citie, and there was great trouble in the citie.

45 Insomuch that the people of the citie rent their clothes, and climed vp vpon the walles with their wiues, and children, and cryed with a loude voyce beseeching Simon to graunt them peace, saying,

49 Deale not with vs according to our wickednesse, but according to thy mercie.

47 Then Simon pitied them, and would fight no more against them, but put them out of the citie, and cleansed the houses, wherein the idoles were, & so entred therunto with psalmes and thanksgiuing.

48 So when hee had cast all the filthinesse out, he set such men in it as kept the Law, and fortified it, and builded there a dwelling place for himselfe.

49 Now when they in the castel at Ierusalem were kept, that they could not come forth nor go into the countery, neither buy nor sell, they were very hungry, & many of them were famished to death.

50 Insomuch that they besought Simon to make peace with them: which he graunted them, them, and put them out from thence, and cleansed the castell from filthinesse.

51 And vpon the three and twentie day of the second moneth, in the hundreth seuenty and one yeere, they entred into it with thankesgiuing, and branches of Palme trees, and with harpes, and with Cymbals, and with violes, and with psalmes, and songs, because the great enemie of Israel was ouercome.

52 And hee ordayned that the same day should be kept euery yeere with gladnes, 53 And he fortified the mount of the Temple that was beside the castell where he dwelt himselfe with his company.

54 Simon also seeing ỳ John his sonne was now a man, he made him captaine of al the hostes, and caused him to dwell in ‖ Gazaris.

‖ Or, Gaza.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Demetrius is ouercome of Arsaces. 11 Simon being captaine, there is great quietnesse in Israel. 18 The couenant of friendship with the Romanes, and with the people of Sparta is renued.

IN the hundreth seuentie and two yeere gathered king Demetrius his hoste and departed vnto Media, to get him helpe for to fight against Tryphon.

2 But when Arsaces the king of Persia and Media heard, that Demetrius was entred within his borders, he sent one of his princes to take him aliue,

3 So he went, and ouercame the armie of Demetrius, and tooke him, and brought him to Arsaces, which kept him in ward.

4 Thus all the land of Iuda was in rest, so long as Simon liued: for he sought the wealth of his nation: therefore were the ỳ gladde to haue him for their ruler, and to do him worship alway.

5 Simon also wanne the citie of Joppe to his great honour to be an hauen towne, and made it an entrance to the yles of the Sea.

6 He enlarged also the borders of his people, and conquered the countreys.

7 He gathered vp many of their people that were priseners, and hee had the dominion of Gazaris, and Beth-sura, and the castell, which he clensed from filthinesse, and there was no man that resisted him.

8 So that euery man tilled his ground in peace, and the lande gaue her fruites, and the trees gaue their fruite.

9 The Elders sate in the open places, and consulted all together for the common wealth, and the young men were honourably clothed and armed.

10 He prouided victailes for the cities, and al kinde of munition, so that his glorious fame was renowned vnto the ende of the world.

11 Hee made peace throughout the lande, and Israel had perfect myrth and ioy.

12 For euery man sat vnder his vine, and the figge trees, and there was no man to fray them.

13 There was none in the land to fight against them: for then ỳ kings were ouercome.

14 He helped all those that were in aduersitie among his people: he was diligent to see the Law kept, and he tooke away the vngodly, and wicked.

15 He beautified the Sanctuarie, and encreased the vessels of the Temple.

16 When the Romans heard, and the Spartians had knowledge, that Jonathan was dead, they were very sory.

17 But when they heard that Simon his brother was made hie Priest in his stead, and how he had wonne the land againe with the cities in it.

18 They wrote vnto him in tables of brasse to renue the friendship, and bond of loue, which they had made with Judas and Jonathan his brethren.

19 Which writings were read before the congregation at Jerusalem, and this is the copy of the letters that the Spartians sent, 20 THE SENATORS and citie of Sparta vnto Simon the great Priest, and to the Elders, and to the Priests, and to the residue of the people of the Iewes their brethren send greeting.

21 When your ambassadours that were sent vnto our people, certified vs of our glory and honour, wee were glad of their comming, 22 And haue registred their ambassage in the publique records in this maner, NVMENIVS the sonne of Antiochus, and Antipater the sonne of Jason ỳ Iewes ambassadors came vnto vs, to renue amitie with vs.

23 And it pleased the people, that the men should be honourably intreated, that the copie of their ambassage should be registred in ỳ publike records, that it might be for a memoriall vnto the people of Sparta: and a copy of the same was sent to Simon the chiefe Priest.

24 After this Simon sent Numenius to Rome, with a great shield of golde of a thousand pound weight, to confirme the friendship with them.

25 Which when the people vnderstoode, they sayd, What thanks shall we recompense againe vnto Simon and his children:

26 For he and his brethren, and the house of his father haue established Israel, and ouercome their enemies, and haue confirmed the libertie thereof: therefore they wrote this in tables of brasse, and set it vpon pillars in mount Sion.

27 The copie of the writing is this, In the eyght and twentie day of the moneth

‖ Elul

August. ‖ Elul in the hundreth, seuentie and two yere in the third yeere of Simon the hie Priest.

Ierusalem. 28 In ‖ Saramel in the great congregation of the Priestes, and of the people, and of the gouernours of the nation, and of the Elders of the countrey, we woulde signifie vnto you, that many battels haue beene fought in our countrey.

29 Wherein Simon the sonne of Mattathias (come of the children of Jarib) and his brethren put themselues in danger, and resisted the enemies of their nation, that their Sanctuarie, and Law might bee mainteyned, and did their nation great honour.

30 For Jonathan gathered his nation together, and became their hie Priest, and is layd with his people.

31 After that would their enemies haue inuaded their countrey, and destroyed their land, and lay their hands on their Sanctuarie.

32 Then Simon resisted them, and fought for his nation, and spent much of his owne substance, and armed the valiant men of his nation, and gaue them wages.

33 He fortified also the cities of Judea, and Bethsura that lyeth vpon the borders of Judea, (where the ordinance of their enemies lay sometime) and set there a garison of the Iewes.

34 And he fortified Joppe, which lyeth vpon the sea, and Gazara that bordereth vpon Azotus, (where ẏ enemies dwelt afore) & there hee placed Iewes, and furnished them with things necessary for the reparation thereof.

35 Now when the people sawe the faithfulnesse of Simon, and to what glory hee thought to bring his nation vnto, they made him their gouernour, and the chiefe Priest, because hee had done all these things, and for the vprightnesse, and fidelitie that he had kept to his nation, and that by all meanes to exalt his people.

36 For in his time they prospered well by him, so that the heathen were taken out of their countrey, and they also which were in the citie of Dauid at Ierusalem, where they had made them a castell, out of the which they went, and defiled all things that were about the Sanctuarie, and did great hurt vnto religion.

37 And he set Iewes in it, and fortified it, for the assurance of the land, and citie, and rayled vp the walles of Ierusalem.

38 And king Demetrius confirmed him in his hie Priesthood for these causes, 39 And made him one of his friendes, and gaue him great honour.

40 For it was reported that the Romans called the Iewes their friendes, and confederates, and that they honourably receiued Simons Ambassadours,

41 And that the Iewes, and Priests consented that Simon should bee their prince, and hie Priest perpetually, till God raysed vp the true Prophet,

42 And that hee should bee their captaine and haue the charge of the Sanctuarie, and to set men ouer the workes, and ouer the countrey, and ouer the weapons, and ouer the fortresses, and that should make prouision for the holy things,

43 And that hee should be obeyed of euery man, and that all the writings in the countrey should be made in his name, and that hee should be clothed in purple, and weare golde, 44 And that it should not be lawfull for any of the people or Priestes to breake any of these things, or to withstand his wordes, or to call any congregation in the countrey without him, or bee clothed in purple, or weare a colar of gold.

45 And if any did contrary to these things, or brake any of them, he should be punished.

46 So it pleased all the people to agree that it shoulde bee done to Simon according vnto these wordes.

47 Simon also accepted it, and was content to bee the hie Priest, and the captaine, and the Prince of the Iewes, & of the priests, and to be the chiefe of all,

47 And they commaunded to set vp this writing in tables of braſſe, and to fasten it to the wall that compassed the Sanctuarie in an open place, 49 And that a copie of the same should bee laid vp in the treasurie, that Simon and his sonnes might haue it.

CHAP. XV.

1 Antiochus mileth a couenant of friendship with Simon. 11 Tryphon is pursued. 15 The Romanes write letters vnto kings and nations in the defence of the Iewes. 27 Antiochus refusing the helpe that Simon sent him, breaketh his couenant.

MOreouer king Antiochus the sonne of Demetrius sent letters from the yles of the sea vnto Simon the Priest, and prince of the Iewes, and to all the nation,

2 Conteining these wordes, ANTIOCHVS the king vnto Simon ẏ great Priest, & to the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting,

3 For so much as certaine pestilent men haue vsurped the kingdome of our fathers, I am purposed to chalenge the Realme againe, and to restore it to the olde estate: wherefore I haue gathered a great hoste, and prepared ships of warre,

4 That I may goe thorow the countrey, and bee auenged of them, which haue destroyed our countrey, and wasted many cities in the Realme.

5 Now therefore I do confirme vnto thee all the liberties, whereof all the kings my progenitours haue discharged thee, and al the payments, whereof they haue released thee.

6 And I giue thee leaue to coyne money of thine owne stampe with in thy countrey,

7 And that Ierusalem, and the Sanctuarie bee free, and that all the weapons, that thou hast prepared, and the fortresses, which thou hast builded, and keepest in thine handes, shall be thine.

8 And all that is due vnto the king, and all that shall bee due vnto the king, I forgiue it thee, from this time forth for euermore.

9 And when we haue obtayned our kingdome we will giue thee, and thy nation and the Temple great honor, so that your honor shalbe knowen throughout the world.

Ioseph. Antiq. 13. chap. 11.

10 ¶ In the hundreth, seuentie and foure yere, went Antiochus into his fathers lande, and all the bands came together vnto him, so that fewe were left with Tryphon.

11 So the king Antiochus pursued him, but he fled and came to Dora, which lyeth by the sea side.

12 For he saw that troubles were toward him, and that the armie had forsaken him.

13 Then camped Antiochus against Dora with an hundreth and twentie thousande fighting men, and eight thousand horsemen.

14 So hee compassed the citie about, and the ships came by the sea. Thus they pressed the city by land and by sea, insomuch that they suffered no man to goe in nor out.

15 In the meane season came Numenius, and his companie from Rome, hauing letters written vnto the kings and countreys, wherein were conteyned these words.

16 LVCIVS the Consull of Rome vnto king Ptolemeus sendeth greeting.

17 The Ambassadours of the Iewes are come vnto vs as our friendes, and confederates from Simon the hie Priest, and from the people of the Iewes to renew friendship, and the bond of loue, 18 Who haue brought a shielde of golde weying a thousand pound.

19 Wherefore wee thought it good to write vnto the kings and countreys, that they should not goe about to hurt them, nor to fight against them, nor the cities, nor their countrey, neyther to maintayne their enemies against them.

20 And wee were content to receiue of them the shield.

21 If therefore there bee any pestilent fellowes fledde from their countrey vnto you, deliuer them vnto Simon the hie priest, that hee may punish them according to their owne Lawe.

22 The same things are written to Demetrius the king, and to Attalus, and to Arathes, and to Arsaces, 23 And to all the countreys, as ‖ Sampsames, and to them of Sparta, and to Delus, and to Mindus, and to Sycion, and to Caria, and to Samos, and to Pamphylia, and to Lycia, and to Halicarnassus, and to Rhodus, and to Phaselis, and to Cos, and to Sidon, and to Cortina, and to Gnidon, and to Cyprus, and to Cyrene.

‖ Or, Samsen.

24 And they sent a copie of them to Simon the hie Priest.

25 ¶ So Antiochus the king camped against Dora the second time euer ready to take it, and made diuers engins of warre, and kept Tryphon in, that he coulde neither goe in nor out.

26 Then Simon sent him two thousande chosen men to helpe him with siluer and gold, and much furniture.

27 Neuertheless, hee would not receiue them, but brake all the couenant, which hee had made with him afore, and withdrewe himselfe from him,

28 And sent vnto him Athenobius one of his friendes to commune with him, saying, Ye withhold Ioppe, and Gazara with the castell that is at Ierusalem, the citie of my Realme, 29 Whose borders ye haue destroyed and done great hurt in the land, and haue the gouernement of many places of my kingdome.

30 Wherefore nowe deliuer the cities, which yee haue taken, with the tributes of the places, that ye haue rule ouer without the borders of Iudea, 31 Or els giue mee for them fiue hundreth talentes of siluer, and for the harme that yee haue done, and for the tributes of the places other fiue hundreth talents: if not, wee will come, and fight against you.

32 So Athenobius the kings friend came to Ierusalem, and when hee saw the honor of Simon, and the cupborde of golde and siluer plate, and so great preparation, hee was astonished, and told him the kings message.

33 Then answered Simon, and said vnto him, Wee haue neither taken other mens lands, nor withholden that which appertayneth to others: but our fathers heritage, which our enemies had vnrighteously in possession a certaine time.

34 But when wee had occasion, wee recouered the inheritance of our fathers.

35 And whereas thou ‖ requirest Ioppe and Gazara, they did great harme to our people, and thorow our countrey, yet will we giue an hundreth talents for them. But Athenobius answered him not one word,

‖ Or, complained concerning.

39 But turned againe angry vnto the king, and tolde him all these wordes, and the dignitie

dignitie of Simon, with all that he had seene: and the king was very angry.

37 ¶ In the meane time fledde Tryphon by ship vnto Dzthollas.

38 Then the king made Cendebeus captaine of the sea coast, and gaue him bandes of footemen and hozsemen, 39 And commaunded him to remoue the hoste toward Judea, and to build vp Cedzon, and to fortifie the gates, and to warre against the people: but the king pursued Tryphon.

40 So Cendebeus came vnto Jamnia, and began to vexe the people, and to inuade Judea, and to take the people prisoners and to slay them.

41 And hee built vp Cedzon, where he set hozsemen and garisons, that they might make outrodes by the wayes of Judea, as the king had commanded him.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Cendebeus the captaine of Antiochus hoste is put to flight by the sonnes of Simon. 11 Ptolomeus the sonne of Abubus killeth Simon and his two sonnes at a banket. 23 Iohn killeth them that lye in waite for his life.

Ioseph. Antiq. 13. cap. 11.

THen came Iohn vp from Gazara, and tolde Simon his father, what Cendebeus had done.

2 So Simon called two of his eldest sonnes, Judas and Iohn, and sayde vnto them, I, and my bzethzen, and my fathers house, haue euer from our youth vnto this day fought against the enemies of Israel, and the matters haue had good successe vnder our handes, and we haue deliuered Israel oftentimes.

3 But I am now olde, and yee by Gods mercie are of a sufficient age: be ye therefore in steade of me, and my bzother, and goe forth and fight for our nation, and the helpe of heauen be with you.

4 So he chose twentie thousand fighting men of the countrey with the hozsemen, which went forth against Cendebeus, and rested at Modin.

5 In the mozning they arose, and went into the plaine fielde: and beholde, a mightie great hoste came against them both of footemen, and hozsemen: but there was a riuer betwixt them.

6 And Iohn ranged his army ouer against him, and when hee saw that the people was afraide to goe ouer the riuer, hee went ouer first himselfe, and the men seeing him, passed through after him.

7 Then hee deuided his men, and set the hozsemen in the mids of the footemen.

8 For their enemies hozsemen were very many: but when they blewe the trumpets, Cendebeus fled with his hoste, whereof many were slaine, and the remnant gate them to the fortresse.

9 Then was Judas Iohns bzother wounded: but Iohn followed after them, till hee came to Cedzon, which Cendebeus had built.

10 Also they fledde vnto the towers, that were in the fieldes of Azotus, and those did Iohn burne with fire: thus were there slaine two thousande men of them: so hee returned peaceably into the land of Juda.

11 ¶ Now in the fielde of Jericho was Ptolemeus the sonne of Abubus made captaine, and he had abundance of siluer and gold.

12 (For he had maried the daughter of the hie Priest.)

13 Therefore hee waxed proude in his mind, and thought to rule the land, & thought to slay Simon and his sonnes by deceit.

14 Now as Simon went about thozowe the cities of the countrey, and studied carefully for them, hee came downe to Jericho with Mattathias, and Judas his sonnes in the hundzeth seuentie and seuen yeere in the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth Sabat.

15 Then the sonne of Abubus receiued them by treason into a little hold, called Dochus, which hee had built, where hee made them a great banket, and had hid men there.

16 So when Simon and his sonnes had made good cheere, Ptolomeus stood vp with his men, and tooke their weapons, and entred in to Simon in the banket house, and slew him with his two sonnes, and certaine of his seruants.

17 Whereby he committed a great vilenie, and recompensed euill for good,

18 Then wzote Ptolomeus these things and sent to the king, that hee might send him an host to helpe him, and so would deliuer him the countrey with the cities.

19 He sent other men also vnto Gazara, to take Iohn, and sent letters vnto the captaines to come to him, and hee woulde giue them siluer, and gold and rewards.

20 And to Jerusalem he sent other to take it, and the mountaine of the Temple.

21 But one ranne before, and tolde Iohn in Gazara, that his father, and his bzethzen were slaine, and that Ptolomeus had sent to slay him.

22 When hee heard this, he was sore astonished, and laid hands of them that were come to slay him, and slew them: for he knewe that they went about to kill him.

23 Concerning other things of Iohn, both of his warres, and of his noble actes (wherein he behaued him selfe manfully) of the building of walles which hee made, and other his deedes, 24 Behold, they are written in the Chzonicles of his Priesthood, from the time that he was made high Priest after his father.

THE SECOND BOOKE OF THE MACCABEES.

CHAP. I.

1 An Epistle of the Iewes that dwelt at Ierusalem, sent vnto them that dwelt in Egypt, wherin they exhort them to giue thanks for the death of Antiochus. 19 Of the fire that was hid in the pit. 24 The prayer of Neemias.

THe brethren the Iewes, which be at Ierusalem, & they that are in the countrey of Iudea, vnto the brethren the Iewes, that are throughout Egypt, send salutation, & prosperitie.

2 God be gracious vnto you and remember his couenant made with Abraham, and Isaac, and Iacob his faithfull seruants,

3 And giue you all an heart, to worshippe him, and to do his will with a whole heart and with a willing minde,

4 And open your hearts in his Lawe, and commandements, and send you peace,

5 And heare your prayers, and be reconciled with you, and neuer forsake you in time of trouble.

6 Thus now we pray here for you.

7 When Demetrius reigned, in the hundreth, threescore and ninth yeere, wee Iewes wrote vnto you in the trouble, and violence that came vnto vs in those yeres, after that Iason, and his company departed out of the holy land and kingdome,

8 And burnt the porch, and shed innocent blood. Then wee prayed vnto the Lorde, and were heard: wee offered sacrifices and fine flowre, and lighted the lampes, and set foorth the bread.

9 Now therefore keepe ye the dayes of the feast of the Tabernacles in ỹ moneth Casleu.

10 ¶ In the hundreth fourescore and eight yere, the people that was at Ierusalem, and in Iudea, and the counsell and Iudas, vnto Aristobulus king Ptolemeus master, which is of the stocke of the anointed priestes, and to the Iewes that are in Egypt, sendeth greeting and health.

11 Insomuch as God hath deliuered vs from great perils, wee thanke him highly, as though we had ouercome the king.

12 For hee brought them into Persia by heapes, that fought against the holy citie.

13 For albeit the captaine, and the armie that was with him, seemed inuincible, yet they were slaine in the Temple of Nanea, by the deceit of Naneas Priests.

14 For Antiochus, as though hee woulde dwell with her, came thither, hee, and his friends, with him, to receiue money vnder the title of a dowrie.

15 But when the Priestes of Nanea had laid it foorth, and hee was entred with a small company within the Temple, they shut the Temple, when Antiochus was come in,

16 And by opening a priuie doore of the vaute, they cast stones as it were thunder, vpon the captaine and his, and hauing bruised them in pieces, they cut off their heades and threwe them to those that were without.

17 God be blessed in all things, which hath deliuered vp the wicked.

18 Wherας we are now purposed to keepe the purification of the Temple vpon the fiue and twentie day of the moneth Casleu, wee thought it necessary to certifie you thereof, that ye also might keepe the feast of the Tabernacles, and of the fire which was giuen vs when Neemias offered sacrifice, after hee had built the Temple, and the altar.

19 For when as our fathers were led away vnto Persia, the priests, which sought the honor of God, tooke the * fire of the altar priuily, and hid it in an hollow pit, which was dry in the bottome, and therein they keept it, so that the place was vnknowen vnto euery man. *Leuit.6.13. and 10.1. and 16.12.

20 Now after many yeeres, when it pleased God that Neemias shoulde bee sent from the king of Persia, hee sent of the posteritie of those Priests, which had hid it to fetch the fire, and as they tolde vs, they found no fire, but thicke water.

21 Then commanded he them to drawe it vp, & to bring it: & when the things apperteining to the sacrifices were brought, Neemias commanded the Priestes to sprinkle the wood, and the things laid thereupon with water.

22 When this was done, and the time came that the sunne shone, which afore was hid in the cloud, there was a great fire kindled, so that euery man marueiled.

23 Now the Priests, and al prayed, while the sacrifice was consuming: Ionathan began, and the other answered thereunto.

24 And ỹ prayer of Neemias was after this maner, O Lord, Lord God maker of al things, which art fearefull and strong, and righteous, and mercifull, and the only and gracious king.

25 Onely liberall, onely iust and almighty and euerlasting, thou that deliuerest Israel from all trouble, and hast chosen the fathers, and sanctified them, 26 Receiue the sacrifice for the whole people of Israel, and preserue thine owne portion, and sanctifie it.

27 Gather those together, that are scattered from vs: deliuer them that serue among the the heathen: looke vpon them which are despised, and abhorred, that the heathen may know that thou art God.

28 Punish them that oppresse vs, and with pride doe vs wrong.

29 Plant thy people againe in thine holy *Deut.30.5. place * as Moyses hath spoken.

30 And ỹ priests sang Psalmes therunto.

31 Nowe when the sacrifice was consumed, Neemias commaunded the great stones to be sprinkled with the residue of the water.

32 Which when it was done, there was kindled a flame, which was consumed by the light that shined from the altar.

33 ¶ So when this matter was knowen, it was tolde the king of Persia, that in the place where the Priestes, which were ledde away, had hid fire, there appeared water, wherewith Neemias and his companie had purified the sacrifices.

34 The king tryed out the thing, and closed the place about, and made it holy.

35 And to them that the king fauoured, he gaue and bestowed many gifts.

36 And Neemias called the same place Ephthar, which is to say, purification: but ‖Or, Nephi. many men call it ‖ Nephthar.

CHAP. II.

4 How Ieremie hid the tabernacle, the Arke and the altar in the hill. 23 Of the fiue bookes of Iason contained in one.

IT is found also in the writings of Jeremias the Prophet, that he commaunded them, which were caried away, to take fire, as was declared, and as the Prophet commaunded them that were led into captiuitie.

*Baruch.6. 2 * Giuing them a lawe that they shoulde not forget the commaundements of the Lorde, and that they shoulde not erre in their mindes, when they sawe images of golde and siluer, with their ornaments.

3 These and such other things commaunded hee them, and exhorted them that they should not let the law goe out of their hearts.

4 It is written also, how the Prophet, by an oracle that hee had, charged them to take the tabernacle and the arke, and followe him: and when hee came vp into the mountaine
*Deut.34.1. where Moyses went vp, * and sawe the heritage of God,

5 Ieremias went foorth and founde an holowe caue, wherein hee layde the Tabernacle, and the Arke, and the altar of incense, and so stopped the doore.

6 And there came certaine of those that followed him, to marke the place: but they could not find it.

7 Which when Ieremias perceiued, hee reprooued them, saying, As for that place it shall bee vnknowen, vntill the time that God gather his people together againe, and that mercy be shewed.

8 Then shall the Lorde shewe them these things, & the maiesty of the Lord shall appeare and the cloude also, as it was shewed vnder Moyses, and as * when Salomon desired, *1.King.14.23, 30,2.chron.6.28 that the place might be honorably sanctified.

9 For it is manifest that hee, being a wise man, offered the * sacrifice of dedication, and *1.Kin.8.62,65. 2.chron.7.4,5. consecration of the Temple.

10 *And as when Moyses prayed vnto *Lewit.9.24. and 10.16. the Lorde, the fire came downe from heauen, and consumed the sacrifice: so, when Salomon prayed, *the fire came downe from hea- *2.Chron.7.1. uen, and consumed the burnt offering.

11 And Moyses sayde, Because the sinne offring was not eaten, therefore it is cõsumed.

12 So Salomon kept those eight dayes.

13 These things also are declared in the writings, & registers of ‖ Neemias, and how he ‖Some reade Ieremie. made a libarie, and how he gathered the acts of the kings, and of the Prophets, and the acts of Dauid, and the epistles of the kings concerning the holy gifts.

14 Euen so Judas also gathered all things that came to passe by the warres that were among vs, which things we haue.

15 Wherefore if yee haue neede thereof, send some to fetch them vnto you.

16 Wheras we then are about to celebrate the purification, wee haue written vnto you, and ye shal do well, if ye keepe the same dayes.

17 We hope also that the God, which deliuered all his people, and gaue an heritage to them all and the kingdome, and the Priesthoode and the Sanctuarie, 18 *As hee promised in the lawe, will *Deut.30.3. shortly haue mercy vpon vs, and gather vs together from vnder the heauen into this holy place: for hee hath saued vs from great perils, and hath cleansed the place.

19 As concerning Judas Maccabeus, and his brethren, the purification of the great Temple, and the dedication of the altar,

20 And the warres against Antiochus Epiphanes, and Eupator his sonne,

21 And the manifest signes that came from heauen vnto those, which manfully stoode for the Jewes religion: (for though they were but fewe, yet they ranne through whole countreys, and pursued the barbarous armies, 22 And repaired the Temple that was renowmed throughout al the world, and deliuered the citie, and established the Lawes, that were like to bee abolished, because the Lorde was mercifull vnto them with all lenitie)

23 Wee will assay to abbridge in one volume those things, that Jason the Cyrenian hath declared in fiue bookes.

24 For considering the wonderful number, and the difficulty that they haue that woulde be occupied in the rehearſall of ſtories, becauſe of the diuerſitie of the matters, 25 Wee haue endeuoured, that they that would reade, might haue pleaſure, and that they which are ſtudious, might eaſily keepe them in memory, and that whoſoeuer reade them, might haue profite.

26 Therfore to vs that haue taken in hand this great labour, it was no eaſie thing to make this abridgement, but required both ſweat, and watching.

27 Like as he that maketh a feaſt, and ſeeketh other mens commoditie, hath no ſmall labor: ſo we alſo for many mens ſakes are very well contented to vndertake this great labor.

28 Leauing to the authour the exact diligence of euery particular, wee will labour to goe forward according to the preſcript order of an abridgement.

29 For as he that will builde a new houſe, muſt prouide for the whole building, but hee that ſetteth out the plot or goeth about to paint it, ſeeketh out onely what is comely for the decking thereof:

30 Euen ſo I thinke for vs, that it appertaineth to the firſt writer of a ſtorie to enter deepely into it, and to make mention of all things, and to be curious in euery part.

31 But it is permitted to him that will ſhorten it, to vſe fewe wordes, and to auoyde thoſe things that are curious therein.

32 Here then will we begin the ſtory, adding this much to our former words, that it is but a fooliſh thing to abound in wordes before the ſtory, and to be ſhort in the ſtory.

CHAP. III.

1 Of the honour done vnto the Temple by the kings of the Gentiles. 6 Simon vttereth what treaſure is in the Temple. 7 Heliodorus is ſent to take them away. 26 He is ſtriken of God, and healed at the prayer of Onias.

WHat time as the holy citie was inhabited with all peace, and when the Lawes were very well kept, becauſe of the godlineſſe of Onias the hie Prieſt, and hatred of wickednеſſe,

2 It came to paſſe that euen the kings did honour the place, and garniſhed the Temple with great gifts,

3 In ſo much that Seleucus king of Aſia of his owne rents, bare all the coſts belonging to the ſeruice of the ſacrifices.

4 But one Simon of the tribe of Beniamin being appointed ruler of the Temple, contended with the hie Prieſt concerning ‖ the iniquitie committed in the citie.

‖ Or, the ſtate and prouiſion.

5 And when he could not ouercome Onias, hee gate him to Apollonius the ſonne of Thraſeas, which then was gouernour of Coeloſyria and Phenice,

6 And tolde him that the treaſurie in Jeruſalem was full of innumerable money, which did not belong to the prouiſion of the ſacrifices, and that it were poſſible that theſe things might come into the kings hands.

7 Now when Apollonius came to the king, and had ſhewed him of the money, as it was tolde him, the king choſe out Heliodorus his treaſurer, and ſent him with a commaundement, to bring the foreſayd money.

8 Immediatly Heliodorus tooke his iourney as though hee woulde viſite the cities of Coeloſyria and Phenice, but in effect to fulfill the kings purpoſe.

9 So when hee came to Jeruſalem, and was courteouſly receiued of the hie Prieſt into the citie, he declared what was determined concerning the money, and ſhewed the cauſe of his comming, and aſked if theſe things were ſo in deede,

10 Then the hie Prieſt tolde him that there were ſuch things layde vp by the widowes and fatherleſſe,

11 And that a certaine of it belonged vnto Hircanus the ſonne of Tobias a noble man, and not as that wicked Simon had reported, and that in all, there were but foure hundreth talents of ſiluer, and two hundreth of gold, 12 And that it were altogether vnpoſſible to doe this wrong to them that had committed it of truſt to the holineſſe of the place & Temple, which is honoured thorowe the whole world for holineſſe and integritie.

13 But Heliodorus becauſe of the kings commandement giuen him, ſayde that in any wiſe it muſt be brought into the kings treaſury.

14 So he appointed a day, and went in to take order for theſe things: then there was no ſmall griefe throughout the whole citie.

15 For the Prieſtes fell downe before the altar in the Prieſts garments, and called vnto heauen vpon him which had made a Lawe concerning things giuen to be kept, that they ſhould be ſafely preſerued for ſuch as had committed them to be kept.

16 Then they that looked the hie Prieſt in the face, were wounded in their heart: for his countenance, and the changing of his colour declared the ſorow of his mind.

17 The man was ſo wrapped in feare and trembling of the body, that it was manifeſt to them that looked vpon him, what ſorowe hee had in his heart.

18 Others alſo came out of their houſes by heapes vnto the common prayer, becauſe the place was like to come vnto contempt.

19 And the women, girt with ſackcloth vnder their breaſtes, filled the ſtreetes, and the virgins that were kept in, ranne ſome to the gates, and ſome to the walles, and other looked out at the windowes.

20 And

20 And all helde vp their handes towarde heauen, and made prayer.

21 It was a lamentable thing to see the multitude that fell downe of all sorts, and the expectation of the high Priest being in such anguish.

22 Therefore they called vpon the Almightie Lord, that he would keep safe and sure the things, which were layd vp for those that had deliuered them.

23 Neuertheless, the thing that Heliodorus was determined to doe, that did hee performe.

24 And as he and his souldiers were now there present by the treasurie, he ý is the Lord of the spirits, and of all power, shewed a great vision, so that all they which presumed to come with him, were astonished at the power of God, and fell into feare, and trembling.

25 For there appeared vnto them an horse with a terrible man sitting vpon him, most richly barbed, and he ran fiercely, and smote at Heliodorus with his fore feete, and it seemed that he that sate vpon his horse, had harnesse of golde.

26 Moreouer, there appeared two young men, notable in strength, excellent in beauty, and comely in apparrel, which stood by him on either side, and scourged him continually, and gaue him many sore stripes.

27 And Heliodorus fell suddenly vnto the ground, and was couered with great darknes: but they that were with him, tooke him vp, and put him in a litter.

28 Thus he that came with so great companie, and many souldiers into the sayd treasurie, was borne out: for he could not helpe himself with his weapons.

29 So they did knowe the power of God manifestly, but he was dumme by the power of God, and lay destitute of all hope and health.

30 And they praysed the Lord that had honoured his owne place: for the Temple which a little a fore was ful of feare and trouble, whē the Almightie Lord appeared, was filled with ioy and gladnesse.

31 Then straightwayes certaine of Heliodorus friends prayed Onias, that he would call vpon the most High to grant him his life, which lay ready to giue vp the ghost.

32 So the high Priest, considering that the King might suspect that the Iewes had done Heliodorus some euill, he offered a sacrifice for the health of the man.

33 Now when the high Priest had made his prayer, the same yong men in the same clothing appeared, and stood beside Heliodorus, saying, Giue Onias the high Priest great thanks: for, for his sake hath the Lord granted thee thy life.

34 And seeing that thou hast bene scourged from heauē, declare vnto al men the mightie power of God: and when they had spoken these words, they appeared no more.

35 So Heliodorus offered vnto the Lorde sacrifice, and made great vowes vnto him, which had graunted him his life, and thanked Onias, and went againe with his hoste to the King.

36 Then testified he vnto euery man of the great workes of God that he had seene with his eyes.

37 And when the King asked Heliodorus, who were meete to be sent yet once againe to Ierusalem, he said, 38 If thou hast any enemie or traitour, send him thither, and thou shalt receiue him well scourged, if he escape with his life: for in that place no doubt, there is a special power of God.

39 For hee that dwelleth in heauen, hath his eye on that place, and defendeth it, and he beateth and destroyeth them that come to hurt it.

40 This came to passe concerning Heliodorus, and the keeping of the treasurie.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Simon reporteth euill of Onias. 7 Iason obteineth the office of the hie Priest by corrupting the King, 27 And was by Menelaus defrauded by like bribing. 34 Onias is slaine traitorously by Andronicus.

THis Simon nowe, of whome wee spake afore, being a bewrayer of the money and of his owne naturall countrey, reported euill of Onias as though hee had moued Heliodorus vnto this, and had bene the inuenter of the euill,

2 Thus was hee bolde to call him a traitour that was so beneficiall to the citie, and a defender of his nation, and so zealous of the Lawes.

3 But when his malice increased so farre, that though one that belonged to Simon, murthers were committed,

4 Onias considering the danger of this contention, and that Apollonius, as he that was the gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice, did rage, and increased Simons malice,

5 He went to the king not as an accuser of the citizens, but as one that intended the common wealth both priuatly and publikely.

6 For he saw it was not possible except the king tooke order to quiet the matters, and that Simon would not leaue off his folly.

7 But after the death of Seleucus, when Antiochus called Epiphanes, tooke the kingdome, Iason the brother of Onias laboured by vnlawfull meanes to be high Priest.

8 For he came to the King, and promised him three hundreth and threescore talents of siluer, and of other rent, fourescore talents.

9 Besides

9 Besides this, hee promised him an hundreth and fiftie, if hee might haue licence to set vp a place for exercise, and a place for the youth, and that they would ‖ name them of Ierusalem Antiochians.

‖Or, that he woulde write the Antiochians that were in Ierusalem among them.

10 The which thing when the king had granted, and he had gotten the superiorite, he began immediatly to draw his kinsemen to the customes of the Gentiles,

11 And abolished the friendly priuiledges of the kings, that the Iewes had set by Ihon, the father of Eupolemus, which was sent ambassadour vnto Rome, to become friendes and confederates: he put downe their Lawes and policies, and brought vp new statutes, and contrary to the Law.

12 For he presumed to builde a place of exercise vnder the castle, and brought the chiefe yong men vnder his subiection, and made them weare ‖ hattes.

‖Or, buskins in token of wantonnesse as the Gentiles did.

13 So there began a great desire to follow the maners of the Gentiles, and they tooke vp the fashions of strange nations by the exceeding wickednesse of Iason, not the high Priest, but the vngodly person, 14 So that the Priestes were nowe no more diligent, aboue the seruice of the altar, but despised the Temple, and regarded not the sacrifices, but made haste to be partakers of the wicked expences at the play ‖ after the casting of a stone.

‖This game was to trie strength by casting a stone that had an hole in the middes, or a piece of metall.

15 For they did not set vp the honour of their fathers, but liked the glorie of the Gentiles best of all.

16 By reason whereof great calamitie came vpon them: for they had them to be their enemies and punishers, whose custom they followed so earnestly, and desired to bee like them in all things.

17 For it is not a light thing to transgresse against the Lawes of God, but the time following shall declare these things.

‖Or, Olympian sportes, which were games kept euery fift yere.

18 ¶ Now when the ‖ games that were vsed euery fiue yeere, were played at Tyrus, the king being present,

19 This wicked Iason sent from Ierusalem men to looke vpon them, as though they had bene Antiochians, which brought three hundreth drachmes of siluer for a sacrifice to Hercules: albeit they that caried them, desired they might not be bestowed on the sacrifice (because it was not comly) but to be bestowed for other expences.

20 So he that sent them, sent them for the sacrifice of Hercules: but because of those that brought them, they were giuen to the making of gallies.

21 ¶ Now Apollonius the sonne of Menestheus was sent into Egypt because of the coronation of King Ptolemeus Philometor: but when Antiochus perceiued that he was euill affectioned toward his affaires, hee sought his owne assurance, and departed from thence to Ioppe, and so came to Ierusalem, 22 Where he was honourably receiued of Iason, and of the city, and was brought in with torchelight, and with great shoutings, and so he went with his hoste vnto Phenice.

23 Three yere afterward Iason sent Menelaus, the aforesaid Simons brother, to beare the money vnto the king, and to bring to passe certaine necessarie affaires, whereof he had giuen him a memoriall.

24 But he, being commended to the king, magnified him for the appearance of his power, and turned the Priesthood vnto himselfe for he gaue three hundreth talents of siluer, more then Iason.

25 So he gate the kings ‖ letters patents, albeit he had nothing in himselfe worthie of the hie Priesthood, but bare the stomacke of a cruel tyrant, and the wrath of a wilde beast.

‖Or, commandement.

26 Then Iason, which had deceiued his owne brother, being deceiued by another, was compelled to flee into the countrey of the Ammonites.

27 So Menelaus gate the dominion: but as for the money that he had promised vnto the king, he tooke none order for it, albeit Sostratus the ruler of the castle required it.

28 For vnto him appertained the gathering of the customes: wherfore they were both called before the king.

29 Now Menelaus left his brother Lysimachus in his steade in the Priesthood, and Sostratus left Crates which was gouernour of the Cyprians.

30 ¶ While these things were in doing, the Tharsians and they of Mallot made insurrection, because they were giuen to the Kings concubine called Antiochis.

31 Then came the king in all haste, to appease the businesse, leauing Andronicus a man of authoritie to be his lieutenant.

32 Now Menelaus, supposing that he had gotten a conuenient time, stole certaine vessels of gold out of the Temple, and gaue certaine of them to Andronicus: and some he sold at Tyrus and in the cities thereby.

33 Which when Onias knew of a surety, he reproued him, and withdrew himselfe into a Sanctuarie at Daphne by Antiochia.

34 Wherefore Menelaus, taking Andronicus apart, prayed him to slay Onias: so when he came to Onias, he counselled him craftily, giuing him his right hand with an othe: (howbeit he suspect him, and perswaded him to come out of the Sanctuarie) so he slew him incontinently without any regard of righteousnesse.

35 For

35 For the which cause not only ỹ Iewes, but many other nations also were grieued, and tooke it heauily for the vnrighteous death of this man, 36 ¶ And when the king was come againe from the places about Cilicia, the Iewes that were in the citie, and certaine of the Greekes that abhorred the fact also, complained because Onias was slaine without cause.

37 Therefore Antiochus was sorie in his minde, & he had compassion, and wept because of the modestie and great discretion of him that was dead.

38 Wherefore being kindled with anger, he tooke away Andronicus garment of purple, and rent his clothes, and commanded him to be led throughout the citie, and in the same place where he had committed the wickednes against Onias, hee was slaine as a murtherer. Thus the Lord rewarded him his punishment, as he had deserued.

39 ¶ Now when Lysimachus had done many wicked deedes in the citie through the counsell of Menelaus, and the bruite was spred abroad the multitude gathered them together against Lysimachus: for he had caried out now much vessell of gold.

40 And when the people arose, and were full of anger, Lysimachus armed about three thousand, and began to vse vnlawfull power, a certaine tyrant beeing their captaine, who was no lesse decayed in wit, then in age.

41 But when they vnderstood the purpose of Lysimachus, some gate stones, some great clubs, and some cast handfuls of dust, which lay by, vpon Lysimachus men, and those that inuaded them.

42 Whereby many of them were wounded, some were slaine, and all the other chased away: but the wicked Churchrobber himselfe they killed beside the treasurie.

43 For these causes, an accusation was laid against Menelaus.

44 And when the King came to Tyrus, three men sent from the Senate pleaded the cause before him.

45 But Menelaus, being nowe conuinced, promised to Ptolemeus the sonne of Dorimenes much money, if he would perswade the king.

46 So Ptolemeus went to the king into a court, where as hee was to coole himselfe, and turned the kings minde, 47 In so much that he discharged Menelaus from the accusations (notwithstanding hee was the cause of all mischiefe) and condemned those poore men to death, which if they had tolde their cause, yea, before the Scythians, they should haue bene heard as innocent.

48 Thus were they soone punished vniustly, which followed vpon the matter for the citie, and for the people, and for the holy vessels, 49 Wherefore they of Tyrus hated that wickednesse, and ministred all things liberally for their buriall.

50 And so through the couetousnes of them that were in power, Menelaus remained in authoritie, encreasing in malice, and declared himselfe a great traitour to the citizens.

CHAP. V.

1 Of the signes and tokens seene in Ierusalem. 6 Of the ende and wickednesse of Iason. 11 The pursute of Antiochus against the Iewes. 15 The spoyling of the Temple. 27 Maccabeus fleeth into the wildernesse.

ABout the same time, Antiochus vndertooke his voyage into Egypt.

2 And then were there seene throughout all the citie of Ierusalem, fourtie daies long, horsemen running in the aire, with robes of golde, and as bands of speare men,

3 And as troupes of horsemen set in aray, incountring and coursing one against another with shaking of shieldes & multitude of darts, and drawing of swords, & shooting of arrowes, and the glittering of the golden armour seene, and harnesse of all sorts.

4 Therefore euery man prayed that those tokens might turne to good.

5 Now when there was gone forth a false rumour, as though Antiochus had beene dead, Iason tooke at the least a thousand men, and came suddenly vpon the citie, & they that were vpon the walles being put backe, and the citie at length taken,

6 Menelaus fled into the castle, but Iason slewe his owne citizens without mercy, not considering, that to haue the aduantage against his kinsemen is greatest disaduantage, but thought that he had gotten the victorie of his enemies, and not of his owne nation.

7 Yet he gat not the superioritie, but at last receiued shame for his reward of the treason, and went againe like a vagabond into ỹ countrey of the Ammonites.

8 Finally he had this end of his wicked conuersation, that he was ‖ accused before Areta the king of the Arabians, and fled from citie to citie being pursued of euery man, and hated as a forsaker of the Lawes, and was in abomination as an enemy of his countrey and citizens, and was driuen into Egypt. ‖ Or, shut vp.

9 Thus hee that had chased many out of their owne countrey, perished as a banished man, after that he was gone to the Lacedemonians, thinking there to haue gotten succour by reason of kinred.

10 And hee that had cast many out vnburied, was throwen out himselfe, no man mourning for him, nor putting him in his graue:

neither

neither was hee partaker of his fathers ſepulchre.

11 ¶ Nowe when theſe things that were done, were declared to the king, hee thought that Iudea would haue fallen from him: wherfore hee came with a furious minde out of Egypt, and tooke the citie by violence.

12 He cõmanded his men of war alſo, that they ſhould kil, and not ſpare ſuch as they met, and to ſlay ſuch as went into their houſes.

13 Thus was there a ſlaughter of yong men, and old men, and a deſtruction of men and women and children, and virgins, and infants were murthered:

14 So that within three dayes were ſlaine fourefcore thouſand, and fourtie thouſande taken priſoners, and there were as many ſold as were ſlaine.

15 Yet was he not content with this, but durſt goe into the moſt holy Temple of all the world, hauing Menelaus that traitour to the Lawes, and to his countrey, to be his guide,

16 And with his wicked handes tooke the holy veſſels, which other kings had giuen for the garniſhing, glory and honour of that place, and handled them with his wicked hands.

17 So hautie in his minde as Antiochus, that he conſidered not, that God was not a litle wroth for the ſinnes of them that dwelt in the citie, for the which ſuch contempt came vpon that place.

18 For if they had not beene wrapped in many ſinnes, he, alſoone as hee had come, had ſuddenly bene puniſhed, & put backe from his preſumption, as Heliodorus was, whome Seleucus the king ſent to viewe the treaſurie.

19 But God hath not choſen the nation for the places ſake, but the place for the nations ſake.

20 And therefore is the place become partaker of the peoples trouble, but afterwarde ſhall it bee partaker of the benefites of the Lord, and as it is now forſaken in the wrath of the Almightie, ſo when the great Lorde ſhall be reconciled, it ſhall be ſet vp in great worſhip againe.

21 ¶ So when Antiochus had taken eighteene hundred talents out of the Temple hee gate him to Antiochia in all haſte thinking in his pride to make men ſaile vpon the drie lande, and to walke vpon the ſea: ſuch an hie minde had he.

22 But he left deputies to vexe the people: at Ieruſalem Philip a Phrygian by birth, in maners more cruell then he that ſet him there:

23 And at Garizin Andronicus, and with them Menelaus, which was more grieuous to the citizens then the other, and was deſpitefull againſt the Iewes his citizens.

24 He ſent alſo Apollonius a cruell prince, with an armie of two and twentie thouſand, whome he commanded to ſlay thoſe that were toward mans age, and to ſell the women, and the yonger ſort, 25 So when hee came to Ieruſalem, hee fained peace, and kept him ſtill vntill the holy day of Sabbath: and then finding the Iewes keeping the feaſt, he commaunded his men to take their weapons.

26 And ſo he ſlew all them that were gone forth to the ſhew, and running through the citie with his men armed, hee muthered a great number.

27 But Iudas Maccabeus beeing as it were the tenth, fled into wilderneſſe, and liued there in the mountaines with his companie among the beaſtes, dwelling there, and eating graſſe, leſt they ſhould be partakers of ỹ filthineſſe.

CHAP. VI.

1 The Iewes are compelled to leaue the Lawes of God. 4 The Temple is defiled. 10 The women cruelly puniſhed. 28 The grieuous paine of Eleazarus.

NOt long after this, ſent the king an olde man of ‖Athens, to compell the Iewes, to transgreſſe the Lawes of the fathers, and not to be gouerned by the Law of God, ‖Or, Antiochia.

2 And to defile the Temple that was at Ieruſalem, and to call it the Temple of Iupiter Olympius, & that of Garizin, according as they did that dwelt at that place, Iupiter, that keepeth hoſpitalitie.

3 This wicked gouernment was ſore and grieuous vnto the people.

4 For the Temple was full of diſſolution, and gluttonie of the Gentiles, which dallied with harlots, and had to doe with women within the circuite of the holy places, and brought in ſuch things as were not lawfull.

5 The altar alſo was full of ſuch things, as were abominable and forbidde by the Law.

6 Neither was it lawfull to keepe the Sabbaths, nor to obſerue their ancient feaſts, nor plainely to confeſſe himſelfe to be a Iewe.

7 In the day of the Kings birth they were greiuouſly compelled perforce euery moneth to banket, and when the feaſt of Bacchus was kept, they were conſtrained to goe in the procеſſion of Bacchus with garlands of yuie.

8 Moreouer through the counſell of Ptolomeus, there went out a commandement vnto the next cities of the heathen againſt the Iewes, that the like cuſtom, and ‖ banquetting ‖Or, eating of the fleſh that was ſacrificed. ſhould be kept.

9 And who ſo woulde not conforme themſelues to the maners of the Gentiles ſhould be put death: then might a man haue ſeene the preſent miſerie.

10 For

10 For there were two women brought forth, that had circumcised their sonnes, whom when they had led round about the citie (the babes hanging at their breasts) they cast them downe headlong ouer the walles.

11 Some that were runne together into dennes to keepe the Sabbath day secretly, were discouered vnto Philip, and were burnt together, because that for the reuerence of the honourable day they were afraid to help themselues.

12 ¶ Now I beseech those which read this booke, that they bee not discouraged for these calamities, but ý they iudge these afflictions, not to be for destruction, but for a chastening of our nation.

13 For it is a token of his great goodnesse not to suffer sinners long to continue, but straight wayes to punish them.

14 For the Lord doeth not long waite for vs, as for other nations, whome hee punisheth when they are come to the fulnesse of their sinnes:

15 But thus he dealeth with vs, that our sinnes should not bee heaped vp to the full, so that afterward he should punish vs.

16 And therefore hee neuer withdraweth his mercie from vs: and though hee punish with aduersitie, yet doeth hee neuer forsake his people.

17 But let this bee spoken now for a warning vnto vs: and now wil we come to the declaring of the matter in fewe words.

18 ¶ Eleazar then one of the principall scribes, an aged man, and of a well fauoured countenance, was constrained to open his mouth, and to eate swines flesh.

19 But he desiring rather to die gloriously them to liue with hatred, offered himselfe willingly to the torment, and spit it out:

20 As they ought to goe to death which suffer punishment for such things, as it is not lawfull to taste of for the delire to liue.

21 But they that had the charge of this wicked banket, for that olde friendship of the man, tooke him aside priuily, and prayed him, that he would take such flesh, as was lawfull for him to vse, and as he would prepare for himselfe, and dissemble as though hee had eaten of the things appointed by the king, euen the flesh of the sacrifice,

22 That in so doing he might be deliuered from death, and that for the olde friendship that was among them, hee would receiue this fauour.

23 But hee began to consider discreetly, and as became his age, and the excellencie of his ancient yeeres, and the honour of his gray haires, whereunto hee was come, and his most honest conuersation from his childhoode, but chiefly the holy Lawe made and giuen by God: therefore hee answered consequently, and willed them straightwayes to send him to the graue.

24 For it becommeth not our age, sayd he, to dissemble, whereby many young persons might thinke, that Eleazar being fourescore yeere olde and ten were now gone to ‖ another religion,

‖ Or, to another maner of life.

25 And so through mine hypocrisie (for a little time of a transitorie life) they might bee deceiued by mee, and I should procure malediction, and reproch to mine olde age.

26 For though I were now deliuered from the torments of men, yet coulde I not escape the hande of the Almightie, neither aliue nor dead.

27 Wherefore I will now change this life manfully, and will shew my selfe such as mine age requireth.

28 And so will leaue a notable example for such as be yong, to die willingly and courageously for the honourable and holy Lawes. And when he had sayd these words, immediatly he went to torment.

29 Now they that led him changed the loue which they bare him before, into hatred, because of the words that he had spoken: for they thought it had bene a rage.

30 And as hee was ready to giue vp the ghost because of the strokes, he sighed and said, The Lorde that hath the holy knowledge, knoweth manifestly, that whereas I might haue bene deliuered from death, I am scourged and suffer these sore paynes of my bodie: but in my minde I suffer them gladly for his religion.

31 Euen nowe after this maner ended he his life, leauing his death for an example of a noble courage, and a memoriall of vertue, not onely vnto yong men, but vnto all his nation.

CHAP. VII.

The punishment of the seuen brethren and of their mother.

IT came to passe also, that seuen brethen, with their mother, were taken to bee compelled by the King against the Lawe, to taste swines flesh, and were tormented with scourges and whippes.

2 But one of them, which spake first, sayde thus, What seekest thou: and what wouldest thou know of vs: wee are ready to die, rather then to transgresse the Lawes of our fathers.

3 Then was the King angry, & commanded to heate pannes and caldrons, which were incontinently made hote.

4 And he cõmanded the tongue of him that spake first, to be cut out, and to slay him, and to cut off the vtmost partes of his body in the sight of his other brethren and mother.

5 Nowe when hee was thus mangled in all all his members, he commaunded him to bee brought aliue to the fire, and to fry him in the panne: and while the smoke for a long time smoked out of the panne, the other brethren with their mother, exhorted one another to die courageously, saying in this maner,

6 The Lorde God doth regard vs, and in Deut. 32. 36. deede taketh pleasure in vs, as Moyses * declared in the song wherein he testifieth openly, saying, That God will take pleasure in his seruants.

7 ¶ So when the first was dead after this maner, they brought the second to make him a mocking stocke: and when they had pulled the kinne with the haire ouer his head, they asked him, if he would eate, or he were punished in all the members of the body.

8 But he answered in his owne language, and sayde, No. Therefore hee was tormented forthwith like the first.

9 And when he was at the last breath, he sayd, Thou murtherer takest this present life from vs, but the king of the world will raise vs vp, which die for his lawes, in the resurrection of euerlasting life.

10 ¶ After him was the third had in derision, and when they demanded his tongue, he put it out incontinently, and stretched forth his hands boldly,

11 And spake manfully, These haue I had from the heauen, but now for the Law of God I despise them, and trust that I shall receiue them of him againe.

12 Insomuch that the king and they which were with him, marueiled at the yong mans courage, as at one that nothing regarded the paines.

13 ¶ Now when he was dead also, they vexed and tormented the fourth in like maner.

15 And when he was now readie to die, he sayde thus, It is better that we should change this which we might hope for of men, & waite for our hope from God, that we may be rayled vp againe by him: as for thee, thou shalt haue no resurrection to life.

15 ¶ Afterward they brought the fifth also and tormented him,

16 Who looked vpon the king, and sayde, Thou hast power among men, and though thou be a mortall man, thou doest what thou wilt: but thinke not, that God hath forsaken our nation.

17 But abide a while, and thou shalt see his great power, howe he will torment thee and thy seede.

18 After him also they brought the first, who being at the poynt of death, sayd, Deceiue not thy selfe foolishly: for we suffer these things, which are woorthy to bee wondred at for our sakes, because we haue offended our God, 19 But thinke not thou, which vndertakest to fight against God, that thou shalt be vnpunished.

20 But the mother was marueilous aboue all other, and woorthy of honourable memorie: for when she saw her seuen sonnes slaine within the space of one day, she suffered it with a good will, because of the hope that shee had in the Lord.

21 Yea, shee exhorted euery one of them in her owne language, and beeing full of courage and wisedome, stirred vp her womanly affections with a manly stomacke, and said vnto them,

22 I cannot tell howe yee came into my wombe: for I neither gaue you breath nor life: it is not I that set in order the members of your body,

23 But doubtles the Creator of the world, which formed the birth of man, and found out the beginning of all things, will also of his owne mercy giue you breath and life againe, as ye nowee regard not your owne selues, for his Lawes sake.

24 Now Antiochus thinking himselfe despised, and considering the iniurious wordes, while the yongest was yet aliue, hee did exhort him not onely with words, but swore also vnto him by an othe that hee would make him riche and wealthy, if he would forsake the Lawes of his fathers, and that hee would take him as a friend, and giue him offices.

25 But when the yong man would in no case hearken vnto him, the king called his mother, and exhorted that she would counsell the yong man to saue his life.

26 And when hee had exhorted her with many wordes, she promised him that she would counsell her sonne.

27 So she turned her vnto him, laughing the cruell tyrant to scorne, and spake in her owne language, O my sonne, haue pitie vpon me, that bare thee nine moneths in my wombe, and gaue thee sucke three yeres, and nourished thee, and tooke care for thee vnto this age, and brought thee vp.

28 I beseech thee my sonne, looke vpon the heauen and the earth, and all that is therein and consider that God made them of things that were not, and so was mankinde made likewise.

29 Feare not this hangman, but shew thy selfe woorthy such brethren by suffering death, that I may receiue thee in mercy with thy brethren.

30 While shee was yet speaking these words, the yong man saide, Whom waite ye for? I will not obey the kings cõmandement: but I will obey the commandement of ỹ Law that was giuen vnto our fathers by Moyses.

31 And

31 And thou that imagineſt all miſchiefe againſt the Hebrewes, ſhalt not eſcape the hand of God.

32 For wee ſuffer theſe things, becauſe of our ſinnes,

33 But though the liuing Lord bee angry with vs a little while for our chaſtening and correction, yet will hee be reconciled with his owne ſeruants.

34 But thou, O man without religion and moſt wicked of all men, lift not thy ſelfe vp in vaine, which art puffed vp with vncertaine hope, and liftеſt thine handes againſt the ſeruants of God.

35 For thou haſt not eſcaped ye iudgement of Almightie God, which ſeeth all things.

36 My brethren that haue ſuffered a little paine, are nowe vnder the diuine couenant of euerlaſting life: but thou through the iudgement of God, ſhalt ſuffer iuſt punihments for thy pride.

37 Therefore I, as my brethren haue done, offer my body and life for the Lawes of our fathers, beſeeching God that he will ſoone be mercifull vnto our nation, and that thou by torment and punihment mayeſt confeſſe, that he is the onely God, 38 And that in mee and my brethren the wrath of the Almightie, which is righteouſly fallen vpon our nation may ceaſe.

39 Then the king being kindled with anger, raged more cruelly againſt him then the others, and tooke it grieuouſly, that hee was mocked.

40 So hee alſo dyed holily, and put his whole truſt in the Lord.

41 Laſt of all after the ſonnes, was the mother put to death.

42 Let this nowe be ynough ſpoken concerning the bankets, and extreme cruelties.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Iudas gathereth together his hoſte. 9 Necanor is ſent againſt Iudas. 16 Iudas exhorteth his ſouldiers to conſtancie. 20 Nicanor is ouercome. 27 The Iewes giue thanks, after they haue put their enemies to flight, deuiding part of the ſpoyles vnto the fatherleſſe and vnto the widowes. 30 Timotheus and Bacchides are diſcomfited. 35 Nicanor flyeth vnto Antiochus.

THen Iudas Maccabeus, and they that were with him, went priuily into the townes, and called their kinſfolks and friends together, and tooke vnto them all ſuch as continued in the Iewes religion, and aſſembled fiue thouſand men.

2 So they called vpon the Lorde, that hee would haue an eye vnto his people, which was vexed of euery man, and haue pitie vpon the Temple that was defiled by wicked men,

3 And that hee would haue compaſſion vpon the citie that was deſtroyed, and almoſt brought to the ground, & that he would heare the voyce of the blood that cried vnto him,

4 And that hee would remember the wicked ſlaughter of the innocent children, and the blaſphemies committed againſt his name, and that he would ſhewe his hatred againſt the wicked.

5 Nowe when Maccabeus had gathered this multitude, hee could not be withſtoode by the heathen for the wrath of the Lord was turned into mercie.

6 Therefore hee came at vnwares, and burnt vp the townes and cities: yet hee tooke the moſt commodious places, and ſlewe many of the enemies.

7 But ſpecially hee vſed the nights to make ſuch aſſaults, in ſo much that the bruite of his manlineſſe was ſpread euery where.

8 ¶ So when Philip ſawe that this man increaſed by litle & litle, & that things proſpered with him for the moſt part, hee wrote vnto Ptoleme the gouernour of Coeloſyria and Phenice, to helpe him in the kings buſineſſe.

9 Then ſent hee ſpeedily Nicanor the ſonne of Patrocles, a ſpeciall friend of his, and gaue him of all nations of the heathen no leſſe then twentie thouſand men, to roote out the whole generation of the Iewes, and ioyned with him Gorgias a captaine, which in matters of warre had great experience.

10 Nicanor ordeyned alſo a tribute for the king of two thouſand talents, which the Romanes ſhould haue, to be taken of the Iewes that were taken priſoners.

11 Therefore immediatly hee ſent to the cities on the ſea coaſt, prouoking them to buy Iewes to be their ſeruants, promiſing to ſell foure ſcore and ten for one talent: but he conſidered not the vengeance of Almighty God, that ſhould come vpon him.

12 When Iudas then knew of Nicanors comming, he tolde them that were with him, of the comming of the armie.

13 Now were there ſome of them fearefull, which truſted not vnto the righteouſneſſe of God, but fled away, & abode not in that place.

14 But the other ſolde all that they had left, and beſought the Lorde together, to deliuer them from that wicked Nicanor, which had ſold them, or euer he came neere them.

15 And though hee woulde not doe it for their ſakes, yet for the couenant made with their fathers, and becauſe they called vpon his holy and glorious Name.

16 And ſo Maccabeus called his men together, about fiue thouſande, exhorting them not to bee afraide of their enemies, neither to feare the great multitude of the Gentiles, which came againſt them vnrighteouſly, but to fight manly,

17 Setting before their eyes the iniurie that they had vniuſtly done to the holy place, and the crueltie done to the citie by deriſion, and the deſtruction of the ordors eſtabliſhed by their fathers, 18 For they, ſayde hee, truſt in their weapons and boldeneſſe: but our confidence is in the Almighty God, which at a becke can both deſtroy them that come againſt vs, and all the world.

19 Moreouer hee admoniſhed them of the helpe that God ſhewed vnto their fathers, as when there periſhed an hundreth & foureſcore and fiue thouſand vnder * Sennacherib,

*2.King.19.35. iſa.37.36. tob.1.18. eccluſ.48.22. 1.macc.7.41.

20 And of the battell that they had in Babylon againſt the Galatiens, howe they came in all to the battell eight thouſande, with foure thouſande Macedonians: and when the Macedonians were aſtoniſhed, the eight thouſand ſlew an hundreth & twentie thouſand through the helpe that was giuen them from heauen, whereby they had receiued many benefites.

21 Thus when hee had made them bolde with theſe wordes, and readie to die for the Lawes and the countrey, hee deuided his army into foure partes, 22 And made his owne brethren captaines ouer the armie, to wit, Simon, and Joſeph and Jonathan, giuing ech one fifteene hundreth men.

‖Or, Eleas.

23 And when ‖ Eleazarus had read the holy booke, & giuen them a token of the helpe of God, Iudas which led the foreward, ioyned with Nicanor,

24 And becauſe the Almightie helped them, they ſlew aboue nine thouſand men, and wounded and maymed the moſt part of Nicanors hoſte, and ſo put all to flight,

25 And tooke the money from thoſe that came to buy them, and purſued them farre: but lacking time they returned.

26 For it was the day before the Sabbath, & therfore they would no longer purſue them.

27 So they tooke their weapons, & ſpoyled the enemies, and kept the Sabbath, giuing thankes and praying the Lorde wonderfully, which had deliuered them that day, & powred vpon them the beginning of his mercie.

*Num.31.27. 1.ſam.2.14.

28 And after the Sabbath, * they diſtributed the ſpoyles to the ſicke, and to the fatherleſſe, and to the widowes, and diuided the reſidue among themſelues and their children.

29 When this was done, and they all had made a generall prayer, they beſought the mercifull Lord to be reconciled at the length with his ſeruants.

30 Afterward with one conſent they fell vpon Timotheus and Bacchides, and ſlewe aboue twentie thouſande, and wanne hie and ſtrong holdes, and diuided great ſpoyles, and gaue an equall portion vnto the ſicke, and to the fatherleſſe, and to the widowes, and to aged perſons alſo.

31 Moreouer they gathered their weapons together, and layd them vp diligently in conuenient places, and brought the remnant of the ſpoyles to Jeruſalem.

32 They ſlewe alſo Philarches a moſt wicked perſon, which was with Timotheus, and had vexed the Jewes many wayes.

33 And when they kept the feaſt of victorie in their countrey, they burnt Caliſtenes that had ſet fire vpon the holy gates, which was fled into a litle houſe: ſo hee receiued a reward meete for his wickednesſe.

34 And that moſt wicked Nicanor, which had brought a thouſand merchants to buy the Jewes, 35 He was through the helpe of the Lorde brought downe of them whome he thought as nothing, in ſo much that hee put off his glorious rayment, and fledde ouerthwart the countrey like a fugitiue ſeruant, and came alone to Antiochia, with great diſhonour through the deſtruction of his hoſte.

36 Thus hee that promiſed to pay tribute to the Romanes, by meanes of the priſoners of Jeruſalem, brought newes, that the Jewes had a ‖ defender, and for this cauſe none coulde hurt the Jewes, becauſe they followed the Lawes appoynted by him.

‖Or, God their defender.

CHAP. IX.

1 Antiochus willing to ſpoyle Perſepolis, is put to flight. 5 As he perſecuteth the Iewes, he is ſtricken of the Lord. 13 The fained repẽtãce of Antiochus. 28 He dieth miſerably.

AT the ſame time, came Antiochus againe with diſhonour out of the countrey of Perſia.

2 For when he came to Perſepolis, & went about to robbe the Temple, and to ſubdue the citie, the people ran in a rage to defende themſelues with their weapons, and put them to flight, and Antiochus was put to flight by the inhabitants, and returned with ſhame.

3 Now when he came to Ecbatane, he vnderſtoode the things that had come to Nicanor, and Timotheus.

4 And then being chafed in his fume, hee thought to impute to the Jewes their fault, which had put him to flight, and therefore commaunded his charet-man to driue continually, and to diſpatch the iourney: for Gods iudgement cõpelled him: for he had ſaid thus in his pride, I wil make Jeruſalem a common burying place of the Jewes, when I come thither,

5 But the Lord Almighty and God of Iſrael ſmote him with an incurable and inuiſible plague: for aſſoone as he had ſpoken theſe words, a paine of the bowels, that was remedileſſe, came vpon him, and ſore tormentes of the inner parts,

6 And

6 And that moſt iuſtly: for hee had tormented other mens bowels with diuers and ſtrange torments.

7 Howbeit he would in no wiſe ceaſe from his arrogancie, but ſwelled the more with pride, breathing out fire in his rage againſt the Iewes, and commaunded to haſte the iourney: but it came to paſſe that hee fell downe from the charet that ranne ſwiftly, ſo that all the members of his body were bruiſed with the great fall.

8 And thus hee that a litle afore thought hee might commaund the floods of the ſea (ſo proude was he beyond the condition of man) and to weigh the high mountaines in the balance, was now caſt on the ground, and caried in on horſelitter, declaring vnto all the manifeſt power of God.

*Acts 12, 23. 9 *So that the wormes came out of the bodie of this wicked man in abundance: and whiles hee was aliue, his fleſh fell off for paine and torment, and all his armie was grieued at Or, rottenneſſe. his ‖ ſmell.

10 Thus no man coulde beare becauſe of his ſtinke, him that a little afore thought hee might reach the ſtarres of heauen.

11 Then hee began to leaue of his great pride, and ſelfe will, when he was plagued and came to the knowledge of himſelfe by the ſcourge of God, and by his paine which increaſed euery moment.

12 And when he himſelfe might not abide his owne ſtinke, hee ſayde theſe wordes, It is meete to bee ſubiect vnto God, and that a man which is mortall, ſhoulde not thinke himſelfe equall vnto God through pride.

13 This wicked perſon prayed alſo vnto the Lord, who would now haue no mercy on him, 14 And ſayde thus that hee woulde ſet at libertie the holy citie vnto the whith hee made haſte to deſtroy it, and to make it a burying place.

15 And as touching the Iewes (whome hee had iudged not worthie to be buried, but would haue caſt them out with their children to be deuoured of the foules and wilde beaſts) hee would make them all like the citizens of Athens.

16 And whereas hee had ſpoyled the holy Temple afore, hee woulde garniſh it with great giftes, and increaſe the holy veſſels, and of his owne rentes beare the charges belonging to the ſacrifices.

17 Yea, and that hee would alſo become a Iewe himſelfe, & go thorow all the world that was inhabited, and preach the power of God.

18 But for all this, his paines would not ceaſe: for the iuſt iudgement of God was come vpon him: therefore deſpairing of his health, hee wrote vnto the Iewes this letter vnder written, conteyning the forme of a ſupplication.

19 ¶ The King and Prince Antiochus vnto the Iewes his louing citizens wiſheth much ioy and health and proſperitie.

20 If ye and your children fare wel, and if all things goe after your minde, I giue great thanks vnto God hauing hope in the heauen.

21 Though I lie ſicke, yet I am mindefull of your honour, and good will for the loue I beare you: therefore when I returned from the countrey of Perſia, and fell into a ſore diſeaſe, I thought it neceſſarie to care for the common ſafetie of all,

22 Not diſtruſting mine health, but hauing great hope to eſcape this ſickeneſſe.

23 Therefore conſidering that when my father led an hoſte againſt the hie countries, he appointed who ſhould ſucceede him:

24 That if any controuerſie happened contrary to his expectation, or if that any tidings were brought that were grieuous, they in the land might knowe to whom the affaires were committed, that they ſhould not be troubled.

25 Againe, when I ponder howe that the gouernous, that are borderers, & neighbours vnto my kingdome, wait for all occaſions, and looke but for opportunitie, I haue ordeined that my ſonne Antiochus ſhalbe king, whome I oft commended & committed to many of you, when I went into the hie prouinces, and haue written vnto him as followeth hereafter.

26 Therefore, I pray you, & require you to remember the benefits that I haue done vnto you generally, and particularly, & that euery man will be faithfull vnto me and my ſonne.

27 For I truſt that he will be gentle, and louing vnto you according to my minde.

28 ¶ Thus the murtherer and blaſphemer ſuffred moſt grieuouſly, and as hee had intreated other men, ſo he died a miſerable death in a ſtrange countrey among the mountaines.

29 And Philip that was brought vp with him, caried away his body, who fearing the ſonne of Antiochus, went into Egypt to Ptolomeus Philometor.

CHAP. X.

1 Iudas Maccabeus taketh the citie and the Temple. 16 The acts of Eupator. 16 The Iewes fight againſt the Idumeans. 24 Timotheus inuadeth Iudea, with whome Iudas ioyneth battell. 29 Fiue men appeare in the aire to the helpe of the Iewes. 37 Timotheus is ſlaine.

MAccabeus nowe and his companie, through the helpe of the Lorde, wanne the Temple and the citie againe,

2 And deſtroyed the altars, & chappels that the heathen had builded in the open places,

3 And cleanſed the Temple, and made another altar, and burned ſtones, and tooke fire of them, and offered ſacrifices, and incenſe two yeeres, and fiue moneths after, and ſet forth the lampes and the shewbread.

4 When that was done, they fell downe flat vpon the ground, and besought the Lorde that they might come no more into such troubles: but if they sinned any more against him, that he himselfe would chasten them with mercie, and that they might not be deliuered to the blasphemous, and barbarous nations.

5 Nowe vpon the same day, that the strangers polluted the Temple, on the very same day it was cleansed againe, euen the fiue and twentie day of the same moneth, which is ‖ Chasleu.

‖ Or, Nouember.

6 They kept eight dayes with gladnesse as in the feast of the Tabernacles, remembring, that not long afore they helde the feast of the Tabernacles when they liued in the mountaines and dennes like beasts.

7 And for the same cause they bare greene boughes, and faire branches and palmes, and sang Psalmes vnto him that had giuen them good successe in clensing his place.

8 They ordeined also by a common statute and decree, that euery yere those dayes shoulde be kept of the whole nation of the Iewes.

9 And this was the ende of Antiochus called Epiphanes.

10 ¶ Nowe will wee declare the actes of Antiochus Eupator, which was the sonne of this wicked man, gathering briefly the calamities of the warres, that followed.

11 For when he had taken the kingdome, he made one Lysias, which had bene captaine of the hoste in Phenice, and Coelosyria, ruler ouer the affaires of the realme.

12 For Ptolomeus that was called Macron, purposed to doe iustice vnto the Iewes for the wrong, that had bene done vnto them, and went about to behaue himselfe peaceably with them.

13 For the which cause hee was accused of his frendes before Eupator, and was called oft times traitour, because hee had left Cyprus that Philometor had committed vnto him, and came to Antiochus Epiphanes: therefore seeing that he was no more in estimation, hee was discouraged, and poysoned himselfe, and died.

14 ¶ But when Gorgias was gouernour of the same places, hee entertained strangers, and made warre oft times against the Iewes, 15 Moreouer the Idumeans that held the strong holds, which were meete for their purpose, troubled the Iewes, and by receiuing them that were driuen from Ierusalem, tooke in hand to continue warre.

16 Then they that were with Maccabeus made prayers, and besought God that hee would bee their helper, and so they fell vpon the strong holdes of the Idumeans, 17 And assaulted them sore, that they wan the places, & slew all that fought against them on the wall, and killed all that they met with, and slew no lesse then twentie thousand.

18 And because certaine (which were no lesse then nine thousand) were fled into two strong castles, hauing all maner of things conuenient to susteine the siege, 19 Maccabeus left Simon, and Joseph, and Zaccheus also, and those that were with them, which were ynow to besiege them, and departed to those places which were more necessary.

20 Now they that were with Simon, being led with couetousnesse, were intreated for money (through certaine of those that were in the castle) & tooke seuenty thousand drachmes, and let some of them escape.

21 But when it was tolde Maccabeus what was done, hee called the gouernours of the people together, and accused those men, that they had solde their brethren for money, and let their enemies goe.

22 So he slew thē when they were conuict of treason, & immediatly wan the two castles:

23 And hauing good successe, as in all the warres that hee tooke in hand, hee slewe in the two castles moe then twentie thousand.

24 Now Timotheus whome the Iewes had ouercome afore, gathered an armie of strangers of all sortes, and brought a great troupe of horsemen out of Asia to winne Iewrie by strength.

25 But when he drewe neere, Maccabeus and they that were with him, turned to pray vnto God, & sprinkled earth vpon their heads, and girded their reines with sackecloth.

26 And fell downe at the foote of the altar, and besought the Lord to bee mercifull to them, and to bee an enemie to their enemies, and to bee an aduersarie to their aduersaries, * as the Law declareth.

* Exod. 23. 22. deut. 30. 7.

27 So after the prayer, they tooke their weapons, and went on further from the citie, and when they came neere to the enemies, they tooke heede to themselues.

28 And when the morning appeared, they both ioyned together: the one part had the Lord for their refuge, and pledge of prosperitie, and noble victorie, and the other tooke courage as a guide of the warre.

29 But when the battell wared strong, there appeared vnto the enemies from heauen fiue comely men vpon horses with bridles of golde, and two of them led the Iewes,

30 And tooke Maccabeus betwixt them, and couered him on euery side with their weapons, and kept him safe, but shot darts, and lightnings against the enemies, so that they were confounded with blindnesse,

and

and beaten downe and full of trouble.

31 There were slaine of foote men twenty thousand and fiue hundreth, and fiue hundreth horsemen.

32 As for Timotheus himselfe, he fled vnto Gazara, which was called a very strong holde, wherein Chereas was captaine.

33 But Maccabeus and his companie laid siege against the fortresses with courage for foure dayes.

34 And they that were within, trusting to the height of the place, blasphemed exceedingly, and spake horrible words.

35 Neuertheless vpon the ‖ fifth day in the morning, twenty yong men of Maccabeus company, whose heartes were inflamed, because of the blasphemers, came vnto the wall, and with bolde stomackes smote downe those that they met.

‖ Or, the fiue and twentie day.

36 Others also that climed vp vpon the engines of warre against them that were within, set fire vpon the towres, and burnt those blasphemers quicke with the fires that they had made, and others brake vp the gates, and receiued the rest of the armie, and tooke the citie.

37 And hauing founde Timotheus, that was crept into a caue, they killed him, and Chereas his brother with Apollophanes.

38 When this was done, they praised the Lord with psalmes and thankesgiuing, which had done so great things for Israel, and giuen them the victorie.

CHAP. XI.

1 Lysias goeth about to ouercome the Iewes. 8 Succour is sent from heauen vnto the Iewes. 16 The letter of Lysias vnto the Iewes. 20 The letter of king Antiochus vnto Lysias. 27 A letter of the same vnto the Iewes. 34 A letter of the Romanes to the Iewes.

VEry shortly after this, Lysias the kings steward, and a kinsman of his, which had the gouernance of the affaires, tooke sore displeasure for the things that were done.

2 And when he had gathered about foure score thousand, with all the horsemen, hee came against the Iewes, thinking to make the citie an habitation of the Gentiles,

3 And the temple woulde hee haue to get money by, like the other temples of the heathen: for he would sell the Priestes office euery yeere.

4 And thus being puffed vp in his minde, because of the great number of footemen, and thousands of horsemen, and in his foure score Elephants,

5 Hee came into Judea, and drewe neere to Bethsura, which was a castle of defence, fiue furlongs from Jerusalem, and layde sore siege vnto it.

6 But when Maccabeus, and his companie knewe that hee had besieged the holdes, they, and al the people made prayers with weeping, and teares before the Lord, that he would send a good Angel to deliuer Israel.

7 And Maccabeus himselfe first of all tooke weapons, exhorting the other that they woulde ieopard themselues together with him to helpe their brethren: so they went forth together with a couragious minde.

8 And as they were there besides Jerusalem, there appeared before them vpon horsebacke a man in white clothing, shaking his harnesse of golde.

9 Then they prayed the mercifull God all together, and tooke heart, in somuch that they were ready, not onely to fight with men, but with the most cruell beastes, and to breake downe walles of yron.

10 Thus they marched forwarde in aray, hauing an helper from heauen: for the Lorde was mercifull vnto them.

11 And running vpon their enemies like lions, they slewe eleuen thousand footemen, and sixteene hundreth horsemen, and put al the other to flight.

12 Many of them also being wounded, naked, and Lysias himselfe fled away shamefully, and so escaped,

13 Who as hee was a man of vnderstanding, considering what losse hee had had, and knowing, that the Hebrewes could not bee ouercome because the Almightie God helped them, sent vnto them,

14 And promised, that hee would consent to all things which were reasonable, and perswade the king to be their friend.

15 Maccabeus agreed to Lysias requests, hauing respect in all things to the common wealth, and whatsoeuer Maccabeus wrote vnto Lysias concerning the Jewes, the king granted it, 16 For there were letters written vnto the Jewes from Lysias conteining these wordes, LYSIAS vnto the people of the Jewes sendeth greeting.

17 John and Abessalon, which were sent from you, deliuered me the things that you demaund by writing, and required me to fulfill the things that they had declared.

18 Therefore what things soeuer were meete to bee reported to the King himselfe, I haue declared them, and hee graunted that that was possible.

19 Therefore if yee behaue your selues as friendes toward his affaires, hereafter also I will endeuour my selfe to doe you good.

20 As concerning these things, I haue giuen commandement to these men, and to those whom I sent vnto you, to commune with you of the same particularly.

21 Fare yee well, the hundreth and eight and fourty yeere, the foure and twentieth day of the moneth Dioscorinthius.

22 ¶ Nowe the kings letter conteyned these wordes, KING ANTIOCHVS vnto his brother Lysias sendeth greeting.

23 Since our father is translated vnto the gods, our will is, that they which are in our realme liue quietly, that euery man may apply his owne affaires.

24 Wee vnderstand also that the Iewes woulde not consent to our father, for to bee brought vnto the custome of the Gentiles, but would keepe their owne maner of liuing: for the which cause they require of vs, that we would suffer them to liue after their owne Lawes.

25 Wherefore our minde is that this nation shall bee in rest, and haue determined to restore them their Temple, that they may bee gouerned according to the custome of their fathers.

26 Thou shalt doe well therefore to sende vnto them, and graunt them peace, that when they are certified of our minde, they may be of good comfort, and cheerefully goe about their owne affaires.

27 And this was the kings letter vnto the nation, KING ANTIOCHVS vnto the Elders of the Iewes, and to the rest of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

28 If yee fare well, wee haue our desire: we are also in good health.

29 Menelaus declared vnto vs that your desire was to returne home, and to applie your owne businesse.

30 Wherefore, those that will depart, wee giue them free libertie, vnto the thirtie day of ‖Or, April. the moneth of ‖ Panthicus,

31 That the Iewes may vse their owne maner of liuing and lawes, like as afore, and none of them by any maner of wayes to haue harme for things done by ignorance.

32 I haue sent also Menelaus to comfort you.

33 Fare yee well: the hundreth and eight and fourtie yeere, the fifteenth day of the moneth of Panthicus.

34 ¶ The Romanes also sent a letter conteining these wordes, QVINTVS MEMMIVS and Titus ‖ Manilius ambassadours ‖Or, Manlius. of the Romanes, vnto the people of the Iewes send greeting.

35 The things that Lysias the kings kinseman hath granted you, we grant ẏ same also.

36 But concerning that which hee shall report vnto the king, send hither some with speede, when yee haue considered the matter diligently, that wee may consult thereupon as shall be best for you: for we must goe vnto Antiochia, 37 And therefore make haste and send some men that we may know your minde.

38 Fare well: this hundreth and eight and fourtie yeere, the fifteenth day of the moneth of Panthicus.

CHAP. XII.

1 Timotheus troubleth the Iewes. 3 The wicked deede of them of Ioppe against the Iewes. 6 Iudas is auenged of them. 9 He setteth fire in the hauen of Iamnia. 20 The pursuite of the Iewes against Timotheus. 24 Timotheus is taken and let go vnhurt. 32 Iudas pursueth Gorgias.

WHen these couenants were made, Lysias went vnto the king, and the Iewes tilled their ground.

2 But the gouernors of the places, as Timotheus and Appollonius the sonne of Geneus, & Ieronimus, and also Demophon, and besides them Nicanor the gouernour of Cyprus, would not let them liue in rest and peace.

3 ¶ They of Ioppe also did such a vile act: they praied the Iewes that dwelt among them, to go with their wiues and children into the ships, which they had prepared as though they had ought them none euill will.

4 And so by the common aduise of the citie, they obeyed them, and suspect nothing: but when they were gone foorth into the deepe, they drowned no lesse then two hundreth of them.

5 Nowe when Iudas knew of this crueltie shewed against his nation, he commanded those men that were with him, to make them readie.

6 And hauing called vpon God the righteous Iudge, he went forth against the murtherers of his brethren, and set fire in the hauen by night, and burnt the ships, and those that fled thence, he slewe.

7 And when the citie was shut vp, hee departed as though he would come againe, and roote out all them of the citie of Ioppe.

8 ¶ But when he perceiued that the Iamnites were minded to doe in like maner vnto the Iewes, which dwelt among them,

9 Yee came vpon the Iamnites by night, and set fire in the hauen with the nauie, so that the light of the fire was seene at Ierusalem, vpon a two hundreth and fourtie furlongs.

20 Now when they were gone from thence nine furlongs, in their iourney toward Timotheus, about fiue thousand men of foote and fiue hundreth horsemen of the Arabians set vpon him.

11 So the battell was sharpe, but it prospered with Iudas through the helpe of God: the ‖ Nomades of Arabia being ouercome, ‖So called because they were shepheards.
besought Iudas to make peace with them, and promised to giue him certaine ‖cattell, and to ‖Or, Pasture.
helpe him in other things.

12 And Iudas thinking that they should in deede bee profitable concerning many things, things, graunted them peace: whereupon they shooke handes, and so they departed to their tents.

13 ¶ Judas also assaulted a citie called Calpis, which was strong by reason of a bridge, and fenced round about with walles, and had diuers kindes of people dwelling therein,

14 So they that were within it, put forth such trust in the strength of the wals & in store of vittailes, that they were the slacker in their doings, reuiling them that were with Judas, and reprouching them: yea, they blaspheemed and spake such words as were not lawfull.

15 But Maccabeus souldiers, calling vpon the great Prince of the worlde (which without any ‖instruments, or engins of warre did *call downe the walles of Jericho, in the time of Jesus) gaue a fierce assault against the walles, ‖Or, batterell rammes. *Iosh. 6. 20.

16 And tooke the citie by the will of God, and made an exceeding great slaughter, in so much that a lake of two furlongs broad, which lay thereby, seemed to flowe with blood.

17 ¶ Then departed they from thence, seuen hundreth and fiftie furlongs, and came to Characa vnto the Iewes that are called Tubieni.

18 But they found not Timotheus there: for hee was departed from thence, and had done nothing, and had left a garison in a very strong hold.

19 But Dositheus, and Sosipater, which were captaines with Maccabeus, went forth, and slewe those that Timotheus had left in the fortresse, more then ten thousand men.

20 And Maccabeus prepared, and ranged his armie by bands, and went couragiously against Timotheus, which had with him an hundreth and twentie thousand men of foote, and two thousande and fiue hundreth horsemen.

21 When Timotheus had knowledge of Judas comming, hee sent the women, and children, and the other baggage afore vnto a fortresse called Carnion (for it was hard to besiege, and vneasie to come vnto because of the straits on all sides.)

22 But when Judas first band came in sight, the enemies were smitten with feare, and a trembling was among them through the presence of him that seeth all things, in so much that they fleeing one here, another there, were oft times hurt by their owne people, and wounded with the points of their owne swords.

23 But Judas was very earnest in pursuing and slew those wicked men: yea, hee slew thirtie thousand men of them.

24 Timotheus also himselfe fell into the handes of Dositheus, and Sosipater, whome hee besought with much craft to let him goe with his life, because hee had many of the Iewes parents and the brethren of some of them, which if they put him to death, should be despised.

25 So when he had assured them with many words, and promised that hee would restore them without hurt, they let him goe for the health of their brethren.

26 ¶ Then went Maccabeus towarde Carnion, and Atargation, and slewe fiue and twentie thousand persons.

27 And after that hee had chased away and slaine them, Judas remoued the hoste toward Ephron a strong citie, wherein was Lysias and a great multitude of all nations, and the strong young men kept the walles defending them mightily: there was also great preparation of engins of warre, and dartes.

28 But when they had called vpon the Lorde, which with his power breaketh the strength of the enemies, they wanne the citie, and slewe fiue and twentie thousand of them that were within.

29 ¶ From thence went they to Scythopolis, which lyeth fiue hundred furlongs from Jerusalem.

30 But when the Iewes which dwelt there, testified, that the Scythopolitans dealt louingly with them, and intreated them kindly in the time of their aduersitie, 31 They gaue them thankes, desiring them to bee still friendly vnto them, and so they came to Jerusalem, as the feast of the weekes approched.

32 ¶ And after the feast called Pentecost, they went forth against Gorgias the gouernour of Idumea:

33 Who came out with three thousande men of foote and foure hundred horsemen.

34 And when they ioyned together, a fewe of the Iewes were slaine, 35 And Dositheus one of the Baccenors, which was on horsebacke and a mightie man, tooke Gorgias, and layd hold of his garment, and drew him by force, because hee would haue taken the wicked man aliue: but an horseman of Thracia fell vpon him, and smote off his shoulder, so that Gorgias fled into Marisa.

36 And when they that were ‖with Esdrin, had fought long, and were wearie, Judas called vpon the Lord, that he would shewe himselfe to bee their helper, and captaine of the field.

‖Or, with Gorgias.

37 And then hee began in his owne language, & sung psalmes with a loude voyce, in so much that straightwayes hee made them that were about Gorgias, to take their flight.

38 ¶ So

38 ¶ So Judas gathered his hoste, and came into the citie of Odolla. And when the seuenth day came, they cleansed themselues (as the custome was) and kept the Sabboth in the same place.

39 And vpon the day following, as necessitie required, Judas and his companie came to take vp the bodyes of them that were slaine, and to bury them with their kinsmen in their fathers graues.

40 Nowe vnder the coates of euery one, that was slaine they found iewels that had bene consecarted to the idoles of the * Jamnites, which thing is forbidden the Jewes by Law. Then euery man sawe that this was the cause wherefore they were slaine.

41 And so euery man gaue thanks vnto the Lord, the righteous Judge, which had opened the things that were hid.

42 And they gaue themselues to prayer, and besought him, that they should not vtterly be destroyed for the fault committed. Besides that, noble Judas exhorted the people to keepe themselues from sinne, for so much as they sawe before their eyes the things which came to passe by the sinne of these ỳ were slaine.

43 And hauing made a gathering through the company, sent to Jerusalem about two thousand drachmes of siluer, to offer a sinne offering, doing very well, and honestly that he thought of the resurrection.

44 For if hee had not hoped, that they which were slaine, should rise againe, it had bene superfluous, and vaine, to ‖ pray for the dead.

45 And therefore he perceiued, that there was great fauour layd vp for those that dyed godly. (It was an holy, and a good thought.) So he made a reconciliation for the dead, that they might be deliuered from sinne.

‖ From this verse to the end of this chapter, the Greeke text is corrupt, so that no good sense, much lesse certaine doctrine can be gathered thereby: Also it is euident that this place was not written by the holy Ghost, both because it dissenteth from the rest of the holy Scriptures, and also the autor of this booke acknowledging his owne infirmitie, desireth pardon, if hee haue not attained to that he should. And it seemeth, that this Jason the Cyrenean, out of whom he tooke this abridgement, as Joseph Ben-Gorion, who hath written in Ebrewe fiue bookes of these matters, and intreating of this place, maketh no mention of this prayer for the dead, lib. 3. chap. 19. for it is contrary to the custome of the Jewes, euen to this day, to pray for the dead. And though Judas had so done, yet this particular example is not sufficient to establish a doctrine, no more then Zipporahs was to proue that women might minister the Sacramentes, Exod. 4. 25. or the example of Razis that one might kill himselfe, whom this autor so much commendeth, Chap. 14. 41.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The cõming of Eupator into Iudea. 4 The death of Menelaus. 10 Maccabeus going to fight against Eupator moueth his souldiers vnto prayer. 15 He killeth fourteene thousand men in the tents of Anticchus. 21 Rhodocus the betrayer of the Iewes is taken.

IN the hundreth, fourtie and ninth yeere it was tolde Judas that Antiochus Eupator was comming with a great power into Judea,

2 And Lysias the steward and ruler of his affaires with him, hauing both in their armie an hundreth and ten thousand men of foote of the Grecians, and fiue thousande horsmen, and two and twentie elephants, and three hundreth charets set with hookes.

3 Menelaus also ioyned himselfe with them, and with great deceite encouraged Antiochus, not for the safegard of the countrey, but because he thought to haue bene made the gouernour.

4 But the King of kings mooued Antiochus minde against this wicked man, and Lysias informed the king that this man was the cause of all mischiefe, so that the king commaunded to bring him to Berea to put him vnto death, as the maner was in that place.

5 Now there was in that place a towre of fifty cubits high, full of ashes, and it had an instrument that turned round, and on euery side it rouled downe in the ashes.

6 And there whosoeuer was condemned of sacrilegde, or of any other grieuous crime, was cast of all men to the death.

7 And so it came to passe that this wicked man should die such a death, and it was a most iust thing that Menelaus should want buriall,

8 For because hee had committed many sinnes by the altar, whose fire and ashes were holy: he himselfe also died in the ashes.

9 ¶ Now the king raged in his mind, and came to shewe himselfe more cruell vnto the Jewes then his father.

10 Which things when Judas perceiued, he commanded the people to call vpon the Lord night and day, that if euer he had holpen them, he would now helpe them, when they shoulde be put from their law, from their countrey and from the holy Temple:

11 And that hee would not suffer the people, which a little before began to recouer, to be subdued vnto the blasphemous nations.

12 So when they had done this altogether, and besought the Lorde for mercie with weeping and fasting, and falling downe three dayes together, Judas exhorted them to make themselues ready.

13 And he being apart with the Elders, tooke counsel to goe forth, afore the King brought his hoste into Judea, and should take the citie, and commit the mater to the helpe of the Lord.

14 So committing the charge to the Lorde of the worlde, he exhorted his souldiers to fight manfully, euen vnto death for the Lawes, the Temple, the citie, their countrey, and the common wealth, and camped by Modin.

15 And so giuing his souldiers for a watch word, The victorie of God, hee piked out the manliest manliest yong men, and went by night into the kings campe, and slew of the hoste fourteene thousand men, and the greatest elephant with all that sate vpon him.

16 Thus when they had brought a great feare, and trouble in the campe, and all things went prosperously with them, they departed.

17 This was done in the breake of the day, because the protection of the Lorde did helpe them.

18 ¶ Now when the king had tasted the manlinesse of the Iewes, he went about to take the holds by policie, 19 And marched toward Beth-sura, which was a strong hold of the Iewes: but hee was chased away, hurt, and lost of his men.

20 For Iudas had sent vnto them that were in it, such things as were necessarie.

21 But Rodochus which was in the Iewes hoste, disclosed the secretes to the enemies: therefore he was sought out, and when they had gotten him, they put him in prison.

22 After this did the king commune with them that were in Beth-sura, and ‖ tooke truce with them, departed, and ioyned battell with Iudas, who ouercame him.

‖ Or, gaue and woke the right hand.

23 But when hee vnderstoode, that Philip (whome hee had left to bee ouerseer of his businesse at Antiochia) did rebell against him, he was astonished, so that he yeelded himselfe to the Iewes, and made them an othe to doe all things that were right, and was appeased towarde them, and offered sacrifice and adorned the Temple, and shewed great gentlenesse to the place, 24 And imbraced Maccabeus, and made him capteine and gouernour from Ptolemais vnto the Gerreneans.

25 Neuertheselle, when he came to Ptolemais, the people of the citie were not content with this agreement: and because they were grieued, they would that hee should breake the couenants.

26 Then went Lysias vp into the iudgement seate, and excused the fact as fast as hee coulde, and perswaded them, and pacified them, and made them well affectioned, and came againe vnto Antiochia. This is the matter concerning the kings iourney, and his returne.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Demetrius moued by Alcimus sendeth Nicanor to kill the Iewes. 18 Nicanor maketh a compact with the Iewes. 29 Which he yet breaketh through the motion of the king. 37 Nicanor commandeth Razis to be taken, who slayeth himselfe.

After three yeeres was Iudas enformed that Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus was come vp with a great power and nauie by the hauen of Tripolis,

2 When he had wonne the countrey, and slaine Antiochus and his Lieutenant Lysias.

3 Now Alcimus which had beene the high Priest, and wilfully defiled himselfe in the time that all things were confounded, seeing that by no meanes he could saue himselfe, nor haue any more entrance to the holy Altar,

4 He came to king Demetrius in the hundreth, fiftie and one yere, presenting vnto him a crowne of golde, and a palme, and of the boughes, which were vsed solemnely in the Temple, and that day he held his tongue.

5 But when hee had gotten opportunitie, and occasion for his rage, Demetrius called him to counsell, and asked him what deuises or counsels the Iewes leaned vnto.

6 To the which he answered, The Iewes that be called Asideans, whose captaine is Iudas Maccabeus, maintaine warres, and make insurrections, and will not let the realme be in peace.

7 Therefore I, being depriued of my fathers honour (I meane the high Priesthoode) am now come hither,

8 Partly, because I was well affectioned vnto the kings affaires, and secondly because I sought the profite of mine owne citizens: for all our people, through their rashnes are not a little troubled.

9 Wherefore, O king, seeing thou knowest all these things, make prouision for the countrey, and our nation which is abused, according to thine owne humanitie, that is ready to helpe all men.

10 For as long as Iudas liueth, it is not possible that the matter should be well.

11 When hee had spoken these wordes, other friends also hauing euill will at Iudas, set Demetrius on fire.

12 Who immediatly called for Nicanor, the ruler of the Elephants, and made him captaine ouer Iudea, 13 And sent them forth commanding him to slay Iudas, and to scatter them that were with him, and to make Alcimus high Priest of the great Temple.

14 Then the heathen, which fledde out of Iudea frō Iudas, came to Nicanor by flocks, thinking the harme & calamities of the Iewes to be their welfare.

15 Nowe when the Iewes heard of Nicanors comming, and the gathering together of the heathen, they sprinkled themselues with earth, and prayed vnto him which had appointed himselfe a people for euer, and did alwayes defende his owne portion with euident tokens.

16 So at the commaundement of the captaine, they remoued straightwayes frō thence, and came to the towne of Dessau,

17 Where Simon Iudas brother had

ioyned battell with Nicanor, and was somewhat astonished through the sudden silence of the enemies.

18 Nevertheless Nicanor hearing the manlinesse of them that were with Judas, and the bolde stomakes that they had for their countrey, durst not proove the matter with bloodsheading.

19 Wherefore, hee sent Polidonius, ‖ Theodotus, and ‖ Matthias before to make peace, ‖ Or, Theodotus. ‖ Or, Mattathias.

20 So when they had taken long aduisement thereupon, and the captaine shewed it vnto the multitude, they were agreed in one mind, and consented to the couenants.

21 And they appoynted a day when they should particularly come together: so when the day was come, they set for euery man his stoole.

22 Nevertheless Judas commanded certaine men of armes to waite in conuenient places, least there should suddenly arise any euill through the enemies: and so they communed togethered of the things whereupon they had agreed.

23 Nicanor, while he abode at Jerusalem, did none hurt, but sent away the people that were gathered together.

‖ Or, had Judas before his eyes.

24 He ‖ loued Judas, and fauoured him in his heart.

25 He prayed him also to take a wife, and to beget children: so he maried, and they liued together.

26 But Alcimus perceiuing the loue that was betweene them, and vnderstanding the couenants that were made, came to Demetrius, and told him that Nicanor, had take strange matters in hand, and ordeined Judas a traytor to the Realme to be his successor.

27 Then the king was displeased, and by the reportes of this wicked man, hee wrote to Nicanor, saying, that he was very angry for the couenants, commaunding him that he shoulde sende Maccabeus in al haste prisoner vnto Antiochia.

28 When these things came to Nicanor, hee was astonished and sore grieued, that hee should breake the things wherein they had agreed, seeing that man had committed no wickednesse.

29 But because it was not commodious to him to withstand the king, he sought craftily, to accomplish it.

30 Notwithstanding when Maccabeus perceiued that Nicanor began to be rough vnto him, and that hee intreated him more rudely then he was wont, he perceiued that such rigour came not of good, and therefore he gathered a fewe of his men, and withdrew himselfe from Nicanor.

31 But the other perceiuing that hee was preuented by Maccabeus worthy pollicie, came into the great and holy Temple, & commanded the Priests, which were offring their vsuall sacrifices, to deliuer him the man.

32 And when they sware that they could not tell where the man was, whom he sought, 33 He stretched out his right hand toward the Temple, and made an othe in this maner, If ye will not deliuer me Judas as a prisoner, I will make the Temple of God a playne fielde, and will breake downe the altar, and wil erect a notable Temple vnto Bacchus.

34 After these words he departed: then the Priests lift vp their hands toward heauen, and besought him that was euer the defender of their nation, saying in this maner, 35 Thou, O Lord of all things, which hast neede of nothing, wouldest that the Temple of thine habitation should be among vs.

36 Therefore nowe, O most holy Lorde, keepe this house euer vndefiled, which lately was cleansed, and stoppe al the mouthes of the vnrighteous.

37 Now was there accused vnto Nicanor, Razis one of the Elders of Jerusalem, a louer of the citie, and a man of very good report, which for his loue was called a father of the Jewes.

38 For this man aforetimes when the Jewes were minded to keepe themselues vndefiled and pure, being accused to be of the religion of the Jewes, did offer to spend his body and life, with all constancie for the religion of the Jewes.

39 So Nicanor willing to declare the hatred that he bare to the Jewes, sent about fiue hundred men of warre to take him.

40 For he thought by taking him to do the Jewes much hurt.

41 But when this companie would haue taken his castell, and would haue broken the gates by violence, and commanded to bring fire to burne the gates, so that hee was readie to bee taken on euery side, hee ‖ fell on his sword,

‖ As the priuate example ought not to be followed of the godly, because it is contrary to the word of God although the author seeme here to approoue it: so that place as touching prayer Chap. 12. 44. though Judas had appointed it, yet were it not sufficient to proue a doctrine, because it is only a particular example.

42 Willing rather to die manfully, then to giue himselfe into the handes of wicked men, and to suffer reproch vnworthie for his noble stocke.

43 Notwithstanding what time as he missed of his stroke for haste, and the multitude rushed in violently betweene the doores, hee ranne boldly to the wall, and cast himselfe downe manfully among the multitude.

44 Which conueyed themselues lightly away, and gaue place, so that he fell vpon his bellie,

45 Nevertheless while there was yet breath in him, being kindled in his minde, hee

roſe vp, and though his blood guſhed out like a fountaine, and he was very ſore wounded, yet he ran thorowe the middeſt of the people.

46 And gate him to the toppe of an high rocke: ſo when his blood was vtterly gone, he tooke out his own bowels with both his hands, and threwe them vpon the people, calling on the Lorde of life and ſpirit, that hee would reſtore them againe vnto him, and thus he dyed.

CHAP. XV.

1 Nicanor goeth about to come vpon Iudas on the Sabbath day. 5 The blaſphemie of Nicanor. 14 Maccabeus expounding vnto the Iewes the viſion, incourageth them. 21 The prayer of Maccabeus. 30 Maccabeus commandeth Nicanors head and hands to be cut off, and his tongue to be giuen vnto the fowles. 39 The author excuſeth himſelfe.

NOwe when Nicanor knewe that Iudas and his company were in the countrey of Samaria, he thought vp all aſſurance to come vpon them, vpon the Sabbath day.

2 Neuertheles, the Iewes that were compelled to go with him, ſaid, O kill not ſo cruelly and barbarouſly, but honour and ſanctifie the day, that is appoynted by him that ſeeth all things.

3 But this moſt wicked perſon demaunded, Is there a Lord in heauen, that commaundeth the Sabbath day to be kept?

4 And when they ſayde, There is a liuing Lorde, which ruleth in the heauen, who commanded the ſeuenth day to be kept,

5 Then he ſaide, And I am mightie vpon earth to commaunde them for to arme themſelues, and to performe the kings buſineſſe. Notwithſtanding, he could not accompliſh his wicked enterpriſe.

6 For Nicanor lifted vp with a great pride, purpoſed to ſet vp a memoriall of the victorie obtayned of all them that were with Iudas.

7 But Maccabeus had euer ſure confidence and a perfect hope that the Lorde would helpe him.

8 And exhorted his people not to be afraide at the comming of the heathen, but alway to remember the helpe that had beene ſhewed vnto them from heauen, and to truſt nowe alſo, that they ſhoulde haue the victorie by the Almightie.

9 Thus hee incouraged them by the Lawe and Prophets, putting them in remembrance of the battels that they had wonne afore, and ſo made them more willing,

10 And ſtirred vp their hearts, and ſhewed them alſo the deceitfulneſſe of the heathen, and how they had broken their othes.

11 Thus he armed euery one of them, not with the aſſurance of ſhields and ſpeares, but with wholeſome words and exhortations, and ſhewed them a dreame worthy to bee beleeued, and reioyced them greatly.

12 And this was his viſion, Hee thought that hee ſawe Onias (Which had beene the High Prieſt, a vertuous and a good man, reuerent in behauiour, and of a ſober conuerſation, well ſpoken, and one that had beene exerciſed in all poyntes of godlineſſe from a childe) holding vp his handes toward heauen, and praying for the whole people of the Iewes.

13 ¶ After this there appeared vnto him another man which was aged, honourable and of a wonderfull dignitie, and excellencie aboue him.

14 And Onias ſpake, and ſayde, This is a louer of the brethren, who prayeth much for the people, and for the holy citie, to wit, Jeremias the Prophet of God.

15 Hee thought alſo that Jeremias held out his right hand, and gaue vnto Judas a ſworde of golde: and as hee gaue it hee ſpake thus,

16 Take this holy ſworde a gift from God, wherewith thou ſhalt wound the aduerſaries.

17 And ſo being comforted by the wordes of Judas, which were very ſweete and able to ſtirre them vp to valiantneſſe and to incourage the hearts of the yong men, they determined to pitch no campe, but courageouſly to ſet vpon them, and manfully to aſſaile them, and to trie the matter hand to hand, becauſe the citie and the Sanctuarie and the Temple were in danger.

18 As for their wiues, and children, and brethren, and kinſfolkes, they ſet leſſe by their danger: but their greateſt and principall feare was for the holy Temple.

19 Againe they that were in the citie were carefull for the armie that was abroad.

20 Nowe whiles they all waited for the tryall of the matter, and the enemies nowe mette with them, and the hoſt was ſet in aray, and the beaſtes were ſeparated into conueni- (Or, elephants.)
ent places, and the horſemen were placed in the wings:

21 Maccabeus conſidering the comming of the multitude, and the diuers preparations of weapons, and the fiercenelle of the beaſtes, helde vp his hands toward heauen, calling vpon the Lord that doeth wonders, and that looked vpon them, knowing that the victorie commeth not by the weapons, but that hee giueth the victorie to thē that are worthy, as ſeemeth good vnto him.

22 Therefore in his prayer hee ſayde after this manner, O Lorde, * thou that diddeſt ſend thine Angell in the time of Ezechias (*2 King. 19. 35. Iſa. 37. 36. 2 King. 18. 20.)
king

king of Iudea, who in the host of Sennacherib slew an hundreth, fourescore and fiue thousand.

23 Send nowe also thy good Angel before vs, O Lorde of heauens, for a feare and dread vnto them, 24 And let thē be discomfited by the strength of thine arme, which come against thine holy people to blaspheme. Thus with these words he made an ende.

25 Thē Nicanor and they that were with him, drewe neere with trumpets and shouting for ioy.

26 But Iudas and his companie praying and calling vpon God, encountred with the enemies, 27 So that with their hands they fought, but with their heartes they prayed vnto God, and slewe no lesse then fiue & thirtie thousande men: for through the presence of God they were wonderously comforted.

28 Nowe when they left off, and were turning againe with ioy, they vnderstood that Nicanor himself was slaine for all his armour.

29 Then they made a great shout and a cry, praysing the Almightie in their owne language.

30 Therefore Iudas, which was euer the chiefe defender of his citizens both in body and minde, and which bare euer good affection towards them of his nation, commaded to smite off Nicanors head, with his hand and shoulder, and to bring it to Ierusalem.

31 And when he came there, hee called all them of his nation, and set the Priestes by the altar, and sent for them of the castel.

32 And shewed them wicked Nicanors head, and the hand of that blasphemour which hee had holden vp against the holy Temple of the Almightie with proude braggs.

33 Hee caused the tongue also of wicked Nicanor to bee cut in litle pieces, and to be cast vnto the foules, and that the rewardes of his madnesse should bee hanged vp before the Temple, 34 So euery man prayed toward the heauen the glorious Lord, saying, Blessed bee he, that hath kept his place vndefiled.

35 Hee hanged also Nicanors heade vpon the hie castell, for an euident and plaine token vnto all of the helpe of God.

36 And so they established all together by a common decree, that they woulde in no case suffer this day without keeping it holy:

37 And that the feast shoulde be the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth, which is called Adar in the Syrians language, the day before Mardocheus day.

38 Thus farre as concerning Nicanors matters, and from that time the Hebrewes had the citie in possession. And here wil I also make an ende.

39 If I haue done well, as the storie required, it is the thing that I desired: but if I haue spoken slenderly and barely, it is that I could.

40 For as it is hurtfull to drinke wine alone, and then againe water: and as wine tempered with water is pleasant and delighteth the taste: so the setting out of the matter delighteth the eares of them that read the story. And here shall be the end.

THE ENDE OF APOCRYPHA.

THE NEVVE TESTAMENT OF OVR LORD IESVS CHRIST,

TRANSLATED OVT OF GREEKE BY THEOD. BEZA.

WHEREVNTO ARE ADIOINED BRIEFE SVMMARIES OF DOctrine vpon the Euangelists and Actes of the Apostles, together with the methode of the Epistles of the Apostles, by the sayd THEOD. BEZA.

AND ALSO SHORT EXPOSITIONS ON THE PHRASES AND hard places, taken out of the large annotations of the foresaid Author & Ioach. Camerarius by P. Loseler. Villerius.

¶ The Printer to the diligent Reader.

*Deare Christian Reader, to the intent thou mightest the better enioy the benefite of these notes or expositions vpon the new Testament: I thought it not amisse to declare vnto thee the vse of the same. And first, forasmuch as the quotations or citing of places of the Scriptures in the margent which direct to other places, containing like phrase or sense, haue bene so placed, that none without great labour could finde out the textes alleaged, I haue made this marke, * and haue set it as well in the margent, as in the text, so that thou mayest easilie finde that which thou desirest. For example, in the first worde of the first chapter of Matthew is placed this first marke , looke out the like marke in the margent, and there thou shalt finde, Luke 3. 23. which place agreeth to this of Matthew, and so likewise thou shalt find in the residue. But if many quotations belong to one place, word or sentence, the first is onely marked, and those that follow vnmarked appertaine to the same.

The Notes which are directed by figures of Arithmetike, as 1. 2. 3. 4. &c. throughout the Euangelists and Actes, declare the effect or summe of the doctrine conteined betweene one of the sayd figures, and the next that followeth: as for example, from the figure 1. in the first line and first word of Matthew vnto the figure, 2. in the 18. verse of the same chapter, the doctrine there gathered is set downe in the margent in this sort, 1. Iesus came of Abraham of the tribe of Iuda, and of the stocke of Dauid, as God promised.

And in the Epistles in like sort they declare the methode and arte which the Apostles vse, and how euery argument or reason dependeth one vpon another: these figures are begun againe at the beginning of euery chapter. Lastly, the Notes which goe by order of the letters of the Alphabet placed in the text, with the like answering vnto them in the margent, serue to expound & lighten the darke wordes and phrases immediatly following them. As in the first line & second word, the letter, a, being referred vnto, a, directly against him in the margent, sheweth that this worde, Booke, signifieth A rehearsall as the Hebrewes vse to speake: as Genes. 5. 1. The booke of the generations.

These letters begin at the beginning of euery chapter, continuing vnto z. and so beginning againe with a, if there be so many Notes that they doe exceed in number the letters of one Alphabet. This haue I faithfully done for thy commoditie, reape thou the fruite, and giue the praise to God.

Farewell.

¶ The Holy Gospel of IESVS CHRIST ACCORDING TO S. MATTHEVVE.

CHAP. I.

1 Thes Iesus is that Messias, the Saviour promised to the fathers. 18 The nativitie of Christ.

THe [1] [a] booke of the [b] generation of IESVS CHRIST the sonne of Dauid, the [c] sonne of Abraham.

2 *Abraham begate Isaac. * And Isaac begate Iacob. And * Iacob begate Iudas and his brethren.

3 *And Iudas begate Phares, and Zara of Thamar. And *Phares begate Esrom. And Esrom begate Aram.

4 And Aram begate Aminadab. And Aminadab begate Naasson. And Naasson begate Salmon.

5 And Salmon begate Booz of Rachab. And *Booz begate Obed of Ruth. And Obed begate Iesse.

6 And *Iesse begate Dauid the king. And *Dauid the King begate Salomon of her that was the wife of Urias.

7 And * Solomon begate Roboam. And Roboam begate Abia. And Abia begate Asa.

8 And Asa begat Iosaphat. And Iosaphat begat Ioram. And Ioram begate Ozias.

9 And Ozias begate Ioatham. And Ioatham begat Achaz. And Achaz begat Ezekias.

10 And *Ezekias begate Manasses. And Manasses begate Amon. And Amon begate Iosias.

11 And *Iosias begate Iakim. And Iakim [d] begat Iechonias and his brethren, about the time they were caried away to Babylon.

12 And after they were caried away into Babylon, *Iechonias begate Salathiel. * And Salathiel begate Zorobabel.

13 And Zorobabel begate Abiud. And Abiud begat Eliacim. And Eliacim begate Azor.

14 And Azor begate Sador. And Sador begate Achim. And Achim begate Eliud.

15 And Eliud begate Eleazar. And Eleazar begate Matthan. And Matthan begate Iacob.

16 And Iacob begate Ioseph the husband of Mary, of whome was borne IESVS, that is called Christ.

17 So [e] all the generations from Abraham to Dauid, are foureteene generations. And from Dauid vntil they were caried away into Babylon, foureteene generations: and after they were caried away into Babylon vntill Christ, foureteene generations.

18 ¶ Nowe the birth of [2] IESVS Christ was thus, When as his mother Mary was * betrothed to Ioseph, before they came together, shee was founde with childe of the holy Ghost.

19 Then Ioseph her husband being a iust man, and not willing to * make her a publike example, was minded to put her away secretly.

20 But whiles hee thought these things, beholde, the Angel of the Lord appeared vnto him in a dreame, saying, Ioseph, the sonne of Dauid, feare not to [f] take Mary thy wife: for that which is [h] conceiued in her, is of the holy Ghost.

21 And she shall bring [3] forth a sonne, and thou shalt * call his Name IESVS: for he shall * [i] saue his people from their sinnes.

22 And all this was done that it might be fulfilled, which is spoken of the Lord by the Prophet, saying,

23 *Behold, a [k] virgine shalbe with childe, and shall beare a sonne, and they shall call his name Emmanuel, which is by interpretation, God with vs.

24 ¶ Then Ioseph, being raised from sleepe, did as the Angel of the Lord had enioyned him, and tooke his wife.

25 But hee knewe her not, [l] till shee had brought forth her first borne sonne, and he called his Name IESVS.

1 This litle word Till, in the Hebrewe tongue, giueth vs to vnderstand also, that a thing shall not come to passe in time to come: as Michol had no children Till the day of her death, 2. Sam. 6. 23. And in the last Chapter of this Euangelist: Beholde, I am with you Till the ende of the world.

CHAP. II.

The wise men, who are the first fruits of the Gentiles, worship Christ. 14 Ioseph fleeth into Egypt with Iesus and his mother. 16 Herod slayeth the children.

* Luke 2. 6.
1 Christ is borne a litle childe.
borne in a cribb, and nothing set by of his owne people, receiueth honour and a noble witnesse of his kingdome from strangers, and of his kingly offices: which his owne also vnknowingly assent vnto, although they will not acknowledge him. 4 For there was no other in the coast of Zabulon,

Herod the King, beholde, there came [b] Wise men from the East to Hierusalem,

2 Saying, Where is that King of the Iewes that is borne? for wee haue seene his starre in the East, and are come to worship him.

3 When King Herod heard this, hee was [c] troubled, and all Hierusalem with him.

4 And gathering together all the [d] chiefe Priests and [e] Scribes of the people, hee asked of them, where Christ should be borne.

5 And they said vnto him, At Beth-leem in Iudea: for so it is written by the Prophet,

6 *And thou Beth-leem in the land of Iuda, art not the [f] least among the Princes of Iuda: for out of thee shall come the gouernour that shall feed that my people Israel.

7 Then Herod priuily called the Wisemen, and diligently inquired of them the time of the starre that appeared,

8 And sent them to Beth-leem, saying, Goe, and search diligently for the babe: and when yee haue found him, bring mee word againe, that I may come also, and worship him.

9 ¶ So when they had heard the King, they departed: and loe, the starre which they had seene in the East, went before them, till it came and stoode ouer the place where the babe was.

10 And when they sawe the starre, they reioyced with an exceeding great ioy, 11 And went into the house, and found the babe with Mary his mother, and [h] fell downe, and worshipped him, and opened their [i] treasures, and presented vnto him gifts, euen gold, and frankincense, and myrrhe.

12 And after they were [k] warned of God in a dreame, that they should not goe againe to Herod, they returned into their countrey another way.

13 ¶ [2] After their departure, beholde, the Angel of the Lorde appeareth to Ioseph in a dreame, saying, Arise, and take the babe and his mother, and flee into Egypt, and be there till I bring thee word: for Herod will seeke the babe to destroy him.

14 So he arose and tooke the babe and his mother by night, and departed into Egypt, 15 And was there vnto the death of Herod, that that might bee fulfilled, which is spoken of the Lord by the *Prophet, saying, Out of Egypt haue I called my sonne.

16 ¶ Then Herod, seeing that hee was mocked of ỹ Wisemen, was exceeding wroth, and sent foorth, and slewe all the male children that were in Beth-leem, and in all the coastes thereof, from two yeere olde and vnder, according to the time which hee had diligently searched out of the Wisemen.

17 Then was that fulfilled which is spoken [l] by the Prophet Ieremias, saying, 18 *In Rhama was [m] a voyce heard, mourning, and weeping, and great howling: [n] Rachel weeping for her children, and would not be comforted, because they were not.

19 [3] And when Herod was dead, beholde, an Angel of the Lord appeareth in a dreame to Ioseph in Egypt, 20 Saying, Arise, and take the babe and his mother, and goe into the lande of Israel: for they are dead which sought the babes life.

21 Then hee arose vp and tooke the babe and his mother, and came into the lande of Israel.

22 But when he heard that Archelaus did reigne in Iudea in steade of his father Herod, he was afraid to goe thither: yet after he was warned of God in a dreame, he turned aside into the partes of Galile, 23 And went and dwelt in a citie called Nazareth, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Prophets, which was, That he should be called a Nazarite.

24 And his fame spread abroad thorow all Syria: and they brought vnto him all sicke people, that were taken with diuerse diseases and [n] torments, and them that were possessed with deuils, and those which were [o] lunatike, and those that had the [p] palsey: and he healed them.

AND when he saw the multitude, he went vp into a mountaine: and when he was set, his disciples came to him.

16 * Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good workes, and glorifie your Father which is in heauen.

19 * [4] Whosoeuer therefore shall breake one of these least commaundements, and teach men so, he shall be called the [h] least in the kingdome of heauen: but whosoeuer shall obserue and teach them, the same shalbe called great in the kingdome of heauen.

But Christ on the contrary side denieth that God accepteth any mans offering, vnlesse hee maketh satisfaction to his brother whom he hath offended: and saith moreouer, that these stubborne and stiffenecked despisers of their brethren, shall neuer escape the wrath and curse of God, before they haue made full satisfaction to their brethren.

Fitly is this word, Pure, ioyned with the heart, for as a bright and shining resemblance or image may be seene plainely in a cleare and pure looking glasse, euen so doth the face (as it were) of the euerlasting God shine foorth, and clerely appeare in a pure heart. * 1. 14 ¶ *3 And when Iesus came to Peters house, he sawe his wiues mother laied downe, and sicke of a feuer.

15 And hee touched her hand, and the feuer left her: so shee arose, and ministred vnto them.

19 * When the Euen was come, they brought vnto him many that were possessed with deuils: and he cast out the spirits with his word, and healed c all that were sicke, 18 ¶ * And when Iesus saw great multitudes of people about him, he commaūded them to go d ouer the water.

19 4 Then came there a certaine Scribe, and said vnto him, Master, I will follow thee whithersoeuer thou goest.

20 But Iesus sayd vnto him, The foxes haue holes, and the birdes of the heauen haue e nests, but the Sonne of man hath not whereon to rest his head.

21 ¶ 5 And another of his disciples sayd vnto him, Master, suffer me first to goe, and burie my father.

22 But Iesus said vnto him, Follow me, and let the dead burie their dead.

23 ¶ *6 And when hee was entered into the ship, his disciples followed him.

24 And behold, there arose a great tempest in the sea, so that the ship was coucred with waues: but he was asleepe.

25 Then his disciples came, and awoke him, saying, Master, saue vs: we perish.

26 And he sayd vnto them, Why are yee fearefull, O ye of litle faith? Then he arose, & rebuked the windes and the sea: and so there was a great calme.

27 And the men marueiled, saying, What man is this, that both the windes and the sea obey him!

28 ¶ *7 And when he was come to the other side into the countrey of the Gergesenes, there met him two possessed with deuils which came out of the graues very fierce, so that no man might goe by that way.

29 And behold, they cried out, saying, Iesus the sonne of God, what haue we to do with thee? Art thou come hither to torment vs before the time?

30 Now there was, f afarre off from them, a great heard of swine feeding.

31 And the deuils besought him, saying, If thou cast vs out, suffer vs to goe into the heard of swine.

32 And he sayd vnto them, Goe. So they went out and departed into the heard of swine: and beholde, the whole heard of swine ranne headlong into the sea, and died in the water.

33 Then the heardmen fled: and when they were come into the citie, they tolde all things, and what was become of them that were possessed with the deuils.

34 And beholde, all the citie came out to meete Iesus: and when they saw him, they besought him to g depart out of their coastes.

THen he 1 entred into a shippe, and passed ouer and came into his a owne citie.

1 Sinnes are the causes of our afflictions, and Christ onely forgiueth them if we beleeue.

2 And * loe, they brought to him a man sicke of the palsie, layd on a bedde. And Iesus b seeing their faith, said to the sicke of the palsie, Sonne, be of good comfort: thy sinnes are forgiuen thee.

3 And behold, certaine of the Scribes said with themselues, This man c blasphemeth.

c To blaspheme, signifieth amongst the Diuines, to speake wickedly: and amongst the more eloquent Grecians, to slander.

4 But when Iesus sawe their thoughts, he said, Wherefore thinke yee euill things in your hearts?

5 For whether is it easier to say, Thy sinnes are forgiuen thee, or to say, Arise, and walke?

6 And that ye may knowe that the Sonne of man hath authoritie in earth to forgiue sinnes, (then saide he vnto the sicke of the palsie,) Arise, take vp thy bedde, and goe to thine house.

7 And hee arose, and departed to his owne house.

8 So when the multitude saw it, they marueiled, and glorified God, which had giuen such authoritie to men.

* Marke 2.14. luke 5.27.

9 ¶ *2 And as Iesus passed forth from thence, he sawe a man sitting at the d custome, named Matthew, and saide to him, Followe me. And he arose, and followed him.

2 Christ calleth the humble sinners vnto him, but he condemneth the proude hypocrites.

d At the Customers table, where it was receiued.

10 And it came to passe, as Iesus sate at meate in his house, beholde, many Publicanes and e sinners, that came thither, sate downe at the table with Iesus and his disciples.

e The Customers felowes which were placed by the Romanes, after that Iudea was brought into the forme of a prouince, to gather the customes, & therefore of the rest of the Iewes, they were called sinners, that is to say, very vile men.

11 And when the Pharises sawe that, they said to his disciples, Why eateth your master with Publicanes and sinners?

12 Nowe when Iesus heard it, he said vnto them, The whole neede not a Physition, but they that are sicke.

13 But goe ye and learne what this is, * I will haue mercie, and not sacrifice: for I am not come to call the righteous, but the * sinners to repentance.

14 ¶ *3 Then

14 ¶ * Then came the disciples of John to him, saying, Why doe we and the Pharises fast oft, and thy disciples fast not?

15 And Jesus saide vnto them, Can the f children of the marriage chamber mourne as long as the bridegrome is with them? But the dayes will come, when the bridegrome shall bee taken from them, and then shall they fast.

16 Moreouer no man pieceth an olde garment with a piece of g newe cloth: for that that should fil it vp, taketh away from the garment, and the breach is worse.

17 Neither do they put newe wine into olde vessels: for then the vessels would breake, and the wine would bee spilt, and the vessels should perish: but they put new wine into new vessels, and so are both preserued.

18 ¶ *4 While he thus spake vnto them, beholde, there came a certaine ruler, and worshipped him, saying, My daughter is now deceased, but come and lay thine hand on her, and she shall liue.

19 And Jesus arose and followed him with his disciples.

20 (And beholde, a woman which was diseased with an issue of blood twelue yeeres, came behinde him, and touched the hemme of his garment.

21 For she said in her selfe, If I may touch but his garment onely, I shalbe whole.

22 Then Jesus turned him about, & seeing her, did say, Daughter, be of good comfort: thy faith hath made thee whole. And the woman was made whole at that same moment.)

23 [5] Now when Jesus came into the Rulers house, and sawe the [h] minstrels and the multitude making noise, 24 He said vnto them, Get you hence: for the maide is not dead, but sleepeth. And they laughed him to scorne.

25 And when the multitude were put forth, hee went in and tooke her by the hand, and the maide arose.

26 And this bruit went throughout al that land.

27 [6] And as Jesus departed thence, two blinde men followed him, crying, and saying, O sonne of Dauid, haue mercie vpon vs.

28 And when hee was come into the house, the blinde came to him, and Jesus saide vnto them, Beleeue yee that I am able to doe this? And they said vnto him, Yea, Lord.

29 Then touched hee their eyes, saying, According to your faith be it vnto you.

30 And their eyes were opened, and Jesus gaue them great charge, saying, See that no man know it.

31 But when they were departed, they spread abroad his fame throughout all ꝑ land.

32 ¶ *7 And as they went out, beholde, they brought to him a dumme man possessed with a deuill.

33 And when the deuill was cast out, the dumme spake: then the multitude marueiled, saying, The like was neuer seene in Israel.

34 But the Pharises said, * He casteth out deuils, through the prince of deuils.

35 ¶ And * Jesus went about all cities and townes, teaching in their Synagogues, and preaching the Gospel of the kingdom, and healing euery sickenesse and euerie disease among the people.

36 [8] But * when he saw the multitude, he had compassion vpon them, because they were dispersed, and scattered abroade, as sheepe hauing no shepheard.

37 Then said he to his disciples, * Surely the haruest is great, but the labourers are few.

38 Wherefore pray the Lorde of the haruest, that he would [i] send foorth labourers into his haruest.

CHAP. X.

1 The gift of healing giuen to the Apostles. 5 They are sent to preach the Gospel. 13 Peace. 14 Shaking off the dust. 16 Affliction. 22 Continuance vnto the ende. 23 Flying from persecution. 28 Feare. 29 Two sparowes. 30 Haires of our head. 32 To acknowledge Christ. 34 Peace & the sword. 35 Variance. 37 Loue of parents. 38 The crosse. 39 To lose the life. 40 To receiue a preacher.

AND [1] * he called his twelue disciples vnto him, and gaue them power against vncleane spirits, to cast them out, and to heale euery sickenesse, and euery disease.

2 Now the names of the twelue Apostles are these. The [a] first is Simon, called Peter, and Andrew his brother: James the sonne of Zebedeus, and John his brother.

3 Philip and Bartlemew: Thomas, and Matthew that Publicane: James the sonne of Alpheus, and Lebbeus whose surname was Thaddeus.

4 Simon the Cananite, and Judas [b] Iscariot, who also betrayed him.

5 These twelue did Jesus send foorth, and commanded them, saying, Go not into the way of the Gentiles, and into the cities of the Samaritanes enter ye not.

6 But goe rather * to the lost sheepe of the house of Israel.

7 *2 And as yee goe, preach, saying, The kingdome of heauen is at hand.

8 [3] Heale the sicke, cleanse the lepers: raise vp the dead: cast out the deuils. Freely ye haue receiued, freely giue.

9 *4 Possesse [c] not gold, nor siluer, nor money in your girdles, 10 Nor a scrippe, for the iourney, neither two coates, neither shoes, nor a staffe: * for the workeman is worthy of his meate.

11 And into whatsoeuer citie or towne ye shall enter, search who in it is worthy, and there abide till ye goe thence.

12 And when ye come into an house, salute it.

13 And if the house be worthy, let your peace come vpon it: but if it be not worthy, let your peace turne to you againe.

14 And whosoeuer will not receiue you, nor heare your words, when ye depart out of that house or citie, shake off the dust of your feete.

15 Verily I say vnto you, It shall be more tolerable for the land of Sodom and Gomorrha in the day of iudgement, than for that citie.

16 Beholde, I send you as sheepe in the middes of wolues: be ye therefore wise as serpents, and harmelesse as doues.

17 But beware of men: for they will deliuer you vp to the counsels, and will scourge you in their Synagogues.

18 And ye shall be brought before gouernours and kings for my sake, for a testimonie against them and the Gentiles.

19 But when they deliuer you vp, take no thought how or what ye shall speake: for it shall be giuen you in that houre what ye shall speake.

20 For it is not ye that speake, but the Spirit of your Father which speaketh in you.

21 And the brother shall deliuer vp the brother to death, and the father the child: and children shall rise against their parents, and cause them to be put to death.

22 And ye shall be hated of all men for my Names sake: but he that endureth to the end, the same shall be saued.

23 But when they persecute you in this citie, flee into another: for verily I say vnto you, Ye shall not haue gone ouer the cities of Israel, till the Sonne of man be come.

24 The disciple is not aboue his master, nor the seruant aboue his Lord.

25 It is enough for the disciple that he be as his master, and the seruant as his Lord. If they haue called the master of the house Beelzebub, how much more shall they call them of his houshold?

26 Feare them not therefore: for there is nothing couered, that shall not be reuealed: and hid, that shall not be known.

27 What I tell you in darkenesse, that speake ye in light: and what ye heare in the eare, that preach ye on the house tops.

28 And feare not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soule: but rather feare him which is able to destroy both soule and body in hell.

29 Are not two sparowes sold for a farthing? and one of them shall not fall on the ground without your Father.

30 But the very haires of your head are all numbred.

31 Feare not therefore: ye are of more value than many sparowes.

32 Whosoeuer therefore shall confesse me before men, him will I confesse before my Father which is in heauen.

33 But whosoeuer shall deny me before men, him will I deny before my Father which is in heauen.

34 Thinke not that I am come to send peace on earth: I came not to send peace, but a sword.

35 For I am come to set a man at variance against his father, and the daughter against her mother, and the daughter in law against her mother in law.

36 And a mans foes shall be they of his owne house.

37 He that loueth father or mother more than me, is not worthy of me: and he that loueth sonne or daughter more than me, is not worthy of me.

38 And he that taketh not his crosse, and followeth after me, is not worthy of me.

39 He that findeth his life, shall lose it: and he that loseth his life for my sake, shall find it.

40 He that receiueth you, receiueth me: and he that receiueth me, receiueth him that sent me.

41 He that receiueth a Prophet in the name of a Prophet, shall receiue a Prophets reward: and he that receiueth a righteous man in the name of a righteous man, shall receiue a righteous mans reward.

42 And whosoeuer shall giue to drinke vnto one of these little ones a cup of cold water only in the name of a disciple, verily I say vnto you, he shall not lose his reward.

10 For this is hee of whome it is written, * Beholde, I sende my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee.

11 Verily I say vnto you, among them which are begotten of women arose there not a greater then Iohn Baptist: notwithstanding, hee that is the least in the [c] kingdome of heauen, is greater then he.

c In the newe state of the Church where the true glory of God shineth: the persons are not compared together, but the kindes of doctrines, the preaching of Iohn with the Lawe & the Prophets: and againe, the most cleare preaching of the Gospel with Iohns.

e He blameth the frowardnes of this age, by a prouerbe, in that they could be moued neither with rough, nor gentle dealing.

11 And he said vnto them, What man shal there be among you, that hath a sheepe, and if it fall on a Sabbath day into a pitte, doeth not take it and lift it out?

12 How much more then is a man better then a sheepe? therfore, it is lawful to doe wel on a Sabbath day.

13 Then said he to the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And hee stretched it foorth, and it was made whole as the other.

14 [3] Then the Phariles went out and consulted against him, howe they might destroy him.

15 But when Jesus knew it, he departed thence, and great multitudes followed him, and he healed them all.

16 And charged them in threatning wise, that they should not make him knowen, 17 That it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by Esaias the Prophet, saying,

18 * Beholde my seruant whome I haue chosen, my beloued in whome my soule deliteth: I will put my Spirit on him, and he shal shew [c] iudgement to the Gentiles.

19 He shall not striue, nor crie, neither shal any man heare his voyce in the streetes.

20 A bruised reede shall he not breake, and smoking flaxe shal he not quench, till he [4] bring forth iudgement vnto victorie.

21 And in his Name shall the Gentiles trust.

22 ¶ *[4] Then was brought to him one possessed with a deuill, both blind, & dumme, and hee healed him, so that he which was blind and dumme, both spake and saw.

23 And all the people were amased, and saide, Is not this that sonne of Dauid?

24 But when the Phariles heard it, they saide, * This man casteth the deuils no otherwise out, but through Beelzebub the prince of deuils.

25 [5] But Jesus knewe their thoughtes, and saide to them, Euery kingdome diuided against it selfe, is brought to nought: and euery citie or house, diuided against it selfe, shall not stand.

26 So if Satan cast out Satan, he is diuided against himselfe: how shal then his kingdome endure?

27 Also if I through Beelzebub cast out deuils, by whome doe your children cast them out? Therefore they shall be your iudges.

28 But if I cast out deuils by the Spirit of God, then is the kingdome of God come vnto you.

32 And whosoeuer shal speake a worde against the sonne of man, it shalbe forgiuen him: [6] but whosoeuer shall speake against the holy Ghost, it shal not bee forgiuen him, neither in this world, nor in the world to come.

35 A good man out of the good treasure of his heart bringeth forth good things: and an euil man out of an euil treasure bringeth foorth euill things.

36 But I say vnto you, that of euery [e] idle worde that men shall speake, they shall giue account thereof at the day of iudgement.

37 For by thy wordes thou shalt bee iustified, and by thy wordes thou shalt be condemned.

38 ¶ [8] * Then answered certaine of the Scribes and of the Phariles, saying, Master, we would see a signe of thee.

39 But he answered and said to them, An euil & [f] adulterous generation seeketh a signe, but no signe shall bee giuen vnto it, saue that signe of the Prophet Jonas.

40 * For as Jonas was three dayes and three nights in the whales bellie: so shall the Sonne of man be three dayes and three nights in the heart of the earth.

1 Chriſt ſheweth in putting forth this parable of the ſower, that the ſeede of life which is ſowen in the world commeth not on ſo well in one as in another, and the reaſon is for that men for the moſt part, either doe not receiue it, or ſuffer it not to ripen.

3 Then hee ſpake many things to them in parables, ſaying, Beholde, a ſower went forth to ſowe.

4 And as hee ſowed, ſome fell by the way ſide, and the foules came & deuoured them vp.

5 And ſome fell vpon ſtony ground, where they had not much earth, & anon they ſprung vp, becauſe they had no depth of earth.

6 And when the ſunne was vp, they were parched, and for lacke of rooting withered away.

7 And ſome fell among thornes, and the thornes ſprung vp, and choked them.

8 Some againe fell in good ground, and brought foorth fruite, one corne an hundreth folde, ſome ſixtie fold, and another thirtie fold.

9 Hee that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

18 ¶ * Heare ye therefore the parable of the ſower.

19 Whenſoeuer any man heareth the worde of that kingdome, and vnderſtandeth it not, that euil one commeth, and catcheth away that which was ſowen in his [a] heart: and this is he which hath receiued the ſeede by the way ſide.

a Though there be mention made of the heart, yet this ſowing is referred to hearing without vnderſtanding. For whether the ſeed be receiued in the heart or no, yet he that ſoweth, ſoweth to the heart.

20 And hee that receiued ſeede in the ſtonie ground, is he which heareth the worde, and incontinently with ioy receiueth it, 21 Yet hath he no root in himſelfe, and dureth but a ſeaſon: for aſſoone as tribulation or perſecution commeth becauſe of the worde, by and by he is offended.

22 And hee that receiued the ſeede among thornes, is he that heareth the worde: but the care of this worlde, and the deceitfulneſſe of riches choke the word, and he is made vnfruitfull.

23 But he that receiued the ſeed in ỹ good ground, is he that heareth the word, and vnderſtandeth it, which alſo beareth fruite, and bringeth forth, ſome an hundreth folde, ſome ſixtie folde, and ſome thirtie folde.

4 Chriſt ſheweth in an other parable of the euill ſeede mixt with the good, that the Church ſhall neuer be free and quit frō offences, both in doctrine and maners, vntill the day appointed for the teſtifying of al things be come, and therefore ſaye the faithfull haue to ſuffer all things with patience and conſtancie.

24 ¶ [4] Another parable put he foorth vnto them, ſaying, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a man which ſowed good ſeede in his field.

25 But while men ſlept, there came his enmie, and ſowed tares among the wheate, and went his way.

26 And when the blade was ſprung vp, and brought forth fruite, then appeared the tares alſo.

27 Then came the ſeruants of the houſholder, and ſaide vnto him, Maſter, ſowedſt not thou good ſeed in thy field? from whence then hath it tares?

28 And he ſaide to them, Some enuious man hath done this. Then the ſeruants ſaid vnto him, Wilt thou then that we goe and gather them vp?

29 But hee ſaide, Nay, leaſt while yee goe about to gather the tares, yee plucke vp also with them the wheate.

30 Let both grow together vntill the harueſt, & in time of harueſt I will ſay to the reapers, Gather ye firſt the tares, and binde them in sheaues to burne them: but gather the wheat into my barne.

31 ¶ *[5] Another parable he put forth vnto them, ſaying, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a grain of muſtard ſeed, which a man taketh and ſoweth in his field:

32 Which in deed is the leaſt of all ſeedes: but when it is growen, it is the greateſt among herbes, and it is a tree, ſo that the birds of heauen come and build in the branches therof.

33 ¶ *Another parable ſpake he to them, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto leauen, which a woman taketh & hideth in three pecks of meale till all be leauened.

34 ¶ * All theſe things ſpake Jeſus vnto the multitude in parables, and without parables ſpake he not to them, 35 That it might be fulfilled, which was ſpoken by the Prophet, ſaying, * I will open my mouth in parables, and will vtter the things which haue beene kept ſecrete from the foundation of the world.

36 Then ſent Jeſus the multitude away, & went into the houſe. And his diſciples came vnto him, ſaying, Declare vnto vs the parable of the tares of that fielde.

37 [6] Then anſwered he, and ſaid to them, He that ſoweth the good ſeede, is the Sonne of man, 38 And the fielde is the world, and the good ſeede are the children of the kingdome, and the tares are the children of that wicked one.

39 And the enemie that ſoweth them, is the deuill, * and the harueſt is the ende of the world, and the reapers be the Angels.

40 As then the tares are gathered and burned in the fire, ſo ſhall it bee in the ende of this world.

41 The Sonne of man ſhall ſend forth his Angels, and they ſhall gather out of his kingdome all things that offend, & them which doe iniquitie, 42 And ſhal caſt them into a furnace of fire. There ſhalbe wailing and gnaſhing of teeth.

43 * Then ſhall the iuſt men ſhine as the ſunne in the kingdome of their Father. Hee that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

44 ¶ [7] Againe, the kingdome of heauen is like vnto a treaſure hid in the field, which when a man hath found, he hideth it, and for ioy therof departeth and ſelleth all that hee hath, and buyeth that field.

45 ¶ Againe, the kingdome of heauen is like to a marchant man, that ſeeketh good pearles.

46 Who hauing found a pearle of great price, went and ſold all that he had, and bought it.

47 ¶ [8] Againe, the kingdome of heauen is like vnto a draw net caſt into the ſea, that gathereth of all kinds of things.

48 Which, when it is full, men drawe to land, and ſitte and gather the good into veſſels, and caſt the bad away.

49 So ſhall it be at the ende of the world. The Angels ſhall goe forth, and ſeuer the bad from among the iuſt, 50 And ſhal caſt them into a furnace of fire: there ſhalbe wailing, and gnaſhing of teeth.

51 ¶ [9] Jeſus ſaide vnto them, Vnderſtand ye all theſe things? They ſaid vnto him, Yea, Lord.

52 Then ſaid he vnto them, Therefore euery Scribe which is taught vnto the kingdome of heauen, is like vnto an houſholder, which bringeth forth out of his treaſure things both new and olde.

53 ¶ And it came to paſſe, that whē Jeſus had ended theſe parables, he departed thence.

54 *[10] And came into his owne countrey, and taught them in their Synagogue, ſo that they were aſtonied, and ſaide, Whence commeth this wiſedome and great workes vnto this man?

55 Is not this the carpenters ſonne? Is not his mother called Mary,* and his brethren James and Joſes, and Simon and Judas?

56 And are not his ſiſters all with vs? Whence then hath he all theſe things?

57 And they were offended with him. Thē Jeſus ſaid to them, * A Prophet is not without honour, ſaue in his owne countrey, and in his owne houſe, 58 And he did not many great works there, for their vnbeliefes ſake.

17 Then said they vnto him, We haue here but fiue loaues and two fishes.

18 And hee saide, Bring them hither to me.

19 And he commaunded the multitude to sit downe on the grasse, and tooke the fiue loaues and the two fishes, and looked vp to heauen and blessed, and brake, and gaue the loaues to his disciples, and the disciples to the multitude.

20 And they did all eate, and were sufficed, and they tooke vp of the fragments that remained, twelue baskets full.

21 And they that had eaten, were about fiue thousand men, beside women and litle children.

22 ¶ And straightway Iesus cõpelled his disciples to enter into a ship, and to goe ouer before him, while he sent the multitude away.

23 And assoone as hee had sent the multitude away, he went vp into a mountaine alone to pray: and * when the euening was come, he was there alone.

24 [3] And the ship was nowe in the middes of the sea, and was tossed with waues: for it was a contrary winde.

25 And in the [c] fourth watch of the night, Iesus went vnto them, walking on the sea.

26 And when his disciples sawe him walking on the sea, they were troubled, saying, It is a [d] spirit, and cried out for feare.

27 But straight way Iesus spake vnto them, saying, Be of good comfort, It is I: be not afraide.

28 [4] Then Peter answered him, and said, Master, if it be thou, bid me come vnto thee on the water.

29 And he saide, Come. And when Peter was come downe out of the ship, he walked on the water, to goe to Iesus.

30 But when he sawe a mightie winde, he was afraide: and as he began to sinke, he cried, saying, Master, saue me.

31 So immediatly Iesus stretched foorth his hand, and caught him, and saide to him, O thou of litle faith, wherefore diddest thou doubt?

32 And assoone as they were come into the ship, the wind ceased.

33 Then they that were in the ship, came and worshipped him, saying, Of a trueth thou art the Sonne of God.

34 ¶ * And when they were come ouer, they came into the land of [e] Gennezaret.

35 [5] And when the men of that place knew him, they sent out into all that countrey round about, and brought vnto him, all that were sicke.

12 ¶ Then came his disciples, and saide vnto him, Perceiuest thou not, that the Pharises are offended in hearing this saying?

13 But hee answered and saide, * Euery plant which mine heauenly Father hath not planted, shalbe rooted vp.

14 Let them alone, they be the * blind leaders of the blinde: and if the blinde leade the blinde, both shall fall into the ditche.

15 ¶ * Then answered Peter, and said to him, Declare vnto vs this parable.

16 Then saide Iesus, Are ye yet without vnderstanding?

17 Perceiue ye not yet, that whatsoeuer entreth into the mouth, goeth into the bellie, and is cast out into the draught?

18 But those things which proceede out of the mouth, come from the heart, and they defile the man.

24 But he answered, and saide, I am not sent but vnto the * lost sheepe of the [g] house of Israel.

25 Yet she came, and worshipped him, saying, Lord, helpe me.

26 And he answered, and saide, It is not good to take the childrens bread, and to cast it to whelpes.

27 But she said, Trueth, Lord: yet in deed the whelpes eate of the crummes, which fall from their masters table.

28 Then Iesus answered, and saide vnto her, O woman, great is thy faith: be it to thee, as thou desirest. And her daughter was made whole at that houre.

29 ¶ * So Iesus * went away from thence, and came neere vnto the sea of Galile, and went vp into a mountaine and sate downe there.

30 And great multitudes came vnto him, *hauing with them, halt, blind, dumme, [h] maimed, and many other, and cast them downe at Iesus feete, and he healed them.

31 Insomuch that the multitude wondered, to see the dumme speake, the maymed whole, the halt to goe, and the blind to see: and they glorified the God of Israel.

32 *[7] Then Iesus called his disciples vnto him, and said, I haue compassion on this multitude, because they haue [i] continued with me already three dayes, and haue nothing to eate: and I will not let them depart fasting, least they faint in the way.

33 And his disciples said vnto him, Whence should we get so much bread in the wildernes, as should suffice so great a multitude!

34 And Iesus said vnto them, Howe many loaues haue ye? And they saide, Seuen, and a fewe litle fishes.

35 Then he commanded the multitude to [k] sit downe on the ground, 36 And tooke the seuen loaues, and the fishes, and gaue thankes, and brake them, and gaue to his disciples, and the disciples to the multitude.

2 † And Iesus called a a litle childe vnto him, and set him in the mids of them, a A childe in yeeres.

3 And said, Uerely I say vnto you, except ye be *b conuerted, and become as litle children, ye shall not enter into the kingdome of heauen.

b A kinde of speach taken from the Hebrewes, and it is as much as, repent.

4 Whosoeuer therefore shal humble himselfe as this litle childe, the same is the greatest in the kingdome of heauen.

5 And

5 And whosoeuer shall receiue one such litle childe in my name, receiueth me.

6 *2 But whosoeuer shall offend one of these litle ones which beleeue in me, it were better for him, that a milstone were hanged about his necke, and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea.

7 3 Woe be vnto the world because of offences: for it must needes be that c offences shall come, but woe be to that man by whom the offence commeth.

8 *Wherefore, if thy hande or thy foote cause thee to d offend, cut them off, and cast them from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life, halt, or maymed, then hauing two hands, or two feete, to be cast into euerlasting fire.

9 And if thine eye cause thee to offende, plucke it out and cast it from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life with one eye, then hauing two eyes to be cast into hell fire.

10 4 See that ye despise not one of these litle ones: for I say vnto you, that in heauen their *Angels alwayes beholde the face of my Father which is in heauen.

11 For* the Sonne of man is come to saue that which was lost.

12 Howe thinke ye? * If a man haue an hundreth sheepe, and one of them be gone astray, doeth he not leaue ninetie and nine, and goe into the mountaines, and seeke that which is gone astray?

13 And if so be that he finde it, verely I say vnto you, he reioyceth more of that sheepe, then of the ninetie and nine which went not astray:

14 So is it not the will of your Father which is in heauen, that one of these litle ones should perish.

15 ¶ *5 Moreouer, if thy brother trespasse against e thee, goe and tell him his fault betweene thee and him alone: if he heare thee, thou hast wonne thy brother.

16 But if he heare thee not, take yet with thee one or two, that by the *f mouth of two or three witnesses euery worde may be s confirmed.

17 6 And if he h refuse to heare them, tell it vnto the i Church: and if he refuse to heare the Church also, let him be vnto thee as an k heathen man, and a Publicane.

18 Verely I say vnto you, *Whatsoeuer ye bind on earth, shall be bound in heauen: and *whatsoeuer ye loose on earth, shall be loosed in heauen.

19 Againe, verely I say vnto you, that if two of you shall l agree in earth vpon any thing, whatsoeuer they shall desire, it shall be giuen them of my Father which is in heauen.

20 For where two or three are gathered together in my Name, there am I in the mids of them.

21 7 Then came Peter to him, & said, Master, how oft shall my brother sinne against me, and I shall forgiue him? *vnto seuen times?

22 Iesus said vnto him, I say not to thee, Vnto seuen times, but, Vnto seuentie times seuen times.

23 Therefore is the kingdome of heauen likened vnto a certaine King, which would take an account of his seruants.

24 And when he had begunne to reckon, one was brought vnto him, which ought him m tenne thousand talents.

25 And because he had nothing to pay, his Lord commanded him to be sold, and his wife, and his children, and all that he had, and the debt to be paide.

26 The seruant therefore fell downe, and n worshipped him, saying, Lord, refraine thine anger toward me, and I will pay thee all.

27 Then that seruants Lord had compassion, and loosed him, and forgaue him the det.

28 But when the seruant was departed, he founde one of his fellowe seruants, which ought him an hundred pence, and he laid hands on him, and thratled him, saying, Pay me that thou owest.

29 Then his fellowe seruant fell downe at his feete, and besought him, saying, Refraine thine anger towards me, & I will pay thee all.

30 Yet he would not, but went, and cast him into prison, till he should pay the det.

31 And when his other fellowe seruants sawe what was done, they were very sorie, and came, and declared vnto their Lord all that was done.

32 Then his Lord called him vnto him, and saide to him, O euill seruant, I forgaue thee all that dette, because thou prayedst me.

33 Oughtest not thou also to haue had pitie on thy fellowe seruant, euen as I had pitie on thee?

34 So his Lord was wroth, and deliuered him to the tormentours, till he should pay all that was due to him.

35 So likewise shall mine heauenly Father doe vnto you, except ye forgiue from your hearts, eche one to his brother their trespasses.

AND * it came to passe, that when Iesus had finished these sayings, he [a] departed from Galile, and came into the coastes of Iudea beyond Iordan.

2 And great multitudes followed him, and he healed them there.

3 ¶ [1] Then came vnto him the Pharises tempting him, and saying to him, Is it lawfull for a man to [b] put away his wife vpon euery occasion?

4 And he answered and saide vnto them, Haue ye not read, * that he which made them at the beginning, made them male and female.

5 And saide, * For this cause, shall a man leaue father and mother, and [c] cleaue vnto his wife, and they which were [d] two shall be one flesh?

6 Wherefore they are no more twaine, but one flesh. Let not man therefore put asunder that, which God hath [e] coupled together.

7 [2] They said to him, Why did then * Moses commaund to giue a bill of diuorcement, and to put her away?

8 He said vnto them, Moses, [f] because of the hardnesse of your heart, [g] suffered you to put away your wiues: but from the beginning it was not so.

9 I say therefore vnto you, * that whosoeuer shal put away his wife, except it be [h] for whoredome, and marry another, committeth adulterie: and whosoeuer marrieth her which is diuorced, doeth commit adulterie.

10 Then saide his disciples to him, If the [i] matter be so betweene man and wife, it is not good to marry.

11 [3] But he said vnto them, All men cannot [k] receiue this thing, saue they to whom it is giuen.

12 For there are some [l] eunuches, which were so borne of their mothers belly: & there be some eunuches, which be gelded by men: and there be some eunuches, which haue [m] gelded themselues for ꝑ kingdome of heauen. He that is able to receiue this, let him receiue it.

13 ¶ [4] * Then were brought to him litle children, that he should put his hands on them, and pray: and the disciples rebuked them.

14 But Iesus saide, Suffer the litle children, and forbid them not to come to me: for of such is the kingdome of heauen.

15 And when hee had put his handes on them, he departed thence.

16 ¶ [5] * And beholde, one came and saide vnto him, Good Maister, what good thing shall I doe, that I may haue eternall life?

17 And he said vnto him, Why callest thou me good? there is none good but one, euen God: but if thou wilt enter into life, keepe the commandements.

18 He saide to him, Which? And Iesus said * These, Thou shalt not kill: Thou shalt not commit adulterie: Thou shalt not steale: Thou shalt not beare false witnesse.

19 Honour thy father and mother: and thou shalt loue thy neigbour as thy self.

20 The young man saide vnto him, I haue obserued al these things from my youth: what lacke I yet?

21 Iesus said vnto him, If [n] thou wilt be perfite, goe sell that thou hast, and giue it to the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, and come, and followe me.

22 And when the young man heard that saying, hee went away sorowfull: for hee had great possessions.

23 [6] Then Iesus saide vnto his disciples, Verily I say vnto you, that a riche man shall hardly enter into the kingdome of heauen.

24 And againe I say vnto you, It is [o] easier for a [p] camell to goe through the eye of a neeble, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdome of God.

25 And when his disciples heard it, they were exceedingly amazed, saying, Who then can be saued?

26 And Iesus behelde them, and said vnto them, With men this is vnpossible, but with God all things are possible.

27 ¶ * Then answered Peter, and saide to him, Behold, we haue forsaken all, and followed thee: what therefore shall we haue?

28 [7] And Iesus saide vnto them, Verily I say to you, that when the Sonne of man shall sit in the throne of his maiestie, ye which followed me in the [q] regeneration, * shall sit also vpon twelue thrones and iudge the twelue tribes of Israel.

29 And whosoeuer shall forsake houses, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands, for my Names sake, he shall receiue an hundreth folde more, and shall inherite euerlasting life.

19 [4] And * shall deliuer him to the Gentiles, to mocke, and to scourge, and to crucifie him, but the third day he shall rise againe.

20 *[5] Then came to him the mother of Zebedeus children with her sonnes, worshipping him, and desiring a certaine thing of him.

21 And he saide vnto her, What wouldest thou? She said to him, Graunt that these my two sonnes may sit, the one at thy right hand, and the other at thy left hand in thy kingdome.

22 And Iesus answered & said, Ye know not what ye aske. Are ye able to [d] drinke of the cuppe that I shal drinke of, and to be baptized with the [e] baptisme that I shall bee baptized with? They said to him, We are able.

23 And he said vnto them, Yee shall drinke in deed of my cup, and shalbe baptized with the baptisme, that I am baptized with, but to sit at my right hand, and at my left hand, is [f] not mine to giue: but it shalbe giuen to them for whom it is prepared of my Father.

24 * And when the other ten heard this, they disdeined at the two brethren.

25 Therfore Iesus called them vnto him, and said, Ye know that the Lords of the Gentiles haue [g] domination ouer them, and they that are great, exercise authoritie ouer them.

26 But it shall not bee so among you: but whosoeuer will be great among you, let him be your seruant.

31 And the multitude rebuked them, because they should hold their peace: but they cried the more, saying, O Lord, the Sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on vs.

32 Then Iesus stoode still, and [h] called them, and saide, What will ye that I should do to you?

33 They said to him, Lorde, that our eyes may be opened.

* Luke 14.16. matt. 19.9.

THen * [1] Iesus answered, and spake vnto them againe in parables, saying,

2 The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a certaine King which maried his sonne,

3 And sent forth his seruants, to call them that were bid to the wedding, but they would not come.

4 Againe he sent forth other seruants, saying, Tell them which are bidden, Behold, I haue prepared my dinner: mine oxen and my fatlings are [a] killed, and all things are ready: come vnto the mariage.

5 But they made light of it, and went their wayes, one to his farme, and another about his merchandise.

6 And the remnant took his seruants, and intreated them sharply, and slew them.

7 [2] But when the King heard it, hee was wroth, and sent forth his warriors, & destroyed those murtherers, and burnt vp their citie.

8 Then saith he to his seruants, Truly the [b] wedding is prepared: but they which were bidden, were not worthie.

9 [3] Goe ye therefore out into the hie wayes, and as many as yee finde, bid them to the mariage.

10 So those seruants went out into the hie wayes, and gathered together all that euer they found, both good and [c] bad: so the wedding was furnished with ghests.

11 [4] Then the King came in, to see the ghests, and saw there a man which had not on a wedding garment.

12 And hee saide vnto him, Friend, howe camest thou in hither, and hast not on a wedding garment? And he was [d] speachlesse.

13 Then saide the King to the [e] seruants, Binde him hand and foote: take him away, and cast him into vtter darknesse: * there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

14 * For many are called, but few chosen.

15 ¶ * Then went the Pharises & tooke counsell how they might [f] tangle him in talke.

16 And they sent vnto him their disciples with the [g] Herodians, saying, Master, wee know that thou art true, and teachest the way of God [h] truely, neither carest for any man: for thou considerest not the [i] person of men.

17 [5] Tell vs therefore, how thinkest thou? Is it lawfull to giue tribute vnto Cesar or not?

18 But Iesus perceiued their wickednes, and said, Why tempt ye me, ye hypocrites?

19 Shewe mee the tribute money. And they brought him a [k] peny.

20 And he said vnto them, Whose is this image and superscription?

21 They said vnto him, Cesars. Then said hee vnto them, * Giue therefore to Cesar, the things which are Cesars, and giue vnto God, those things which are Gods.

22 And when they heard it, they marueiled, and left him, and went their way.

THen z the kingdome of heauen shall be likened vnto tenne virgins, which tooke their lampes, and a went foorth to meete the bridegrome.

z We must receiue strength at Gods hand, which may serue vs as a torch while we walke through this darkenesse, to bring vs to our wished end: otherwise if we become slouthfull and negligent as we are in all our paines and trauell, we shall be shut out of the doores.

2 And fiue of them were wise, and fiue foolish,

3 The foolish tooke their lamps, but tooke none oile with them.

4 But the wise tooke oile in their vessels with their lampes.

5 Now while the bridegrome taried long, all b slumbred and slept.

a The pompe of weddinges was wont for the most part to be kept in the night seasons, and that by damsels.

b Their eyes being heauie with sleepe.

6 And at midnight there was a crie made, Behold, the bridegrome commeth: goe out to meete him.

7 Then all those virgins arose, and trimmed their lampes.

8 And the foolish saide to the wise, Giue vs of your oyle, for our lampes are out.

9 But the wise answered, saying, Not so, least there will not be ynough for vs and you: but goe ye rather to them that sell, and buy for your selues.

10 And while they went to buy, the bridegrome came: and they that were ready, went in with him to the wedding, and the gate was shut.

11 Afterwards came also the other virgins, saying, Lord, Lord, open to vs.

12 But he answered, and said, Uerely I say vnto you, I know you not.

17 Likewise also, he that receiued two, he also gained other two.

18 But he that receiued that one, went and digged it in the earth, and hid his masters money.

19 But after a long season, the master of those seruants came, and reckoned with them.

20 Then came he that had receiued fiue talents, and brought other fiue talents, saying, Master, thou deliueredst vnto me fiue talents: beholde, I haue gained with them other fiue talents.

21 Then his master saide vnto him, It is well done good seruant and faithfull, Thou hast beene faithfull in litle, I will make thee ruler ouer much: d enter into thy Masters ioy.

22 Also he that had receiued two talents, came, and saide, Master, thou deliueredst vnto me two talents: beholde, I haue gained two other talents more.

23 His master saide vnto him, It is well done good seruant, and faithfull, Thou hast beene faithfull in litle, I will make thee ruler ouer much: enter into thy masters ioy.

24 Then hee which had receiued the one talent, came, and saide, Master, I knewe that thou wast an hard man, which reapest where thou sowedst not, and gatherest where thou strawedst not:

25 I was therefore afraide, and went, and hid thy talent in the earth: beholde, thou hast thine owne.

26 And his master answered, and said vnto him, Thou euill seruant, and slouthfull, thou knewest that I reape where I sowed not, and gather where I strawed not.

27 Thou oughtest therefore to haue put my money to the e Exchangers, and then at my comming should I haue receiued mine owne with vantage.

28 Take therefore the talent from him, and giue it vnto him which hath ten talents.

[m] Marke saith, Had giuen thankes: and therefore blessing is not a consecrating, with a consisting kind of murmuring and force of wordes: and yet the bread and the wine are changed, not in nature but in qualitie, for they become vndoubted tokens of the body and blood of Christ, not of their owne nature or force of words, but by Christ his institution, which must be recited and laide foorth, that faith may find what to lay hold on, both in the word and in the elements. [n] This is a figuratiue speach, which is called Metonymia: that is to say, the putting of one name for another: so calling the bread his body, which is the signe and sacrament of his body: and yet notwithstanding, it is so a figuratiue and changed kind of speach, that the faithful do receiue Christ in deede with al his gifts (though by a spiritual meanes) and become one with him. [o] Therefore they which tooke away the cup from the people, did against Christ his institution. [p] To wit, this cup or wine, is my blood sacramentally, as Luk.22.20. 10 Christ a true man, going about to suffer the punishment which was due vnto vs, for forsaking of God, is forsaken of his owne: he hath a terrible conflict with the horrour and feare of the curse of God out of which he escapeth by earnest crying, casting all vpon the liuing God.

wherefore art thou come? Then came they, and laid hands on Iesus, and tooke him.

51 And beholde, one of them which were with Iesus, stretched out his hand, and drewe his sword, & stroke a seruant of the hie Priest, and smote off his eare.

52 [14] Then saide Iesus vnto him, Put vp thy sword into his place: * for all that [y] take the sword, shall perish with the sword.

53 [15] Either thinkest thou, that I cannot nowe pray to my Father, and he will giue me moe then twelue legions of Angels?

55 The same houre said Iesus to the multitude, Ye be come out as it were against a theefe, with swordes and staues to take me: I sate daily teaching in the Temple among you, and ye tooke me not.

56 But all this was done, that the Scriptures of the Prophets might be fulfilled. * Then all the disciples forsooke him, and fled.

57 ¶ *[16] And they tooke Iesus, and led him to [a] Caiaphas the hie Priest, where the Scribes and the Elders were assembled.

62 Then the chiefe Priest arose, and saide to him, Answerest thou nothing? [c] What is the matter that these men witnesse against thee?

63 But Iesus held his peace. Then the chiefe Priest answered, and saide to him, I charge thee sweare vnto vs by the liuing God, to tell vs, If thou be that Christ the Sonne of God, or no.

64 * Iesus saide to him, Thou hast said it: neuertheless I say vnto you, [d] hereafter shall ye see the Sonne of man, sitting [e] at the right hand of the power of God, and come in the [f] cloudes of the heauen.

65 Then the hie Priest [g] rent his clothes, saying, He hath blasphemed, what haue we any more neede of witnesses? beholde: nowe ye haue heard his blasphemie.

66 What thinke ye? They answered, and said, He is guiltie of death.

67 * Then spet they in his face, and buffeted him, and other smote him with rods, 68 Saying, Prophecie to vs, O Christ, Who is he that smote thee?

69 ¶ * [17] Peter [h] sate without in the hall, and a maide came to him, saying, Thou also wast with Iesus of Galile:

70 But he denied before them all, saying, I wote not what thou sayest.

71 And when he went out into the porche, another maide sawe him, and saide vnto them that were there, This man was also with Iesus of Nazareth.

72 And againe he denied with an oath, saying, I know not the man.

73 So after a while, came vnto him they that stoode by, and saide vnto Peter, Surely thou art also one of them: for euen thy speach bewrayeth thee.

11 ¶ [2] * And Jesus stoode before the gouernour, and the gouernour asked him, saying, Art thou that king of the Iewes? Jesus said vnto him, Thou sayest it.

12 And when he was accused of the chiefe Priests, and Elders, he answered nothing.

13 Then saide Pilate vnto him, Hearest thou not howe many things they lay against thee?

14 But he answered him not to one word, in so much that the Gouernour maruelled greatly.

15 [3] Now at the feast, the Gouernour was woont to deliuer vnto the people a prisoner whom they would.

16 And they had then a notable prisoner called Barabbas.

17 When they were then gathered together, Pilate saide vnto them, Whether will ye that I let loose vnto you Barabbas, or Jesus which is called Christ?

18 (For he knew well, that for enuie they had deliuered him.

19 Also when he was set downe vpon the iudgement seate, his wife sent to him, saying, Haue thou nothing to doe with that iust man: for I haue suffered many things this day in a dreame by reason of him.)

20 * But the chiefe Priests and the Elders had perswaded the people that they should aske Barabbas, and should destroy Jesus.

21 Then the Gouernour answered, and saide vnto them, Whether of the twaine will ye that I let loose vnto you? And they saide, Barabbas.

22 Pilate saide vnto them, What shall I doe then with Jesus, which is called Christ? They all said to him, Let him be crucified.

23 Then said the Gouernour, But what euill hath he done? Then they cried the more, saying, Let him be crucified.

24 [4] When Pilate saw that he auailed nothing, but that more tumult was made, hee tooke water and [5] washed his handes before the multitude, saying, I am innocent of the [h] blood of this iust man: looke you to it.

25 Then answered all the people, and said, [i] His blood be on vs, and on our children.

26 Thus let he Barabbas loose vnto them, and scourged Jesus, and deliuered him to be crucified.

27 ¶ * Then the souldiers of the Gouernour tooke Jesus into the common hall, and gathered about him the whole band,

28 [5] And they stripped him, and [k] put about him a [l] skarlet robe,

29 And platted a crowne of thornes, and put it vpon his head, and a reede in his right hand, and bowed their knees before him, and mocked him, saying, God saue thee king of the Iewes,

30 And spitted vpon him, & tooke a reede, and smote him on the head.

31 Thus when they had mocked him, they tooke the robe from him, and put his owne raiment on him, and led him away to crucifie him.

32 * And as they came out, they found a man of Cyrene, named Simon: him they [m] compelled to beare his crosse.

33 * [6] And when they came vnto the place called Golgotha, (that is to say, the place of dead mens skuls)

34 [7] They gaue him vineger to drinke, mingled with gall: and when he had tasted thereof, he would not drinke.

35 ¶ * And when they had crucified him, they parted his garments, and did cast lots, that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by the Prophet, * They diuided my garments among them, and vpon my vesture did cast lottes.

36 And they sate, and watched him there.

37 ¶ [9] They set vp also ouer his head his cause written, THIS IS IESVS THE KING OF THE IEWES.

38 ¶ [10] And there were two theeues crucified with him, one on the right hand, and another on the left.

39 [11] And they that passed by, reuiled him, wagging their heads.

40 And saying, * Thou that destroyest the Temple, and buildest it in three dayes, saue thy selfe: if thou be the Sonne of God, come downe from the crosse.

41 Likewise also the hie Priests mocking him, with the Scribes and Elders, and Pharises, said, 42 He saued others, but hee cannot saue himselfe: if he be the King of Israel, let him nowe come downe from the crosse, and we will beleeue in him.

1 The ſelfe ſame doctrine of the Goſpel is euery where, but it hath not like ſucceſſe euerie where through the fault of man, but yet by the iuſt iudgment of God.

4 And it came to paſſe as hee ſowed, that ſome fell by the way ſide, and the foules of the heauen came, and deuoured it vp.

5 And ſome fell on ſtonie ground, where it had not much earth, and by and by ſprang vp, becauſe it had not depth of earth.

15 And theſe are they that receiue the ſeede by the wayes ſide, in whome the word is ſowen: but when they haue heard it, Satan commeth immediately, and taketh away the worde that was ſowen in their hearts.

16 And like wiſe they that receiue the ſeed in ſtonie ground, are they, which when they haue heard the word, ſtraight waies receiue it with gladneſſe.

17 Yet haue they no roote in themſelues, and and endure but a time: for when trouble and persecution ariseth for the word, immediately they be offended.

18 Also they that receiue the seede among the thornes, are such as heare the word:

19 But the cares [f] of this world, and the * deceitfulnesse of riches, and the lusts of other things enter in, and choke the word, and it is vnfruitfull.

20 But they that haue receiued seede in good ground, are they that heare the worde, and receiue it, and bring foorth fruite: one corne thirtie, another sixtie, and some an hundreth.

21 ¶ [2] Also hee sayde vnto them, * Commeth the candle in, to bee put vnder a bushell, or vnder the bed, and not to be put on a candlesticke?

22 * For there is nothing hid, that shall not be opened: neither is there a secret, but that it shall come to light.

23 If any man haue eares to heare, let him heare.

24 [3] And he said vnto thē, Take heed what ye heare. * With what measure ye mete, it shal be measured vnto you: and vnto you that heare, shall more be giuen.

25 * For vnto him that hath, shall it be giuen, and from him that hath not, shall bee taken away, euen that he hath.

26 ¶ [4] Also hee saide, So is the kingdome of God, as if a man should cast seede in the ground, 27 And should sleepe, and rise vp night and day, and the seede should spring and growe vp, he [h] not knowing how.

28 For the earth bringeth foorth fruite [i] of it selfe, first the blade, then the eares, after that full corne in the eares.

29 And assoone as the fruite sheweth it selfe, anon hee putteth in the sickle, because the haruest is come.

30 ¶ * [5] He saide moreouer, Whereunto shall we liken the kingdome of God? or with what comparison shall we compare it?

31 It is like a grain of mustard seed, which when it is sowen in the earth, is the least of all seedes that be in the earth:

32 But after that it is sowen, it groweth vp, and is greatest of all herbes, and beareth great branches, so that the foules of heauen may build vnder the shadow of it.

33 And * with many such parables hee preached the worde vnto them, [k] as they were able to heare it.

40 Then he said vnto them, [m] Why are ye so fearefull? how is it that ye haue no faith?

41 And they feared exceedingly, and saide one to another, Who is this, that both the wind and sea obey him?

14 And the swineheards fled, and tolde it in the citie, and in the countrey, and they came out to see what it was that was done.

15 And they came to Iesus, and sawe him that had bene possessed with the deuill, and had the legion, sit both clothed, and in his right minde: and they were afraide.

16 And they that saw it, tolde them, what was done to him that was possessed with the deuill, and concerning the swine.

17 Then they began to pray him, that hee would depart from their coasts.

18 And when he was come into the shippe, he that had bene possessed with the deuil, prayed him that he might be with him.

19 Howbeit, Iesus would not suffer him, but saide vnto him, Goe thy way home to thy friends, and shewe them what great things the Lorde hath done vnto thee, and howe he hath had compassion on thee.

20 So he departed, and began to publish in Decapolis, what great things Iesus had done vnto him: and all men did marueile.

21 ¶ And when Iesus was come ouer againe by ship vnto the other side, a great multitude gathered together to him, and hee was neere vnto the sea.

22 * And beholde, there came one of the rulers of the Synagogue, whose name was Iairus: and when hee sawe him, he fel downe at his feete, 30 And immediatly when Iesus did know in himselfe the vertue that went out of him, hee turned him rounde about in the preasse, and said, Who hath touched my clothes?

31 And his disciples said vnto him, Thou seest the multitude thronge thee, and saiest thou, Who did touch me?

32 And hee looked round about, to see her that had done that.

33 And the woman feared and trembled: for she knew what was done in her, and shee came and fell downe before him, and tolde him the whole trueth.

34 And he said to her, Daughter, thy faith hath made thee whole: goe in peace, and bee whole of thy plague)

35 While he yet spake, there came from the same ruler of the Synagogues house certaine which saide, Thy daughter is dead: why diseasest thou the Master any further?

37 And he suffered no man to follow him saue Peter and James, and Iohn the brother of James.

38 So he came vnto the house of the ruler of the Synagogue, and sawe the tumult, and them that wept and wailed greatly.

39 And hee went in, and saide vnto them, Why make yee this trouble, and weepe? the childe is not dead, but sleepeth.

40 [4] And they laughed him to scorne: but hee put them all out, and tooke the father, and the mother of the childe, and them [h] that were with him, and entred in where the childe lay,

20 For Herod feared Iohn, knowing that he was a iuſt man, and an holy, and reuerenced him, and when hee heard him, he did many things, and heard him [n] gladly.
